THE KLEMME TIMES

Twenty eighth Year—Number 17. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, January 3, 1924. $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

BLIZZARD, FIRST THIS WINTER, OPENED THE NEW YEAR

WINTER CAME SUDDENLY WITH SNOW AND ZERO WEATHER

Our "California Winter" Is at An nd And Coal Men Sing "Keep The Home Fires Burning

The temperature took a decided drop Saturday and continued to decend. Reports over the radio told of a blizzard heading this way from Canada, the Dakota's and Minne. sota. Sunday morning snow was falling fast and the wind blowing ata stiff gale. By Monday snow was piled high everywhere as a result of the first real snow and blizzard of the season. Traffic was tied up and trains were running far behind schdeule here.

Tuesday, New Year's Day the weather took a slight turn for the better, although the temperature registered around 20 degrees below zero. Yesterday another light snow fell in the morning but thes un came out in a few hours and it began to warm up again slightly. Indic cations are now for gaad weather again.

The above information is especially written for our subscribers in other states and more especially for our California readers.

We have enjoyed a mild winter up until New Year. The weather has been so good here, and warm, that the grass was still green. We also found a pansy in bloom in our yard at Christmas. This sounds rather strange but is a fact.

NOW HE TAKES HIS HOME PAPER

A jealous editor down south tells of a man in his neighborhood who doesn't take a paper. The tale may not be a true one. This money saving fellow got a Maine story-paper and found that by sending one dolar to a Yankee hecould get a cure for drunkeness. Sure enough he did. The cure was to "take the pledge and keep it." Later on he sent fifty two cent stamps to find out how to raise turnips successfully. He found out— "Just take hold of the tops and pull."

And sent thirty four one cent stamps to a Chicago firm for "how to make an impression." When the answer came it read, "Sit down on a pan of dough." That was a little rough but he would yet suceed. The next advertisement he answered read, "How to double you money in six months." He was told to convert his money into bills, fold them, and he would see his money double. The next time he sent for twelve useful household articles, and got a package of needles. He was slow to learn, to be sent a dolla to find out "how to get rich" —'W'ork like the devel and never spend a cent" That stopped him, but his brother wrote to find out how to write a letter with out pen or ink. He was told to use a lead pencil. He paid five dollars to learn to live without work, and was told on a postal card, "t ofish for suckers as we do." He takes his home paper now and is happy. —E x.

COUNTY TREASURER'S BOY LOCATES SISTER

A recent issue of the Garner Leader carried a story telling of thelocating of a sister by Teddy Suurballe adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. John Suurballe of Garner. It seems that Ted's family met with misfortune when he was very young, his mother dying and his father losing his mind and being placed in an asylum.

Ted was most fortunate in being adopted into the John Suurballe home and grew to young manhood without the knowledge of his living and sisters. Recently he located a sister, living at Buffalo Center under the name of Miss Dena Hinders. He has two brothers and is trying to locate them so that a family reunion can be arranged. Ted's name was VanBresen and thef amily lived in the vicinity of Rock Rapids. He has been in the Suurballe family for seventeen years.

K. H. S. PLAYED ALUMNI, FRIDAY NIGHT

Boys are Beaten, but Girls Win an Easy Victory

Last Friday night the local High School teams played the Alumni.

During the first half of the girls game, the alumni held the High School girls well and at halves the score was very close. However during the second half endurance on the part of the girls overwhelmed that of the Alumni and the game ended with a score of 33 to 7 in favor of the High School.

The Alumni proved to be more than a match for the Shamrock's and defeated them in a battle which was hard fought from start tof inish. The "haswassers" gained thel ead erly in the game and succeeded in holding it all during theg ame.

The playing of the High School boys was conspicous for its poor passing and basket shooting. Lauritzen on the Alumni team played a star game, making all of their points.

The score was 16 to 24 in favor of the Alumni.

Lineup

K. H. S. 16		Alumni 24
Gimer	RF	Josten
Wellemeyer	RF	Barr
Patet	C	Lauritzen
Elder	RG	Arnold
Lemke	LG	Wiles

This is the first game of this kind ever held in Klemme and much interest was gained thereby. Next year let's make it a bigger event than this.

NEW CENSUS PLAN TO BE EMPLOYED

Weaver's Method to Procure Fairer Figures on Iowa Tennatry Accepted

The 1925 Iowa State census wil follow a plan devised by J. B. Weaver, a Des Moines, and recommended throught the greater Des Moines committee, for getting fairer figures on the proportion of tenantry on Iowa farms, it is indicated by the state executive council. The plan has been brought before the council it expects to take action action along the lines of Mr. Weaver.

"Happy" and Sara were married preacher.

Under the proposed plan, takers of the census would be required to find out not only how many Iowans are actually farming land owned by them, but also how many farmers are farming lands owned by near relatives.

Recent census statistics taken by the United States governmennt in 1920 showed that 53 per cent of Iowa's farms were occupied by tenants. This condition of tenanrty is much exarggerated Mr. Weaver believes because a good many Iowa farmers are living on land given to them by parents or near relatives who have retired and who will upon their death, leave the land to the descendants who now occupy and farm it.

Mr. Weavers figures compiled from assessors reports, show that of 213, 021 farms in Iowa, 11,882 are occupied by owners and 28,376 are occupied by sons or other relatives of the owners. Ten thousand and ninety farm owners also rent additional land and are therefore counted as tenants as well as owners. Only 50,756 of Iowa's 213,000 farms are leased and not owned, Mr. Weavers figures show.

Under that system of compilation 65 per cent of the farms of the state are occupied by their owners or their sons or other relatives, and if Class 3 is included the rate of 70 per cent, which is much higher than the nation at lrage.

Mr. Weaver and the Greater Des Moines committee are also urging that the United States government adopt the same system of compiling tenantry records in the taking of the federal census as they belive it will be a fairer basis of computation.

The figures prepared by Mr. Weaver are the first ever compiled in this state upon that basis.

SHOW CORN 16 PERCENT UNFIT

Germination Tests Made on 1,700 Ears from 15 Counties

Germination tests of 50 samples of corn exhibited at a number of the leading Iowa corn shows in December show that 16 per cent of the ears were not fit for seed. The 50 tests represented 1,700 ears from counties and gave an average acreage test of 83.6 per cent strong, 8. 6 per cent week ad 7.8 per cet dead.

Ears giivng a weak germination are worse if anything, than dead ears for seed purposes, as they they may give weak or barren stocks which will use plant food and moisture needed by productive stalks.

According to F. G. Churchill, extension farm crops specialist at Iowa State College, who judged at a number of shows, these samples were carefully selected by exhibitors and were of better quality than the average seed corn. He says there is a great deal of mold in the seed corn this year and it is impossible always to detect its presence with the naked eye. The only sure way is to give the corn the individual ear test.

MACHINERY REPAIR IMPORTANT

Means Big Saving, Says J. B. Davidson

Systematic repair, housing and painting are the three important requisites for the upkeep of farm machinery, according to J. B. Davidson, head of the department of agricultural engineering at Iowa State College.

"Systematic repair is by far the most important," says Mr. Davidson. "It has often been said that housing is the most important, but the depreciation due to weathering is not as great as has been thot.

Mr. Davidson says that where you find good management you find the farmer taking good care of his machinery. In recent surveys it was found that the Ford was generally left out while more costly cars were put under cover.

"Farmers pay more for paint than for the structure and materials of the machine," says Mr. Davidson. He mentioned the case of a man who obtained for nothing a hay rake that bad been thrown away. He placed $5 worth of repairs on the machine including a coat of b sold it at a sale for $35.

TIPS FOR TAXPAYERS

January 1, 1924, marks the beginning of the period for filing income tax returns for the year 1923. That period ends at midnight of March 15 1924. Heavy penalties are provided by the revenue act for failure or willful refusal to make a return and pay the tax on time.

Form 1040A, heretofore used for reporting net income of $5000 and less has been revised in the interests of thel argest class of taxpayers—wage earners and salaried persons. Reductions from six pages to a single sheet, Form 1040A is to be used for reporting net income of $5,000 and less derived chiefly from salaries and wages. Persons any part of whose income is derived from a business or profession, farming, sale of property or rent, though the amount is $5000 or less, will be required to use the larger form, 1040. Theu se use the larger form, 1040. The use cases where the net income was in excess of $5000, regardless of wheth er from salary, business, profession or other taxable sourses.

It being imposible to determine at this time which form is desired copies of both forms will be sent tax payers who filed individual returns for they ear 1922, and may be obtained also at the offices of collectors of internal revenue and branch offices upon writtne request.

Don't forget that you can make the round trip to Ames for the Farm and Home week short course, Jan 28 to Feb. 2 for a rate of a fare and a half. Tickets can be bought as early as Jan 24 and are good until Feb. 4. No certificate is nessary.

PROGRAM FOR P. T. A. MEETING

January 8th 1924

Music, community singing. A general, friendly discussion of the following questions.

1—Do our children have time to get their lessons?

2—What should be done with the slow pupils just beginning school, shall the bright pupils be held back for them or shall slower pupils be 'shoved ahead"?

3—Who is responsible for the moral teaching of the children, teacher, parent or preacher?

4—What is expected of the parent in the district regarding the influence of the child.

Saxiphone Solo by Mr. Tregilgus.

5—What is to be done with the child in the school where parents drink liquor and use profane language in the home and whose child does the same thing at school?

6—Should teachers dance while under school contract or not under con tract?

7—Is teaching a profession and should teaching be looked upon the same as other professions as: banker lawyer, doctor, merchant, editor etc?

8—Shouldthe public question teacher's religion any more than a banker, merchant or doctor should question the religion of his customers?

Music— Faith Ax.

9—Should the school and church be connected; if so, why: if not, why? Explain you rules and regulations on elegibility for athletics.

10—Explain your system of figuring deportment.

11—Why is it so few enter the High School and such a few graduate.

12—Why is it that we find so few men teachers in our public schools?

13—ShouldEvolution be permitted to be taught in our public school.?

High School Boy's Special Needs of His father— A. Wellemeyer.

Question Box and reconsider former questions.

Social Hour and lunch.

All are invited ti come and spend the evening.

C. Geneva Rone, Secretary.

WHY A FARMER HAS WHISKERS

Jay N. Darling of Des Moines, Iowa's famed cartoonist, gets several letters every week protesting against bewhiskering the farmer. And yet, he is powerless to heed the com plaints, because everybody who looks at the cartoons recognize the farmer instantly by the sprig of whiskers, and if it weren't there the most of the cartoonist's clientele would not know, without stopping to reason it out, that the figure was supposed to represent the farmer.

'No cartoonist has the slightest notion of ridiculing or libelling the the famer when he puts a beard on him. Mr. Darling says. "It is a part of the 'formula' for the farmer, the characteristic by wihch millions of cartoon readers identify him. We know not many farmers wear beards any more, but they used to, when the farmer began to get into thec artoons, and we never have found a way to modernize the cartoon so that it will get over without the whiskers."

A farm periodical for which Mr. Darling frequently makes cover designs gets so many complaints against picturing the farmer with whiskers that it will no longer use cartoons of the agriculturist which give him a beard. Yet nobody has found a suitable way to picture him without it. Several months ago a big farm journal asked 12 nationally known cartoonists to draw them a good cartoon of a typical farmer. Mr. Darling was one who submitted a cartoon, and every one of the 12 gave the farmer a beard.

"It's just part of the formula," Mr. Darling explains. "Every man or type in public life in America has a certain formula by which cartoon readers identify him. Everbody came to recognize Roosevelts glasses and his wide jaws and his two rows of teeth. Everybody came to know Woodrow Wilson by his glasses and pointed chin which were stressed in cartoons. Everbody identifies certain features of every face which the cartoonist must include if he wants to get the impression over immediately—and his whole sucess of a cartoon lies in the immediate recognition of its underlying notion by those who look at it." —Publisher's Review.

LOUIE KNOKE'S TRUCK HIT BY FREIGHT TRAIN AT CROSSING

OBITUARY

Mrs. Elizabeth Herz, nee Schaefer, was borne at Kernbeck, Germany, April 2, 1837 and died at El. Reno, Okla., December 13, 1923 at the age of 86 yars, 8 months and 11 days. She came to America with her parnts at the age of 12 and settled at Watertown, Wis., where two years later she was gloriously saved under the labors of Rev. William Fiegenbaum and united with the German speaking branch of the Methodist church which she remained a faithful and honored member to the end. She was intensely interested in every thing that pretained to the glory of God and the welfare of his cause. For 10 years itw as her priveledge to be the president of the Women's Foreign Missionary society where she lived.

In 1858 she was united in marriage with John Voelker, with whom she lived 16 years in happy wedlock. Three sons and three daughters were born to this union. After three years of widowhood she was married to Charles Herz, but all too soon to be bereved again, for he died in 1189. By him she had one daughter. Two years before the death of her first husband the family settled near Marble Rock, Iowa. After living here 23 years she made her home for 25 yeras at El Reno, Olka. Being in need of care she made her home with her daughter, the wifeof E. H. Koerner, thel ast 11 years of her life, where she received the tend erest of care.

She is survived by Frank Voelker of Witherford, Olka., Mrs. E. H. Koerner, El Reno Olka, Mrs. D. F. Bradshaw, Bayard, Nebr. Mrs. E. F. Schung, Milwaukee, Wis., seven grand children and five great grand children.

The remains were brought to Rockford, Iowa. A service was conducted in the Flood Creek Methodist Episcopal Church by Dr. L. J. Brenner and interment was made in the family lot in the Flood Creek cemetary.

Deseased for many years lived on the farm now occupitd by John J. Stille and therefore is well known to the Klemme and Liberty Township people.

PUTTING LABELS ON THE COUNTRY

Towns, Roads, and Now Rivers To Be Posted .

"What town is this?" All tourists have asked the question hundreds of times. Progressive towns put the name of their city on signs at the city limits, just as they also put "through arrows" to guide the traveler.

"What road is this?" is asked almost as often, especially on the less traveled highways. Main traveled roads are rapidly being marked, so that thev isitor from afar is not confused.

"What river is this?" is often a matter of wonder to the motorists, who passes over several branches of the same stream, alongside a lake, or over a bridge without knowing what body of water it is which he crosses or passes.

The League of American Pen Women is asking the various State Highway Commissions to place suitable markers near famous streams to inform the traveling public. It is a laudable work, but why, the travelor wants to know, stop at famous streams? Why not mark all bodies of water o nor near any and all roads so that the travelor may be better acquainted with the country through which he passes?

Municipalities find it pays to welcome tourists, to guide him surely and quickly, to make him feel at home. The "Stop! Ten miles an hour under penalty of the law" sign is dissapearing in favor of the "Our speed limit is fifteen miles an hour; please observe it, as we make you welcome" type of sign. With the latter goes the courtesy of road markers and stream label, worthy work for any civic club to take up, that the municipality he visited with joy and remembered with pleasure.

ACCIDENT HAPPENED ON MAIN STREET CROSSING NEAR DEPOT

Truck Smashed to Kindling But Driver Escapes With Few Injuries

Louie Knoke narrowly escaped death Saturday forenoon when the Ford truck which he was driving was struck by a northbound freight at thec rossing on West Main Street between the Farmers Elevator and the Depot.

Knoke had just left the Elevator and was going to drive out of town. As he got to the crossing hes aw the train coming into town a short distance from the crossing; He applied the brakes and the truck slid for perhaps twenty feet onto the track in front of the approaching freight which struck his truck about midships, carrying it along a few feet when the truck turned over, throwing Knoke out of the enclosed cab to the side of the track. The train caught the truck again and turned it over a couple of more times finally stoping at the side walk to the depot, according to eye witnesses of the accident. The body of the car being wrecked to splinters and otherwise damaged.

When Knoke was thrown out of the truck as it turned over the first time thec ab in which he was riding evidently left the truck by the sudden impact, throwing him clear of the tracks and the rest of the truck. He received a broken nose, cuts on one arm and some bad bruises. He was taken to a doctor and received attention at once. A few hours later he came up town smiling,andSaid "It takes more than a freight to kill me."

Knoke's truck was practically a new machine and was well equiped with a heavy body and enclosed cab It was damaged to such an extent that it will require a new body, cab and other repairs.

The crossing where Knoke was hit Saturday forenoon is a dangerous crossing and a train cannot be seen until the driver is nearly on the track. There were two box cars run up close to the crossing.

A large box car at the elevator protruded toward the crossing almost a half length while at then orth side of thec rossing wa another box car. It make it especially more dangerous when box cars are left so close to the crossing

The railroad company should install a signal or other warning device at this crossing to prevent furthur accidents. The main travel into town comes over this crossing and a signal seems to be a necessary precaution and should be installed at once. The view is fair coming into town but going out of town the view of trains is oostructed from either direction.

MORE POWER FROM NIAGARA FALLS

The largest hydroelectric unit in the world was put into use last week at Niagara Falls. It consists of a seventy thousand horse power turbine, operating an electric generator which produces fifty-two thousands kilowatts at twelve thousand volts. Two other units of the same type are to be installed in the near future and when the entire project is completed the Niagara Falls plant will have a capcatiy of 454,000 horsepower.

The new type of hydroelectric units will double the amount of power without increasing the amount of water used. This represents a great triumph of engineering skill, for the entire nation is interested in limiting the amount of water from Niagara Falls which is diverted for commercial use.

There are great possibilities in the furthur developement and conservation of the nation's power of all descriptions. It is stated that even at Niagara Falls where power seems to be almost unlimited, the demand for power exceeds the available supply.

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

CHAPTER XIII—Continued.

—16—

"I could not stand wi' 'em, sir. They threatened me. They have freed Mr. Jarvis from the brig—he found drink at once for 'em—"

"Jarvis!" Sazarac was upon the companion-stairs, leaving them all in an astounded silence. The empty chair of the jester, to De Almonaster's eyes, seemed to hold a grinning, ragged wastrel of the rue Royale . . . and beyond the health drunk to him, the feast was untouched. The admiral of Cartagena hitched his sword-belt higher, nodded to them, and stole above. Clark was at his heels, and once aft, took the wheel from old Bohon.

"Now, then," said the master, "what do you know, Bohon?"

"It is the strange silence, sir. The ship is flat as a dead ship. Black Michel had charge o' the watch, but it is as if every soul had vanished after they gave me the last sounding. I had the lead out because we made out a spit o' land once at dusk, you remember."

"Beluche, you will come with me to see to this. The older men, surely the Barataarians, are not with the levee renegades we shipped along!"

"It is plunder they came for, sir," grunted the admiral. "First, we must get to the arms room."

"They are watching that, sir," whispered Clark. "They smuggled ten muskets from some concealment, but they lack powder."

"Name o' the devil!" blustered the admiral. "Come! Lafitte's name with the old bullies! No more o' this Sazarac, I say!"

De Almonaster was with the two as they passed the mainmast. Then another figure slipped to them from the shadows. "It has come quick, sir," Nez Coupe whispered. "They must rid the ship o' the English woman, they say; and then ask you a fair word for a prize. If not that, death to Sazarac—"

"They need not wait—" laughed Sazarac. "Come—death to the first three men that show! Then a fair word to the rest! Monsieur de Almonaster, your pistols ready? Come, down the after-companion and to the arms room. How many are there of us to be trusted at the first?"

"I say you must be Jean Lafitte, sir," growled Beluche. "Jean o' the Black Petral for this night. Old bullies will come roaring to you, once this clatter o' Sazarac and the English woman is done among 'em!"

"Well, then—Lafitte," he smiled. "Come, you all, with Jean again!"

"The arms room." Bohon moved like a shadow down the passage. "Once sure o' that, clear 'em to the deck and drive 'em howling! Burke and Crackley to be shot on sight, eh?"

"Aye," retorted Johanness. "Then we'll have the older bullies—they will folk, once they see the mettle in Lafitte's men."

"Come," said the commander. "In silence—"

A dim lantern showed the deck-beams over their heads as they crept along the waist. The arms locker was on the starboard side. Beside the door a figure beckoned to them in the shadows. It must be one of Nez Coupe's loyal ones; the little band stole on past the stowage rooms. Monsieur Sazarac had even turned to speak to the shadowy sentinel, when there came a rush of bare feet from either side. A hoarse shout broke. Steel rang on steel, a pistol exploded in the narrow passage. The rush caught the party with an impact that left no chance for weapons. A burly form hurled to Sazarac's shoulders, another dragged at his legs. De Almonaster broke his rapier at a vain thrust and went down under blows and curses.

It Was Plain He Was Trying to Enact the Part of a Swaggering Frigate Captain.

The affair was over with surprising quickness. There must have been thirty mutineers roaring, struggling in the passageway. Along they dragged the prisoners, and none fought back now, for it was useless.

The mutineers, a howling, disorderly pack, took the prisoners aft, and there, upon the quarter-deck, as one waiting to have honor done him, stood John Jarvis. Apparently he was drunk, or apparently he was posing . . . it was of no moment. Monsieur Sazarac shot him one black look and then would face him no more.

By Charles Tenney Jackson

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company

"The commodore!" yelled the brawlers. "The Emperor o' the Bottle, who swore he would yet sleep in old Bony's bed! Turn in to't, Mad John!"

The jester raised an unsteady hand as if he would speak, and then thought better of it. It was plain he was trying to enact the part of a swaggering frigate captain and making an absurd failure of it by a curious doleful humanness. It appeared that the jester was about to speak, to make effort at a leadership of the evil spew he had evoked . . . and then his gesture died away. He, himself, turned away, a ghost figure by the port quarter-rail.

For the English woman had come with Clark, the frightened English boy. There was first a jeer and then a crowding to see her.

"What is this, then?" she cried sharply.

"We are taken, Mademoiselle," returned the master quietly. "That is all there is to it." He turned sternly to John Crackley whose leer upon the English woman boded no good for her. "I demand safety for this lady. Let her return to her cabin. Do you understand me—respect in all things?"

"Eh?" grunted the other. "We'll see to that. Mates—" he glanced uncertainly at his fellows upon whom there had come a curious silence at the captain's assumption of authority, even at this pass: "The woman—now—"

His voice was cut snort by the tremendous explosion of a huge pistol upon the poop-deck above them all. A single figure was there, an unkempt, grotesque man who now was peering curiously into the muzzle of his smoking weapon. Every eye had been drawn to him with a start.

Jarvis' pale face, framed in his long, matted black hair, turned down to them.

"You see, I missed it—" he said plaintively.

"Jarvis," Burke, the deserter, croaked, "what's that?"

"The cabin skylight—at ten paces. Name o' God! If I am to be commodore, I will need practice. Some of you kindly reload my pistol."

There was a shout of amazed laughter from them. The deck lamp showed the English woman staring up at him; behind her, the prisoners of the quarterdeck. He came to the low rail and looked down.

Not at the lady who once looked back at him on the Esplanade. She might have been an unseen spectator over the footlights, and he the chief player at the center of the stage, taking his cue from an invisible prompter.

Neither did his old friends of the rue Royale, and of the smugglers' wine-shops of years agone, appear to exist in his eye. He shrugged, with an open palm down to the conspirators.

"Ho—Commodore!" They bawled up at him. "The word, Jarvis!"

The eye of Sazarac was coldly upon him. But to this friend of his old days, as irredeemable as these, he had the same blank stare as he had for Louise Lestron. As if they were not there—as if she was a mere ghost and he looking through her to the evil pack behind her.

Mademoiselle Lestron turned to the man she knew as Gaspar Sazarac, the gamester of Chartres street. "And this has come to you because of me, Monsieur?"

"It is worth a thousand mutinies. Never fear—the Spaniards hereabout are not all cutthroats. You—the ward of Carr, who is the secret agent of their king . . . why, what have you to fear from them, Mademoiselle Lestron?"

But old Beluche shook his head. It might be well at the Spaniards' hands for Mademoiselle Lestron of Quebec, and for the Count de Almonaster of New Orleans, descended from a line of Castilian viceroys of Louisiana; but for Jean Lafitte; for Beluche, of the Cartagenian rebels; Johanness, and the others who had harried the Mexican trade routes for thirty years—there was quick death in any port of New Spain for them all!

But she could not know. When the longboat was ready, and the crew made way silently for her, she turned to Sazarac with a sudden timid softness:

"Monsieur, something is due you from me! Could I not appeal to them—could you not regain command and sail with them—if I was put adrift?"

He smiled; but it was as if he did not care to look upon her. He was as one who had been given to see a beautiful vision, and before it had come an evil jester, a mocking voice to still the faint good he had sought.

De Almonaster had been watching. He followed her as the captain led the way. Near the rail the girl put her hand to Sazarac's sleeve.

"I am bewildered, Monsieur! It is as if you had given up much for me!"

"I have given much up for you," he answered quietly. "The wreck of years—wild evil, infamy, which—God willing—you shall never know!"

She looked back at Count de Almonaster. His face was averted, but he must have heard. He was even a trifle cold to her as he helped her to the ladder.

On his honor De Almonaster would not speak his old boy's love to her when her ever-questing eyes were going to the gamester, Sazarac—the mystery of Sazarac, the lure of Sazarac's promise that he would claim what he had won across Maspero's gaming table. She thought it very odd, even at this moment . . . the withdrawing of the two gentlemen from her interest, as if each was waiting, watching, for the other to conclude his play. Two rapiers drawn but withheld, perhaps, for the opponent to tie his shoe.

And with a sigh she followed. But ner last glance back showed a glimpse down through the open skylight to the cabin of the emperor. The lamps were very bright there. She saw a slouched figure in the chair of the host. A pale tall man eating and drinking greedily as if with a rare appetite for the viands of the emperor's stores. He jammed his faded velvet cap closer over his eyes, and then his hand found something by the plate that had been next to Sazarac's—her own.

It was a bracelet which she remembered had become disengaged when she drank the health to the chair of the missing guest. The man lifted the gold trinket, examined it under the light—and kissed it. Then he fell to eating with rather the manners of the barroom.

The Emperor of the Bottle Was in the Chair of Sazarac.

The Emperor of the Bottle was in the chair of Sazarac . . . but after all, as was the way with him, when what he wanted was at his grasp, he could not take it. It was the same case as when he could not hit a window with his pistol at ten paces, or swagger his sword without the point catching in a hole of his stocking. He never would aim carefully enough, or wear his sword high enough . . . or love ruthlessly enough.

Outside he heard the splash of the oars waiting to take her away.

The lone guest in the emperor's suite could hear them descending to the longboat. There was a mutter when Johanness swung from the rail. But when old Gorgio, the sullen Catalan cutthroat of other days, the most bloody-minded of all the Black Petral's vanished crew, strode to the ladder, there was a yell.

"The old rib-sticker! He leaves us, mates!"

Gorgio eyed them with fierce disdain. "I sail with men," he growled: "no pothouse lawyers! Who, o' ye all, ever put foot across a bloody deck, save Black Mike. Who, o' ye louts, sailed the old days with Jean and Pierre?"

There was a mutter, half amused, half of resentment, both from the exiles in the longboat and from the mutineers crowded at the rail. It suddenly appeared oddly clear to De Almonaster that not once, during the affair, had the name of Jean Lafitte been upon the lips of the most unruly of them all. It struck the count as very strange; he glanced at the girl on the seat before him, wondering why the air had not rung with the most notorious name of the decades. Jean Lafitte himself, standing upright in the bow, silently watching the dim mysterious shore of savage Campeche, with its unconquered Indians, and still more ruthless Spanish captains holding every point of refuge, must have wondered.

"Monsieur Sazarac!" the girl cried suddenly, as if, with her own courage, to inspire hope in all the castaways, "I am glad to go! I have a feeling that these are now true men all!—for whatever venture lies ahead, I have no fear!"

The watching mutineers had been so silent that her clear voice carried far. It reached the lone banqueter at the emperor's table.

"Saza.ac," he muttered. "Still Saz-a-rac. I, too, have my honor—he can still play Sazarac—the elegant and chivalrous Sazarac—to the end."

For in that one thing the jester had ruled the outlaw crew. He had soberly and stubbornly pleaded and insisted; he had even pointed his rusty, empty horse pistol at their grinning heads and ordained that the English woman must not be told the truth of Sazarac. He had sat in their council to plead for her life and the honor of his friend when he knew the mutiny could not be averted. He had won, and he had sent her away . . . still under the spell of Sazarac, the protecting arm of Sazarac.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

New Device for Tempering Steel

The steel for rock drills must be tempered with great accuracy and this is done automatically. The steel is held in the furnace by a magnet, against the tension of a spring, and when the required temperature is reached, the steel loses its magnetism and is withdrawn by the spring.

LEGION'S NATIONAL CHAPLAIN

Rev. Ezra C. Clemans, Known as "Padre," Has Seen Long Military Service.

It was on the Mexican border that Ezra C. Clemans, national chaplain of the American Legion, won the title of "Padre," which has clung to him throughout the years of the World war and up to the time of his selection as new chaplain of the veterans' organization.

For 37 years, Chaplain Clemans has given service to the military organizations of his state and nation. He graduated from Shattuck school, a semi-military academy in his home state of Minnesota, in his nineteenth year, and in the same year enlisted as a private in the Faribault Guards, an organization of that city. His early training was expected to fit him for life work as a physician, but a visit to a revival meeting and conversion there, led to a change of destiny and consecration of his life to the clergy.

At the opening of the Spanish-American war, he became chaplain with the rank of captain, and served with the Twelfth Minnesota regiment throughout that war.

For six months in 1916, Chaplain Clemans spent his time with Minnesota guardsmen on the Mexican border. It was there that the men learned to call him "Padre." At the outbreak of the World war he entered federal service as chaplain with the rank of major and was attached to the One Hundred and Thirty-sixth infantry. On arrival overseas he became chaplain of the Seventh Aviation center at Aunalt, an important air service station, later to be named as senior chaplain of the intermediate section, S. O. S. On his return to the United States, he remained with the Fifty-eighth infantry until that organization was demobilized in October, 1919. As a member of the Minnesota National Guard, Chaplain Clemans has been assigned to the One Hundred and Thirty-fifth infantry.

Rev. Ezra C. Clemans.

During the World war, Chaplain Clemans is said to have preached to more men than any other chaplain in the A. E. F. He was well known for his visits to the sick. One of his traits is a faith in service men, to whom he loaned thousands of dollars which was invariably repaid.

His career in civil life is equally as prominent as that in the military. He is at present pastor of a Methodist church in Owatonna, Minn., which pastorate follows a long and useful service to his church. Shortly after entering the ministry he became district superintendent, and was one of a group of pioneers who brought about construction of 30 new churches in the state. Chaplain Clemans was field representative for the board of conference claimants of the M. E. church, which helped to make available a fund of $10,000,000 for the care of retired ministers, their widows and orphans. According to his recountal of his life work he also had a prominent part in Anti-Saloon league work in Minnesota. In the Legion he became affiliated with Calhoun post in Minnesota in 1919. He was elected chaplain of Owatonna post on acceptance of the pastorate in that city, and held the office of department chaplain during 1921-1922. Chaplain Clemans was one of the supporters of the newly-organized Chaplains' association within the ranks of the Legion, and has many achievements to his credit in sponsoring the work of the organization both in his own post and throughout the state.

Finds Jobs for Many Veterans.

A total of 4,194 jobs were found for veterans in Kansas City, Mo., by the employment committee of the American Legion, according to a recent report submitted to the organization. At least 400 of the men thus employed are in permanent positions as a result of the Legion's efforts in placement. According to the figures nearly 1,000 of the positions found for the former service men were permanent positions, the remainder representing the short-time jobs which are usually afforded veterans of more or less transient character. These jobs, committee members declare, have permitted many men to retain their self-respect, because the work forestalled requests for charity or relief.

Mrs. Pershing's Birthplace.

A marker denoting the place of the birth of the mother of Gen. John J. Pershing has been erected near Maryville, Tenn., by American Legion members of that state. The tablet is on the site of the old log cabin which served as the home of the leader's mother. A special ceremony, participated in by many prominent Legionnaires and Tennesseeans, marked the dedication.

Yeast Foam makes good bread

Bread making is easy to learn and is in itself an education in other cooking.

Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"

Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 North Ashland Ave.
Chicago, Ill.

Fortune for Smiles.

A Meriden (Conn.) factory superintendent's will was filed the other day, and discovery was made that he had left virtually his entire estate, valued at about $59,000, to a young man who had helped to support himself by selling newspapers. The story is that this youth had never failed to give the "lonesome old man" a smile as he passed through the factory selling his papers, and the circumstance had so impressed the latter that he has made the young man fairly independent through his will.

Proof.

"And what gave you the impression that the man was drunk?" asked the English magistrate.

"Well, sir," replied the witness, "he dropped a penny into the pillar-box outside the house of commons an' stood staring up at Big Ben, an' when I questioned him he said he was waiting to have his weight told."

Trust to Readers.

In writing novels, the authors usually write what they please and trust to the readers liking it.

Just for Curiosity

If you are curious about the results of using Calumet—bake a cake and use some other baking powder, then use the same recipe and employ

CALUMET

The Economy BAKING POWDER

Compare the texture of the two cakes—the way they look—the way they taste. The difference will make you join the millions who use Calumet daily.

Best By Test

Sales 2½ times as much as that of any other brand

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

Blue Band VELVET PENCILS

At all Dealers

5¢

Supreme in their class.

As Smooth as Velvet.

Write for trial sample

American Lead Pencil Co., New York

Makers of the famous VENUS Pencils

Looked Like It.

An old gentleman went into a 10-cent store and sidled around from counter to counter in a somewhat mysterious manner. He bought some bolts, some cardboard, some wire, and then went over and began to rattle the tinware.

"What on earth is he up to?" whispered a girl customer.

"I think," responded her chum, "he has a scheme he doesn't want anybody to get onto."

"Scheme?"

"Looks to me like he is buying the parts and is going to assemble an automobile."

Are You Moving to California?

We Save You 25% on Freight Household Goods—Autos

Through car service. No transfers. Shorter time in transit. Write

BLUE LINE STORAGE CO.

3rd & Elm, Des Moines, Iowa

MOTHER! GIVE SICK BABY "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Harmless Laxative to Clean Liver and Bowels of Baby or Child.

Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels acting without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits! Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.—Advertisement.

Great Ideas.

"From time to time God drops a great idea into the soul of a great man. Often these men who live upon the existing institutions start the fire against the new idea. Sometimes they crucify its apostle; but ideas feed upon faggots, and grow through crucifixions."—Newell Dwight Hillis.

SAVE YOUR EYES! Use Dr. Thompson's Eyewater. Buy at your druggist's or 1107 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

CURES COLDS IN 24 HOURS

WORLD'S STANDARD CASCARA QUININE FOR TWO GENERATIONS — AT ALL DRUG STORES — PRICE 30 CENTS

CURES LA GRIPPE IN 3 DAYS

DETROIT. W. H. HILL CO. MICHIGAN.

FREE We teach you how to successfully treat all chronic diseases. Most advanced and improved Electronic Method. Write today to Dr. H. M. Farnham Care of E. R. V. Mfg. Co., 439 E. Fort St. DETROIT, MICHIGAN

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Removes Dandruff—Stops Hair Falling. Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair. 60c. and $1.00 at Druggists. Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Calluses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

Children Cry for

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:– Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, prepared for Infants in arms and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher
Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

Disordered Stomach

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills —then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. You will relish your meals without fear of trouble to follow. Millions of all ages take them for Biliousness, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Upset Stomach and for Sallow, Pimply, Blotchy Skin. They end the misery of Constipation.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Genuine bear signature— Brent Good Small Pill; Small Dose; Small Price

"Strads" Sold for $50.

The famous "Strad" violins, which today bring such fabulous prices, when they were made never brought their maker more than $50. Antonio Stradivarius who lived from 1644 to 1737, turned out 1,116 instruments. Of those 602 are known to be in existence.

GIRLS! HAIR GROWS THICK AND BEAUTIFUL

85-Cent "Danderine" Does Wonders for Lifeless, Neglected Hair.

A gleamy mass of luxuriant hair full of gloss, luster and life shortly follows a genuine toning up of neglected scalps with dependable "Danderine."

Falling hair, itching scalp and the dandruff is corrected immediately. Thin, dry, wispy or fading hair is quickly invigorated, taking on new strength, color and youthful beauty. "Danderine" is delightful on the hair; a refreshing, stimulating tonic—not sticky or greasy! Any drug store.—Advertisement.

The Airveyor.

The "airveyor" is a pipe-line system which conveys grain from an elevator to a vessel at the water front without the use of the familiar belting. Operated by a hurricane of wind forced through a pipe by giant fans, it will load 4,000 bushels an hour.

Always Keep Allcock's Plasters in your home. Invaluable for all local aches and pains. Inexpensive, absolutely pure, safe and effective.—Adv.

Type of Wrongdoing.

Those who injure some to benefit others are acting as wrongfully as if they were turning other persons' property to their own use.

A good will helps to a good understanding.

Another Rembrandt.

An Antwerp carpenter bought for the price of a few francs, from a second-hand dealer, an old picture, of which the subject was, "Jesus Baptized in the River Jordan." An Antwerp art expert discovered on the painting the date 1640 and the signature of Rembrandt. The painting is said to be worth 2,000,000 francs.

Don't Forget Cuticura Talcum When adding to your toilet requisites. An exquisite face, skin, baby and dusting powder and perfume, rendering other perfumes superfluous. You may rely on it because one of the Cuticura Trio (Soap, Ointment and Talcum), 25c each everywhere.—Advertisement.

Rather.

One who gets up early in the morning because he wants to rather than because he ought to, has about the right idea.

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A BOX

Cures Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion. Drug stores. Adv

Retirement.

It is in retirement that one feels the preciousness of genius and friendship, as one hears best in the silence of the night the sound of the sea or the song of the nightingale.

A Safe and Sure Laxative—Brandreth Pills. One or two taken at bed time will keep you in good condition. Entirely vegetable.—Adv.

At twenty-five, before a young man has been able to make very much money, he wants to save the world.

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

Any man who understands women is willing to admit that he doesn't understand them.

Demand BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy—Genuine

Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Genuine Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

TRADE

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

MARK

SMITH BROTHERS

S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL (orange colored box)

Famous since 1847

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

Mrs. Mary Ginn lives on a 40-acre farm on the edge of Indianola. Twelve years ago she started raising chickens. Now she is doing a business in excess of $10,000 a year.

Iowa judges are beginning to make use of the statute which enables them to sentence individuals convicted of driving an automobile while intoxicated to the penitentiary for one year.

California papers, please copy!

Rufus Broadie, 91 years old, the oldest barber in Cedar Rapids, a man who shaved General U. S. Grant and knew Stonewall Jackson, and who was noted up and down the Mississippi river in the days of steamboats, died suddenly a few days ago.

Des Moines Bank employees have received an invitation to attend the fifth annual bankers' short course at the university at Iowa City to be held from January 21st to 25th, inclusive. The Iowa Bankers association who jointly sponsors the course with the university, has urged attendance from every bank in the state.

Five thousand vigilantes scattered throughout the state are helping prohibition agents and the Anti-Saloon League to make Iowa dry in fact as well as theory. The vigilantes are organized in more than 1000 committees. Part of their job is to prevent wet politicians from gaining control of local politics.

One of the biggest cement producing regions in the world will eventually be located in the Mississippi valley from Dubuque to Cape Girardeau, Mo., W. T. Christine, editor of the Cement Mill and Quarry, claims in an article entitled, "Why Is Davenport, Ia., Not a Great Cement Center?"

Christmas carols were sung at Davenport not only in the churches but in the parks as well. The choristers in the parks were blue birds and robins whose glad refrain were heard by many. This is the first time in the memory of the oldest settlers that the notes of these two birds have been heard this far north in December.

There was a good deal of the incongruous in an Iowa Christmas that brought neither cold weather nor snow, and persisted in the appearance of being a month or two ahead of its accustomed time. It violated long established custom and tradition, and when all is said and done these are the stuff that Christmas is made of.

A nationwide conference to devote its attention to elimination of accidents at grade crossings over railroad tracks will be called within the next few months by the National Association of Railway and Utilities Commissioners, it was announced by Dwight Lewis, Iowa Railway commissioner, who retired this month as president of the association.

The hen, together with the dairy cow, has been the salvation of thousands of Iowa farmers in the last two or three years. With poultry and eggs bringing good prices, the hen is the only sure revenue-producer on the farm and more and more farm wome nare going into the business as a means of offsetting the losses their husbands sustain on their crops.

Ground has been purchased and work will be started immediately by the Des Moines Electric Company on a $16,000,000 electric generating station, which will make the city an important center of the vast super-power system being surveyed by the United States government. The ultimate capacity of the plant will be 175,000 horsepower, sufficient to take care of the needs of a city many times the size of Des Moines.

The largest delegation from Iowa that ever attended a national prohibition conference will leave Chicago January 11th, by special train over the Pennsylvania railroad according to final plans of the Iowa Anti-Saloon league. Dates which have been set for the national conference at Washington, D. C., are January 12th to 16th. The special train is to be called the "All Iowa" train and is to be a duplicate of "The Washington-Broadway Limited."

There are young men on farms in Iowa who would like to know more about purebred livestock, but who feel that they cannot spare the time or cannot break away from their work long enough to take a regular four-year college course in animal husbandry. In 1918, at Iowa State College, a course was introduced especially for this class of men. Letters which have reached the college the past few weeks indicate that there will be a good enrollment of men in this work again this winter.

By early hatching and proper feeding, and very little extra expense and trouble, the egg production on the average farm can be doubled, is the opinion expressed by Prof. J. H. Bardsley, poultry specialist from the Iowa State college.

Announcement has been made at Albia that Governor and Mrs. N. E. Kendall had given their large home there to the Albia Women's club to be used as the organization saw fit. The residence is one of the largest in the city, comprising ten rooms and is located in the principal residence district.

Winter Find You Tired and Achy?

Do You Suffer Constant Backache—Feel Old and Worn Out? Then Follow the Advice of These Good Folks!

DO YOU get up these winter mornings feeling tired, weak—achy all over? Are you so lame, stiff and miserable it seems you can never get back in trim? Does your back ache with a dull, constant throb? Sharp, rheumatic pains torture you at every step?

Then you should be giving some attention to your kidneys!

Winter, you know, is danger time for the kidneys. That's because exposure to colds and chills wears down body resistance and throws an unusally heavy strain on the hard-working kidneys. The kidneys are apt to fall behind in keeping the blood-stream pure, and poisons accumulate that well kidneys would have filtered off.

Racking backaches come with stabbing pains; muscles and joints ache constantly; there are headaches, too, with dizziness and distressing kidney irregularites. Nerves are "jumpy"; one feels old—all worn out.

Give your weakened kidneys the help they need. Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's have helped thousands. They are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These Good Folks:

G. ADDINK, Orange City, Iowa, says: "I had a dull, aching pain in the small of my back. I had dizzy spells so that I would have to stand for a minute after getting up from a chair. When I caught cold it would settle on my kidneys and cause my back to ache. I keep Doan's Pills in the house to ward off these symptoms, and they always give me good results."

MRS. M. SCHULTZ, S. Addition, Orange City, Iowa, says: "My back ached terribly and I had a dull, aching pain. My work was hard because these pains bothered me so. I had dizzy spells and my head ached. I was told about Doan's Pills and I got some. The dizzy spells and headaches disappeared. I believe Doan's a fine kidney remedy and can recommend them to anyone who has kidney trouble."

DOAN'S PILLS

Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

At all dealers, 60c a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chemists, Buffalo, N. Y.

Taking Her Back.

After the young thing at the party had concluded her second encore the old lady leaned toward her and said: "Thank you so much for your songs, my dear. They took me back to childhood days on my father's farm. There were times, when you sang, that I could shut my eyes and fairly hear the old front gate creaking in the wind."

Immense Dam.

An immense dam is being thrown across the Dix river near Burgin, Ky., which, when completed, will be the highest dam east of the Rocky mountains. Two auxiliaries are now under construction which will generate more than 135,000 turbine horse power.

Some Step.

They were simple fellows from a remote village in East Anglit. They wandered about the hotel looking for the room where they had expected to find Friend Arthur.

"Last door on the left," a floor waiter told them, pointing down a long corridor. "Mind there are two steps down when you go in."

Bill went first. He turned left and disappeared. When John came up a dark space confronted him. Up from the floor of the lift shaft came the voice of Bill:

"Be careful, John; the first step's awful steep."

Pessimism indicates intellectual indigestion.

Wire Troubles.

Animal interference with telephone service includes bears that mistake the humming of wires for a swarm of honeybees; squirrels that chew holes in the lead sheath of cables; ants and beetles that eat metal, and spiders that throw their webs across open wires causing short circuits when dew gathers on the web.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

Teach your child internal cleanliness

Washing Cleans Only The Skin

THE mother who permits constipation in her baby or older child is risking the health, even the life of her little one.

It must be remembered that an infant is helpless, unable to tell that constipation is making its life miserable. Consequently the mother must be able to recognize signs of constipation in her baby. Convulsions, night terrors, grinding the teeth in sleep, feverishness, fretfulness and such symptoms—any of these may indicate that poisons from baby's stagnant intestine are flooding the little body.

In older children biliousness, coated tongue, loss of appetite warn the mother that constipation is present. Constipation, unchecked in youth, may lead to serious consequences. In constipation, according to intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness, including the gravest diseases of life.

Laxatives Only Aggravate Constipation

The mother should not resort to laxatives. A noted authority says that laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

More Important Than Soap and Water

Why Physicians Favor Lubrication

Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Not a Medicine

Nujol is used in children's and general hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water it is harmless.

Let your infant or child have Nujol regularly—and see rosy cheeks, clear eyes and happiness return once more.

Get rid of constipation and avoid disease by adopting the habit of internal cleanliness. Take Nujol yourself as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

Nujol

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

For Internal Cleanliness

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Let the Times print your sale bill.

Earl Josten went back to school at Sioux City yesterday morning.

It pays to buy your electric light bulbs at Jacobs & Son. Try it. tf

The thermometer registered 21 degrees below the zero mark this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Becker and two children, of Garner, were visitors in this city Tuesday.

Mrs. Depping left Friday for Dexter, Iowa, for a few days visit with her mother.

For Sale—Green Bone Meal. It makes the hens lay. Klemme Meat Market. tfc

The Royal Neighbors held their meeting at the hall Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Ernest Lewis is spending a few days visiting her folks at Grundy Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Benn Coobs entertained o New Year, W. F. Pavey and family.

"Happy" Johnson and bride left last Friday for Spencer where they will begin house keeping.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Gram entertained Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gram on New Years day.

Mr. and Mrs. Gee from Goodell were visiting their daughter, Mrs. C. M. Gram, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Buss from Goodell, spent the New Year's day at the Elko Buss home.

Buy your electric light bulbs and other supplies here and save money. Jacobs & Son, Hardware Store. tf

Rev. Gauger conducted funeral services for a friend at Hayfield yesterday afternoon.

Lewis Strieby and family of Mason City visited with Klemme friends from Sunday until Tuesday.

Alvin Lackore from Forest City came New Years day for a visit with Milo Patet.

Harold Gruetzmacher and wife of Britt spent New Years day at the Frank Gruetzmacher home.

Ernest Helps returned from his Illinois visit Monday.

Emil Lau has for sale a few choice spring Boars at bargain prices. Don't forget his Annual Bred Sow Sale on January 29, 1924. tfc

Elmer Ludeke and family enjoyed dinner at the home of Mrs. H. Ludeke and Art Schoenwetter on New Year's day.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Keraus entertained Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Kluckhohn and Mrs. Sarah Turgeson and two sons for dinner New Year's day.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kluckhohn entertained Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Kluckhohn, and Mrs. Sarah Turgeson and two sons, for dinner Sunday.

Mrs. Charlie Luick was unable to be at her place in Wellemeyer's store Saturday on account of the grippe.

Mrs. Dick Bamman assisted at the Wellemeyer store during the illness of Mrs. Luick, who had a case of grippe.

Clarence Wiles tried to make the rounds of the mail route Monday but did not get far on account of the deep snow in places.

The W. F. M. S. of the Methodist Church are having their regular meeting at the parish house this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cullinan of Belmond, drove up here for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Waterman, Sunday.

Worthy Usher, who has been visiting at the Tom Blank home over the holidays, returned to his home at Cedar Rapids Tuesday.

Mr .and Mrs. M. O. Barr spent Sunday and the New Year visiting with Elmer Fuller and family at Clear Lake.

William and Carlyle Gauger went to Garner yesterday morning for a few days visit with their grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Josten.

Miss Marie Gauger returned to Morningside College at Sioux City, yesterday morning.

Martin Jensen came home from the Rochester, Minn., hospital last week improved in health and feeling fine.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. Church held a shower on Mrs. Gauger last Friday afternoon. Refreshments were served. All had a good time.

Charlie Luick came back from Mason City last Thursday. The work at the sugar plant is done and he will remain in Klemme for the winter.

Howard Wiles and Fred Arnold returned to Ames yesterday noon to take up college work again. The boys are taking a mechanical engineering course.

John Day and family and William Smith and family spent Sunday at the Walter Ross home at Garner. A New Years dinner was served by Mrs. Ross.

Emil Patet and Miss Emma Sampson had Sunday dinner at the Leonard Sampson home. Emil's flivver could not weather the storm coming back to town and Emil and Emma had to "hoof it" for a mile.

Dr. Anderson's class of boys enteretained the class of girls of Miss Mabel Smith at the parrish house on New Year's Eve. A good time and good eats were reported.

Mr. and Mrs. August Lau entertained their children and families Sunday with a big holiday dinner. Mr. Lau returned to Minneapolis again yesterday where he is taking treatments.

We hear there will be a basket ball game at the school gym this Friday night between the businessmen of the north and south side of Main Street. Hurrah for the north side!

This week we are publishing the announcement of Thos. Berhow who is running again for Supervisor. Mr. Berhow is well known over the county and has made many friends while he has served on the Board. He will, no doubt, be a strong candidate in the coming prmary.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus entertained on New Year's eve at a seven o'clock dinner the following: Mr. and Mrs. John Waterman; Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Waterman and family; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Keraus and two sons; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kluckhohn; and R. A. Jorgenson and family. The evening was spent in playing cards until the new year arrived.

AUCTION SALE

At the farm located at the corner of Kentucky Avenue, and Birch Drive, northeast of MASON CITY—

Tuesday, Jan. 8th

STARTING AT 12:30
Hot Free Lunch at Noon

50 HEAD MILK COWS

All springing or fresh. T. B. tested, High Grade Guernseys, Jerseys, Holsteins, Aryhires—

4—Pure bred Jersey cows, fresh.
2—Pure bred Holstein cows, fresh.
1—Pure bred Jersey Bull, 14 months old.
1—Pure bred Holstein Bull, 15 months old.
2—High grade Guernsey Bulls, 1 year old.

TERMS:—As arranged with Clerk.

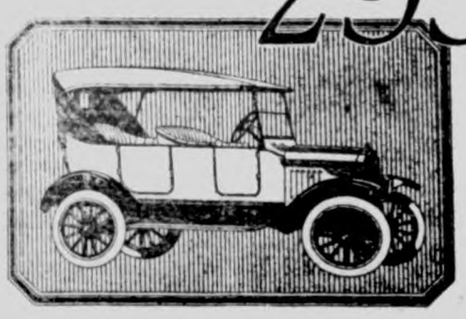
John Neil

Jim Miller, Auct. 1st National Bank, Clerk

EAGLE "MIKADO" Pencil No. 174

For Sale at your Dealer Made in five grades
ASK FOR THE YELLOW PENCIL WITH THE RED BAND
EAGLE MIKADO
EAGLE PENCIL COMPANY, NEW YORK

The New Touring Car $295 F.O.B. DETROIT



A Striking Value—at $295

Considering the improved appearance of the new Ford Touring Car, one would naturally expect a proportionate advance in price.

Larger scale production, however, has made it possible to incorporate in this new type touring car a number of decided improvements without increasing its cost to the purchaser.

A comparison extending over a long period of years will reveal the fact that the present price is actually the lowest at which the five-passenger open car has ever been sold.

The Ford Touring Car stands today, as it always has, a most remarkable value in the motor car field.

This Car can be obtained through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

Greiman Motor Co.

Ford
CARS TRUCKS TRACTORS

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

January 3, 1924.

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN	55—.56
OATS	.35
BARLEY	.55
RYE	.60
HOGS	6.00—6.50
HAY	15.00—20.00
BUTTERFAT	.57
BUTTER (creamery)	.55
EGGS	.30
HEAVY HENS	.15
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.14
LEGHORNS	.08
STAGS	.10
COCKS	.06
DUCKS	.10
GEESE	.08

Don't deceive Yourself--

You're paying the cost of STORMIZING in waste oil and gas alone. The expense of operating your car with cylinders in a worn and scored condition is greater than the cost of STORMIZING and Complete Overhauling. But the waste of oil and gas is not the only thing to be considered. The following troubles are all directly due to worn cylinders. Loss of Power, Imperfect Compression, Low Gasoline Mileage, Waste of Oil, Excessive Carbon, Fouled Spark Plugs, Mis-firing, Diluted Oil, Injured Bearings, Weak Compression, Hard Starting, Piston Slap, Nosy Operation, Uneven Idling, Mis-firing at Low Speed.

STORMIZING strikes the very root of all these troubles, it cures them all.

We Know Autos—Both Right and Left Handed

TAGOLENE OIL—the Utmost in Lubrication

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Authorized Service

Auto Mechanics —All Work Guaranteed— General Blacksmithing

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Office opposite from Hotel Klemme

Phone No. 19

Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Kahrs' Drug Store Phone 4009

Klemme, Iowa

Announcement

Henry "Butch" Schroeder, who needs no introduction to the people of this community, announces the opening of a new commission firm, which bears the name of BARTON, SCHROEDER & QUINN, located at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago.

Mr. Schroeder, since his departure from this locality, has been very actively engaged in the selling of live stock, as you know, and his reputation asacattle man is well known.

The firm of BARTON, SCHROEDER & QUINN, although newly organized, is fully equipped to give the highest service possible in the handling of live stock shipments.

May this announcement be taken as an opportunity to wish you much sucess during the coming year.

Barton, Schroeder & Quinn

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Crawford have sold their interests in the hotel to Mr. and Mrs. Chris Blumer of this city. Blumer's took charge of the busfness on January first.

The Ladies Aid Society meets at the parish house next Thursday afternoon with Mesdames Hesselhuus, Fred Kluckhohn, Wm. Smith and C. G. Waterman as hostesses. They will serve supper to members and their families. The Ladies Aid will welcome new members into teh organization.

Last Thudsday, Dec. 27 great grand pa Suckow of Klemme had another birthday which made him 90 years old. He enjoyed thec alls he received. His son Rev. Suckow of Forest City also drove down to visit with him. Undoubtedly father Suckow is the oldest man of Klemme at present, likely the oldest in Hancock County.

Troubles wear away if you don't permit them first to wear you away.

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

THE HOME OF GOOD EATS

CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGARS

MEALS and LUNCHES

Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It Here

Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service

We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.

CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

What Became Of Those 10 Dollars?

"I know I had ten dollars this month which I was planning to use for new clothes. But they're gone and to save my life I can't tell what became of them.

Treacherous memory. If the months expenses had been paid by check, a glance at thec heck stubs whould show the day when, the person tow hom, and the purpose for which the ten dollars was spent.

Have a Checking Acconut at the First National Bank of Klemme and know what becomes of your money.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'.'

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
A. W. Gauger, Pastor

Owing to the stormy weather last Sunday, our atendance was somewhat impaired. We hope to see all out next Sunday for both services.

Let us not forget the midweek services of the church such as the prayer meetings, the missionary meetings and those of the ladies' aid society. All help to inspire and to build the Master's cause.

Services next Sunday as follows:

Preaching service at 10 o'clock.

Sunday school at 11 o'clock.

Evening service at the usual hour.

We hope that all will start the New Year right by attending all or as many of the services as you possibly can.

GETTING MONEY OUT OF WAR MATERIALS

The treasury department reports that the sale of surplus war materials has netted the government 35 per cent of the original cost. This is much better than the average observer would have guessed. Much of the surplus material has been commonly considered a total loss and it has been stated frequently that government was forced to sell for "almost nothing" large quantities of supplies for which the highest of high wartime prices was paid. With $944,579,320 already received from the sale of surplus war stocks, the federal govenrment has set a record for businesslike salvaging.

County Recorder

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election to the office of Recorder of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Clarissa Abel. adv

---

County Supervisor

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Supervisor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—Thos. Berhow. adv

DENTIST

J. L. Hesselhuus, D. D. S.

Office Hours 8-12 1-5:20

Office Opposite State Savings Bank; In Schaffer Bldg

Evening Work By Appointment Only

Klemme, Ia. Phone 81

NORTH AVERY CLUB

The North Avery Progressive Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Marshall, Friday evening, December 21. A Christmas program including recitations and songs by the children and readings by Mrs. J. J. Cook and Miss Maud Griggs was enjoyed by all present.

Forty-four people partook of the bounteous Christmas dinner.

During the evening the club presented Mrs. D. A. Marshall with a sterling silver spoon, engraved with the club name, in honor of her birthday.

The next meeting will be a day meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Nelson, January 18.

KANAWHA DIARY SHOW

..Plans have been made by the Kanawha Co-Operative Creamery and the Kanawha Commercial Club to conduct a two diary, corn and poultry show on January 21st and 22nd. This has come to be an annual event at Kanawha, and has proven very successful. There are many entries made in this show last year, and the committee feels that there will be a larger number on exhibit this year.

CLARISSA ABEL ANNOUNCES

In this issue of the Times we carry the announcement of Mrs. Clarissa R. Abel, who seeks a second term as Recorder.

Mrs. Abel deserves the second term and should have no competition in the race. She has served the office in an efficient and courteous manner. The voters of the Republican party will no doubt give her one hundred per cent support.

We endorse her for a second term.

POISON HOOTCH IS FATAL TO PRISONER

Poison hotch was probably the cause of the death of a prisoner in the county jail early Sunday. He had been placed in jail Saturday evening and became violently ill within a few hours. Physicians were called but were unable to save him. The body was claimed by a brother of the unfortunate man ad was taken to another town for burial.—Rockwell City Advocate.

News of Goodell And Vicinty

Mrs. Tom Hamilton has been enoying a visit from her niece Miss Costello, of F est City this week.

George Sherwood returned to his home in Iowa Fils Sunday after spending a few days with his brother W. L. Sherwood east of town.

..The Christmas dance was enjoyed by a very large crowd and all report a fine time.

Mrs. T. O. Letch is on the sick ist this week.

Miss Nettie Mason went to Wisconsin to spend the Christmas vacation with relatives there.

The Farm Bureau and Shipping Association of Avery and Twin Lake townsh p are planning on having a rabbit dinner in the basement of the U. B. church Thrusday. There will also be a program ni the hall Everyone is invited to come and eat the rabbits which will be cooked by the Farm Bureau Ladies. This dinner and entertainment will perhaps, if the weather permits draw one of the largest crowds which Goodell has seen in many a day.

Walt Mason shipped two car loads of hogs Saturday.

The Misses Mason , Ahrenkiel, Thomas and O'Krueg, our Coe Etudents returned to Cedar Rapids Tues after spending the Holidays with their parents.

Arthur Savogue came from Chicago Monday night to spend af ew days with his parents.

The shooting match last Monday and Tuesday was enjoyed by a great many of our hunters and sportsman.

Clara Johnson, Mae Griggs, Mark Smith ad Dale Chase retured t oCedar Falls Wednesday after spending the Holidays with their parents, to resume their duties at T. C.

Carl Sandberg who attends School at Ames was home for the Christmas vacation.

This vicinity was visited by a snow storm Sunday. Guess Iowa is not Califoria yet.

Vincent Allaben spent his vacatiot with his parents and wife.

Fred Boose of Minnesota is visitat tng home of his father this week.

CLEAR LAKE THIRD IN SIZE IN IOWA

Spirit Lake First and West Okoboji of 28 State Owned Waters

Des Moines, Dec. 31—Iowa has sixty eight state owned lakes, ranging in area from 5,600 aicres to 32 acres in size, according to figures compiled by the state board of conservation and made public by L. H. Pammell of Iowa State College, chairman of the board.

The largest lake in the state is Spirit Lake in Dickinson county, containing approximately nine square miles of water, and the smallest is the thirty two acre Silver Lake in Delaware county. The second Iowa Lake in size is West Okiboji, also in Dickinson county, and next is Clear Lake in Cerro Gordo county, below which ranks Storm Lake in Buena Vista county.

The State owns all the lakes within its borders which are important enough or which contain enough water to be called lakes at all. All of these the board of conservation is taking steps to keep filled with water and protected against draining by farmers whose land iles along their borders. In as many instances as possible the board is acquiring land which will give the public access to the lakes.

The total acreage owned by the state amounts to 43,500 acres—sixty- eight square miles of water if it were all in one body. These seventy-lakes lie in twenty three Iowa counties—less than a fourth of the counties of the state. Dickenson county has the most lakes— Fifteen —and Emment is second with eight.

All the lakes but one, according to Dr. Pammell, are included in the Wisconsin drift sheet, the geolgoist' name for the glacial area and the movement which formed them. Because this glacial drift sheet extended down over only a part of the state from the northward most of the lakes are found in the north and northwest part of the state.

Among the states's holdings in connection with these lakes, Dr. Pammell points out, more than five thousand acres of American lotus beds, where grows the most beautiful plant of the water lily family. Some of the lakes have historical interest—Blue Lake, in Mona county, where Lewis and Clark landed ,is perhaps the most notable in that regard.

All of the lakes are valuable, aside from their scenic and recreation al value, as breeding places for fish, fowl and water animals.

SO?

Sometime ago a motorist was arresting for running over and injuring his mother-in law. After listening to thec ase, the judge fined the man $55.

"I cna understand the $50, but why the extra $5?" said the defendant.

'That's the war tax on amusements," replied his honor.

TESTING FOR TUBERCULOSIS STARTED IN HANCOCK COUNTY

Area testing for tuberculosis has been started in Hancock ounty with Dr. E. G. Dunn in cbarge. he work was started Tuesday, December 18th in Ell Township. W. J. Hampel's herd in District No. 3 was the first to be injected, and will be the first herd to receive the test in this Tuberculosis clean-up campaign.

The work will be pushed as rapidly as posible, testing from twenty to thirty herds per week. The Farm Bureau co-operators and officers are requested to give all possible help in putting over this project. A meeting was held of the co-operators and officers in Ell township and plans were made which will probably make Ell township 100 per cent.

Everyone is requested to take advantage of this work, although they may own but one cow, and whether they live in town or in the country.

Ell township was chosen as the first township to receive this work as they had the highest percentage of signers on their petitions. This pan will be followed throughout the cam paign. Eight-five per cent of the farmers of this township signed, there being only seventeen farmers who did not sign. Farm Bureau co-operators and officers are again visiting those who did not sign and are having good success in getting their signatures. It looks as though Ell township will have every herd tested.

The same plan will be followed in the other townships, and it is hoped that we can make the county 100 per cent.—Farm Bureau Exchange.

Of the fires started by lightning in Iowa 61 percent are in farm barns. The loss in Iowa from lightning fires in 1922 was $1,363,704.

More than 100 classes, lectures, demonstrations and judging contests will be held every day of the big Farm and Home Week Short course at Iowa State Colege.

BROADCASTING OUTFIT

Des Moines to Have Another Broadcasting Station, to Cost $30,000

The Bankers Life Insurance Co., when it removes to its new offices in the Liberty building in Des Moines about the first of the year, will install a radio broadcasting equipment at an outlay of $30,000. It will be a 500 watt set, similar to that now operated from the Woodmen of the world building and Omaha stations will divide the time for this district according to the regulations of the federal government.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

We Want You To Try Out An

ABC WASHER FREE

Ask Any Employee To Explain

Just give us your name and we will deliver any type of washing machine you wish to try and one of our experts who will do your washing for you—FREE.

During The Month Of January

Special Terms to Suit your Purse
A Year in Which to Pay

Cut out and Mail In

Iowa Falls Electric Co.,
Iowa Falls, Iowa
Gentlemen:—

I would like to try an ABC Washer. It is understood that I am under no obligation to Purchase same.

Check Kind. DOLLIE— OSCILLATOR— CYLINDER—

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Iowa Falls Electric Co.

GARNER, IOWA

"Our Goal Is Perfect Service"

Dollar by Dollar

Saving Accounts grow into fortunes. All it needs is the resolution to START and KEEP IT UP.

RESOLVE NOW TO OPEN

YOUR SAVINGS

ACCOUNT

One dollar will do. After that, add as much as you can at regular intervals and you'll find yourself in a new class of men—those who own something worth while.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

What the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

SOME BILLS PASSED BY THE SENATE.

Fixing fees chargeable by district court clerk.
Relating to municipal corporations—bridges.
Relating to county bonds.
Relating to county recorder.
Relating to official newspapers.
Relating to vacancies in office.
Relating to release of sureties.
Relating to deputies for state officers.
Relating to practice of engineering.
Relating to duties of governor.
Relating to state fire marshal.
Legalizing Waterloo bond issue.
Legalizing Oakland bond issue.

SOME BILLS PASSED BY THE HOUSE.

Legalizing Waterloo bond issue.
Legalizing Oakland bond issue.
Municipal corporations—general powers.
Peremptory challenge.
Fixing penalties for prison breaking.

A proposal that the punishment for bootleggers in Iowa, even for the first offense, be a jail sentence, without the privilege of paying a fine, is receiving serious consideration of members of the committees on intemperance in both houses of the legislature. The suggestion is in line with the idea of prohibition leaders, that if any changes in the state's liquor laws are made during the special session of the legislature, they should put more teeth into the law. Legislators who have expressed themselves on the suggestion seem to favor it, and already have assured the prohibition forces that no change tending to let down on the liquor law enforcement will be permitted to creep into the revised code.

The tax committee budget bill provides for a budget report setting forth in detail the income and expenditure of the state for the biennial preceding and an estimate of the income and expenditure for the succeeding biennial period. This estimate is based upon a careful analysis of public revenue on the one hand, and the real needs of each department of the state government on the other. Under this system all the appropriations requested by each department of the state government would be presented in one budget bill. This bill need not be the only one considered by the session.

The senate ended its first full-day session at the close of a long debate over code commission bill 145, which supplements the present printing law, and provides that public printing of county legal notices be paid for at the rate of 33 1-3 cents per each ten lines for each insertion. The bill was passed with but one minor change after several amendments to alter it so as to decrease the revenue to official newspapers had been voted down and the greater part of the afternoon had been spent in getting back to the starting point.

According to a table of appropriation prepared by Representative A. O. Hauge, chairman of the house committee on appropriations in the fortieth regular session, standing limited appropriation amount to $6,764,055 and estimated standing unlimited appropriations to $10,240,175 biennally, making a total of more than $17,000,000 that is appropriated from assembly session to session without action by the legislature except to give approval to the omnibus bill when it is up for passage in the last few hours of the session.

The work of revising and clarifying the Iowa code will be done in committee sessions and the measure of the speed with which the work is accomplished will be the effectiveness and rapidity with which this work is done, rather than the number of bills actually passed in any given period. This statement summarized the attitude of house leaders on the task of amending and revising the 211 bills on code revision on which the legislature must pass before the special session ends.

Consideration of budget legislation has a better chance of coming before the legislature than anything else in the program of the Van Alstine committee. If the legislature does not take up the budget it will probably figure in the coming state political campaign.

While the question of procedure on the odd numbered bills is not in itself a vital one, upon its decision probably hinges the feeling which will be manifest between the two houses the remainder of the session.

A resume of the work done by both houses of the Iowa Assembly from the time convening on December 4th, until adjournment shows that six measures have been passed by both houses, four of which have been signed by Governor Kendall. However, 39 bills have been passed by the Senate separately, and 26 measures have passed the house.

WANT TO ORGANIZE RURAL HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICTS.

Organization of rural high school districts, a movement supported by the house farm bloc, will be proposed as an amendment to one of the numerous bills before the legislature, it was disclosed after a meeting of the bloc at the Wellington hotel.

Such a project has been contemplated by numerous members of the legislature for several years, but has never had enough promised support before to warrant its submission to the legislature for a vote.

The purpose of rural high schools, which would in most cases teach only through the tenth grade, is to keep pupils at home for an additional two years.

The amendment will propose the following eight things:

1. Any two or more rural districts may unite to form a high school district.

2. The proposition to be submitted by a petition of ten voters from each district and voted on in each district at the annual meeting. A majority vote in each district to carry. Afterward no district can withdraw without the consent of all others.

3. Other rural districts may come into the high school district at subsequent meetings.

4. Annual meeting of high school districts to be held first Monday in June. Three trustees to be elected for a term of three years each.

5. The expense of maintaining shall be carried by a tax on all the property of the district.

6. When a rural high school is organized the territory cannot be annexed to any town or consolidated school district.

7. It shall be optional with the high school board whether domestic science manual training and agriculture are taught.

8. Grades earned by any approved rural high school shall be accepted by any other high school or college within the state.

Chief Hawkeye of the Des Moines News would advise legislators to proceed slowly in this code revision job and scan every bill carefully. The Chief says: Haste will not only make waste, but it is likely to prove costly later on when loopholes and leaks are discovered in poorly drafted legislation. The code revision commission has undoubtedly done its work well, but it would be surprising indeed if some jokers or serious mistakes were not unearthed in such a tremendous undertaking. Take your time and do the job well while you are doing it.

Of sole importance are the code bills dealing with reforms in court procedure, laws of inheritance, divorce and the various phases of state and local government. Code revision is a necessary evil under our present system. Much of the code commission's work is splendidly done. There will not be time to consider any new legislation, nor is it to any extent necessary.

Controversy over the question of whether the house should consider senate bills before the senate has acted on them featured one morning session of the Iowa legislature. After considerable debate, however, the house by a vote of 48 to 44 decided that all senate bills should be referred back to the committee until the senate had acted upon them.

Representative Clark of Lee county declared that he believed that while as a general rule it was the best policy to consider its own bills first, that the house could materially aid in shortening the code revision session by the consideration of senate bills occasionally. "We have a larger body of members to draw from in the house and larger committees," Clark declared.

The liquor laws probably will not come up in either house until about the middle of January. The code commissioners made numerous recommendations and, in addition, the Women's Christian Temperance union, the Iowa Anti-Saloon league and several individuals have informed the house and senate committees that numerous other changes seemed desirable.

Tax legislation and budget legislation is not new. It has been before the people of Iowa for the past three years. If the bills proposed by the tax commission were not sound, they should have been amended or rejected and something offered in place of them.

Budget legislation will be put squarely up to the special session of the legislature and strong pressure will be brought to bear on members of both houses to give the state an orderly system of handling public funds.

By action of the house the question of reconsidering the vote on the Patterson resolution, whereby all odd numbered bills were rereferred to committees, will be made a special order of business for January 3rd.

Those interested have been told by the committees on intemperance that the Iowa law defining intoxicating liquor would be stronger, when it is finally acted upon, than the Volstead act.

The house passed code bill 278, fixing penalties for breaking out of prisons and reformatories. The woman's reformatory at Rockwell City is now included in the list of institutions covered by the act. Penalty for breaking out of the penal institutions carries a sentence of five years.

The senate passed Senate File No. 267, a bill relating to the fees chargeable by the clerk of the district court to aliens desiring to become naturalized citizens. The measure increases the declaration fee from 25 cents to $1, and provides that fees for witnesses shall be paid in advance.

METEORIC COUP OF YOUNG WOOD

Wall Street Stunned at Strange Story of Tip Seller's Success.

New York.—The sudden fortune won by Lieut. Osborn Wood, son of Gen. Leonard Wood, as told in cables from Manila, resulted in a reaction of amazement in Wall street.

That a twenty-six-year-old army officer, unversed in the ways of "the street," could rush in and grab off such a chunk of money, estimated at $700,000—perhaps much more—was surprising enough of itself, but what really stunned old operators was that young Wood, thousands of miles away in the Philippines, apparently was carrying out his financial program solely on the advice of a comparatively unknown "tipster," a professional who sells his service.

There are several developments of interest in the affair. One was the confirmation by Secretary of War Weeks of the report that it was on his suggestion that Lieutenant Wood brought a sudden halt to his Wall street ventures.

"Some months ago," Secretary Weeks said in Boston, "there was brought to my attention the fact that large checks were coming through American banks to the credit of Lieut. Osborne C. Wood, who is stationed in Manila.

"The amounts involved seemed to me to be beyond the probable financial responsibility of the lieutenant, and, as he was an officer in the army, I directed that his operations should stop. This order was immediately complied with."

While the War department has decided there is no necessity for an inquiry, it is forecast in Washington that a congressional inquiry now being urged by Representative Frear (Rep., Wis.), will touch upon young Wood's coup. Frear's resolution calls for an inquiry on General Wood's conduct of Philippine affairs and aims also at determining whether any American army officers made money in Philippine speculations. Lieutenant Wood insists his fliers were all in American stocks.

17 Die in State Hospital for Insane at Chicago

Chicago—The "death house" at the State Hospital for the insane at Dunning became the fiery tomb of at least seventeen persons early Wednesday night when a swiftly-spreading fire of unascertained origin destroyed an old wood pavilion known by the foregoing grim name. Fourteen of the dead are known to have been patients in various stages of insanity. Three others were Elijah Carraker and his wife, attendants, and Lowell, their eight-year-old boy.

Harvard Loses to Radcliffe in Mental Test; Girls Score

Cambridge, Mass.—Recent psychological tests of a number of students at Harvard and Radcliffe colleges show that the girls scored over the men. The Harvard students show an average of 50.5 per cent in tests given 107 students, while the Radcliffe girls have a 55 per cent average on tests of 37 girls. The tests, devised by Dr. Abraham A. Robnck of Harvard, were based on relative speed in observation, deduction, mental application and interpretation.

Federals Take Mexican Town From the Rebels

Nogales.—The town of Tamaculia was captured by federals in their first contact with rebels on their march toward Guadalajara, capital of Jalisco. The revolutionaries were thrown back with heavy losses. The defeated rebels were part of the command of Gen. Enriquez Estrada, one of the principal revolutionary leaders in the West. Two hundred of the Estrada troops were taken prisoners.

Shoots to Kill Japan's Regent; Hits Chamberlain

Tokyo.—An attempt was made to assassinate the regent this morning as he was en route to convene an ordinary session of the diet. The assailant was a youth about twenty years old, dressed as laborer. He used a cane gun. The bullet missed the regent's head only an inch and struck the chamberlain.

New German Parley

Paris.—January 14 has been set as the date for the meeting of the first committee which will investigate Germany's ability to pay reparations. The meeting of the second committee, which will examine Germany's resources at home and abroad, will hold its first meeting January 24.

Americans in Mexico Wreck.

El Paso, Tex.—More than a score were killed, many of them Americans, and several injured when a train was wrecked near Celaya, state of Guanajuato, Mexico, according to reports brought here by travelers.

France Controls Russ Finances.

Berlin.—An agreement providing for French control of Russian finances until Russian debts are paid has been concluded between the two governments. The agreement was reached at a conference in Berlin.

MISS SYLVIA BRAINERD

Miss Sylvia Brainerd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Brainerd of Washington, D. C. One of the most beautiful and popular of the capital's younger set.

PREPARING FOR TAX-CUT ACTION

Leaders of Both Parties at Work on Plans.

Washington.—A virtual agreement for a caucus immediately after the holidays to agree upon a program for tax reduction legislation has been reached by leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties.

Democratic senators and representatives will hold a joint meeting just before congress reconvenes. It developed that Republican leaders in the house have a plan that is rapidly taking definite form for a caucus immediately after the holidays.

Democratic leaders are disturbed over the defections in their ranks in favor of the Mellon plan and they hope to block any further commmitments by Democratic members of congress.

The prime movers for the Democratic gathering are those who fear that the Democratic senators and representatives can no longer be held in line for a partisan measure. They propose to make one grand effort to whip the rank and file of the party in congress into line for a purely domestic tax cut to differ in some uncertain way from the Mellon plan.

Republican leaders are going ahead with plans to rush through a tax revision program along the lines proposed by Secretary Mellon.

Hope Given Up for French Dirigible Lost Over Africa

Paris.—Government experts have given up hope for the Dixmude, the giant dirigible which has been missing since last Friday. They said that they doubt if the ship is afloat as it is impossible for it to navigate without power. Its fuel supply surely is exhausted. "We expect nothing except bad news of the Dixmude now," an attache of the ministry of marine said. "Our only hope is that the crew has reached the ground somewhere in the Sahara. We have figured out that they might subsist for three weeks on their reserve rations, if they were able to land them."

Greatest Hero of Whole Army Is Mustered Out

Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.—Standing rigidly at attention in a drizzling rain, Sergt. Samuel Woodfill, designated by Gen. John J. Pershing as the outstanding hero of the World war, watched a regimental review for the last time as a soldier and then received his discharge papers from the commanding officer of Fort Benjamin Harrison.

The military ceremony in his honor ended 22 years of service with the colors during which he served in the Phillippines, on the Mexican border and in France.

$25,504,000 Gold Goes in Christmas Stockings

New York.—On Christmas day $25,504,000 in gold was found in the thousands of Christmas stockings hung up all over the country. The federal reserve system and the Federal Reserve bank of New York, in figures published, show that this amount was withdrawn during the week ending December 19. At the New York bank the withdrawals of gold amounted to $10,239,578, the largest ever recorded for the week preceding Christmas.

M. J. Murphy Resigns.

Cleveland, O.—The resignation of M. J. Murphy of Cleveland as vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen has been submitted and accepted by the board of directors, President W. G. Lee announced.

I. T. U. Spent $17,000,000.

St. Louis, Mo.—The International Typographical union has spent $17,000,000 in benefits in furtherance of its strike for the 44-hour week, it was announced by William J. Gibbons, president of the local.

TRANSPORTATION SERIOUS PROBLEM

United States Commerce Experts to Discuss Needs of Traffic.

Washington.—A call for a national conference on transportation has just been issued by the United States Chamber of Commerce to be held in Washington the second week of January. Leaders of recognized standing in agricultural, commercial, educational, financial and industrial fields have been invited to take part in its deliberations and the discussion of problems involved in development of adequate national transportation system.

The chamber of commerce believes that the expanding transportation needs of the United States present a very serious problem that must be solved within the near future.

"Congress embarked upon a conservative policy for the development of transportation by the enactment of the transportation act of 1920," said Julius H. Barnes, president of the chamber, "but there is much more to be done if this policy is to be made effective. The expanding transportation needs of America can easily be visualized and must be solved so that national wealth and individual production may be marketed into consumption. All production, outside of the agricultural and industrial, is dependent on adequate and ready distribution."

Here are some of the questions to be considered at the conference:

What is the probable future of transportation growth?

What principles of regulation, federal and state, protects the public interest and yet encourage expansion?

What policies promise to attract the necessary capital and credit?

What principles of rate making hold most fairly the scale of relative rates?

Where does highway and motor-transport promise its highest service?

How can water highways contribute their fullest service?

Within what formula can all transportation develop best the stimulant of private initiative and enterprise in the very interest of expanding service and the utmost economy of operation?

Man Drank a Little, Fought a Lot and Lived Till 108

Nashville, Tenn.—After living for 108 years, fighting in six major battles of the Civil war, being severely wounded twice, suffering a stroke of paralysis and recovering from yellow fever, James H. Wood, veteran of the Twenty-second Georgia regiment, Confederate army, is dead here at the Old Soldiers' home, from a second attack of paralysis which followed a fall. Mr. Wood attributed his long life to the "simple life," drinking only moderately, "a toddy now and then," drinking coffee but three times a day, smoking with moderation and eating meat occasionally.

Dutch Guinea Men Kill Canadian; Eat Servants

Sydney, N. S. W.—George Penrose, a miner born in Canada, was killed by natives in Dutch New Guinea while engaged in a shooting expedition 400 miles inland. The party comprised Mr. Penrose and thirty Papuans. Three of the Papuans were killed and seven wounded. Mr. Penrose was stabbed seventy times by natives armed with spears. Before he died of his wounds, Mr. Penrose saw the slain Papuans eaten by their foes. The Dutch government has sent out an expedition to punish the murderers.

House G. O. P. to Meet January 10 on Bonus

Washington.—Tentative plans have been formulated by Republican house leaders for a party conference on January 10 at which a definite policy relative to soldier bonus legislation will be agreed upon. The program for a conference attended by all Republican members to deal with the bonus question is agreeable to the group of ex service men in the house and to members of the ways and means committee, which has the legislation in charge.

Babies Eat Fireworks; Two Die of Explosion

Pensacola, Fla.—James Burleson, thirteen months old, and Ida Bell Vann, eighteen months, are dead as the result of eating fireworks known as "dancing devils." The children picked up the objects, that in color resemble chocolate candy, and chewed down on them, causing the fireworks to explode. They were badly wounded and bled to death.

Slain by Mother-in-Law.

Arkadelphia, Ark.—Sheriff Munroe Frances of Clark county was shot and instantly killed by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Clem Grayson. Mrs. Grayson, who is sixty years of age, said her son-in-law was mistreating his wife.

Wants Terse Platform.

Washington.—"Vote catching" planks will be missing from the 1924 national platform of the Republican party which will be marked by simplicity and directness, if President Coolidge is nominated, it is said.

FROM PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

Mrs. Bradford Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Phoebus, Virginia.—"Having this opportunity I just cannot refrain from saying a word of praise for the Lydia E. Pinkham medicines. I have used them on occasion required for twenty years, and my three sisters have also used them, and always with the most gratifying results. During the Change of Life I had the usual distressing symptoms—hot flashes, insomnia, etc.,—and I am pleased to testify to the wonderful results I obtained from the Vegetable Compound. I heartily recommend it to any woman and I will be pleased to answer any inquiries that might be sent me through the publication of my testimonial."—Mrs. H. L. BRADFORD, 1 Armstead Street, Phoebus, Virginia.

Consider carefully Mrs. Bradford's letter. Her experience ought to help you. She mentions the trials of middle age and the wonderful results she obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you are suffering from nervous troubles, irritability, or if other annoying symptoms appear and you are blue at times, you should give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. For sale by druggists everywhere.

A Splendid First Aid Remedy for Colds, Cuts, Burns, Wounds, Etc.

CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO., CONS'D.
17 State St. New York

Vaseline
REG U.S. PAT. OFF.
PETROLEUM JELLY

Comfort Your Skin With Cuticura Soap and Fragrant Talcum

Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c

RHEUMATIC PAIN
S-T-O-P-P-E-D
Formula No. 4 has proven its worth. A substitutional treatment for rheumatism, lumbago in tablet form. Sent direct by for $1.00. FELIX A. GALLAY, 1247 S. Avers Avenue, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Were Suspicious.

Mrs. Hash-Brown, a seasoned boarding-house proprietor, entered a butcher shop and was cordially greeted.

"Can't I sell you some nice chicken today?" asked the butcher.

"Nope," said the lady with marked decision; "I can't serve chicken for at least a week now."

"Why not, ma'am?"

"On account of my facetious boarders. My parrot died yesterday."

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Take Tablets Without Fear if You See the Safety "Bayer Cross."

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—

Get Many Views.

Frequent consideration of a thing wears off the strangeness of it and shows it in its several lights and various ways of appearance, to the eye of the mind.

Nothing is more unsatisfactory than compulsory love.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

Chronology of the Year 1923

Compiled by E. W. PICKARD

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

INTERNATIONAL

Jan. 1—Turkey reported mobilizing three armies to move against Constantinople, Mosul and other points.

Jan. 2—Allied premiers met in Paris and British and French plans for reparations were submitted.

Jan. 4—Conference of allied premiers in Paris broke up in disagreement. France prepared for isolated action to collect from Germany.

Jan. 8—War debt refunding negotiations begun in Washington by British and American commissions.

Jan. 9—Reparations committee declared Germany in wilful default in coal deliveries, British member voting in negative. French began move on Essen. Germans adopted passive resistance program.

Jan. 10—Germany, formally notified by France of its intention to occupy the Ruhr, protested to the allied powers and withdrew its ambassadors from France, Belgium and Italy.

Near East peace conference decided Moslems in Greece must be moved to Turkey and Christians in Turkey to Greece.

President Harding recalled American troops from Germany.

Jan. 11—French forces occupied Essen and the Ruhr.

Lithuanian irregulars occupied the Memel district, besieging the city.

Jan. 13—Reichstag, by vote of 283 to 2, backed Chancellor Cuno's "moral war" on France.

Jan. 15—German mine owners defied the French, who proceeded to extend their occupation to the entire Ruhr basin.

Lithuanians seized Memel, announcing the revolt was only against the French administration and the German currency.

Jan. 16 — Reparations commission voted Germany in default in material deliveries.

Jan. 19—Germany ordered all state employees to refuse to obey the French.

International commercial arbitration court inaugurated in Paris.

Jan. 20—French arrested many German industrial leaders and officials and seized funds in Reichsbank branches.

Jan. 23—France ordered the Ruhr isolated from the rest of Germany. Workers in Thyssen plants struck.

British and Turks split on Mosul question in Lausanne conference.

Jan. 24—American army of occupation left Germany for home.

Jan. 26 — Reparations commission voted Germany in general default.

Jan. 28—Isolation of the Ruhr from rest of Germany completed.

Jan. 29—Hundreds of German officials deported from Ruhr and Rhineland.

Jan. 31—French seized Ruhr customs and shut off all shipments of coal to unoccupied Germany.

Allies submitted peace treaty to Turks at Lausanne.

British accepted American terms for funding of war debt.

Czechoslovakia and Hungary accepted League of Nations plan to settle their boundary dispute.

Feb. 1—European nations guaranteed loan of $100,000,000 to Austria.

Feb. 2—General Allen ordered by United States to quit relations with Rhineland commission.

Feb. 4—Turks at Lausanne refused to sign peace treaty, rejecting 20 per cent of the clauses, and Lord Curzon departed.

French occupied Goddelau in Hesse.

Chancellor Cuno appointed a dictator to ration and fix prices in the Ruhr.

Feb. 6—Ismet Pasha refused British demand that he agree in writing to sign peace treaty as submitted, and Lausanne conference broke up.

Feb. 7—Turks ordered allied warships to leave Smyrna, but were defied.

Italy ratified the Washington treaties.

Central American conference in Washington ended successfully.

Feb. 16—Council of ambassadors awarded Memel to Lithuania.

Feb. 17—Poles and Lithuanians began battle near Orany.

Feb. 26—Great Britain and France ordered their warships out of Smyrna harbor, as courtesy to Turkish government.

Lithuania and Poland agreed on a truce.

March 3—French crossed Rhine and occupied Mannheim, Darmstadt and Karlsruhe.

March 6—Canada signed fisheries treaty with United States.

March 18—International chambers of commerce met at Rome.

March 19—United States agreed to accept payment of $250,000,000 for expenses of Rhine army, in 12 installments.

March 25—President of Chile, in welcoming delegates to Pan-American conference, urged alleviation of "armed peace" conditions and war on alcoholism.

March 26—Socialists of England, France, Italy, Belgium and Germany, in conference in Berlin, devised reparations program.

France rejected any League of Nations' guarantee for neutralization of the Rhineland.

March 30—German mine owners refused to pay coal tax levied by the French.

March 31—Eleven Krupp workers killed in clash with French troops at Essen.

April 2—Turks agreed to resume peace conference at Lausanne.

April 22—League of Nations council approved loan of $120,000,000 to Austria.

April 23—Lausanne peace conference resumed, Russia excluded.

May 1—Count Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, head of Krupp works, arrested by French as responsible for fatal fight in Krupp works.

May 2—Germany made new reparations offer of $7,500,000,000 with many conditions.

May 3—France rejected German offer.

May 8—French court-martial gave Krupp fifteen years in prison and heavy fine. Other participants in Essen riot fined and imprisoned.

British government served ten-day ultimatum on the soviet government of Moscow demanding compliance with the laws of nations.

May 13—Great Britain told Germany her reparations offer was insufficient and invited her to make a better one.

May 21—New Socialists' Internationale of the World opened convention in Hamburg.

May 23—Russia yielded to British demands.

May 25—Four European powers yielded on all points made by the United States and signed agreement for payment of costs of American army on the Rhine.

Great Britain declined to recognize America's right to interfere with carloes not destined to enter this country, such as rations, or liquor stocks for crews.

May 26—Turks and Greeks at Lausanne reached agreement on reparations.

June 5—Germany asked new reparations conference on total sum, and offered annuities of 1,500,000,000 gold marks.

June 18—World court began second session in The Hague.

June 21—France withdrew Saar ordinances of March 7, to which England objected.

June 27—Pope issued letter condemning French policy in the Ruhr.

June 29—Ten Belgian soldiers killed by bomb in the Ruhr; French and Belgians took severe sanctions.

July 2—Pope urged Germany to cease sabotage and satisfy her obligations.

July 3—League of Nations council decided to investigate French regime in the Saar.

July 4—Krupp's signed working agreement with French.

July 6—Agreement on all points reached by Turks and allies.

July 7—French chamber of deputies approved Washington naval limitation treaty.

July 9—Four-power Pacific treaty ratified by French chamber.

July 11—French senate ratified naval and Pacific treaties.

July 12—Great Britain invited France and Italy to join her in reply to Germany's latest reparations note.

July 13—French troops of occupation advanced to Limberg, Barmen and Elberfeld.

July 15—Premier Poincare of France, in speech, rejected most of the demands made by British prime minister on German reparations.

July 16—Allies and Turks agreed on terms of treaty, leaving out oil concessions.

July 20—British draft of reply to Germany submitted to allies and United States.

July 24—Turks and allies signed peace treaty of Lausanne.

Aug. 3—Great Britain and France agreed on a mutual guarantee pact against unprovoked aggression, to lead to reduction of armaments.

Aug. 6—United States and Turkey signed treaties of amity and commerce and on extradition, at Lausanne.

Aug. 11—Great Britain handed to France and Belgium note declaring Ruhr occupation illegal and a failure, insisting on impartial reparations inquiry and declaring France must pay enough of the money lent her to enable Britain to pay America.

Aug. 15—United States-Mexico commissioners completed their conference.

Aug. 17—Ratifications of four-power pact and naval reduction treaty negotiated at Washington conference formally exchanged at State department.

France offered to reduce reparations claims on Germany in proportion to ths amount of its debt United States and Great Britain cancel.

Aug. 21—France's reply to British note delivered to Great Britain; offered little hope of agreement.

Aug. 28—Italy demanded from Greece abject apology and reparations for murder of Italian military commissioners in Albania.

Aug. 30—Greece accepted some of Italy's demands and rejected others.

Aug. 31—Italy, declaring Greece's reply unsatisfactory, bombarded and seized Corfu and landed on Samos and other Aegean islands. Greece appealed to League of Nations.

Mexican government formally recognized by the United States.

Sept. 4—Mussolini declared Italy would withdraw from League of Nations if it insisted on arbitrating the Italo-Greek affair.

Sept. 7—Council of ambassadors upheld Italy's demands on Greece.

Sept. 8—Greece and Italy formally accepted terms laid down by council of ambassadors.

Premier Poincare of France announced Germany must settle reparations question before an economic accord could be reached.

Sept. 10—Irish Free State admitted to League of Nations.

Sept. 13—Italy agreed to evacuate Corfu on Sept. 27.

Sept. 16—Italy appointed Gen. Giardino military governor of Fiume.

Sept. 18—United States made formal demand on Spain, France and Great Britain for right to build navy coal and oil base in Tangier across from Gibraltar.

Sept. 24—Chancellor Stresemann of Germany formally announced official abandonment of passive resistance in the Ruhr.

Italy informed Jugo-Slavia it intended to keep Fiume.

Italy declined to evacuate Corfu until Greece paid 50,000,000 lire indemnity.

Sept. 25—Council of ambassadors ordered Greece to pay indemnity to Italy.

Sept. 27—Italy evacuated Corfu.

Sept. 28—America won international seaplane race off Cowes, England.

Oct. 2—Allies completed the evacuation of Constantinople.

Oct. 19—Chancellor Stresemann announced Germany would pay no more reparations.

Oct. 24—Germany asked allies for reparations conference and moratorium.

Oct. 26—France accepted British plan for appointment by the reparations commission of board of experts to fix Germany's capacity to pay.

Oct. 28—Premier Poincare announced France would not permit reduction of reparations debt by board of experts, nor abandon the guarantee.

Oct. 30 — Great Britain accepted France's reservations on reparations board of experts.

Nov. 4—Poincare said France would not yield on reparations unless her creditors yielded on debts.

Nov. 5—China refused to pay Boxer indemnity to France.

Nov. 9—United States refused to participate in examination of Germany's capacity to pay because of French restrictions.

Nov. 13—France proposed appointment of experts' committee to investigate Germany's resources and capacity to pay during the next three years.

Nov. 14—Chancellor Stresemann announced he would repudiate treaty of Versailles and abandon the Ruhr and Rhineland to the French.

Nov. 21—France and Great Britain reached accord as to demands on Germany concerning former crown prince and resumption of military control commissions, and sent mild notes to Berlin.

Nov. 23—Industrial magnates of the Ruhr and Rhineland signed treaty with the French for resumption of work and payments.

Nov. 24—Germany refused protection for allied military control officers.

Nov. 27—International conference to halt rum-running opened in Ottawa, Canada.

Dec. 4—France began restoring the Ruhr to German rule.

Dec. 6—Allied warships landed troops in Canton to protect custom house from Sun Yat Sen.

Dec. 7—C. H. Griffis and two others sentenced to prison by German court for attempt to kidnap Bergdoll.

Dec. 9—New treaty of friendship and commerce signed by U. S. and Germany.

Dec. 10—Council of League of Nations met in Paris.

Dec. 11—President Coolidge announced he approved of the participation of American experts in the German inquiries authorized by reparations commission.

Dec. 18—Tangier open port convention signed.

FOREIGN

Jan. 14—President Obregon of Mexico ordered expulsion of Papal Delegate Filippi as a pernicious foreigner.

Feb. 14—Italian Fascisti ordered all Free Masons to leave its ranks.

in County Kerry.

March 7—Thirteen Irish rebel prisoners, forced to wreck road barricades set up by De Valera troops, killed by mine.

Great Britain cut $37,000,000 out of navy plans.

Chinese president's plea for peace met with renewal of fighting in several provinces.

March 20—Labor party in British parliament demanded end of capitalism.

March 24—Gaards doubled in Berlin as capture of secret papers revealed plan of German Nationalists to March on capital.

March 26—Twenty thousand farm laborers of Norfolk county, England, struck.

Archbishop Zepliak of Roman Catholic church condemned to death by Russian supreme court for revolutionary activities.

March 31—Mgr. Butchkavich, Roman Catholic vicar general, executed at Moscow for revolutionary activities; Archbishop Zepliak's sentence commuted to imprisonment for ten years.

Rumania prohibited all Roman Catholic congregations.

April 6—Swedish cabinet headed by Branting resigned.

April 7—Rumania threatened with civil war; Premier Bratiano resigned.

April 10—Liam Lynch, chief of staff of Irish irregulars, captured in fight and died of wounds.

April 14—Great plot of Irish republicans to kill British officials and wreck London uncovered.

April 27—De Valera ordered the Irish republicans to cease hostilities and to negotiate peace with the Free State.

May 6—Chinese bandits wrecked the Peking-Shanghai express and kidnaped many foreign passengers, including 14 Americans, demanding one million dollars' ransom.

May 8—Chinese government ordered that all demands of bandits who kidnaped foreigners should be complied with.

May 9—Irish Free State announced rejection of De Valera's peace offer.

May 20—Andrew Bonar Law resigned as prime minister of Great Britain.

May 22—Stanley Baldwin appointed British prime minister.

May 26—Communist strike and riots in the Ruhr increased in violence.

May 27—Polish cabinet resigned; Witos made premier.

June 9—Stamboulisky's peasant government in Bulgaria overthrown in almost bloodless revolution; Professor Zankoff made premier.

June 12—All foreign captives released by Chinese bandits.

Civil war broke out in Bulgaria.

President Li Yuan-hung of China fled from Peking.

June 14—Li Yuan-hung resigned as president of China.

Stamboulisky captured and killed in Bulgarian village.

June 22—Manitoba voters killed prohibition law, substituting sale by government.

July 15—Mussolini clinched his grip as dictator of Italy by forcing parliament to pass his electoral law.

July 16—British parliament rejected Labor party's motion proposing gradual transition to socialist form of government.

July 20—Gen. Francisco Villa, noted ex-chief of Mexican rebels and bandits, slain from ambush.

July 22—Belleau Wood, in France, dedicated as memorial to Americans who died there.

Aug. 6—Teixeira Gomes elected president of Portugal.

Henry Sullivan of Massachusetts swam the English channel.

Aug. 8—Chancellor Cuno presented to reichstag his rescue plan for Germany, including a gold loan, taxation on a gold value basis and a heavy levy on industries.

Aug. 12—Chancellor Cuno and the German government resigned. Gustave Stresemann undertook to form new cabinet, the first coalition majority government in Germany's history.

Aug. 15—Eamon de Valera arrested by Irish Free State.

Aug. 21—German cabinet demanded $100,000,000 from the industrialists.

Aug. 27—Irish government party won in elections.

Aug. 28—Admiral Yamamoto made premier of Japan, succeeding the late Baron Kato.

Sept. 12—Spanish army revolted against the cabinet.

Sept. 14—Spanish cabinet resigned; directorate established under presidency of Gen. Primo Rivera, leader of the revolution.

Sept. 19—William Cosgrave re-elected president of Irish Free State.

Sept. 23—King Boris dissolved Bulgarian parliament and proclaimed a state of siege because of Communist and peasant uprisings.

Sept. 26—Germany officially abandoned passive resistance in the Ruhr. Bavaria revolted and named Gustave von Kahr as dictator of the state.

Sept. 27—President Ebert appointed War Minister Gessler military dictator of Germany. Miners in the Ruhr declared a general strike.

Sept. 28—Bulgarian revolt crushed with capture of Ferdinandovo.

Oct. 1—Monarchists captured fortress of Kustrin, Prussia.

Last vestige of civil rule abolished in Spain, all municipal governments being dissolved.

Oct. 2—Kustrin recaptured by German government troops.

Oct. 3—German cabinet resigned and Chancellor Stresemann began formation of a virtual directorate.

Oct. 4—Revolution started in northern Portugal.

Oct. 5—Marshal Tsao-Kun elected president of China.

German Socialists yielded to Stresemann.

Oct. 7—Finland refused to pay Russia indemnity for death of cheka agent.

Oct. 8—Reichstag, by heavy majority, gave Chancellor Stresemann vote of confidence.

Oct. 9—Chancellor Stresemann refused demands of Hugo Stinnes and other industrialists, which would have made them dictators of Germany.

Oct. 10—France refused to negotiate with Germany on resumption of work in the Ruhr, preferring to deal with the industrial barons. Panic on Berlin bourse, the mark going to 7,000,000,000 to the dollar.

Oct. 13—Reichstag confirmed Chancellor Stresemann as dictator.

Oct. 17—Socialist government of Saxony and Thuringia defied Stresemann.

Oct. 21—Rhineland republic set up in Aix la Chapelle; movement spread to other cities.

Oct. 23—Communists fought bloody battle with police in Hamburg; 44 killed. Rhineland separatists ousted from several cities.

Chancellor Stresemann yielded to Bavaria's demand for greater autonomy for the German states.

Oct. 27—German government ordered dismissal of Saxony cabinet.

Oct. 28—Saxon government defied the reich.

Oct. 29—Chancellor Stresemann ousted the Saxon cabinet.

Angora assembly proclaimed Turkey a republic and elected Mustapha Kemal president.

Oct. 30—Ismet Pasha made premier of Turkey.

Bavarian monarchists mobilized for march on Berlin.

Nov. 1—Krupp signed Ruhr accord with French.

Nov. 2—Socialists quit German cabinet and Stresemann assumed dictatorial powers.

Nov. 8—Hitler and Ludendorff tried to overthrow Bavarian government by royalist coup. Von Seeckt made supreme military dictator of Germany by President Ebert.

Nov. 9—Putsch of Bavarian Facisti suppressed and Ludendorff arrested.

Nov. 10—Former Crown Prince Frederick William returned to Germany.

Nov. 12—Adolf Hitler arrested.

Nov. 20—Rhineland separatists captured Mainz.

Nov. 21—Mobs from Upper Silesian towns looted and burned estates of rich farmers who refused to sell food; many killed.

Nov. 23—German Chancellor Stresemann and his cabinet, denied a vote of confidence by the reichstag, resigned.

Nov. 25—Dr. Heinrich Albert made chancellor of Germany.

Nov. 27—Failing to form a ministry, Doctor Albert resigned as German chancellor.

Nov. 28—Matthes, head of Rhineland republic, ousted by associates.

Nov. 29—Stegerwald failing to form German cabinet, Dr. Wilhelm Marx, Catholic leader, was made chancellor.

Dec. 2—Germany completed negotiations for foreign loan to support her new currency.

Dec. 4—Many German manufacturers arrested for big tax frauds.

Dec. 6—Conservatives defeated in British elections. Rebellion in Mexico, led by Adolfo de la Huerta.

Dec. 11—British Conservative government decided to retain office until meeting of new parliament.

Dec. 16—Liberals won in Greek elections.

Dec. 17—The Greek government informed King George it considered it advisable for him to leave Greece until the national assembly had decided on the regime best befitting the country.

Dec. 18—King and queen of Greece went to Rumania.

Dec. 20 — Secret papal consistory opened in the Vatican.

DOMESTIC

Jan. 2—Secretary of the Interior Fall announced his retirement from the cabinet on March 4.

Jan. 3—President Harding vetoed the Bursum bill for larger pensions.

Jan. 6—Senate requested the President to recall troops from Germany.

Jan. 9—House judiciary committee voted for dismissal of impeachment charges against Attorney General Daugherty.

Jan. 11—Ira Nelson Morris, minister to Sweden, resigned.

Jan. 15—Harry Pratt Judson, president of University of Chicago, resigned; E. DeW. Burton selected to succeed him.

Jan. 19—Senate passed the agricultural credits bill.

Five defendants in Herrin mine massacre trial acquitted.

Jan. 23—House passed resolution for constitutional amendment prohibiting further issuance of tax-exempt securities.

Jan. 24—Federal Judge E. T. Sanborn of Tennessee nominated by President Harding to be associate justice of Supreme court to succeed Justice Pitney.

Jan. 25—House voted, 204 to 77, to approve report of judiciary committee giving Attorney General Daugherty clean bill of health in impeachment investigation.

Jan. 29—Robert Woods Bliss nominated as minister to Sweden.

Feb. 2—Senate passed the rural credits bill.

Feb. 7—Last American troops from Germany landed at Savannah, Ga.

Feb. 9—House passed British debt funding bill.

Feb. 16—Senate passed British debt-funding bill.

E. Mont Reily resigned as governor of Porto Rico.

Feb. 19—Senate confirmed appointment of Senator Poindexter as ambassador to Peru

Supreme court ruled a Hindu cannot be naturalized.

Feb. 27—President Harding appointed Hubert Work secretary of the interior and Harry S. New postmaster general, effective March 4.

Richard M. Tobin of San Francisco nominated for minister to the Netherlands.

Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines appointed director of the veterans' bureau.

Feb. 28—Ship subsidy bill killed in senate.

Mondell of Wyoming appointed member of War Finance corporation and Towner of Iowa governor of Porto Rico.

March 1—House passed rural credits bill.

Senate requested President to urge nations to limit production of habit-forming drugs.

March 2—Investigation ordered by senate into charges of waste and mismanagement of veterans' bureau.

March 4—Congress adjourned after Democratic filibuster tied up legislation.

March 5—President and Mrs. Harding and party started for vacation in Florida.

March 7—Wisconsin senate, 26 to 4, defeated bill to abolish National Guard.

March 10—United States debt commission arranged to fund Finland's $9,000,000 war debt.

March 14—Charles F. Cramer, general counsel for veterans' bureau, killed self on eve of senate investigation.

March 17—Attorney General Daugherty said President Harding was candidate for renomination.

Two Federal court decisions forbade search of autos and homes by dry agents without search warrants.

March 31—Mayor of Gary, Ind., and 54 others convicted of liquor conspiracy.

April 3—Judge W. E. Dever, Democrat, elected mayor of Chicago.

April 6—Defendants in Herrin (Ill.) mine massacre case again acquitted.

April 8—President Harding returned from vacation in South.

April 16—United States Supreme court upheld constitutionality of Capper-Tincher grain futures act.

April 19—Government began suit to stop speculation in sugar futures.

Mrs. A. W. Cook of Pittsburgh, Pa., elected president-general of D. A. R.

April 24—President Harding committed the administration to world court plan in New York speech.

Charles B. Warren, former ambassador to Japan, and John Barton Payne of Chicago named as American members of United States-Mexican commission.

April 30—Supreme court, in 7 to 2 decision, barred foreign vessels carrying liquor into American ports, but overruled Daugherty opinion that American ships cannot sell liquor outside territorial limits.

May 2—Charles E. Ruthenberg, noted radical, was found guilty of violating the Michigan anti-syndicalism law.

May 3—Army monoplane piloted by Lieutenants MacReady and Kelly made nonstop flight from Hempstead, N. Y., to San Diego, Cal.

May 4—New York legislature repealed state prohibition law.

May 5—E. H. Cunningham of Iowa made member of federal reserve board, and E. E. Jones of Pennsylvania member of farm loan board.

May 11—Frank McManamy of Washington, D. C., made member of interstate commerce commission.

May 13—Advisory committee of 100 named by Secretary Work to survey problems of the American Indians.

May 17—Alva B. Adams appointed United States senator from Colorado.

May 21—William R. Day resigned as umpire of the United States-German mixed claims commission; Judge E. B. Parker of Texas appointed to succeed him.

June 4—United States Supreme court declared unconstitutional state laws barring the teaching of foreign languages in schools.

Convention of Shriners opened in Washington.

June 11—Supreme court held Kansas industrial court was without power to regulate wages in packing houses.

June 20—President Harding started on his trip to the West and Alaska.

Sentences of 24 men imprisoned for obstructing conduct of war commuted by the President.

June 23—United States seized sealed liquor stores on several British liners at New York.

June 26—Interstate commerce commission abolished "assigned car" practice in coal transportation.

June 29—Budget Director Lord announced surplus of $310,000,000 for fiscal year.

July 1—R. W. Bowden resigned as American observer on reparations.

July 4—Convention of radicals opened in Chicago.

July 5—President Harding sailed from Tacoma for Alaska.

July 6—Farmer-Labor party in Chicago convention repudiated the Reds who tried to form Federated Farmer-Labor party on communistic lines.

July 7—Army balloon won national elimination contest. Lieutenants Roth and Null, piloting a navy balloon, lost in Lake Erie.

July 8—United States anthracite commission reported in favor of government supervision of mines but against government ownership.

July 10—President Harding landed at Juneau, Alaska.

July 16—Magnus Johnson, Farmer-Labor candidate, elected United States senator from Minnesota.

July 17—Philippine cabinet and other officials resigned after controversy with Governor General Wood.

July 28—President Harding taken ill in San Francisco.

July 29—President Harding worse; California program canceled.

July 30—President Harding gravely ill with broncho-pneumonia.

Aug. 2—President Harding died suddenly in San Francisco.

Aug. 3—Calvin Coolidge took oath as President at Plymouth, Vt., and went to Washington.

Harding funeral train started from San Francisco for Washington.

Aug. 8—State funeral services for Mr. Harding held in the capitol, Washington.

Aug. 10—Warren G. Harding's body placed in vault at Marion; memorial services in all lands.

Aug. 13—President Coolidge gave full approval to Harding budget system.

Coal commission summoned heads of anthracite operators and miners to conference.

Governor Walton of Oklahoma placed Tulsa under martial law after renewed floggings.

Aug. 14—Ex-Congressman C. Bascom Slemp of Virginia appointed secretary to President Coolidge.

Aug. 15—Powerful bootlegging ring of Savannah, Ga., broken up by 84 arrests.

Aug. 21—Anthracite negotiations collapsed.

Aug. 22—Successful tests made for coast-to-coast air mail service.

Aug. 24—Governor Pinchot asked by President Coolidge to try to settle anthracite problem.

Aug. 29—Governor Pinchot offered compromise plan to avert anthracite strike.

Aug. 30—Savage riot in Perth Amboy, N. J., when big mob attacked Ku Klux Klan meeting.

F. E. Scobey, director of the mint, resigned, effective October 1.

Aug. 31—Anthracite miners and operators not satisfied with Pinchot plan, and strike begins, but negotiations continued.

Sept. 3—American relief measures for Japan earthquake victims started on great scale.

Sept. 5—G. A. R. in annual parade in Milwaukee.

Sept. 6—G. M. Saltzgaber of Vanwert, O., elected commander-in-chief of G. A. R.

Sept. 7—Anthracite miners' representatives accepted Pinchot's proposals.

Sept. 15—Governor Walton put all Oklahoma under martial law.

Sept. 26—Under orders from Governor Walton, the Oklahoma National Guard prevented the meeting of the house of representatives in special session.

Sept. 29—Governor Walton of Oklahoma proclaimed indefinite postponement of special election which was to decide whether legislature should meet to investigate his actions.

Oct. 1—Governor Walton of Oklahoma abandoned military opposition to special election of October 2, but called new election for December 6.

Oct. 2—Oklahoma voted decisively in favor of constitutional amendment authorizing the state legislature to convene itself to consider impeachment charges against state officials.

Oct. 4—Resignation of George Harvey, ambassador to England, announced.

Oct. 11—Oklahoma legislature met and prepared for impeachment of Gov. Jack Walton.

Oct. 19—John R. Quinn of California elected commander of American Legion.

Oct. 23—Lower house of Oklahoma legislature voted to impeach Governor Walton and the senate suspended him from office.

Oct. 26—Former United States Senator Frank B. Kellogg named ambassador to Great Britain.

Nov. 12—United States Supreme court decided aliens can be prohibited by states from owning land, provided there is no treaty stipulation to the contrary.

Robert J. Grant of Denver made director of the mint.

Nov. 15—Senator Hiram Johnson formally declared himself a candidate for Republican presidential nomination.

Nov. 19—Governor Walton of Oklahoma found guilty by senate court of impeachment and ousted from office.

Nov. 21—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, fake North pole discoverer, convicted of oil stock frauds and sentenced to prison.

Nov. 24—Former Governor Walton of Oklahoma indicted on criminal charges.

Nov. 30—Gov. W. T. McCray of Indiana indicted for embezzlement.

Dec. 3—Sixth-eighth congress met but progressive Republican bloc prevented organization of the house.

Dec. 4—In South Dakota state proposal conventions the Republicans indorsed Coolidge, Democrats picked McAdoo, and Farmer-Laborites favored LaFollette for presidential candidates.

Dec. 5—House organized, Speaker Gillett being re-elected.

Dec. 6—President Coolidge delivered his message to congress.

Dec. 10—United States Supreme court recessed until January 2.

Dec. 12—Republican national committee selected Cleveland as place and June 10 as date for national convention.

Dec. 13—Conference of representatives of anthracite using states opened at Harrisburg, Pa.

Dec. 15—President Coolidge ordered release of all remaining imprisoned violators of war laws.

Dec. 17—W. G. McAdoo formally announced his candidacy for Democratic presidential nomination.

Dec. 27—American Association for the Advancement of Science met in Cincinnati.

DISASTERS

Jan. 3—Twenty persons killed in collapse of bridge at Kelso, Wash.

Feb. 8—Mine explosion at Dawson, N. M., entombed and killed 120 men.

Explosion in mine near Cumberland, B. C., killed 30 men.

Feb. 18—Twenty-two patients and three attendants killed in insane asylum fire on Ward island, New York.

March 2—Fifteen miners killed in blast at Arista, W. Va.

March 10—One hundred and fifty Greek soldiers drowned when transport Alexandre sunk.

April 12—Six hundred persons killed by tidal waves in Corea and Japan.

May 14—Flood and fire partly destroyed Hot Springs, Ark.

May 17—Severe earthquake at Quito, Ecuador.

Seventy-three killed in burning of schoolhouse at Cleveland, S. C.

June 10—Disastrous floods in Kansas, Oklahoma and Colorado.

June 15—Reports received of earthquakes in Persia in which 6,000 perished.

June 17—More earthquakes in Persia; 3,000 killed.

June 18—Mt. Etna in violent eruption; several towns destroyed.

Aug. 14—Explosion in coal mine at Kemmerer, Wyo., killed 90 men.

Aug. 18—Terrific typhoon at Hongkong, destroying vessels, property and lives.

Aug. 21—Million dollars' damage done by flood in Arkansas valley, Colorado.

Sept. 1—Earthquakes and resultant fires destroyed most of Tokyo and Yokohama and other cities; 225,000 killed.

Sept. 8—Nine United States destroyers and one liner wrecked on coast of southern California in fog; 27 lives lost.

Sept. 15—Typhoon and floods killed 5,000 in Japan.

Sept. 17—Sixty blocks of Berkeley, Cal., destroyed by fire.

Sept. 23—Three balloons destroyed by lightning in Gordon Bennett cup race starting in Belgium; five balloonists killed, including two Americans.

Sept. 27—Forty persons killed when Burlington train plunged into river at Lockett, Wyo.

Nov. 6—Twenty-seven miners killed by gas explosion in West Virginia.

Dec. 1—Nearly 500 killed by bursting of dam near Bergamo, Italy.

Dec. 9—Nine killed, many injured in wreck of Twentieth Century train at Forsythe, N. Y.

Dec. 15—Destructive earthquake in Colombia and Ecuador.

INDUSTRIAL

Jan. 9—Erie railway signed new wage agreement with shop crafts workers.

Jan. 31—Railway labor board restored to signalmen the eight-hour day and time and a half pay for overtime.

March 22—Thousand men at Michigan City Pullman plant struck in protest against employment of negroes.

March 28—Armour-Morris packer merger formally completed.

April 9—Steel industry raised wages of common labor 11 per cent and adjusted pay of other classes.

April 13—Chicago packing house employees and building trades workers given raise of pay.

May 21—Pennsylvania railroad gave shopmen $4,000,000 pay raise.

Aug. 2—Elbert H. Gary announced immediate elimination of the 12-hour day in the steel industry and adjustment of wages.

Aug. 21—Anthracite operators and miners broke off wage negotiations.

United Typothetae of America ordered by federal trade commission to discontinue practices which the commission declared would enable employing printers to maintain standard prices for commercial printing.

Aug. 24—Governor Pinchot selected by President Coolidge to handle the anthracite problem.

Aug. 29—Compromise plan to settle anthracite trouble offered by Pinchot.

Aug. 31—Anthracite strike officially began, negotiations continuing.

Sept. 7—Pinchot's compromise plan accepted by leaders of anthracite miners.

Sept. 8—Miners and operators agreed on resumption of mining on September 20.

Oct. 9—American Federation of Labor, in convention at Portland, Ore., voted against formation of a labor party and also against the recognition of soviet Russian government.

Oct. 11—Samuel Gompers re-elected president of A. F. of L.

Dec. 3—Federal railway labor board increased wages of maintenance of way men on seven railways. Many other roads reached separate agreements.

Dec. 5—Railway labor board increased pay of pullman conductors.

Dec. 11—Rock Island railway renewed wage agreement with engineers.

NECROLOGY

Jan. 2—W. T. Whiting, Wisconsin paper mill magnate, at Stevens Point, Wis.

Rev. Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond, noted Spiritualist, in Chicago.

Jan. 7—Dr. Emil G. Hirsch, eminent Jewish divine and scholar, in Chicago.

Jan. 10—George Hamlin, noted American tenor.

Jan. 11—Constantine, former king of Greece.

W. M. Moore, financier, in New York.

Jan. 13—Congressman Nestor Montoya of New Mexico.

Alexandre Ribot, French statesman.

Frederic Harrison, English philosopher and historian.

Jan. 18—Wallace Reid, motion picture star.

Jan. 22—Max Nordau, famous German philosopher, in Paris.

Jan. 25—Dr. Paul Reinsch, former United States minister to China, in Shanghai.

Jan. 31—Henry Clews, New York banker.

Feb. 6—E. E. Barnard, astronomer of the University of Chicago.

Feb. 10—Former Senator J. A. Hemenway of Indiana.

Prof. W. C. Roentgen, discoverer of the X-ray, in Munich.

Judge Martin A. Knapp of Federal Court of Appeals.

Feb. 14—Rt. Rev. C. D. Williams, bishop of Michigan.

Feb. 22—Mrs. John A. Logan.

George R. Peck, noted lawyer and orator.

Feb. 24—Charlemagne Tower, former ambassador to Russia and Germany.

Feb. 26—Former United States Senator George C. Perkins of California.

March 1—Congressman W. Bourke Cockran of New York.

March 2—William G. Beale, prominent Chicago attorney.

March 3—Orson Smith, Chicago banker.

March 6—Charles D. Norton, New York banker.

March 13—Chancellor James R. Day, churchman and educator.

March 22—Milo D. Campbell, member federal reserve board.

March 24—Judge Donald L. Morrill of Illinois Appellate court.

Senator Samuel D. Nicholson of Colorado.

March 26—Mme. Sarah Bernhardt in Paris.

March 27—Congressman John R. Tyson of Alabama.

April 5—Earl of Carnarvon.

Horace Boies, former governor of Iowa.

April 10—Oliver F. Fuller, pioneer Chicago wholesale druggist.

Stuyvesant Fish, financier and railway man, in New York.

George A. Yule, Wisconsin financier, at Kenosha.

April 11—John G. Rodgers, vice president of Pennsylvania railroad.

W. T. Hazen former head of United States secret service.

April 14—Bishop G. Mott Williams of the Episcopal diocese of Europe.

April 17—Rt. Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, presiding bishop of Episcopal church in United States, in St. Louis.

Rev. Dr. G. C. Houghton, pastor of "Little Church Around the Corner" New York city.

April 22—Maj. Gen. Frank D. Baldwin in Denver.

April 28—United States Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota.

April 30—Emerson Hough, American author.

Bishop Alfred Harding of Episcopal church, in Washington.

May 1—Rear Admiral W. S. Cowles, United States navy, retired.

May 4—Congressman John W. Rainey of Chicago.

May 11—Brig. Gen. H. M. Robert, author of "Robert's Rules of Order," at Hornell N. Y.

May 14—Dr. J. A. Macdonald, former editor of Toronto Globe.

May 16—George Jay Gould in Mentone, France.

May 20—Dr. Florenz Ziegfeld, veteran leader in musical education, in Chicago.

May 28—Joseph W. Folk, former governor of Missouri.

May 31—Claude Kitchin, congressman from North Carolina.

June 10—Louis Viaud (Pierre Loti) famous French writer.

June 15—Gen. Luis Terrazas, once Mexico's richest man.

Maurice Hewlett, English novelist.

June 16—John McParland, president International Typographical union.

June 22—Edward R. Potter, noted American sculptor.

July 2—Rt. Rev. James Ryan, bishop of Alton, Ill.

July 9—William R. Day, former associate justice of United States Supreme court.

July 10—Helen Ring Robinson, writer and politician and Colorado's first woman state senator.

Congressman Luther W. Mott of Oswego, N. Y.

July 11—Albert Chevalier, English actor.

July 12—United States senator William P. Dillingham of Vermont.

July 15—Dr. L. Wilbur Messer, leader of Y. M. C. A., in Chicago.

July 16—Louis Couperus, Dutch novelist.

John M. Siddall, editor American Magazine.

July 19—Rear Admiral C. D. Sigsbee, captain of the Maine when it was blown up in 1898.

William Holabird of Chicago, architect.

July 30—Sir Charles Hawtrey, English actor.

Aug. 2—Warren Gamaliel Harding, President of the United States.

Aug. 9—Randall Parrish, author, in Peoria, Ill.

Aug. 10—Juaquin Sorolla, Spanish painter.

Aug. 17—Marie Wainwright, actress, in Scranton, Pa.

Aug. 23—Baron Kato, premier of Japan.

Kate Douglas Wiggin, American author.

Aug. 31—Thomas Mosher, publisher, in Portland, Me.

Sept. 7—Edward Payson Dutton, publisher, of New York.

William R. Thayer, American author and journalist.

Sept. 15—Dr. C. F. Millspaugh, botanist, in Chicago.

Sept. 18—Paul J. Rainey, explorer and hunter, at sea.

Sept. 19—Max Bohm, American artist.

Sept. 23—Viscount Morley, British statesman and author.

Sept. 28—Edwin G. Cooley, educator, in Chicago.

Oct. 24—Dr. Boris Sidis, psychopathologist, at Portsmouth, N. H.

Oct. 26—Dr. C. P. Steinmetz, famous electrician, at Schenectady, N. Y.

Oct. 30—Andrew Bonar Law, former prime minister of Great Britain.

Nov. 3—G. R. Huntington, president of the Soo railway.

Nov. 4—S. R. McCall, former governor and congressman from Massachusetts.

Nov. 13—Clifford Thorne, noted attorney of Iowa, in London.

Nov. 17—Anthony Caminetti, former United States commissioner of immigration.

Nov. 18—George C. Taylor, president American Railway Express company, in New York.

Nov. 24—Frederick Dixon, former editor of Christian Science Monitor.

Dec. 1—Earl of Loreburn, former British lord chancellor.

A. O. Bunnell, veteran newspaper editor, at Dansville, N. Y.

Dec. 5—Sir William MacKenzie, Canadian railway magnate.

Bishop James Atkins of M. E. Church, South.

Dec. 8—Edward O. Brown, eminent Chicago attorney.

Dec. 10—Ba

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

What the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

SOME BILLS PASSED BY THE SENATE.

Fixing fees chargeable by district court clerk.
Relating to municipal corporations—bridges.
Relating to county bonds.
Relating to county recorder.
Relating to official newspapers.
Relating to vacancies in office.
Relating to release of sureties.
Relating to deputies for state officers.
Relating to practice of engineering.
Relating to duties of governor.
Relating to state fire marshal.
Legalizing Waterloo bond issue.
Legalizing Oakland bond issue.

SOME BILLS PASSED BY THE HOUSE.

Legalizing Waterloo bond issue.
Legalizing Oakland bond issue.
Municipal corporations—general powers.
Peremptory challenge.
Fixing penalties for prison breaking.

A proposal that the punishment for bootleggers in Iowa, even for the first offense, be a jail sentence, without the privilege of paying a fine, is receiving serious consideration of members of the committees on intemperance in both houses of the legislature. The suggestion is in line with the idea of prohibition leaders, that if any changes in the state's liquor laws are made during the special session of the legislature, they should put more teeth into the law. Legislators who have expressed themselves on the suggestion seem to favor it, and already have assured the prohibition forces that no change tending to let down on the liquor law enforcement will be permitted to creep into the revised code.

The tax committee budget bill provides for a budget report setting forth in detail the income and expenditure of the state for the biennial preceding and an estimate of the income and expenditure for the succeeding biennial period. This estimate is based upon a careful analysis of public revenue on the one hand, and the real needs of each department of the state government on the other. Under this system all the appropriations requested by each department of the state government would be presented in one budget bill. This bill need not be the only one considered by the session.

The senate ended its first full-day session at the close of a long debate over code commission bill 145, which supplements the present printing law, and provides that public printing of county legal notices be paid for at the rate of 33 1-3 cents per each ten lines for each insertion. The bill was passed with but one minor change after several amendments to alter it so as to decrease the revenue to official newspapers had been voted down and the greater part of the afternoon had been spent in getting back to the starting point.

According to a table of appropriation prepared by Representative A. O. Hauge, chairman of the house committee on appropriations in the fortieth regular session, standing limited appropriation amount to $6,764,055 and estimated standing unlimited appropriations to $10,240,175 biennally, making a total of more than $17,000,000 that is appropriated from assembly session to session without action by the legislature except to give approval to the omnibus bill when it is up for passage in the last few hours of the session.

The work of revising and clarifying the Iowa code will be done in committee sessions and the measure of the speed with which the work is accomplished will be the effectiveness and rapidity with which this work is done, rather than the number of bills actually passed in any given period. This statement summarized the attitude of house leaders on the task of amending and revising the 211 bills on code revision on which the legislature must pass before the special session ends.

Consideration of budget legislation has a better chance of coming before the legislature than anything else in the program of the Van Alstine committee. If the legislature does not take up the budget it will probably figure in the coming state political campaign.

While the question of procedure on the odd numbered bills is not in itself a vital one, upon its decision probably hinges the feeling which will be manifest between the two houses the remainder of the session.

A resume of the work done by both houses of the Iowa Assembly from the time convening on December 4th, until adjournment shows that six measures have been passed by both houses, four of which have been signed by Governor Kendall. However, 38 bills have been passed by the Senate separately, and 26 measures have passed the house.

WANT TO ORGANIZE RURAL HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICTS.

Organization of rural high school districts, a movement supported by the house farm bloc, will be proposed as an amendment to one of the numerous bills before the legislature, it was disclosed after a meeting of the bloc at the Wellington hotel.

Such a project has been contemplated by numerous members of the legislature for several years, but has never had enough promised support before to warrant its submission to the legislature for a vote.

The purpose of rural high schools, which would in most cases teach only through the tenth grade, is to keep pupils at home for an additional two years.

The amendment will propose the following eight things:

1. Any two or more rural districts may unite to form a high school district.

2. The proposition to be submitted by a petition of ten voters from each district and voted on in each district at the annual meeting. A majority vote in each district to carry. Afterward no district can withdraw without the consent of all others.

3. Other rural districts may come into the high school district at subsequent meetings.

4. Annual meeting of high school districts to be held first Monday in June. Three trustees to be elected for a term of three years each.

5. The expense of maintaining shall be carried by a tax on all the property of the district.

6. When a rural high school is organized the territory cannot be annexed to any town or consolidated school district.

7. It shall be optional with the high school board whether domestic science manual training and agriculture are taught.

8. Grades earned by any approved rural high school shall be accepted by any other high school or college within the state.

Chief Hawkeye of the Des Moines News would advise legislators to proceed slowly in this code revision job and scan every bill carefully. The Chief says: Haste will not only make waste, but it is likely to prove costly later on when loopholes and leaks are discovered in poorly drafted legislation. The code revision commission has undoubtedly done its work well, but it would be surprising indeed if some jokers or serious mistakes were not unearthed in such a tremendous undertaking. Take your time and do the job well while you are doing it.

Of sole importance are the code bills dealing with reforms in court procedure, laws of inheritance, divorce and the various phases of state and local government. Code revision is a necessary evil under our present system. Much of the code commission's work is splendidly done. There will not be time to consider any new legislation, nor is it to any extent necessary.

Controversy over the question of whether the house should consider senate bills before the senate has acted on them featured one morning sssion of the Iowa legislature. After considerable debate, however, the house by a vote of 48 to 44 decided that all senate bills should be referred back to the committee until the senate had acted upon them.

Representative Clark of Lee county declared that he believed that while as a general rule it was the best policy to consider its own bills first, that the house could materially aid in shortening the code revision session by the consideration of senate bills occasionally. "We have a larger body of members to draw from in the house and larger committees," Clark declared.

The liquor laws probably will not come up in either house until about the middle of January. The code commissioners made numerous recommendations and, in addition, the Women's Christion Temperance union, the Iowa Anti-Saloon league and several individuals have informed the house and senate committees that numerous other changes seemed desirable.

Tax legislation and budget legislation is not new. It has been before the people of Iowa for the past three years. If the bills proposed by the tax commission were not sound, they should have been amended or rejected and something offered in place of them.

Budget legislation will be put squarely up to the special session of the legislature and strong pressure will be brought to bear on members of both houses to give the state an orderly system of handling public funds.

By action of the house the question of reconsidering the vote on the Patterson resolution, whereby all odd numbered bills were rereferred to committees, will be made a special order of business for January 3rd.

Those interested have been told by the committees on intemperance that the Iowa law defining intoxicating liquor would be stronger, when it is finally acted upon, than the Volstead act.

The house passed code bill 278, fixing penalties for breaking out of prisons and reformatories. The woman's reformatory at Rockwell City is now included in the list of institutions covered by the act. Penalty for breaking out of the penal institutions carries a sentence of five years.

The senate passed Senate File No. 267, a bill relating to the fees chargeable by the clerk of the district court to aliens desiring to become naturalized citizens. The measure increases the declaration fee from 25 cents to $1, and provides that fees for witnesses shall be paid in advance.

METEORIC COUP OF YOUNG WOOD

Wall Street Stunned at Strange Story of Tip Seller's Success.

New York.—The sudden fortune won by Lieut. Osborn Wood, son of Gen. Leonard Wood, as told in cables from Manila, resulted in a reaction of amazement in Wall street.

That a twenty-six-year-old army officer, unversed in the ways of "the street," could rush in and grab off such a chunk of money, estimated at $700,000—perhaps much more—was surprising enough of itself, but what really stunned old operators was that young Wood, thousands of miles away in the Philippines, apparently was carrying out his financial program solely on the advice of a comparatively unknown "tipster," a professional who sells his service.

There are several developments of interest in the affair. One was the confirmation by Secretary of War Weeks of the report that it was on his suggestion that Lieutenant Wood brought a sudden halt to his Wall street ventures.

"Some months ago," Secretary Weeks said in Boston, "there was brought to my attention the fact that large checks were coming through American banks to the credit of Lieut. Osborne C. Wood, who is stationed in Manila.

"The amounts involved seemed to me to be beyond the probable financial responsibility of the lieutenant, and, as he was an officer in the army, I directed that his operations should stop. This order was immediately complied with."

While the War department has decided there is no necessity for an inquiry, it is forecast in Washington that a congressional inquiry now being urged by Representative Frear (Rep., Wis.), will touch upon young Wood's coup. Frear's resolution calls for an inquiry on General Wood's conduct of Philippine affairs and aims also at determining whether any American army officers made money in Philippine speculations. Lieutenant Wood insists his fliers were all in American stocks.

17 Die in State Hospital for Insane at Chicago

Chicago—The "death house" at the State Hospital for the insane at Dunning became the fiery tomb of at least seventeen persons early Wednesday night when a swiftly-spreading fire of unascertained origin destroyed an old wood pavilion known by the foregoing grim name. Fourteen of the dead are known to have been patients in various stages of insanity. Three others were Elijah Carraker and his wife, attendants, and Lowell, their eight-year-old boy.

Harvard Loses to Radcliffe in Mental Test; Girls Score

Cambridge, Mass.—Recent psychological tests of a number of students at Harvard and Radcliffe colleges show that the girls scored over the men. The Harvard students show an average of 50.5 per cent in tests given 107 students, while the Radcliffe girls have a 55 per cent average on tests of 37 girls. The tests, devised by Dr. Abraham A. Roback of Harvard, were based on relative speed in observation, deduction, mental application and interpretation.

Federals Take Mexican Town From the Rebels

Nogales.—The town of Tamaculia was captured by federals in their first contact with rebels on their march toward Guadalajara, capital of Jalisco. The revolutionaries were thrown back with heavy losses. The defeated rebels were part of the command of Gen. Enriquez Estrada, one of the principal revolutionary leaders in the West. Two hundred of the Estrada troops were taken prisoners.

Shoots to Kill Japan's Regent; Hits Chamberlain

Tokyo.—An attempt was made to assassinate the regent this morning as he was en route to convene an ordinary session of the diet. The assailant was a youth about twenty years old, dressed as laborer. He used a cane gun. The bullet missed the regent's head only an inch and struck the chamberlain.

New German Parley

Paris.—January 14 has been set as the date for the meeting of the first committee which will investigate Germany's ability to pay reparations. The meeting of the second committee, which will examine Germany's resources at home and abroad, will hold its first meeting January 24.

Americans in Mexico Wreck.

El Paso, Tex.—More than a score were killed, many of them Americans, and several injured when a train was wrecked near Celaya, state of Guanajuato, Mexico, according to reports brought here by travelers.

France Controls Russ Finances.

Berlin.—An agreement providing for French control of Russian finances until Russian debts are paid has been concluded between the two governments. The agreement was reached at a conference in Berlin.

MISS SYLVIA BRAINERD

Miss Sylvia Brainerd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Brainerd of Washington, D. C. One of the most beautiful and popular of the capital's younger set.

PREPARING FOR TAX-CUT ACTION

Leaders of Both Parties at Work on Plans.

Washington.—A virtual agreement for a caucus immediately after the holidays to agree upon a program for tax reduction legislation has been reached by leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties.

Democratic senators and representatives will hold a joint meeting just before congress reconvenes. It developed that Republican leaders in the house have a plan that is rapidly taking definite form for a caucus immediately after the holidays.

Democratic leaders are disturbed over the defections in their ranks in favor of the Mellon plan and they hope to block any further commmitments by Democratic members of congress.

The prime movers for the Democratic gathering are those who fear that the Democratic senators and representatives can no longer be held in line for a partisan measure. They propose to make one grand effort to whip the rank and file of the party in congress into line for a purely domestic tax cut to differ in some uncertain way from the Mellon plan.

Republican leaders are going ahead with plans to rush through a tax revision program along the lines proposed by Secretary Mellon.

Hope Given Up for French Dirigible Lost Over Africa

Paris.—Government experts have given up hope for the Dixmude, the giant dirigible which has been missing since last Friday. They said that they doubt if the ship is afloat as it is impossible for it to navigate without power. Its fuel supply surely is exhausted. "We expect nothing except bad news of the Dixmude now," an attache of the ministry of marine said. "Our only hope is that the crew has reached the ground somewhere in the Sahara. We have figured out that they might subsist for three weeks on their reserve rations, if they were able to land them."

Greatest Hero of Whole Army Is Mustered Out

Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.—Standing rigidly at attention in a drizzling rain, Sergt. Samuel Woodfill, designated by Gen. John J. Pershing as the outstanding hero of the World war, watched a regimental review for the last time as a soldier and then received his discharge papers from the commanding officer of Fort Benjamin Harrison.

The military ceremony in his honor ended 22 years of service with the colors during which he served in the Phillippines, on the Mexican border and in France.

$25,504,000 Gold Goes in Christmas Stockings

New York.—On Christmas day $2,504,000 in gold was found in the thousands of Christmas stockings hung up all over the country. The federal reserve system and the Federal Reserve bank of New York, in figures published, show that this amount was withdrawn during the week ending December 19. At the New York bank the withdrawals of gold amounted to $10,339,578, the largest ever recorded for the week preceding Christmas.

M. J. Murphy Resigns.

Cleveland, O.—The resignation of M. J. Murphy of Cleveland as vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen has been submitted and accepted by the board of directors, President W. G. Lee announced.

I. T. U. Spent $17,000,000.

St. Louis, Mo.—The International Typographical union has spent $17,000,000 in benefits in furtherance of its strike for the 44-hour week, it was announced by William J. Gibbons, president of the local.

TRANSPORTATION SERIOUS PROBLEM

United States Commerce Experts to Discuss Needs of Traffic.

Washington.—A call for a national conference on transportation has just been issued by the United States Chamber of Commerce to be held in Washington the second week of January. Leaders of recognized standing in agricultural, commercial, educational, financial and industrial fields have been invited to take part in its deliberations and the discussion of problems involved in development of adequate national transportation system.

The chamber of commerce believes that the expanding transportation needs of the United States present a very serious problem that must be solved within the near future.

"Congress embarked upon a conservative policy for the development of transportation by the enactment of the transportation act of 1920," said Julius H. Barnes, president of the chamber, "but there is much more to be done if this policy is to be made effective. The expanding transportation needs of America can easily be visualized and must be solved so that national wealth and individual production may be marketed into consumption. All production, outside of the agricultural and industrial, is dependent on adequate and ready distribution."

Here are some of the questions to be considered at the conference:

What is the probable future of transportation growth?

What principles of regulation, federal and state, protects the public interest and yet encourage expansion?

What policies promise to attract the necessary capital and credit?

What principles of rate making hold most fairly the scale of relative rates?

Where does highway and motor transport promise its highest service?

How can water highways contribute their fullest service?

Within what formula can all transportation develop best the stimulant of private initiative and enterprise in the very interest of expanding service and the utmost economy of operation?

Man Drank a Little, Fought a Lot and Lived Till 108

Nashville, Tenn.—After living for 108 years, fighting in six major battles of the Civil war, being severely wounded twice, suffering a stroke of paralysis and recovering from yellow fever, James H. Wood, veteran of the Twenty-second Georgia regiment, Confederate army, is dead here at the Old Soldiers' home, from a second attack of paralysis which followed a fall. Mr. Wood attributed his long life to the "simple life," drinking only moderately, "a toddy now and then," drinking coffee but three times a day, smoking with moderation and eating meat occasionally.

Dutch Guinea Men Kill Canadian; Eat Servants

Sydney, N. S. W.—George Penrose, a miner born in Canada, was killed by natives in Dutch New Guinea while engaged in a shooting expedition 400 miles inland. The party comprised Mr. Penrose and thirty Papuans. Three of the Papuans were killed and seven wounded. Mr. Penrose was stabbed seventy times by natives armed with spears. Before he died of his wounds, Mr. Penrose saw the slain Papuans eaten by their foes. The Dutch government has sent out an expedition to punish the murderers.

House G. O. P. to Meet January 10 on Bonus

Washington.—Tentative plans have been formulated by Republican house leaders for a party conference on January 10 at which a definite policy relative to soldier bonus legislation will be agreed upon. The program for a conference attended by all Republican members to deal with the bonus question is agreeable to the group of ex service men in the house and to members of the ways and means committee, which has the legislation in charge.

Babies Eat Fireworks; Two Die of Explosion

Pensacola, Fla.—James Burleson, thirteen months old, and Ida Bell Vann, eighteen months, are dead as the result of eating fireworks known as "dancing devils." The children picked up the objects, that in color resemble chocolate candy, and chewed down on them, causing the fireworks to explode. They were badly wounded and bled to death.

Slain by Mother-in-Law.

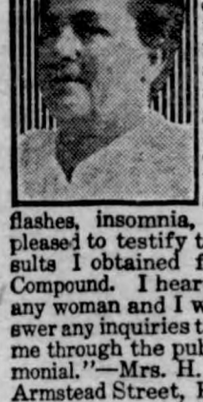
Arkadelphia, Ark.—Sheriff Munroe Frances of Clark county was shot and instantly killed by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Clem Grayson. Mrs. Grayson, who is sixty years of age, said her son-in-law was mistreating his wife.

Wants Terse Platform.

Washington.—"Vote catching" planks will be missing from the 1924 national platform of the Republican party which will be marked by simplicity and directness, if President Coolidge is nominated, it is said.

FROM PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

Mrs. Bradford Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound



Phoebus, Virginia.—"Having this opportunity I just cannot refrain from saying a word of praise for the Lydia E. Pinkham medicines. I have used them on occasion required for twenty years, and my three sisters have also used them, and always with the most gratifying results. During the Change of Life I had the usual distressing symptoms—hot flashes, insomnia, etc.,—and I am pleased to testify to the wonderful results I obtained from the Vegetable Compound. I heartily recommend it to any woman and I will be pleased to answer any inquiries that might be sent me through the publication of my testimonial."—Mrs. H. L. BRADFORD, 1 Armstead Street, Phoebus, Virginia.

Consider carefully Mrs. Bradford's letter. Her experience ought to help you. She mentions the trials of middle age and the wonderful results she obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you are suffering from nervous troubles, irritability, or if other annoying symptoms appear and you are blue at times, you should give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. For sale by druggists everywhere.

A Splendid First Aid Remedy for Colds, Cuts, Burns, Wounds, Etc.

CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO., CONS'D.
17 State St. New York

Vaseline
REG U.S. PAT. OFF.
PETROLEUM JELLY

Comfort Your Skin With Cuticura Soap and Fragrant Talcum

Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c

RHEUMATIC PAIN
S-T-O-P-P-E-D
Formula No. 4 has proven its worth. A constitutional treatment for rheumatism, lumbago in tablet form. Sent direct by mail for $1.00. FELIX A. GALLAY, 1247 S. Avers Avenue, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS.

Were Suspicious.

Mrs. Hash-Brown, a seasoned boarding-house proprietor, entered a butcher shop and was cordially greeted.

"Can't I sell you some nice chicken today?" asked the butcher.

"Nope," said the lady with many a decision; "I can't serve chicken for at least a week now."

"Why not, ma'am?"

"On account of my facetious boarders. My parrot died yesterday."

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Take Tablets Without Fear if You See the Safety "Bayer Cross."

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years. Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—

Get Many Views.

Frequent consideration of a thing wears off the strangeness of it and shows it in its several lights and various ways of appearance, to the mind.

Nothing is more unsatisfactory than compulsory love.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

Chronology of the Year 1923

Compiled by E. W. PICKARD

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

INTERNATIONAL

Jan. 1—Turkey reported mobilizing three armies to move against Constantinople, Mosul and other points.

Jan. 2—Allied premiers met in Paris and British and French plans for reparations were submitted.

Jan. 4—Conference of allied premiers in Paris broke up in disagreement. France prepared for isolated action to collect from Germany.

Jan. 8—War debt refunding negotiations begun in Washington by British and American commissions.

Jan. 9—Reparations committee declared Germany in wilful default in coal deliveries, British member voting in negative. French began move on Essen. Germans adopted passive resistance program.

Jan. 10—Germany, formally notified by France of its intention to occupy the Ruhr, protested to the allied powers and withdrew its ambassadors from France, Belgium and Italy.

Near East peace conference decided Moslems in Greece must be moved to Turkey and Christians in Turkey to Greece.

President Harding recalled American troops from Germany.

Jan. 11—French forces occupied Essen and the Ruhr.

Lithuanian irregulars occupied the Memel district, besieging the city.

Jan. 13—Reichstag, by vote of 283 to 2, backed Chancellor Cuno's "moral war" on France.

Jan. 15—German mine owners defied the French, who proceeded to extend their occupation to the entire Ruhr basin.

Lithuanians seized Memel, announcing the revolt was only against the French administration and the German currency.

Jan. 16 — Reparations commission voted Germany in default in material deliveries.

Jan. 19—Germany ordered all state employees to refuse to obey the French.

International commercial arbitration court inaugurated in Paris.

Jan. 20—French arrested many German industrial leaders and officials and seized funds in Reichsbank branches.

Jan. 23—France ordered the Ruhr isolated from the rest of Germany. Workers in Thyssen plants struck.

British and Turks split on Mosul question in Lausanne conference.

Jan. 24—American army of occupation left Germany for home.

Jan. 26 — Reparations commission voted Germany in general default.

Jan. 28—Isolation of the Ruhr from rest of Germany completed.

Jan. 29—Hundreds of German officials deported from Ruhr and Rhineland.

Jan. 31—French seized Ruhr customs and shut off all shipments of coal to unoccupied Germany.

Allies submitted peace treaty to Turks at Lausanne.

British accepted American terms for funding of war debt.

Czechoslovakia and Hungary accepted League of Nations plan to settle their boundary dispute.

Feb. 1—European nations guaranteed loan of $100,000,000 to Austria.

Feb. 2—General Allen ordered by United States to quit relations with Rhineland commission.

Feb. 4—Turks at Lausanne refused to sign peace treaty, rejecting 20 per cent of the clauses, and Lord Curzon departed.

French occupied Goddelau in Hesse.

Chancellor Cuno appointed a dictator to ration and fix prices in the Ruhr.

Feb. 6—Ismet Pasha refused British demand that he agree in writing to sign peace treaty as submitted, and Lausanne conference broke up.

Feb. 7—Turks ordered allied warships to leave Smyrna, but were defied.

Italy ratified the Washington treaties.

Central American conference in Washington ended successfully.

Feb. 16—Council of ambassadors awarded Memel to Lithuania.

Feb. 17—Poles and Lithuanians began battle near Orany.

Feb. 26—Great Britain and France ordered their warships out of Smyrna harbor, as courtesy to Turkish government.

Lithuania and Poland agreed on a truce.

March 3—French crossed Rhine and occupied Mannheim, Darmstadt and Karlsruhe.

March 6—Canada signed fisheries treaty with United States.

March 18—International chambers of commerce met at Rome.

March 19—United States agreed to accept payment of $250,000,000 for expenses of Rhine army, in 12 installments.

March 25—President of Chile, in welcoming delegates to Pan-American conference, urged alleviation of "armed peace" conditions and war on alcoholism.

March 26—Socialists of England, France, Italy, Belgium and Germany, in conference in Berlin, devised reparations program.

France rejected any League of Nations' guarantee for neutralization of the Rhineland.

March 30—German mine owners refused to pay coal tax levied by the French.

March 31—Eleven Krupp workers killed in clash with French troops at Essen.

April 2—Turks agreed to resume peace conference at Lausanne.

April 22—League of Nations council approved loan of $120,000,000 to Austria.

April 23—Lausanne peace conference resumed, Russia excluded.

May 1—Count Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, head of Krupp works, arrested by French as responsible for fatal fight in Krupp works.

May 2—Germany made new reparations offer of $7,500,000,000 with many conditions.

May 3—France rejected German offer.

May 8—French court-martial gave Krupp fifteen years in prison and heavy fine. Other participants in Essen riot fined and imprisoned.

British government served ten-day ultimatum on the soviet government of Moscow demanding compliance with the laws of nations.

May 13—Great Britain told Germany her reparations offer was insufficient and invited her to make a better one.

May 21—New Socialists' Internationale of the World opened convention in Hamburg.

May 23—Russia yielded to British demands.

May 25—Four European powers yielded on all points made by the United States and signed agreement for payment of costs of American army on the Rhine.

Great Britain declined to recognize America's right to interfere with carloads not destined to enter this country, such as rations, or liquor stocks for crews.

May 26—Turks and Greeks at Lausanne reached agreement on reparations.

June 5—Germany asked new reparations conference on total sum, and offered annuities of 1,500,000,000 gold marks.

June 18—World court began second session in The Hague.

June 21—France withdrew Saar ordinances of March 7, to which England objected.

June 27—Pope issued letter condemning French policy in the Ruhr.

June 29—Ten Belgian soldiers killed by bomb in the Ruhr; French and Belgians took severe sanctions.

July 2—Pope urged Germany to cease sabotage and satisfy her obligations.

July 3—League of Nations council decided to investigate French regime in the Saar.

July 4—Krupp's signed working agreement with French.

July 6—Agreement on all points reached by Turks and allies.

July 7—French chamber of deputies approved Washington naval limitation treaty.

July 9—Four-power Pacific treaty ratified by French chamber.

July 11—French senate ratified naval and Pacific treaties.

July 12—Great Britain invited France and Italy to join her in reply to Germany's latest reparations note.

July 13—French troops of occupation advanced to Limberg, Barmen and Elberfeld.

July 15—Premier Poincare of France, in speech, rejected most of the demands made by British prime minister on German reparations.

July 16—Allies and Turks agreed on terms of treaty, leaving out oil concessions.

July 20—British draft of reply to Germany submitted to allies and United States.

July 24—Turks and allies signed peace treaty of Lausanne.

Aug. 3—Great Britain and France agreed on a mutual guarantee pact against unprovoked aggression, to lead to reduction of armaments.

Aug. 6—United States and Turkey signed treaties of amity and commerce and on extradition, at Lausanne.

Aug. 11—Great Britain handed to France and Belgium note declaring Ruhr occupation illegal and a failure, insisting on impartial reparations inquiry and declaring France must pay enough of the money lent her to enable Britain to pay America.

Aug. 15—United States-Mexico commissioners completed their conference.

Aug. 17—Ratifications of four-power pact and naval reduction treaty negotiated at Washington conference formally exchanged at State department.

France offered to reduce reparations claims on Germany in proportion to the amount of its debt United States and Great Britain cancel.

Aug. 21—France's reply to British note delivered to Great Britain; offered little hope of agreement.

Aug. 28—Italy demanded from Greece abject apology and reparations for murder of Italian military commissioners in Albania.

Aug. 30—Greece accepted some of Italy's demands and rejected others.

Aug. 31—Italy, declaring Greece's reply unsatisfactory, bombarded and seized Corfu and landed on Samos and other Aegean islands. Greece appealed to League of Nations.

Mexican government formally recognized by the United States.

Sept. 4—Mussolini declared Italy would withdraw from League of Nations if it insisted on arbitrating the Italo-Greek affair.

Sept. 7—Council of ambassadors upheld Italy's demands on Greece.

Sept. 8—Greece and Italy formally accepted terms laid down by council of ambassadors.

Premier Poincare of France announced Germany must settle reparations question before an economic accord could be reached.

Sept. 10—Irish Free State admitted to League of Nations.

Sept. 13—Italy agreed to evacuate Corfu on Sept. 27.

Sept. 16—Italy appointed Gen. Giardino military governor of Fiume.

Sept. 18—United States made formal demand on Spain, France and Great Britain for right to build navy coal and oil base in Tangier across from Gibraltar.

Sept. 24—Chancellor Stresemann of Germany formally announced official abandonment of passive resistance in the Ruhr.

Italy informed Jugo-Slavia it intended to keep Fiume.

Italy declined to evacuate Corfu until Greece paid 50,000,000 lire indemnity.

Sept. 25—Council of ambassadors ordered Greece to pay indemnity to Italy.

Sept. 27—Italy evacuated Corfu.

Sept. 28—America won international seaplane race off Cowes, England.

Oct. 2—Allies completed the evacuation of Constantinople.

Oct. 19—Chancellor Stresemann announced Germany would pay no more reparations.

Oct. 24—Germany asked allies for reparations conference and moratorium.

Oct. 26—France accepted British plan for appointment by the reparations commission of board of experts to fix Germany's capacity to pay.

Oct. 28—Premier Poincare announced France would not permit reduction of reparations debt by board of experts, nor abandon the guarantee.

Oct. 30 — Great Britain accepted France's reservations on reparations board of experts.

Nov. 4—Poincare said France would not yield on reparations unless her creditors yielded on debts.

Nov. 5—China refused to pay Boxer indemnity to France.

Nov. 9—United States refused to participate in examination of Germany's capacity to pay because of French restrictions.

Nov. 13—France proposed appointment of experts' committee to investigate Germany's resources and capacity to pay during the next three years.

Nov. 14—Chancellor Stresemann announced he would repudiate treaty of Versailles and abandon the Ruhr and Rhineland to the French.

Nov. 21—France and Great Britain reached accord as to demands on Germany concerning former crown prince and resumption of military control commissions, and sent mild notes to Berlin.

Nov. 23—Industrial magnates of the Ruhr and Rhineland signed treaty with the French for resumption of work and payments.

Nov. 24—Germany refused protection for allied military control officers.

Nov. 27—International conference to halt rum-running opened in Ottawa, Canada.

Dec. 4—France began restoring the Ruhr to German rule.

Dec. 6—Allied warships landed troops in Canton to protect custom house from Sun Yat Sen.

Dec. 7—C. H. Griffis and two others sentenced to prison by German court for attempt to kidnap Bergdoll.

Dec. 9—New treaty of friendship and commerce signed by U. S. and Germany.

Dec. 10—Council of League of Nations met in Paris.

Dec. 11—President Coolidge announced he approved of the participation of American experts in the German inquiries authorized by reparations commission.

Dec. 18—Tangier open port convention signed.

FOREIGN

Jan. 14—President Obregon of Mexico ordered expulsion of Papal Delegate Filippi as a pernicious foreigner.

Feb. 14—Italian Fascisti ordered all Free Masons to leave its ranks.

in County Kerry.

March 7—Thirteen Irish rebel prisoners, forced to wreck road barricades set up by De Valera troops, killed by mine.

Great Britain cut $37,000,000 out of navy plans.

Chinese president's plea for peace met with renewal of fighting in several provinces.

March 20—Labor party in British parliament demanded end of capitalism.

March 24—Guards doubled in Berlin as capture of secret papers revealed plan of German Nationalists to March on capital.

March 26—Twenty thousand farm laborers of Norfolk county, England, struck.

Archbishop Zepliak of Roman Catholic church condemned to death by Russian supreme court for revolutionary activities.

March 31—Mgr. Butchkavich, Roman Catholic vicar general, executed at Moscow for revolutionary activities; Archbishop Zepliak's sentence commuted to imprisonment for ten years.

Rumania prohibited all Roman Catholic congregations.

April 6—Swedish cabinet headed by Branting resigned.

April 7—Rumania threatened with civil war; Premier Bratiano resigned.

April 10—Liam Lynch, chief of staff of Irish irregulars, captured in fight and died of wounds.

April 14—Great plot of Irish republicans to kill British officials and wreck London uncovered.

April 27—De Valera ordered the Irish republicans to cease hostilities and to negotiate peace with the Free State.

May 6—Chinese bandits wrecked the Peking-Shanghai express and kidnaped many foreign passengers, including 14 Americans, demanding one million dollars' ransom.

May 8—Chinese government ordered that all demands of bandits who kidnaped foreigners should be complied with.

May 9—Irish Free State announced rejection of De Valera's peace offer.

May 20—Andrew Bonar Law resigned as prime minister of Great Britain.

May 22—Stanley Baldwin appointed British prime minister.

May 26—Communist strike and riots in the Ruhr increased in violence.

May 27—Polish cabinet resigned; Witos made premier.

June 9—Stamboulisky's peasant government in Bulgaria overthrown in almost bloodless revolution; Professor Zankoff made premier.

June 12—All foreign captives released by Chinese bandits.

Civil war broke out in Bulgaria.

President Li Yuan-hung of China fled from Peking.

June 14—Li Yuan-hung resigned as president of China.

Stamboulisky captured and killed in Bulgarian village.

June 22—Manitoba voters killed prohibition law, substituting sale by government.

July 15—Mussolini clinched his grip as dictator of Italy by forcing parliament to pass his electoral law.

July 16—British parliament rejected Labor party's motion proposing gradual transition to socialist form of government.

July 20—Gen. Francisco Villa, noted ex-chief of Mexican rebels and bandits, slain from ambush.

July 22—Belleau Wood, in France, dedicated as memorial to Americans who died there.

Aug. 6—Teixeira Gomes elected president of Portugal.

Henry Sullivan of Massachusetts swam the English channel.

Aug. 8—Chancellor Cuno presented to reichstag his rescue plan for Germany, including a gold loan, taxation on a gold value basis and a heavy levy on industries.

Aug. 12—Chancellor Cuno and the German government resigned. Gustave Stresemann undertook to form new cabinet, the first coalition majority government in Germany's history.

Aug. 15—Eamon de Valera arrested by Irish Free State.

Aug. 21—German cabinet demanded $100,000,000 from the industrialists.

Aug. 27—Irish government party won in elections.

Aug. 28—Admiral Yamamoto made premier of Japan, succeeding the late Baron Kato.

Sept. 12—Spanish army revolted against the cabinet.

Sept. 14—Spanish cabinet resigned; directorate established, under presidency of Gen. Primo Rivera, leader of the revolution.

Sept. 19—William Cosgrave re-elected president of Irish Free State.

Sept. 23—King Boris dissolved Bulgarian parliament and proclaimed a state of siege because of Communist and peasant uprisings.

Sept. 26—Germany officially abandoned passive resistance in the Ruhr. Bavaria revolted and named Gustave von Kahr as dictator of the state.

Sept. 27—President Ebert appointed War Minister Gessler military dictator of Germany. Miners in the Ruhr declared a general strike.

Sept. 28—Bulgarian revolt crushed with capture of Ferdinandovo.

Oct. 1—Monarchists captured fortress of Kustrin, Prussia.

Last vestige of civil rule abolished in Spain, all municipal governments being dissolved.

Oct. 2—Kustrin recaptured by German government troops.

Oct. 3—German cabinet resigned and Chancellor Stresemann began formation of a virtual directorate.

Oct. 4—Revolution started in northern Portugal.

Oct. 5—Marshal Tsao-Kun elected president of China.

German Socialists yielded to Stresemann.

Oct. 7—Finland refused to pay Russia indemnity for death of cheka agent.

Oct. 8—Reichstag, by heavy majority, gave Chancellor Stresemann vote of confidence.

Oct. 9—Chancellor Stresemann refused demands of Hugo Stinnes and other industrialists, which would have made them dictators of Germany.

Oct. 10—France refused to negotiate with Germany on resumption of work in the Ruhr, preferring to deal with the industrial barons. Panic on Berlin bourse, the mark going to 7,000,000,000 to the dollar.

Oct. 13—Reichstag confirmed Chancellor Stresemann as dictator.

Oct. 17—Socialist government of Saxony and Thuringia defied Stresemann.

Oct. 21—Rhineland republic set up in Aix la Chapelle; movement spread to other cities.

Oct. 23—Communists fought bloody battle with police in Hamburg; 44 killed. Rhineland separatists ousted from several cities.

Chancellor Stresemann yielded to Bavaria's demand for greater autonomy for the German states.

Oct. 27—German government ordered dismissal of Saxony cabinet.

Oct. 28—Saxon government defied the reich.

Oct. 29—Chancellor Stresemann ousted the Saxon cabinet.

Angora assembly proclaimed Turkey a republic and elected Mustapha Kemal president.

Oct. 30—Ismet Pasha made premier of Turkey.

Bavarian monarchists mobilized for march on Berlin.

Nov. 1—Krupp signed Ruhr accord with French.

Nov. 2—Socialists quit German cabinet and Stresemann assumed dictatorial powers.

Nov. 8—Hitler and Ludendorff tried to overthrow Bavarian government by royalist coup. Von Seeckt made supreme military dictator of Germany by President Ebert.

Nov. 9—Putsch of Bavarian Facisti suppressed and Ludendorff arrested.

Nov. 10—Former Crown Prince Frederick William returned to Germany.

Nov. 12—Adolf Hitler arrested.

Nov. 20—Rhineland separatists captured Mainz.

Nov. 21—Mobs from Upper Silesian towns looted and burned estates of rich farmers who refused to sell food; many killed.

Nov. 23—German Chancellor Stresemann and his cabinet, denied a vote of confidence by the reichstag, resigned.

Nov. 25—Dr. Heinrich Albert made chancellor of Germany.

Nov. 27—Failing to form a ministry, Doctor Albert resigned as German chancellor.

Nov. 28—Matthes, head of Rhineland republic, ousted by associates.

Nov. 29—Stegerwald failing to form German cabinet, Dr. Wilhelm Marx, Catholic leader, was made chancellor.

Dec. 2—Germany completed negotiations for foreign loan to support her new currency.

Dec. 4—Many German manufacturers arrested for big tax frauds.

Dec. 6—Conservatives defeated in British elections. Rebellion in Mexico, led by Adolfo de la Huerta.

Dec. 11—British Conservative government decided to retain office until meeting of new parliament.

Dec. 16—Liberals won in Greek elections.

Dec. 17—The Greek government informed King George it considered it advisable for him to leave Greece until the national assembly had decided on the regime best befitting the country.

Dec. 18—King and queen of Greece went to Rumania.

Dec. 20 — Secret papal consistory opened in the Vatican.

DOMESTIC

Jan. 2—Secretary of the Interior Fall announced his retirement from the cabinet on March 4.

Jan. 3—President Harding vetoed the Bursum bill for larger pensions.

Jan. 6—Senate requested the President to recall troops from Germany.

Jan. 9—House judiciary committee voted for dismissal of impeachment charges against Attorney General Daugherty.

Jan. 11—Ira Nelson Morris, minister to Sweden, resigned.

Jan. 15—Harry Pratt Judson, president of University of Chicago, resigned; E. DeW. Burton selected to succeed him.

Jan. 19—Senate passed the agricultural credits bill.

Five defendants in Herrin mine massacre trial acquitted.

Jan. 23—House passed resolution for constitutional amendment prohibiting further issuance of tax-exempt securities.

Jan. 24—Federal Judge E. T. Sanborn of Tennessee nominated by President Harding to be associate justice of Supreme court to succeed Justice Pitney.

Jan. 25—House voted, 204 to 77, to approve report of judiciary committee giving Attorney General Daugherty clean bill of health in impeachment investigation.

Jan. 29—Robert Woods Bliss nominated as minister to Sweden.

Feb. 2—Senate passed the rural credits bill.

Feb. 7—Last American troops from Germany landed at Savannah, Ga.

Feb. 9—House passed British debt funding bill.

Feb. 16—Senate passed British debt-funding bill.

E. Mont Reily resigned as governor of Porto Rico.

Feb. 19—Senate confirmed appointment of Senator Poindexter as ambassador to Peru

Supreme court ruled a Hindu cannot be naturalized.

Feb. 27—President Harding appointed Hubert Work secretary of the interior and Harry S. New postmaster general, effective March 4.

Richard M. Tobin of San Francisco nominated for minister to the Netherlands.

Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines appointed director of the veterans' bureau.

Feb. 28—Ship subsidy bill killed in senate.

Mondell of Wyoming appointed member of War Finance corporation and Towner of Iowa governor of Porto Rico.

March 1—House passed rural credits bill.

Senate requested President to urge nations to limit production of habit-forming drugs.

March 2—Investigation ordered by senate into charges of waste and mismanagement of veterans' bureau.

March 4—Congress adjourned after Democratic filibuster tied up legislation.

March 5—President and Mrs. Harding and party started for vacation in Florida.

March 7—Wisconsin senate, 26 to 4, defeated bill to abolish National Guard.

March 10—United States debt commission arranged to fund Finland's $9,000,000 war debt.

March 14—Charles F. Cramer, general counsel for veterans' bureau, killed self on eve of senate investigation.

March 17—Attorney General Daugherty said President Harding was candidate for renomination.

Two Federal court decisions forbade search of autos and homes by dry agents without search warrants.

March 31—Mayor of Gary, Ind., and 54 others convicted of liquor conspiracy.

April 3—Judge W. E. Dever, Democrat, elected mayor of Chicago.

April 6—Defendants in Herrin (Ill.) mine massacre case again acquitted.

April 8—President Harding returned from vacation in South.

April 16—United States Supreme court upheld constitutionality of Capper-Tincher grain futures act.

April 19—Government began suit to stop speculation in sugar futures.

Mrs. A. W. Cook of Pittsburgh, Pa., elected president-general of D. A. R.

April 24—President Harding committed the administration to world court plan in New York speech.

Charles B. Warren, former ambassador to Japan, and John Barton Payne of Chicago named as American members of United States-Mexican commission.

April 30—Supreme court, in 7 to 2 decision, barred foreign vessels carrying liquor into American ports, but overruled Daugherty opinion that American ships cannot sell liquor outside territorial limits.

May 2—Charles E. Ruthenberg, noted radical, was found guilty of violating the Michigan anti-syndicalism law.

May 3—Army monoplane piloted by Lieutenants MacReady and Kelly made nonstop flight from Hempstead, N. Y., to San Diego, Cal.

May 4—New York legislature repealed state prohibition law.

May 5—E. H. Cunningham of Iowa made member of federal reserve board, and E. E. Jones of Pennsylvania member of farm loan board.

May 11—Frank McManamy of Washington, D. C., made member of interstate commerce commission.

May 13—Advisory committee of 100 named by Secretary Work to survey problems of the American Indians.

May 17—Alva B. Adams appointed United States senator from Colorado.

May 21—William R. Day resigned as umpire of the United States-German mixed claims commission; Judge E. B. Parker of Texas appointed to succeed him.

June 4—United States Supreme court declared unconstitutional state laws barring the teaching of foreign languages in schools.

Convention of Shriners opened in Washington.

June 11—Supreme court held Kansas industrial court was without power to regulate wages in packing houses.

June 20—President Harding started on his trip to the West and Alaska.

Sentences of 24 men imprisoned for obstructing conduct of war commuted by the President.

June 23—United States seized sealed liquor stores on several British liners at New York.

June 26—Interstate commerce commission abolished "assigned car" practice in coal transportation.

June 29—Budget Director Lord announced surplus of $310,000,000 for fiscal year.

July 1—R. W. Bowden resigned as American observer on reparations.

July 4—Convention of radicals opened in Chicago.

July 5—President Harding sailed from Tacoma for Alaska.

July 6—Farmer-Labor party in Chicago convention repudiated the Reds who tried to form Federated Farmer-Labor party on communistic lines.

July 7—Army balloon won national elimination contest. Lieutenants Roth and Null, piloting a navy balloon, lost in Lake Erie.

July 8—United States anthracite commission reported in favor of government supervision of mines but against government ownership.

July 10—President Harding landed at Juneau, Alaska.

July 16—Magnus Johnson, Farmer-Labor candidate, elected United States senator from Minnesota.

July 17—Philippine cabinet and other officials resigned after controversy with Governor General Wood.

July 28—President Harding taken ill in San Francisco.

July 29—President Harding worse; California program canceled.

July 30—President Harding gravely ill with broncho-pneumonia.

Aug. 2—President Harding died suddenly in San Francisco.

Aug. 3—Calvin Coolidge took oath as President at Plymouth, Vt., and went to Washington.

Harding funeral train started from San Francisco for Washington.

Aug. 8—State funeral services for Mr. Harding held in the capitol, Washington.

Aug. 10—Warren G. Harding's body placed in vault at Marion; memorial services in all lands.

Aug. 13—President Coolidge gave full approval to Harding budget system.

Coal commission summoned heads of anthracite operators and miners to conference.

Governor Walton of Oklahoma placed Tulsa under martial law after renewed floggings.

Aug. 14—Ex-Congressman C. Bascom Slemp of Virginia appointed secretary to President Coolidge.

Aug. 15—Powerful bootlegging ring of Savannah, Ga., broken up by 84 arrests.

Aug. 21—Anthracite negotiations collapsed.

Aug. 22—Successful tests made for coast-to-coast air mail service.

Aug. 24—Governor Pinchot asked by President Coolidge to try to settle anthracite problem.

Aug. 29—Governor Pinchot offered compromise plan to avert anthracite strike.

Aug. 30—Savage riot in Perth Amboy, N. J., when big mob attacked Ku Klux Klan meeting.

F. E. Scobey, director of the mint, resigned, effective October 1.

Aug. 31—Anthracite miners and operators not satisfied with Pinchot plan, and strike begins, but negotiations continued.

Sept. 3—American relief measures for Japan earthquake victims started on great scale.

Sept. 5—G. A. R. in annual parade in Milwaukee.

Sept. 6—G. M. Saltzgaber of Vanwert, O., elected commander-in-chief of G. A. R.

Sept. 7—Anthracite miners' representatives accepted Pinchot's proposals.

Sept. 15—Governor Walton put all Oklahoma under martial law.

Sept. 26—Under orders from Governor Walton, the Oklahoma National Guard prevented the meeting of the house of representatives in special session.

Sept. 29—Governor Walton of Oklahoma proclaimed indefinite postponement of special election which was to decide whether legislature should meet to investigate his actions.

Oct. 1—Governor Walton of Oklahoma abandoned military opposition to special election of October 2, but called new election for December 6.

Oct. 2—Oklahoma voted decisively in favor of constitutional amendment authorizing the state legislature to convene itself to consider impeachment charges against state officials.

Oct. 4—Resignation of George Harvey, ambassador to England, announced.

Oct. 11—Oklahoma legislature met and prepared for impeachment of Gov. Jack Walton.

Oct. 19—John R. Quinn of California elected commander of American Legion.

Oct. 23—Lower house of Oklahoma legislature voted to impeach Governor Walton and the senate suspended him from office.

Oct. 26—Former United States Senator Frank B. Kellogg named ambassador to Great Britain.

Nov. 12—United States Supreme court decided aliens can be prohibited by states from owning land, provided there is no treaty stipulation to the contrary.

Robert J. Grant of Denver made director of the mint.

Nov. 15—Senator Hiram Johnson formally declared himself a candidate for Republican presidential nomination.

Nov. 19—Governor Walton of Oklahoma found guilty by senate court of impeachment and ousted from office.

Nov. 21—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, fake North pole discoverer, convicted of oil stock frauds and sentenced to prison.

Nov. 24—Former Governor Walton of Oklahoma indicted on criminal charges.

Nov. 30—Gov. W. T. McCray of Indiana indicted for embezzlement.

Dec. 3—Sixth-eighth congress met but progressive Republican bloc prevented organization of the house.

Dec. 4—In South Dakota state proposal conventions the Republicans indorsed Coolidge, Democrats picked McAdoo, and Farmer-Laborites favored LaFollette for presidential candidates.

Dec. 5—House organized, Speaker Gillett being re-elected.

Dec. 6—President Coolidge delivered his message to congress.

Dec. 10—United States Supreme court recessed until January 2.

Dec. 12—Republican national committee selected Cleveland as place and June 10 as date for national convention.

Dec. 13—Conference of representatives of anthracite using states opened at Harrisburg, Pa.

Dec. 15—President Coolidge ordered release of all remaining imprisoned violators of war laws.

Dec. 17—W. G. McAdoo formally announced his candidacy for Democratic presidential nomination.

Dec. 27—American Association for the Advancement of Science met in Cincinnati.

DISASTERS

Jan. 3—Twenty persons killed in collapse of bridge at Kelso, Wash.

Feb. 8—Mine explosion at Dawson, N. M., entombed and killed 120 men.

Explosion in mine near Cumberland, B. C., killed 30 men.

Feb. 18—Twenty-two patients and three attendants killed in insane asylum fire on Ward island, New York.

March 2—Fifteen miners killed in blast at Arista, W. Va.

March 10—One hundred and fifty Greek soldiers drowned when transport Alexandre sunk.

April 12—Six hundred persons killed by tidal waves in Corea and Japan.

May 14—Flood and fire partly destroyed Hot Springs, Ark.

May 17—Severe earthquake at Quito, Ecuador.

Seventy-three killed in burning of schoolhouse at Cleveland, S. C.

June 10—Disastrous floods in Kansas, Oklahoma and Colorado.

June 15—Reports received of earthquakes in Persia in which 6,000 perished.

June 17—More earthquakes in Persia; 3,000 killed.

June 18—Mt. Etna in violent eruption; several towns destroyed.

Aug. 14—Explosion in coal mine at Kemmerer, Wyo., killed 90 men.

Aug. 18—Terrific typhoon at Hongkong, destroying vessels, property and lives.

Aug. 21—Million dollars' damage done by flood in Arkansas valley, Colorado.

Sept. 1—Earthquakes and resultant fires destroyed most of Tokyo and Yokohama and other cities; 225,000 killed.

Sept. 8—Nine United States destroyers and one liner wrecked on coast of southern California in fog; 27 lives lost.

Sept. 15—Typhoon and floods killed 5,000 in Japan.

Sept. 17—Sixty blocks of Berkeley, Cal., destroyed by fire.

Sept. 23—Three balloons destroyed by lightning in Gordon Bennett cup race starting in Belgium; five balloonists killed, including two Americans.

Sept. 27—Forty persons killed when Burlington train plunged into river at Lockett, Wyo.

Nov. 6—Twenty-seven miners killed by gas explosion in West Virginia.

Dec. 1—Nearly 500 killed by bursting of dam near Bergamo, Italy.

Dec. 9—Nine killed, many injured in wreck of Twentieth Century train at Forsythe, N. Y.

Dec. 15—Destructive earthquake in Colombia and Ecuador.

INDUSTRIAL

Jan. 9—Erie railway signed new wage agreement with shop crafts workers.

Jan. 31—Railway labor board restored to signalmen the eight-hour day and time and a half pay for overtime.

March 22—Thousand men at Michigan City Pullman plant struck in protest against employment of negroes.

March 28—Armour-Morris packer merger formally completed.

April 9—Steel industry raised wages of common labor 11 per cent and adjusted pay of other classes.

April 13—Chicago packing house employees and building trades workers given raise of pay.

May 21—Pennsylvania railroad gave shopmen $4,000,000 pay raise.

Aug. 2—Elbert H. Gary announced immediate elimination of the 12-hour day in the steel industry and adjustment of wages.

Aug. 21—Anthracite operators and miners broke off wage negotiations.

United Typothetae of America ordered by federal trade commission to discontinue practices which the commission declared would enable employing printers to maintain standard prices for commercial printing.

Aug. 24—Governor Pinchot selected by President Coolidge to handle the anthracite problem.

Aug. 29—Compromise plan to settle anthracite trouble offered by Pinchot.

Aug. 31—Anthracite strike officially began, negotiations continuing.

Sept. 7—Pinchot's compromise plan accepted by leaders of anthracite miners.

Sept. 8—Miners and operators agreed on resumption of mining on September 20.

Oct. 9—American Federation of Labor, in convention at Portland, Ore., voted against formation of a labor party and also against the recognition of soviet Russian government.

Oct. 11—Samuel Gompers re-elected president of A. F. of L.

Dec. 3—Federal railway labor board increased wages of maintenance of way men on seven railways. Many other roads reached separate agreements.

Dec. 5—Railway labor board increased pay of pullman conductors.

Dec. 11—Rock Island railway renewed wage agreement with engineers.

NECROLOGY

Jan. 2—W. T. Whiting, Wisconsin paper mill magnate, at Stevens Point, Wis.

Rev. Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond, noted Spiritualist, in Chicago.

Jan. 7—Dr. Emil G. Hirsch, eminent Jewish divine and scholar, in Chicago.

Jan. 10—George Hamlin, noted American tenor.

Jan. 11—Constantine, former king of Greece.

W. M. Moore, financier, in New York.

Jan. 13—Congressman Nestor Montoya of New Mexico.

Alexandre Ribot, French statesman.

Frederic Harrison, English philosopher and historian.

Jan. 18—Wallace Reid, motion picture star.

Jan. 22—Max Nordau, famous German philosopher, in Paris.

Jan. 25—Dr. Paul Reinsch, former United States minister to China, in Shanghai.

Jan. 31—Henry Clews, New York banker.

Feb. 6—E. E. Barnard, astronomer of the University of Chicago.

Feb. 10—Former Senator J. A. Hemenway of Indiana.

Prof. W. C. Roentgen, discoverer of the X-ray, in Munich.

Judge Martin A. Knapp of Federal Court of Appeals.

Feb. 14—Rt. Rev. C. D. Williams, bishop of Michigan.

Feb. 22—Mrs. John A. Logan.

George R. Peck, noted lawyer and orator.

Feb. 24—Charlemagne Tower, former ambassador to Russia and Germany.

Feb. 26—Former United States Senator George C. Perkins of California.

March 1—Congressman W. Bourke Cockran of New York.

March 2—William G. Beale, prominent Chicago attorney.

March 3—Orson Smith, Chicago banker.

March 6—Charles D. Norton, New York banker.

March 13—Chancellor James R. Day, churchman and educator.

March 22—Milo D. Campbell, member federal reserve board.

March 24—Judge Donald L. Morrill of Illinois Appellate court.

Senator Samuel D. Nicholson of Colorado.

March 26—Mme. Sarah Bernhardt in Paris.

March 27—Congressman John R. Tyson of Alabama.

April 5—Earl of Carnarvon.

Horace Boies, former governor of Iowa.

April 10—Oliver F. Fuller, pioneer Chicago wholesale druggist.

Stuyvesant Fish, financier and railway man, in New York.

George A. Yule, Wisconsin financier, at Kenosha.

April 11—John G. Rodgers, vice president of Pennsylvania railroad.

W. T. Hazen former head of United States secret service.

April 14—Bishop G. Mott Williams of the Episcopal diocese of Europe.

April 17—Rt. Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, presiding bishop of Episcopal church in United States, in St. Louis.

Rev. Dr. G. C. Houghton, pastor of "Little Church Around the Corner" New York city.

April 22—Maj. Gen. Frank D. Baldwin in Denver.

April 28—United States Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota.

April 30—Emerson Hough, American author.

Bishop Alfred Harding of Episcopal church, in Washington.

May 1—Rear Admiral W. S. Cowles, United States navy, retired.

May 4—Congressman John W. Rainey of Chicago.

May 11—Brig. Gen. H. M. Robert, author of "Robert's Rules of Order," at Hornell N. Y.

May 14—Dr. J. A. Macdonald, former editor of Toronto Globe.

May 16—George Jay Gould in Mentone, France.

May 20—Dr. Florenz Ziegfeld, veteran leader in musical education, in Chicago.

May 28—Joseph W. Folk, former governor of Missouri.

May 31—Claude Kitchin, congressman from North Carolina.

June 10—Louis Viaud (Pierre Loti) famous French writer.

June 15—Gen. Luis Terrazas, once Mexico's richest man.

Maurice Hewlett, English novelist.

June 16—John McFarland, president International Typographical union.

June 22—Edward R. Potter, noted American sculptor.

July 2—Rt. Rev. James Ryan, bishop of Alton, Ill.

July 9—William R. Day, former associate justice of United States Supreme court.

July 10—Helen Ring Robinson, writer and politician and Colorado's first woman state senator.

Congressman Luther W. Mott of Oswego, N. Y.

July 11—Albert Chevalier, English actor.

July 12—United States senator William P. Dillingham of Vermont.

July 15—Dr. L. Wilbur Messer, leader of Y. M. C. A., in Chicago.

July 16—Louis Couperus, Dutch novelist.

John M. Siddall, editor American Magazine.

July 19—Rear Admiral C. D. Sigsbee, captain of the Maine when it was blown up in 1898.

William Holabird of Chicago, architect.

July 30—Sir Charles Hawtrey, English actor.

Aug. 2—Warren Gamaliel Harding, President of the United States.

Aug. 9—Randall Parrish, author, in Peoria, Ill.

Aug. 10—Juaquin Sorolla, Spanish painter.

Aug. 17—Marie Wainwright, actress, in Scranton, Pa.

Aug. 23—Baron Kato, premier of Japan.

Kate Douglas Wiggin, American author.

Aug. 31—Thomas Mosher, publisher, in Portland, Me.

Sept. 7—Edward Payson Dutton, publisher, of New York.

William R. Thayer, American author and journalist.

Sept. 15—Dr. C. F. Millspaugh, botanist, in Chicago.

Sept. 18—Paul J. Rainey, explorer and hunter, at sea.

Sept. 19—Max Bohm, American artist.

Sept. 23—Viscount Morley, British statesman and author.

Sept. 28—Edwin G. Cooley, educator, in Chicago.

Oct. 24—Dr. Boris Sidis, psychopathologist, at Portsmouth, N. H.

Oct. 26—Dr. C. P. Steinmetz, famous electrician, at Schenectady, N. Y.

Oct. 30—Andrew Bonar Law, former prime minister of Great Britain.

Nov. 3—G. R. Huntington, president of the Soo railway.

Nov. 4—S. R. McCall, former governor and congressman from Massachusetts.

Nov. 13—Clifford Thorne, noted attorney of Iowa, in London.

Nov. 17—Anthony Caminetti, former United States commissioner of immigration.

Nov. 18—George C. Taylor, president American Railway Express company, in New York.

Nov. 24—Frederick Dixon, former editor of Christian Science Monitor.

Dec. 1—Earl of Loreburn, former British lord chancellor.

A. O. Bunnell, veteran newspaper editor, at Dansville, N. Y.

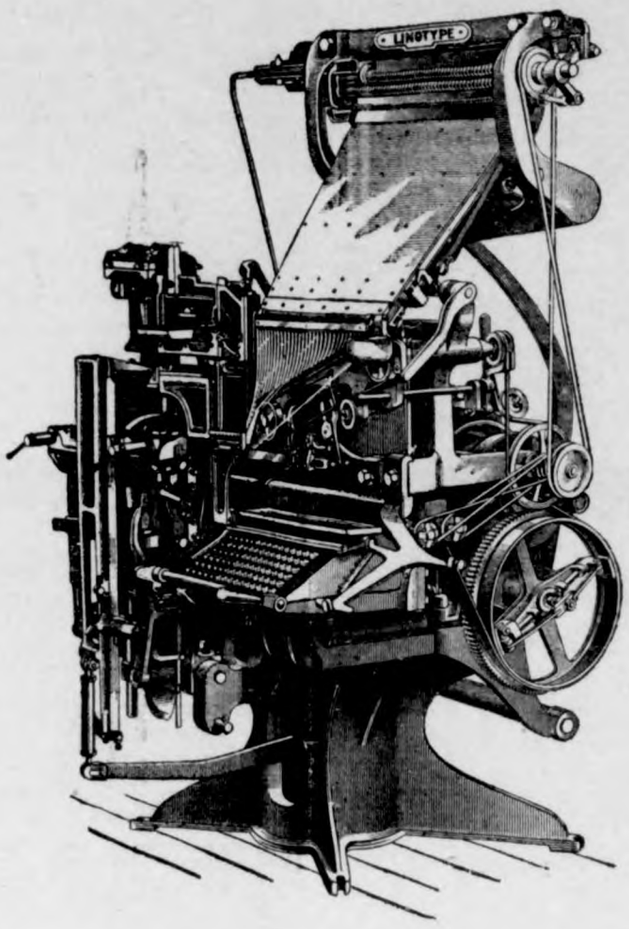
Dec. 5—Sir William MacKenzie, Canadian railway magnate.

Bishop James Atkins of M. E. Church, South.

Dec. 8—Edward O. Brown, eminent Chicago attorney.

Dec. 10—Ba

Distinctive Printers



Printing that will attract attention and and put the customer's advertising and printed matter in a class by itself--printing that contains real originality in conception and the highest degree of excellence in it's execution--This quality of originality and individuality characterizes all the printed work of our plant.

Linotype Equipped
Means New Type For All Printing

Times Print Shop

THE KLEMME TIMES

Twenty eighth Year—Number 18. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, January 10, 1924 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

DOINGS OF THE WEEK AT THE KLEMME SCHOOLS

BIG GAMES TO BE HELD HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Klemme High School to Meet Crystal Lake Cagers, Jan. 11

Friday evening the local basket ball fans will experience two real games, when thel ocal High School teams will meet Crystal Lake for the second time this year.

Both teams have been training during the vacation and are looking forward to a much harder game than ever before.

Klemme has good chances of winning the games this time. Many of the old men are again back in the squad ad under the training they are receiving ought to make a good showing LET'S SEE YOU AT THE GYM FRIDAY NIGHT

NEXT WEEK ENDS FIRST HALF OF YEAR

Two Weeks After Vacation Are Busy One For the Students

Well, vacation is over and we are again back to school, with new vim and vigor to complete the years work.

The next two weeks are necessarily very busy ones, because of the fact that during next wek the semester will close ad with it will come the semester exams, arragemet for the new course and quite necessarily at least a small amount of work on the behalf of most of the students.

Yes, next week the first semester will be pased but will we? That is the question which is now in the minds of most of the students at the present time, and indeed it is a vital one, for "flunking" at this time means another years work or much more work the next year.

One of our young Freshman has recently been admitted to the Copenhagen Club. This club has a very selective membership and only few are admitted to it during their High School Course. The young Freshman came through the initiation in fine shape, being able to still attend school for about half of the afternoon.

Alumni Beats Again

Last Friday night theA lumni again defeated theS hamrocks by a close score of 36 to 39. he game was close andc haracterized by rough ness on both sides.

Juniors To Have Meeting

The juniors are assembling in a class meeting tonight to discuss many problems which fall upon a great body of this kind.

Seniors Get Class Rings

The dignified Seniors are "sporting" their new class rings, which they have just received.

WITH THE CLASSES

Public Speaking

The public speaking class is making plans for an "Art Picture Exhibit" which is to be held in a few weeks.

General Science

The General Science class is studying "Mechanical Energy and Heat".

Agriculture

The young agriculturists of our school are preparing to test the vitality of oats. They are also learning to identify different weed seed as weel as review for the semester test.

Intermediate Room

Katherine Blank visited the Intermediate room Monday and Violet Ell visited school Tuesday.

The fifth and sixth grades are reviewing for semester examinations.

Primary Room

The two Swartz children are absent this week on account of sivkness.

The primary children are studying Eskimoes. Miss Buchan has fixed thes and table to represent the life of the Eskimoes.

WATHRE BUREAU SAYS THERE ARE NO EQUINOCTIAL STORMS

In both Europe and America there is an old belief that a severe storm—the so-called "equinoctial storm" or "equinoctian gale" is due about the date of either equinox, that is, Mar. 21 or September 22; or more particularly, about the date of the autumnal or vernal equinox. The fallacy of this idea consists in identifying any storm that occurs within a week, or several weeks, of the equinox is the equinoctial storm. Statistics show that there is no maximum of storm frequency, either in this country of in Europe, close to the date of either equinox. Of course in the long run storms do occur about these dates, just as they occur at all other times of the year. No reason why storms should be especially frequent at the equinoxes is known to meteorologists.

In the United States the belief in the equinoctial storm as an event of regular recurreice has perhaps been fostered by the fact that West Indian hurricanes are mort common during thel ate summer an dearly autumn. Occasionally a severe storm of this character sweeps up our Atlantic coast doing a great deal of damage and attracting general attention. If it hppens anywhere near September 22, the event is sure to be heraldde as "the equinoctial storm."

THE POLITICAL POT BOILS

Will Be Plenty Of Candidtaes Out For Office

J. D. Madison runs an announcement in this issue and is a cadidate for re-electio as Audiotr. "Jack" is serving his first term and is an efficient man in the office. He is a pleasant fellow, prompt and careful in the work of this most important office. He will have clear sailing to a second term, which he is entitled to.

Now a farmer, Wallace Darrah, of Kanawha, seeks the office of Supervisor. A prominent business man of Kanawha vouches for Mr. Darrah and informed us that we can tell the world Darrah is an A No. 1 man. He has lived in Amsterdam Township for twenty-five years and has never before asked for an office. He is a good farmer and uses sound business principals. Mr. Darrah will no doubt make a strong candidate.

H. C. Meyer, now on the Board, also announces that he will be a candidate for Supervisor. Mr. Meyer is Chairman of the Board and has always been considered a most capable man for the office. He will make quite a dent in the campaign and no doubt will receive heavy support from the voters.

John Suurballe is a candidate for re-election to the office of County Treasurer. The county, as a whole, would have been keenly disappointed had John not come out for the office. He seems to be the favorite for this important office and we expect to see him right there for another term at least.

We know of a few more who are coming out for office and perhaps next week their announcements will be printed. There will be plenty of candidates out and there will be a lively time at the primaries.

NOTICE

The Annual Meeting of the Klemme Shipping Association wil be held at the Idle Hour Theatre on Wednesday, January 16th, at 1:00 P. M. Every member come. E. J. Arnold, Secretary. 1w

Annual Meeting

Notice is hereby given to the share holders of the Klemme Co-Operative Creamery Company, that the Tenth Annual Meeting will be held at the Idle Hour Theatre on Saturday, January 19th, 1924, at 1:00 o'clock P. M. President, Secretary and Directors will be elected; and other business as may come before this meeting. Valentine Josten, Secretary.

FIND BIRTH NOTICE DATED MARCH 11, 128

Educator Shows Photograph of Ancient Tablet.

PRNCETON,N. J.., —Pictures of a wax tablet dated within a century of the death of Christ were shown membres of the Amreican phililogical association at their annual meeting today by Mr. Francis W. Kesley of the University of Mihcigan. The tablet, too fragile to be taken from its place in the university's valuts is considered by archaeologists to be the most perfect extant, hes aid.

Its record is that of the birth of a girl, Herrenia Gemella, March 11, 128. It was brought to London from Egypt in 1922, having recently been discovered, probably in Faycum, Prof. Kelsey thought. It is, Dr. Kelsey declared, the only complete Latin document known, only imperfect ones having been discovered before.

"In order to determine whether the content was consistant with the ascription of age required by the beginning of the text, Mr. H. L. Bell of the British museuc made a complete transcription. The last vestige of doubt was removed, and the tablet, with Mr. Bell's transcription, was brought to the University of Michigan in January, 1923," Mr. Kelsey said.

ABOUT THE WEATHER

Sudden dropping of the mercury forced thermometer readings down to 38 and some report as low as 42 degrees below zero early Saturday morning. Government reports for this part of the state recorded about 35 degrees below zero for Saturday morning. The temperature started to go down hill Friday night when a high northwest wind was blowing a strong gale. Almost as suddenly did the temperature start crawling upwards again and at 6:00 P. M. on Saturday evening the temperature had gone up to 22 degrees below the zero mark, and at 11:00 P. M. the thermometer read 16 degrees below zero. Sunday noon the temperature registered 22 degrees above and it continued to climb and the fore part of the week was mild. Yesterday rain fell, turning into sleet and this morning several inches of snow had fallen and the temperature somewhat lower, but not cold.

Roads, that were open, are now drifting shut again.

This information published especially for our western readers in the sunny state of California.

THE LABEL ON YOUR PAPER

It Is Put There To Tell You When Your Subscription Expires

Saturday we revised our entire subscription list of The Klemme Klemme Times, so that now it is all right up to date.

By looking at the "label" at the top of this paper you can tell just when your subscription will expire.

Our list is nearly "clean", that is, nearly every subscriber is paid up to date and the majority are well in advance for a year, some are paid up for two years, and some even for a longed period.

If your paper expires Jan. 24 or prior to that date, we would appreciate having you send check or call at the office. Quite a number come due this month. For example if your paper is labeled thus:

Jones. Johnn .... Jan. 24 is is now due and should be paid in advance for another year.

Why He Didn't Pass

Prof.— "Nobody ever heard of a sentence without a predicate."
Bright Soph— "I have prof."
Prof.— "What is it?"
B. S.— 'Thirty Days.'

Nobody Loves Him

Woodpecker sat on a Freshman's head,
And settled down to drill.
He pecked and pecked and pecked away
And wore away his bill.

To err is human, to deny is more so.

ROAD EXPOSITION TO BE HELD IN CHICAGO

Largest Convention of It's Kind in History of Road Making

From the fourteenth to the eighteenth of January there will be held in Chicago, the largest exhibition of road machinery, materials, and methods ever staged in the history of road making.

It is difficult to estimate the importance of such a great exposition, either from the standpoints of the road builded or the road buyer. The intimate contact thus made possible between maker of machinery and maker of material can not but aid both to do better work. The bringing together of so many different ways of road making must be of incalculable value to the road buyer; the county and State engineer, the road supervisor, and the tax payer.

Butp erhaps the greatest benefit from this mutual contact of forces which are behind the good road, is in the laying before the country, the magnitude of the effort involved and showing forth to the world what progress has been made in the hard surface highway idea.

Twenty years ago, before the auto mobile was more than a toy, the road idea was dead. "We didn't need roads. The roads, we had were good enough. To spend money for roads was foolish. The railroads gave all the transportation necessary. Roads were merely an expense, a luxury not an asset!" Such arguments were common. There were no road builders, there was no road building industry. To-day there are thousands of engineers, hundreds of firms making hard road building machinery and products for hard road making, and there is not a state uninterested in modern highawys, not a country which isn't talking good roads, not a farmer who doesn't realize the need of them.

This great road exposition is a reflection of the times ,and the sentiment which is behind roads; hard roads, the sort of roads which minimze theh auling cost an dgive the maximum of speed and intercommunication.

The road exposition at the Coliseum in Chicago is more than an exidea of transportation.
hibit; it is a monument to the modern idea of transportation.

SIXTY PARENTS WERE PRESENT

Parent Teachers Association Has Good Meeting Tuesday Evening

ALL INTERESTED CAN JOIN

The Parent Teachers Association held their meeting at the High School Tuesday evening, about sixty parents and others interested in the school being present.

A number of questions were taken up on the program and some lively discussions followed a few of the questions.

The program was interspersed with community singing, a piano solo by Faith Ax and one by Mr. Earl Trigilgus.

A light lunch, consisting of sandwiches, cake, coffee and pickles was served to the gathering after the program.

A number of new members were added to the roll. Anyone interested in school work are welcome to come to the meetings and will also be welcomed as a member.

BACHELORS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

The Klemme Bachelor Club held their annual meeting last week; at the home of Fred Henschen. Officers were elected for the year. The financial standing of the club made a good showing. Ater all expenses, for matrimonial advertisenents, had been deducted, there was still $2.13 in the Treasury. Games were played and refreshments served, and about a sack of apples were consumed, after which the Bachelors all left for Year.

Irwin Lau. Sec.

Philanthropy

Science courses oft remind us
We can help if we but try,
In passing on we leave behind us
Note-books for the other guy.

YEAR 1923 WAS ONE OF GENERAL PROSPERITY

WILL THIS HURT THE SALE OF BUICK CARS

We would extend a timely tip to any of our boys who are contemplating attending any dances in Bancroft and that is this—do notd rive a Buick car. A Whittemore young man and an Algona young man, accompanied by their lady friends attended a dance last Wednesday evening and had a most unpleasant experience for a short time, simply because they happened to be traveling in a Buick car. They were driving throu the street, when a fellow armed with a shotgun stepped out and commanded them to halt. Seeing the gun they complied speedily, the boys jumping out and asking the fellow what he meant by such actions. He explained that he was simply looking for his wife, and stated that she was out with some fellow that drove a Buick car, hence his mistake. We did not learn whether the fellow found his wife or not but we do know that these young fellows will leave the Buick car at home the next time they visit Bancroft.—Whittemore Champion.

THE OLD MILL

A mill over at Iowa Falls sued the electric light company, asking that they be restrained from building a dam across the Iowa river so that it would prevent theu se of the mill by taking its power away form them. This brings out the thought that thel ocal mill is rapidly passing away. It used to be that almost every town had a mill and some of the larger ones had more thanone This was because every woman baked her own bread, doughnuts, cakes cookies, pies etc., while now they are baked at thec ity bakeries and the flour is handled economically from some large center and sold to the baker in large quantities. It reminds us also of many changes that have occured. Do you remember when mother always bought her own green coffee and roasted it herself then ground it each morning for breakfast as she used it. Remember the noise meant that mother's voice was soon to be wafted up the stairway telling you that if you didn't roll out of that bed right away father would be up there after you? Sure you do. Mother don't brown her own coffee any more and but few of them send that nice aroma over the house by grinding it. It doesn't hurt anybody to remember a few of these incidents as we go along, even though we don't expect to return to them. Suppose our grandchildren will be telling about how we had to go about the country in a slow pokey old automobile and wonder how we ever std t travel so slowly.—Oelwein Register.

Students Back To College

Klemme young men and women who are attending college have all returned to their work again. Miss Ganger and Earl Josten have gone back to Morningside at Sioux City Iowa; Adolph Lauritzen has returned to Upper Iowa at Fayette to resume his studies and Howard Wiles and Fred Arnold have returned to Iowa State College at Ames.

We have two other young men who have also gone to Ames. Casper Pannhoff and Emery Schaefer left for Ames Tuesday where they will enter the college as students. We presume they ar touching up on agriculture.

An' That Ain't All.

I fell for her. in the book room.
'Twas a stormy night outside;
Oh. yes, of course I took her home
That evening from the Libe.
She was blue-eyed, blonde and rosy;
Rosie, I think, was her name.
She had red lips, n' everything
That camouflage a jane.
But the best thing of all about her,
Beter than all her good looks,
She was plump, and warm, and filed
my arms,
Yes, filled my arms—with books.

PEOPLE SPENDING M ORE AND SAVING MORE THAN IN ANY PREVIOUS PERIOD

Year Closes With Evidences of Unparalleled Prosperity in Nearly Every Line of Business

The outstanding feature of the holiday season and the close of business for the year has been the unprecented prosperity of the country.

The retail trade is the measure a people's financial condition tail sales this holiday season of all the year exceed anything the history of America. Without an excepton, every section of the United States reports record sales of merchandise. The mail order houses the bulk of whose business is with agricultural sections, have broken all records in the quantity of goods sold thisy ear. The chain stores and department stores which do their business in industrial centers have the same report to make. This fact shows the mass of people have more money to spend this year than in any previous year.

This fact is verified in many ways. The total value of farm products for the year is estimated at over 16 billion dollars, an increase over last year of 13 per cent, over 1921 of 20 per cent, and over the prewar period of 1910-1914 of 72 per cent. The marketing of this enormous crop must of necessity provide the farming ections with ready money. Although thye are breaking records in buying merchandise, not all of their money is diverted to the retail trade. The reports of the banks and the War Finance corporation show the farmer is paying off his loans which he negotiated two and three years ago during the period of his stress.

The savings deposits are over a billion dollars greater now than they werel ast year, and in the aggregate they fall only al ittle short of our total interest- bearing public debt. Commercial agencies report fewer failures in retail trade than in previous years. All advertising records have been broken in the year 1923. More Life insurance has been written this year than in any previous year. More wage earners are employed in industry than ever before in our nation's history, and the total amount of wages paid this year exceeds that of 1920 when industrial employment and wage levels were thought to be at their peak.

In brief, all classes of people are paying of more debts, spending more money in the channels of legitimate trade, and at the same time saving more money than ever before in the history of the United States.

REAL ETATE TRANSFERS

A. J Ramphoy to E. T. Miles ,WD 11-30 23 NE & N SE 12-94-25 . . $1

Wm. Hofer to R. E. Hofer et al WD, 8-22-22, SE & S NE 12-96-23 $1

John Olson and wife to Cora Durant, Q C D and 1-2 or 1-12 int NW NE21 & W NW 22 & SW SW & tr SE SE 16 97 24 ..... $1

R. O. Rasmussen and wife to Farmrs National Bank of Crystal Lake, W D, 3-3-21 E S 122 ft blk A Crystat Lake $2100

Crystal Lake Savings Bank to Farmers National Bank of Crystal Lake, W D, 12-8-23, E 60 ft lot 11 ,blk 10 Crystal Lake $1

F. A. Grabielson and wife to Farmers National Bank of Crystal Lake, Q C D, 12-24-23, SE 14 and W SW 13-97-25 ..... $1

Levi L. Helland and wife to W. B. Vaughan et al W D, 1226-23 W fr SW 18-97 24 & SE SE 13-97 25 $1

James Jorgenson and wife to Myron Haskins and wife, W D, 12-27-23 E 118 ft N 56 ft lot blk 21 Garner. $2408

Mrs. L. Smith to Walter Kirchgatter, W. D. 10 27 23, lot 34 blk 2 Sans add Corwith ex N 66 ft $750

Whitewash the walls and ceiling of your cellar and the coal may be found more easily.

THIS WOMAN RELIEVED FROM SUFFERING

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A Remarkable Story

Dover, Del.—"I wish every woman would take your wonderful medicine as it has done so much good to me. I had cramps and faint spells and very bad pains. One day I was over to my neighbor's house and she told me I ought to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So I went to the store on my way home and got a bottle, and took the first dose before supper. I have been taking it ever since, and you can hardly believe how different I feel. I had just wanted to lie in bed all the time, and when I started to brush up I would give out in about ten minutes. So you know how badly I felt. I used to go to bed at eight and get up at seven, still tired. Now I can work all day and stay up until eleven, and feel all right all the time. My housework is all I do in summer, but in winter I work in a factory. I have told a good many of my friends, and I have had three come to me and tell me they wouldn't do without the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. SAMUEL MURPHY, 219 Cecil St., Dover, Delaware.

Relief for coughs

Use PISO'S—this prescription quickly relieves children and adults. A pleasant syrup. No opiates. 35c and 60c sizes sold everywhere.

Skin Tortured Babies Sleep Mothers Rest After Cuticura

Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c.

Would Make It Clearer—Perhaps.

Eva—Professor Wise recommended to me Einstein's "The Theory of Relativity" as being a very interesting book.

Bernice—And have you read it?

Eva—No; I'm waiting for it to appear in the movies first.

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

"Augean Stables."

Augeas, king of Elis, kept a herd of three thousand oxen in his stables, which had not been cleaned for thirty years. Hercules performed the labor of cleaning them in one day by turning into them the rivers Alpheus and Peneus. This is the account given in various mythologies. The phrase is used to signify an accumulation of corruption almost beyond the power of man to remove.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Aspirin Marked With "Bayer Cross" Has Been Proved Safe by Millions.

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

Foolish Thought.

Mrs. Junebride—Somehow I can't help suspecting that you're leading a double life.

Her Husband—Nonsense! Only a single man can afford a double life.

Thousands Keep in Good Health

by taking one or two Brandreth Pills at bed time. They cleanse the system and purify the blood.—Adv.

If musical comedies are funny enough, shortcomings in the music will be overlooked.

One's old overcoat lasts years because the wearer gets used to its looks by degrees.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

A COLD TODAY—DON'T DELAY

AT ALL DRUGGISTS CASCARA HILL'S BROMIDE QUININE PRICE 30 CENTS

Cures Colds in 24 Hours La Grippe in 3 Days

W. H. HILL CO., DETROIT.

SAFE SURE DEPENDABLE

Garfield Tea

Was Your Grandmother's Remedy

For every stomach and intestinal ill. This good old-fashioned herb home remedy for constipation, stomach ills and other derangements of the system so prevalent these days is in even greater favor as a family medicine than in your grandmother's day.

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

By CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company

CHAPTER XIV

—17—

A Flower for a Ragged Fellow.

The longboat made a shallow pass between two curving reefs of dreary sand, rising to wind-twisted mangrove clumps at the higher points, and was beached in a quiet lagoon. The red sunrise found them there marooned; silent men wandering over the waterless spaces and then coming back near to a shelter canvas which had been roped to the bushes for Mademoiselle Lestron. Then the last lieutenants of Lafitte sat apart to discuss the matter.

The Seraphine lay plainly visible west and north, her sails idle and a flat, smooth coastal tide between.

"She'll be beating off with the morning breeze," growled Bohon. "How much water did Crackley leave to us?"

"Two casks; bread and the salt horse for three days—no more. We count six muskets and twelve pistols. When the Indians put off from the woods to spy us out we can hold 'em off a bit."

"Aye, for what? Where's a river mouth to make?"

"There is none the Spaniards do not hold. There is no cove either way where you would not find the king's men. The rest is jungle. . . . What does the captain say to it?"

Old Dominique puffed his long pipe tranquilly.

"What does Captain Jean make of it?" repeated Bohon to them.

"There is nothing to make of it," returned the alderman. "Eh, bien! A little while of waiting—a day or two, old robbers, in the sun and without water. At that, something will be tried. Leave it to Jean that something will be tried for ye all. The lady is at breakfast with the captain," he muttered irrelevantly. "He has toasted the bread—he has made the coffee himself for the English lady. Name o' G—d!—I have witnessed that!"

"Captain Sazarac is calling to you," observed the count. "Now, go, all—there is a message."

They went slowly, trudging through the sands with dry muttered jests and hopeless prophecies. Men, for the most part, past the prime of life; some heavy, indeed, with years, coming before their captain with an endeavor to assume a sprightly seaman's bearing. Faithful, rugged, implacable faces—adventurers who had given their wild youth to him.

"It is in my mind to put the English lady and my friend, Monsieur de Almonaster, in the way of safety," said the chief quietly. "There is a chance for them. The rest—I, and you—" He stopped and smiled at them.

"There was a shout. "I—and you!" Jean with them? Nez Coupe came closer, tying tight the bloody silken head scarf about his seal-brown skull. His wound-wrecked face took a ghastly grin. They would then still be rid of the English woman by some miracle! Jean would shake free of his burden of the English woman . . . and be with them once again?

"It can be established that Monsieur de Almonaster is of Spanish lineage; and that Mademoiselle Lestron is of a mission that was working in the pay of the Spanish king—" went on Captain Sazarac evenly. "If, then—they could reach a ship—it is probable they would find refuge. The rest—".

And again the shout of grim humor cut him off. The rest! Why, the rest could expect the reef, the tropic sun . . . and their captain! Still their sour, hopeless humor. Certainly there was nothing for the rest of them!

But now the English woman came out of the hot little shelter. "Now, you will listen to me, also, men of the Seraphine!" she cried suddenly. "To me as well as to your captain! Surely there is a way for us after these treacherous mutineers put off with the schooner! Surely, I know your faithfulness to him and to your ship! What is there to fear for seamen who serve loyally their master and their ship?"

They listened curiously. Monsieur the captain pushed back the iron-gray hair from his temple and listened. It was as if he had heard it all and had no more answer than they.

"See, you!" The girl went on hotly. "Monsieur Sazarac, playing the part of a patriot to his adopted country! I—an English Tory—can testify to that! The attack upon the Genaron—surely I can swear to the admiralty of my country, that it was done for me—in all honor. Monsieur Sazarac's honor—"

There was a stir among them—then the silence again. Old Dominique sighed. The honor of Sazarac . . . the word of Captain Sazarac to the admiralties that his men were good and true!

"For me—in all honor. By you all—honorable men—"

Again she was puzzled by their stir and murmur. The grim Baratarians rubbed their heads in doubt themselves. Beluche walked away and began to cut at the grass with his saber, idly. Nez Coupe joined him, feeling of his wreck of a nose.

The English woman knew she was failing with them. Monsieur Sazarac was looking at her pityingly. Monsieur de Almonaster, with folded arms, quietly attentive, his calm face unreadable.

And suddenly this dull impasse was cut through with a shout. Gorgio, on the highest dune, was pointing seaward. "She is coming in! She is making the inlet wi' tide and tops'il air!"

The Seraphine was moving. Then there was another shout. Above her, in the misty offing, another sail showed, dimly and slowly under way.

"The Spanish frigate, sir!" cried Bohon. "Standing in close as she dares, to look the schooner over! Crackley must ha' hammered her rudder on the bar last night—I see a false rig over her end. She's fouled, and he's laying her up in the wooded river out o' the king's big guns!"

De Almonaster shrugged; it meant the end of flight or hiding for those marooned on the open reef. "Ah, well!—" he glanced about: "Mademoiselle, our honorable gentlemen may well look aghast!" He laughed, but to the chief he muttered: "Monsieur Sazarac, we might as well build a fort in the sands and sell our lives dearly. If not the Spaniards, it will be the Campeche savages coming out upon us. If not them, starvation and the sun in a few days. There is no water on this reef, Monsieur!"

Mademoiselle had listened. De Almonaster's tone was light, as if both the gentlemen were affecting a debonair nonchalance for her sake. Monsieur Sazarac's shrug was of delicate dissent to discuss their lives' end in her presence. Then he smiled distantly:

"You will recall the instruction I once gave? You were to be my prisoner, Monsieur, in event the Seraphine was taken on the seas? You were to be as one held to an unlawful affair against your will—"

"For Me—in All Honor. By You All—Honorable Men—"

De Almonaster flushed to his eyes: "Monsieur! Do you think that I—" he stopped. Sazarac could not offer him life lightly in her presence!

"Undoubtedly the Spaniard will accept you and Mademoiselle Lestron, Monsieur Dominique, also—a municipal officer of New Orleans . . . there is no reason why the Spaniards should not receive and protect you."

"And you?" The younger man could not help the whispered question.

"I take it that the Spaniards will attack the Seraphine in those woods and leave no soul living on her. I assume that the mouth of every scoundrel on her will be closed by death. Then you—with Mademoiselle Lestron to the frigate—and say that you were marooned by the buccaneers, and claiming protection. Why, the Spanish governor at Merida, or Vera Cruz, must know of Carr's plot! Surely he would welcome Mademoiselle Lestron and her friends!"

"Why, are you not, Monsieur, also my friend, and protected with me?" the girl cried wonderingly. "It is, indeed, a fair story—an intrigue to save us all! Why did I not think the Spaniards would protect us when they will suppose that I am still in the plot of Carr's purpose to aid their schemes? Messieurs, I can safeguard you all to Vera Cruz with that plea!"

They all heard her. But a silence fell. The girl looked eagerly from one weathered face to another of Monsieur Sazarac's few followers. Suddenly Monsieur Sazarac laughed again. Aloud and clearly. He arose and adjusted his neckerchief. There was a gasp, a grumbling bewilderment, and then laughter from all the old buccaneers. They slapped each other on the shoulders, grinning knowingly at their chief.

"My compliments to the lady!" shouted Johanness, "but the climate o' Vera Cruz—my lungs are delicate!"

"And I mind that I might have a humor o' the blood were I there!" mocked Bohon.

"My head—" complained the sour Nez Coupe, "the rest of it might go a-twist at sight of the governor's castle!"

Mademoiselle turned to the captain hotly: "What is this jesting?"

"They mean no disrespect." He motioned to the grinning crew with a serious affection: "Now, get you gone, fellows! See that our wine and little water is stored from the sun. Work the longboat closer in on the tide."

"Sazarac!" they shouted in hoarse laughter and went to obey him.

He saw the hurt pride in her eyes, and the old wonder at his evasion.

She turned to De Almonaster with a pathetic little gesture of despair at the moods of Monsieur Sazarac. She could not understand. She sat drawing figures in the sand, and when she raised her dark eyes, to watch the tall figure out by the sun-wash on the shoals, the young man saw the great tears in them which she presently wiped away.

She dried her eyes with a final, resolute little sob. "Monsieur, do you know—well, once, he came for me . . . it was on the staircase of a court—the Hotel Orleans, and very late. He was going from me, and he had been all chivalry. He turned away, allowing Colonel Carr to boast that Sazarac would not fight, because he wished to spare my name. He said—ah, it was a silly thing for me to do!—but I dropped a flower to him as he left . . . and another man stumbled from the shadows and picked it up."

"Another man?" echoed De Almonaster.

"That was before you had come to me, Raoul, on the Seraphine. As to the other man, that was no matter. I suppose a beggar in the courtyard caught my camellia. I don't know—it was silly to throw a flower to Sazarac, the river gamester . . . I was hot with shame afterward at doing so. But if he had caught it . . . Ah, well! I thank Heaven he never knew it!—after I found myself in his hands upon the Seraphine! The ragged fellow who caught it stared up once and then hurried after Monsieur Sazarac. At the area-arch he turned. It appeared he tried to pose as a—lover, and then he fell over his own foot, or something, very absurdly!"

"A ragged fellow," muttered De Almonaster.

"Like one of these old tattered followers. A ghost of a man fading into moonlight!"

A shout arose from the exiles who were dragging the longboat nearer in the shoals. Monsieur Sazarac had paused half-way to them. He saw what had hitherto been hidden by a low spit of sand.

Five armed boats had drawn inshore, coming from the distant Spanish frigate, without doubt. They had crept unnoticed by the refugees on the reef until they were fair in the break of forest wall where there had been the last glimpse of the Seraphine's snowy sail.

"Do you see, Monsieur de Almonaster?" said the chief of the exiles quietly. "It was as I reasoned. The schooner will be taken this night. It is what one would greatly desire. The dons will have no quarter for Crackley's men—there is no escape for them in the river jungle. After the affair, sir—you are to go with Mademoiselle and parley with the Spanish captain."

"And you?" mademoiselle cried again breathlessly and sprang upon the sands. "You and your men cannot stay here to die!"

Monsieur Sazarac smiled with a high serenity. "The sea is wide, Mademoiselle Lestron. Wide, and far is the way to its secret places. I have a mind I said this once to you. O little place in the sea—a secret place, where a secret may be buried, Mademoiselle." He turned to the younger man: "You will make ready to go, Monsieur, when the hour comes. There are two black men of our company who can pull the longboat for you under a flag of truce . . . two black serving men who will not find the air of Vera Cruz conducive to a fatal malady. The rest of us, I fear, must do without the ministrations of the Spanish viceroy's physician as long as we can—possibly a day or so more, ere the doctor calls for us."

His smile still lingered when De Almonaster came closer, torn by a wild bitterness which he, himself, could not fathom. "Jean," he whispered: "I have not spoken. The choice is hers between you and me—and she might save you from Murillo's men! She might plead with the viceroy that she loved you—even Lafitte of the black flag!"

"That is a jest," murmured Sazarac absently, "worthy of John Jarvis, who played the clown to betray me—a plea for Lafitte's life to Murillo!"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Proud Owner.

An Augusta (Maine) man has a shiny new car. One day the radiator overflowed and left rust all over the front of the car. Whereupon the proud owner drew a $5 bill from his pocket and wiped off the stains. Needless to say, he returned it to his pocket after the job was finished and he had shaken the dust from the bill.

Love's Status.

Love is the business of the idle, but the idleness of the busy.—Anonymous.

for PANCAKES with the old-time Southern flavor for MUFFINS that fairly melt in your mouth and WAFFLES wonderfully crisp and tender

AUNT JEMIMA PANCAKE FLOUR

"I'se in town, Honey!" See easy recipes on the package

Blue Band VELVET PENCILS

At all Dealers

5¢

Supreme in their class.
As Smooth as Velvet.
Write for trial sample
American Lead Pencil Co., New York
Makers of the famous VENUS Pencils

Unsinkable Lifeboat Accidental Invention

One the most extraordinary cases of what may be called an accidental invention is that of the lifeboat. A man named Wouldhave was out walking one day when he was asked by an old woman to help her lift a can of water which she had filled by means of a broken wooden bowl.

The bowl was floating on the surface of the water, and as he talked to the woman, Wouldhave turned it over with his finger. It immediately righted itself. Amused by its antics he repeated the performance; then it struck him that he had made a wonderful discovery. The result of his chance meeting was the self-righting lifeboat, which was designed by him on the lines of the broken bowl.

What he had discovered was that anything made of floating material and shaped like one-half of a basin could float only with its convex surface downward. A boat made on these lines cannot remain upside down for more than an instant when it is turned over by a heavy sea.

Social Complication.

"What makes Mrs. Flimgilt's butler so extremely surly?"

"He has to be," replied Miss Cayenne. "There is a report that he is a nobleman forced to earn his living. He has to keep his distance for fear they'll try to treat him like one of the family."

"Hog Fish" Has Third Eye in Top of Head

A lamprey, or hog fish, possesses, in addition to a pair of eyes similar to the human eye, a third eye at the top of its head. It resembles the ichthyosaurus, an extinct whalelike animal, which has an eye at the top of its skull.

The same peculiarity exists in some of the lizards, such as the green variety common in the south of Europe, and accounts for their well-known acuteness of sight. Insects are even more liberally provided with eyes. In general, they have two kinds of eyes—simple and compound.

Simple eyes are like our own, though less efficient, while compound eyes are composed of numerous facets or lenses. This explains the difficulty in carrying out the injunction, "Swat the fly!" The eye of "that fly" has 4,000 facets, and consequently it does not miss much within its range. Large though this may seem, however, it is by no means exceptional.

The dragon-fly's eye has 12,000 facets and the Mordella beetle's eye is made up of no fewer than 25,000. While the compound eyes never exceed two, the single eyes vary in number from one to eighteen or twenty.

They are situated in groups on each side of the head. Spiders and scorpions have both single and compound eyes, though they appear to derive little benefit from them.—Providence Journal.

A Test for Rest—

AFTER the sleepless night, and you wonder about the cause, has it ever occurred to you that it may be caffeine, the drug in coffee, that keeps you awake?

Suppose you try Postum as your mealtime beverage, for at least ten days—

Put it to the test!

At your first sip of Postum, you will understand why, by many, it is preferred equally for its delicious flavor and for its wholesomeness.

Postum is absolutely free from the coffee drug, caffeine, or anything that can cause restless nights or uncomfortable days.

Postum

for Health

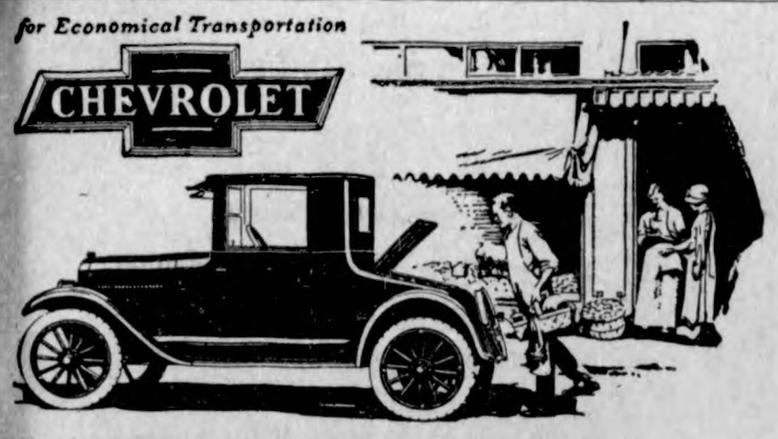
"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum [in tins] prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal [in packages] for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

Sold by grocers everywhere!

for Economical Transportation

CHEVROLET



The Economical Quality Car

Chevrolet prices are not the lowest on the market, yet Chevrolet economical transportation averages lowest in cost. This average cost considers the purchase price, interest on investment, depreciation and all operating and maintenance costs.

A detailed comparison with any other car in the low priced field will convince you that Chevrolet is the best buy because of its superior quality and because the purchase price includes full equipment.

More than a million Chevrolets are now in use. Twelve huge plants are now building them at the rate of twenty-five hundred per working day. Nearly one-half million Chevrolets were bought in 1923—far exceeding in number the sales of any other quality car.

Thus, our statements have the strongest possible backing, namely, the faith and patronage of the American people who know automobiles and know practical values better than any other people on earth.

Let any one of our seven thousand dealers show you our seven types of cars and explain how easy it is to get one and enjoy its use.

Prices f. o. b. Flint, Michigan

SUPERIOR Roadster	$490
SUPERIOR Touring	495
SUPERIOR Utility Coupe	640
SUPERIOR Sedan	795
SUPERIOR Commercial Chassis	395
SUPERIOR Light Delivery	495
Utility Express Truck Chassis	550

Chevrolet Motor Company

Division of General Motors Corporation

Detroit, Michigan

Secret of Stradivari Discovered by Chemists

Modern science at last appears to have rediscovered the secret of making superviolins—a secret that was understood by Stradiviri and other old masters of the Seventeenth century, and that was buried with them.

Analysis of the thin wood sections of the violins of the old masters has been made by a European chemist, who has discovered that the secret of their tune lay in imparting an artificial uniformity to the wood, an effect produced by an oil treatment, combined with months of sun-drying and a special varnish.

Violins constructed according to the methods which the laboratory revealed are said to match the old master instruments in tone.—Popular Science Monthly.

Health and cheerfulness mutually beget each other.

Such Is Fame.

The house in Portland, Me., where Longfellow was born, had become, a number of years ago, a tenement in the poorer part of the city, mostly inhabited by Irish. A teacher in Portland was giving a lesson on the life of the poet. At the end of the hour, she began to question her class. "Where was Longfellow born?" she asked. A small boy waved his hand vigorously. When the teacher called on him, his answer did not seem to astonish the rest of the class, but it was a cold shock to her. "In Patsy Magee's bedroom,' he said.

A Future Business Man.

"James, my son, did you take that letter to the post office and pay the postage on it?"

"Father, I saw a lot of men putting letters in a little place and when no one was looking I slipped in yours for nothing."

Playing Your Part in Your Community

What will your community be ten, fifteen or twenty years from now? Will it be more presperous, more beautiful—a more desirable place to live and work in than today?

It will, if you play your part.

Look around you. Somewhere you have seen the magic of concrete roads—the tonic effect of concrete streets. Have seen business improved through buildings made firesafe, sanitary and permanent with concrete. Have seen the greater sense of security and pride that comes from concrete schools, churches, theaters and homes.

If you are boosting for similar advantages in your own community—your home town—you are truly playing your part.

Portland Cement Association service helps anyone to play his part well.

It is a free service for the owner, the builder—for everyone interested in getting the greatest value from concrete.

The cement industry has made this service possible through the Portland Cement Association. It is a service, offered without any obligation.

Write us for any help you need in using concrete.

Ask for a free copy of our booklet "Concrete Around the Home." Address our nearest district office

PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION

A National Organization to Improve and Extend the Uses of Concrete

Atlanta	Denver	Kansas City	New York	San Francisco
Birmingham	Des Moines	Los Angeles	Parkersburg	Seattle
Boston	Detroit	Memphis	Philadelphia	St. Louis
Chicago	Helena	Milwaukee	Pittsburgh	Vancouver, B.C.
Dallas	Indianapolis	Minneapolis	Portland, Oreg.	Washington, D.C.
	Jacksonville	New Orleans	Salt Lake City

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

What the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

The movement in the legislature to weed out all standing annual appropriations took more definite form with the introduction of a resolution by Senator J. D. Buser of Muscatine county, providing for the inclusion of all repeal clauses in laws in a bill to be prepared by the code commission. This resolution, if adopted, would be the first step in providing for a comprehensive state budget. The faction in the legislature to which Senator Buser belongs was defeated in an attempt to pass a resolution at the last regular session to require the consideration of all appropriation bills at one time and that after all requests had been received. Adoption of this resolution would have been practically equivalent to a budget system. The Buser original resolution declares that the fundamental principles underlying the budget system is directly antagonistic to standing appropriations. There is considerable sentiment for doing away with them; but it is not believed the resolution will be acted on until the attendance in both houses has been restored to normal. The annual standing limited appropriations amount to something over $3,332,000. In addition there are standing annual unlimited appropriations totaling $3,603,000. All of these would be stopped July 1, 1925, if the Duser resolution carries. have to make full appropriations for all departments, under the budget system if a budget law is adopted.

The argument over what the state shall print and what it shall not print arose when Senator John Price of Monroe county took exception to action on senate file 263, a code commission bill providing for the printing of public reports from various state offices. The code commission measure makes no change in the existing law except to bring it into conformity with the action of the fortieth general assembly consolidating several state bureaus under the new department of agriculture, and even that action curtails the printing of several state reports—but the senate will doubtless eliminate, before the end of the debate precipitated Monday, the provisions for printing a number of documents relating to "quasi-public organizations," whose proceedings are assumed to be, in the present law, of enough general interest to justify their printing at state expense. The present law provides for the printing by the printing board of the proceedings of the State Teachers association, annuall; the proceedings of the Iowa Academy of Science, annually; and the Pioneer Law Makers association, biennially. It also provides for the printing of a number of documents which are in fact reports of state departments and upon whose publication there is no question.

One of the bills which have been adopted relates to the receiving of bribes for services in public election. A second legalizes acknowledgment of written instrument taken by notaries public and a third requires a majority vote of a city council in all instances where public improvement and bond sales are ordered. The other three bills passed regulate the erection of memorials to sailors, soldiers and marines; outline the duties of township officers and amend the present law governing municipal playgrounds by providing a board of directors composed of from five to nine members to supervise playgrounds in larger cities.

The legislators are by no means asleep on the road laws. The division on this question is as keen as it ever was. Amendments undoubtedly will be proposed to the code bills touching on highways as they come up and there are members who would like to see new road legislation. The record of the Fortieth general assembly is not what would be characterized as progressive on road legislation and the members do not indicate any change in attitude toward road improvement since a year ago.

The state senate put business aside for thirty minutes to listen to a reading of a historical review and several brief addresses by members, in commemoration of the seventy-seventh anniversary of Iowa's admission to the union. The early development of the state by pioneers and the attainments of the commonwealth in agriculture, industry and social advantages formed the theme of the speakers.

Opponents of the printing of reports of proceedings of the teachers association, the pioneer law makers, and the academy of science argue that the teachers association, for instance, is in a sense "a labor union," and that there are scores of organizations in the state which are as much justified to have their proceedings published at state expense as the teachers association.

As there were not enough legislators present at the opening session at 10 o'clock to constitute a quorum a considerable program of committee work was scheduled for the opening day.

The two most important measures passed by the legislature were a bill by the senate increasing the fees for filing petition for citizenship to $5, and a concurrent resolution of the house addressed to the United States congress, urging enactment of such legislation as will result in general prohibition of issuance of tax free securities

WOULD CUT EXPENSES OF THE STATE

Adoption of the budget system of expenditures for Iowa municipalities would cut the aggregate amount of money spent by 25 per cent, Lieut. Gov. John Hammill declared in an informal statement in which he advocated adoption of the budget system for both the state and its municipalities.

He asserted that putting the state on a budget basis would mean a saving of a material part of its annual expenditures of $124,000,000.

"The time for the enactment of the budget system is now. What the average Iowa citizen wants is results and not excuses.

"If budget legislation can be enacted by holding a special session on code revision a few days longer it should be done.

"There can be no more important measure to take up than this nor one which I feel would result in greater economy or efficiency in government.

Lieutenant Governor Hammill declared that he believed the adoption of budget legislation would cut the expenditures of municipalities fully one-fourth and that it would effect large savings in the state's spendings.

Hammill's declaration for the budget system is believed to forecast an effort to secure budget legislation during the present session on code revision.

Speaker Anderson of the house of representatives has also declared himself as favoring budget legislation as a measure aiding municipal and state economy.

Chief Hawkeye says to the Legislators in the Des Moines News: In my opinion you showed yourselves sadly lacking in fidelity to duty and appreciation of the responsibilities of your jobs when you failed to return to your desks when the Legislature re-convened following the Christmas recess. Notwithstanding the fact that you received pay for your time, that you have an enormous amount of work to do in a limited period, you took your time in getting back to the task confronting you. Your obsence had the effect of largely nullifying the presence of those who remained true to their responsibilities, because they were unable to transact much business without you. The result was that your delay and procrastination tied up the legislative machinery of the state for several days at great expense to the taxpayers. You deserve censure and plenty of it.

Members of the Iowa legislature will receive pay for the four-day Christmas recess when they get their checks tomorrow. The pay roll, signed by Lieut. Gov. John Hammill, who has been holding it up awaiting an opinion on the legality of the payment, went to the state auditor's office when Atty. Gen. Ben J. Gibson ruled for payment. The opinion was given Senator B. M. Stoddard, chairman of the senate committee on appropriations. The attorney general cited the precedents of former special sessions of the Iowa legislature in recessing over holidays and receiving pay and pointed to the fact that this legislature in taking the recess struck out all reference to declining pay, in holding that the session was continuous over a short recess and that the members were therefore entitled to pay.

Under the provisions of the bill passed by both the Iowa house and senate relating to the place of bringing actions, contractors doing highway or drainage work can be sued in the county where the work was done in case it is charged the contract terms have been violated. This is a change in the law which will work to the advantage of the counties, members of the legislature believe. The old law was such that actions of this nature had to be brought in the county of the home office of these concerns. In many cases this was a long journey from the place where the work was done and involved the expenditure of time and money to the disadvantage of the counties.

With barely more than quorums present, the senate quickly passed six code bills and the house after defeating a joint resolution introduced by representative McClune of Mahaska county to declare a recess passed a senate bill relating to the place of bringing action in damage suits for injuries sustained on public highways. Three of the bills passed by the senate have previously passed in the lower house and will be forwarded to the governor for signature.

A stiff fight on publication of the proceedings of the state teacher's association at state expense will be made when the bill codifying the printing laws comes up for action, it was indicated when Senator Price of Monroe county attacked that section of the law. Action on the bill was deferred. Publication of some of the reports of the state fair, such as premium winners, is also scheduled for attack, it is said.

Both houses of the legislature adjourned for New Year's Day. Quorums were present in both senate and house. The house transacted no business other than to adjourn.

If the bars of the special session are let down to admit general legislation, a large number of new bills may be introduced, as many of the legislators are read to bring in new matter if there is an opportunity.

The house refused to concur, after a slight flurry in a senate amendment to the bill relating to the attorney general and his duties, under which specific provision was made for payments of expenses of the office. The senate amended the measure to say that the money should be paid "from funds not otherwise appropriated."

Demand BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy—Genuine

Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Genuine Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Invitation Accepted.

Father (calling downstairs)—Say, Helen, is that young man going to stay all night?

Daughter (after a slight pause)—He says he will, pa, if there's plenty of room. Where'll I put him?—Boston Transcript.

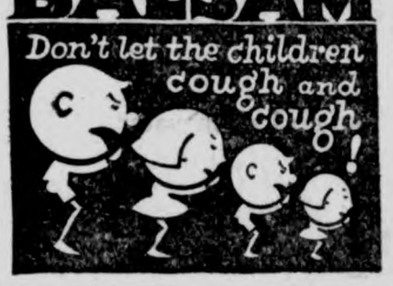
Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

KEMP'S BALSAM



Sorry He Spoke.

He (during the quarrel)—You must think I'm as big a fool as I look.

She—I think that if you aren't you've a great deal to be thankful for."—Boston Transcript.

When You Buy a Plaster always ask for "Allcock's"—the original and genuine porous plaster—a standard external remedy.—Adv.

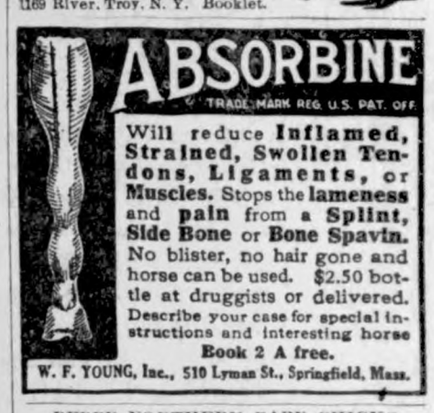
Malic Acid.

Malic acid is present in generous quantities in apples, pears red and white currants, blackberries and raspberries, quinces, pineapple and cherries. Citric acid is found in lemons, limes, oranges, gooseberries, strawberries and raspberries, and tartaric acid predominates in grapes, though it exists in other fuits. Salicylic acid is sparingly present, probably in the form of menthyl ester, in plums, cherries, currants, grapes and strawberries, raspberries, etc. Boric acid is said to be present in oranges and lemons.

Herring 3½c. ● Pickerel 9c. ● Smoked Fish, 10-lb box, $1.00. Send for complete price list.
CONSUMERS FISH CO., Green Bay, Wis.

Raw Furs Wanted
Highest cash prices paid. Send for free price list.
Fuerst & Steinlauf, 171 W. 26th St., New York

BATHE TIRED EYES
with Dr. Thompson's Eyewater. Buy at your druggist's or 1169 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.



PEPPY NORTHERN BABY CHICKS
Lowest prices to those who order ahead. Write today for circular. CHICKEN LITTLE HATCHERY, LINCOLN, NEBRASKA.

Orange Acres—Quarter-acre lots in beautiful Orange Co., Calif., near Long Beach and Los Angeles, $500, easy terms. Inf. N. S. Mitchell, Mission Theatre Bldg., Long Beach, Calif.

W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 2--1924.

Dry-Cleaned by Dough.

Household—I am glad to see you have such nice, clean hands, Maggie.

Maggie—Yes, aren't they? But you should have seen them when I started to work up the dough for the cake.

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A BOX

Cures Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion, Drug stores. Adv.

Penetration of Light.

The limit that light can penetrate the ocean is somewhere between 600 and 900 fathoms, which is 3,600 to 5,400 feet. The penetration of light rays into the depths of the ocean is measured by a photometer. Some of the light rays are reflected, others penetrate and are gradually absorbed at different depths, according to the wave length and to the clearness of the water. The dark rays are absorbed most quickly in the uppermost layers; the light rays penetrate deeper, while the blue rays penetrate deepest of all.

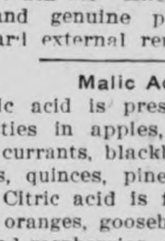
Children Cry for "Castoria"

Especially Prepared for Infants and Children of All Ages

Mother! Fletcher's Castoria has been in use for over 30 years as a pleasant, harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups. Contains no narcotics. Proven directions are on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it. The kind you have always bought bears signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough



Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

SMITH BROTHERS
S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL
Famous since 1847 (orange colored box)

CONSTIPATION

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills—then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. They cleanse your system of all waste matter and Regulate Your Bowels. Mild—as easy to take as sugar. Genuine bear signature— Brent Good

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

Volume 2—Number 9. Thursday, January 10, 1924

PRIDE IN WORK

The greatest asset any man can possess is pride in the work he does. Without it work is a mere bread-getting task—a thing to be done because one needs the money—and no one ever gets very far in any line of endeavor who looks on his work as a task. The moment one begins to take pride in the work of his hands or brain, he finds himself in a new and happier world, a world in which there is no sense of weariness; for the glow of satisfaction that comes with work well done banishes all other feelings and makes one contented with himself and with his fellow men.

And what will make one have pride in his work so much as a good set of tools? What will help to do good farming more than up-to-date machinery? It is a pleasure to till the soil with new, up-to-date machinery, as much as to ride in a new fancy car, but the new machinery is more profitable. It brings a return for it's cost. Come in and give us an idea of what you are interested in, and we will tell you what we can do about it. Machinery is an investment—not an expense.

An alarm clock is a thing you love to hate.

A Cultipacker is the coming machine. We have an interesting proposition for some man that's interested in them.

We still have some of the famous "ONLY" tank heaters. They sure show the water in the tank a HOT TIME!

Bad weather proves the sky's the limit.

We have a variety of light oils for motors, and a dandy light machine oil that runs in cold weather.

Speaking of birds, some people think Shakespeare was the bird who said, "You can string beans and kid gloves, but you can't bull frogs."

We have a special bargain on Bob Sleds. If you think you need one in a year or two you can't afford to pass up this sale.

Separators

MELLOTTE—This is a very good machine, and we have sold a large number of them. All who have them are well satisfied with theMelotte. Wecarry it in size No. 740.

DE LAVAL—This separator needs no introduction—you know what they are and what they will do. We have a large stock on hand and can make delivery at once on No. 15 and No. 17.

Come in and seeus if you need a separator.

Ranges

GLOBE RANGES—We have a full line on hand, in all styles and finishes. Your wife will tell you a Globe Range is best.

See Our Window Full of Useful Tools

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

What Became Of Those 10 Dollars?

"I know I had ten dollars this month which I was planning to use for new clothes. But they're gone and to save my life I can't tell what became of them.

Treacherous memory. If the months expenses had been paid by check, a glance at thec heck stubs whould show the day when, the person tow hom, and the purpose for which the ten dollars was spent.

Have a Checking Acconut at the First National Bank of Klemme and know what becomes of your money.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'.'

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Let the Times print your sale bill.

For Sale—Green Bone Meal. It makes the hens lay. Klemme Meat Market. tfc

D. D. Ross, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme Friday.

R. W. Sinclair, of Garner, was in town on business Tuesday.

"Dad" Kelly, of Garner, was here on business Tuesday.

School began again Monday after two weeks of holiday vacation.

Scissors and shears sharpened by new process, make them like new. C. A. Bachman Barber Shop.

Mr. Henry Freie enjoyed a visit last week from his grandson, Jay Braund, of Williams, Iowa.

Wurt Loger and Alvin Newberger returned Friday from Ackley where they had been visiting.

The Rebeccah lodge held their installation Tuesday night. A large crowd was present; many coming from Garner. Lunch was sreved.

The Odd Fellows are going to put on another Old Fashioned Dance at the Idle Hour Tuesday, Jan. 15th.

C. M. Bredbenner and his gang of men have been busy the past few days cutting and putting up ice.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Jacobs, and Mrs.. LuVerne Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. John Etchen, drove to Mason City last week Thursday.

Don't throw away those scissors. Let Bachman, the Barber, sharpen them for small charge.

Miss Lois Church returned to her home at Garner Friday, after spending her vacation visiting at the home of her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs Trees, south of town.

The Ladies Aid of the M. E. are having their meeting at the parish house today. They will serve supper to members and families.

Ralph Blank's children came from Estherville last week Tuesday for a week's visit with relatives in this city.

Mrs. August Ridder entertained the W. F. M. S. last Thursday afternoon at the parish house. The ladies all erport a good meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Freie, of Dodson, Montana, came last Thursday for a visit at the homeof Henry Freie and daughter, Viola. Otto is one of Henry's scns. They left again Monday.

For sale cheap—my place contanting 3½ lots well located south frnot with sleeping and sun porch, with shade and fruit trees, shrubbery. Possession given March 1. Fred Musfelt. adv J-10-17-24p

Earl Trigilgus returned to this city last week after spending most of his holiday vacation riding around in his Ford coupe. He drove about 1,000 miles and was as far as Omaha.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McConn returned to Klemme Mondayafter visiting for about two weeks over the holidays with their parents and friends at Hunter, North Dakota, and Fairmont, Minnesota.

Radio Fans—I have more headphones than I need, will sell you a good set cheap. Have only one set left. Act quick if you want them. Call at Times Office.

Mrs. August Lau, accompanied by her daughters, Mrs. Fred Ridder and Mrs. Wes Schuldt, were called to Minneapolis last Friday as August Lau had suddenly become worse. He is sufferig nfrom a cancer and it broke. He was taken to the hospital where he still remains. The ladies returned Monday.

Ralph Elder, who is working at Mason City, thought he would drive to Klemme Saturday night. He did not get far before he was stuck in a drift and so went on back to Mason City.

Paul Stille was laid up with the grippe last week and was not able to be at his implement shop. Paul is back on the job again and you will find his adv in this issue again. He has only missed one adv since he started the "Stille Implement Neys" over a year ago. He has an interesting adv this week.

M. O. Barr and Casey Blank drove over to Clear Lake Monday afternoon to get Barr's car, which he had left there on account of the storm. They left here about 4:00 P. M. and did not get back until 1:00 A. M. They had to do a lot of shoveling to get to Clear Lake.

Art Wellemeyer unwittingly furnished some good sport for the boys Monday. He rigged up a dummy dressed in clothing advertised on his sale bills and set the dummy out on the side walk. It make a fine target for snow balls and when the boys came from school they at once attacked the innocent dummy. Art was once a kid himself and he took the joke good naturedly—and perhaps thought back a few years when he was a boy and snowball season was on.

IDOLIZED

"It says here, 'One of the idols most revered by heathen is a figure of a woman, seated, resting her chin in her hands," said Mrs. Farr, reading from a book.

"Which proves that they are about the wisest people on earth," suggested the husband.

"How so, Orin?"

"Well," said Mr. Farr, with emphasis, "because they made a deity of a woman who has sense enough to give her chin a rest."—Pathfinder.

The second best book is the bank Look with a good balance.

A desire for home cooking inspires as many romances as love.

Time heals our scars but you can't make a woman believe it when she discovers her first wrinkle.

DENTIST

J. L. Hesselhuus, D. D. S.

Office Hours 8-12 1-5:30

Office Opposite State Savings Bank; In Schaffer Bldg.

Evening Work By Appointment Only

Klemme, Ia. Phone 81

Golden State Limited

Rock Island

only 3 nights en route to California

Los Angeles
San Diego
Santa Barbara

Through Standard sleepers every day in the year from Twin Cities and Des Moines.

Through tourist sleepers Tuesdays and Thursdays

"The best meals on wheels"

Consult Rock Island Ticket Agent or address

C. C. Gardner, G. A. P. D. Rock Island Lines 600 Royal Union Life Bldg., Des Moines, Iowa

Rock Island Lines

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

January 3, 1924.

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN	.60
OATS	.35—.36
BARLEY	.55
RYE	.60
HOGS	6.00—6.50
HAY	15.00—20.00
BUTTERFAT	.58
BUTTER (creamery)	.55
EGGS	.30
HEAVY HENS	.15
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.14
LEGHORNS	.08
STAGS	.10
COCKS	.06
DUCKS	.10
GEESE	.08

NOTICE TO PAY UP

All those who have not settled up their last year's account with us before January 1st, 1924, will please call and make an immediate settlement.

By Order of the Board of Directors.

THE KLEMME CO-OPERATIVE GRAIN COMPANY

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

THE HOME OF GOOD EATS

CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGARS

MEALS and LUNCHES

Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It Here

Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service

We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.

CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

Don't deceive Yourself--

You're paying the cost of STORMIZING in waste oil and gas alone. The expense of operating your car with cylinders in a worn and scored condition is greater than the cost of STORMIZING and Complete Overhauling. But the waste of oil and gas is not the only thing to be considered. The following troubles are all directly due to worn cylinders. Loss of Power, Imperfect Compression, Low Gasoline Mileage, Waste of Oil, Excessive Carbon, Fouled Spark Plugs, Mis-firing, Diluted Oil, Injured Bearings, Weak Compression, Hard Starting, Piston Slap, Nosy Operation, Uneven Idling, Mis-firing at Low Speed.

STORMIZING strikes the very root of all these troubles, it cures them all.

We Know Autos—Both Right and Left Handed

TAGOLENE OIL—the Utmost in Lubrication

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Authorized Service

Auto Mechanics —All Work Guaranteed— General Blacksmithing

Dollar by Dollar

Saving Accounts grow into fortunes. All it needs is the resolution to START and KEEP IT UP.

RESOLVE NOW TO OPEN

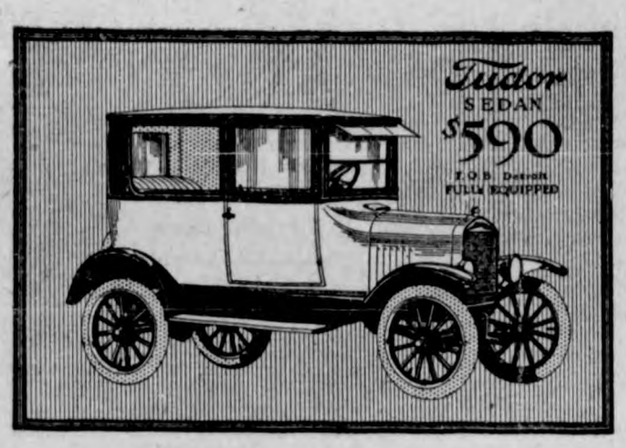
YOUR SAVINGS

ACCOUNT

One dollar will do. After that, add as much as you can at regular intervals and you'll find yourself in a new class of men—those who own something worth while.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa



THE NEW TUDOR

The Latest In Enclosed Ford Cars

The Tudar Sedan is a car every member of the family can use every day in the year. Buy now while you can get immediate delivery.

This new Ford type is of an exceptionally pleasing design. The doors are wide, opening forward, folding right front seat, and a roomy interior make it a convenient car to use; its high radiator, broad cowl, sun visor and large windows make it stylish in appearance. Yet sold at the lowest price ever asked for a Sedan—only $590 f. o. b. Detroit.

The rich, permanent luster of its finish, the quiet good taste of its upholstery, and the ornamental treatment of its full-nickeled hardware, all help to make it a car you are proud to drive.

Greimann Motor Co.

Ford
CARS - TRUCKS - TRACTORS

Political Announcements

County Recorder

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election to the office of Recorder of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Clarissa Abel. adv

County Supervisor

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Supervisor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—Thos. Berhow. adv

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—John Suurballe.

COUNTY SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican Primary to be held in June, 1924.—H. C. Meyer.

COUNTY SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to a decision of the republican voters at the primary election in June, 1924. I solicit your support on a platform of strict economy, fair and impartial treatment.—Wallace Darrah.

COUNTY AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of County Auditor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters of the June, 1924 Primary.—J. D. Madison.

News of Goodell And Vicinty

Everybody enjoyed the Rabbit Linner in the Basement of the U. B. Church Thursday. A large crowd was in attendance

Moving Pictures, singing and other entertainments were enjoyed in the Opera House in the afternoon A Historical Movie was given in the Opera House Tuesday night.

Preseley Griggs who has been on a business visit to Fairfield, Ia. returned Sunday Evening.

Mae Griggs, Clara Johnson, Mark Smith and Dale Chase returned to Cedar Falls Fednesday. School started Thursday.

Miss Marie Smith returned to Williams, last Saturday. She is teaching school there.

Frank Nolte who has been ailing for some time went to Iowa City Saturday for treatment.

Lu Wesenburg went to California last Thuds to visit his porents.

Miss Alva Matson who has been visiting in Indianapolis, last Friday.

Miss Ina Ahrenkiel who has employed in the Killian Department Store in Cedar Rapids is expected home next week.

"Long may she wave!" Remarked the man whose wife supported him by running a hair- dressing parlor.

A tramp who heard that bootleggers were lousy with money said: "They have nothing on me; I'm lousy without money.

Everything has its use. Don't laugh at corns. Corns sell more autos than auto salesman.

PUBLIC SALE

Having decided to quit farming, I will sell the following described property to the highest bidder, at the farm 2 miles south of Klemme; and 4 miles north and 1 mile east of Goodell, on—

TUESDAY, JANUARY 15th

Sale to begin at 1:00 P. M.

58— HEAD OF LIVE STOCK —58

4 Head of Horses—gray mare 8 yrs old, wt. 1500; bay gelding 7 yrs. old, wt. 1300; bay mare 11 yrs. old, wt. 1200; bay gelding 6 yrs. old, wt. 1050.

20 Head of Cattle—6 milk cows, 1 fresh, others fresh soon; 7 head 2 yr. old steers; 3 head 1 yr. old steers; 3 head 1 yr. oldheifers; 1 Hereford bull, 2 yrs. old.

34 Head of Hogs—30 head of fall pigs, 4 head old Chester White sows with pig.

FARM MACHINERY 2 truck wagons, one with box; McCormick 8 ft. binder, hay rake, John Deere corn planter with 100 rds wire, new John Deere Corn Plow; 4-section steel drag; 2 8-ft. disc; hay rack; 8x12 feed rack; 7x12 hog house; 1 New Century corn plow; La Crosse 3-bottom tractor plow; 1½ h.p. gas engine and pump jack; 2 sets harness; 20-gal. feed cooker; Economy King No. 18 Separator; Mankato incubator, 240 egg; two 500-foot wire corn cribs; and many other articles

Terms—Usual terms, 8%, 10 mo.

ROBERT ROTHS, PROP.

B. A. Reemstma, Auctioneer — First. Nat. Bank, Klemme, Clerk

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Office opposite from Hotel Klemme

Phone No. 19

Eyes Examined — Glasses Fitted

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Kahrs' Drug Store — Phone 4009

Klemme, Iowa

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

Sale Begins

Sat. Jan. 12

Continues 10 DAYS

Mid-Winter Sale

Read This Carefully! THEN GET BUSY

Prices Talk!

LADIES COATS

15 Best Grade SILK PLUSH, $70.00 grade, now $37.00
$50.00 grade, now $27.00

GIRLS COATS

18 GIRLS COATS, ages 13 to 18, worth from $7.50 to $22.00—all put in one lot, at your choice $3.75

22 CHILDRENS COATS

Take your choice of any Coat in the house for $2.88

CHILDRENS DRESSES

20 NAVY BLUE WOOL SERGE Dresses, all sizes from 5 to 12—worth $7.50—now $3.75

PETTICOATS

100 Assorted Petticoats in one lot, all go at choice $1.98
The Heatherbloom in this assortment were worth $3.90; the Sateens were from $2.75 to $4.00, the Silks were worth up to $6.90 each.
1 lot Ladies Outing Flannel Petticoats, now at 77c

A Travelers Sample Line of KNIT PETTICOATS at 25% Off. Prices run from ..... 95c to $2.25

No two garments are alike.

WOOL DRESS GOODS

See our table crowded full of wool dress goods, at per yard ..... 95¢
Five colors of all wool Bastile worth $1.40; 3 colors of Storm Serge worth $1.50, besides other novelties and weaves.

75¢ Kimona Cloth ... 39¢
60¢ French Shirting... 39¢
$1.00 All Wool Flannel 50c

BLANKETS

$4.50 full size cotton $2.98
$6.00 Wool Naps ... $4.50
$7.00 Wool Naps ... $5.50
$15.00 Woolens $9.00

ARMY GOODS

Mens 4 buckle Overs. $3.25
Mens Flannel Shirts $2.95
Mens Khaki Pants .. $3.50

Mens Leather Vests. $9.50
Take your choice of any vest in the store; our stock is down to 25 vests.

1 lot Mens Winter Caps, at ..... 58¢

1 lot Mens Sweaters. $1.50

HOSIERY

1 lot Childrens Heavy Black Cotton Stockings—nice, clean goods—and all sizes, go at ..... 1-3 OFF.
2 lots Childrens Wool Hose ..... 48c & 58c
2 lots Ladies Wool Hose ..... 68c & 98c
Ladies SILK & WOOL Hose worth $2.50, now go at $1.20
A quality line of LADIES SILK HOSE now going at ..... 55c—88c—98c—$1.10

SHOES

50 Pair LADIES SHOES worth $4.50, will go during this Sale at $1.85
1 lot CHILDRENS SHOES.....AT HALF
1 lot MENS $5.00 SHOES $2.98
1 lot BOYS $3.50 SHOES $1.95

We close our Store every evening at 6:00 P. M., except Wednesday and Saturday when we are open until 10:00 P. M.

CLEANING & PRESSING

Mens Suits $1.00
Ladies Suits $1.25
These are special prices for this 10 day Sale Only. Bring in your work.

We cannot name all the Bargains in this limited space—so wish to say that this is a genuine Clean Up Sale, and the Store will be full of bargains. Tell all of your friends about it.

TABLE CLOTH FREE.!

with each Happy Family Set, 36 pieces for .. $10.20

GROCERIES

Oranges, dozen 19c
Peaches, per large can. 19c
Stuffed Olives 19c
Toilet Soap 4c
Shinola ..... 9¢
Baking Powder, lb..... 16c
Bonnie Brew Coffee .. 38c
Beauty Rose Flour .. $1.75
Many more items of genuine Bargains will be found when you call.

UNDERWEAR

LADIES WOOL VESTS & PANTS 98c
LADIES FLEECED UNION SUITS .. 98c
Ladies heavy fleece gray pants 19c
Ladies heavy fleece gray vests 25c
Childrens FLEECED PANTS 20c
Childrens FLEECED VESTS 16c
CHILDS E. Z. UNIONS, worth $1.20, sizes 2 to 16—NOW 59c
Childrens HEAVY FLEECE Unions 1-3 Off
Mens HEAVY FLEECE, 2-piece 66c
Mens HEAVY FLEECE UNIONS....$1.77
Mens BEST WOOL, 2-piece $2.50
Mens BEST WOOL UNIONS $6.20
Mens GRAY WOOL UNIONS $2.75

MEN'S ULSTERS

$30.00 FUR WOVE $19.00
$38.00 SHEEP LINED $28.00
$20.00 MACKINAW LINED $13.00
$30.00 SHEEP LINED $22.00
$25.00 SHEEP LINED $16.00

We guarantee everything which goes out from this Store to be worth the money—whether on Special Sale or Regular Stock.

Sale goods may be returned during the Sale, but not after the Sale is over.

WELLEMEYER

DEPARTMENT STORE — KLEMME, IOWA

U. S. MUNITIONS GO TO MEXICO

Opposition to Sale of Arms to Obregon Is Ignored at Washington.

Washington. — Negotiations for the sale of arms and munitions to the Obregon government were closed by the administration in the face of threatened legislation in congress to prevent sale of war supplies to any foreign country. The deal was completed by Secretary Weeks and representatives of the Obregon government. Terms of the agreement provide that Mexico is to pay half of the amount due for the supplies in cash and the other half in thirty days. The amount involved in the transaction was not disclosed. The following statement was issued by Secretary Weeks:

"This government has sold to the Mexican government 5,000 Enfield rifles, model of 1917; 5,000,000 rounds of .30 ammunition, and eight D.H-4 airplanes, the terms of the sale being one-half cash and one-half within thirty days. These articles do not cover the entire list requested originally, but the Mexican government finds they will answer its present requirements."

It also was announced that within the last three months the United States has sent to Cuba munitions of war valued at approximately $100,000.

It was pointed out in high official circles that the sales of munitions of war to Cuba and Mexico definitely mark the government's attitude regarding the sale of war materials to countries in the western hemisphere when revolutions are threatened. The transactions did not mark a departure from President Harding's policy against selling arms to European countries, it was asserted.

The rifles and ammunition being sold to the Obregon government are at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, and at Fort Bliss, near El Paso. The airplanes are at Fairfield depot, Dayton.

Tut's Sarcophagus Found; King's Ransoms in Case

Luxor.—The sarcophagus of Tut-Ankh-Amen has been brought to light after remaining hidden for more than three thousand years in the tomb of the pharaohs in the Valley of the Kings. The long-sought treasure of antiquity, carved from pinkish granite, probably Assuan stone, lies within the fourth casket of blazing gold—a casket even more brilliant than the other shrines enclosing the sarcophagis, its doors covered with cartouches of the dead pharaoh, surrounding a figure of the monarch.

Saranac Toboggan Slide Collapses; Two Are Killed

Saranac Lake, N. Y.—Two persons were precipitated to sudden death at Dolph Lewisohn's Adirondack camp when a newly built toboggan slide collapsed. The victims were Nathan M. Shelley of Saranac and Mrs. Maude Shelley, his sister-in-law. Mr. Shelley's daughter, Alice, suffered a broken leg. No one witnessed the accident. The slide, nearly a mile long, had just been completed. Heavy masses of ice along the supports caused the collapse.

U. S. Rail Control Costs Reach $1,696,000,000

Washington.—James C. Davis, director general of railroads, has submitted to President Coolidge a summary of the progress made to December 31, 1923, in liquidating all matters including compensation, and all questions and disputes arising out of or incident to federal control of the railroads. According to the director general the total cost of the taking over of the roads was $1,696,000,000.

Resigns Rather Than Act as Executioner

Huntsville, Tex.—A day before the date set for the first electrocution in Texas, Capt. R. F. Coleman, warden of the Huntsville penitentiary, will step out of office. Captain Coleman declared that the new state law placing on the warden at Huntsville the duty of executing condemned men was responsible for his action. He has served continuously since 1888.

Mine Wage Parley Is Set for February 11

Cleveland, O.—At a meeting here of representatives of union miners and operators of Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and western Pennsylvania, it was decided to hold a conference to negotiate a new wage agreement to become effective in the bituminous field April 1, 1924, on February 11, at Jacksonville, Fla.

Ohio River on Rampage.

Louisville, Ky.—The Ohio river and its Kentucky tributaries have passed flood stage and are rising. Reports from points as widely separated as Pittsburgh and Cairo tell of menacing conditions in many towns.

Wellesley Student Found Dead.

Cincinnati, O.—Miss Myra Strauss Freiberg, nineteen, a student at Wellesley college, was found dead with a bullet wound in her head in the library of the residence of her cousin, Dr. E. B. Tauber.

HUBERT D. STEPHENS

Hubert D. Stephens, new senator from Mississippi, succeeding Senator John Sharp Williams, a member of congress for four terms. He is a native of Mississippi.

GRANTS AND ANNULS DIVORCE IN ONE DAY

Hint of Fraud in Case of Novelist.

Providence, R. I.—Nina Wilcox Putnam Sanderson, nationally known novelist and short story writer, was granted a divorce from her husband, Robert J. Sanderson, by Judge Chester W. Barrow in Superior court on the grounds of neglect to provide and was allowed to resume her former name.

A few hours later, after an investigation by a local newspaper, the results of which were placed before the court, Judge Barrow announced:

"I shall recall the decision and ask the lawyer to explain these statements you have laid before me. I don't propose to have fraud perpetrated on this court if I know it.

"From the depositions in this case there was absolutely nothing unusual about it so far as the court could see. The depositions showed on the testimony of the woman herself and her two corroborating witnesses that her husband deserted her and left her destitute, that she had to support herself, and that she had lived in Rhode Island for three years."

Mrs. Sanderson, in her deposition, claimed residence in this city for "just a little over three years"—the statutory requirement being two years' continuous residence—while the investigation disclosed, the newspaper said, that she "had lived at 56 McKinley street, this city, for a year or a year and a half, and that she had actually been there but a comparatively small part of the time."

Diplomats and Public Are Greeted at White House

Washington. — Official Washington kept open house New Year's. The White House reception, abandoned last year because of the illness of Mrs. Harding, was held by the President and Mrs. Coolidge, who received their guests as usual in the Blue room, standing in front of the Christmas tree, lighted on Christmas eve for the Coolidge boys and lighted again. Rather more than 5,000 people gathered for the public reception were received by the President and Mrs. Coolidge, each receiving a cordial handclasp from host and hostess.

Mabel Normand Collapses; Is Taken to a Hospital

Los Angeles, Cal.—Miss Mabel Normand, motion picture actress, whose chauffeur shot and seriously wounded Courtland S. Dines, Denver oil operator and clubman, was removed to the Good Samaritan hospital suffering from what her physicians say is a nervous breakdown. The strain, excitement, and worry growing out of the shooting of Dines caused the actress to break down, it is announced.

Teacher and Family of Three Killed by Train

Bellefontaine, O.—Four persons, one man and two women and a child, occupants of an automobile bearing a Michigan license, were instantly killed when the machine was struck by a Big Four train at Huntsville, near here. The dead are Ernest R. Herron, a Detroit school teacher, who lived at Royal Oak, Mich., his wife, his mother, Mrs. W. E. Herron of Columbus Grove, O., and his daughter.

Business Failures in 1923 Reach 18,710, Says Dun

New York.—Mercantile defaults in the United States during the current year totaled 18,710, and involved liabilities of $53,532,000, according to the annual review of R. G. Dun & Co. To make this statement the final days of December were estimated. While the business failures during the year have been fewer than in the last few years, they are still considered heavy.

Western Pine Production.

Portland, Ore.—A report just issued by the Western Pine Manufacturers' association shows a production during 1923 by member mills of approximately 1,700,000,000 feet. It was a record year, exceeding 1922 by 20 per cent.

Teaches His Class by Phone.

Iowa City, Ia.—Quarantined with smallpox fifty miles away, Millington Carpenter of the University of Iowa faculty, is teaching here with the aid of long distance telephone. He was taken sick during Christmas week.

THIRTY-SIX DIE IN PLANT BLAST

Many Others Injured When Explosion Wrecks Building at Pekin, Ill.

Pekin, Ill.—Fire and ice, steel, concrete and brick made of the wrecked plant of the Corn Products here the tomb of thirty bodies. An explosion occurred at three o'clock in the morning. It trapped the thirty employees in the debris. Rescuers, working under glaring searchlights, worked all night in an effort to reach the bodies. They were handicapped by the bitter cold. Of those taken out, blown out, or leaping out, alive, the death toll is mounting. Six are reported dead in hospitals here and at Peoria, making the estimated total of dead thirty-six, with no blame yet fixed, and the only explanation being "dust explosion."

A list given out here of identified dead included the following names: Jim Holton, Otto Weiberg, George Leiber, Manuel Hicks, Lee Harding.

The injured are counted at thirty at the hospitals, and it is said that many of these will be helpless cripples if they survive.

State Fire Marshal John G. Gamber said the catastrophe was due to an explosion of dust, similar to disasters that have occurred in other starch factories, grain elevators, flour mills, and like plants, where dust is created and let accumulate. He cited a recent explosion in a plant of the same company at Argo, another at Des Moines, Ia.

Supt. H. W. Lawton said that every precaution has been taken. Men were constantly employed to sweep up and clean out the dust, he said.

Office Manager Berry said that the plant was inspected by the state factory inspector six weeks ago and pronounced safe. The underwriter, the liability insurance company which had insured every employee for both life and accident, as well as the state authorities made frequent inspections, Berry said, and none had ever found fault.

Hiram Johnson Opens in Cleveland, Ohio

Cleveland, O.—In a speech raking the Coolidge administration fore and aft and blistering the Republican national committee and the interests and individuals supporting Mr. Coolidge politically, Senator Hiram Johnson (Rep., Cal.) opened his campaign here for the Republican nomination for president. The meeting was presided over by State Senator George H. Bender, Johnson manager in Ohio, and Senator Johnson, who was accompanied by Frank H. Hitchcock, his national campaign manager, was introduced by John D. Fackler, a prominent Bull Mooser in 1912.

U. S. Armada, 100 Strong, Sails for Winter Maneuvers

Washington.—More than one hundred warships, constituting the greatest armada ever to be gathered under the American flag, left their stations Wednesday for the winter maneuvers at Panama. The fleet consists of 15 battleships, 4 light cruisers, 63 destroyers, 11 submarines, 1 airplane carrier, 1 airplane tender, 4 destroyer tenders, 3 submarine tenders 5 mine layers and 33 train vessels including repair, fuel an dhospital ships. The fleet is under the command of Admiral Robert E. Coontz and attached to it will be 87 airplanes.

Embezzlement Charge Against Townley Issued

Fargo, N. D.—A warrant for Arthur C. Townley, founder and former president of the National Nonpartisan league, and J. J. Hastings, former president of the Consumers United Stores company, jointly charged with embezzlement of $72,903 of the stores company funds, was issued here. The alleged embezzlement is said to have been committed in 1918. The two defendants have not been residents of North Dakota since 1920.

Serbian Envoy Quits Sofia in Midst of War Talk

Athens.—M. Ravetch, Serbian minister at Sofia, was recalled to Belgrade He will not return unless Bulgaria gives complete satisfaction. Before an extraordinary meeting of the Serbian cabinet the minister gave a full account of Bulgaria's secret military preparations. The Serbian government believes that Bulgaria is being encouraged to arm by Italy.

Germany Joins France?

Paris.—The new Reichburg plan for payment of the German reparations by ceding to France a 30 per cent interest in German industry is based on the United States and Great Britain cancelling the war debts due them.

Earthquake in Turkestan.

Moscow.—Eighty-three persons have been killed and 400 houses destroyed in a severe earthquake which shook the province of Samarkand, in Russian Turkestan, according to advices received here.

Veteran Publisher Dies.

Milwaukee, Wis.—John F. Cramer, ninety-two, veteran publisher and for several years vice president of the Western Newspaper Union, died here. Mr. Cramer is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Eugene R. Pike, Chicago.

CAROLINA'S BIG LEGION MAN

Dr. Thurman Mann of High Point, National Vice Commander, Best Known Member.

If one were to ask a Carolinan whom he considered the best known American Legion member in the "Tar Heel" state, he very likely would reply: "Dr. Thurman Mann of High Point."

Doctor Mann, who was elected as national vice commander of the American Legion at the San Francisco convention, has had a long period of service with the Legion. Beginning as post member he passed through the posts of commander, department service officer, member of the executive committee and other positions of importance in the state organization.

Doctor Mann was born in Siler City, N. C., November 3, 1888. He was educated in the schools of High Point, and entered Trinity college at Durham in 1905, attending that institution for two years. In 1909 he attended the University of North Carolina, leaving that institution two years later to enter Jefferson Medical college, where he obtained a degree.

Following his graduation from the medical school, he served for twenty-five months as an interne in Kings County hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y. This was followed by a period of service as ship's surgeon between New York and Porto Rico. On completion of this tour of duty, Doctor Mann entered practice at High Point, where he remained until 1918, when he enlisted in the Medical corps of the army.

Dr. Thurman Mann.

He was assigned to service with the Fourteenth division at Camp Custer, and with other physicians labored under great difficulties during the influenza epidemic which swept the country.

When he became commander of the High Point Legion post, but 28 members were on its roster. As he left it after three years' service as its leader he had brought the membership to 270. As department service officer, he succeeded in obtaining nearly a quarter of a million dollars as compensation for the men of his state.

AGAINST FUNDS FOR GERMANS

Tank Corps Post of Washington Directing Fight to Prevent Action by Congress.

Declaring that so-called "humanitarian reasons" are not sufficient cause for the appropriation of funds by congress for relief of German citizens, the Tank Corps post of the American Legion in Washington, D. C., is directing a fight against spending of taxpayers' money in this fashion.

A resolution passed by the post sets forth the fact that congress will be asked to provide funds for the relief and care of German subjects in Germany, and as a power against whom Americans had so recently fought, such a course was a violation of fundamental laws of the nation. The resolution will be presented to members of congress, in order to apprise the members of that body of the views of the former service men in this instance.

To Include Allies' Men.

Under provisions of an amended eligibility clause, membership in the American Legion has been broadened to include a large class of soldiers of the allied forces of the World war. On action taken by the Legion at the San Francisco convention, men who served with allied forces whether at the time of entry in such service American citizens, or later accepting naturalization from that country, are admissible. This applies particularly to a great number of Canadian veterans who have become American citizens since the war, as well as making eligible thousands who enlisted in the armies of other nations during the war, but who were previously barred from the Legion because of their service under foreign colors.

Inter-City Post Visits.

A motor caravan consisting of 30 automobiles conveyed members of the American Legion in Tampa, Fla., to Clearwater, for the first of a series of inter-post visits in that state. The Legion men were accompanied by members of the American Legion auxiliary and of the Red Cross.

Search No Further.

She—The man I marry must be bold yet not audacious; handsome as Apollo, yet industrious as Vulcan, wise as Solomon, but meek as Moses—a man all women would court, yet devoted only to the one woman.

He—How lucky we met.—American Legion Weekly.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

County agents and veterinary inspectors from twenty-five counties will hold a session with Secretary of Agriculture Cassady, January 15th at the state house.

It is interesting to note that the first governor of Iowa, after the state was admitted, was a Democrat—Ansel Briggs. He served from 1846 to 1850.

The Iowa State Traveling Men's association will hold its forty-third annual convention in Des Moines on Saturday, January 19th. Business of considerable importance is scheduled for the meeting.

More plentiful employment and prohibition are given as the main reasons for the decline in poverty in a survey which was placed in the hands of the Public Welfare bureau by the Associated Charities.

In 1901, Des Moines had only one telephone for each 22 persons. Now there is a telephone for every 3.8 persons. Since the beginning of the Twentieth Century, the population of that city has a little more than doubled, while the number of telephones is larger by 13 times.

The Iowa of 77 years ago with its sparsely settled communities, its lack of comforts, its bleak prairies, its log cabin domiciles, is a far cry from the Iowa of today with its modern homes and conveniences, its rapid transportation and communication mediums, its rich fields yielding golden wealth and its opulent and comfortable cities and farms.

What is believed to have been one of the biggest bank swindles attempted in this state in recent years has been exposed through the prompt action of several northern Iowa banks, according to Frank Warner, secretary of the Iowa Bankers' association, who issued a warning to all banks to be on the lookout for fraudulent $10,000 drafts.

Plans for making the North Iowa fair at Mason City a fifty-two-week institution instead of a one-week affair, a place for holding various stock and corn shows throughout the year as well as a community gathering center for all residents of the county as well as the school children have been made at a meeting of 200 business men and farmers.

From Canada and from sixteen states of the United States prize fowls were competing in the Iowa State and Des Moines Coliseum poultry show that has been conceded by the judges to have "the largest number and best quality of entries of any poultry show in the middle west. The judges were kept busy judging the 4,000 fowls on exhibition.

Newton girls know how to dress, a recent style show held there by the high school home economics department would lead one to believe. Nearly 300 dresses or articles of dress were shown at the style show, everything from fur-trimmed woolen dresses to gingham middies, from elaborate lounging gowns to simple cooking aprons—not a garment was missing.

The first motomart in Iowa has been opened at Cedar Rapids. The motomart is a plan of selling used cars, whereby owners may consign their cars for sale, or others may buy guaranteed used cars, without paying more than the costs of operation of the motomart. The Appleby plan, which has been adopted for Iowa's first motomart, contemplates giving all profits at the end of the year to charitable institutions.

The Page county agent visited the high school at Essex recently and started a number of boys in on a new farm management club. The boys will keep the records of all financial transactions on the farm during the year for their parents. At the end of the year it will be possible for them to tell where money has been made and where it has been spent, and in cases where it has been lost. The boys in these clubs are getting experience that will be available to them later.

Co-operative marketing and co-operation are words which have come to have a real meaning for many folks out on the farms of this state and the idea has been put to practical and substantial use by the folks down in Lincoln township, Worth county and is also practiced by other communities in the same neighborhood. The particular community of which we write is just four and one-half miles northeast of Manly, in Lincoln township, and the folks there, consisting of ten or a dozen neighbors have gotten together and pick poultry on a co-operative basis, shipping their product to Philadelphia in barrels.

Three of the greatest Jewish cantors in the country, Mordecai Hershman, Zavel Wwartin, and David Hoitman will appear in a joint concert at Des Moines January 26th. They will sing selections from the Jewish Liturgy, folk songs and operatic numbers.

An effort will be made within the near future to have members of the Pioneer Cow Testing association of Black Hawk county accept an offer by Iowa State college at Ames to provide record books in which dairymen members may keep accurate records of every item of expense as well as revenue from their herds.

GIRLS! A GLEAMY MASS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

35-Cent "Danderine" So Improves Lifeless, Neglected Hair.

An abundance of luxuriant hair full of gloss, gleams and life shortly follows a genuine toning up of neglected scalps with dependable "Danderine."

Falling hair, itching scalp and the dandruff is corrected immediately. Thin, dry, wispy or fading hair is quickly invigorated, taking on new strength, color and youthful beauty. "Danderine" is delightful on the hair; a refreshing, stimulating tonic—not sticky or greasy. Any drug store.—Advertisement.

A Generous Boss.

"I would like a small increase in my salary, sir."

"I don't see my way clear to that, but I can do the same thing in another way. You know that time is money?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, hereafter you can work until six instead of quitting at five."—Boston Transcript.

MOTHER! GIVE SICK CHILD "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Harmless Laxative for a Bilious Constipated Baby or Child.

Constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels acting without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits. Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.—Advertisement.

The Real Reason.

The parson was talking to the baby o fthe house.

"Why is it that the grass and trees look greener than usual today?" asked the good man.

"Because mother washed the windows this morning when she heard you were coming, sir," was the child's reply.

WOMEN! DYE FADED THINGS NEW AGAIN

Dye or Tint Any Worn, Shabby Garment or Drapery.

Diamond Dyes

Each 15-cent package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple that any woman can dye or tint any old, worn, faded thing new, even if she has never dyed before. Choose any color at drug store.—Advertisement.

Two Forms of Insomnia.

"I say, Tom, are you ever troubled with sleeplessness?"

"I am. Some nights I don't sleep three hours," replied Tom.

"I pity you, then," remarked Bill. "I've got it awfully bad. I've been afflicted now for about two years. The doctor calls it 'neurlo insomnia paralaxitis.'"

Tom grunted, and said:

"I've had it about six months; but we call it a baby."

Cuticura Comforts Baby's Skin

When red, rough and itching, by hot baths of Cuticura Soap and touches of Cuticura Ointment. Also make use now and then of that exquisitely scented dusting powder, Cuticura Talcum. One of the indispensable Cuticura Toilet Trio.—Advertisement.

Useless Learning.

First Student—Our professor speaks seven different languages.

Second Student—Which language does he use when he is at home?

First Student—His wife doesn't give him a chance to use any of them.

The Remedy That Has Passed The Test

It has been before the public for more than fifty years—

It is a scientifically compounded prescription

It has healed thousands—

It is of special value in diseases of catarrhal nature—

Catarrh is inflammation of the mucous membranes. It manifests itself in the nose, the throat, the stomach, the bowels and other parts of the body.

PE-RU-NA

will prove helpful wherever and whenever there is catarrhal inflammation.

Sold Everywhere
Tablets or Liquid

Prominent People

Epinard May Be Better Than Papyrus

Herewith is a portrait of Pierre Wertheimer of Paris upon his arrival in New York the other day, partly on business and largely to tell Americans of his belief that his horse, Epinard, is the world's greatest three-year-old. As the result Epinard will come to America next July to take part in a series of races beginning in September. This assures the United States of seeing Europe's most talked of horse in action in a series of races next year after he has ample opportunity to become acclimated. Arriving here in July with his trainer, Eugene Leigh, and his rider, Everett Haynes—both Americans—the colt will have nearly two months of training before facing the barrier in actual racing.

M. Wertheimer stated that although no races have been arranged, Major August Belmont and his associates have given him ample assurance that such events would be announced in due time. It is not likely that these races will be matches in the accepted sense of the word. They will be open, according to present plans, to all horses of Epinard's age.

Griffis Complimented by German Judge

Here is a new portrait of Lieut. Corliss Hooven Griffis of Hamilton, O., now beginning a term in a German jail for attempting to kidnap Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the American draft-evader. Complimenting Griffis on his "noble effort" to take back "a real traitor to his country," but condemning him for wilfully violating the German laws, Judge Karzmann of Mossbach, Baden, sentenced Griffis to one year and nine months' imprisonment and a fine of 2 gold marks (50 cents). The judge did not mince words in denouncing Bergdoll as a traitor.

The others involved in the kidnaping were sentenced as follows: Eugene Victor Neilson, chauffeur, of Chicago, three months, which he already has served; Roger Sperber, one year and six months; and Prince Gagarin, a Russian, eight months. Four months was deducted from each sentence, as this already has been served, and so Neilson was ordered freed. Never did a judge sugar coat a sentence more. He explained that Bergdoll was like any other American citizen in Germany and, regardless of his being a traitor, he had the same rights as any other foreigner. Therefore the court had no recourse but to find the prisoners guilty of attempting to usurp the government power. They knew they were violating the law, and therefore the court was forced to sentence them.

Real Life Has Its Dime Novel Stories

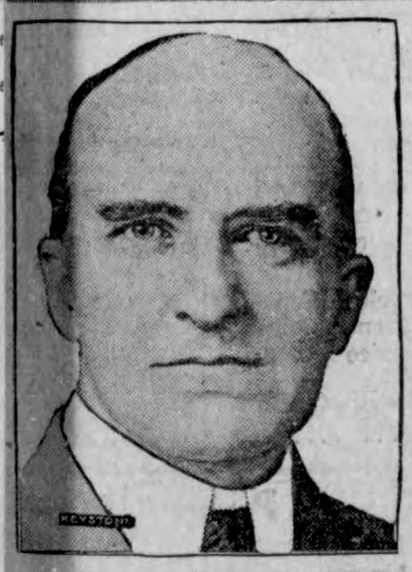
A crowd of 5,000, coming from miles around, crowded about the Soo Line station in Superior, Wis., in an attempt to see the return of Edward J. Sailstad (portrait herewith), accompanied by Dorothy Anderson, his "sunshine girl," brought from Napa, Cal., by Sheriff W. A. Hagreen. Their curiosity was natural. It's a regular old-time dime novel story in real life.

Sailstad is charged with burning a cottage at Lake Nebagamon, Wis., in August, 1920, to create the impression that he had died, so he could elope with Miss Anderson. A sensational trial was held in which his supposed widow sued eight insurance companies for $80,000 insurance on life policies held by Sailstad, and after bones of a human body burned in the cottage were produced, a compromise was effected. It later transpired that Sailstad exhumed the body of Allen McPhee, a friend, and placed it in the cottage before firing it. Mrs. Lena Sailstad, believing herself a widow, married Ross Richardson. They are now living apart and Mrs. Sailstad-Richardson is suing for a divorce from Sailstad. She has two children.

Mrs. Augusta Sailstad, Sailstad's mother, has forgiven her son and has virtually adopted Dorothy Anderson, "because Ed loves her so." The girl is threatened with consumption.

The girl was privy to all details. The couple wandered across the continent by automobile, Sailstad repairing typewriters for a living. He was an Eau Claire manufacturer and was in financial difficulties.

Volcanologist Jaggar Goes to Japan



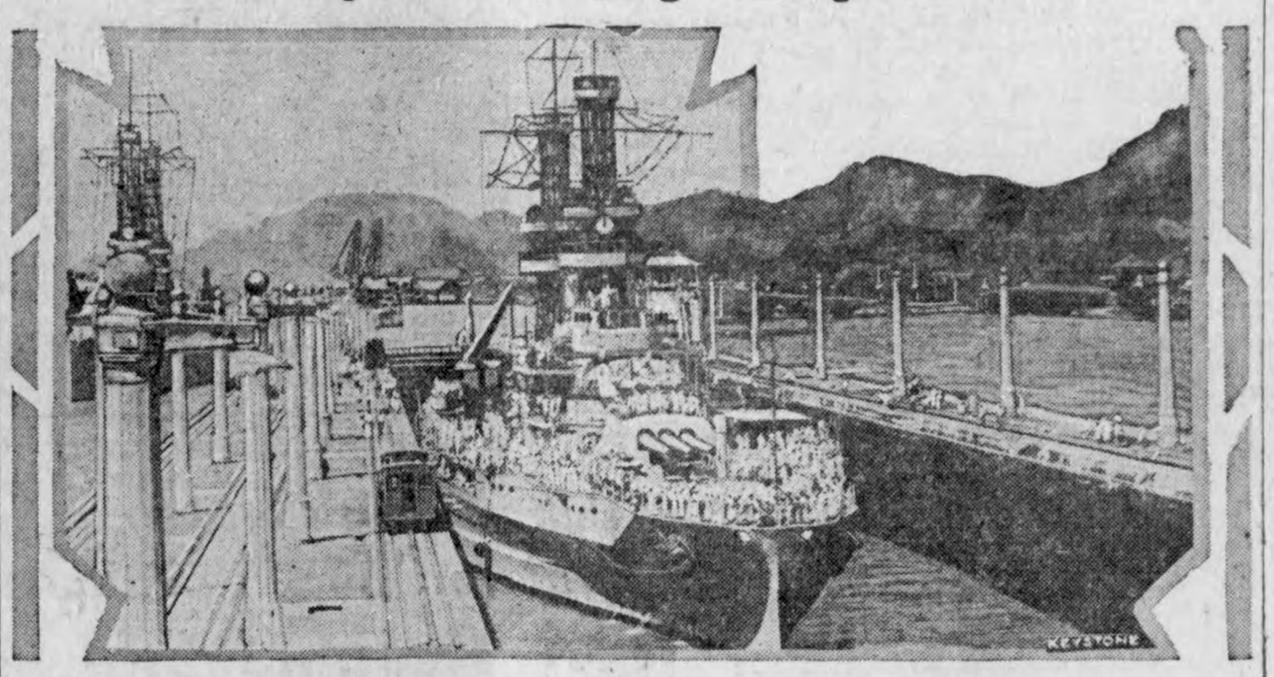
Dr. Thomas Augustus Jaggar, Jr. (portrait herewith) has been authorized to go to Japan, in response to the request of the Japanese government to co-operate with Dr. Omori, authority on volcanology and seismology, in an investigation of earthquake conditions. Dr. Jaggar is the guide, philosopher and friend who has shown to thousands of tourists the terrifying wonders of Kilauea's "House of Everlasting Fire" in Hawaii National park. Since 1911 he has been in charge of the Hawaiian Volcano observatory of the United States weather bureau. This observatory is perched on the very brink of Kilauea's enormous crater, in which molten lava eternally boils.

Dr. Jaggar was born in Philadelphia in 1871 and was educated in Harvard, Munich and Heidelberg. He is A. B., A. M., and Ph. D. He was assistant professor of geology at Harvard. He was professor of geology (1904-17) and head of the department (1904-12) of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He was assistant geologist of the United States Geological survey (1898-1904).

As a volcanologist and seismologist he is world-famous, having conducted volcano expeditions to Martinique (1902), Vesuvius (1906), Aleutian Islands (1907), Hawaii and Japan (1909), Costa Rica (1910), and Sakurajima, Japan (1914). In 1920 he visited New Zealand in the interest of the Pan-Pacific volcano observatory campaign.

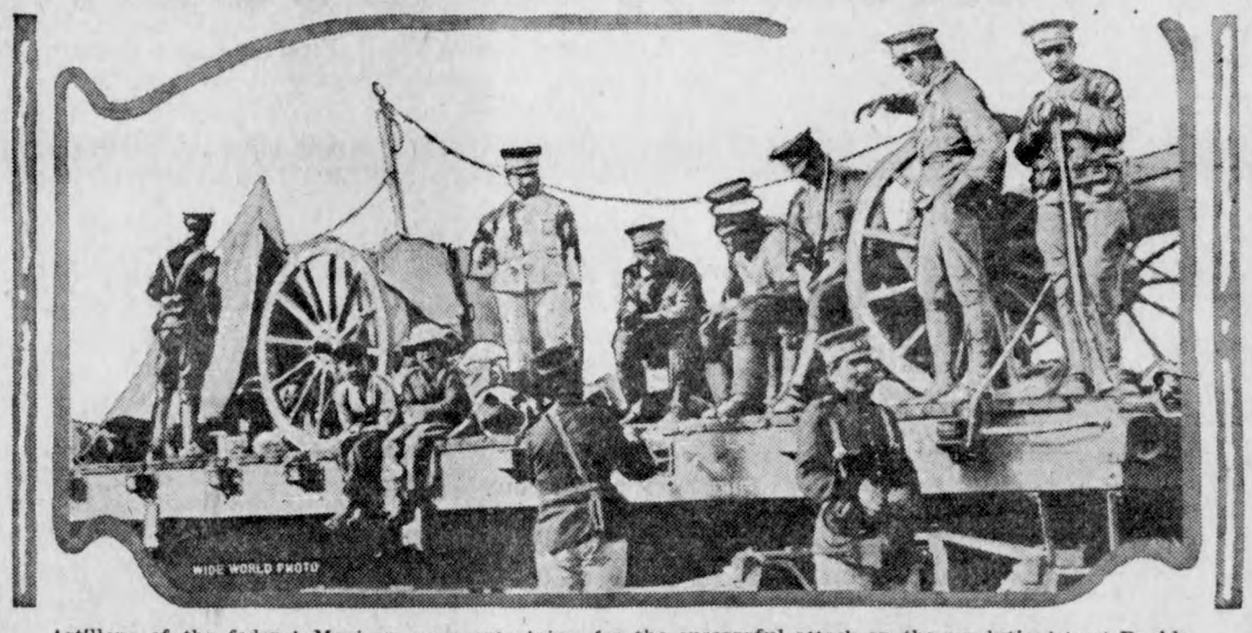
Dr. Jaggar has been a frequent contributor to scientific journals and his reports and bulletins on the Hawaiian volcanoes are important. Of the volcanoes of Hawaii National park Kilauea has been continuously active for a century, Mauna Loa erupts every decade, Kaleakala last erupted 200 years ago.

Battleship Arizona Going Through the Canal



Here is the U. S. S. Arizona, one of Uncle Sam's mighty fighting ships, in the Pedro Miguel locks, Panama canal, en route to the war games held off Panama by combined ships of Pacific and Atlantic fleets.

President Obregon's Artillery Going to Battle



Artillery of the federal Mexican army entraining for the successful attack on the revolutionists at Puebla.

"Recognized" as Czar of Russia

At a family council of the surviving Romanoffs, held in Paris, it was agreed that the Grand Duke Cyril should be recognized as the legitimate claimant to the Russian throne. The photograph shows him with the grand duchess, who is a daughter of the late duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha.

Can't Tell Martha From Clarice

Here are Martha and Clarice Sorgenfrei, nineteen-year-old twins, who are employed in the freight office of the Rock Island railroad at Blue Island, Ill. Clarice is a telephone operator and Martha is a timekeeper. There are about 35 people in the office where they have been working for some years, yet not one of them can tell which is which when away from their desks.

MISS CUPID OF KANSAS

Miss Margaret Markley of Emporia college, in Kansas, has started a date bureau that already does a thriving business. Miss Markley advertises herself as "Miss Cupid" and by means of her bureau she brings timid coeds and bashful suitors together. A nominal charge of 25 cents is made for male students, while the girls are charged 50 cents. Miss Markley says she charges the girls more because the investment is a good one with them. Any fellow who will pay a quarter to make a date, will spend at least two dollars to make it a good one.

WOMAN IS A GENERAL

Here is the Chinese woman commander, General Wong, who commands a detachment of Honan soldiers. These troops are supporters of Dr. Sun Yat Sen.

Baker's Caracas Sweet Chocolate

is a pure, delicious and healthful food. As an addition to school or business lunches or for between meal snacks it is vastly superior to most of the sweets commonly used.

Trade-mark on every package

Made only by

Walter Baker & Co. Ltd.

Established 1780

Mills at Dorchester, Mass. and Montreal, Canada

BOOKLET OF CHOICE RECIPES SENT FREE

Are You Moving to California?

We Save You 25% on Freight Household Goods—Autos

Through car service. No transfers. Shorter time in transit. Write

BLUE LINE STORAGE CO.

3rd & Elm, Des Moines, Iowa

Paper Made From Bananas.

Good paper can be made from banana refuse. The trash or refuse, consisting of the stems of banana trees from which the fruit has been cut, is run through crushing rolls, which produces a mash in which the moisture has been reduced from 90 to 55.75 per cent. A pulping machine reduces the mixture to pulp and the pulp and juice are boiled and beaten. The removal of the fibrous material from the beater completes the process, in which no chemical is used.

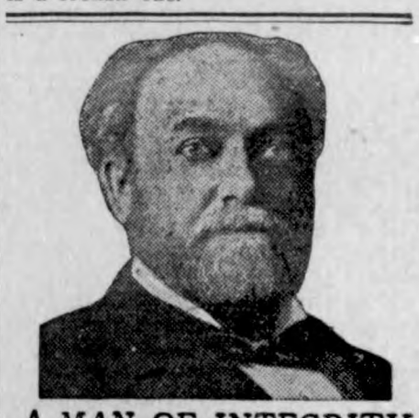
Stop the Pain.

The hurt of a burn or a cut stops when Cole's Carbolisalve is applied. It heals quickly without scars. 30c and 60c by all druggists, or send 30c to The J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill.—Advertisement.

Relief Map of Real Earth.

One of the European industrial expositions has shown a relief map that is made of real earth, stone and similar natural products. It is a representation of the West Indies, and is set in a sea of real water. France once made a map of precious gems, which was a yard square, had a sea of marble and rivers of platinum, and each of the 106 towns and cities were indicated by a gem set in gold.

We must not say that every mistake is a foolish one.



A MAN OF INTEGRITY

A physician who reaches out to benefit humanity leaves a record behind him that is worth while. Such a man was Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y. He was an eminent physician, a leading and honored citizen, known for his honesty and executive ability. His study along medical lines, and his knowledge of the remedial qualities of herbs and plants led to the discovery of his wonderful herbal remedy, Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the woman's tonic which has had the greatest number of supporters for the past fifty years. It is just the herbal tonic required if a woman is borne down by pain and sufferings at regular or irregular intervals, by nervousness or dizzy spells, headache or backache. Favorite Prescription can now be had in tablet form as well as liquid at most drug stores.

Send 10c for trial sample to Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y.

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP

Allays irritation, soothes and heals throat and lung inflammation. The constant irritation of a cough keeps the delicate mucus membrane of the throat and lungs in a congested condition, which BOSCHEE'S SYRUP gently and quickly heals. For this reason it has been a favorite household remedy for colds, coughs, bronchitis and especially for lung troubles in millions of homes all over the world for the last fifty-seven years, enabling the patient to obtain a good night's rest, free from coughing with easy expectoration in the morning. You can buy BOSCHEE'S SYRUP wherever medicines are sold.

BANKER-FARMER MEETING NOTES

A conference of bankers and farmers of the Fifth Federal Reserve District held recently at Raleigh, North Carolina, under the auspices of the American Bankers Association Agricultural Commission, adopted the following principles:

"In order to encourage and promote a safe, sane and constructive system of farm practices, the Banker and Farmer Conference of the Fifth Federal Reserve District would make the following recommendations with reference to the activities of farmers and bankers on which to concentrate efforts during the coming year:

"1. Encouragement of loans by bankers to bright and deserving young men and young women who wish to go to college to study agriculture and home economics.

"2. Promote in a rational and conservative way the economic increase in the productiveness of the soils of the district so that a larger unit of crop production may be secured. Small unit yields of necessity are expensive while moderate to large yields of crops are generally the cheapest. Larger yields per acre coupled with a reduction in the acreage, when advisable, should and usually will be more profitable and when handled properly will not lead to an over-production.

"3 Encouragement of a proper system of diversified farming in which farmers will grow as far as practical all the food and feed crops necessary for feeding the family and livestock of the farm, and to keep on the farms the requisite kinds and amounts of livestock best to meet the economic needs of farming.

"4. To formulate and put in motion definite plans for carrying ut this program it is urged that the Agricultural College of the District put a county agent in every county and that a banker-farmer conference be called to meet early in the fall at the agricultural college of each State."

NATION'S SAVINGS PLANT TRIPLED

Savings banks and banks having distinct savings departments, not counting branches, have grown in numbers in the United States from 5,376 in 1912 to 16,709 in 1922 or an increase of about 210 per cent in ten years, says the Savings Bank Division of the American Bankers Association. Savings deposits, it is pointed out, now comprise about one-half of all bank deposits of every description.

WHAT ADVERTISING DOES

America has the best life on this earth because it has the best advertised life, says Colonel W. G. Edens of the Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association. He goes on: "American health is the best in the world because American people are best informed in the ways and habits of health, largely through advertising. American business is the largest and most successful in the world because it uses advertising the most. American business men enlarge their business institutions in proportion as they advertise them. American buyers become more shrewd in spending their money in proportion as they read advertisements.

"The press of the United States is regarded by many as the most powerful of our institutions. It must be numbered with the schools and the churches as one of the trinity of most powerful creators of knowledge and patriotism.

"Advertising is what it is today largely because of the power and success of the daily paper. Nevertheless, it is true that the daily paper is as successful as it is today because of advertising.

"The banking business has been benefited largely by advertising within the last dozen or fifteen years. Banking institutions have done more advertising than ever before. They have installed advertising departments which acquaint their communities with facts formerly regarded in the light of institutional secrets. The banker publishes facts which build up confidence in his institution.

"The result has been that millions of people who formerly would not place their money in the care of bankers but who hoarded it at home, entrusted it to friends, or invested it in wildcat speculations, now regard the bank as the safest place in the world. Hundreds of millions of dollars have been brought from their hiding places and placed in circulation, much to the advance of America and American institutions, as well as American business. Newspaper advertising has done more for American banks in the last dozen years than any other single agency."

TRUST COMPANY GROWTH

Nearly fourteen and one-half billions of dollars are the total present resources of trust companies in the United States. Institutions reporting number 2,478, as compared with 2,3?? a year ago. The actual figures for the year ending June 30 last are $14,441,500,000 resources, as compared with $12,739,600,000 in 1922, representing a gain of $1,701,900,000.

Just Like Dad.

Fresh (excitedly)— "Father, I passed Shakespeare today.

Father(the poor fish) —"Did he speak?"

Poor Fresh.

Fresh— "The doctor told me that I didn't stop smoking I would be half-witted."

Soph— "Why didn't you stop?"

A Walking Experiment

Fresh— "Say Prof., how long could I live without brains?"

Prof.— "That remains to be seen."

After a man has been married six months he discovers that it only takes one to make a quarrel.

Exactly

"What's your definition of a highbrow?"

"A highbrow—er a highbrow is a person who knows everything about grammar but nothing at all about life."

The Proper Odds

Soph— "What'll we do?"

Senior— "I'll spin a coin. If it's heads we go to the movies; if it's tails, we go to the dance, and if it stands on edge we'll stduy."

Run, Abey, Or—

Teacher— "Can some give a sentence using the word pencil?"

Abey— "Chess."

Teacher —"All right, Abey, go ahead."

Abey— "If I don't wear suspenders my pents'll come down."

Dumbbell Poem

My father is a butcher,
My mother cuts the meat;
I'm the little wienie
Who runs around the stree.

Well, in That Case—

Stude— "Sir, I want permission to be away after the end of vacation.

Dean—"Ah, you want three more days of grace?"

Stude— "No sir. Three more days of Gertrude."

Charlie Scores

Madge— "So charlie is teaching you how they play baseball?"

Marjorie— "Yes, and when I asked him what a squeeze play he put one over on me.

Overdose

A sad-looking woman of m years appeard on the street pu a baby carriage, in which was a healthy infant, howling hustily friend approached.

"Why, Mrs. Lufkins!" she ej ed. "What a darling baby! Bu haven't any children. Whose

'You're wrong, my dear," re thes ad- faced one. 'This is my band. He went too far with gland cure."

THIS IS A BONIFIDE MONEY SAVING SALE WITHOUT FRILLS

COBB'S HAVE BEEN IN BUSINESS FOR YEARS. WE CAN'T AFFORD TO DECEIVE YOU.

Roy Cobb of the Cobb Housefurnishing Co. Mason City, Ia., announces a Real, Genuine, Old Fashioned

January Clearance Sale

There are several reasons for this Sale. First: we want to turn a lot of High Grade Merchandise on our floor into money. We need it to pay our account; secondly, we want to clear our salesfloors for the oncoming shipments —merchandise that has been purchased for our Spring Business. While this Sale will mean a loss to us, it is your gain. It's a real opportunity to add either a single piece or a complete outfit—to make life more ennjoyable and more attractive, AT PRICES THAT ARE SELDOM OFFERED!

SALE STARTS PROMPLY at 8:30 SATURDAY, JAN. 12

Living Rooms Suits

We can truthfully say that our stock of living room suites is as complete as it has every been to our knowledge. Two and Three Piece Suites can be had in most any covering and at any price. You could not find a better opportunity to buy that new suite.

3 PIECE TOUPE VELOUR SUITE
Regular Price $175.00.....Sale Price $129.50

3 PIECE BROWN VELOUR SUITE
Regular Price $200.00.....Sale Price $149.50

3 PIECE FIGURED MOHAIR SUITE
Regular Price $250.00.....Sale Price $149.85

For Your Bed Room

Three and four piece combination and genuine Walnut and Mahogany Bedroom Suites that are already priced to fit any pocketbook. Now you may buy for that same price a great deal better suite.

4 piece Walnut finish Suite. Bed, Dresser, Chiffonier, Dressing Table—
Regular price $157.50.....Sale Price $102.85

4 piece Combination Walnut Suite. Bed, Dresser, Chiffonier, Semi-Vanity—
Regular price $182.50.....Sale Price $118.85

4 piece Walnut Suite, an exceptionally good value. Vanity, Bed, Dresser, Chiffonier—
Regular price $316.00.....Sale Price $205.00

4 piece genuine Walnut two tone Suite. Full Vanity, Dresser, Chiffonier, and choice of 4 post or bowfoot Bed—
Regular price $342.00.....Sale Price $222.85

Everything In The Store At 20 To 50 Percent Discount

Dining Room Suits

Every lady is proud of her dining room and her first need is a nice Dining Suite. Here is an opportunity to buy that suite at a greatly reduced price. These suites are all well constructed and may be had in both plain or two tone finish. Here listed are a few real specials—

8 piece Walnut finish Dining Suite. Table, Buffet and 6 Chars—
Regular price $131.50.....Sale Price $ 91.85

8 piece Combination Walnut two tone Dining Suite. 60 in. Buffet, Table and 6 Chairs—
Regular price $157.00.....Sale Price $117.75

8 piece Combination Walnut Italian Period Suite. 60 in. Buffet, Table, 5 Side Chairs and 1 Arm Chair—
Regular price $197.00.....Sale Price $137.85

8 piece genuine Mahogany Dining Suite. 66 in. Buffet, Table, 5 Side Chairs and 1 Arm Chair—
Regular price $355.00.....Sale Price $229.85

Rugs Rugs Rugs

It will soon be time now to think about house cleaning and that new Rug. Our stock of rugs is very complete and we are offering some very good bargains in these. Any size to fit any room. A few of these specials are listed below.

Plain color border Rugs, all wool 9 x 12—
Regular price $ 46.50.....Sale Price $ 29.85

Tapestry Brussells Rugs, A wide variety of patterns 9x12—
Regular price $ 36.50.....Sale Price $ 26.95

Tapestry Brussells Rugs A wide variety of patterns 8'3x10'6
Regular price $ 35.00..... Sale Price $ 24.95

Best quality Axministers, 9x12—
Regular price $65 to $75.....Sale Price $ 49.50

Items You Want and Need at Specially Low Prices--Prices That Will Close Out These Items Quickly

20% —to— 50% EXTRA SPECIALS Davenport Tables

Regular Price	Sale Price
$21.50	$13.95
$44.00	$23.50
$48.50	$31.50
$65.00	$36.50

G—Copy.

LAMPS

35% Discount on any table, bridge or floor lamp

Regular Price	Sale Price
$20.00	$13.00
$30.00	$19.50
$40.00	$26.00

Mahogany Secretary, —A beautiful mahogany desk, one suitable to the best of homes

Regular Price	Sale Price
$65.00	$41.85

Mahogany writing desk— $29.50, Sale Price $16.95

CEDAR CHESTS
Genuine Tennessee Cedar

Regular Price	Sale Price
$18.00	$13.85
$36.50	$26.85

LIBRARY TABLES
All Oak Tables

Regular Price	Sale Price
$15.00	$9.65
$27.00	$16.35
$30.00	$16.95

DISHES

We carry all patterns of dishes in open stock, making it easy to get fill ins when ever needed. Below are a few of the extra specials—

42 piece Dinner Set—
Reg. price $18.77... Sale 12.95

42 piece Dinner Set, Floral border—
Reg. price $15.92....Sale $9.95

GLASSWARE

Star and Grape Cut Goblets and Sherberts, set of 6—
Reg. price $2.70.....Sale $1.95

Reed Davenport Suits--Just Note the Reductions

Davenport Chair and Rocker, beautifully upholstered in Velour, or Mohair—

Davenport or Dufold Chair and Rocker....Regular price $130.00....Sale Price $ 87.50

Cane end Duofold Suits .....Regular price $150.00....Sale Price $ 99.50

Cane end, loose cushion Suits, choice of toupe or blue coverings .....Regular price $158.00....Sale Price $102.75

3 piece Davenport suits covered in toupe Mohair .....Regular price $218.00....Sale Price $149.50

3 piece all overstuffed, loose cushion suits. Upholstered in toupe and blue Velours, an exceptional value .....Regular price $215.00....Sale Price $149.50

.....Regular price $250.00....Sale Price $149.50

Kitchen Cabinets

A full size porcelain top Kitchen Cabinet, Golden Oak, and fuly equipped with sugar and spice jars—
Reg. price $35.00...Sale $26.85

Porcelain Top Kitchen Tables, White enamel base—
Reg. price $10.00....Sale $6.95

SELLERS CABINETS—
.....20% Disrount

A Wonderful Assortment Of Draperies 20 to 50 Percent Discount. Congo'leum and Wilton Rugs 15 Percent Off.

Payments At Sale Prices

Cobbs House Furnishing Co.

In Business 29 Years MASON CITY, IA.

Sonora Phonographs 50 Percent Off

THE KLEMME TIMES

Twenty eighth Year—Number 19. | Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, January 17, 1924 | $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

KLEMME WINS DOUBLE-HEADER FROM CRYSTAL LAKE

KLEMME WON TWO VICTORIES LAST FRIDAY

Boys Win 16.12 and Girls 25-16 in Hard Fought Games

The Klemme teams chalked up a double win against Crystal Lake last Friday in two well played and hard fought games. Theg irls won the opener 26 to 16 and the boys wound up the festivities with a 16 to 12 decision.

Owing to the inability of the referee to appear, the coaches of the teams each refereed one half of each game.

The girls game started out like a walkaway for our girls and before the visitors, who expected an easy victory, had recovered from their over confidence, Klemme had chalked up 18 points to our visitors 5.

In the second half, Crystal Lake came back yith a vengeance, determined to wipe up the floor with Klemme, and with the aid of several very questionable fouls, were able to run their final score up to 16 points, but our girls were never headed and emerged victorious.

Neota Ridder celebrated her birth day by garnering 13 points and Koerner and Stille jointed in the celebration by adding 6 and 7 points respectively. On the other side of the court, Blank. Hake and Tanner were breaking up the most of Crystal Lake's plays, and keeping the ball out of the danger zone. Our team deserved to win as they played a hard clean game and carried the fight to the visitors all through the game.

Lineup and Summary

Klemme 26		B	FT	P	T
Ridder	F	6	1	0	0
Koerner Capt	F	3	0	0	1
Stille	F	3	0	0	2
Blank	C	0	0	0	1
Tanner	G	0	0	O	1
Hake	G	0	0	1	2
Total		12	2	1	7
Crystal Lake		B	FT	P	T
Gillstrap	F	2	1	1	0
Barrett	F	2	1	0	0
Swan	F	2	1	0	0
Dickinson	C	3	0	0	0
Cunningham	G	0	0	0	2
Cottington	G	0	0	0	0
Total		7	2	1	3

Time of periods 8 minutes.
Referee Tregilgus and Barrett.
Timekeeper— McConn.

Following the girl's example, the boys decided to stage a comeback, too and they did after a long seesaw, nerve racking struggle. The visitors expected easy pickings, as they had previously beaten us on their own floor, but with all of the first string men in thel ineup, it was an entirely different team that put the skids under Crystal Lake.

Crystal Lake drew first blood with a field goal and Gimer immediately decided to take things in his own hands and slipped in two baskets in rapid succession. Patet and Wellemeyer then joined in and each donated a basket. The first half ended 8 to 7 in the Shamrock's favor.

Crystal Lake came back strong the last half, determined to sew up the game. A. Goepal rang a basket to start things and again Crystal Lake was ahead 9 to 8. Wellemeyer and Koerner decided things had gone far enough, slipped in three baskets and Gimer added one for good measure, the score now standing at 16 to 9.

Crystal Lake then called time out and after a consultation which netted them one goal.. Elder then drew up the reserves, and this ended the scoring for the evening, with the exception of a gratis shot made by the visitors.

The Shamrocks showed vast improvement over their previous performances. They presented a stubborn five men defense which visitors had difficulty in penetratin The offense was rather slow and ragged, but will improve with practice.

Lineup and Summary

Klemme 16		B	FT	P
Gimer	RF	3	0	1
Wellemeyer	LF	3	0	0
Patet	C	1	0	0
Elder (Capt)	RG	0	0	1
Koerner	LG	1	0	0
Turgasen	RF	0	0	2
Lemke	RG	0	0	0

Substitutions— Turgasen for Gimer, Lemke for Elder, Gimer for Turgasen, Elder for Lemke.
Free Throws Missed— Patet 1.

Crystal Lake 12		B	FT	P
Bakke	RF	0	0	0
J. Nelson	LF	2	0	0
Boddum	C	1	1	0
A Goepal	RG	1	1	0
M. Nelson	LG	1	1	1

Free Throws Missed— A. Goepal 1 M. Nelson 1.
Time of Periods— Twenty Minutes
Referee Tregilgus and Fredrickson

BOYS TO PLAY SWALEDALE FRI.

A Hard Game Expected; Girls May Play

Friday night, the Shamrock's will meet the strong Swaledale team here The boys have played this team before this season and were beaten. This time however promises to be different, owing to the fact that our boys have improved a great deal and all the first string men are back in the lineup. The girls have not as yet scheduled a game for Friday night, but coach Tregilgus is trying to schedule one before Friday and no doubt will secure a girls team Be sure to see this game. It will be FAST and peppy from start to finish.

SEMESTER CLOSES THIS WEEK

Senester Exams Come Wed. P. M. andThurs. and Fri. A. M.

This week closes the semester. Exams are occuring Wednesday afternoon and Thursday and Friday mornings. Many exemptions are being made in these examiations as many students have their grades above the required average of 90 per cent.

The number that will belong to the "Read 'Em and Weep (report cards) Club will be exceeding small this semester as those who will "flunk" will be few.

We have also noticed that there is very little cramming this semester, which also shows that students have their studies better in hand than usual. We feel that the faculty has done much to bring this condition about and therefore need much credit for it.

School to Have Art Exhibit

The High School is planning an Art exhibit which will be held Thrsday and Friday evening Jan 25 and 26th. On Thursday evening there will be an entertaimnent which promises to be very good. Over 200 art pictures will be on exhibition during these two days. These pictures will be of all nationalities, size and description. Anyone that wishes to buy any of these pictures may do so by seeing the committee. The proceeds from the exhibit will be used to buy pictures for the school.

Manual Training

The manual training class will take up mechanical drawing the last semester. They are getting everything ready to begin Monday. For a time they will continue their wood working also.

Quadriangular Contest Will Probably Be Held Here

The quadriangular Declamatory contest will probably be held in Klemme, if reports now obtainable are correct. This is a contest in which the best contestants of the Ventura, Rowan, Kanawha and Klemme schools will probably compete for high honors. If the contest is held in Klemme it will be a chance for Klemme people to see somer eal Declamatory work. It will be held some time between Feb. 15 and Feb. 29. Watch for furthur announcements. The local contestants are working hard on their selections and are hoping to place at least one contestant to go to the district meet.

Domestic Scnence

The Domestic Science Girls are going to serve a "formal dinner' 'as their test.

Facts Which the Agriculture Class has Gathered

In connection with their regular lession the agriculture class has done some very intesesting research work concerning Iowa and Hancock County. The facts are very interesting as well as instructive.

It costs approximately 40c to raise a bushel of corn in Iowa; $10 to raise an acre of oats and 35 cents to raise a bushel.

The average yield of corn per acre in Hancock County is 41 bushel.

This average yield must be raised in the next five years or land values must fall and remain so.

The total corn yield in bushels for Hancock County is 4,059,000.

The average yield of oats for Hancock County is 35 bushels. This average must be raised as it, now, does not pay to raise oats in Hancock Co. The total yield of oats in Hancock County is 2,768,000 bushels.

Iowa cattle are worth more than the tobacco crop of the United States.

Our egg crop is more than).ornia figs and half as much as ·1 olives.

The hogs of Iowa exceeds in value the farm crops in anyone of twenty states.

Our egg crop is more valuab'e than all the oranges raised in the United States.

Sixty Iowa counties raise forage crops worth more than the forage crops in any western state with all their boasted alfalfa.

The average yield of corn for Ia. is 39 bushel peracre.

Total corn yield for Iowa is 3,638 689(600 bushels. The average yield for oats for Iowa is 34 bushel per acre.

The total yield of bushels of oats for Iowa is 172,696,000 bushel.

HOWARD HANSON IS CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF

Mr. Howard Hanson, of Crystal Lake was in the Times Office Tuesday and handed us his announcement for Sheriff.

Mr. Hanson seems to be a fine young man. rather quiet, and is all together a pleasing man to meet.

He was born and raised in Crystal township and is a genuine Hancock County product. He has been engaged in drainage contracting work for the past ten years, and his work has brought him in contact with a large number of people in his part of the county.

Howard Hanson answered the call of Uncle Sam in the World War, and is a member of the American Legion Post at Crystal Lake.

Mr. Hanson has never before asked for office and he will appreciate your support.

Many a bird packs his trunk, because he has lost his grip.

Know Iowa

The taxable wealth of Iowa is over Twelve Billion Dollars.

One-tenth of all the food products in the United States come from the state of Iowa.

But she does not only produce food; the factories of Iowa in 1920 had an output worth Seven Hundred and Forty-Five Million Dollars, and have over Four Hundred Million Dollars invested in plants and machinery.

Iowa's grain products for 1921 totaled 609,668,000 bushels. This amount divided by Iowa's number of square miles—55,586—gives an average of 10,750 per square mile. No other state begins to equal these figures.

The per capita wealth for Iowa is $3,539. The per capita wealth for the remainder of the United States is $1,965.

The farms of Iowa are worth more than the combined farms of the 23 states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachuetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, South Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Louisiana, Arkansas, Arizona, Utah, Nevad, New Mexico, Montna and Wyoming.

Iowa has over 200,000 farms. The average size of each is about 160 acres; and the value of these farms and the property thereon is over Eight and a Half Billion Dollars.

No point in Iowa is over twelve miles from a raliroad, and no one walks to the railroad station, as Iowa has a total of over 400,000 cars, and has more automobiles on farms than any other state in the Union.

Authority United States 1920 Census.

Why Farmer Jones Voted For Good Roads

Relation of Public Health and Smooth Highway Shown

The county was to vote on a bond issue which would criss-cross it with hard roads. At a public meeting in the county seat the arguments presented from the forum were largely directed against the issue of bonds., based on the higher taxes which would be paid and thefact that "we already have all we can pay."

The chairman was an anti-bond advocate. After a pro-bond speech, to which he listened with ill-concealed impatience, he called Farmer Jones to his feet. "You tell 'em, Brother Jones," he said. "You would be very heavily taxed, and yet you wouldn't be within a quarter of a mile of the road." Turning to a lieutenant he smiled. "He'll tell 'em too! I've heard him talk before. He's hot against extra taxes for roads."

"Friends," began Farmer Jones, "for years I have fought good roads at county expense. I was wrong. I'm here to tell you why. Last winter my little girl got sick. She was awful sick. I got the doctoron the telephone and he said he'd be right out. It took him eight hours to get to the house. He got mired in down bythe horse pond. When he got there it was too late. My little girl choked to death with diphtheria. My road tax might have cost me fifty dollars a year for a few years; and I'd have a daughter. Isaved the money....and bought a tombstone with it, and the roads are just as badas ever. I'm for the bond issue, and when the road is built, I'll build my own quarter of a mile of road so I can getto it. I've still got two children."

The bond issue waspassed.

KLEMME MAN IS CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY SUPT. OF SCHOOLS

VERNE C. GRAU, OF GARNER, IS CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

In this issue of the Times appears the announcement of Verne C. Grau, who is a candidate for the office of County Attorney of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June Primaries.

This announcement is of unusual interest to the Editor of the Times, as Verne and Ye Editor were both graduates of the 1915 Class of the Garner High School, and we are real glad to have an "old side kick" and pal come out for a public office.

Verne is a Hancock Conuty boy from the ground up. He was raised on a farm north west of Garner. His father still farms the land there. In 1915 Verne graduated with high honors in his class. Later he went to Iowa City where he also made a fine record and graduated from the Law Department of that institution last spring and was admitted to the State Bar this summer as an attorney of good standing.

Mr. Grau is a brilliant young man and we are sure that the republican voters of thec ounty will make no mistake in giving him 100 per cent support at the primaries.

It has usually been the custom to give some young attorney the position of County Attorney and Verne Grau should have your support. We stand firmly for him.

SEPARATE WARM MILK

Excessive Cooling Sends Cream Thru Skimmilk Spout

"This is the season of the year when a high percentage of the butterfat flows out the skimmilk spout, causing many farmer's cream checks the be lower than during the hot weather periods," says Prof. C. A. Iverson of the liary department at Iowa State College. "Milk should not be allowed to cool off before running it thru the separator, because when cooling takes place there is less efficient separation of the fat from the other part of the milk. The centrifugal eeparator will not do as efficient work on cold milk as it will on warm mlik.

"Care should be taken to separate milk soon after each milking. In case this is not possible, ith as been found practical to provide means of heating the whole milk to 90 degrees Fahrenheit before separating.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
A. W. Gauger, Pastor

Considering the cold weather, we had a very fine audience out last Sunday to greet Dr. Bushnell. He preached a most interesting sermon.

In the Sunday school, too, an increase over the preceding Sunday was shown. We hope for a still further increase this Sunday, in both the S. S. and in the regular service. Let us not forget that second service—the evening service. Our aim is to have a brief but helpful service.

We have ordered an ample supply of the World Service Books which no doubt is one of the best books written in recent times. A copy of this book should be in every home. The price is so nominal that this is possible. The book contains about 500 pages and sells for fifty cents. Get your copy next Sunday, it will interest you.

All services at the regular time during this week and next Sunday.

Small talk is often made up of many big words.

The moon is 240,000 miles away. The moonshine is much closer

A bargain that takes money out of youh town is a backfire

A turtle lives 300 years old but it does'nt mean anything.

L. NEESE IS CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

L. Neese, superintendent of the Klemme Schools is a candidate for the office of County Superintendent of Schools.

The County Supt. is elected by the presidents of all the school boards in the county at a convention to be held in April, if we are correct.

Mr. Neese is well qualified for the office and has had years of sucessful school work which fits him to be of real service to the county in the office he seeks. He has been superintendent of the Klemme Schools for about seven years, and under his supervision the school has made a wonderful gain in all directions.

Mr. John R. Baggs, the present County Superintendent, has been in that office for about twelve years. John has been a good superintendent but he has "had his day" and so he should be perfectly willing to step aside and let someone else "steer the ship of learning" for the county.

The school boards of the county will make no mistake in choosing Mr. Neese for Co. Supt. He is a man who is intensely interested in schools and school work. He will work for the betterment of all the schools in the county, country schools will receive his personal attention as well as the town schools. He will endeavor to make frequent personal calls in every school of the county, as well as doing other work which should come to his attention for the betterment of pupils and the schools.

As we said before Mr. Baggs has had the office a great length of time and if a change is to bemade, Mr. Neese is well qualified to continue the good work in that office.

"AMES PRINCE" PROFITABLE"

Champion Barrow Example of Good Breeding, Feeding, Fitting

"Ames Prince," the Iowa State College Chester White barrow that won the grand international championship at the last International was a profitable kind of hog to raise, according to Prof, A. E. Anderson, under whose charge the hog developed into the world's choicest porker. In figuring up the final winnings of this particular barrow, Professor Anderson finds that the animal won $640 in prize money besides netting the college $183.89, paid by Armour and Company for grand champion at the rate of 37 cents per pound after the show.

Alfalfa was the "staff of life" to Ames Prince" during the summer months on the college farm at Ames. He was housed in a small portable hog house and had access to a deep clear pool of water in the alfalfa lot. His ration consisted of corn, wheat middlings, tankage, and skim milk or buttermilk when available. The ration was always quite heavy, but it was not until the cool wheather that he was put on full feed. A mineral mixture was provided consisting of ground limestone, common salt and ground bone. Occasionally some wood ashes were provided.

Swine critics gathered at Chicago for the International pronounced "Ames Prince" to be "very near ideal. He represented what can be accomplished by good breeding and fitting.

"Viewed from a meat producing standpoint," said Professor Anderson, "Ames Prince' was difficult to fault. However his size was not all in keeping with the market demands of the present day. He was 14 months old and weighed 515 pounds when entered to show at the International."

The kaiser is saving so little that we suspect he is still sawing wood.

Proper feeds and housing conditions make for vitality. This means less disease.

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

By Charles Tenney Jackson

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company

CHAPTER XV

—18—

The Bottle Emperor Returns.

Across the mile-wide lagoon in the still hot dusk the last buccaneers of Lafitte listened to the battle in the forest river—the rattle of musketry, and then the boom of the Seraphine's carronades. And strange as it fell out, the castaways wished for the Spaniards to win. They had no hope of escape for themselves, but their hatred of Crackley's mutineers was stronger than their hereditary feud with the sea power of the Spanish king.

So the fugitives lay and listened to the distant battle for the rescue ship of Bonaparte. At times, behind the fringe of forest swamp, arose the crash of musket fire, and then the bark of the Seraphine's guns. And presently this last ceased; the ragged volleys of small arms burst irregularly, died out, renewed; became single shots blotted out by the tropic silence. The Catalan swung to his feet and tied his bloody head scarf tighter.

"I say it is the end. Murillo's men are swarming over." It seemed that a faint burst of cheering came from under the landward stars. Nez Coupe beckoned to his fellows. "The captain will want the word back at the lady's shelter tent. He will send her and the young gentleman to intercept the Spaniards' boats when they come out the pass to regain the frigate. Now, watch for the fire behind the trees—ye see the red ghost of a good ship!"

But presently the captain, himself, and Beluche, the admiral, came through the deep sand and great hummocks to this outlying point of the reef.

"You make out that the affair is done?" inquired the former. "No, there is a shot."

They waited silently. The low murmur of the gentle surf on the outer fringe of sand was all the sound upon the utter calm of the night.

"It is over," muttered Bohon. "I would have given my right hand to have seen Crackley cutlassed and flung to the sharks. And Jarvis, the fool—gibing them to the last! The wastrel had his sea fight, eh?"

The leader's dark face winced. He raised his hand as if to still this jesting about the jester of the rue Royale, the Emperor of the Bottle, who, at last, did sit in the chair they had ordained for an emperor himself.

And now, from the sea, there came a single signal gun. The frigate was invisible, standing off the shoals, but they knew a thousand enemies were there.

"Come, sirs," said the chief in quiet authority, "the longboat around the point for the English woman. They shall row to meet the Spaniards in the pass—she shall plead that she and Monsieur de Almonaster were the prisoners of the mutineers."

When he had gone from the men who hastened at his bidding, he came upon Mademoiselle Lestron on the highest point of the sand before her shelter-canvas. She was alone, and she saw his quick glance about. "Monsieur de Almonaster has gone to the beach—I sent him away," she said quietly.

"Away? Do you see that light, Mademoiselle, against the forest? It means the Spanish boat crews are returning. They have taken the Seraphine in the river's mouth. You can guess what has happened?—there is no man living who was upon her."

The Low Murmur of the Gentle Surf on the Outer Fringe of Sand Was All the Sound Upon the Utter Calm of the Night.

"The ragged man," she answered intently. "The man who sat in the emperor's cabin and kissed the bracelet I left there?"

"The bracelet?" He was surprised; he had not known of this.

"It belonged, once, to Marie Antoinette," she went on passively. "The queen gave it to a member of my family for a service before they put her to the guillotine."

"Why, then, did you not speak when we left the ship? He—he—the man would have given it to you."

"I did not think," she murmured. "He—had his lips to it." Then she was silent, looking at the empty sea, the savage land. "I inquired of Monsieur de Almonaster . . . he laughed painfully, and would not answer. I could not see the man's face that night. Nor when he jested on the quarter-deck. But always it has seemed that some laughing spirit was near me on the Seraphine—a ghost far off from me, yet ever holding me in his fancy. Is it not strange? I cannot shake this feeling off."

"It is strange," he answered. "But come—you are going now."

"Monsieur Sazarac!" she cried sharply. "Why do you not speak?"

"Of what?" he said simply, in no wonder.

"Ah, I do not know!" The stars showed the paleness of her face, her luminous eyes wide up to him. The web of silence that had been woven about her was a mesh that neither tears nor challenge had yet pierced.

"I, too, am a nameless ghost," he smiled, "the ghost of a man who might have been! Come, now! Monsieur Sazarac bids you respectfully—but firmly, to go. You will obey—Monsieur Sazarac is accustomed to being obeyed. . . . The hands of Monsieur Sazarac have been stained with the blood of those who chose not to obey. Is that enough about Monsieur Sazarac, Mademoiselle?"

He turned away to her little tent. She heard him giving instructions to the silent black steward who had been charged to her service.

The tiny light against the unseen forest shore was growing plainer. She heard a brushing in the coarse grass. Raoul de Almonaster drew out of the starlight and stopped by her with a comment. Apparently he did not notice Monsieur Sazarac at her tent seeing to her few belongings.

"He came to you, did he not?" murmured Raoul. "It is the last moment. I gave him this to speak to you, Louise."

"Why, what should he speak?" she whispered. "But then—he would not!"

The younger man misinterpreted. "He loves you, and he would not speak. Eh, well! It is my honor to keep from him—and from you. I was his first confidant—from the very first. When he was about to challenge Carr, because of you, I offered to second him at the Oaks. From the first, he spoke of you—and he had my pledge of honor. Ah, but I did not know then who the lady was—the pawn of his game at Maspero's—the lady he must retrieve from the Genaron! Monsieur Sazarac—at the parting of the paths, one on to peace, even, perhaps, to honor for a wounded name—chose this to serve you, though he knew it meant the abyss opened for him! Is not that a love, Mademoiselle, that would hold the friend of Sazarac to his honor?"

"Tell me—" she whispered swiftly, "the ragged fellow in the emperor's cabin—his jests, his love—"

"A dead man, telling neither love nor jests—" Then the young man turned hotly on her. "See, here! The boat is making ready! Well, if Sazarac has your heart, Louise, I will not go!"

"Oh, no!—no—no!" she breathed. "Monsieur—"

The figure of Monsieur Sazarac loomed against the stars before them.

"Pardon," he said smoothly. "It is the time for the longboat."

"It is damnable!" De Almonaster sprang to grasp his sleeve: "Sir, a woman's part for me! I will not go! —I will not go!"

Monsieur Sazarac looked from him to Mademoiselle Lestron intently. It was as open to them as a blown rose to the sunshine—De Almonaster would not creep away, saved by a woman's skirts among the Spaniards, and ever after see in her eyes that she was holding in memory another man who died for her.

Monsieur Sazarac smiled, rubbed his slender, bronzed hands. "Come—my children!"

"There is the boat," muttered De Almonaster sullenly. "The blacks at the oars, and Clark at the tiller. The tide is coming out—it is an easy pull. Here is my handkerchief for the truce flag on a boat-pole." He bowed quietly: "Mademoiselle Lestron is going to the Spanish captain's care."

"Sir?" said Sazarac coolly. "You—to that boat!"

A stealthy slur of steel and leather came in the silence. They saw the point of De Almonaster's rapier flash dimly and then held to the sand.

"Monsieur Sazarac, I had the idea long ago that, at some hour, you and I should fight. It was as inevitable as anything could be. It was written by these stars at the birth of each of us . . . as it was written that we each should love a woman whom it has been given us in our lives, to protect. Mademoiselle Lestron to the boat—then, draw, with me, Monsieur!"

The older man did not stir. Twice, then, in so short a time, he must decline a challenge because of her! It was very odd—he laughed slowly.

Mademoiselle had seemed dumb for the moment. Then she sprang, with a hand raised before De Almonaster's blazing eyes and impetuous arm.

"Well, then," went on Monsieur Sazarac quietly, "first, the lady for whom we must fight—to the longboat, Monsieur de Almonaster."

Her cry of terror echoed.

There came then, a slow uncertain trudging through the reef grass. The figure of a man quite close. It was stooped; and presently it staggered or stumbled, rather ridiculously, it appeared, over an empty scabbard which got between its knees.

"Jarvis!" cried De Almonaster, and sprang to him.

"Eh—Raoul?" The voice came weakly but gathered strength as if from some choked but over-mastering purpose: "Well, I came to find you!" After that he staggered back and would have fallen if De Almonaster had not eased him to the sand. Then he rubbed a bloody hand across a bloody face and drawled sleepily: "Swords out—what's the matter? I say!—what the devil?" He twisted about painfully. "I'm run through twice. I think—"

The captain had come swiftly to him. "Jarvis!" He knelt and sternly sought the other's eyes. "Monsieur de Almonaster, will you get the brandy from the tent? What is this, Jarvis? What of the Seraphine? How came you here?"

"She is coming out on the tide," said Jarvis thickly. "The dons think to save her as a prize. Four boats are towing. Name o' G—d! Jean!—I had my fight!"

"Tell me this," retorted the other coldly. He looked about. The figure of the woman was dim by the tent.

"Swords Out—What's the Matter? I Say!—What the Devil?"

She was assisting De Almonaster at the chest of bandages and scanty supplies given them by the mutineers. "Jarvis! You deserted me—but, tell me of the Seraphine!"

"I, alone, escaped. Crackley's men fought like wild savages when the end came. The last of us took overboard to the jungle when the Spaniards swarmed aboard. They beheaded Black Mike on a gun-block, and hanged Budge to the shrouds with a fire under him. They chopped old Mariano, arm by arm and leg by leg—and Crackley shot himself to keep away from them. I—was the last who fell in the river reeds. They did not find me, Jean, and when I got sense after these wounds, I crawled to the water's edge. I found a dinghy with three dead Spaniards in it, and heaved them out. Then I floated with the tide. It bore me to the reef—I knew you would be here somewhere. Curse me, it was a fight! There must have been a hundred of them and we did for half!"

De Almonaster forced the brandy to his lips. "Thank you, Monsieur," murmured the painter of the rue Royale. "This thrust through my shoulder—I would not have had it, but, after breaking a don's head, I saw a bottle roll across the deck. I must after it like a cat at the cheese, and some other king o' Spain's man put a saber to me. Eh, I dropped the cognac with cork undrawn—got around and fought again. What luck one has!"

He sighed wearily. His eyes closed. The English woman came nearer, and then at a sign from Monsieur Sazarac, she went apart from them. It would not do for the babbler to talk too much in her hearing. And so, once more, the ragged lover with the new waistcoat did not see the lady of the camellia, nor she him; for when his eyes opened there were but the stars above, and the two men's faces watching close to his.

"Come, gentlemen!" He struggled to a sitting posture between them: "I came here with an idea! A most excellent idea!"

"Jarvis," retorted the captain quietly, "you are dying."

"Eh, bien! Are you a physician, too, Monsieur Saz-a-rac, as well as a bully swordsman, a fellow of pearl-inlaid pistols; a delicate hand at the cards—and wondrous speeches on a lady's staircase?"

He sat up straighter and shook himself. "Dying? Now, see!"

He kicked out both mud-swathed legs, clapped his hands, put a thumb to his nose and wiggled his fingers at the stars. "Let me up," he drawled absently. "I am to tell you what to do. Where the devil is the boat, and our blusterers? Name o' G—d!—buccaneers snoozing in the grass, and John Jarvis in a bloody set-to!"

And despite their protests he did get to his feet unsteadily. About all they could see were his two eyes sticking out of a muck of wet tangled hair. But these seemed to smile comfortingly.

"Jarvis, and his deck o' blood," he mused. "Now, come. The Seraphine is towing out the pass. There is hardly a man on her except the wounded and the officers, for they have every arm at the sweeps in the small boats. I say—we shall retake her, gentlemen!"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Propagating Mistletoe.

Mistletoe may be established on trees by pressing the seeds when they are ripe in April gently into the bark of the tree. The seeds so placed should be covered with muslin for a time to prevent their being devoured by birds.

LEGION EXPECTS VERY BUSY YEAR

The National Rehabilitation committee of the American Legion anticipates 1924 as a most active year, according to the views of Legion officials and others interested in service work performed by the veterans' organization. The work will be under the guidance of Watson B. Miller, formerly national vice-commander of the organization, who has accepted the chairmanship of the rehabilitation committee, and who has given up his law practice during that time in order to perform this service for the World war veterans.

Anticipated work of the Legion's committee this year resolves itself into approximately six general classifications. While the so-called "Service Division" of the organization at national headquarters has been closed in accordance with the mandates of the fifth national convention, and all claims will be handled through the committee in Washington, there are certain other definite phases of the work, particularly legislative, which face the committee.

Further decentralization of the United States veterans' bureau is one of the principal Legion aims during the year. Director Hines has already announced a similar policy in regard to many of the recommendations of the organization, and further suggestions are expected in this direction. Completion of the hospital building program is another step which will be urged. A bill already introduced in congress at the instance of the Legion asks that an additional $5,000,000 be appropriated to rush these projects to completion. General liberalization of many bureau rulings, especially those affecting admission to the government hospitals will be sought.

One of the points to be urged will be the increase of dependency compensation for widows and children of deceased ex-service men, on which special legislation is expected at an early date.

Extension of hospitalization privileges to all ex-service men, without regard to origin of the diseases or disability, as resulting from or by war, said to be favored by veterans' bureau officials will, however, become the principal objective of the Legion's committee.

Big Rush to Renew Legion Membership

Membership of the American Legion shows a great quickening of interest, Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant of the organization has declared, after reviewing the rapid renewal of membership for 1924. Figures in the hands of the officials of the organization, indicate that renewals are 35 per cent greater than in any previous year, which fact is taken as a sign of a healthy condition.

Mr. Bolles has said that such an increase is due primarily to the opposition to the demands of ex-service men for adjusted compensation, which, he says, has only served to unify the veterans that their request may be heeded. He says that charges to the contrary are unfounded and only inspired by designing persons who seek to discredit the Legion because of its program.

One indication of the increased interest, according to the Legion man, is the unusual sales made by the division which handles official jewelry for the organization. In two weeks prior to Christmas, the sales of this division exceeded by more than three times, those of the previous year. Another sign taken by the national officials as a splendid forecast, is the rapid filling of the "Five Hundred Clubs" of posts which boast of more than 1,000 members. These clubs include only the first five hundred men to pay their dues, and without exception, all memberships were filled before January 1, 1924.

Kept an Eye on "Yanks"

A Communist demonstration in France, made against French World war veterans failed to disturb an American Legion color guard which headed the procession of veterans. A Franco-American patriotic celebration at Choisy-le-Roi, near Paris, was the occasion for a parade, which was headed by the Paris American Legion color guard, bearing the United States emblem. Communists started to stone those in the parade, but confined their efforts to the French section, not caring to risk the grim-faced "Yanks" in their steel helmets, who marched with fixed bayonets at the head of the procession.

Relief for Hero's Family

The widow and children of the most distinguished soldier of Wakefield, Mass., of the World war, are not public charges today, only because of timely assistance brought by Corp. Harry E. Nelson post of the American Legion. The post was named for the husband and father, who was the first Wakefield man to be awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, and who died a year ago from his war wounds. Recently it was found that his family was in need, so the post instituted a campaign of relief which brought immediate response from the townspeople.

"On-to-Paris" Club

The desire to hold the 1928 convention of the American Legion in Paris, France, will not down. A recent example of this is the "On-to-Paris" club formed in Wabash, Ind., by Legionnaires, who are depositing $1 each week until 1928. This money may be withdrawn only in case of sickness or death.

"Miss America" Declares Tanlac Wonderful Health Giving Tonic

Miss Campbell in "Miss America" crown which she has won on two occasions.
—Photo by Atlantic Foto Service.

Miss Mary Katherine Campbell, twice proclaimed "Miss America," has taken TANLAC and endorses it in a statement recently given to the women of America. In this statement, Miss America declares that Good Health is the basis of all Beauty, and advises women who would be beautiful to "first find good health."

Her complete statement as given is as follows: "I consider it a great privilege to be able to tell the thousands of women everywhere what a great tonic TANLAC is. Health is the basis of all beauty. Without good health, one is apt to be rundown, nervous, underweight, high-strung, anemic. Indigestion drives the roses from a woman's cheeks and robs her of that radiant quality of womanhood that is real beauty.

"I have taken TANLAC and I do not hesitate to say that it is a wonderful health-giving tonic. It has brought relief and good health to many women, and with good health one may have a measure of beauty that will overcome shortcomings in face and figure.

"Rosy cheeks, sparkling eyes, a well-rounded figure, a lovable disposition, go hand in hand with good health. To those searching for beauty, I would say—'First of all, Find Good Health.' The TANLAC treatment has proven itself a boon to womankind, and I recommend it."

Miss Campbell has written a booklet on Health and Beauty which may be secured by filling out the coupon below.

INTERNATIONAL PROPRIETARIES, INC.
Department.....W. N. U. ATLANTA, GA.

Gentlemen: I herewith enclose 10 cents (stamps will do), for which send me a copy of Miss Mary Katherine Campbell's Booklet on "Beauty and Health."

Name.....Street.....

Town.....State.....

Pay on Installment Plan.

The New York Nursery and Child's hospital has devised a plan for welcoming the stork on the installment plan. Prospective mothers register in advance for reservations and pay $7 or $16 per month for seven months, according to whether a ward or private room is required. At the time of baby's arrival all is paid so that the family exchequer is not overtaxed all at once.

Cuticura Soothes Itching Scalp.

On retiring gently rub spots of dandruff and itching with Cuticura Ointment. Next morning shampoo with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Make them your everyday toilet preparations and have a clear skin and soft, white hands.—Advertisement.

Knew Them All.

The little son of the house was very quiet during the first part of the dinner, and every one forgot that he was there. As dessert was being served, however, the host told a story.

When he had finished and the laughter had ceased, his little son exclaimed, delightedly:

"Now, father, tell the other one."

Eat what you like, but don't eat too much of it.

Great Strength of Penguins.

Penguins, these queer birds of the south polar regions, are among the largest and strongest of the birds. These strange creatures sometimes weigh as much as 75 or 80 pounds, and the muscles covering their breast contribute more than one-third of their entire weight. With the aid of the fore limbs or flippers, the penguin is able to leap perpendicularly out of the water to a height of three feet or more, landing upright upon a cake of ice. This feat indicates their unusual strength. They approach close to the edge of the ice before making the leap, and jump directly upward.

A Standard External Remedy

of known value—safe and effective. It's "Allcock's"—the original and genuine porous plaster.—Adv.

Couldn't Understand Them.

"The worst of these houses is that the walls are so thin you can hear everything the people next door say. There's a foreign couple next door to us, and it's almost driving my wife crazy."

"Violent, noisy people, eh?"

"Yes, but it isn't that. You see, they quarrel quite a lot, and she can't understand a word they say."

Demand BAYER

ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy—Genuine

Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Genuine Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets. Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

SICK HEADACHE

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. They restore the organs to their proper functions and Headache and the causes of it pass away.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

THEY REGULATE THE BOWELS and PREVENT CONSTIPATION

Genuine bear signature— Brent Good Small Pill; Small Dose; Small Price

Children Cry for

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, prepared for Infants and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

Practical Jokes Unsafe.

Practical jokes are not always safe. There is a tale of a naval officer who noticed that his decanter of sherry grew steadily emptier. With a view to prevent the "evaporation," he filled it up with the vilest decoction he could compound. The sherry still decreased; and at last he called up the steward. His explanation was thoroughly satisfactory. "I give the cook two wineglasses for the soup every evening," he said.

GIRLS! HAIR GROWS THICK AND BEAUTIFUL

85-Cent "Danderine" Does Wonders for Lifeless, Neglected Hair.

A gleamy mass of luxuriant hair full of gloss, luster and life shortly follows a genuine toning up of neglected scalps with dependable "Danderine."

Falling hair, itching scalp and the dandruff is corrected immediately. Thin, dry, wispy or fading hair is quickly invigorated, taking on new strength, color and youthful beauty. "Danderine" is delightful on the hair; a refreshing, stimulating tonic—not sticky or greasy! Any drug store.—Advertisement.

"Traveling Plant."

One of the most extraordinary plants known is the "traveling plant," which has a root formed of knots, by which it annually advances about an inch from the place where it was first rooted.

The Idle Word.

An idle word may be seemingly harmless in its utterance, but let it be fanned by passion, let it be fed with the fuel of misconception, of evil intention, or prejudice, and it will soon grow into a sweeping fire that will melt the chains of human friendship, that will burn to ashes many cherished hopes, and blacken more fair names than one.

WOMEN CAN DYE ANY GARMENT, DRAPERY

Dye or Tint Worn, Faded Things New for 15 Cents.

Diamond Dyes

Don't wonder whether you can dye or tint successfully, because perfect home dyeing is guaranteed with "Diamond Dyes" even if you have never dyed before. Druggists have all colors. Directions in each package.—Advertisement.

Quick to Learn.

"Latin, hey?" audibly ruminated Uncle Pennywise. "You pick up what you need in the business you go inter. The young lawyer soon masters habeas corpus and other phrases. The drug clerk gets his Latin offen the shelf bottles. The medical student assimilates it in the lecture room. They tell me there ain't any of that stuff in the regular Latin books. As fer the legislator, it don't take him no time to learn what per diem means."

Strictness of law is sometimes extreme injustice.

Get rid of constipation by internal cleanliness

Many Diseases Start from Clogged Intestines

THERE is no reason why you should suffer from constipation. Headaches, biliousness, sleepless nights, heaviness, are nature's warning that intestinal poisons are flooding your system. If allowed to continue, you may become a victim of serious organic disease.

In constipation, say intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness including the gravest diseases of life.

Laxatives Aggravate Constipation

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favor Lubrication

Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water it is harmless.

Get rid of constipation and avoid disease by adopting the habit of internal cleanliness. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

Nujol

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

For Internal Cleanliness

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

SMITH BROTHERS

S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL (orange colored box)

Famous since 1847

B. OGDEN CHISHOLM

B. Ogden Chisholm of New York, who has been appointed by President Coolidge as America's representative on the international prison commission. Mr. Chisholm has begun preparing his report, to be presented at the preliminary meeting of the international prison congress to be held in London within a few months for the purpose of preparing an agenda for the formal conference of the commission, which will be held in 1925. A veteran of twenty years' experience in modern penology, Mr. Chisholm will urge the adoption by other countries of the reformatory, the indeterminate sentence, and the elimination of the cell block.

SENATE RADICALS WIN AS DEADLOCK ENDS

Insurgents Elect Democrat I. C. C. Committee Chairman.

Washington.—With the aid of Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin and four of his followers, Senator Smith of South Carolina was elected by a majority of one vote, chairman of the powerful interstate commerce committee as the successor to Senator Cummins of Iowa, thus breaking one of the longest and most stubborn deadlocks in the history of the senate. Senator Smith's selection makes it highly improbable that any railway legislation will be passed this session.

Mr. Smith's election occurred on the thirty-second ballot. The break came when Senator LaFollette conferred with his followers and urged them to drop their support of Senator Couzens of Michigan and vote for Mr. Smith. While some of the radicals demurred at the suggestion enough of them followed Mr. LaFollette to carry out his program.

Besides Mr. LaFollette the other radicals who helped to elect Mr. Smith were Brookhart of Iowa, Johnson of Minnesota, Frazier of North Dakota and Shipstead of Minnesota.

Senator Cummins, who was recommended to be chairman of the committee by the Republican committee on committees, and who under the seniority rule was entitled to the post, was not present when the senate refused to carry out the recommendation.

Why Farmer Does Most of His Banqueting at Home

Imbler, Ore.—One hundred and fifty Union county farmers sat down to a banquet at a meeting here and the meal cost them just 16 cents each. Nearly everything on the tables was the product of the farm and the cost a plate was computed at the price the farmer was paid for the products plus the labor cost of preparing the food. During the speeches after the banquet the same menu that had just been employed was computed at Portland restaurant prices and amounted to $1.55 a plate.

Canada Is Swamped With Wheat; Expect Embargo

Winnipeg, Man.—An embargo on grain shipments to Fort William and Port Arthur by the middle of next week is a certainty, according to grain exchange students of market conditions. They argue that the 50,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat at lower lake ports, 40,000,000 bushels at Fort William and Port Arthur, and 45,000,000 in country elevators, with, it is estimated, 100,000,000 bushels still in the hands of farmers, will mean virtually paralyzing grain trade.

Thaws Settle Suit

Philadelphia.—The $650,000 damage suit against Harry K. Thaw, brought by Frederick Gump, Jr., of Kansas City for an alleged whipping in a New York hotel in 1917, was settled in the law offices of William A. Grady for less than $100,000.

Plan Lottery to Save Church.

Cologne.—Cologne's great cathedral is being neglected because of the impoverishment of the cathedral building society and inability of its members to raise sufficient funds in the Rhineland to keep the historic building in repair.

Sioux Falls Bank Suspends.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—The Sioux Falls National bank, one of the oldest banks in the state, failed to open its doors Friday. The December statement of the bank showed deposits of more than $2,500,000.

G. O. P. SHELVES BONUS FOR TAX

Caucus Orders House Committee to Report Revision by February 11.

Washington.—Secretary Mellon's recommendations for immediate downward revision of taxes won a decisive victory over the proposed bonus raid on the treasury in a caucus of Republican members of the house of representatives.

After a two-hour discussion, the party conference passed by a viva voce vote a resolution presented by Majority Leader Longworth of Ohio instructing the ways and means committee of the house to devote its time exclusively to tax revision and to report a tax bill by February 11. It then may take up the bonus or other legislation uninstructed.

The resolution as approved provides that the committee shall proceed to the consideration of bonus legislation after February 11, but contains no definite instructions with reference to the reporting of a measure.

The conference rejected a resolution put forward by the bonus supporters to commit the Republicans to the passage of both tax reduction and bonus legislation at this session of congress.

The text of the Longworth resolution, as approved, was as follows:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the Republican conference that the ways and means committee proceed to the consideration of the bill to reduce taxation, to the exclusion of all other general legislative propositions, and shall report the same to the house on or before February 11, 1924, and thereafter shall proceed to the consideration of legislation granting adequate compensation to veterans of the World war."

The victory of the administration forces by such a large majority was surprising to the bonus champions and in some quarters it was freely predicted that the caucus action signals the doom of bonus legislation at this session. It was declared by administration leaders that the action conclusively shows the effect that the response from the country to the suggestion of tax reduction and relief from war burdens has made upon congress.

Harvard "Moderate Wets" Victorious in Referendum

Cambridge, Mass.—The "moderate wets" at Harvard claimed a victory on the face of returns from a referendum held by the Harvard Crimson to ascertain the views of faculty and undergraduates on the prohibition question. There were 1,700 "wets" as against 1,000 bone dry prohibitionists. The graduate school of medicine was the "wettest" department of the university, Harvard college, the law school and the faculty following in order.

House Body Approves 2 Per Cent Limit on Immigration

Washington.—Restriction of immigration to this country on a basis of 2 per cent of the foreign citizens of each country here in 1890, with annual minimum quota of 200 for each nation, was voted by the house immigration committee in drafting a new bill. The provision in the Johnson bill providing for admission also of 2 per cent of the blood relatives of citizens now here was stricken out.

Ford's Daily Income Is Nearly Half Million

New York.—Wall street, which learned that Henry Ford's wealth, represented by the market value of the Ford Motor company, is close to $840,000,000, calculated that the Fords, Henry and Edsel, are accumulating wealth at the rate of $400,000 or $450,000 a day, or in round numbers $100,000,000 a year.

Women Ask World Debt Settlements for Peace

Washington.—The executive board of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom adopted a resolution urging President Coolidge to call "a conference of the debtor and creditor nations to make definite settlement of reparations, interallied debts and disarmament, to achieve a new peace."

Danish King Rescues Queen in Plunge Through Ice

London.—Queen Alexandria of Denmark had a ducking in the icy waters of The Sound between Sweden and Seeland, according to the Copenhagen correspondent of the Daily Mail. The queen fell through the ice up to her Charges Wheat Corner in France.

Paris.—Minister of Agriculture Cheron charged an illegal conspiracy to corner the wheat market and defraud the public. The announcement followed the failure of prices to drop when customs duties were reduced.

Coolidges Hosts to 2,000.

Washington.—The second big reception of the White House social season was held Thursday night. President and Mrs. Coolidge received about 2,000 guests in honor of the members of the Supreme court.

Now make "buckwheats" as fine as Aunt Jemima Pancakes—and as easily

AUNT JEMIMA PREPARED BUCKWHEAT FLOUR

—and water; that's all

Try it!

In the yellow Aunt Jemima package

Yeast Foam assures a well-risen dough

Home baking is the first step in home making because the girl who knows how to make good bread is equipped to do most other cooking well.

Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"

Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 North Ashland Ave.
Chicago, Ill.

Almost, but Not Quite.

A fond father discovered his young hopeful reading a dime novel.

"Unhand me, villain," the detected boy cried, "or there will be bloodshed."

"No," said the father grimly, tightening the hold on the boy's collar, "not bloodshed, woodshed."

MOTHER! GIVE SICK BABY "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Harmless Laxative to Clean Liver and Bowels of Baby or Child.

Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels acting without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits! Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.—Advertisement.

Round World in 408 Hours.

Round the world in 408 hours, at a cost of $3,400, will soon be possible by connecting up different aerial routes. The usual time for the globe-circling trip by land and water under existing conditions is reckoned at 60 days.

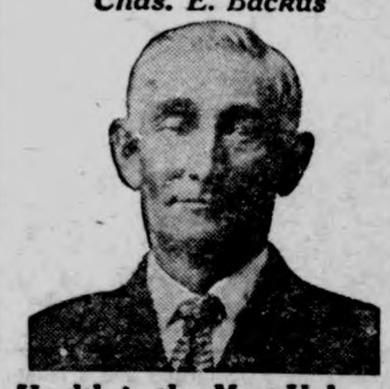
A Standard for 90 Years.

As a laxative and blood purifier there is nothing better than Brandreth Pills. In use throughout the world.—Adv.

Abstinence from anything desired may not be enjoyable, but it is sometimes gratifying.

Trying to please people can go to a foolish extreme.

Chas. E. Backus



Health is the Most Valuable Asset You Have

Newago, Mich.—"Some years ago I was troubled with dizziness, palpitation, loss of appetite and sore and painful stomach. I tried the best physicians I could hear of, and also several put-up medicines, but nothing did me any good. Some physicians said it was my heart; some said it was my stomach; while others said it was my nerves. I got so bad I could not work very steadily, when a friend came to see me and insisted upon my trying Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I was discouraged, but tried it anyway, and after taking the second bottle I felt much better. I then bought six bottles and I believe the 'Discovery' saved my life. It was rightfully named 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I would recommend it to all who need such a medicine.—Chas. E. Backus.

All druggists, tablets or liquid; or send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial pkg.

He Wouldn't Make It.

An irritable old sportsman was aroused from his bed at three o'clock in the morning by the insistent ringing of his doorbell. On answering he found Rastus standing at the door.

"What do you mean by waking me up at this hour?"

"Ish yoh Mr. Smithers?"

"Yes, yes. What of it?"

"Ish you the gent what advertised for a partner to go lion huntin' in Afr'ca?"

"Yes, I'm the gentleman. What do you want to know about it?"

"Nothin', ceptin' I just wanted to tell you that on no condishuns whatsoever will I go with you."—North Carolina Boll Weevil.

Cole's Carbolisalve Quickly Relieves and heals burning, itching and torturing skin diseases. It instantly stops the pain of burns. Heals without scars. 30c and 60c. Ask your druggist, or send 30c to The J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill., for a package.—Advertisement.

Reliable.

"What is the surest cure for love at first sight?"

"Second sight."

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

115-pound box Herring, $4.35. Smoked Fish, 10-lb box, $1.00. Send for complete price list.
CONSUMERS FISH CO., Green Bay, Wis.

Are You Moving to California?

We Save You 25% on Freight Household Goods—Autos

Through car service. No transfers. Shorter time in transit. Write

BLUE LINE STORAGE CO.

3rd & Elm, Des Moines, Iowa

PEPPY NORTHERN BABY CHICKS Lowest prices to those who order ahead. Write today for circular. CHICKEN LITTLE HATCHERY, LINCOLN, NEBRASKA.

PATENTS Send model or drawing for examination. Highest references. Best results. Promptness assured. Watson E. Coleman, Booklet FREE. Patent Lawyer, 644 G St., Washington, D. C.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c, and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

KEEP EYES WELL! Dr. Thompson's Eye Water will strengthen them. At druggists or 1157 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

HOW THE NATION IS PROTECTED FROM SERIOUS DISASTER

City Without a Reserve Water Supply Against Destruction by Fire Likened by Bankers' Committee to Business Situation Without Federal Reserve System.

A vital element in everybody's prosperity is that mysterious sounding "something or other" called bank reserve, says the Committee on Public Education of the American Bankers Association, adding: "It isn't an easy matter to make simple and interesting, but its importance to every man, woman and child in the country makes the effort worth while." The Committee continues:

Money on deposit must always be ready for depositors when they desire it. Banks must also be ready to loan money, when needed, to their customers, or business would be hampered. In other words, prosperity depends largely on the ability of the banks to meet these demands—that is, depends on the "bank reserves." The problem of handling reserves has been difficult. The Federal Reserve System has met the problem more satisfactorily than any other method ever tried in this country.

The Great Solution

Our banks are managed by officers and directors elected by their own stockholders. They are interested in helping the town to grow and prosper. But just as a local telephone station is valuable to the interchange of thought because it belongs to a system whose wires reach to all parts of the nation, so the local bank is valuable to the interchange of business because of its connections with other banks in the United States, finding its strength and its usefulness in being part of a system.

For many years a plan was sought whereby our thousands of separate and independent banks could get together and cooperate for the improvement of our banking methods, and for mutual protection in emergencies, both for themselves and customers. We had periodical money panics, dangerously disturbing to business, and chargeable, in large part, to defects in our banking and currency system.

There was no central bank from which the individual banks could get assistance in time of trouble. Panic conditions caused weak banks to fail, and even strong and sound institutions to be imperilled. Bankers, business men, and leaders in Congress for years made a careful study of banking and finally Congress passed a law providing for the establishment of twelve great Federal Reserve Banks, each designed to serve as a sort of central bank for such banks in its allotted territory as might become members of the Federal Reserve System.

It retained the American plan of independent banks doing business under the management of their own directors and officers. About 10,000 banks have become members of the Federal Reserve System. The member banks in each district own the entire stock of the Federal Reserve bank there, and elect two-thirds of the directors. The other directors are appointed by the Federal Reserve Board at Washington, the Governmental body having supervision over the Reserve banks, though it does not operate them. Its members are appointed by the President of the United States.

The Federal Reserve banks hold member banks' reserves. Formerly each bank carried in its own vault the cash required by law as a legal reserve so that it would be ready to pay depositors on demand. The gold supply of the country was thus scattered among thousands of independent banks.

When Fire Rages

This situation may be likened to the old-time water supply in a town. Each house had to depend on its individual well, tank, or cistern. Picture such a town attacked by fire. If the water was low in one well, from drought, or excessive use, water would have to be borrowed from a neighboring well. Suppose the water in that well also was at a low level. Thus the safety of all was sacrificed because no RESERVE water supply was at hand. The fire would become a conflagration.

Under the Federal Reserve System, we have a series of modern reservoirs, located in various parts of the country, each serving the needs of the banks in its own district. In each of these reservoirs credit is stored up to be supplied to the various banks, as the need arises. Each reservoir is in turn connected with all the others so that when the supply in one becomes low, the others may be temporarily drawn upon. By gathering the gold reserves of the member banks into the twelve Federal Reserve banks, a result has been obtained like that yielded by the construction of a great city water supply.

Each member bank formerly had to depend almost entirely upon its own resources in making loans to its customers. When it had loaned all of its own money, it could do no more, even though the merchant, manufacturer, or farmer customer had great need of more credit, and was seeking it for highly important and necessary purposes. Hence arose what was called a "tight money" situation. Now the member bank can, and frequently does take the notes of its customers to the Federal Reserve bank, and borrows there in much the same way as the customer borrows from the member bank.

This reserve-storing and loaning work of the Reserve System is only part of the wonderful protection and service it is rendering the nation.

GETTING THE IDEA

Closer fellowship between bankers and farmers was urged and a resolution adopted affirming faith in the efficacy of the co-operative marketing idea at a meeting of the American Bankers Association Agricultural Commission. —News Item.

SAVINGS MORE THAN DOUBLE IN DECADE

New York.—Reported savings deposits in banks and trust companies of the United States have more than doubled in amount during the past decade, and the number of accounts have increased by about 141 per cent, figures compiled by the Savings Bank Division, American Bankers Association, show.

"If distributed equally among our entire population, the savings deposits in 1913 would have given $89 to each adult and child in the country," the Division's report says, "but in 1922 the portion of each would have been no less than $155."

The officially reported savings deposits are as follows:

	Deposits	Accounts
1912	$3,425,275,000	12,584,316
1922	17,331,479,000	30,323,320
Increase ..	105.7%	140.9%

"This remarkable growth is attributable to improvement in the services of the banks for savers and to the more consistent canvass for accounts through advertising and soliciting," the report says.

COW NEEDS WATER

Four Pounds Water Required for Every Pound Milk.

Pump handles and milk have long furnished plenty of good material for jesting, but now it seems milk and water should not be so widely divorced after. The thing to remember, tho, is that the water should play its part with the cow before she produces and not after the milk is in the pail!

"Cows require four pounds of water for every pound of milk they produce," says Prof Earl Weaver, head of the diary husbandry department at Iowa State College, "and when the amount of water is limited you can expect a decrease in them ilk flow.

"Water should have the chill taken off for diary cows. A temperature around 55 degrees is considered alright. Cows should not be turned out to exposed tanks when the water is ocvered with ice. It is not considered good diary herd management. In the first place, a cow will not drink her fill when the water is cold. Secondly, the cold winter air and blizzards chill cows until they will not stay at a tank long enough to drink. Thirdly, when the cows do drink, a certain and definite quanity of feed is required fo rno other purpose than to warm up the cold water taken into the stomach. This feed would normally go to the production of milk if warmer water had been drunk.

"A water tank for dairy cows should be in a well protected corner where winds will not hinder the economical production of milk. Tank heaters are to the diary cow what our furnaces in our homes are to us.'

Annual Meeting

Notice is hereby given to the share holders of the Klemme Co-Operative Creamery Co. that the Tenth Annual Meeting will be held at the Idle Hour on Saturday, Jan. 19, 1924, at 1:00 P. M. President, Secretary and Directors will be elected. Secretary and Treasurer will render a true account for the year's business of 1923 —Valentine Josten, Sec'y.

No. 6659 Reserve District No. 7
Report of the Condition of

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

At Klemme, in the state of Iowa
At the close of business on
Dec. 31, 1923.

RESOURCES

Loans and discounts...	317,769.13
Overdrafts, unsecured..	837.54
U. S. Government securities owned, deposited to secure circulation.	25,000.00
All other U. S. Gov. securities (including premiums, if any.....	1,200.00
Other bonds, stocks, securities, etc.....	6,725.50
Banking house, furniture and fixtures	10.700.00
Real estate owned other than banking house..	13,069.87
Lawful reserve with Federal Reserve Bank..	22,975.84
Cash in vault and amount due from national banks	100,028.12
Checks on other banks in the same city as reporting bank	1,100.86
Checks and drafts (including Federal Reserve Bank) located outside of city or town of reporting bank....	289.37
Miscellaneous cash items	134,92
Redemption fund with U. S. Treasurer and due from U. S. Treasurer	1,250.00
Other assets, if any....	46.39
TOTAL	501,127.54

LIABILITIES

Capital stock paid in..	$ 25,000.00
Surplus fund	15,000.00
Undivided profits.....
.... 15,308.93
Less current expenses, interest, and taxes paid.
.....12,100.44	3,208.49
Circulating notes outstanding.....	22,795.00
Demand deposits subject to Reserve.
Individual deposits subject to check.....	93,780.08
Certificates of deposit due in less than 30 days .....t....	63,500.00
Time Deposits subject to Reserve.
Certificates of deposit..	277,843.97
TOTAL	501,127.54

State of Iowa
County of Hancock, ss.

I, F. A. Arnold, Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

F. A. ARNOLD, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 7 day of Jan., 1924.

J. F. W. Vrba, Notary Public.

(SEAL)

Correct—Attest:

JNO. N. DAY
E. J. ARNOLD
FRED GREIMANN, Director.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

The Camp Fire Girls held their meeting at the home of Leona Lau, January 10th. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess.

Honor beads were awarded to Elvira Stille, Maurine Hake and Mildred Smith.

The Camp Fire Girls are working for membership rank. Each girl is supposed to get a new member.

Blanche Hulse was absent from the last meeting.

Leona Poort joined the Camp Fire Girls the 10th of January.

The next meeting will be at the home of Neota Ridder the 24th of January.

AVERY TOWNSHIP

Mrs. Fred Bachman had the misfortune to dislocate her knee one day last week while trying to put a window in the hen house. At this writing she is a little better.

Willie Dewitt came Saturday for a few days visit at the home of H. T. and D. A. Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carpenter are the parents of a baby girl, born to them one day last week.

Ally White and son, Albert, Wert Loger, Jeff, Russell and Kenneth Bell and U. G. Smid helped Albert Johnson drive hogs to town last Saturday morning.

The school of Avery No. 2 was closed Thursday on account of the snow.

Mrs. John Bachman and children were callers at the Fred Bachman home last Thursday.

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Kahrs' Drug Store Phone 4009

Klemme, Iowa

NOTICE TO PAY UP

All those who have not settled up their last year's account with us before January 1st, 1924, will please call and make an immediate settlement.

By Order of the Board of Directors.

THE KLEMME CO-OPERATIVE GRAIN COMPANY

IT'S A WELL KNOWN FACT THAT WHEN COBB'S PUT ON A SALE, IT'S A REAL MONEY SAVING EVENT. Our present

January Clearance Sale

—Is no exception, in fact on many lines we have slashed the prices until they're down to wholesale and in some cases below——when you can purchase on that basis, don't you think it's time to buy? We are reservnig nothing in this big stock——it's tme to clean house and the folks of Northren Iowa are helping us to do itin abig way. However we are going to renew our efforts and starting Saturday there'll be some prices that will make the most skeptical sit up and take notice—so plan to be present——if you can't come Saturday be on hand early next week.

—Remember—

Entire Stock 20 to 40 per cent discount

(15 per cent on Wilton and Congoleum rugs)

FURNITURE & HOME FURNISHING PRICES HAVE BEEN SLASHED—LE NOTHING KEEP YOU FROM INVESTIGATING

Cobbs House Furnishing Co.

E. State Street. MASON CITY, IOWA

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Looking Ahead

LAST Spring a total of 350,000 people were disappointed in not being able to obtain deliveries of Ford Cars and Trucks, as orders were placed faster than cars could be produced.

The demand for Ford Cars and Trucks this Spring will, according to all indications, be far greater than last Spring.

Winter buying has been increasing at a greater rate than ever before.

Actual retail deliveries the past 60 days totaled 308,170 Ford Cars and Trucks, an increase of 1,961 a day over a year ago.

Over 200,000 people have already ordered Ford products on our purchase plan, the majority of whom will take delivery in the Spring.

The above facts are given with the suggestion that you list your order promptly with a Ford dealer if you contemplate the purchase of a Ford Car or Truck for use this Spring or Summer and wish to avoid delay in delivery.

Ford Motor Company
Detroit, Michigan

You need not pay cash for your car. You can arrange to make a small deposit down, taking care of the balance in easy payments. Or, you can buy on the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan. This puts you on the preferred order list and insures delivery of your car at a time to be determined by yourself.

GREIMANN MOTOR CO.

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Office opposite from Hotel Klemme

Phone No. 19

Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

Dairy Cow Sale

At Klemme, Iowa

34 Holstein Cows & Heifers 34

AT BREDBENNER'S BARN—1:30 P. M.

Monday, December 21

This offering consists of fresh cows with calves at side; also a few close springers.

They are all T. B. tested and sold on a re-test.

This herd of cows is from J. Stone & Sons Holstein Farms, of Rice Lake, Northern Wisconsin, and are as good as they can grow.

They are all gentle and kind.

This is your chance to get a good family or dairy cow for fall or winter use.

These cows and heifers range in age from 2 to 6 years, and are high grade Holstein dairy cows, good size and well marked.

The owners will pay you a good day's wages to attend this sale if you do not see a real herd of milk coys.

They are not fixed up to sell but are bred to produce.

Don't forget the time and place, and come and see the first real herd of Holstein cows evre sold in Klemme.

TERMS—Six months time on approved notes at 8 %.

SALE WILL BE HELD RAIN OR SHINE

J. Stone & Son

Owners and Breeders of Dairy Cows

O. C. Shroer & B. A. Reemstma, —Auctioneers

First National Bank, Klemme —Clerks

SHORT TALKS

—By—

Uncle John

"This here electric light business seems to me to be the simplest thing I ever came across," said the old man. All you got to do is to turn on the switch, and there's your light, and then all the company does, is to send a bill yhich you pay, and so everybody's happy; you got your light and the company's got the pay for it." Nothing to it, the simpliest business I ever heard of." "Must be great to be in a business like that."

"It's simple all right, as the old gent said, at least to the getter of the light, but more or less complicated for the boys working up and delivering the electric current for that light, so just to get the thing straight, I thought I would "snoop" around a bit and find out just what the boys working for the company did, and then tell you folks about it, so now I want to put the old gent right, as I found a lot to tell, so watch for my short talks, and get the real inside of this electric light business." adv

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

Political Announcements

COUNTY RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election to the office of Recorder of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Clarissa Abel. (J-3)

COUNTY SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Supervisor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—Thos. Berhow. (J-3)

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary —John Suurballe. (J-10)

COUNTY SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican Primary to be held in June, 1924.—H. C. Meyer. (J-10)

COUNTY SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to a decision of the republican voters at the primary election in June, 1924. I solicit your support on a platform of strict economy. fair and impartial treatment.—Wallace Darrah. (J10)

COUNTY AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of County Auditor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters of the June, 1924 Primary.—J. D. Madison. (J-10)

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Verne C. Grau. J-17)

COUNTY SHERIFF

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county. subject to the will of the voters at the republican primaries to be held in June 1924.—Howard Hanson, Crystal Lake.

COUNTY CLERK

I hereby anncunce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—J. C. Hanson, Garner, Ia. (J-17)

IS FIRST CANDIDATE OUT FOR CLERK'S OFFICE

J. C. Hanson, better known as Chris Hanson, of Garner, has his announcement in this issue of the Times for Clerk of the District Court of this county. Chris was born on a farm near Britt and later learned the lumber business at that town. He has, until recently, been manager of the Woodford Wheeler Lumber Co. at Garner. He is a good business man, a fine fellow and would be well qualified for the office he seeks. This is the first time Mr. Hanson has asked for a public office. Personally we think Chris would make a good clerk.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

November 26, 1924.

Regular meeting of the town council, of Klemme, Iowa, held in Mayor Gruetzmacher's place of business.

All members of the council present except Wm. Smith.

Motion made and seconded that the following bills be allowed:

Edd Jacobs, Refund on Water Rent	$1.88
Western Stamp & Stencil Co., License Tags	$2.20
Henry Freie, Labor Grading Streets	$2.00
Geo. M. Bechtel Co., Coupons 45, 58, 59 and 60	$60.00
First Nation Bank, interest on Sewer Bonds	$420.00
Standard Oil Company, 30 Gallons Gas	$3.75
Thomas C. Hake, Salary for November	$75.00

Bills allowed.

Motion made and seconded that the council adjourn.

F. Gruetzmacher, Mayor.

A. J. Kudje, Clerk.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Leo Paulson and wife to Chris Christopherson, W. D., 1-2-24, lot 3, blk. 13, Crystal Lake $680

Jos. Hejlik to Wm. F. Hejlik, Q C D, 12-10-23, S SE & S N SE 22-93-24 ..... $1

THE COMMON ENEMY

News of Goodell And Vicinty

This cold weather is fine for the Radio Fans.

Miss Eliza Cashman has been sick with the Grippe the past week.

Dr. Steele, of Belmond, was a professional caller in this vicinity.

Mr. Fred Grosz, of Brock, Canada, came Monday to visit relatives here.

Miss Mardel Kenseth, of Belmond, spent the week end with her parents.

Mrs. Gus Wenzel, of Belmond, came Friday for a visit with home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Busick are the parents of a little son born to them Wednesday.

Jim Parker, of Saskatoon, Canada, is visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. Tom Cashman and family.

Mrs. S. S. Matson, yho has been quite ill, is much improved, which her many friends are glad to hear.

The show which was put on the past week was yell patronized and a great many are now being effected with electricity.

Julius Ahrenkeil, who was quite seriously hurt a week ago by falling on the icy side walk, is able to be up again and attend to his store duties.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carpenter are rejoicing over the arrival of a little daughter at their home. Alf has a big smile on his face and steps real high at being called grandpa.

The Girl's Sewing Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Conklin, was held at the home of Mildred Reamer, on Saturday afternoon. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. W. L. Wesenberg and Miss Griggs were hostesses, at the former's home, to eighteen ladies Friday afternoon, at a Nutrition Demonstration. Lunch, which illustrated the 2nd and 3rd lessons of the Nutrition course which is being taken by the ladies of Twin Lake and Avery twp. through the Extension Department, was served. Mrs. Wesenberg illustrated the lesson yith cereal, and Miss Griggs illustrated the lesson on milk. The 5th lesson of the Nutrition Course taken by Avery and the Twin Lake ladies was gvien by the regular demonstrator, Miss Taylor, of Ames, Tuesday at the home of W. L. Thada. About 30 ladies were present, and completed the course. All voted it a valuable help and is worthy of further study.

Dr. D. P. Anderson is down at Des Moines, gazing at the high buildings and also taking in the State Meeting of Veterinarians. He will also go over to Ames to see what the Vets are doing at theshort course.

Emil W. Lau's 4th Annual

Bred Sow Sale

My 4th Annual Sale of Pure Bred Duroc Jersey Bred Sows and Gilts will be held at my farm 1-2 mile west and 1 mile south of Klemme (on the WilsonHighway) on—

Tuesday, January 29th

SALE BEGINS AT 1:00 P. M. FREE, HOT DINNER AT 11:30 O'CLOCK.

40 Bred Sows & Gilts

I will sell 40 sows, fall and spring gilts, all from among the most popular and worthy families of the breed by sires such as Pathmaster, Smooth Sensation, Great Orion Sensation Again, Sensation King and Pathmaster Pat. These sows are bred to STILTS JR., by STILTS and out of an O. C. K. dam; and to GREAT ORION SENSATION AGAIN by GREAT ORION SENSATION and out of a MAMMOTH SENSATION dam. This is an offering worthy of your attention and one that is made up of individuals that should do well in any herd. Write for catalog.

My herd of Durocs is CHOLERA IMMUNE. This is a fine bunch of sows.

10 HEAD OF SHORTHORN CATTLE 10

I am also offering ten head of fine Shorthorn Cattle—State Accredited Herd, T. B. tested and free of tuberculosis. Here's your chance to buy some fine cows and heifers.

5 Head Pure Bred Registered Shorthorn Milk Cows—fresh in February and March.

2 Head Pure Bred Registered Shorthorn Heifers—one fresh by sale, other fresh in Feb.

1 Red Shorthorn Bull—4 months old, eligible to register.

2 Roan Shorthorn Bulls—out of registered sire and dam, past yearling. These are fine bulls, but have never hadthem registered.

TERMS—Cash, or a credit of 8 month's time will be given on approved notes at 8 per cent interest from dateof sale. Parties from a distance should bring bank reference.

EMIL W. LAU

KLEMME, IOWA

L. A. Matern, Auctioneer. State Savings Bank, Klemme, Clerk.

STATEMENT OF CONDITION OF

STATE SAVINGS BANK

organized under the laws of Iowa, located at Klemme, in the County of Hancock, at the close of business on the 31st day of December, A. D. 1923.

RESOURCES
Loans and discounts. Bonds and Securities		498,898.68
Overdrafts		1,413.74
Stock Agricultural Organizations		500.00
Banking House	200.00
Furniture and Fixtures	750.00	950.00
Other real estate owned		21,797.69
Due from banks and bankers, cash and cash items		49,663.57
Total Resources		573,223.68
LIABILITIES
Capital Stock	30,000.00
Surplus fund	10,000.00	40,000.00
Undivided profits (after deducting expenses	3,594.08	3,594.08
Individual Deposits subject to check	99,897.34
Time certificates of deposit	343,119.55	443,016.89
Bills Payable other than with Federal Reserve Bank	30,000.00
Rediscounts	56,612.71	86,612.71
Total Liabilities		573,223.68

STATE OF IOWA

Hancock County—ss.

We, P. M. Griesemer, President; D. D. Ross, Vice President, and F. J. Wenck, Cashier of the bank above named, do solemnly swear that the foregoing statement is full, true and correct, to the best of our knowledge and belief, that the assets therein set forth are bona fide property of said bank in its corporate capacity, and that no part of the same has been loaned or advanced to said bank for the purpose of being exhibited as a portion of its assets.

P. M. Griesemer, President.

D. D. Ross, Vice President.

F. J. Wenck, Cashier.

(SEAL)

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence by P. M. Griesemer, D. D. Ross and F. J. Wenck this 8 day of January, 1924.

ATTESTED BY—

A. E. KATTER

WM. KATTER, Directors.

CATHERINE A. WENCK

Notary in and for Hancock County

(SEAL)

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

Good milch cows are being sold at a premium. At the recent farm sale of A. N. Morse, near Rippey, two tested cows, a Holstein and a Swiss sold for $125 and $120 respectively.

There have been more hunting licenses issued in the last six months in Marshall county than in any like period on record. It is estimated that the number will be in excess of 2,200.

A corps of speakers have been engaged for the farmers' and home makers' short course at Ames, January 28th to February 2nd. It is the plan of the committee to give the farm people just what they want at the course.

The state of Iowa owns as a part of its state park system, some five hundred acres of lotus beds which are said to contain the most beautiful specimens of this "queen of the water lily family" to be found in the United States.

Delivering one of the most sensational speeches ever heard from the bench at Sioux City Police Judge Carlos W. Goltz, flayed authorities of the law who arrest poor men for minor offenses and permit big men to "get away with murder."

The trapping season as applying to coon, skunk and civet cat, closes Jan. 31st, under the laws governing hunting and trapping, as amended at the last session of the general assembly, which puts these fur-bearing animals on the protected list.

With the completion of a new school building at a cost of approximately $70,000, the town of LeGrand now has thoroughly modern, fireproof and adequate school equipment for the first time since fire destroyed the old building last February 8th.

It is a well known fact that in Iowa we have an automobile for every four or five people—over 500,000 of them now registered in this state, and we might ask the question, will there be less of them in the future? Or, is there likely to be a few hundred thousand more?

The main reason we do not enjoy our normal Iowa winter when it comes as we used to enjoy it is that it interrupts the motor car. In the good old days good sledding speeded up the team and our sports were with the sleigh bells and their sleigh belles or with the ice skates.

An effort will be made within the near future to have members of the Pioneer Cow Testing association of Black Hawk county accept an offer by Iowa State college at Ames to provide record books in which dairymen members may keep accurate records of every item of expense as well as revenue from their herds.

A farmers' institute will be held at Vinton, on February 7th and 8th, it is announced. Prof. P. G. Holden, former extension specialist at Iowa State college, a corn expert of national repute, and now representing the agricultural extension department of a farm machinery company, will be the principal speaker.

Iowa factories, along with the farming industry, had their losses, but one of the significant things in Iowa business life is the development and increase of manufacturing. It is believed that when the figures on manufacturing in Iowa for the year, 1923 are all available and they can be compared with those of previous years, they will show a growth which will testify to future business opportunity.

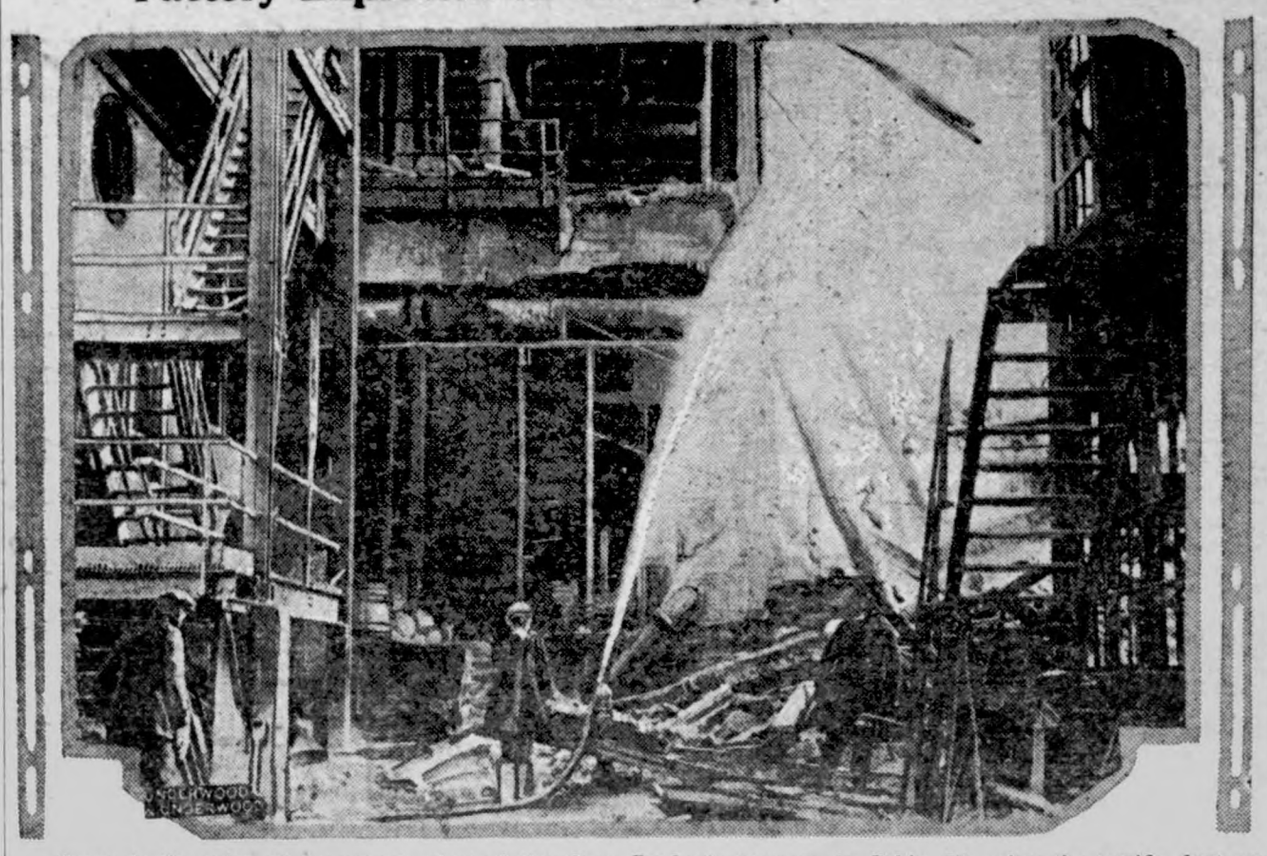
The director of the war finance corporation says that Iowa is the banner state in its management of government funds loaned to the banks during the emergency of 1921. Out of 880 banks which received approximately $24,000,000 all but 178 have paid in full. In other words Iowa has nearly come back in two years .Frozen assets have been realized upon. Money is piling up again. Grain prices have advanced. Land will soon be selling and advancing in price as of old.

Thirty-one persons were killed outright and 950 injured in 1923 in automobile accidents in Des Moines, according to figures compiled by the traffic department of the police. No record was kept of those who were injured in accidents and later died in the hospitals but it is estimated that more than fifty of those injured, died, bringing the total deaths due to automobile accidents for the year almost to one hundred. Taking the total of those killed and those who died of injuries, there was one person killed every four days in accidents involving automobiles. Aside from this there was an average of more than two persons seriously injured every day. Are you guilty?

Fifteen years ago Iowa was spending $11,000,000 a year for road upkeep and bridges, and at that time there were few automobiles and the roads were next to impassable much of the time.

The original farmers' institute was organized and held at Manchester fifty years ago. It was the first in the United States. It has been copied in almost every one of the counties and townships of the country since. The Delaware county institute will celebrate its golden anniversary January 23rd to 25th. The program for it has been nearly completed.

Factory Explosion in Pekin, Ill., Kills 36 Workers



Scene in the ruins of the starch plant of the Corn Products company in Pekin, Ill., after the terrific dust explosion which killed 36 employees and injured many others.

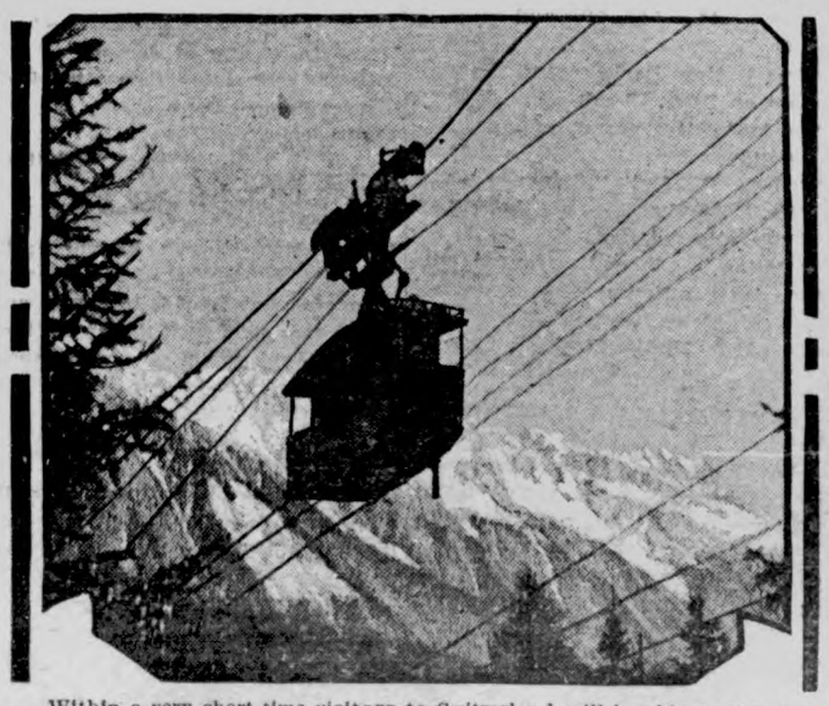
Douglas Fir Seeds Sent to France

The American Tree Association of Washington, D. C., has shipped to France millions of Douglas fir seeds to help reforest the war-torn sections. This shows little Alex Pounds instructing Louis C. Carou, first bridge officer of the Savoie, to take good care of the seeds on the voyage.

Scene During Floods in Manila

Like many other cities, Manila, P. I., has been suffering from floods this winter. This photograph shows Taft avenue when the waters were high.

Mt. Blanc Now Has a Cable Railway



Within a very short time visitors to Switzerland will be able to ride from Chamounix to Mt. Blanc and up the sides of that mountain on a new cable railway. The illustration shows the first passenger car on its trial trip.

HIGHLY PAID KNITTER

Mrs. Marie Heunisch of St. Paul, Minn., has been proclaimed the champion knitter of the Northwest. She is seventy-nine years old and her work brings from $100 to $500 per knitted piece, more perhaps than many professional men receive for their work. She rarely spends more than ten days on any one piece, but her working day is from 11 a. m. until 4 a. m., about twice as long as an average workman's day.

IZETTA WANTS A TOGA

Mrs. Izetta Jewel Brown who, as Izetta Jewel, was a favorite of Washington theater goers a few years ago, now announces that she will seek the Democratic nomination for United States senator from West Virginia.

TO WED GENE SARAZEN

Miss Mary Peck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace R. Peck of Springfield, Mass., is engaged to marry Gene Sarazen, the golfing star, but the date of the wedding has not been announced. Miss Peck and her parents are spending the winter at Miami, Fla.

HOOGSTRAETEN ONCE DIVORCED

American Heiress Repays Count's Golden Quest; He Had Many Loves.

New York.—Count Ludwig Salm van Hoogstraeten holds himself to the quarters of his bride, the former Miss Millicent Rogers, granddaughter of the late H. H. Rogers, one of America's money kings. Meanwhile a weird procession of former loves and heart complications began forming a line in the wake of the count's capture of the $40,000,000 Standard Oil heiress.

Three women who did not go to the altar with him nursed their personal views out of range of the honeymoon and the couple upon whom it shed its rays.

And with the breaking of the gentle tidings that the count had played fast and loose in love in many directions, with many counties yet to report the returns, there came the cold blasting of his pretense to succession to the "ancestral estates" of the Salm regime.

Descending, as he did, from a morganatic match between Prince Constantine of Salm Salm and a plain daughter of Deutschland, he acquired no rights, for in defining morganatic marriage the authorities agreed on this point:

"It fails to confer upon the wife the title of her husband or upon the children the right of succession."

While the light of authority thus cleared away the fond dream of ancestral estates belonging to a princely line, his friends in many quarters revealed how the forty-year-old count had come to this country with only $5,000 of capital, bent upon trading a Belgian count's title for a fortune that ran into the millions class.

He went about the task with the frank determination that might have won the admiration of a salesmanager for an oil promotion scheme. No cuffs to deceive you, no false pretense. He wanted a girl with a million and he said so frankly.

But while seeking the girl with a million he did not hesitate to engage himself to a widow de grace with a small competence. Nor did he scorn the beauteous proprietor of a hat shop, nor turn his countly gaze from a moving picture star from his own part of the world. And there are other reports still to come.

Senator Magnus Roars at Eastern Bankers Hiss Him

Philadelphia.— Prominent bankers representing more than $2,000,000,000 in resources hissed United States Senator Mangus Johnson of Minnesota for fully three minutes at a banquet of the Pennsylvania Bankers' association here. The hissing followed Senator Johnson's declaration that the Mellon tax plan would never pass because it favored the wealthy and would not help the man in moderate circumstances.

State Troops Quell Talk of Marion (Ill.) Outbreak

Marion, Ill.—National Guard companies from Cairo, Mount Vernon and Salem have arrived here and the situation is quiet. Trouble broke out following a series of whisky raids which lasted about three weeks. The raids were conducted by federal officers accompanied by several hundred volunteer citizens, many of them admittedly members of the Ku Klux Klan. More than 200 persons have been arrested.

Armed Men Kill Head of Palatinate and 3 Others

Berlin.—The Frankfurter Zeitung, reporting the assassination at Speyer of Herr Heintz, president of the autonomous government of the Rhenish palatinate, says that three other separatist leaders were shot dead in a Speyer hotel. Several persons were wounded. The shootings were the work of a band of armed men.

63 Convicts Surrender; Dynamite Their Weapon

Montevallo, Ala.—Sixty-three convict miners at the Aldrich mine, who mutinied and seized the mine, came out and surrendered to the guards. Mine officials have not determined how much damage was done by the dynamite the convicts exploded in the mine. No deaths or serious injuries were reported.

John D.'s Son-in-Law Gets Fighting Army Job

Washington.—Because he wishes to serve with the fighting troops instead of in a staff corps, E. Parmelee Prentice, sixty-year-old son-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, has resigned as a colonel of ordnance in order to become a major of infantry in the Officers' Reserve corps.

Gas Price Up Two Cents.

Chicago.—The Standard Oil Company of Indiana raised gasoline prices two cents a gallon and kerosene one cent in 11 mid-western states. Tank wagon price of gasoline is now 16 cents and filling station price 18 cents.

Venezelos Becomes Premier.

Athens.—After General Danglis had failed to form a cabinet, Venizelos agreed to take charge of the government and become premier without portfolio. Georges Roussos will be foreign minister.

MRS. YOUNG ENTHUSIAST

Cannot Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Enough. Says Women Read This Letter

Charleston, S. C.—"I was completely run-down and not able to do my housework. I just dragged myself around and did not have energy enough to get up when I sat down. I read advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in newspapers and books and learned about it. I got better from the very first bottle. I continued to take it for some time, and now I am doing all my own work, even washing and ironing, and never felt better in my life. I tell my friends that the change in my health is due to but one thing and that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. Annie Young, 16 Amherst St., Charleston, S. C.

The reason for such a letter from Mrs. Young is apparent. She got well and is grateful. Recently a nation-wide canvass of women purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made, and 98 out of 100 reported that they received benefit from taking it.

Just because the Vegetable Compound has been helping other women is a good reason why it should help you. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Green's August Flower

The remedy with a record of fifty-seven years of surpassing excellence. All who suffer with nervous dyspepsia, sour stomach, constipation, indigestion, torpid liver, dizziness, headaches, coming-up of food, wind on stomach, palpitation and other indications of digestive disorder, will find GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER an effective and efficient remedy. For fifty-seven years this medicine has been successfully used in millions of households all over the civilized world. Because of its merit and popularity GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER can be found today wherever medicines are sold. 30 and 90 cent bottles.

Cuticura Soap SHAVES Without Mug

Cuticura Soap is the favorite for safety razor shaving.

KEMP'S BALSAM

A Splendid First Aid Remedy for Colds, Cuts, Burns, Wounds, Etc.

CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO., CONS'D. 17 State St. New York

Vaseline

REG U.S. PAT. OFF.

PETROLEUM JELLY

AS SURE AS DAWN BRINGS A NEW DAY

HILL'S CASCARA QUININE BROMIDE

AT ALL DRUG STORES Will Break That Cold and Make You Fit Tomorrow. 30 CENTS

W. H. HILL CO., DETROIT.

And Warm the Mattress.

"I have only one request to make," groaned the college man, who had come to participate in the harvest.

"What is that, Mr. Smart?" returned the farmer.

"Please let me stay in bed long enough for the lamp chimney to cool off."

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A Box

Cures Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion. Drug stores.

London's Unhealthy Areas.

In some of the more crowded parts of London, the "unhealthy areas" there is an average of 53 houses and 415 persons to the acre, according to statistics gathered by a committee of the ministry of health. The "standard of density" recommended by this committee is 12 houses and 60 persons to the acre.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

PROMINENT PEOPLE

Leeds Back Home, Looking for a Job

William B. Leeds, Jr., has come back to the land of his birth and says he is looking for a job. With him was his bride, Princess Xenia. The son of the late Princess Anastasia of Greece said that he had returned to America to make his home, but that he had not decided where he was going to live. Mr. Leeds looked much better in health than he did on his previous visit, when he brought back the body of his mother.

The young man has decided to give up Europe as a place of abode and to live in America. Although he has a fortune to spend, his friends say he has found life in the Old World irksome and dull.

Despite the royal affiliations of his late mother and the fact that his wife is a princess, the young American believes true happiness can only be found in the land of one's birth. He prefers democracy to the effete royal institutions of Europe. Gossip has it that he probably will purchase a mansion in Washington with part of the legacy left him by his mother and will divide his time between the capital and New York. Later in the season he and Princess Xenia will be the guests of former Ambassador George Harvey on an excursion to Honolulu and other points.

Young Leeds is seeking profitable investments in America for the money his mother left him, which sum, in addition to the interest on the $30,000,000 trust fund created by his father, comprises a legacy of $1,000,000 which he will receive at the age of thirty-five.

Mr. Leed's stepfather, Prince Christopher of Greece, will live in Italy.

Best Practical Lesson on Road Safety

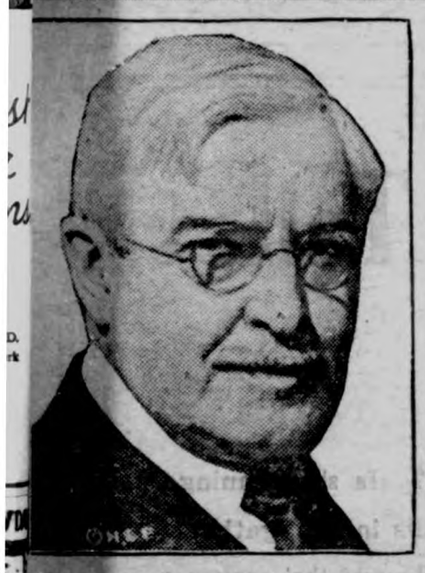
Miss Teresa M. Lenney, a teacher the public schools of New Rochelle, Y., contributed the best practical sson on highway safety entered in e 1922 national contest, according to nouncement by the highway educaon board. More than 60,000 elemenry school teachers competed. Her ward is $500 and a trip to Washingn with all expenses paid, the gifts the National Automobile Chamber Commerce.

Second national honors were warded the lesson plan by Miss Henetta M. Hornberger, a teacher in the hools of Pueblo, Colo., who gets $300. iss Clyde V. White, Briggs school, ortsmouth, Va., won third prize, $200.

The automobile organization lishes to stimulate interest and conrn in the problems of highway safe-. It also gives approximately $4,500 children for essays on the subject. he contests, which were renewed ith the same inducements in 1923, were conducted under the auspices of the ighway Education board, with the active co-operation of state departments education and school officials generally.

Four other teachers were awarded honorable mention. They are Miss enevieve L. White, State Graded school, Mazomanie, Wis.; Miss Josie Jaynes, oodson Rural school, Hughes Springs, Texas; Miss Bertha E. Weinbar, Conay Springs Graded school, Conway Springs, Kansas, and M. K. Tschirgi, heridan, Wyo.

Butler, Bay State Political Strong Man

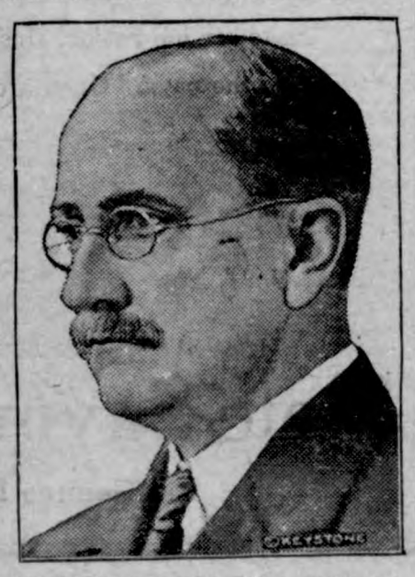


"Who is this man Butler who is to be President Coolidge's personal representative in the 1924 campaign?" is the cry that went up all over the country—except Massachusetts. William Morgan Butler was born in New Bedford, the son of a minister, took his degree in law at Boston university and practiced in his home town. He got into the state legislature in 1889 at twenty-eight and left the presidency of the senate in 1895, going to Boston to practice law.

He was a protege of the late United States Senator Crane and later the senator's other self. He has been in politics right along, but has worked behind the scenes. He has been the political strong man on whom recent governors of Massachusetts have leaned in time of stress. He was very close to Coolidge during his administration. He entered the Republican National committee last year to handle the Coolidge interest. Mr. Butler has been counsel for some big corporations in his day. Now he is a rich mill owner. He is president of three mill companies in New Bedford. There have been Butlers in New Bedford ever since there was any such place—witness Butler flats, Butler street and Butler lighthouse.

Mr. Butler is sixty-two. He has been twice married and has five children. His second wife was Miss Mary M. Webster of New Bedford, a member of a family that has been in New Bedford almost as long as the Butlers.

Mercury Boiler Beats Steam Turbine



Scientists are excited about power rom mercury vapor, making possible double vapor power plant in which urbines for generating electricity are riven both by mercury vapor and waer vapor from the same fuel source, esulting in a gain of about 50 per ent in power per pound of fuel. This s the outstanding achievement of a ew boiler perfected by the General lectric company.

The last great step in improving he efficiency of manufacturing power was the replacement of the reciprocating engine by the steam turbine. The nvention of the mercury vapor boiler s regarded as a greater step in the progress of science.

The modern steam turbine is about 0 per cent more efficient than the est reciprocating engines, but, according to William L. Emmet, consulting engineer for the company and inventor of the new process, the mercury boiler will produce with 35 pounds gauge pressure, when compared with a steam turbine generating plant which uses 200 pounds steam pressure, about 52 per cent more output in electricity per pound of fuel.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

What the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

SENATE RESOLUTIONS IN PART

"Whereas, the great heart of the agriculture (the great middle west) has for three years been laboring faithfully, although seriously handicapped and maimed by unjust differences in the prices it has received for its products in comparison to the prices it has been compelled to pay for commodities it is compelled to purchase and,

"Whereas, at this time the Iowa farmer is receiving less for his products of the farm than a year ago, and in times of stress the government has deemed it wise to take the farmers' crops at a price that netted the government $50,000,000; and,

"Whereas, there have been many appeals from the agricultural districts desiring action upon the part of the government that would help to adjust the present economic inequalities between agricultural and practically all other great industries * * *

"Be it resolved that the president, the cabinet officers and congress are hereby requested to give prompt and careful concern to the matters herein mentinoed that there may result some measure of relief, that the love, respect and abiding confidence of the great middle west for the grand old party of Lincoln, of McKinley, of Roosevelt and of Harding may thereby be the more firmly cemented to the end that it may more easily weather any storm threatening its power and authority."

The Iowa house put an "anti-petty parting bride" clause in the code bill covering Iowa's marriage law in the hottest debate of the present session. The legislators inserted the amendment designed to check hasty divorc by inserting a clause requiring filing of an application in the county at least ten days before the marriage license can be granted. Representative Diltz, who favored the bill, made a stirring concluding speech. "One takes time to buy an automobile, a watch dog, or a blooded bull. Yet people rush into marriage without consideration," he said. The public is interested in marriage particularly when several years later one or two of the children of this marriage become public charges. "Until you change your marriage laws it will do no good to change your divorce laws," Diltz declared, "under the present arrangement many marriages are an actual crime against society.

A joint resolution providing for adjournment of the special session of the legislature from February 27th to October 8th was introduced in the senate by Senator B. M. Stoddard of Woodbury county. Senators of both factions who were present freely asked whither is the senate drifting, and asserted that it is imperative for the legislature to settle upon some procedure which will accomplish revision of the code without sallies into the eld of controversial amendments if the work is to be completed in a year to say nothing of the eight weeks before February 27th.

Senator Newberry, chairman of the schools committee, which reported its disapproval of the amendment, objected to having the publication of the report of the annual convention of the teachers association stopped because, he believes, it is valuable to all teachers and the public. He pointed out that the report has been printed by the state for thirty years and that the annual cost is less than $600. He declared that the publication should rightfully be published by the state and be in every library.

Reduction in salaries of sheriffs appeared inevitable with two separate proposals introduced in the house of the Iowa legislature, each designed to cut sharply the fees received by sheriffs for feeding, lodging and washing prisoners in county jails. At present sheriffs are being paid 20 cents a meal for three meals, 15 cents for lodging and 5 cents for washing—a total of 80 cents a day.

Senator Dutcher of Johnson county, in the conference Wednesday afternoon, declared that the special session cannot finish code revision in a year unless its members concentrate on bringing fourth a code of lucid laws in a compact body where they may be found and abandon attempts to make what they believe to be improvements in the law as the bills come up.

The Iowa marriage law was amended by the house of representatives to require application for marriage licenses to be made at least ten days in advance of their granting. The vote on the amendment was 60 to 36.

The ambitions of two groups in the Iowa legislature received a setback when the Iowa senate defeated the Buser resolution to wipe off all of the standing appropriations from the statute books.

An attempt to insert in the Iowa law a section recognizing the development of airways as common carriers by giving concerns operating airplanes for the transportation of mail, freight or passengers, the right to condemn land necessary to their purposes, lost in the senate.

"We've been in session thirty days now and have passed four little bills," Senator Thurston told the senate. "If this is evidence of a desire for economy, it must be apparent on the side lines that this assembly could best serve the people of Iowa by adjourning and going home."

SOLONS DEMANDING AID FOR FARMERS

Iowa Senate Asks G. O. P. to Give Relief.

Republican members of the Iowa senate mutinied and sounded a warning to national party leaders that the great Middle West is tired of promises and conferences when the senate, by a vote of 26 to 16, passed the Bowman concurrent resolution.

The resolution as finally passed demands of the government at Washington that "prompt and careful concern" be given to the "economic inequalities" under which Iowa and Middle West farmers are struggling and that immediate aid be extended agriculture.

The resolution can only be interpreted as a desperate protest, according to state house circles, and is bound to produce a profound impression when it is officially presented in Washington.

As originally drafted the resolution was at once an appeal and a warning to the "President of the United States, the cabinet officers of the great Republican party." As finally passed the measure omitted any direct reference to the Republican party.

Lieutenant Governor Hammill declared that code revision can never be speeded up to the rate necessary to accomplish it in reasonable time unless the introduction of amendments to suit individual tastes is stopped or reduced to a bare minimum. He characterized the disposition to vote against bills to which proposed amendments have been defeated is shortsighted and selfish.

Few members of the senate believe code revision will be near completion by February 27th. Less than a dozen bills have passed both houses of the legislature since it convened December 4th. So many bills are still in committee that the advisability of adopting a rule permitting any member to call a bill out of committee not reported February 1st is being discussed.

Budget legislation, which has been strongly advocated by two candidates for governor and indorsed by a third, was barred from introduction as an additional code commissioners' bill in the senate by a vote of 12 to 34. The vote came on the Buser resolution to eliminate all standing appropriations. The resolution had been amended to include a call on the code commissioners for a budget bill.

If the state legislature passes the act now before it which would stop the extra compensation loophole which permits sheriffs in larger counties to jump from poverty to wealth in one or two terms of office, and shake the political plum tree into the tax payer's basket, Polk county will have at least between $27,000 and $28,000 a year.

In addition to killing the eminent domain bill and the state printing bill the senate has ovted to reconsider the one and a motion to reconsider the other is filed. One of the bills, the eminent domain bill, is a lengthy one. It was ordered sent to the printer for reprinting and inclusion of amendments made on the floor of the senate.

An amendment offered by Senator Witchman served to renew efforts by legislators to throw the sesssion wide open for reception of general legislation. The Wichman amendment provides that the code commissison add as a measure to bill 284 for a separate bill a provision for a "comprehensive budget system."

There is a sprinkling of members in the senate and a proportionally larger number in the house who have been planning for some time to get rid of standin gappropriations. It looks as though they would not be able to do so at this session. The other group includes the legislators who want budget legislation.

Some bills passed by the house: Relating to presidential electors. Relating to abstracts of title in partition proceedings. Relating to the legalizing of instruments in writing heretofore taken by notaries public.

Senator Dutcher declared the only sentiment for departing from code revision exists in the agencies of politics. He warned the legislature it will be here indefinitely unless it gets back to code revision.

A scrap over linking a state tax commission as the administrative agency for the budget system brought about the death of an attempt to bring a budget bill before the senate.

The senate spent most of the morning squabbling over an amendment to a bill relating to state printing and reports of various public offices.

Yes, the Iowa assembly is slow and at that it isn't so blamed sure either.

In regular sessions members may call their own bills out of committee. In this special session no individual member has any bill. This fact accounts for much of the lack of interest in the fate of bills and is a contributing cause to ready defeat of measures.

Hope for the passage of budget legislation at the extra session of the 40th general assembly, revived Tuesday when the house made reconsideration of the report of the state tax commission so far as budget legislation is concerned a special order of business for

If in doubt use CALUMET

The Economy BAKING POWDER

Sales 2½ times as much as that of any other brand

the next time you bake—give it just one honest and fair trial. One test in your own kitchen will prove to you that there is a big difference between Calumet and any other brand—that for uniform and wholesome baking it has no equal.

Best By Test

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

Bride's Cake an Ancient Relic.

The bride's cake of today is a relic of a Roman custom. At a Roman marriage the bride was expected to prepare a part at least of the wedding feast with her own hands.

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

Odd Marriage Customs of Russia and Egypt

A queer marriage custom exists among the Circassians of the Caucasus mountain district of southern Russia. At the time of his daughter's betrothal the father pays only half of her dowry to his son-in-law. The other half is not due until the birth of the first child. Then the woman is given her long veil to signify that her dowry has been paid in full.

It is not until after the wedding ceremony that the Egyptian sees the face of the woman he marries. She is always heavily veiled and seldom appears outside her home. Many women make a profession of matchmaking, and often a man entrusts his choice of a wife to one of these, who conduct matrimonial negotiations for a price.

On the day before her marriage the Egyptian girl goes to her bath, under a canopy drawn by four men. After this, the bride and groom give a dinner to their friends. When the feast is over a quantity of henna paste is spread over the bride's hands, and the guests make her contributions by sticking coins into the paste, until her hands are covered.

New Variety of Barley.

A new variety of barley now being distributed to American farmers originated from a single plant raised from a stock of seed imported from the southern border of the Black sea.

Good resolutions are apt to run down at the heel.

Spoke the Truth.

She—I'd like to see the man I would marry.

He—I'll bet you would!

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Take Tablets Without Fear If You See the Safety "Bayer Cross."

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

Collaborators Give Opinions on Own Play

Disciple of Bossuet and Moliere, dramatic author and theologian—a rare enough combination—David Augustin Brueys, who died 200 years ago, November 26, 1723, collaborated long and consistently with his friend, Palaprat, says a translation from Le Petit Parisien of Paris, France.

Together they wrote many plays, some of them failures, others successes, among which was a little masterpiece called "Grondeur," which is still played.

Speaking of this play, Brueys once remarked: "The first act is entirely mine. It is excellent. The second has been marred by a few scenes by Palaprat. It is mediocre. The third is wholly Palaprat's. It is very bad."

Palaprat considered the play otherwise—exactly otherwise.

That is how collaboration was understood 200 years ago and how, without doubt, it is understood today.—Kansas City Star.

First Traces of Teeth in Birds.

Traces of teeth are found in the embryos of some of the birds of today and are believed to be a heritage from early primitive reptile-like ancestors which had a full set of teeth.

Nothing boils over in a kitchenette; one is too near.

Why Doctors Warn Against Coffee or Tea for Children

THE reason is simple. Coffee and tea contain drugs which tend to irritate the delicate nervous system of children, and so upset health.

The Federal Bureau of Education includes in its rules to promote health among growing school children, the warning that "children should not drink tea or coffee at all."

Why confine the warning to children?

You are careful to protect the health of your children; why, then, take chances with your own health, when a change from coffee or tea is made so easy by Postum.

Postum is a delicious, pure cereal beverage—ideal for children and satisfying to adults.

Postum

for Health

"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum [in tins] prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal [in packages] for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

Sold by grocers everywhere!

LLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

me 2—Number 16. Thursday, January 17, 1924.

S! WE HAVE NO PIANOS!!!!!

e read in the paper where a flo d struck a house. Father crawled on he bed and floated down the st am—and mother accompanied hi on the piano. We have no pi- an —but, you have horses and the her gave us snow—and we can mpany with a Sled! Get yours wh e we sell them extra cheap.

Hubby gets a bill of $6.30 for g ers, he need't call it robbery— it a hold-up!!!

as'e-paper baskets were invent- 253 on Jan. 1st. A new meth- holding new year's resolutions.

Flowers are expensive in wint- but we still have WHITE ROSE 3) priced cheap.

d you ever stop to think? When rant credit we are rendering a just as much a service as shing machinery, repairs or l costs us to grant credit, it should bring us better prices ater volume.

redits should not run over 30 . If we favor our customers with dit, they in turn should favor us h prompt payment at the end of thirty days.

We are not a relief organization. After we have given a cutstomer a reasonable accomodation we must insist upon payment and we will not weaken in our demands.

THIS IS LEAP YEAR—AND BACHELORS WILL BE KEPT ON THE JUMP!

The best New Year's resolution we can think of it to buy a good tank heater now—"The Only."

Don't become discouraged in 1924 Remember the mighty oak. It was once a nut!

WHEN THE ROADS GET GOOD AND YOU START SHELLING CORN YOU'LL NEED A NEW BOX. We've got it.

Make More Money

From Your Cows

Mr. Farmer: Did you ever stop to think how much your old, worn out creamseparator was actually losing for you in dollars and cents eachday?

An old, worn separator will easily loose a half pound of butterfat at each milking—figure the butterfat worth on the average of 50 cents per pound and this means you are losing enough in butterfat each day which if saved would pay for a new Melotte or De Laval Cream Separator in only seven weeks.

HERE'S OUR PROPOSITION

We will take in pay on your cream checks the SAVING you make between your oldseparator and a New Melotte or De Laval purchased ofus. The saving you make on butterfat will pay for yournew separator.

Come in and let us prove to you that a new Melotte or a DeLaval Cream Separator can pay for itself in a few weeks.

Watch for Dates on De Laval Service Week!

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

A Checking Account And Time Saving

Almost every year something is invented to save time on the farm. But it isn't machinery alone that saves the farmer's time. Consider the check book.

Your father probably hitched his team and drove for miles to pay his bills. You could go faster with your car. But you need not make such trips if you have a checking account. Get the ahbit of mailing checks of this bank to settle your bills.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'.'

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Beat Swaledale, Friday night!

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Let the Times print your sale bill.

For Sale—Green Bone Meal. It makes the hens lay. Klemme Meat Market. tfc

Harry Buss and wife yere up from Goodell Saturday.

We have had plenty of zero weather the past week.

Mr. Tony Ahernkeil and family visited Klemme relatives Sunday.

Grandpa Bailey has been sick the last week with Grippe.

Mr. Will Krause, of Garner, was visiting here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gram moved into Mrs. Stiehl's house Wednesday.

Charlie Luick went to Belmond yesterday between trains.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carpenter are the parents of a baby girl, Dorothy, born January 10th.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lewis moved into the Chris Blumer residence on Tuesday.

Mrs. Lloyd Carpenter of Belmond, was shopping with Klemme merchants Saturday.

Mrs. Anthony Ahrenkeil and son, Taalkaus, of Goodell, were Klemme visitors Saturday afternoon.

Rev. Bushnell, of Algona, preached at the Methodist Church Sunday to a large audience.

Mrs. R. W. Elder went to Mason City Saturday for an over Sunday visit with her husband.

The Misses Mary and Minnie Reiken, of Meservey, visited with Miss Lena Swalve Monday night.

The Odd Fellows dance Tuesday night was well attended and everybody had a fine time.

Basket ball game a tthe gym this Friday night. Klemme vs. Swaledale. Beat 'em.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McConn were entertained at the R. A. Jorgenson home Saturday evening.

Miss Mildred Anderson is the girl who is helpin gwith the work at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Gauger.

Mrs. Minnie Josten came down from Garner Friday for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Gauger, and also to see her new grandson.

A fine 8 pound baby boy was born to Rev. and Mrs. Gauger January 11th. The young man's name is Harian Eugene.

Clint Stokesbary of this place and Mrs. Perkins of Garner went to Nebraska for a visit with their brother.

Mr. Hoyard Hansen, of Crystal Lake, was a business caller in this city Tuesday. He is a candidate for Sheriff.

The Woodman Lodge held an election of officers Monday night. A fine time was had by all.

Gladys and Mary Forstall and Henry Luick returned to Belmond yesterday after a visit yith Klemme relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis, Prof. L. Neese and family, and Miss Rone were etnertained at the R. A. Jorgenson home Friday evening.

Mrs. C. V. McCullough, of Garner, came yesterday for a visit at the home of her son, G. P. McCullough and wife.

PIANO PLAYER for sale at a bargain. In A-No. 1 condition, must be seen to be appreciated. Write Rev. W. A. Buell, Plymouth, Iowa. 1tcF

Mrs. C. W. Stiehl packed a car to ship her household goods to Waseca, Minnesota, yesterday. Mrs. Stiehl will make her home there in the future.

For sale cheap—my place containing 3½ lots well located, south front with sleeping and sun porch, with shade and fruit trees, shrubbery. Possession given March 1. Fred Musfelt. adv J-10-17-24p

Ben Ridder was operated on at a Mason City hospital last week. He is reported to be getting along fine. Mr. Herb Bailey, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Ridder drove to Mason City Sunday to see him.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Gimer entertained the members of the school board and their wives, and Prof. and Mrs. Neese and daughter Monday evening. The occasion was also Mr. Gimer's 43rd birthday. The Board presented Mr. Gimer with a watch chain.

Mrs. August Lau returned from Minneapolis Saturday afternoon. She had been there for a visit with her husband who is in a hospital there. She reports that August has improved slightly and is able to sit up in a wheel chair. We are glad to hear that he is much better.

Charles Reiffenstein arrived in Klemme Saturday from Standard, Alberta, Canada, for a visit at the Albert Johnson home, nd with other Klemme friends. Some of our readers know Charlie. His father formerly occupied Dr. Zinn's farm northeast of town, and moved to Canada about seven years ago.

DIRECTORS OF FIRST NATIONAL PROMOTE ARNOLD AND WATERMAN

The directors of the First National Bank, at their meeting on Tuesday, January 8th, promoted Mr. F. A. Arnold from cashier to President of the bank. C. G. Waterman, assistant cashier was promoted to the cashierhip of the bank.

Both Mr. Arnold and Mr. Waterman are deserving of the advance given them by th board for their faithful and efficient service.

We congratulate them on their promotion to higher positions.

No other change in officers was made.

MAN BURNED TO DEATH HERE MONDAY

That mysterious man, clad only in a two-piece suit of underwear, a pair of mittens and a rah, rah, college hat, and who stood on a snow bank in front of the post office Monday and nearly froze to death, met with a tragic end about noon [illegible]

In a mysterious manner the unnamed stranger was suddenly seen to be afire from under pants to hat. In a few minutes he was beyond the grave, and not a person stirred a whisker to save him from the fiery death that stared him in his painted face. Manfully he held up the Stop sign in one hand, and in the other he held up a sign "66 cent underwear at Wellemeyer's." Not until the fire crept up his shaking saw dust arms did he drop the signs entrusted to him.

Ye, verily, Wellemeyer's advertising dummy man surely got his pants scorched!

DENTIST

J. L. Hesselhuus, D. D. S.

Office Hours 8-12 1-5:20

Office Opposite State Savings Bank; In Schaffer Bldg.

Evening Work By Appointment Only

Klemme, Ia. Phone 81

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

January 17, 1924

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN	.60
OATS	.37
BARLEY	.55
RYE	.60
HOGS	6.00—6.50
HAY	15.00—20.00
BUTTERFAT	.60
BUTTER (creamery)	.56
EGGS	.30
HEAVY HENS	.15
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.12
LEGHORNS	.08
COCKS	.06
DUCKS	.10
GEESE	.08

BASKET BALL!

Klemme VS Swaledale

Fri. Nite Jan. 18

Swaledale has a very strong team, having been defeated but few times this season. They defeated Klemme a few weeks ago, and are looking to do the same thing again. Come out and see a fast PEPPY game next Friday in our Gym.

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

THE HOME OF GOOD EATS

CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGARS

MEALS and LUNCHES

Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It Here

Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service

We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.

CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

Don't deceive Yourself--

You're paying the cost of STORMIZING in waste oil and gas alone. The expense of operating your car with cylinders in a worn and scored condition is greater than the cost of STORMIZING and Complete Overhauling. But the waste of oil and gas is not the only thing to be considered. The following troubles are all directly due to worn cylinders. Loss of Power, Imperfect Compression, Low Gasoline Mileage, Waste of Oil, Excessive Carbon, Fouled Spark Plugs, Mis-firing, Diluted Oil, Injured Bearings, Weak Compression, Hard Starting, Piston Slap, Nosy Operation, Uneven Idling, Mis-firing at Low Speed.

STORMIZING strikes the very root of all these troubles, it cures them all.

We Know Autos—Both Right and Left Handed

TAGOLENE OIL—the Utmost in Lubrication

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Authorized Service

Auto Mechanics —All Work Guaranteed— General Blacksmithing

Check Talk

How about your wife? Is she running here and there, paying bills in cash, gathering ac ollection of receipts and thei worrying abount them, or have you afforded her, too, the convenience of a household checning account.

Save her steps—she has plenty to do; make her job easier. Insure receipts for the bills she pays. Open a checkinfi account in her name.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

THE KLEMME TIMES

Twenty-eighth Year—Number 20. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, January 24, 1924 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

KLEMME SHAMROCKS DEFEATED BY FAST SWALEDALE QUINTET

SHAMROCKS ARE BEAT AGAIN

Lose Fast Game to Swaledale Five Friday Night

The Shamrocks were again forced to bow to defeat by Swaledale, but only after a long hard fought game. The game was clean and hard fought and both teams played at top speed until the final gun. The visitors seemed to be more lucky on thier long shots than we. The game started out like it was going to be a walk away for the home boys. Patet sank a ringer and Gimer donated a free throw before the game was a minute old. But this proved to be the only time the Shamrocks were in the lead Swaledale then cranked up their scoring machine and the points began to run up for them. The score at half time was 18 to 9 in favor of the visitors. The second half yas a repetition of the first half, except that this time we held the visitors to a two point advantage. The final score, when the smoke of the battle had cleared away was 28 to 17. As said before, the visitors had more luck at their shots. Gimer was off form and missed many easy pot shots K lmeme had more shots than Swaledale, but missed the majority of them. The Shamrocks presented a five man defense that the visitors were unable to penetrate successfully and forced them to take long shots. However they were successful in caging most of these.

Owing to the inability of the referee to come, the coaches of each team officiated for one half of the game. This seemed to work to the apparent satisfaction of all concerned. In fact, the writer has heard several comments to the effect that this game was better handled than some other games played at home here which were refereed by professional officials.

Below is thel ineup and summary

Klemme 17		B	FT	P
Lemke	LF	1	0	1
Gimer	RF	2	0	1
Patet	C	2	2	0
Elder (Capt)	RG	0	0	0
Koerner	LG	2	1	0
Turgasen	LF	0	0	1
Stokesbary	LF	0	0	0
Gibbs	RF	0	0	0
TOTAL		7	3	3

Free throws missed Lemke 1, Patet 1.

Swaledale 28		B	FT	P
Haskins	LF	5	0	1
Huntback	RF	4	0	0
Collins	C	5	0	0
Gray	LG	0	0	0
Rice	RG	0	0	1
Abels	RG	0	0	1
McCanlep	RG	0	0	0
TOTAL		14	0	2

Free throws missed Gray 2, Rice 1

PLANNING TOURNAMENT

Klemme High School is planning on having a basket ball tournament here on February 7,8, and 9.

Plans are rapidly forming for this tournament, and by next week some more definite news will be available.

Teams from the following High schools have been invited. Hayfield, Crystal Lake, Rowan, Goodell, Alexander, Ventura, Garner, Belmond, Kanawha and Swaledale.

To date, only three schools have indicated a desire to enter this tournament, but the others are yet to be heard from. By next week, all schools have been heard from, and we will know for certain whether or not the tournament will be held.

Below are the conditions under which the tournament will be held

1. No entrance fee.
2. Each team to pay own expenses.
3. Proceeds to be divided equally among all teams not playing to officiate.
5. A suitable trophy to be given to the winner.
6. Iowa High School Athletic Association rules to govern elligibity.
7 Both boy's and girls teams invited.

It has been planned to take three days to play off the tournament, but in the event that only six or seven school enter, only two days will be required.

D. M. GIRLS GIVE BANQUET

Domestic Science girls give Dinner to Manual Training Boys

LastThursday the Domestic Science girls finished their course in cooking by giving a formal dinner to the Manual Training boys in the gymnasium. The dinner was a sumptious affair with every detail carried out to its fullest extent.

MENU

First Course
Fruit Cocktail
Second Course
Roast Chicken Riced Potatoes
Gravey Dressing
Creamed Peas
Celery Pickles
Bread Butter Jelley
Third Course
Waldorf Salad Course
Fourth Course
Banana Ice Cream
ut Cake Cocoa
Salted Peanuts

A green and white color scheme was wittingly carried out thruout the dinner.

The dinner showed a great deal of work on the part of the girls. A fine time was had and everyone enjoyed themselves immensely. All the Domestic Science girls and Manual Training boys attended. Miss Scharlach, D S. instructor and Coach E. P. Tregilgus were also there.

Senior Class Play

The Seniors are selecting their class play. They are considering Booth Tarkington's play, "Clarence" This is a four act play and is one of the best plays of today.

New Committees Named

With the begining of another six weeks period some of the various committes are being changed. The associate editors of the school column are now Necta Ridder, Dolores Koerner and Andrew Wellemeyer. Clarence Elder is still Editor.

The advertising committee is now Glen Busch, chairman, Vernon Turgasen and Frank Gibbs.

BASEBALL MEETING

Coach Tregiigus called a baseball meeting last Tuesday afternoon. The team is planning on playing about 16 games next spring. A dozen bats and a dozen balls will be ordered. The boys are planning a minstrel show which will probably be given in a month or so.

A "K" club is to be started soon.

WITH THE CLASSES

The General Science class are studying Electricity.

The Sophomores are taking Botany this semester in place of Physical Geography.

The Freshman have started the study of "Community Civics."

WITH THE GRADES

Sixth Grade Moves Upstairs

The sixth grade have moved, and all their possessions. They are now in the Grammar room under the instruction of Miss Rone. This gives Miss Flessner less pupils to take care of. Before this she had 35 students, but with only 25 students she will be able to do much better work. Miss Rone has 24 students.

Grammar Room

Three grammar room girls have been selling tickets for the Art Exhibit.

Mrs. Stille substituted for Miss Rone Monday A. M. Miss Rone attended a funeral at Northwood, Sunday.

Intermediate Room

The fifth grade started the study of hygiene this week.

The fourth grade have started the study of geography again.

DIGGING THE DOVER TUNNEL

Work Is to Be Pushed From Eight Shafts Sunk in the British Channel.

Our old ideas regarding tunnels are to be turned topsy turvy, it appears, by the methods to be adopted in digging the long-discussed and more than once begun, underground and undersea line of communication between England and France. A tunnel, and more particularly a subaqueous tunnel, has been a human burrow, begun at one end or both.

It has been virtually decided that instead of cutting in from the two shores this tunnel is to be dug from the middle outward, says the New Orleans Times-Picayune. Plunging down into the chilly waters of the English channel with the greatest caissons ever constructed, the engineers will exclude the sea waters by modern processes that have been developed, and sinking a shaft into the sea bottom will work fore and aft. But even that single shaft is not enough, according to Mr. Tempest, chief engineer of the project, and it is proposed that no less than eight sea shafts shall be used.

If this is done it is the engineer's idea that the dirt and rock dug from the tunnel cutting instead of being carried many miles to a land dump, can simply be blown by compressed air out upon the sea bottom. The whole thing sounds wonderful and it looks as though the tunnel might become an engineering marvel surpassing the Panama canal, the Assuan dam, the Tay bridge and other gems of scientific ingenuity.

IT SOUNDED LIKE A PUZZLE

Case of Australian and His Children, However, Was Simple When It Was Explained.

A New Yorker, visiting English friends, was lamenting leaving at home two beautiful daughters who were just budding into womanhood. Turning to a man to whom he had just been introduced, he asked if he had any family.

"Yes, I have a wife and six children in Australia. And I never saw one of them," he added, quietly.

The two sat in silence. Then the interrogation began.

"Were you ever blind, may I ask?" said the American.

"No," was the reply.

"Did you marry a widow?"

'No." Another silence.

"Did I understand you to say you had a wife and six children living in Australia and had never seen one of them?"

"Yes, that is how I stated it."

Then the American inquired: "How can that be? You say you never saw one of them. I do not understand it at all."

"Because," was the reply, "one of them was born after I left."

Eloquence.

"Eloquence" is literally and etymologically the power or faculty of "speaking up." The word is made up of the Latin words "ex" or "e," out of, and "loquor," to speak.

The man or woman who possesses eloquence is presumed to have the ability to "speak out" in meeting or in caucus, or in the board of directors, in a way to make her or himself understood.

Yet a change has come over the precise meaning of "eloquence" in the last generation or two. Eloquence in the old days implied, if it did not actually require, rounded periods, florid utterance and perhaps passionate gestures.

The eloquent speaker of today is the speaker who substitutes argument for floridity, sense for passionate gesture.

His Prize.

An old farmer, living near an aviation training camp, was sitting on a log enjoying his pipe when suddenly there was a roar and burst of flame and smoke overhead, and a plane crashed into the tree and hung suspended from the branches.

"Hey" ejaculated the old man querulously. "What's the matter? What did you come down on my farm for?"

A stifled groan came from the wreckage and finally the airman painfully emerged.

"See that nice big red apple?" he said, pointing into the tree. "That's what I came down for."—American Legion Weekly.

Strategy.

Mrs. Jinks jumped up in bed.

She switched on the light and shook her husband's shoulder.

"Sh" she warned. "I heard someone downstairs. A burglar!"

Jinks jumped from the bed. "I'll soon deal with him," he said. And his voice sounded courageous.

"Oh, don't put those heavy shoes on; he'll hear you."

"I intend that he should! Do you think I have any desire to meet the gentleman?"—Judge.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

NEW BOY SCOUT BADGE

Blind, crippled and otherwise physically handicapped boy scouts who have not been eligible to work for Merit badges because of their disabilities prevented them from fulfilling the requirements for second class rank and for first class rank, whence the scout is permitted to enter the fascinating Merit badge field, will be heartened in their advance in scoutcraft by the recent decision of the executive board of the national council to create an Achievement badge for physically handicapped scouts in recognition of certain requirements. The badge will permit them to take up with modification any of the 63 Merit badge subjects, which range from aviation to zoology and include such other subjects of boy interest as radio, wood craft, electricity, tracking, trailing, swimming, pacing, etc.

The present decision nowise moderates or lowers the regularly prescribed standards of scouting; it rather represents a means by which physically disabled scouts may be encouraged to maximum achievement.

To qualify for the Achievement badge, the scout will proceed as for second and first class rank, except that he shall also present a written application signed by a registered physician, addressed to the local court of honor, explaining the apparent physical disability which makes it impossible for him to meet the prescribed requirements.

It is further recommended that scouts making application for the new Achievement badge be encouraged to exercise their own initiative and judgment in devising and passing some test within their physical capacity as evidence of their scout spirit and their eagerness to develop to the fullest their abilities.

The Achievement badge is to be in both metal and cloth. The cloth badge is to be worn on the sleeve with any Merit badge subsequently awarded.

Because of the many appealing cases of deserving and efficient scouts, displaying in their daily lives highest ideals of scouting, but who because of physical handicaps have been hindered in official advancement in rank, the organization after special and sympathetic consideration has arrived at the foregoing decision.

BOY SCOUT, HEALTH WORKER

A garbage can became the unusual theme for special appreciation of the scout spirit in a recent account by the New York Mail, of a scout good turn.

A lady of the tenements, relating the incident, says: "Yestiddy morning the bell rang an' when I answered there stood a little fellow in a brown suit with a colored handkerchief 'round his neck. 'Say,' he says, 'you got a garbage pail out on the curb that's slopping over, without a cover on it. You ought to have a larger one.' Well, I told the kid that we didn't have any too much money, and what we did have didn't go to buy garbage pails every time some fresh kid wanted us to. 'But, you see,' he says, 'I'm a boy scout and I'm trying to win a Merit badge in public health. Now that pail of yours is open, so the flies can get into it; then they fly straight into your house and walk all over the stuff you eat with their dirty feet. Besides, it's against the law.'

"'I'm sorry,' I says, 'but I have no money to get one.' He looked at me a minute without saying a word and then went off. I forgot about it entirely. This morning the bell rang again, and there stood the kid holding that new pail in his hand. 'Here,' he says, shoving it at me, 'the fellows in my troop want me to give this to you. We all chipped in and got it.' Then he got all red in the face, saluted and ran away.

"God bless the kid. If all them boy scouts is like that, they're all right."

SCOUT GOOD TURNS NUMEROUS

"Each boy scout is pledged to do a good deed daily, and a half million good deeds in unison may reverberate to the very portals of St. Peter's gate. Half a million youngsters who can perform an act of spontaneous kindness without a thought of a forthcoming tip would be worth a great deal, if there were nothing more. The eagerness with which youngsters join the boy scout organization and the loyalty with which they uphold the scout banner, are testimony to one of the remarkable social achievements of recent years."—Port Townsend (Wash.) Leader.

CREAMERY DOES NEARLY QUARTER MILLION DOLLAR BUSINESS

SOUTHERN STATE HAULS ITSELF OUT OF HE MUD

North Carolina Definitely Placed In Good Roads Catagory

North Carolina was for years a pitiful example of muddy highways, impassable roads, inconvenient travel. Today North Carolina, after the expenditure of sixty-five million dollars, has made it possible to go from almost anywhere in the state to anywhere else yithout getting stuck in the mud, has linked all her county seats with a good road system, and provided main state highways which girdle the state and leave nothing to be desired on the part of the tourist

It took ten years of education and five of construction before this result was attained; and the end is not yet, for it is proposed to spend up to two hundred millions on state roads before the job is finished.

With wonderful scenic beauty and a location on a direct line for all the tourist travel north and south, N. Carolina does not propose to lose the benefits which the automobile may bring, in tourist travel, in social intercourse, in modern country schools, in good health, in increased commerce, in the influx of modern civilization to remote districts. It has been a Herculean task to arrange so comprehensive a system of financing as is necessary for so large an expenditure, and educate those without experience of the blessings of good roads to the need of supplying the money. But the progressive and public spirited citizens of the state have done the work and all North Carolina is reaping the benefit.

North Carolia's experience, similar to that of others which ave gone rough the same process, is but another argument for the idea that the Nation's good roads problem will never be properly solved until it, like its progressive states, provides a national system of highwasy, to be built and forever maintained by the National Government, just as the good roads states build ad maintain their individual good_roads systems.

LAU'S CHOICE DUROC SALE

On Tuesday, January 29th, Emil W. Lau, Klemme, Iowa, yill present an offering of about 40 choice sows, fall and spring gilts mated to his good herd boars Stilts Boy and Great Orion's Sensation Again. Good Duroc judges pronounce these two herd boars as among the good ones of the breed. To further enhance the value of his offering Mr. Lau is listing well-bred sows that should attract the attention of many of our readers. To example, there are sows by Path Maker, Smooth Sensation, Great Orion's Sensation Again, Sensation King and Pathmasters Path. It should be remembered that Stilts Boy was sired by Stilts himself and Great Orion's Sensation Again was sired by Great Orion Sensation and out of a dam by Mammoth Sensation This combination of bloodlines should appeal to both farmers and breeders.

Mr. Lau is also offering some fine Shorthorn cattle in connection with this sale, which will give someone an opportunity to to buy some good Shorthorn stuff

The Times Print Shop furnished the catalogs for Mr. Lau's sale and he is well pleased with the job we turned out for him.

You should arrange now to attend this big sow sale.

H. A. SWEIGARD IN FIELD FOR COUNTY TREASURER

This week we are running the announcement of H. A Sweigard, who is a candidate for County Treasurer of this county.

Mr. Sweigard is well kown over the whole county. He was at one time cashier of the State Saivngs Bank, of Klemme. He has had experience as a railway agent; and he served two terms as postmaster at Garner. All these things qulify him to serve as a county treasurer.

Mr. Sweigadr has a lot of friends in the county who are glad to see him on the ticket and he will make a good campaign.

CREAMERY DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS REPORT BIG YEAR

Interesting Meeting Was Held; New Officers and Directors Elected

A large number of enthusiastic stockholders attended the annual meeting of the Klemme Creamery held last Saturday afternoon. Three new directors were elected; the new board as it now stands is as follows:

President; H. R. Stromer
Secretary, Valentine Josten
Treasurer, J. E. Stille
—Directors:
Heramn Priebe
John Bock
John Tanner
Albert Fuller
Herman Stille.

The Secretary's report showed a substantial increase in business over any previous year. The total value of butter manufactured being approximately $210,000.00. We believe there are few farmers' creameries in Northern Iowa that have equalled this output. The buttermaker, W. D. Gimer and the managing board are to be congratulated on this showing.

The total number of steady patrons has mounted up to 350, besides others farther out yho come occasionally.

The management wishes to thank the patrons for their loyal support and hopes for a continuation of the fine spirit of co-operation.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

A. W. Gauger, Pastor

Preaching service at 10 o'clock.
Sunday school at 11 o'clock.
Evening Service at 7 o'clock.
Cottage prayer meeting at the home of Mr George Gruetzmacher Thursday evening

With milder weather and opened roads we hope to see our people from the country coming in to worship with us

PARENT TEACHER'S TO MEET TUSEDAY, JAN. 29th

The Parent Teacher's Association of this place will hold their next meeting at the school house on Tuesday evening, January 29th, when the following program will be given

Music ..... Orchestra
Talk—"The High School Girl's Need of Her Mother" ..... Mrs. Blake
Music ..... Orchestra
Talk.."Religious Training in the Schools" ..... Rev. Gauger
Discussion ..... General
Saxophone Solo ..... E. Trigilgus
Talk—"Tendency to Modify School Curriculum" ..... Supt. Neese
Musical Selection ..... J. Peort

The program will be followed by a cafeteria lunch served by the ladies in the gymnasium. A social good time will also be had at this time.

Those interested in schools and school work are invited to attend any of the P. T. A. meetings.

NORTH AVERY PROGRESSIVE CLUB MEETS

The North Avery Progressive Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nelson, Jr., Friday, January 18th.

All report a very enjoyable day. Luncheon was served by the hostess at noon.

The following program was given:
Community singing.
Scripture Reading .... Mr. Nelson
Duet ..... Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cook
Reading ..... Mr. Nelson
Paper ..... Mr. J. J. Cook

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood on February 15th.

Many of the men who fail are those who stopped to congratulate themselves on the road to sucess.

Fine food for boys and girls these chilly mornings

AUNT JEMIMA PANCAKES
Piping hot-and plenty of 'em
Get Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour at your grocer's

Blue Band VELVET PENCILS
At all Dealers

5¢
Supreme in their class.
As Smooth as Velvet.
Write for trial sample
American Lead Pencil Co., New York
Makers of the famous VENUS Pencils

French Writer Believed Napoleon Ended Warfare

The prophesies of Joseph de Maistre are often cited as forecasts which have not "made good," yet worthier "prophets" have gone astray, as witness the following curious passage from a chapter in Chateaubriand's "Memoirs d' Outre-Tombe":

"Napoleon has closed the era of the past. He has made war too great to beguile the human species in the future. He has slammed upon his heels the portals of the temple of Janus and against them he has piled mountains of corpses so that never may they be opened again."

If the dead can see what is going on here on earth, it is not without some spite that Chateaubriand will have to admit, with the evidence of the World war, that he would have been better advised not to have played the prophet.—Le Petit Parisien of Paris.

Well Qualified

"We want a man for our information bureau," said the manager. "He must be a wideawake fellow and accustomed to complaints."

"That's me," replied the applicant. "I'm the father of twins."

Turquoise-Blue Dragon Flies Seen in Hampshire

In South America I was accustomed to see dragon flies in rushing hordes and clouds, and in masses clinging like swarming bees to the trees; here we see them as single insects, but I once witnessed a beautiful effect produced by a large number of the common turquoise-blue dragon fly gathered at one spot, and this was in Hampshire. . . . It was a very bright windy morning in June, and the oak woods had been stripped of their young foliage by myriads of caterpillars, so that the sunlight fell untempered through the seemingly dead trees on the bracken that covered the ground below. Now, at one spot over an area of about half an acre, the bracken was covered with the common turquoise-blue dragon fly, clinging to the fronds, their heads to the wind, their long bodies all pointing the same way. They were nowhere close together, but very evenly distributed, about three to six inches apart, and the sight of the numberless slips of gemlike blue sprinkled over the billowy, vivid green fern was a rare and exceedingly lovely one.—W. H. Hudson, in "Hampshire Days."

Conscience has nagging down to fine art.

What We Forget Between 15 and 50

Schools teach, and nearly every home applies the rule against coffee and tea for children.

When middle age comes, a great many people remember the facts about the caffeine drug of coffee and tea, and how its regular use may disturb health. Often they have cause to remember what it has done to them.

How much better it would be not to forget—and avoid the penalties!

Postum is a pure cereal beverage—delightful, and safe for any age—at any time. Good for breakfast at home, for all the family; good for lunch at the club or restaurant; good with the evening meal; good with a late night dinner—good on any occasion. Postum satisfies, and it never harms.

Why not be friendly with health, all the time?

Postum
for Health

"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

What the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

Details of the workings of the Indiana budget law, through which, it is said, the taxpayers of that state have been saved $40,000,000 in three years, were presented to members of th Iowa legislature in an address by Judge William A. Hough, chairman of the Indiana tax board, and one of the leading experts of the country on taxation and budget matters. Judge Hough's address was upon a timely subject in Iowa, the legisiature only last week having opened up the question of a budget. It is said to be likely that many of the Indiana provisions will be incorporated in the budget bill being drafted by a house committee. The board as constituted in Indiana has served as a check upon extravagant expenditures, according to supporters of that plan, who minimize the objection often raised that by constituting such a body, the people virtually lose control of taxation matters and place the tax levy and decision as to expenditures in the hands of a few men. Under the Indiana law a taxation unit votes a bond issue which stands without review unless ten tax payers of the unit invoke the assistance of the board, which then has the power to make the final decision. This review power alone, Judge Hough has declared is the backbone of any budget law

To insure the prosperity of the farmer coming year the Iowa Farm Bureau federation is vitally concerned about the activities of the state legislature on code revision.

An amendment to the present banking laws was adopted by the house permitting the appointment of two additional bank examiners. Representative Hauge of Polk county declared that additional bank examiners were necessary as at the present time the examiners were far behind in their work." The examiners are hundreds of banks behind their schedule," Hauge said. "There are banks in Des Moines that have not been examined for a year and a half." The Hauge amendment provides that the examiners may be appointed for one year and that banks examined must pay the examination fee.

The protest of Iowa manufacturers of medicines, toilet articles and perfumes against inclusion in the prohibition bill relating to permits to purchase alcohol for industrial use was continued at a hearing before the house and senate committees on suppression of intemperance. One session, already has been devoted to this phase of the prohibition question. The manufacturers have asked the legislature not to pass the code commissioners' provision that they shall pay a fee of $100 each five years for permits to purchase industrial alcohol.

Printing of the proceedings of the Iowa State Teachers Association was the subject of one of the most heated debates of the present session of the legislature when the senate took up the state printing bill, from which Senator Price, or Monroe, sought to strike the provision relating to the organized teachers. Senator Bowman asked the senate why objection should be raised "to publishing this matter, so vital to the welfare of the youth of Iowa, when there is no objection to the printing of the Iowa Year Book on agriculture."

The special session of Iowa legislature has now been in progress about five weeks, not including the time taken off for the holidays, with twenty bills and three joint resolutions enacted into law, having passed both houses and received the signature of the governor. In addition to this number twenty-eight bills have been passed by the house and are now in the senate and twenty-six have been passed by the senate and are now in the house.

Under the Iowa constitution bills passed at a special session such as this one go into effect ninety days after the adjournment of the session. However, it is not believed possible that the copy for the new code, with necessary annotations, can be made ready and the big volume printed by the end of ninety days. Some time may elapse after the laws become effective before the printed codes can be sent out.

The school libraries bill, as drawn by the code commissioners provided for the appropriation of from 10 to 25 cents per pupil for library books. The senate restored the old provision of from 5 to 15 cents. The night school bill was amended to emove the 21-year age limit for students and to permit school boards to establish part time schools for children in between the ages of 14 and 16 years.

Owing to the fact that Lieut. Gov. Hammill has already declared himself in favor of a state budget, it is believed that the bill, if passed by the house, will receive immediate consideration and will probably be passed in the upper house.

The senate cleared up its calendar passing the house bill on patroling of highways, the measure providing for annual reports by boards to county superintendents of schools and the measure under which owners of lands shall be required to destroy noxious weeds.

Senator Dutcher admonished the senate to return to the business of code revision and abandon amendments for which he said there was no demand by the people to run the risk of not finishing the task, in which case he asserted the legislature will adjourn in disgrace."

SOME BILLS PASSED BY THE HOUSE.

Relating to the sheriff.
Relating to the supreme court.
Relating to forfeiture of contract.
Relating to school districts.
Relating to the banking department.
Relating to the auditor of state.
Relating to pay of county attorney.
Relating to bridges.

SOME BILLS PASSED BY THE SENATE.

Eminent domain.
Escapes.
Pleadings.

The senate, with only three bills before it, spent most of one morning considering a measure relating to school buildings and sites, the difficulty arising from a new section which provided that in an independent district which fails to maintain a legal school for two consecutive years, the district may be abolished and attached to one or more adjoining districts. The section finally was stricken out and the bill passed, 45 to 0.

A special house committee of the legislature, is now preparing a budget law for the state of Iowa. This is good news for the taxpayers. The special session will have fulfilled a very important part of its mission if the budget system plan is carried out. The house committee is well qualified to do the work for which it was created. Its chairman was a member of the tax commission created by the last regular session.

The senate has concurred with the house in the amendment to the sheriffs bill limiting the collectible fee by county shreiffs for lodging of county prisoners to $250 a year. The bill will now be enrolled, signed by the president of the senate and forwarded to the governor for official approval. The bill will become a law in effect when the legislature adopts the code revision work of the special session.

The farmers wife who establishes a lunch stand beside a highway or sets a country dinner regularly in her dinig room or front yard for the convenience of tourists narrowly escaped being included in the list of country enterprises which must obtain licenses to operate, when the senate considered the measure rgulating amusement places and other public enterprises outside incorporated towns.

Further efforts to reduce expenditure of public money by county officers were before the legislature, the senate considering a bill to limit the salaries of supervisors and the house having on its calendar an amendment limiting the fees of county sheriffs. These measures followed closely on the heels of the bill adopted in the senate denying salary increases for county clerks and assessors.

The Iowa workmen's compensation act as revised for codification by the code commission was condemned in no uncertain terms alike by laborites and industrial representatives at a public hearing of the bill before the joint committee of the house and senate. A blanket charge of changing the law so radically in language that it was unrecognizable came from all quarters.

The Iowa house will not reconsider the ten-day application clause in its marriage laws. By a vote of 63 to 39 the house turned down the proposal to reconsider the bill requiring that persons desiring to wed should file application ten days before the license is granted. The action of the house followed a fiery debate lasting almost the entire session.

Some guesses are now being made that the special session may adjourn the latter part of April or the first of May. A recess probably will be necessary over the first of March because the banker members can not be away from their own business during the annual spring settlement season.

The proposed budget system is not in any way an experiment. It would do for Iowa what a similar plan has done for the federal government. The adoption of a budget is the surest and best way to keep taxes within reasonable limits.

Polk county representatives in the Iowa legislature have been requested by the Des Moines City Council to secure passage of a law which would permit the city to build a hospital for the treatment and care of contagious diseases.

The Stoddard resolution, to recess from February 28th to October 8th, which may come up late today, probably will not be passed, but its consideration will give opportunity for exhortations on speeding up the work.

Some bills passed by the House: Relating to salaries, fees and legal notices. Relating to foreclosure of mortgages on personal property. Relating to registration of voters.

Some Bills passed by the Senate: Education—School libraries. Education—Evening schools.

There were 283 code revision bills to pass on when the session convened. Two legalizing acts and three point resolutions are included in the bills signed by the governor, so in reality just eighteen of the 283 code revisions bills are thus far disposed of.

The first communication from the governor's office to the special session of the Iowa legislature was filed when Governor Kendall filed in each house a communication requesting that the legislature appropriate $5,000 to support the child welfare commission.

Imitations may be dangerous

Demand BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy—Genuine

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians 23 years for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Genuine Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.
Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

SMITH BROTHERS
S.B. COUGH DROPS
Famous since 1847
MENTHOL (orange colored box)

Novice Gets Names Mixed

An experienced golfer, in a fit of condescension, invited a novice to a game. The novice, to the golfer's dismay and disgust, plowed up the ground all around the ball at every stroke.

The golfer stood it for a while, but after one particularly vicious dig into the tee, he remarked:

"You've revoked."

"We're playing golf, not whist," said the novice.

"Yes," replied the golfer, "but you have just played a spade where you should have played a crud."

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A BOX

Cures Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion. Drug stores. Adv.

He Knew How to Save

John is a thrifty Scotchman from his father's side and a very witty Irishman from his mother's side of the house. He often makes good use of the combination. Recently he promised a girl some flowers for her birthday. He wrote a note which read:

"What kind of flowers do you like?"

Back came the answer:

"Orchids. They are so rare."

Back went this: "But girls are not." And with his note were some red carnations.

Best Way to Relieve Pain

is by direct outside application and the best remedy is an Allcock's Plaster—the original and genuine.—Adv.

Oh, how hard it is to die and not to be able to leave the world any better for one's little life in it!

Somewhat Different

"My dear," said the newly married man to his wife, "where did all the books on astronomy come from? They are not ours."

"A pleasant little surprise for you," remarked his wife. "You know you said this morning that we ought to study astronomy, so I went to the bookseller's and bought everything I could on the subject."

It was some minutes before he spoke. "My dear," he then said, his voice husky with emotion, "I never said we must study astronomy; I said we must study economy."

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Druggists stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

Not in His Line

"An elderly Scot was standing in a railway station when a traveler trod heavily on his foot.

"'Hoot mon!' groaned the Scot. 'Canna ye take care? Ye've nearly killed me. Hoot, mon! Hoot, hoot!'

"The traveler looked the sufferer Scot up and down.

"'Hoot yourself,' he said. 'I'm a drummer, not an auto.'"

Burning Skin Diseases

quickly relieved and healed by Cole's Carbolisalve. Leaves no scars. No medicine chest complete without it. 30c and 60c at druggists, or J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill.—Advertisement.

Saltbeds in Nova Scotia

Saltbeds covering an area of 200 square miles exist in Nova Scotia. One bed alone is said to be 900 feet wide and 80 feet deep.

Growing Children

are often troubled with Feverishness, Constipation, Headache, Stomach troubles, Teething disorders and Worms. At such times thousands of Mothers use and find they give certain relief. They tend to break up colds. Cleanse the stomach, act on the liver and bowels and give healthful sleep. Easy to give and pleasant to take.

MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS for CHILDREN

Used by Mothers for over 30 years.

Do Not Accept Any Substitute for MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS.

Disordered Stomach

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills —then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. You will relish your meals without fear of trouble to follow. Millions of all ages take them for Biliousness, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Upset Stomach and for Sallow, Pimply, Blotchy Skin. They end the misery of Constipation.

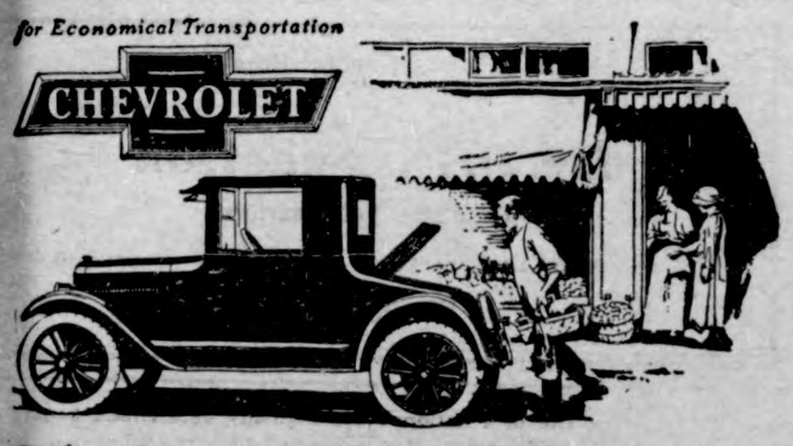
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Genuine bear signature— Brent Good Small Pill; Small Dose; Small Price

for Economical Transportation

CHEVROLET



The Economical Quality Car

Chevrolet prices are not the lowest on the market, yet Chevrolet economical transportation averages lowest in cost. This average cost considers the purchase price, interest on investment, depreciation and all operating and maintenance costs.

A detailed comparison with any other car in the low priced field will convince you that Chevrolet is the best buy because of its superior quality and because the purchase price includes full equipment.

More than a million Chevrolets are now in use. Twelve huge plants are now building them at the rate of twenty-five hundred per working day. Nearly one-half million Chevrolets were bought in 1923—far exceeding in number the sales of any other quality car.

Thus, our statements have the strongest possible backing, namely, the faith and patronage of the American people who know automobiles and know practical values better than any other people on earth.

Let any one of our seven thousand dealers show you our seven types of cars and explain how easy it is to get one and enjoy its use.

Prices f. o. b. Flint, Michigan

SUPERIOR Roadster	$490
SUPERIOR Touring	495
SUPERIOR Utility Coupe	640
SUPERIOR Sedan	795
SUPERIOR Commercial Chassis	395
SUPERIOR Light Delivery	495
Utility Express Truck Chassis	550

Chevrolet Motor Company

Division of General Motors Corporation

Detroit, Michigan

Painted Beauties

At a dinner party held in a hall adorned with many beautiful paintings a speaker, wishing to pay a compliment to the ladies present, pointed to the paintings on the wall and said: "What need is there for all these painted beauties when we have so many of them at the table?"

To Have a Clear, Sweet Skin

Touch pimples, redness, roughness or itching, if any, with Cuticura Ointment, then bathe with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Rinse, dry gently and dust on a little Cuticura Talcum to leave a fascinating fragrance on skin. Everywhere 25c each.—Advertisement.

The Only Hope

Jack—Say, Sam, do you think your tailor will give me credit on a new topcoat?

Sam—Does he know you well?

Jack—No, I'm sorry to say.

Sam—Then possibly he might do it.

The less said about a fuss the better.

Knew Where She Was

A young woman, traveling alone, and unused to the ways of the world, had left her home on an early morning train to visit a friend in Fifeshire. It had been a tiring journey, and just before reaching Dunfermline she had fallen asleep.

Waking up, she turned to an old gentleman on the seat beside her and said, "Will you please tell me if we are on this side of Dunfermline or the other side?"

"We are on this side," he said.

And she settled down again, entirely satisfied.

Only the Best Ingredients.

are used in Brandreth Pills. For constipation they have no equal. Take one or two at bed time.—Adv.

Lose Children Purposely

Women of the tenement districts have been known to purposely lose their children in crowds so as to have a holiday and to call at night at the various police stations, knowing their offsprings will ultimately be taken there.

Ask for This New Book

"Concrete Around the Home"

Everyone who wants to improve his place or save money around his farm, needs the new Portland Cement Association booklet "Concrete Around the Home."

It tells in everyday language the easiest, simplest and most economical way to use Concrete for making drives, walks, septic tanks, garages and other permanent improvements. Easily followed instructions give you all the details necessary for estimating materials, mixing, placing and finishing the Concrete.

"Concrete Around the Home" is only one of our many booklets available without charge to those interested in using Concrete.

If you are planning any of the money-saving concrete improvements seen everywhere nowadays, such as a permanent floor, basement, or foundation for your buildings, a manure pit, feeding floor, corncrib or silo, we have a booklet on the subject with complete instructions for building it of Concrete.

Remember this service is free. The Portland Cement Association has 28 offices, listed below, and one of them is your office—the one nearest you.

Find which one it is, and write today about the concrete improvements you are planning.

There are people in that office whose business it is to help you save money by making it easy for you to use concrete. Let them show you how they can help you.

PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION

A National Organization to Improve and Extend the Uses of Concrete

Atlanta	Denver	Kansas City	New York	San Francisco
Birmingham	Des Moines	Los Angeles	Parkersburg	Seattle
Boston	Detroit	Memphis	Philadelphia	St. Louis
Chicago	Helena	Milwaukee	Pittsburgh	Vancouver, B.C.
Dallas	Indianapolis	Minneapolis	Portland, Oreg.	Washington, D.C.
	Jacksonville	New Orleans	Salt Lake City

Prominent People

Table-Card Is "Scrap of Paper" to Her

Washington society and the diplomatic corps were excited over a disturbing incident at the recent official dinner given by the President and Mrs. Coolidge in honor of the diplomats, whereat the wife of the Belgian ambassador, the Baroness de Cartier de Marchienne, declined to accept the German ambassador, Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt, as her allotted dinner partner.

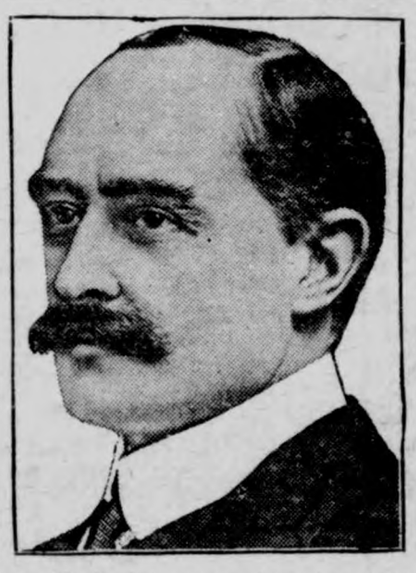
It appears that the prearranged plan for seating the dinner guests provided that Dr. Wiedfeldt should be the escort and table companion of Baroness de Cartier. The baroness, who was formerly Mrs. Hamilton Wilkes-Cary of New York, expressed herself in no uncertain terms as to what she thought of it.

Those in charge of the dinner were understood to have learned that the baroness would either have another table companion or would not be present at the dinner. Accordingly other arrangements were made and the wife of the Japanese ambassador was escorted to the dining room by Dr. Wiedfeldt.

Outwardly, this disposed of the incident, with no other embarrassment to those in charge of the dinner than rearranging the table places for the other guests. But friends of the baroness were told how and why the prearranged order of precedence was done over at the eleventh hour, and the incident therefore assumed international as well as social significance.

Diplomats agreed that this action would be interpreted as an affront to the German government, which Dr. Wiedfeldt represents, by the government of Belgium, represented by the baroness' husband.

Sir Esme Howard to Succeed Geddes



Sir Esme William Howard will succeed Sir Auckland Geddes as British ambassador to the United States. Sir Auckland resigns because he is virtually an invalid, suffering from eye trouble caused by gas in the World war. The post is regarded in British cabinet circles as the most important in the diplomatic service.

Sir Esme is at present British ambassador at Madrid. He is known in Washington diplomatic life through residence here from 1906 to 1908 as counselor of the British embassy, and, therefore, he will not come here a stranger.

He entered the diplomatic service in 1885, and prior to his appointment to Madrid in 1919 served for six years as minister to Sweden and from 1911 to 1913 as minister to Switzerland. Like Sir Auckland, he is a veteran of the South African war, where both distinguished themselves.

He is sixty years old and in 1898 married Lady Isabella Giustiniani-Bandini, daughter of Prince Giustiniani-Bandini, earl of Newburgh. He has held various diplomatic posts at Rome, Berlin, Crete, Vienna, and Budapest. In 1886 he was secretary to the earl of Carnarvon in Ireland and in 1894 private secretary to the earl of Kimberley, secretary of state for foreign affairs. He was a member of the British delegation to the Paris peace conference in 1919.

Sir Esmes is a member of the Roman Catholic house of Howard, of which the duke of Norfolk is the head. A Howard was lord high admiral of England when the Armada was defeated.

British Make a Fuss Over Lady Astor

The British are making a great fuss over Lady Astor (the American-born Nancy Langhorne) as a "political campaigner absolutely beyond parallel or description." Here's a paragraph about her from the London Daily Mail:

"Ready to address a meeting . . . sitting straight up in her chair . . . young looking . . . winsome . . . in imminent danger of looking dainty. How she held her audience! How entertained and moved they listened for an hour to sweet Lady Astor and stern Lady Astor and light Lady Astor and genuine Lady Astor and vivid Lady Astor and thoughtful Lady Astor and play-to-'em Lady Astor and tell-'em-the-truth Lady Astor and Virginian Lady Astor and British Lady Astor and all the other Lady Astors of which Lady Astor is made."

And here is part of what a London correspondent says about her:

"'She has zip, vim and bang in excess,' I heard an American man say. She is a force in England. She has introduced into our British blood and politics some very lively and efficient American corpuscles. They are doing us good.

"Here is an American woman who in England has become by far the most dominant figure in the United Kingdom. She gets far more space than the queen or even the Princess Mary in the newspapers, and it is true in these days that everything which is said about her is good natured and in general admiring—which used not to be the case. I have never known another triumph so peculiar and complete."

F. C. Billard Now Heads Coast Guard

Frederick C. Billard of Maryland, who has been serving with the rank of lieutenant commander as aid to the captain commandant of the United States Coast Guard, Commodore William E. Reynolds, has been appointed by the President to succeed his chief, who retires because of age. Commodore Billard has been twenty-nine years in the service.

The Coast Guard is much in evidence just now in connection with the Eighteenth amendment. But it is always a service full of romance and adventure. It is a consolidation, which took place in 1915, of the revenue cutter service (1790) and the life-saving service (1848). It costs about ten millions a year to maintain it and its personnel numbers about 5,000. There are in ordinary times about 35 cruising and harbor cutters and 275 coast stations. In peace times it operates under the secretary of the navy and in war times under the secretary of the treasury. It rescues several thousands from death every year and assists many thousands more in shipwrecks.

MONARCH COCOA

The real Dutch process rich, smooth, delicious

Buy it at your grocer's

MONARCH QUALITY

Coffee
Tea
Cocoa
Catsup
Chili Sauce
Salad Dressing
Tomatoes
Pineapples
Mince Meat
Red Pitted Cherries
Loganberries
Spinach
Sweet Relish
Grape Juice
Stringless Beans
Asparagus Tips
Pork and Beans
Grape Fruit Hearts
Sliced Peaches
Corn
Fruit Salad
White Cherries
Pears
Beets
Yellow Cling Peaches
Salmon
Milk
Prepared Mustard
Grated Pineapple
Wax Beans
Sweet Peas
Olive Oil
Peanut Butter
Red Raspberries
Apricots
Pumpkin
Food of Wheat Preserves
Barly June Peas
Red Kidney Beans

GROCERS:

If our salesmen do not reach you, write for our special proposition on Monarch Dutch Process Cocoa, Farm House American Process Cocoa and the world famous Monarch Coffee. Write today to the office nearest you.

REID, MURDOCH & CO.

Established 1853

Chicago Pittsburgh New York

It's Easy to Keep Walls Clean

—not only walls and ceilings, but tops of windows, doors, mouldings and picture frames too—all can be kept spic-and-span with a NORTH RIDGE Wall Brush.

And the work is so easy! No stretching, straining or climbing on tippy chairs or step-ladders—no mussy, dusty rag to flick dust in your face. The extra large, full, fine bristled brush gathers up all the dust and dirt. Endorsed by Good Housekeeping and Modern Priscilla. Every home needs one.

10 DAYS FREE TRIAL

—and a Valuable Premium Given With Every Order

The price is only $2.50. We prepay postage and include a useful surprise premium brush free with every order. Send money order or draft for $2.50 or instruct us to ship C. O. D. then pay postman on delivery. If not satisfied after 10 days trial in your own home, send it back and we'll refund your money. Ask for catalog of NORTH RIDGE Brushes for every household and personal use.

NORTH RIDGE BRUSH CO.

Dept. 28 Freeport, Illinois

One of the largest twisted-in-wire brush manufacturers in America.

Local Representatives Wanted

We want a capable, ambitious man or woman to demonstrate and take orders for NORTH RIDGE Brushes in every locality. Selling experience valuable but not absolutely necessary. We train you. Chance for you or someone you recommend to develop a profitable, permanent business.

Fill out coupon below and attach to your letter stating age, experience, etc.

NAME.....

STREET ADDRESS.....

CITY.....STATE.....

The Generous Roomer

An impecunious tenant had not paid the rent of his room for several months.

"Look here," said the landlord. "I'll meet you half way. I am ready to forget half of what you owe!"

"Right. I'll meet you. I'll forget the other half."

Any fool counterfeiter can make money, but it takes a smart man to get rid of it.

An extraordinarily fine family tree sometimes puts some of the later scions in the shade.

Some Horse

A young married artist has a predilection for talking in his sleep. Several times recently he mentioned the name "Irene," and his wife questioned him about it.

"Oh, that," said he, thinking fast, "is the name of a horse."

Several days later when he came home he asked his wife the news of the day.

"Nothing exciting happened," she said, "except your horse called up twice."

A man is generous to a fault when he fails to correct it.

Children Cry for "Castoria"

A Harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups — No Narcotics!

Mother! Fletcher's Castoria has been in use for over 30 years to relieve babies and children of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and, by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving natural sleep without opiates. The genuine bears signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

Larry's Big Mistake

By AUSTIN FLEET

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

IT WAS a long cry to the days when Larry was a crook. He lived with his wife and little son in an old brick house in the suburbs and earned a respectable living as a truckster. Also his mother-in-law, whom he detested, boarded with him and contributed substantially to the family income. His mother-in-law was supposed to be rich; nobody knew how much she had, but by the way she dominated the house she ought to have been a millionairess.

It was a two-family house. The other part was occupied by an old female miser. Oh, they were a pretty pair, the miseress and the mother-in-law. And, being much of a muchness, they were as thick as two thieves together.

Larry had fallen on evil days. He was sick of the whole business. He wanted to get out, but Mrs. Larry wouldn't leave her mother.

"Don't be silly, Larry," she said. "Ma isn't strong and she may croak any day, and nobody knows how much that woman's worth. It may be millions."

Larry grunted. Privately he was resolved to beat it, mother-in-law or no, and then present an ultimatum to his wife to follow or not, as she pleased.

Then came the great discovery. The cellar of the house was common property. Under the cement, cunningly concealed, Larry came upon a box.

He opened it. It was full of jewelry, which his practiced eye assessed at once as worth four or five thousand dollars.

It belonged to the old miser. No doubt of that. Also the box hadn't been opened for months. Larry could see that.

He did not hesitate a minute. What use was it to the old woman, when, in Larry's hands, it meant freedom from mother-in-law?

Without a qualm he quietly abstracted the contents. In his first spare time he took the stuff to Isaacs, the fence.

"Thought you was out of the business, Larry?" Isaacs grinned.

"Well, I come back," said Larry. "That stuff's worth five thousand if it's worth a bean."

Isaacs inspected it. "Give you eight hundred, Larry," he said.

"Say, what you giving me! Two thousand!"

"Mebbe I'd make it nine," said Isaacs meditatively.

"Fifteen hundred or I take it away," said Larry.

They compromised on a thousand, which was paid over on the nail, and Larry climbed aboard his truck and went about his business, conscious of the bills in his hip pocket.

He had never felt so pleased with himself. If the old miser ever went to look at her board, it might not be for months, and meanwhile Larry could have made good his escape. A thousand dollars would furnish them in style with a fine apartment in another part of the town, and—there'd be no more mother-in-law.

As he reflected, he would certainly have to present Milly with an ultimatum about mother-in-law. And it was unfortunate that the old woman was not on good terms with the miseress downstairs. While Larry was gone and the discovery was made, suspicion might point to him.

But nothing could be proved. And any fears that Larry had were removed by the feeling of that wad in his hip-pocket.

He made his way home rejoicing, the declaration already framed. Milly met him at the door in tears.

"Larry," she sobbed, "Larry, mother's had a stroke."

Concealing his glee, Larry went upstairs. The old lady was lying on the bed breathing heavily. Beside her stood the doctor. He turned to answer Larry's unspoken question.

"I'm afraid there's not much hope for her," he said.

And that was a true prophecy, for five days later the old lady died.

The will was read. The vindictive old woman had left all her property to her other daughter, "on account of my daughter Milly having married beneath her and disgraced the family name." Milly's sole legacy consisted of "my valuable jewelry, being a diamond pendant, two emerald bracelets, a pearl necklace appraised at six thousand seven hundred dollars."

"Where can it be, Larry?" demanded Milly. "It isn't in the bank—it isn't mine. It seems to have been a delusion of mother's. I remember those things when I was a girl, but she must have sold them—what's the matter, Larry?"

"Aw, nothing," grunted Larry. "I guess that's part of the old cat's revenge. Fergit it!"

Her Object.

"So Miss Mugg is taking violin lessons."

"Yes, I suppose she wants to be sure of one bow, at least."—Boston Transcript.

Etiquette.

A—Didn't you notice me in town yesterday? I saw you twice.

B—I never notice people in that condition.—London Answers.

That's Different.

Blink—I wasn't able to do a bit of work at my office yesterday.

Blank—Why—acute indigestion?

Blink—No, a cute traveling salesman.

WORST AMONG EVIL SPIRITS

Among Other Misdeeds, Asmodeus Is Said to Have Usurped the Throne of Solomon for a Time.

In Jewish demonology Asmodeus was an evil spirit who was said to have possessed what today would be called an X-ray eye. Asmodeus is sometimes jocularly spoken of as destroying matrimonial happiness. In the apocryphal book of Tobias, the Detroit News states, he is represented as loving Sara, the daughter of Raguel and Edna, and causing the death of seven husbands on the bridal night. Tobias, instructed by the angel Raphael, burned the heart and liver of a fish that he caught in the Tigris, and the smell drove the demon into Egypt, where Raphael bound him, leaving Tobias and Sara in peace.

According to the testament of Solomon, Asmodeus brought to Solomon's service the magic worm Shamir, whose touch split stones; he then for a time usurped the throne of Solomon, performing many of the evil deeds attributed to Solomon. Le Sage has made Asmodeus the title character of his "Le Diable Boiteux" ("The Limping Devil, or Devil on Two Sticks"), Asmodeus being fabled as having become lame by breaking his leg. He is released from his prison, a bottle, by Don Cleofas, a young Spanish scholar whom Asmodeus carries in his flight over Madrid, giving him the power of seeing through the roofs and walls of the houses.

TO QUENCH AMERICAN THIRST

Veritable Sea of Soft Drinks Consumed by Thirsty In This Country In a Single Year.

The soft drinks consumed in this country in a single year make up a quantity of liquid refreshment so large that it is hard to conceive of such a volume of varicolored and variflavored waters. If our last year's supply had been available to Methusaleh at the beginning of his alleged 969 years he would have had 8 bottles to dispose of every minute of his mortal span. The cold figures estimated by statisticians tell us that each year thirsty Americans consume 4,000,000,000 bottles of soft drinks, and this total does not include beverages such as near beer, made from cereals. This sparkling flood is poured out from 10,000 bottling establishments and over 110,000 soda counters.

This enormous thirst-quenching industry is a relatively recent development, a result of the rapid commercializing of the discoveries of the chemist. Had not great changes taken place in the beverage industry it is hardly probable it would ever have grown to present proportions.

Manners and the Motor.

The Victorian era undoubtedly had its faults but it's passing has taken away a few things which the world would do better to retain. For instance:

The other afternoon three elegantly dressed young gentlemen, driving up Woodward avenue in a large open automobile, espied a young lady of their acquaintance being taken northward in a street car: They moved over under her window, attracted her attention by several blasts of their horn and, by signs and nods, indicated that she should alight at the next stop and climb in with them.

This she did and the last the writer saw was the four of them bowling merrily along in earnest, but obviously very juvenile, conversation.

But—and this is the point of the story—during all these goings-on not one of the elegantly dressed young gentlemen removed his hat—Detroit News.

Church Will Conduct Clinic.

A clinic in which the discoveries of modern medical and psychological science will be invoked to effect cures will be conducted by the Plymouth Congregational church of Seattle, Wash., according to Dr. Chauncey J. Hawkins, its pastor. Plymouth is one of the oldest and largest churches in Seattle.

"This is no fake faith cure proposition," said Doctor Hawkins. "Faith cures, we know that, but faith is not credulity or superstition. Faith must be based on reasonable and working knowledge.

"When some definite and physical cause is at the base of a disease, medical and surgical science will be used. But when the disease is of such a nature that it can be best reached by the psychologist, the patient will be placed under the care of these specialists."

Queen Establishes Rest Cure.

Queen Victoria of Sweden has begun the establishment of a rest cure for women as her investment of the $45,000 which she received on her sixtieth birthday last year, as a gift subscribed by the women of her country, and her popularity has been enhanced more than ever by this act.

The site of the new rest cure is the picturesque island of Oland, in the Baltic, just off the southwest coast of Sweden, where the queen's favorite summer villa, "Solliden," is situated. She has purchased three houses, which will be reconstructed for the new institution.

Outlawed Moth Baggage.

Empty grain bags have been outlawed in Guatemala, their importation being prohibited by presidential decree. The purpose is to prevent the introduction of a moth, called the "gorgojo," found in many of the coffee-producing countries and very harmful to the coffee bean.

WINDMILLS OF THE FUTURE

They May Provide Electric Power When Coal and Oil Fields Are Giving Out.

"The exhaustion of our coal and oil fields is a matter of centuries only," writes J. B. S. Haldane, the distinguished British scientist, in his article, "If You Were Alive in 2123," in Century. "As it has often been assumed that their exhaustion would lead to the collapse of industrial civilization, I may perhaps be pardoned if I give some of the reasons which lead me to doubt this proposition.

"Water power is not, I think, a probable substitute on account of its small quantity, seasonal fluctuation and sporadic distribution. It may perhaps, however, shift the center of industrial gravity to well-watered mountainous tracts, such as the Himalayan foothills, British Columbia and Armenia. Ultimately, we shall have to tap those intermittent, but inexhaustible, sources of power, the wind and the sunlight. The problem is simply one of storing their energy in a form as convenient as coal or petrol. If a windmill in one's back garden could produce a hundredweight of coal daily (and it can produce its equivalent in energy), our coal mines would shut down tomorrow. Even tomorrow a cheap, fool-proof and durable storage battery may be invented that will enable us to transform the intermittent energy of the wind into continuous electric power.

"Among its more obvious advantages will be the fact that energy will be as cheap in one part of the country as another, so that industry will be greatly decentralized; and that no smoke or ash will be produced."

HEARD VOICE FROM ABOVE

Little Boy in the Sleeping Car Thought It Must Be God Who Was Speaking.

Little Frederick, en route with his parents, was put to bed in the lower berth across the aisle from them, an elderly gentleman occupying the upper over him. It was Freddie's first sleeping car experience and he was a little nervous. His mother, to reassure him, said: "Now, don't be afraid, mamma and daddy will be just across the aisle, and you know God is always with you."

After the lights were turned out that lonesome feeling got too much for him, and he called out:

"Mother, are you there?"

"Yes, darling," mother answered. "I'm here."

"Daddy"—a moment later—"are you there?"

"Yes, son. I'm here. Go to sleep like a good boy."

In a moment the questions were repeated, with answers satisfactory—for the time being—to Freddie, if not to the other passengers.

After a short silence his voice again cut through the car with "Mother, are you there?"

A deep voice from above announced:

"Yes, your mother is there and your father is there, and I am here."

Then came Freddie's tremulous query:

"Mother, was that God?"—Pullman News.

Artificial Silk in Japan.

The manufacturers of artificial silk have made very little progress in Japan, being confined to the production of coarse yarns of inferior quality. Imports of artificial silk in 1922 amounted to 225,840 pounds—an increase of 62.7 per cent over 1921.

Unofficial estimates place the Japanese imports from January 1 to April 24, 1923, at 178,725 pounds, or about 79 per cent of the total artificall silk imports in 1922. The use of artificial silk in Japan was formerly limited to the manufacture of neckties and shawls, but it is now being used for hosiery and mixed silk textiles.—United States Commerce Report.

SALE DATES

A. C. Carpenter, farm sale, Jan. 28
Emil Lau, Duroc Sale, Tues. Jan. 29
John Woods, farm sale, Febr. 5.
Hegland Bros., farm sale, Feb. 11.

HIGHWAYS VITAL TO BETTER CIVILIZATION

European Experience Proves Need Of Roads in America

The part that highways play in the progress of civilization is well shown by the experience of Europe during the past 2,000 years. From the golden milestone in Rome great highways were built to the remotest bounds of the Roman Empire. Over them went the Roman soldier, and with him law and order. Over them went the Greek schoolmaster, and with him went schools and colleges. Over them went the missionary of the Cross, and with him the church, hospital medical science, and improved agriculture.

Present day halls of justice, schools, colleges and universities, great churches and cathedrals, and the maximum of population, wealth and culture, are found along the highways thrown out from Rome.

On that fateful July day, when the German thrust the point of his wedge between the English and the French at Chateau Thierry, and there was not a man or a gun to oppose their march to the English Channel, it was the highways which saved Europe. Fifty miles away were forty thousand U. S. Marines and other troops and a thousand American-made motor trucks. Due to the splendid roads of France, they arrived on time, and the "shock-troops" of the German Army were hurled back. The motor truck and the roads of France saved civilization.

If for twenty centuries the system of highways has been the mold into which sixty generations of Europeans have been run and have taken shape, who can measure the influence on American life of a national highway system, gridironing this land between ocean and ocean and connecting all the county seats of all the States? When the rate of speed on Europe's roads was but three to six miles per hour for passengers and two miles per hour for freight, the highway determined twenty centuries of history. What will be the effect on American life with highways which speed up the movement of passengers to twenty-five or even forty miles an hour of freight to twelve or even thirty miles per hour at the same time reducing the cost

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Kahrs' Drug Store — Phone 4009

Klemme, Iowa

DO NOT DELAY

Only a Few Days To Get Free Trial

Remember—Small Payment Down—

A Year to Pay

Remember—A Nationally Known Product With—

A Year to Pay

A.B.C. Washing Machine

Call Any One at
Iowa Falls Electric Co., Iowa Falls
Wellesburg Electric Co., Wellsburg
Peterson Electric Shop, Dows
Iowa Falls Electric Co., Garner

This massive co-operative sale during January 1924, gives you the opportunity to actually try in your own home the latest word in electric washing machines.

Don't Waste Any Time, Call Today
A Year To Pay
PAY ON YOUR LIGHT BILLS

Iowa Falls Electric Co.

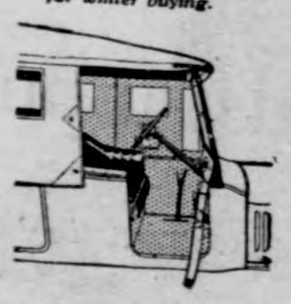
$295 F.O.B. DETROIT

Starter and Demountable Rims $85.00 Extra

Why You Should Order Your Ford Car Now

123,607

Actual retail deliveries in December, establishing a new high record for winter buying.



Considering that, as spring approaches, retail buying will become more active, there will be a greater demand for Ford Cars this spring than ever before.

Therefore, the only way you can be sure of obtaining delivery this coming spring or summer is to place your order immediately.

If you do not wish to pay cash for your car you can arrange for a small payment down and easy terms on the balance. Or you can buy on the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

See the Nearest Authorized Ford Dealer

Ford Motor Company
Detroit, Michigan

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Office opposite from Hotel Klemme
Phone No. 19
Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

Frank Gruetzmacher and Al Emerson left in the former's car for Britt Tuesday afternoon, with the intention of seeing a basket ball game there. They had bad going between Garner and Britt and had to be pulled out of the snow drifts twice. They came home on the train next morning to Garner and came down from there in a car.

New Spring Goods--

For Your Spring Sewing

We have just received and unpacked our new line of Spring Goods, which are now on display in our Store. Come in early and take your choice of this large, new line of the latest in Spring Merchandise. We have the following in the new stock—

SILVER TISSUES
SPRING PERCALES
PETER PAN
GINGHAMS
FRENCH GINGHAMS
TRIMMINGS, all kinds.
RATINE
CURTAIN NETS

CURTAIN DRAPES
LINGETTE—this is something new, you have sen it nationally advertised as a very fine material for dainty underthings—ask our clerks to show it to you.
PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERNS—all of the latest patterns for spring.

SPRING SEWING—Now is a good time to do your spring sewing before the rush of house-cleaning. That's why we are now showing our spring goods, so you can do your sewing now, and pick the latest in spring materials from our stock.

The goods we are now showing are absolutely the newest and latest materials from the dry goods mills. You will not find a nicer selection anywhere.

Do Your Spring Sewing Now—

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

AUCTION SALE
HOUSE AND LOT
Saturday, January 26
At 1:30 O'clock

The House and Lot known as the Chas. F. Busch property, legal descriptron being the S½ of the E½ of Outlot No. 2, in Klemme's Addition, Klemme. Iowa will be sold at Auction on the premises.

Good House and Outbuildings

Liberal terms to be announced on day of sale-

Col. J. H. Miller & Col. B. A. Reemstma, —Auctioneers.
State Savings Bank, Klemme. —Clerks

It's All in the Day

By MORRIS SCHULTZ

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

"OH, DEAR, nothing ever happens to me," sighed Milly, as she made her way down to the office, "and now the boss is going bankrupt. I wish"—she paused in her mental speech—"I wish somebody would run away with me, fat, thin, old, young, married or single.

Kramer had a small office, but did a large business. Milly was his stenographer, and there were two or three other girls, but they didn't count. Milly was "it," as far as Kramer was concerned.

She opened the morning's letters, and whistled as she saw the return address on one of the envelopes which she did not open. That was Kramer's private business. Milly knew Kramer was running a good many sidelines.

She was waiting for him when he came in. She saw by the look on his face that the worst had happened. He dictated a few letters and then laid down his papers.

"Miss James," he said, "I'm finished. I'm hopelessly in debt. I can't face the racket. I'm going to beat it West tonight."

"I'm sorry," said Milly vaguely. "Do I get my pay?"

"The other girls do. Not you."

"How's that?" asked Milly.

"Because I'm going to take you with me," answered Kramer.

"But—but I thought you were married?" stammered Milly.

"So I am. Too much married. But I had the devil's row with my wife this morning over the household expenses, and I'm through with her. She's never been a wife to me. I want you instead. What d'you say?"

"Nothing doing," said Milly, though she remembered her wish of that morning and was sorely tempted. She was very fond of Kramer.

"Just as you say," said Kramer after a pause. "I guess you get your money, then."

"You see," said Milly, "it wouldn't work out. I know all about that sideline. You'd get tired of me. What's the matter with your wife? She looks all right to me."

"Oh, there's nothing much the matter with her, except that I'm sick of her," said Kramer. "I suppose I'll have to go alone, then."

"Why don't you try to face things? Isn't there any chance?"

"Not the ghost of one. If I could have sold that patent I was interested in I'd have enough money to fix things fine. But they haven't even had the courtesy to answer my letter about it."

"Who?"

"Why, the Renault company."

"Oh, I meant to give you this letter from them," said Milly, placing it on his desk.

Kramer grabbed at it and opened it. Next moment he emitted a whoop of delight.

"Read that, you girl!" he shouted.

"Keep cool," said Milly. "I'm not the only girl in this joint. They'll think you're murdering me."

She read the letter. It was from the Renault company, and they stated that they had been investigating the matter of the patent, were satisfied that it was a good commercial proposition, and were willing to pay the sum Kramer had asked.

"Whoopee!" said Kramer. "I fixed that figure as a bluff. Never thought they'd fall for it. Expected half as much. That puts everything to rights. Your salary's raised ten dollars a week after this month—no, after next."

A tap at the door interrupted them. A tall, handsome, stately looking woman appeared upon the threshold.

"Dan, I must have some money, and it's no use talking," she said.

Dan Kramer arose from his desk, seized the tall, handsome, stately looking woman around the waist, and waltzed her protestingly around the office.

"Have you gone madder than usual, Dan?" she asked.

"No, honey, we're going to be millionaires in a few months, that's all," said Dan. "You know Miss James, my stenographer? I want you two to get acquainted. We're going to take her out to lunch. Ready, Miss James?"

"Oh, I guess so," answered Milly. "It's all in the day's work, Mr. Kramer."

A Slam at Dad.

The daughter of a certain strict-principled old deacon had attended a dance the previous night, much against her father's wishes. When she appeared for breakfast the next morning, he greeted her with the words:

"Good morning, daughter of Satan."

To which the maiden respectfully replied:

"Good morning, father."—Cornell Widow.

What's in a Name?

First Composer—Did your last song take well?

Second Composer—Didn't make a cent on it. It's unsalable—the title killed it.

First Composer—What is the title?

Second Composer—"Oh, That I Were Young Again." There isn't a woman in the world who'll sing that, said my publisher.

Political Announcements

COUNTY RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election to the office of Recorder of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Clarissa Abel. (J-3)

COUNTY SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Supervisor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—Thos. Berhow. (J-3)

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary —John Suurballe. (J-10)

COUNTY SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican Primary to be held in June, 1924.—H. C. Meyer. (J-10)

COUNTY SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to a decision of the republican voters at the primary election in June, 1924. I solicit your support on a platform of strict economy, fair and impartial treatment.—Wallace Darrah. (J10)

COUNTY AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of County Auditor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters of the June, 1924 Primary.—J. D. Madison. (J-10)

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Verne C. Grau. J-17)

COUNTY SHERIFF

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the republican primaries to be held in June 1924.—Howard Hanson, Crystal Lake.

COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—J. C. Hanson, Garner, Ia. (J-17)

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary...H. A. Sweigard.

News of Goodell And Vicinty

Gus Wenzel and wife were week end visitors at the home of the latter's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Lackore entertained a large number of friends to a dancing party. All present report a very fine time.

Mr. Wm. Heginger is reported as being quite ill with a severe cold.

Mr. Machew and Miss Leona Sandry were married Thursday at the U. B Parsonage by Rev.Tompkins.

Miss Barry, of Belmond, was a business caller in Goodell. While here she organized a class in music.

Frank Nolte, who is in the hospital in Iowa City, is reported to be improving in health, which his many friends are glad to hear.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson were at Meservey calling Monday afternoon.

The North Avery Progressive Club held an all day meeting at the Tom Nelson home. A very interesting program was held.

J. J. Cook and Matt Smith were business callers in Belmond last Tuesday.

Mr. Buche, of Mason City, was a caller at the Chas. Halfpop home.

CARPENTER'S PUBLIC SALE

A. C. Carpenter will hold a public sale at his farm 2½ miles north of Goodell and 3 3-4 miles south of Klemme on

MONDANY, JANUARY 28th

At 11 o'clock. Free Lunch at 12

He will sell 9 head of horses, 25 head of cattle and 30 head of hogs. Also a full line of excellent farm machinery. Terms 8 months.

A. C. CARPENTER,

H. Brummond, Auctionetr — Owen Conwell, Clerk

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Ruth H. Goodhart and husband to Chas. B. Gray W. D. 1-5-24, lots 18 21 of Aud. sub-div to Coryith and NW NW 6-94-26 ex. a tract, and E NE 194-27 ..... $1

Kay E. Jensen to W. J. Modale, W. D., 12-22-23, lot 13 block 6 Woden $1600

Geo. A. Lathrop to Jay C. and Donald Lathrop, W. D., 8-11-22, lot 8 block 15, Garner $1

Short Talks

By

Uncle John

Well, the first thing I did was to go over to the electric light office and see the manager. I told him about what the old man had said, and how I wnted to get the straight of the whole thing, as I suspected there was more to the business than the old gent had let on, so he (the manager) said, "All right, you just come with me, and I'll start showing you right through from bottom to top, from the time the kilowatt hour is first thought of to the time it is lighting some one's house."

"So down to the power plant we went, but as we camt near I heard a loud humming sound, and noticed a lot of large wires running from one end of the building; these wiers seemed to be attached to large iron boxes that were on a platform built of heavy timbers, also at one side of the building, I saw a large coal pile. Well we got inside. There were two large machines running very fast, and in one end of the buildig a large marble board oh which there were a great many instruments, which the manager said were volt meters, recording watt meters, indicating watt meters, ampere meters, graphic meters, switches and such things. The marble board he said was a pnael thebord, and he showed me just where the particular switch was they used to connect up the machintry to the line that went to the part of town I live in. The large machines he said, were generaors. It seems these generators, by revolving at a high spted, generate or make the electricity. Then he went on and explaind to me how the recording watt meters keep track of all the electricity generated, and how the indicating watt meters shoyed what was being dont every minute, and how the graphic meter showed the load at all times. He sure explained a lot of new things to me, and I will have to tell you more about what tlse I saw and heard, next time, as the editor is watching me, and he says, 'Time's up for this week.' "

Larry's Big Mistake

By AUSTIN FLEET

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

IT WAS a long cry to the days when Larry was a crook. He lived with his wife and little son in an old brick house in the suburbs and earned a respectable living as a truckster. Also his mother-in-law, whom he detested, boarded with him and contributed substantially to the family income. His mother-in-law was supposed to be rich; nobody knew how much she had, but by the way she dominated the house she ought to have been a millionairess.

It was a two-family house. The other part was occupied by an old female miser. Oh, they were a pretty pair, the miseress and the mother-in-law. And, being much of a muchness, they were as thick as two thieves together.

Larry had fallen on evil days. He was sick of the whole business. He wanted to get out, but Mrs. Larry wouldn't leave her mother.

"Don't be silly, Larry," she said. "Ma isn't strong, and she may croak any day, and nobody knows how much that woman's worth. It may be millions."

Larry grunted. Privately he was resolved to beat it, mother-in-law or no, and then present an ultimatum to his wife to follow or not, as she pleased.

Then came the great discovery. The cellar of the house was common property. Under the cement, cunningly concealed, Larry came upon a box.

He opened it. It was full of jewelry, which his practiced eye assessed at once as worth four or five thousand dollars.

It belonged to the old miser. No doubt of that. Also the box hadn't been opened for months. Larry could see that.

He did not hesitate a minute. What use was it to the old woman, when, in Larry's hands, it meant freedom from mother-in-law?

Without a qualm he quietly abstracted the contents. In his first spare time he took the stuff to Isaacs, the fence.

"Thought you was out of the business, Larry?" Isaacs grinned.

"Well, I come back," said Larry. "That stuff's worth five thousand if it's worth a bean."

Isaacs inspected it. "Give you eight hundred, Larry," he said.

"Say, what you giving me! Two thousand!"

"Mebbe I'd make it nine," said Isaacs meditatively.

"Fifteen hundred or I take it away," said Larry.

They compromised on a thousand, which was paid over on the nail, and Larry climbed aboard his truck and went about his business, conscious of the huge wad in his hip pocket.

He had never felt so pleased with himself. If the old miser ever went to look at her hoard, it might not be for months, and meanwhile Larry could have made good his escape. A thousand dollars would furnish them in style with a fine apartment in another part of the town, and—there would be no more mother-in-law.

Yes, he reflected, he would certainly have to present Milly with an ultimatum about mother-in-law. And it was unfortunate that the old woman was so chummy with the miseress downstairs. When Larry was gone and the discovery was made, suspicion might point to him.

But nothing could be proved. And any fears that Larry had were relieved by the feeling of that wad in his hip-pocket.

He made his way home rejoicing, the ultimatum already framed. Milly met him at the door in tears.

"Larry," she sobbed, "Larry, mother's had a stroke."

Concealing his glee, Larry went upstairs. The old lady was lying on the bed, breathing heavily. Beside her stood the doctor. He turned to answer Larry's unspoken question.

"I'm afraid there's not much hope for her," he said.

And that was a true prophecy, for five days later the old lady died.

The will was read. The vindictive old woman had left all her property to her other daughter, "on account of my daughter Milly having married beneath her and disgraced the family name." Milly's sole legacy consisted of "my valuable jewelry, being a diamond pendant, two emerald bracelets, a pearl necklace appraised at six thousand seven hundred dollars."

"Where can it be, Larry?" demanded Milly. "It isn't in the bank—it isn't—oh, it seems to have been a delusion of mother's. I remember those things when I was a girl, but she must have sold them—what's the matter, Larry?"

"Aw, nothing," grunted Larry. "I guess that's part of the old cat's revenge. Fergit it!"

Her Object.

"So Miss Mugg is taking violin lessons."

"Yes, I suppose she wants to be sure of one bow, at least."—Boston Transcript.

Etiquette.

A—Didn't you notice me in town yesterday? I saw you twice.

B—I never notice people in that condition.—London Answers.

That's Different.

Blink—I wasn't able to do a bit of work at my office yesterday.

Blank—Why—acute indigestion?

Blink—No, a cute traveling salesman.

WORST AMONG EVIL SPIRITS

Among Other Misdeeds, Asmodeus Is Said to Have Usurped the Throne of Solomon for a Time.

In Jewish demonology Asmodeus was an evil spirit who was said to have possessed what today would be called an X-ray eye. Asmodeus is sometimes jocularly spoken of as destroying matrimonial happiness. In the apocryphal book of Tobias, the Detroit News states, he is represented as loving Sara, the daughter of Raguel and Edna, and causing the death of seven husbands on the bridal night. Tobias, instructed by the angel Raphael, burned the heart and liver of a fish that he caught in the Tigris, and the smell drove the demon into Egypt, where Raphael bound him, leaving Tobias and Sara in peace.

According to the testament of Solomon, Asmodeus brought to Solomon's service the magic worm Shamir, whose touch split stones; he then for a time usurped the throne of Solomon, performing many of the evil deeds attributed to Solomon. Le Sage has made Asmodeus the title character of his "Le Diable Boiteux" ("The Limping Devil, or Devil on Two Sticks"), Asmodeus being fabled as having become lame by breaking his leg. He is released from his prison, a bottle, by Don Cleofas, a young Spanish scholar whom Asmodeus carries in his flight over Madrid, giving him the power of seeing through the roofs and walls of the houses.

TO QUENCH AMERICAN THIRST

Veritable Sea of Soft Drinks Consumed by Thirsty in This Country in a Single Year.

The soft drinks consumed in this country in a single year make up a quantity of liquid refreshment so large that it is hard to conceive of such a volume of varicolored and variflavored waters. If our last year's supply had been available to Methusaleh at the beginning of his alleged 969 years he would have had 8 bottles to dispose of every minute of his mortal span. The cold figures estimated by statisticians tell us that each year thirsty Americans consume 4,000,000,000 bottles of soft drinks, and this total does not include beverages such as near beer, made from cereals. This sparkling flood is poured out from 10,000 bottling establishments and over 110,000 soda counters.

This enormous thirst-quenching industry is a relatively recent development, a result of the rapid commercializing of the discoveries of the chemist. Had not great changes taken place in the beverage industry it is hardly probable it would ever have grown to present proportions.

Manners and the Motor.

The Victorian era undoubtedly had its faults but it's passing has taken away a few things which the world would do better to retain. For instance:

The other afternoon three elegantly dressed young gentlemen, driving up Woodward avenue in a large open automobile, espied a young lady of their acquaintance being taken northward in a street car: They moved over under her window, attracted her attention by several blasts of their horn and, by signs and nods, indicated that she should alight at the next stop and climb in with them.

This she did and the last the writer saw was the four of them bowling merrily along in earnest, but obviously very juvenile, conversation.

But—and this is the point of the story—during all these goings-on not one of the elegantly dressed young gentlemen removed his hat.—Detroit News.

Church Will Conduct Clinic.

A clinic in which the discoveries of modern medical and psychological science will be invoked to effect cures will be conducted by the Plymouth Congregational church of Seattle, Wash., according to Dr. Chauncey J. Hawkins, its pastor. Plymouth is one of the oldest and largest churches in Seattle.

"This is no fake faith cure proposition," said Doctor Hawkins. "Faith cures, we know that, but faith is not credulity or superstition. Faith must be based on reasonable and working knowledge.

"When some definite and physical cause is at the base of a disease, medical and surgical science will be used. But when the disease is of such a nature that it can be best reached by the psychologist, the patient will be placed under the care of these specialists."

Queen Establishes Rest Cure.

Queen Victoria of Sweden has begun the establishment of a rest cure for women as her investment of the $45,000 which she received on her sixtieth birthday last year, as a gift subscribed by the women of her country, and her popularity has been enhanced more than ever by this act.

The site of the new rest cure is the picturesque island of Oland, in the Baltic, just off the southwest coast of Sweden, where the queen's favorite summer villa, "Solliden," is situated. She has purchased three houses, which will be reconstructed for the new institution.

Outlawed Moth Baggage.

Empty grain bags have been outlawed in Guatemala, their importation being prohibited by presidential decree. The purpose is to prevent the introduction of a moth, called the "gorgojo," found in many of the coffee-producing countries and very harmful to the coffee bean.

WINDMILLS OF THE FUTURE

They May Provide Electric Power When Coal and Oil Fields Are Giving Out.

"The exhaustion of our coal and oil fields is a matter of centuries only," writes J. B. S. Haldane, the distinguished British scientist, in his article, "If You Were Alive in 2123," in Century. "As it has often been assumed that their exhaustion would lead to the collapse of industrial civilization, I may perhaps be pardoned if I give some of the reasons which lead me to doubt this proposition.

"Water power is not, I think, a probable substitute on account of its small quantity, seasonal fluctuation and sporadic distribution. It may perhaps, however, shift the center of industrial gravity to well-watered mountainous tracts, such as the Himalayan foothills, British Columbia and Armenia. Ultimately, we shall have to tap those intermittent, but inexhaustible, sources of power, the wind and the sunlight. The problem is simply one of storing their energy in a form as convenient as coal or petrol. If a windmill in one's back garden could produce a hundredweight of coal daily (and it can produce its equivalent in energy), our coal mines would shut down tomorrow. Even tomorrow a cheap, fool-proof and durable storage battery may be invented that will enable us to transform the intermittent energy of the wind into continuous electric power.

"Among its more obvious advantages will be the fact that energy will be as cheap in one part of the country as another, so that industry will be greatly decentralized; and that no smoke or ash will be produced."

HEARD VOICE FROM ABOVE

Little Boy in the Sleeping Car Thought It Must Be God Who Was Speaking.

Little Frederick, en route with his parents, was put to bed in the lower berth across the aisle from them, an elderly gentleman occupying the upper over him. It was Freddie's first sleeping car experience and he was a little nervous. His mother, to reassure him, said: "Now, don't be afraid, mamma and daddy will be just across the aisle, and you know God is always with you."

After the lights were turned out that lonesome feeling got too much for him, and he called out:

"Mother, are you there?"

"Yes, darling," mother answered. "I'm here."

"Daddy"—a moment later—"are you there?"

"Yes, son. I'm here. Go to sleep like a good boy."

In a moment the questions were repeated, with answers satisfactory—for the time being—to Freddie, if not to the other passengers.

After a short silence his voice again cut through the car with "Mother, are you there?"

A deep voice from above announced:

"Yes, your mother is there and your father is there, and I am here."

Then came Freddie's tremulous query:

"Mother, was that God?"—Pullman News.

Artificial Silk in Japan.

The manufacturers of artificial silk have made very little progress in Japan, being confined to the production of coarse yarns of inferior quality. Imports of artificial silk in 1922 amounted to 225,840 pounds—an increase of 62.7 per cent over 1921.

Unofficial estimates place the Japanese imports from January 1 to April 24, 1923, at 178,725 pounds, or about 79 per cent of the total artificail silk imports in 1922. The use of artificial silk in Japan was formerly limited to the manufacture of neckties and shawls, but it is now being used for hosiery and mixed silk textiles.—United States Commerce Report.

SALE DATES

A. C. Carpenter, farm sale, Jan. 28
Emil Lau, Duroc Sale, Tues. Jan. 29
John Woods, farm sale, Febr. 5.
Hegland Bros., farm sale, Feb. 11.

HIGHWAYS VITAL TO BETTER CIVILIZATION

European Experience Proves Need Of Roads in America

The part that highways play in the progress of civilization is well known by the experience of Europe during the past 2,000 years. From the golden milestone in Rome great highways were built to the remotest bounds of the Roman Empire. Over them went the Roman soldier, and with him law and order. Over them went the Greek schoolmaster, and with him went schools and colleges. Over them went the missionary of the Cross, and with him the church, hospital medical science, and improved agriculture.

Present day halls of justice, schools, colleges and universities, great churches and cathedrals, and the maximum of population, wealth and culture, are found along the highways thrown out from Rome.

On that fateful July day, when the German thrust the point of his wedge between the English and the French at Chateau Thierry, and there was not a man or a gun to oppose their march to the English Channel, it was the highways which saved Europe. Fifty miles away were forty thousand U. S. Marines and other troops and a thousand American-made motor trucks. Due to the splendid roads of France, they arrived on time, and the "shock-troops" of the German Army were hurled back. The motor truck and the roads of France saved civilization.

If for twenty centuries the system of highways has been the mold into which sixty generations of Europeans have been run and have taken shape, who can measure the influence on American life of a national highway system, gridironing this land between ocean and ocean and connecting all the county seats of all the States? When the rate of speed on Europe's roads was but three to six miles per hour for passengers and two miles per hour for freight, the highway determined twenty centuries of history. What will be the effect on American life with highways which speed up the movement of passengers to twenty-five or even forty miles an hour of freight twelve or even thirty miles per hour at the same time reducing the cost

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Kahrs' Drug Store — Phone 4009

Klemme, Iowa

DO NOT DELAY

Only a Few Days To Get Free Trial

Remember—Small Payment Down—

A Year to Pay

Remember—A Nationally Known Product With—

A Year to Pay

A.B.C. Washing Machine

Call Any One at
Iowa Falls Electric Co., Iowa Falls
Wellesburg Electric Co., Wellsburg
Peterson Electric Shop, Dows
Iowa Falls Electric Co., Garner

This massive co-operative sale during January 1924, gives you the opportunity to actually try in your own home the latest word in electric washing machines.

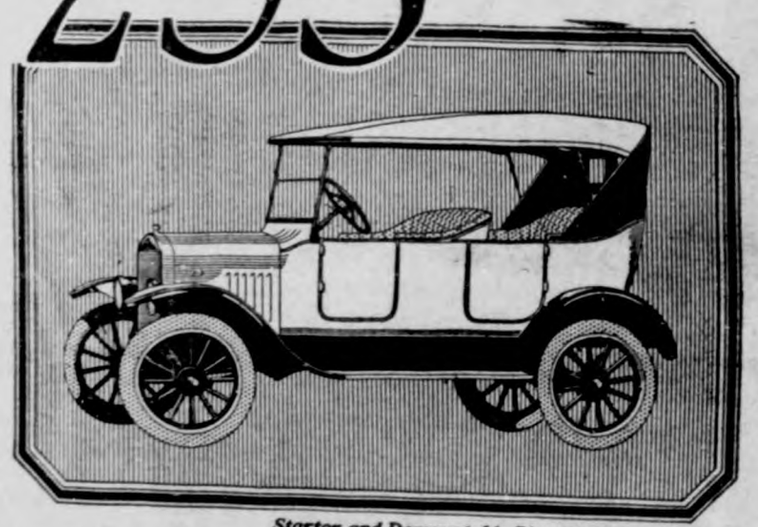
Don't Waste Any Time, Call Today

A Year To Pay

PAY ON YOUR LIGHT BILLS

Iowa Falls Electric Co.

$295 F.O.B. DETROIT

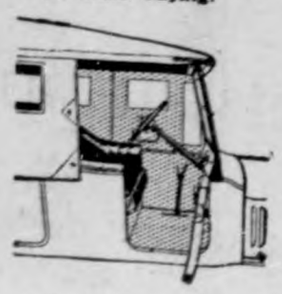


Starter and Demountable Rims $85.00 Extra

Why You Should Order Your Ford Car Now

123,607

Actual retail deliveries in December, establishing a new high record for winter buying.



Considering that, as spring approaches, retail buying will become more active, there will be a greater demand for Ford Cars this spring than ever before.

Therefore, the only way you can be sure of obtaining delivery this coming spring or summer is to place your order immediately.

If you do not wish to pay cash for your car you can arrange for a small payment down and easy terms on the balance. Or you can buy on the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

See the Nearest Authorized Ford Dealer

Ford Motor Company
Detroit, Michigan

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Office opposite from Hotel Klemme
Phone No. 19
Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

Frank Gruetzmacher and Al Emerson left in the former's car for Britt Tuesday afternoon, with the intention of seeing a basket ball game there. They had bad going between Garner and Britt and had to be pulled out of the snow drifts twice. They came home on the train next morning to Garner and came down from there in a car.

New Spring Goods--

For Your Spring Sewing

We have just received and unpacked our new line of Spring Goods, which are now on display in our Store. Come in early and take your choice of this large, new line of the latest in Spring Merchandise. We have the following in the new stock—

SILVER TISSUES
SPRING PERCALES
PETER PAN
GINGHAMS
FRENCH GINGHAMS
TRIMMINGS, all kinds.
RATINE
CURTAIN NETS

CURTAIN DRAPES
LINGETTE—this is something new, you have sen it nationally advertised as a very fine material for dainty underthings—ask our clerks to show it to you.
PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERNS—all of the latest patterns for spring.

SPRING SEWING—Now is a good time to do your spring sewing before the rush of house-cleaning. That's why we are now showing our spring goods, so you can do your sewing now, and pick the latest in spring materials from our stock.

The goods we are now showing are absolutely the newest and latest materials from the dry goods mills. You will not find a nicer selection anywhere.

Do Your Spring Sewing Now—

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

AUCTION SALE

HOUSE AND LOT

Saturday, January 26

At 1:30 O'clock

The House and Lot known as the Chas. F. Busch property, legal descriptron being the S½ of the E½ of Outlot No. 2, in Klemme's Addition, Klemme. Iowa will be sold at Auction on the premises.

Good House and Outbuildings

Liberal terms to be announced on day of sale-

Col. J. H. Miller & Col. B. A. Reemstma, —Auctioneers.

State Savings Bank, Klemme. —Clerks

It's All in the Day

By MORRIS SCHULTZ

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

"OH, DEAR, nothing ever happens to me," sighed Milly, as she made her way down to the office, "and now the boss is going bankrupt. I wish"—she paused in her mental speech—"I wish somebody would run away with me, fat, thin, old, young, married or single.

Kramer had a small office, but did a large business. Milly was his stenographer, and there were two or three other girls, but they didn't count. Milly was "it," as far as Kramer was concerned.

She opened the morning's letters, and whistled as she saw the return address on one of the envelopes which she did not open. That was Kramer's private business. Milly knew Kramer was running a good many sidelines.

She was waiting for him when he came in. She saw by the look on his face that the worst had happened. He dictated a few letters and then laid down his papers.

"Miss James," he said, "I'm finished. I'm hopelessly in debt. I can't face the racket. I'm going to beat it West tonight."

"I'm sorry," said Milly vaguely. "Do I get my pay?"

"The other girls do. Not you."

"How's that?" asked Milly.

"Because I'm going to take you with me," answered Kramer.

"But—but I thought you were married?" stammered Milly.

"So I am. Too much married. But I had the devil's row with my wife this morning over the household expenses, and I'm through with her. She's never been a wife to me. I want you instead. What d'you say?"

"Nothing doing," said Milly, though she remembered her wish of that morning and was sorely tempted. She was very fond of Kramer.

"Just as you say," said Kramer after a pause. "I guess you get your money, then."

"You see," said Milly, "it wouldn't work out. I know all about that sideline. You'd get tired of me. What's the matter with your wife? She looks all right to me."

"Oh, there's nothing much the matter with her, except that I'm sick of her," said Kramer. "I suppose I'll have to go alone, then."

"Why don't you try to face things? Isn't there any chance?"

"Not the ghost of one. If I could have sold that patent I was interested in I'd have enough money to fix things fine. But they haven't even had the courtesy to answer my letter about it."

"Who?"

"Why, the Renault company."

"Oh, I meant to give you this letter from them," said Milly, placing it on his desk.

Kramer grabbed at it and opened it. Next moment he emitted a whoop of delight.

"Read that, you girl!" he shouted.

"Keep cool," said Milly. "I'm not the only girl in this joint. They'll think you're murdering me."

She read the letter. It was from the Renault company, and they stated that they had been investigating the matter of the patent, were satisfied that it was a good commercial proposition, and were willing to pay the sum Kramer had asked.

"Whoopee!" said Kramer. "I fixed that figure as a bluff. Never thought they'd fall for it. Expected half as much. That puts everything to rights. Your salary's raised ten dollars a week after this month—no, after next."

A tap at the door interrupted them. A tall, handsome, stately looking woman appeared upon the threshold.

"Dan, I must have some money, and it's no use talking," she said.

Dan Kramer arose from his desk, seized the tall, handsome, stately looking woman around the waist, and waltzed her protestingly around the office.

"Have you gone madder than usual, Dan?" she asked.

"No, honey, we're going to be millionaires in a few months, that's all," said Dan. "You know Miss James, my stenographer? I want you two to get acquainted. We're going to take her out to lunch. Ready, Miss James?"

"Oh, I guess so," answered Milly. "It's all in the day's work, Mr. Kramer."

A Slam at Dad.

The daughter of a certain strict-principled old deacon had attended a dance the previous night, much against her father's wishes. When she appeared for breakfast the next morning, he greeted her with the words:

"Good morning, daughter of Satan."

To which the maiden respectfully replied:

"Good morning, father."—Cornell Widow.

What's in a Name?

First Composer—Did your last song take well?

Second Composer—Didn't make a cent on it. It's unsalable—the title killed it.

First Composer—What is the title?

Second Composer—"Oh, That I Were Young Again." There isn't a woman in the world who'll sing that, said my publisher.

Political Announcements

COUNTY RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election to the office of Recorder of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Clarissa Abel. (J-3)

COUNTY SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Supervisor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—Thos. Berhow. (J-3)

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary —John Suurballe. (J-10)

COUNTY SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican Primary to be held in June, 1924.—H. C. Meyer. (J-10)

COUNTY SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to a decision of the republican voters at the primary election in June, 1924. I solicit your support on a platform of strict economy, fair and impartial treatment.—Wallace Darrah. (J10)

COUNTY AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of County Auditor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters of the June, 1924 Primary.—J. D. Madison. (J-10)

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Verne C. Grau. J-17)

COUNTY SHERIFF

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the republican primaries to be held in June 1924.—Howard Hanson, Crystal Lake.

COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—J. C. Hanson. Garner, Ia. (J-17)

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary...H. A. Sweigard.

News of Goodell And Vicinty

Gus Wenzel and wife were week end visitors at the home of the latter's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Lackore entertained a large number of friends to a dancing party. All present report a very fine time.

Mr. Wm. Heginger is reported as being quite ill with a severe cold.

Mr. Machew and Miss Leona Sandry were married Thursday at the U. B Parsonage by Rev.Tompkins.

Miss Barry, of Belmond, was a business caller in Goodell. While here she organized a class in music.

Frank Nolte, who is in the hospital in Iowa City, is reported to be improving in health, which his many friends are glad to hear.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson were at Meservey calling Monday afternoon.

The North Avery Progressive Club held an all day meeting at the Tom Nelson home. A very interesting program was held.

J. J. Cook and Matt Smith were business callers in Belmond last Tuesday.

Mr. Buche, of Mason City, was a caller at the Chas. Halfpop home.

CARPENTER'S PUBLIC SALE

A. C. Carpenter will hold a public sale at his farm 2½ miles north of Goodell and 3 3-4 miles south of Klemme on

MONDANY, JANUARY 28th

At 11 o'clock. Free Lunch at 12

He will sell 9 head of horses, 25 head of cattle and 30 head of hogs. Also a full line of excellent farm machinery. Terms 8 months.

A. C. CARPENTER,

H. Brummond, Auctionetr — Owen Conwell, Clerk

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Ruth H. Goodhart and husband to Chas. B. Gray W. D. 1-5-24, lots 18 21 of Aud. sub-div to Coryith and NW NW 6-94-26 ex. a tract, and E NE 194-27 ..... $1

Kay E. Jensen to W. J. Modale, W. D., 12-22-23, lot 13 block 6 Woden $1600

Geo. A. Lathrop to Jay C. and Donald Lathrop, W. D., 8-11-22, lot 8 block 15, Garner $1

Short Talks

By

Uncle John

Well, the first thing I did was to go over to the electric light office and see the manager. I told him about what the old man had said, and how I wnted to get the straight of the whole thing, as I suspected there was more to the business than the old gent had let on, so he (the manager) said, "All right, you just come with me, and I'll start showing you right through from bottom to top, from the time the kilowatt hour is first thought of to the time it is lighting some one's house."

"So down to the power plant we went, but as we camt near I heard a loud humming sound, and noticed a lot of large wires running from one end of the building; these wiers seemed to be attached to large iron boxes that were on a platform built of heavy timbers, also at one side of the building, I saw a large coal pile. Well we got inside. There were two large machines running very fast, and in one end of the buildig a large marble board on which there were a great many instruments, which the manager said were volt meters, recording watt meters, indicating watt meters, ampere meters, graphic meters, switches and such things. The marble board he said was a pnael thebord, and he showed me just where the particular switch was they used to connect up the machintry to the line that went to the part of town I live in. The large machines he said, were generaors. It seems these generators, by revolving at a high spted, generate or make the electricity. Then he went on and explaind to me how the recording watt meters keep track of all the electricity generated, and how the indicating watt meters shoyed what was being dont every minute, and how the graphic meter showed the load at all times. He sure explained a lot of new things to me, and I will have to tell you more about what tlse I saw and heard, next time, as the editor is watching me, and he says, 'Time's up for this week.' "

PANAMA CANAL DEFENSE WEAK

"Foe" Bottles U. S. Fleet Up in Big Ditch in Maneuvers.

Colon.—In the war maneuvers staged between the "Black" (enemy) and "Blue" (home) fleets for possession of the Panama canal, Rear Admiral Newton McCully's "Black" fleet cruelly defeated a large detachment of the "Blue" fleet leaving the canal, and by Hobsonizing the transport Henderson he left the remaining "Blue" ships bottled up in the partly blocked canal.

Rear Admiral McCully's control of the Carribean is a supreme lesson to the nation that the canal is undermanned and underranged. Its land defenses were so badly shattered by the "Blacks" that the "Blues" had no shelter for deploying after leaving the canal.

The careful planning and daring execution which put the enemy fleet in possession of the Atlantic end of the Panama canal reached its high point in the dash upon Fort Randolph at 4 o'clock in the morning by 1,200 men from the "Black" (enemy) fleet.

This force was not paper, but actually moved 17 miles in the darkness through rough seas from Portobello, republic of Panama, to Slimy beach, lying under the guns of Fort Randolph, the most important defense on the canal's eastern section, the Atlantic side.

The landing force made their way in fifty-foot motor sailboats in a sea running so high that half the troops were desperately sick. One officer remarked that he was so sick on leaving the boat that he did not believe he could march the necessary nve miles. Some of the men lay on the beach like dead animals after their three-hour ordeal on the water.

Approaching Fort Randolph under a smoke screen, 400 marines effected a disembarkation, but not without drawing the fire of the garrison, numerically pitiful, but in spirits wildcats. Five hundred or more marines landed from the 50-foot boats and came in on the wildcats who, now clawing in the front and rear, were captured.

Michigan Students Riot; Demand Head Get Out

Albion, Mich.—Dr. John W. Laird, president of Albion college, was hissed and booed by 550 students in the college chapel. At the end of the meeting, in which Doctor Laird was not permitted to speak, his resignation was demanded by spokesmen for the students on the grounds of "gross incompetency."

The students, it is understood, were angry at the dismissal of a co-ed for smoking.

Live Stock Men End Meet; Re-elect President and Aid

Omaha, Neb. — Delegates to the twenty-seventh annual convention of the American National Live Stock association dispersed to their homes after re-electing Fred H. Bixby, Long Beach, Cal., and C. M. O'Donnel, New Mexico, president and vice president, respectively. Albuquerque, N. M., was chosen for the next convention, but no date was set. This will be decided by the executive committee.

Vanderbilt Gets $8 a Week; Has Six Servants

Boston.—William H. Vanderbilt, twenty-one-year-old heir of a fortune of $20,000,000, is working as an $8 a week messenger in the office of Lee Higginson & Co. here. Vanderbilt says he is not attempting to support his bride on his salary. The Vanderbilts at their Boston home employ a butler and five other servants. Vanderbilt is the son of the late Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt.

Rich Enough, So Gives Business to His Employees

New York.—I. C. Herman, a twin brother of Al Herman, better known in the theatrical world as Al or A. H. Woods, gave away his handkerchief and knit good manufacturing business to two employees. The firm did a $2,000,000 business last year.

"I am rich enough," said Mr. Herman, "so why shouldn't I retire and give the young men a chance?"

Wants U. S. Dry Activity Not to Encroach on States

Richmond, Va.—A resolution memorializing congress to confine federal enforcement of prohibition laws to national activities, such as importation of liquor, and leave domestic problems to the police power of the states, was introduced in the Virginia senate by Senator Barron, Norfolk.

Ford Buys School Building.

Detroit, Mich.—Henry Ford has purchased the "Little Red Schoolhouse" he attended fifty years ago in Dearborn township. The building has not been used for two years; most of the windows are out.

Tire Explosion Kills Man.

Des Moines, Ia.—Roy Vanskike, twenty-four, employee of a local rubber company was instantly killed Friday afternoon when a big truck tire which he was inflating exploded and the rim struck him on the head.

DR. CHARLES J. SMITH

Dr. Charles J. Smith, president of Roanoke college at Salem, Va., who bitterly condemned the modern college girl as a "hard-drinking, cigarette-puffing, licentious amazon."

GIANT U. S. DIRIGIBLE OUTRIDES BIG STORM

Airship Shenandoah Adrift in Gale for Seven Hours.

Lakehurst, N. J.—The Shenandoah, world's largest airship and pride of the United States navy, torn from her mooring mast by a raging storm, for seven hours outfought and outmaneuvered the howling gale and was lowered into her hangar.

She had made the most spectacular fight against the elements that an airship of this variety ever has successfully made.

The ship itself was in good condition except for the rents in the outer bag at its prow, where it had torn loose from its cap on the mooring mast.

These rents delayed the descent of the big ship to the ground, for as it nosed downward the 25-mile wind crowded into the nose and retarded its progress. The ship circled over the landing ground twice before attempting to land.

The crew and officers, numbering in all 22 men, remained on board as the ground crew of nearly 400 sailors and marines walked the ship across the 1,000-foot span to the hangar doors.

The moon slipped from behind a cloud as the ground crew, like ants beside the huge ship, started to pull her toward the hangar. She tugged in their grasp as if she sought to tear off on another wild journey through the air.

U. S. Trade Balance for 1923 Favorable

Washington.—With December exports taking a jump to $425,000,000 and establishing a record for any month since January, 1921, figures issued by the Department of Commerce showed that the United States finished the calendar year of 1923 with a favorable foreign trade balance of $375,948,917. Imports for the month of December were $285,000,000, leaving a commodity balance in this country's favor of $140,000,000 for the month.

Couzens' Wealth Is Tax Exempt, Mellon's Reply

Washington.—Secretary of Treasury Mellon, replying Tuesday to Senator Couzens (Rep., Mich.), declared that the latter's own admission that he has invested his fortune in tax-exempt state and municipal securities proves what has been contended with reference to present high surtax rates. Mr. Couzens has challenged the theory that surtax rates were too high.

German Bonds Jump, Sensation of Wall Street

New York.—The sensation of Wall street Friday was the comeback of German government securities. German government 5s sold 60 days ago at $8 per million marks. Friday $300 per million was bid. Confidential cables from Berlin state that the price there was $450 per million. It is believed the German government has determined to redeem these bonds due October 1, 1924, in real money.

Rope Breaks at Hanging

Fort Madison, Ia.—Roy Maupin was hanged at 7:26 a. m. for the murder of Joe Hayes, Carney (Ia.) miner. As the trap was sprung and Maupin dropped to his death, the rope which suspended him broke midway between the noose and the knot which fastened it to the gallows and the body fell to the ground.

Iowa Man Gets Job.

Washington. — President Coolidge has decided to appoint J. R. Howard of Iowa as the representative of the interior states on the United States shipping board, it was learned from a reliable source here.

Surplus of Labor.

Washington.—A surplus of both skilled and unskilled labor was apparent in December, especially in the larger cities throughout the country, according to a statement issued by the United States Employment service.

TALK ON RADIO 14,000 MILES

Message Travels to Japan and Back in Less Than Two Minutes.

Columbia, Mo.—The traversing of 14,000 miles of land and sea by telephone and radio in one minute and forty-five seconds was accomplished when David Sarnoff, vice president and general manager of the Radio Corporation of America, sent a message to Iwaki station, Japan, and received his answer by telephone here.

Standing in the auditorium of the University of Missouri here, Mr. Sarnoff took up a long distance telephone connected with the radio corporation's station at San Francisco.

"Ask Iwaki how's the weather there," Mr. Sarnoff told the operator at the San Francisco station.

The message was sent at 8:04 o'clock and was relayed by radio to the Iwaki station at Tokmioka, Japan, and a minute and forty-five seconds later the Iwaki station answered:

"Greetings. Thank you for the medal and $500. Weather cold; snow on ground. YONAMURA."

Mr. Sarnoff had communicated with Japan and before the eyes of hundreds of visitors to "farmers' week" here, who packed the university auditorium.

It was the first time in history, Mr. Sarnoff said, that radio communication had ever been established across the ocean and relayed successfully so far inland.

Yonamura, who signed the reply, is the radio operator who was the first to send out the news of the Japanese earthquake disaster. The Radio corporation presented him with a medal and $500 for his heroic efforts.

The communication with Japan here was to demonstrate the possibilities of communication by telephone and radio with other countries and with ships at sea. In an address Mr. Sarnoff predicted that in the future a person would be able to pick up an ordinary telephone and communicate through radio with any ship at sea.

4,005,230 Cars Is Total Output for the Year 1923

Chicago.—Total production of automobiles and trucks during 1923 was about 4,005,230 in the final figures, submitted to the directors of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce at the regular monthly meeting held in New York city. Estimated production, as shown in preliminary figures presented recently, was 4,014,000. The total figure was compiled when December records were produced, showing production for the month to have totaled 296,595 passenger cars and trucks.

U. S. Can't Collect Debt of France, Says Borah

Washington.—A bitter assailment of the French government for failure even to make arrangements for refunding its war debt of $4,000,000,000 to the United States was made in the senate by Senator Borah (Rep., Ida.). "Every indication is that not only has France declined to meet debt payments, but that the French government has no intention to make adjustments, as a creditor in good faith would make, to meet obligations," he said.

Manufacturers Ask House Enact Mellon Tax Plan

Washington.—Fifty thousand manufacturers with 5,000,000 employees urged the ways and means committee of the house to adopt the Mellon plan for tax reduction. James A. Emery and Robert Sinclair, their spokesmen, said such a course would be of vast benefit to industry and to the country generally, bringing relief to every individual in lower costs and sustaining the wave of prosperity.

First Section of Tut's Third Casket Is Removed

Luxor.—Howard Carter took out the first section of the roof on the third casket of Tut-Ankh-Amen's multifarious shrines. The roof is gilded within and without and on the inner side bears the device of five hawks with outspread wings, the figure of the Pharaoh and a number of his cartouches. Above are what seem to be hunting scenes.

Congress Seeks to Cancel the "Teapot" Oil Leases

Washington.—As a result of revelations made in the senate committee investigations into the transfer of government oil reserve lands to private ownership it became virtually certain that congress will demand revocation of the leases in Teapot Dome and other sections.

John Drinkwater Divorced.

London. — Mrs. John Drinkwater was granted a divorce here from the author of "Abraham Lincoln," "Robert E. Lee" and other historical plays. The decree was awarded on statutory grounds.

"King Ben" Loses Fight.

Cincinnati, O.—Benjamin Franklin Purnell and others of the "House of David" in Michigan, lost a motion filed in United States Circuit Court of Appeals for summary reversal of their conviction at Grand Rapids.

JACK J. JONES

Jack J. Jones is the rather violent Labor member of parliament from West Ham who denounced the members of the house of lords because only a few were present to receive the lower house when parliament assembled.

MARKET REPORT

Washington.—For the week ending Jan. 16.—FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Packed northern round white potatoes, $1.20@1.40 in Chicago, $1.10@1.15 f. o. b. Danish cabbage, $35@45 bulk per ton leading markets, $30@35 f. o. b. Wisconsin points. Yellow onions firm at $2.50@3 sacked per 100 lbs. consuming centers. Northv stern extra fancy Winesap apples, $2.25@2.50 per box in Chicago. Texas spinach, $1.60@1.75 per bu. basket in Chicago.

LIVE STOCK—Chicago hog prices: $7.50 for the top and $7@7.40 for the bulk. Medium and good beef steers, $8.40@11.50; butcher cows and heifers, $3.50@11; feeder steers, $4.50@8; light and medium weight veal calves, $9.50@12.75; fat lambs, $12@14; feeding lambs, $11.25@13; yearlings, $9@12, and fat ewes, $5.25@8.25.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $26.50 Cincinnati, $28 Chicago, $25.50 St. Louis; No. 1 alfalfa, $30 Chicago; No. 1 prairie, $20 Chicago, $19.50 St. Louis.

GRAIN—No. 1 dark northern spring wheat, $1.14@1.26½ Minneapolis; No. 2 hard winter wheat, $1.07¾@1.11¾ Chicago, $1.09@1.10 St. Louis; No. 2 red winter wheat, $1.17½@1.19 St. Louis. No. 2 yellow corn, 77½c Chicago; No. 3 yellow corn, 77¼c St. Louis. No. 3 white oats, 45¾@46¼ Chicago; 47¼@47½c St. Louis, 42c Minneapolis.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, at Chicago, 53½c. Cheese, at Wisconsin primary markets: Single daisies, 22¾c; double daisies, 22¼c; longhorns, 23½c; square prints, 24c.

Miners' Wages Cut 20 Per Cent in Eastern Kentucky

Chicago.—Another blow was dealt union operators and miners in the central competitive field when it was learned that nonunion operators in eastern Kentucky have reduced wages to the 1917 level, which means a cut of approximately 20 per cent. Coal men in Chicago were astonished by the information and for the first time thus far were less inclined to minimize the danger of a serious strike in the bituminous fields April 1 next than heretofore.

Six Months' Trial Divorce, First of Kind, Is Granted

Memphis, Tenn.—Judge A. B. Pittman established what is said to be a precedent in Circuit court here when he granted Mrs. Mary Ruth Ferguson Tomlinson a divorce for six months and at the same time dissolved an injunction restraining Tomlinson from visiting her. The latter action, the court explained, was to give Tomlinson a chance to effect a reconciliation. If differences are not adjusted within that time, an application for a permanent injunction would then be in order.

Movies Taken at Speed of 300,000 in Every Minute

London.—Photographs at the rate of 300,000 a minute—31 times as fast as those reeled off by the slow motion picture camera—are being made at Shoeburyness under British government auspices. The camera used in these lightning snapshots weighs two tons, and is being used by ordnance experts to examine the behavior of shells and armor plate.

Landis Hits Coolidge Clemency to I. W. W.

Chicago. — Former Federal Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, before more than 800 American transportation leaders at the annual dinner of the Traffic Club of Chicago attacked President Coolidge for extending a few weeks ago executive clemency to the last group of war-time prisoners serving long sentences at Leavenworth.

Democratic National Body Adds 192 Delegates

Washington.—The Democratic national committee disbanded without making any changes in the convention roll or the two-thirds majority rule. The only material change in the old policies was the provision of four women delegates at large from each state, to have half a vote apiece.

J. S. Martin Dies on Train.

Connellsville, Pa.—J. S. Martin of New York, general agent of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, died shortly after two o'clock in the morning aboard a train as it entered this city.

Illinois Bank Held Up.

Chicago.—Six bandits held up and robbed the Lansing State bank of Lansing, Ill., a suburb near Hammond, Ind., shot and wounded John Beckman, a lumberman of Hammond, and fled with $7,500.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

Two hundred and fifty-thousand Iowans have "woven from rich Iowa soil a beautifully soft and comfortable cocoon, and are now ending their days in the chrysalis stage in California.

One of the most intensive and extensive programs of dairy rallies ever attempted in Iowa started when the first of twenty-three big district creamery meetings convened in Sheldon recently.

Rural organization work, a ten hours special course in rural community singing and other features will be on the program of the 1924 Iowa Farm and Home week here January 28th to February 2nd.

Boy Scouts of eastern Iowa will make a pilgrimage to the birthplace of "Buffalo Bill" Cody, near LeClaire, the week of February 8th, as a part of the celebration of the fourteenth anniversary of the establishment of the scout movement.

A service of considerable importance to Iowa bee owners is being rendered through the demonstration apiary work of the extension service of Iowa State College. That is, if the increasing interest in the demonstrations is any indication.

Washington Lodge, No. 1, I. O. O. F., of Burlington, organized February 3, 1844, and the oldest Odd Fellows lodge in Iowa, will celebrate its 80th anniversary on February 3rd. Plans are being made to celebrate the event with a program fitting to the occasion.

Unless women of Iowa are alert they may again lose their opportunity to have the referendum vote on the right of women to be elected legislators, Dr. Ruth Gallaher of the Iowa Historical Society at Iowa City warned members of the Polk County League of Women Voters.

Iowa is a part of the Louisiana purchase, which was bought from France acre. Iowa's lands are now worth at two and one-half cents an acre. 470 times as much as the total cost of the Louisiana purchase—which was $15,000,000—and practically all this value has been created in the last 75 years.

At the annual meeting of the farm bureau of Emmet county, the new president of the organization, presented as the theme of his address the world export commission, which has been recommended to congress by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace as the best means of helping the farmers of the middle west.

In order to find out just which phase of their farm business is bringing in the profits and which is bringing in the bills, and, especially, to see how profitable their dairy cows are, members of the cow test associations in Bremer and Lee counties have agreed to keep complete financial records of thir farm business during the coming year.

More than $17,000,000 was spent on highway improvements in Iowa during 1923, according to the annual report of the state highway commission which shows that 837.75 miles of primary roads were completed, 100.69 miles paved and 443.79 miles graveled. A total of 1,894 bridges and culverts were built and 409 miles of drainage tiles laid.

The Farm bureau of Crawford county has met and decided to take steps to put the warehouse act of the Iowa assembly into effect in Crawford county. A county sealer is to be who will secure the contents of crib or bin with a government seal, and certify the contest. By provision of law the grain owner can borrow money at 6½ per cent on an amount 75 per cent of the value of his property under seal.

Farmer debate teams in 24 counties in Iowa will be busy as can be the remainder of this month and during February, finding out which one of the 24 is the best in an argument. The following are the counties competing in the inter-county contests: O'Brien, Buena Vista, Woodbury, Sac, Benton, Hardin, Worth, Howard, Bremer, Delaware, Clayton, Dubuque, Scott, Des Moines, Henry Lee, Story, Polk, Warren, Marion, Page, Fremont, Case, Guthrie.

Let one of your New Year resolutions be to file your income tax return early, urges Collector Bladine. Forms for filing individual, corporation, partnership, personal service corporation information, fiduciary and other returns required by the revenue act are now available at the office of collector of internal revenue, and the following branch offices: Cedar Rapids, Council Bluffs, Davenport, Des Moines, Fort Dodge, Mason City, Ottumwa and Sioux City. The filing ing period is from January 1st to March 15th, 1924.

Everyone who likes to listen over the radio and who is interested in learning how to get better results from the home receiving set will find something for him at the Farm and Home short course to be held at Ames, Jan. 28th to February 2nd.

The state department of justice in an opinion forwarded to the board of control has upheld the authority of the board to work prisoners confined in the reformatory at Anamosa and the penitentiary at Fort Madison, in the manufacture of overalls, aprons and like articles to be furnished under contract to an outside company.

"The last drop is as good as the first"

The delicious fragrance of

Baker's Breakfast Cocoa

Its unquestioned purity, uniformity and palatability make constant users of all who try it; it is cocoa of high quality.

Made only by

Walter Baker & Co.

Established 1780

Mills at Dorchester, Mass. and Montreal, Canada

BOOKLET OF CHOICE RECIPES SENT FREE

Knock or Boost?

Swinhem had invented a new restorer and had sent a large number of sample bottles out to various known people in the hope of securing some testimonials for advertising purposes.

"I don't know whether to publish testimonial or not," he said to a friend who was calling on him as he was opening the letters.

"What does it say?" inquired the other.

"Well, it says," said the preventor, "before I used your hair restorer I had only three bald patches now I have only one.'"

WOMEN! DYE FADED THINGS NEW

Dye or Tint Any Worn, Shabby Garment or Drapery.

Diamond Dyes

Each 15-cent package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple that any woman can dye or tint her old, worn, faded thing new, even if she has never dyed before. Choose any color at drug store.—Advertisement.

His Kind Act

The Sunday school teacher was telling her class that they ought to do at least one act each week to make some one else happy.

Turning to one boy, she said, "Now, Robbie, you made anyone happy this week, Robbie?"

"Yes, miss," the boy replied, "I went to see my aunt, and she was happy when I left."

The abuse of money is the root of considerable evil.

Imitation is the sincerest form of flattery.

Mrs. Martha Stray

ARE YOU A SUFFERING WOMAN

Health is Most Important to You

Lincoln, Nebr.—"At one time I became very miserable with weakness from which women suffer. I suffered all the time. One of my neighbors urged me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription because it had cured cases of similar symptoms, so I decided to try it. The first bottle made me feel much better, I took four more, and am certain that in that one expense 'Favorite Prescription' saved me from the operating table and the surgeon's knife. Two years afterwards when the turn of life commenced I took the 'Prescription' again with the result that I came through strong and healthy and am still maintaining wonderful health."—Mrs. Martha Stray, 218 So. 19th St.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. Prescription tablets.

Relief for Coughs

Use PISO'S—this prescription quickly relieves children and adults. A pleasant syrup. No opiates. 35c and 60c sizes sold everywhere.

AN OPEN LETTER TO WOMEN

Tells of Mrs. Vogel's Terrible Suffering and How She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan. — "My troubles were severe pains in my back and terrible bearing-down pains in my right side, also headaches and sleepless nights. I first began having troubles when I was 15, and they have increased as I grew older. A little booklet was left at my door, and I read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women and decided to try it. After the first week I could go to sleep every night and I stopped having that nervous feeling and got a better appetite. The doctor had always said that an operation was the only thing that would help me, but I never had any faith in an operation. Since the Vegetable Compound has started helping me I do not suffer the severe pains, feel stronger, and am able to do my own work. I am more than glad to tell my friends that it helps where other medicines have failed."—Mrs. GUS VOGEL, 6608 Pelouze Street, Detroit, Michigan.

A record of fifty years service must convince women of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER COMPOUND

Horses and Mules can be kept on their feet and working if owners give "SPOHN'S" for Distemper, Influenza, Shipping Fever, Coughs and Colds. Cheapest and surest means of escaping these diseases. Occasional doses work wonders. Give "SPOHN'S" for Dog Distemper. Used for thirty years. 60 cents and $1.20 at drug stores.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO. GOSHEN, IND. U.S.A.

CURES COLDS — LA GRIPPE in 24 Hours — in 3 Days

HILL'S CASCARA QUININE BROMIDE

Standard cold remedy world over. Demand box bearing Mr. Hill's portrait and signature. At All Druggists — 30 Cents

Skin Troubles — Soothed — With Cuticura

Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c.

Garfield Tea

Was Your Grandmother's Remedy

For every stomach and intestinal ill. This good old-fashioned herb home remedy for constipation, stomach ills and other derangements of the system so prevalent these days is in even greater favor as a family medicine than in your grandmother's day.

Sleepiness Elusive

Sleepiness is such an elusive function that it visits you in your evening chair, but flees as soon as bedtime arrives.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Aspirin Marked With "Bayer Cross" Has Been Proved Safe by Millions.

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years. Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

Considered Smoking Crime

Sultans and priests of Turkey once considered smoking tobacco so serious a crime that in many cases torture and death was the punishment meted out to those indulging in it.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP

Allays irritation, soothes and heals throat and lung inflammation. The constant irritation of a cough keeps the delicate mucus membrane of the throat and lungs in a congested condition, which BOSCHEE'S SYRUP gently and quickly heals. For this reason it has been a favorite household remedy for colds, coughs, bronchitis and especially for lung troubles in millions of homes all over the world for the last fifty-seven years, enabling the patient to obtain a good night's rest, free from coughing with easy expectoration in the morning. You can buy BOSCHEE'S SYRUP wherever medicines are sold.

CLEAR your COMPLEXION

Remove all blemishes, discolorations. Have a smooth, soft skin—natural, beautiful. All druggists $1.25. Or send prep'd. Guar'd. Write for booklet. Agts. wanted.

DR. C. H. BERRY CO., 2975 A Mich. Ave., Chicago.

with Firemold

FAMOUS FOR 40 YEARS

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

by Charles Tenney Jackson

Illustrations by Irwin Myers

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company

CHAPTER XV—Continued.

—19—

They stared at him unbelievingly. He threw out an arm, kicked the entangling scabbard from his knees and blustered on:

"Sixteen there must be of you! Six muskets Crackley gave to you—and you have pistols and cutlasses around. Sixteen, fair-armed and desperate, and a longboat in the dark! If you remain here Murillo's men will leave you all to the buzzards tomorrow—I know, I heard them say there were men of Lafitte alive on this reef!"

"They know?" muttered the chief.

"They guess! I say, we can retake the schooner!—the prize guard on her is nothing—the teniente in command can suspect nothing! Once they lay her astern the frigate there is no hope for any of you—"

"We were to send Mademoiselle to the frigate in the longboat," murmured Raoul.

"Throw her to the sharks—they're kinder than Murillo's men! The Spaniards think the schooner was bound to the rebel republics of the South. They will spare none who had to do with her—they blot out every life that could tell of her taking!"

He swung an empty pistol holster and tottered back and forth. Monsieur Sazarac tapped De Almonaster on the shoulder.

"It is the truth. It is a chance. Monsieur, our affair—we shall have to postpone it. And d—n your hot head! . . . Will you understand nothing?"

"Give me this action! Let me be the first to board the Seraphine—I shall show you, Monsieur Sazarac, if I am one to be sent away under the protection of a woman!"

"Nom de Dieu! And for that you would fight me!" breathed the other softly. Then he turned away, hastening to the outlaws down the sand spit.

Jarvis had sat down again. He watched the light in the south—the Napoleon ship, drawing slowly out on the ebb-tide, with the Spanish king's men at the tow-lines.

"If they get a wind," mumbled Jarvis, "we are undone. Then I might as well have stayed and died in the grass. I came to save you all—"

"John!" cried De Almonaster, "what madness seized you to turn upon him at the pinch?"

"I saved you all—" grunted Jarvis indifferently. "The dogs plotted to turn on Sazarac from the moment she—the—well—" he seemed plaintively diffident at her name—"well, the affair of the Genaron. I knew it. They hardly kept it from me, after the rum I broached for them. And once the—she—came aboard there was no hope to stop trouble. I played the fool for them; I roared chanteys in the fo'cas'le— I outdrank the best o' them! I made myself, as you saw—the blanket adviser to them."

"You let them put her adrift from the ship!" said Raoul sternly.

"Yes—to save her from John Crackley. To save you all from walking the plank. Well—" he grunted absently. "I see. You are not grateful. No one is grateful. I play the part of a Sazarac—save that I cannot walk with a sword between my legs—I boast, and pose and swagger . . . that is, I try, Monsieur. You recall the other night? I—alone on the quarter-deck—quite had the stage to myself? I was doing well until my d—d pistol went off quite by accident. Discomfited, I hurried below and drank and ate everything that had been spread for the four of you at the emperor's table. Eh—what did the—she—think of me, Monsieur?"

"She," whispered Raoul hurriedly, "apparently never saw you. That is, I believe she laughed—once—at something."

"Name o' G—d!" breathed the jester. "Ah, well, of course! She laughed when she saw me hanging to the lamp-post. On the staircase—well, I could not see plainly. In fact, I never see her plainly. Or she, me. Of course—I am the ghost . . . I try to strut out in the brave light, but there seems laughter always . . . tilt up the bottle, Raoul—give me the last of it!"

He seemed suddenly startled to discover a white cloak so close to him. In fact, he seeemed to hustle uncertainly from it around to the outer edge of the group that gathered about Sazarac and Mademoiselle. And if she saw him at all; or divined that the fellow of the waistcoat was really this bloody figure that had staggered to them but a moment since, it was plain that he vanished from her sight shortly. He had, indeed, meant to stretch a hand of authority, seeing that the mad plot was his; to ring out a swift and pregnant campaign worthy of a pistoling Sazarac, but now he couldn't. He merely hung off in the grass hummocks, swamp mud and his own blood dripping from him, dangling an empty holster, and listening with mouth agape. She put this spell upon him, it must have been that at once, in her presence, he became a ghost of a man, pursuing his tattered mask of a Sazarac.

Certain it is that, after the leader had told of the thing to be done, and of Jarvis' coming to them, there was such a puzzled, and then a shouting acclaim for the plan, that every one forgot the author of it.

"By Blackbeard himself!" roared Bohon. "It is a scheme that Jean Lafitte would have loved!"

They scattered to the bushes for their few arms and ammunition boxes. Others were working the longboat from the shoals to where the adventurers could wade as she settled with the load of them in deeper water. There was hushed laughter, grim confidence, a jousting, nudging loyalty to the quiet leader. Two huge fellows carried Mademoiselle Lestron from the sands to the boat, in a chair formed of their brawny arms. Then they pushed the longboat slowly, stealthily out to catch the run of the ebb-tide.

"Sazarac," whispered De Almonaster. He was on a mid-thwart with Mademoiselle Lestron at his side. His hand sought hers in the close press of the adventurers crowded in the longboat. She did not resist . . . but she did not return his pressure She was merely calm, watchful, trusting to the skill and courage of Sazarac.

"There's her tops'l above the mist," hissed the Catalan lookout. "Ease off.

And Up and to the Seraphine's Deck There Slid a Dozen Silent Figures.

A wind—a touch of air—is fatal to us! In, lads—I hear their haulboats above us. Come, there's her bulk in the fog!"

De Almonaster felt a pressure on his hand. He bent his head.

"Monsieur—your pistol. Give it to me—I will not fall in their hands alive—if we fail!"

"We will not fail," he whispered moodily. "Why—with Sazarac?"

She wondered if the silent leader at the stern had caught this bitter tribute? There was no more speech for any of them. The girl was staring now, between the press of crouched figures, at the great limp disorder of the snowy sails; it seemed but another moment when the muffled oar blades shot the longboat fair under the schooner's stern. Old hands trembled on long unused weapons; there seemed a muttering and a nodding of heads. . . and then a slight jar, the snap of a hook on a wooden rail, and up and to the Seraphine's deck there slid a dozen silent figures, cutlass cords in teeth, fingers to triggers.

De Almonaster writhed with impatience awaiting his turn. A terrified howl had arisen from some wounded sailors lying in the schooner's waist, who first caught sight of the swarming figures in the land mist.

The huge Johanness was the first to reach the wheel. The two officers of the king o' Spain had hardly turned surprised faces at the footfalls ere they died gasping under his two cutlass swings. The helmsman cried out and an iron pike crashed to his teeth.

And amidships a battle was arising. Frightened howls, incoherent commands from fleeing petty officers; while above it, now, came the wild yell of the gulf buccaneers in other days and evil:

"A-Barataria! A-Barataria! Lafitte! Lafitte!"

To that cry these castaways had swarmed chains and shrouds of many a ship now long missing in the ports of the world.

Save for one obscure figure, the longboat held none except Mademoiselle Lestron. She shrank lower, closing her ears against the screams and shots of the battle which had thickened forward. The towing boats had turned on the hawsers; they were coming back. The Spanish king's men arose at the bows, attempting to climb and save their helpless comrades.

The shots and cries and trampling went on, and the girl shuddered at the sounds. Who was winning, what had happened to her friends, she could not tell. But slowly there was a stir in the bow-thwarts. A tall man arose, rubbing his eyes as if awakened from a dispiriting sleep. He stared about—she could just see him dimly in the starlight, and then he climbed awkwardly, with frantic haste but slowly after all—to the boarding ladders.

He got over the rail with some difficulty, and then stopped as if considering what he should do next. Louise's startled eyes could not make out his face but his uncouth movements seemed familiar. . . if she could only see his eyes—whether they were light or dark—or the contour of his face, perhaps, she could know. . . then he staggered and fell.

The girl upstarted. The cries and imprecations seemed growing in volume, coming nearer, as if the attackers were being driven back. But she began to climb the nearer boarding ladder. When she came over the rail she saw first an indistinct group of struggling men forward, with here and there the flash of fire; and then, near her on the deck, under the dim light by the main companionway, a man crawling along.

At the companionway he got to his feet with some trouble and disappeared below. The girl ran back of the after-housing to get away from a dying Spaniard at her feet. There she found three other bodies, and the smooth planks were slippery under her feet. She fled the other way from these horrors and then found herself by the open skylight of the main cabin.

It was brilliantly lighted there. Apparently all the fury of the two battles for the Seraphine had never penetrated to the heavy splendor of rosewood, silken tapestries and ormolu encased mirrors of the emperor's suite. For at the emperor's table sat the ragged man she had seen there once before. He was in the huge, carved, pretentious chair at the head of the board. He rather shone with blood from a scalp wound under his matted hair. Also, she saw that he appeared to be picking over the bones of some remnants of a dish that must have been prepared for Crackley's lieutenants earlier in the day. At any rate the lone guest showed disappointment. He reached for the cognac, and then lit a long reed pipe he found on the board. Then he sat back and smoked, listening to the distant sounds of the battle forward and above on the decks of the Napoleon ship.

Mademoiselle Lestron turned away with fearful curiosity. She encountered a hurrying group coming past the main-mast. Panting, stumbling, smoke-grimed men, among whom she saw the tall Sazarac. He sprang to the side as if to see to the safety of the English woman left in the longboat.

"Monsieur!" she cried, and ran to him frightenedly.

"There is no man of them left in arms!" he shouted, with a brightening eye. "The port watch went overboard at our rush, swimming for their boats. Beluche is tumbling their wounded to a yawl that remains. Mademoiselle," he bowed to her, "you will go below away from these abominable sights. Come—the Seraphine is won!"

"No—no!" she gasped in horror still. "No—not yet!"

Sazarac turned from her for an instant to the wheel where an altercation seemed arising. Old Dominique had taken it; he was shouting, with his eyes aloft. "She is drawing at the top!" the fat seaman bawled. "A man to her shrouds! A man—give me one man!"

A silence had come, strangely silent, after the fury. A groan or two, a coughing fellow forward in the lee scuppers. Dominique was howling once more.

"D—n! She's drawing! We'll be on the sands with this! A seaman for Dominique! Where are ye all?"

The Count de Almonaster suddenly appeared past the tangle of cordage along the starboard rail where dead men were twisted into rope and grimed sail cloth. He threw away a broken small sword and came on.

"Mademoiselle!"

"I am not hurt," she said faintly. "You—Monsieur!"

The roaring of Dominique, the alderman of New Orleans, cut him off.

"Curse me!—fat—heavy as a lout—and here a sea fight such as my old eyes have dreamed! A ship o' blood! A ship o' death!—twice in one day has she been cleared o' the dead louts fallen on her!"

Forward, indeed, a man was heaving corpses to the phosphorescent waters. Yet the ship seemed curiously still. She was drawing on, with Dominique hauling at the wheel; slowly, and with a sighing fill of limp canvas, a weary clatter of blocks . . . sailing, somehow, in unseamanlike disorder, but out of the rippling shallows.

And to the west a heavy gun broke with a spurt of fire. They heard the shot ride sullenly into the sand spit on the port quarter.

"A man aloft!" bawled Dominique. "Break out wi' stays! What's the matter wi' ye all?"

Two had gone aloft. Clark, the young English lad, and Gorgio, the Catalan. The latter was crawling up slowly, a hand to shroud and cat-line. By the light they could see him faintly. Grim, bloody-faced, responding to his last order.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

A woman's head is always influenced by her heart; but a man's heart is always influenced by his head.—Lady Blessington.

Men naturally dislike to sit down on tacks, but not on the tax collector.

POLISH PATRIOT WRITES OF VISIT

Impressed by the great industrial development, the co-operation in civic life, and the boundless good fellowship in America, Gen. Joseph Haller, noted Polish patriot who was the guest of the American Legion while in the United States, has returned to his native land.

In a letter to National Commander John R. Quinn of the Legion, the great Polish warrior said that his pleasure in his visit was unbounded, and was an experience that he would always recall because of the association with his former comrades of the World war who had fought under the American flag.

General Haller's visit began early in October and continued until a few days before Christmas. His tour started with a visit to the White House and a visit to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington, across the continent to San Francisco, where he received highest honors at the hands of the American Legion. As the official guest of the organization, he was presented with the American Legion's Distinguished Service Medal, worn only by two Americans and by but four others—Marshal Foch of France, Admiral Beatty of England, General Jacques of Belgium, General Diaz of Italy.

Back across the nation with a party of representative Legion men, sped the great Polish patriot, to visit nearly fifty of America's greatest cities, where he was greeted by members of that organization, Polish colonies and many officials, statesmen and prominent persons.

Before his departure, General Haller expressed his deep satisfaction at the outcome of the visit, and deeply thanked the American Legion for the opportunity to see the nation. He said in his letter:

"What has given me the greatest pleasure has been the evidence on every hand that the American soldier who readily gave up his peaceful pursuits to don the uniform of his proud country and help put down oppression in Europe so quickly returned to the industrial and commercial occupations following the signing of the armistice. I have noted the happy homes, the contentment and the prosperity of those liberty-loving and unwarlike lads. It has been a constant inspiration to me. The officers of the many Legion posts, the officials of the organization are all enshrined in my heart."

Britisher Anxious to Be Legion Member

Harold Hall, a veteran of the British Royal engineers, who served on every British battle front from Mons to the Dardanelles, is looking forward to acceptance of his application by the American Legion. Hall was one of the first to learn of the new ruling made by the Legion at the fifth annual convention, which permits those who served with allied armies who were at the time citizens of the United States, or later became naturalized, to affiliate with the Legion.

Hall is a resident of Minneapolis, and applied for naturalization papers following his arrival in that city in January, 1923. His next step was to make application for Legion membership, but was told that he would be forced to wait until completion of naturalization requirements. He declares that every American World war veteran should avail himself of the opportunity to affiliate with the Legion.

Canada Would Have Legion Convention

Montreal seeks to entertain a national convention of the American Legion, according to an invitation sent to national headquarters of the veterans' organization through Legion officials in Canada.

The invitation was extended by Mayor Martin of Montreal, who declared that the entertainment of the former comrades of the British soldiers would give great pleasure to citizens of his country, as well as affording a means for more closely linking the people of the two nations.

The invitation was not received in time for consideration, however, as the Legion convention for 1924 had already been authorized for St. Paul. Victoria, B. C., another Canadian city, invited the veteran's organization to come there in 1924, this invitation being extended during the fifth national convention at San Francisco.

Would "Show" Them

Clarence R. Edwards, leader of the Yankee division in the World war, and now leading his former soldiers as department commander of the American Legion in Massachusetts, says that the Legion can become the finest body of men in America.

General Edwards, under whose guidance Legion interest has reached a high tide in his state, appealed to his comrades with the words:

"Just as soon as you show the non-Legionnaire—men who are now eligible—that the purpose of the organization is to be behind everything fine in civic life in every town and city, just so soon will you have the indorsement and backing of all your fellow citizens."

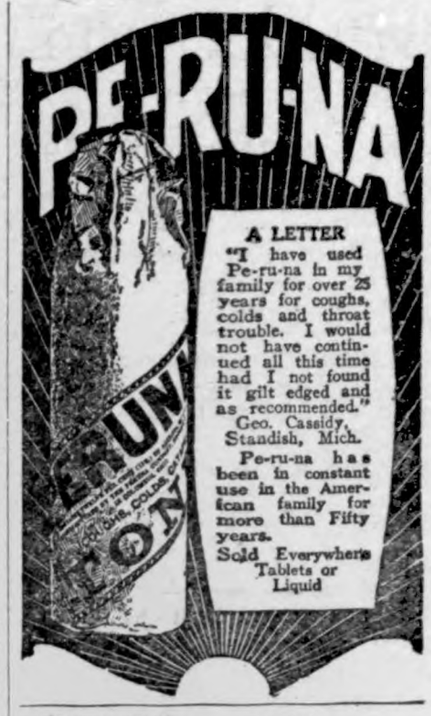
Him, Too

In a state of considerable excitement, the circus manager rushed up to Sam, the colored canvasman.

"We need a little help, Sam," he cried. "Four lions have escaped from cage five."

"'Scaped? ejaculated Sam. "Hol' dis hammer, boss. Dat's jes' zackly what Ah's gwine to do!"—American Legion Weekly.

PE-RU-NA



A LETTER

"I have used Pe-ru-na in my family for over 25 years for coughs, colds and throat trouble. I would not have continued all this time had I not found it gilt edged and as recommended."
Geo. Cassidy, Standish, Mich.

Pe-ru-na has been in constant use in the American family for more than Fifty years.

Sold Everywhere Tablets or Liquid

PEPPY NORTHERN BABY CHICKS
Lowest prices to those who order ahead. Write today for circular. CHICKEN LITTLE HATCHERY, LINCOLN, NEBRASKA.

Salesmen Sell Star Brand Safety Ink—All winter work; sell banker, rest of town complete sell out. We teach you how to sell. Big profits. Send $2 for $7 sample outfit. Bankers' Safety Ink Co., Box 35, Minneapolis, Minn.

Dr. Isaac Thompson's EYEWATER HELPFUL EYE WASH
1159 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

THICK, SWOLLEN GLANDS that make a horse Wheeze, Roar, have Thick Wind or Choke-down can be reduced with

ABSORBINE
TRADE MARK REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

also other Bunches or Swellings. No blister, no hair gone, and horse kept at work. Economical—only a few drops required at an application. $2.50 per bottle delivered. Book 3 A free.
W. F. Young, Inc., 510 Lyman St., Springfield, Mass.

Disappointed

"Aunt Hannah hailed from the Middle West, and had never seen the sea. Her nephew, who was doing well in the East, invited her to spend a month at his Asbury Park cottage. She accepted the invitation, of course.

"Well, as soon as she arrived, her nephew took her down to the boardwalk and showed her the boundless ocean, with its white foam and crashing breakers and fresh, salt-laden winds.

"'There!' he said. 'There, Aunt Hannah, is the Atlantic. What do you think of it?'

"'Humph,' said Aunt Hannah, 'I thought it was larger.'"

MOTHER! GIVE SICK CHILD "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Harmless Laxative for a Bilious, Constipated Baby or Child.

Constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels acting without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits! Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.—Advertisement.

An English Custom

"With all due deference, my boy, I think our English custom at the telephone is better than saying, 'Hello!' as you Americans do."

"What do you say in England?"

"We say: 'Are you there?' Then, of course, if you are not there, there is no use in going on with the conversation."

When a woman has a headache it is natural; when a man has a headache it is usually acquired.

It's painful to see a woman laugh when she doesn't want to, but thinks she ought to.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

BELL-ANS
25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

Volume 2—Number 11. Thursday, January 24, 1924.

SOME PEOPLE come in now and DO THEIR SPRING MACHINERY SHOPPING. We have orders for machinery subject to current prices, but at last we can give you SPRING PRICS on most all lines. You can always do a little better by coming in and ORDERING EARLY!

OUR PRICES will be RIGHT. Price cutting is no object to either the buyer or us. When you buy here you get SERVICE and QUALITY with a RIGHT PRICE

OUR SPRING STUFF will be coming in soon. Come in, look it over, and visit. We're always glad for company.

We are making preparation for a bigger year than either of the past two; with better service than ever beore.

DON'T FORGET THE TRACTOR

WITH PLENTY OF POWER.

Make More Money

From Your Cows

Mr. Farmer: Did you ever stop to think how much your old, worn out creamseparator was actually losing for you in dollars and cents eachday?

An old, worn separator will easily loose a half pound of butterfat at each milking—figure the butterfat worth on the average of 50 cents per pound and this means you are losing enough in butterfat each day which if saved would pay for a new Melotte or De Laval Cream Separator in only seven weeks.

HERE'S OUR PROPOSITION

We will take in pay on your cream checks the SAVING you make between your oldseparator and a New Melotte or De Laval purchased ofus. The saving you make on butterfat will pay for yournew separator.

Come in and let us prove to you that a new Melotte or a DeLaval Cream Separator can pay for itself in a few weeks.

Watch for Dates on De Laval Service Week!

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

A Checking Account And Time Saving

Almost every year something is invented to save time on the farm. But it isn't machinery alone that saves the farmer's time. Consider the check book.

Your father probably hitched his team and drove for miles to pay his bills. You could go faster with your car. But you need not make such trips if you have a checking account. Get the ahbit of mailing checks of this bank to settle your bills.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'.'

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Let the Times print your sale bill.

P. T. A. meeting at the school on Tuesday evening, January 29th.

Charlie Luick is working over at Clear Lake, helping to put up ice.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Day were at Mason City on business yesterday.

George Luick, of Goodell, was a caller in Klemme Monday.

House and lot at auction Saturday at 1:30 p. m. See ad in this issue.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Jacobs spent Sunday at Garner.

Mrs. W. F. Lau, of Garner, was a Klemme visitor between trains yesterday.

Miss Rone left for her home at Northwood Friday. She was called there by the death of her aunt.

Residence property at auction on Saturday afternoon. See ad in this issue.

Mrs. Homer Ness and Mrs. G. E. Ness of Goodell were shopping in this city Tuesday.

Mrs. Tony Ahrenkeil and son of Goodell were visiting with Klemme relatives Monday.

W. C. Keraus and famiy were entertained at the G. W. Kuckhohn home Sunday.

FOR RENT—80 acres; 70 acres in stalks, 10 acres in pasture. Inquire of H. L. Suckow. tfc

Clark Bredbenner has finished the job of filling his ice house. He says the ice is of a good grade thsi year.

Mr. Weiemeyer went to Chicago on business Saturday, returning the fore part of the week.

RADIO for Sale—Westinghouse, with 2-stage amphlifier, complete. Cheap if taken now. Chris Gram. 2tc

Mr Al Emerson enjoyed a visit the week end from his daughter, Arvella, of Mason City

Rebeccah Lodge Bake Sale at the Kluckhohn Store Saturday, Jan. 26, beginning at 2:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Frank Kluckhohn has been on the sick list since Wednesday. She is reported beter today.

Mrs. Lena Schroeder entertained a few friends Monday afternoon. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. R. W. Elder has been on the sick list the last few days with a case of grippe.

Fred Kluckhohn has been confined to his bed this week with a severe case of Grippe. He is better at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kluckhohn and family were entertained to a goose dinner at the Wm. Hempel home Sunday.

Mr. Hans Reiken, of Meservey, came Saturday afternoon for an over Sunday visit at the Ben Swalve home.

Mrs. Frank Miller rtturned to Klemme last Friday. She had been visiting with her parents in Nebraska since Christmas.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wes Heifner on Thursday morning, last week. Wes has three fine boys now to help him do chores.

Dr. D. P. Anderson returned from his Des Moines and Ames trip last Friday. He had been attending a conflab of some sort of state vets.

BAKE SALE—sure that's what the Rebeccah Lodge are ging to have at Kluckhohn's Store, Saturday, Jan. 26. Buy some real baking.

Frank Gruetzmacher went to Britt today to get his car which he left there Tuesday on account of the snow.

The Holstein Cattle sale held in Klemme Monday went off good. Tht cows and heifers sold brought a fair price.

For sale cheap—my place containing 3½ lots well located, south front with sleeping and sun porch, with shade and fruit trees, shrubbery. Possession given March 1. Fred Musfelt. adv J-10-17-24p

Miss Scharlach, Ethel Wellemeyer and Beatrice Busch hiked to Garner and back Saturday. This is one of the tests in Camp Fire Girls work and they will win beads for the feat.

The Odd Fellows are going to put on another one of those old time dances Tuesday evening, January 29th. Meeker's of Clarion will put on the music. A god time will be had, as usual.

Mr and Mrs Tom Hake and daughter, Maurine, went to Belmond Friday for an over Sunday visit. They returned to Klemme Tuesday

The Woodmen adn Royal Neighbors had a sort of family gathering at the hall last Thursday evening. A big banquet was served and later they enjoyed a dance at the Idle Hour. All report a grand time.

Mrs. Call and three children left for their home in Minnesota Saturday, after visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Keever, for a few weeks. Mr. Keever is the manager for Swift's station here.

August Lau returned to Klemme from Minneapolis Sunday. Wallace Pavey and Wes Schuldt drove up to Garner in their cars to meet him. Mr. Lau is feeling somewhat better. Yesterday he was able to come up town for a little while.

Mrs. Anna Stiehl writes to her Klemme friends that she arrived at Waseca, Minnesota all right and that the town crowd there had a charivri on them lready—a little early she states as her name is still Anna Stiehl for awhile.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman are here from Wyoming, and at this time are staying at Al White's place taking care of the farm yhile Mr. and Mrs. White are at Des Moines on account of Mrs. White's health and where she is having medical treatment.

Mrs. Howard Doyle and baby, Dean, left for Waterloo last Thursday. Miss Lola Smith accompanied them as far as Iowa Falls nd spent the night there with the M. O. Hocum fmily. Howard Doyle and family will make Waterloo their home in the future.

Buy a ticket from the Ladies Aid Society for a Valentine Dinner they are ging to serve at the parish. The ladies are going to try to raise at least $1,000 dollars toward a new Methodist Church. Buy a ticket to the dinner whether you can go or not; this is a good cause, so let's all help it along.

Mr. Bert S. Stafford, of Des Moines, was a caller at the Times Office a short timt Friday afternoon. He is a linotype machinist and gave our machine the "once-over.', making a few adjustments and promising us a more complete overhauling on his next visit. Bert knows more about linotypes than we would expect to know in a hundred years.

DENTIST
J. L. Hesselhuus, D. D. S.
Office Hours 8-12 1-5:?0
Office Opposite State Savings Bank; In Schaffer Bldg
Evening Work By Appointment Only
Klemme, Ia. Phone 81

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

January 24, 1924

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN	.65
OATS	.39
BARLEY	.60—.65
RYE	.555—.60
HOGS	6.00—6.50
HAY	15.00—20.00
BUTTERFAT	.58
BUTTER (creamery)	.56
EGGS	.30
HEAVY HENS	.15
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.12
LEGHORNS	.08
COCKS	.06
DUCKS	.10
GEESE	.08

The Des Moines Capital

$3.50

For One Full Year

This Bargain Offer Good Only This Month

Subscribe At The Times Office, Klemme, Ia

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

THE HOME OF GOOD EATS

CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGARS

MEALS and LUNCHES

Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It Here

Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service
We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.

CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

Don't deceive Yourself--

You're paying the cost of STORMIZING in waste and gas alone. The expense of operating your car with cylinders in a worn and scored condition is greater than the cost of STORMIZING and Complete Overhauling. But the waste of oil and gas is not the only thing to be considered. The following troubles are all directly due to worn cylinders. Loss of Power, Imperfect Compression, Low Gasoline Mileage, Waste of Oil, Excessive Carbon, Fouled Spark Plugs, Mis-firing, Diluted Oil, Injured Bearings, Weak Compression, Hard Starting, Piston Slap, Nosy Operation, Uneven Idling, Mis-firing at Low Speed.

STORMIZING strikes the very root of all these troubles, it cures them all.

We Know Autos—Both Right and Left Handed

TAGOLENE OIL—the Utmost in Lubrication

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Authorized Service

Auto Mechanics —All Work Guaranteed— General Blacksmith

Check Talk

How about your wife? Is she running here and there, paying bills in cash, gathering ac ollection of receipts and thei worrying abount them, or have you afforded her, too, the convenience of a household checning account.

Save her steps—she has plenty to do; make her job easier. Insure receipts for the bills she pays. Open a checkinfi account in her name.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

THE KLEMME TIMES

Twenty-eighth Year—Number 22. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, February 7, 1924 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

ACTIVITIES OF THE PAST WEEK IN THE SCHOOLS

SOPHIES AND FRESHIES CHALLENGE JUNIORS AND SENIORS

Upperclassmen Win By a Close Score

Last week the combined Freshman and Sophomore classes issued a challenge to the Junior and Senior classes to meet them in a game of basketball. This challenge was quick ly accepted. The game was played last Friday evening. Only four seniors showed up for the game and so Coach Tregilgus reverted back again to his kid days again and was a senior, just for a night, playing standing guard for the upperclassmen.

The game was exciting and close. The upperclassmen jumped in the lead and held it until the last minute of the game. Then Gimer and Lemke each dropped in a basket, tieing the score.

This necessitated a five minute over-time, and in this brief space, the upperclassmen sank three goals for six points and victory.

The final score was 27 to 21.

For the upperclassmen, Elder and Koerner played the best, while Lemke was the shining light for the underdogs.

Below is the lineup

Jun.—Sen. 27		Fresh.—Soph. 21
Koerner	RF	Gimer
Wellemeyer	LF	Lemke
Elder	C	Patet
Busch	LG	Stokesbary
Tregilgus	RG	Gibbs
	RG	Turgasen
	LG	Larson

GIRLS TO PLAY GARNER

Saturday night our girls play Garner at Garner and it is possible that a return game will be played on our floor in a few weeks.

BOYS MAY PLAY ST. MARY'S

Coach Tregilgus is now negotiating with St. Mary's Academy of Mason City and with Meservey, in the hopes of adding a few more games to our schedule. Goodell has apparently dropped athletics. as two letters to them in regard to games have been unanswered.

The tournament which we were planning on holding at Klemme has fizzled out, as only a few schools etered and last Saturday one of them withdrew.

WILL GO TO COUNTY MEET

We received an invitation to take part in in the County Tournament to be held at Britt, March 14 and 15, and have entered our team.

We may not get into the finals. but at least we shall have the advantage of watching several first class teams play and profit thereby.

BASEBALL SCHEDULE

Coach Tregilgus is now working on the baseball schedule for this spring. Letters have now gone out to all schools nearby in an effort to schedule a series of good games this spring.

Below is the tenative schedule.

	Here	There
Corwith	April 1	May 20
Meservey	April 4	May 2
Thornton	April 8	May 6
Goodell	April 11	May 12
Mason City Junior College		April 15
Crystal Lake	April 18	May 23
Rowan	April 22	May 9
Swaledale	April 25	May 16
Belmond		April 29

Possibly games will also be played with Forest City Kanawha and Ventura.

DOINGS OF THE FACULTY

Miss Scharlach and Miss Buchan hiked to Garner with a group girls last Friday night. From there they went to Clear Lake, on the train, where they witnesses a basket ball game. They returned the next morning in time for school. It is also rumored that during their stay in Clear Lake they also attended a show. Here Miss Schlarch owing to her smallness of Stature was toke for a little school girl and was admitted to the show for half price. This strikes us as being rather funny There is surely some advantages of being small. The girls whom they accompanied were Bernice Tanner, Leona Lau, Marie Blank Dolores Koerner and Neota Ridder.

Change in Program

A new program of classes has ben worked out and is now being used. It was worked out with the idea of giving more uniformity in study and recitation periods.

Current Event Tests Resumed

C urrent Event tests have again been resumed since the semester examinations. These tests are over Current Topics of the day and serve to keep the pupil posted on matters of Public interest.

Goodell Drops out of Contest

Word has beenreceived that Goodell will not compete in the contest here, owing to the fact that they have not as yet held their preliminary contest and would not be well enough prepared for the contest. There remains a Triangular affair between Ventura, Latimer and Klemme. Remember this contest occurs next wek Friday, Februray 15th.

DOINGS IN THE CLASSES

The agriculture class is taking up the study of soils . Mr. Neese has proven to the class that the farmer of "Today" and Tomorrow" must understand the soil and the elements its contains, beore he can become a sucessful farmer. The lessons have shown that all springs from the soil, so to keep the soil in good condition for sucessful producing, the Farmer must replace into the soil what he has taken out. If all farmers would take into consideration the best ways to improve these conditions, farming would prove more sucessful.

The English Literature class have finished studying the "Age of Romanticism" which includes the poets Cowper, Burns, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Shelly, Weats, Byron and Scott It includes the prosew riters, Scott, Jane Austen, De Quincey, Lamb, and the political economists, Maltheus, Adam Smith, Mills and Bentham. The Elizabethian Age alone excels the Romantic age in the glory of its poetry. The class has now begun the study of the Victorian Age.

The sophomores in their English II are now taking up debating. The following questions are to be debated in class

Proposition— Resolved, that all senior subjects should be elective.
Affirmative— Stella Bock, Baetrice Busch, Alvina Buss.
Negative— Florence Behringer, Martin, Barz, Richard Ax.
Proposition—Resolvtd; that the Bible should be taught in thes chool.
Affirmative— Mable Schaefer, Jeanette Smid, Helen Maitland.
Negative— Blanche Hulse, Ruth Johnson, Ralph Larson.
Proposition— Resolved: that the road from Klemme to Garner should be paved.
Affirmative— Milo Patet, Harl Gimer. Wayne Lemke, Frank Gibbs.
Negative— Elvira Stille, Dora Swanson, Alma Richardson, Lenora Larson.

The Freshman in English I are writing narrations and have just completed a five page theme.

The class in Public Speaking are now studying "Voice." They have been practicing the proper tone qualities, the correct consonant sounds and word prounciation. The class find these very interesting and amusing as many expressions and sounds are produced from various members of the class. It is really surprising how we neglect our tone qualities and pronunciation. We are in hopes after completing our course in this study that we will have some public speakers. Ask the rest of the classes i nthe surrounding class rooms if they think it impossible.

The class in Physics have completed the study on the chapters "Three Laws of Motion" which are Newton's

Continued on last page)

DEATH TAKES WOODROW WILSON, OUTSTANDING FIGURE OF THE AGE

Remarkable Career of the Man Who, After Gaining Fame as an Educator and Author, Became President, and During the Great War Was the Most Powerful Individual in the World—Originator of the League of Nations.

Woodrow Wilson, twenty-eighth president of the United States of America, was the most prominent world-figure of the events growing out of the World war, the most momentous of all wars. His place, as history will fix it, can only be conjectured. Hundreds of millions placed him at the zenith, as they placed the ex-kaiser at the nadir.

The great war brought to the front many men whose names will live in honor. In the last analysis three men stand out: Wilson, Lloyd George, Clemenceau. Of these three it was Wilson who held the world's eye—Wilson, the human phenomenon of the times, until fifty-four no more than a college president and political writer and at sixty-three on a pinnacle of fame and honor and power unsurpassed if ever attained by any man in history.

It is impossible now to differentiate between Woodrow Wilson the man and Woodrow Wilson the head of the most powerful nation of earth in wealth, material and fighting men. Certainly he could not have reached the place he held without great ability and extraordinary capacity for leadership. By virtue of his place he became a focus of world attention as soon as the great war began. Before the armistice was signed he had become a great moral leader with the ear of the peoples of the world. Only as such could he have forced upon the allied world the unofficial acceptance of his project of a league of nations, with its fourteen points as set forth to congress January 18, 1918.

Abroad and at Home.

The enthusiasm evoked by President Wilson's visits to Paris, London and Rome was proof of his unique place in the regard of the people. It was evident that he was to Europeans not so much a man as a voice—a voice putting into words what they wanted and had not been able to express; his ideas and ideals were a sort of religion to them.

But he showed himself a statesman as well as a voice. He played the game masterfully. He established sympathy between himself and his man or his crowd. He made few if any mistakes in taste or judgment. He "matched his mind," to use his own expression, with the best of Europe and he got his league of nations before the peace conference and got it adopted.

President Wilson's two months in Europe may be divided into phases. When he landed the attitude toward the league of nations was this: The government of France was antagonistic; Great Britain's was suspicious; Italy's was skeptical. The first phase, his triumphant progress through France, England and Italy opened the eyes of these governments to his hold on the people. The second phase, the preliminary work of the peace conference, convinced these governments that President Wilson had an idea rather than a set plan which he purposed to force upon them. This simplified the situation and the rush to climb on the bandwagon began.

Contemporary estimates of President Wilson at home were as wide apart as the poles. Senator J. Thomas Heflin (Dem., Ala.), when representative spoke on the floor of "Woodrow Wilson, the greatest apostle of world liberty and democracy since Jesus Christ."

Senator Thomas W. Hardwick (Dem.) of Georgia, said January 21 in the senate: "I believe in a written constitution. I believe in a strict interpretation of it . . . and I believe that unless we leave and abandon this mad saturnalia of imperialism here at home and return to the ancient principles of our fathers there will be no safety nor happiness for the people of this republic."

Senator Albert B. Cummins (Rep.) of Iowa expressed the half-way view when he said in the senate January 23: "I think President Wilson is the most intensely practical statesman of this or any other day. He began his administration in the belief that the executive office had not the power that it ought to have. He has accomplished more in the direction in which he set his face and his mind than any other man, either in this generation or in any former generation; and the only criticism, if it be a criticism, is that he has not marched in the right direction and has done things that he ought not to have done."

In the process of wresting from congress all the powers he believed the Constitution conferred upon the executive, President Wilson made many political enemies who questioned not his ability, but his motives and methods.

MRS. AND MRS. WOODROW WILSON

To particularize would be largely to review the political history of the last six years. The railroad situation, however, may be cited as an example. Representative E. E. Denison (Rep.) of Illinois said January 15, 1919, "Government ownership of railroads will be the dominant political issue in the next national campaign and Mr. McAdoo will of course expect to be the candidate of his party. He will hope to capitalize what has been done for the railroad men."

President Wilson was re-elected in 1916 upon a peace platform. October 25, 1918, just before the congressional elections, he issued an appeal to the voters of the United States asking them, if they had approved of his leadership and wished him to continue to be their unembarrassed spokesman in affairs at home and abroad, to express themselves unmistakably to that effect by returning a Democratic majority to both houses. The result of the elections was to change the political complexion of both houses as follows: 65th congress—Senate, 51 Democrats and 45 Republicans; house, 215 Republicans and 213 Democrats. 66th congress—Senate, 47 Democrats and 49 Republicans; house, 239 Republicans and 193 Democrats.

President Wilson in attending the peace conference made several new departures. He left the country during office. He took the office with him, signing acts and making appointments while in Paris. He ignored by the senate, though he is empowered by the Constitution to make treaties "by and with the advice and consent of the senate."

He appointed as the American representatives himself, Secretary of State Robert Lansing, Henry White, Edward M. House and General Tasker H. Bliss. He sailed December 4, 1918, and arrived at Paris December 14. The French capital was en fete for the occasion. December 24 he went to England and thence to Italy. He returned to Paris January 8, after a journey that resembled a "triumphal procession."

After the preliminary sessions of the peace conference President Wilson returned to the United States in February, returning to Paris March 15, 1919. He signed the peace treaty June 28, 1919, and returned to the United States July 8. His second term as president expired March 3, 1920.

After his retirement from the presidency Mr. Wilson lived quietly, making a partly successful fight to regain his health. He occasionally went to the theater and rode much in his car about the environs of Washington. He bought a home in Washington and in 1921 formed a law partnership with Bainbridge Colby, who had been his secretary of state, succeeding Robert Lansing. He took part in the funeral procession of President Harding in Washington and was the recipient of much public attention.

Mr. Wilson's last public utterance was last fall. November 10, 1923, the eve of Armistice day, he spoke by radio to the American people, defending his peace policy and saying that the American people had withdrawn into a "sullen and selfish isolation which is deeply ignoble because manifestly cowardly and dishonorable."

Armistice day Mr. Wilson briefly addressed thousands from the front steps of his home, concluding thus:

"I am not one of those that have the least anxiety about the triumph of the principles I have stood for. I have seen fools resist Providence before and I have seen their destruction, as will come upon these again—utter destruction and contempt. That we shall prevail is as sure as that God reigns. Thank you."

Chronology of Wilson.

Woodrow Wilson was born December 28, 1856, in Staunton, Va. He was the son of Rev. Joseph R. Wilson, a Presbyterian minister, and Jessie (Woodrow) Wilson. In 1885 he married Ellen Louise Axsen. They had three daughters—Jessie (Mrs. Francis B. Sayre), Eleanor (Mrs. W. G. McAdoo) and Margaret. Mrs. Wilson died August 16, 1914, in the White House. December 18, 1915, Mr. Wilson married Edith (Bolling) Galt, a descendant of Pocahontas. The first 29 years of Mr. Wilson's life covered his boyhood and education. The next 25 were devoted to teaching and writing. With his election to the governorship of New Jersey in 1910 began his active political career. His chronology follows:

1858—Family removed to Atlanta, Ga. Student in private schools.
1875-9—Student at Princeton.
1879-82—Law student at University of Virginia.
1882-3—Practicing lawyer in Atlanta.
1883-5—Post-graduate course at Johns Hopkins university in history, jurisprudence and political science; received degree of Ph. D.
1886—Associate professor of history at Bryn Mawr college.
1888—Professor of history and political economy at Wesleyan.
1890—Professor of jurisprudence and political economy at Princeton.
1902—President of Princeton (first nonclerical).

Political Career Begins.

1910—Elected governor of New Jersey.
1912—Nominated by Democratic national convention in Baltimore in June on forty-sixth ballot by vote of 990 out of 1,086 over Champ Clark of Missouri and Judson Harmon of Ohio. Elected president over Taft and Roosevelt.
1916—Nominated by acclamation by Democratic national convention in St. Louis in June. Elected president over Charles E. Hughes.

Woodrow Wilson's Ph. D. thesis was "Congressional Government: A Study in American Politics" (1885). His later works include:

"The State: Elements of Historical and Practical Politics" (1889; new edition, 1911).
"An Old Master, and Other Political Essays" (1893).
"Division and Reunion" (1893).
"Mere Literature, and Other Essays" (1896; new edition, 1913).
"George Washington" (1896; new edition, 1913).
"The Free Life" (1908; new edition, 1913).
"Constitutional Government in the United States" (1908).
"Civic Problems" (1909).
"History of the American People" (5 Vols., 1902; new edition, 1912).
"The New Freedom" (1913).
"When a Man Comes to Himself" (1915).

CASES IN THE DISTRICT COURT THIS SESSION

E. J. Murtagh et al vs. Board of Supervisors in Kossuth and Hancock counties, appeal in D. D. 7-120.

Edna Moretz et al vs. Cora Duran et al. Action in partition of W½ NW¼ 22, SW¼ SW¼ 15 and tract in SW cor. of SE¼ SW¼ 15, SE¼ SE¼ 16, NE¼ NE¼ 21-97-24.

M. M. Head vs. Agnes Cole Russell et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $20,631.62 and foreclosure of mortgage on S¼ 23 and NW¼ 26-97-25.

Ernsteen M. Thayer vs. Jos. F. Thayer. Plaintiff asks that she be divorced from defendant.

Gladys Rentz vs. John Rentz. Plaintiff asks that she be divorced from defendant.

State Savings Bank, Lanesboro Iowa vs. Agnes Cole Russell et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $19,791.96 and foreclosure of mortgage on NE¼ and N½ SE¼ 26-97-25.

O. N. Gjellefald vs. Joint D. Dist. 87 et al. Appeal in D. Dist.5-87.

T. R. McKaig vs Claude Stull et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $2,15[illegible] and foreclosure of mortgage on 18-20, block 2 Sapps add. [illegible] wit.

Agnes E. Garten vs. F. G. Hun[illegible] et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $2 294.47 and foreclosure of mortgage on SE¼, block 4, Lattimore ad. to Britt.

Cement Products Co. vs. Drainage Dist. No. 7 et al. Plaintiff asks judgment against D. D. No. 7 for $1851.11.

A. E. Haes vs. Nellie N. Hanson et al. Mechanics lien for $26.75 on lot 2-4 blk. 3 West Side add to Garner.

Farmers Industrial Union No.1 vs. C. C. Wiltsie. Mechanics lien for $434.84 on lots 11-12 and S 6 ft. lot 10, blk 4, Anderson's ad. to Britt.

H. J. Klemme Lumber Co. vs. Thos. H. Thompson et al. Mechanics lien for $512.47 on lot 6, blk. 1 Thor Johnson's ad. to Kanawha.

James H. Lilly vs. Walter Christensen et al. Mechanics lien for $[illegible] on E½ NW¼ and E½ SW¼ 30-95-24.

Chas. A. Anderson vs. Chas. A. Anderson et al. Mechanics lien for $271.35 on E½ SW¼ and E½ SW¼, 30-95-24.

Chris Jacobson vs. Walter Christensen. Mechanics lien for $60.75 on E½ SW¼ and E½ NW¼ 30-95-24.

Woodford-Wheeler Lumber Co. vs. C. C. Wiltsie. Mechanics lien for $29.10 on lots 11-12 blk 4 Anderson add Britt.

Vincent Hardware Co. vs. C. C. Wiltse Mechanics lien for $42.50 on lots 11-12 blk 4 Andersons add to Britt.

Corwith Lumber Co. vs. Bert Frisbe. Mechanics lien for $125.[illegible] on lots 10-11-12. blk. 1, Camlines add to Corwith.

Iowa Builders Supply Co. vs. American Bankers Securities Co. Mechanics lien for $93.52 on NW¼ NE¼ 10 and E½ NE¼ 10 and W¼ NW¼ 11and SW¼ SE¼ 3-95-23.

Woodford-Wheeler Lbr. Co. vs. Mrs. W. W. Tyrell. Mechanics lien for $120 on lot 13, blk. 4 Anderson ad. to Britt.

Ioa Builders Supply Co. vs. R. B. Baldwin. Mechanics lien for $[illegible] on building in street in Garner.

Senneff Bliss Witwer & Son vs Carl Swanson. Transcript of judgment from Britt Twp. for $[illegible] and costs.

Dr. C. O. Brewster vs. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lapitz. Transcript of judgment from Britt Twp. for $[illegible] and costs.

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons vs. Fred and Clara Schuldt. Transcript of judgment from Ell Twp. for $28.38 and costs.

(Continued on last page)

TEN HIGHEST CREAM CHECKS

Issued By The Klemme Co-Op. Ex[illegible]

Jan. 1 to Jan. 15

Lassahn Bros.	$126.[illegible]
C. C. Schaefer	$124.[illegible]
George Albers	$116.[illegible]
Wm. H. Griemann	$102.[illegible]
D. A. Marshall	$ [illegible]
V. A. Cook	$ 82.05
Henry Beiers	$ 74.84
Emil Beiers	$ 74.72
Elmer Schaefer	$ 70.68
Henry Schuldt	$ 69.54

Watch for this list for the last two weeks of January.

WILSON: GREAT IN WORLD WAR

Momentous Struggle Placed Him at Zenith of Human Power and Fame.

Woodrow Wilson, twenty-eighth president of the United States, was the human phenomenon of the World war, the most momentous of all the wars of history. At fifty-four he was no more than a university professor and political writer. At sixty-three he was in a place of fame and power unsurpassed in history. What place will history give him?

The great war brought to the front many men whose names will live in honor. In the last analysis three men stand out: Wilson, Lloyd George, Clemenceau. Of these three it was Wilson who held the world's eye—Wilson, the human phenomenon of the times, until fifty-four no more than a college president and political writer and at sixty-three on a pinnacle of fame and honor and power unsurpassed if ever attained by any man in history.

It is impossible now to differentiate between Woodrow Wilson the man and Woodrow Wilson the head of the most powerful nation of earth in wealth, material and fighting men. Certainly he could not have reached the place he held without great ability and extraordinary capacity for leadership. By virtue of his place he became a focus of world attention as soon as the great war began. Before the armistice was signed he had become a great moral leader with the ear of the peoples of the world. Only as such could he have forced upon the allied world the unofficial acceptance of his project of a league of nations, with its fourteen points as set forth to congress January 18, 1918.

Abroad and at Home.

The enthusiasm evoked by President Wilson's visits to Paris, London and Rome was proof of his unique place in the regard of the people. It was evident that he was to Europeans not so much a man as a voice—a voice putting into words what they wanted and had not been able to express; his ideas and ideals were a sort of religion to them.

WOODROW WILSON

But he showed himself a statesman as well as a voice. He played the game masterfully. He established sympathy between himself and his man or his crowd. He made few if any mistakes in taste or judgment. He "matched his mind," to use his own expression, with the best of Europe and he got his league of nations before the peace conference and got it adopted.

President Wilson's two months in Europe may be divided into phases. When he landed the attitude toward the league of nations was this: The government of France was antagonistic; Great Britain's was suspicious; Italy's was skeptical. The first phase, his triumphant progress through France, England and Italy opened the eyes of these governments to his hold on the people. The second phase, the preliminary work of the peace conference, convinced these governments that President Wilson had an idea rather than a set plan which he purposed to force upon them.

Contemporary estimates of President Wilson at home were as wide apart as the poles. Senator J. Thomas Heflin, (Dem., Ala.) when representative spoke on the floor of "Woodrow Wilson, the greatest apostle of world liberty and democracy since Jesus Christ."

Senator Thomas W. Hardwick (Dem.) of Georgia, said January 21 in the senate: "I believe in a written constitution. I believe in a strict interpretation of it . . . and I believe that unless we leave and abandon this mad saturnalia of imperialism here at home and return to the ancient principles of our fathers there will be no safety nor happiness for the people of this republic."

Senator Albert B. Cummins (Rep.) of Iowa expressed the half-way view when he said in the senate January 23: "I think President Wilson is the most intensely practical statesman of this or any other day. He began his administration in the belief that the executive office had not the power that it ought to have. He has accomplished more in the direction in which he set his face and his mind than any other man, either in this generation or in any former generation; and the only criticism, if it be a criticism, is that he has not marched in the right direction and has done things that he ought not to have done."

In the process of wresting from congress all the powers he believed the Constitution conferred upon the executive, President Wilson made many political enemies who questioned not his ability, but his motives and methods. To particularize would be largely to review the political history of the last six years. The railroad situation, however, may be cited as an example. Representative E. E. Denison (Rep.) of Illinois said January 15, 1919, "Government ownership of railroads will be the dominant political issue in the next national campaign and Mr. McAdoo will of course expect to be the candidate of his party. He will hope to capitalize what has been done for the railroad men."

President Wilson was re-elected in 1916 upon a peace platform. October 25, 1918, just before the congressional elections, he issued an appeal to the voters of the United States asking them, if they had approved of his leadership and wished him to continue to be their unembarrassed spokesman in affairs at home and abroad, to express themselves unmistakably to that effect by returning a Democratic majority to both houses. The result of the elections was to change the political complexion of both houses as follows: 65th congress—Senate, 51 Democrats and 45 Republicans; house, 215 Republicans and 213 Democrats. 66th congress—Senate, 47 Democrats and 49 Republicans; house, 239 Republicans and 193 Democrats.

President Wilson in attending the peace conference made several new departures. He left the country during office. He took the office with him, signing acts and making appointments while in Paris. He ignored the senate, though he is empowered by the Constitution to make treaties "by and with the advice and consent of the senate."

He appointed as the American representatives himself, Secretary of State Robert Lansing, Henry White, Edward M. House and General Tasker H. Bliss. He sailed December 4, 1918, and arrived at Paris December 14. The French capital was en fete for the occasion. December 24 he went to England and thence to Italy. He returned to Paris January 8, after a journey that resembled a "triumphal procession."

After the preliminary sessions of the peace conference President Wilson returned to the United States in February, returning to Paris March 15, 1919. He signed the peace treaty June 28, 1919, and returned to the United States July 8. His second term as president expired March 3, 1920.

After his retirement from the presidency Mr. Wilson lived quietly, making a partly successful fight to regain his health. He occasionally went to the theater and rode much in his car about the environs of Washington. He bought a home in Washington and in 1921 formed a law partnership with Bainbridge Colby, who had been his secretary of state, succeeding Robert Lansing. He took part in the funeral procession of President Harding in Washington and was the recipient of much public attention.

Mr. Wilson's last public utterance was last fall. November 10, 1923, the eve of Armistice day, he spoke by radio to the American people, defending his peace policy and saying that the American people had withdrawn into a "sullen and selfish isolation which is deeply ignoble because manifestly cowardly and dishonorable."

Armistice day Mr. Wilson briefly addressed thousands from the front steps of his home, concluding thus:

"I am not one of those that have the least anxiety about the triumph of the principles I have stood for. I have seen fools resist Providence before and I have seen their destruction, as will come upon these again—utter destruction and contempt. That we shall prevail is as sure as that God reigns. Thank you."

Woodrow Wilson was born December 28, 1856, in Staunton, Va. He was the son of Rev. Joseph R. Wilson, a Presbyterian minister, and Jessie (Woodrow) Wilson. In 1885 he married Ellen Louise Axsen. They had three daughters—Jessie (Mrs. Francis B. Sayre), Eleanor (Mrs. W. G. McAdoo) and Margaret. Mrs. Wilson died August 16, 1914, in the White House. December 18, 1915, Mr. Wilson married Edith (Bolling) Galt, a descendant of Pocahontas. The first 29 years of Mr. Wilson's life covered his boyhood and education. The next 25 were devoted to teaching and writing. With his election to the governorship of New Jersey in 1910 began his active political career. His chronolgy includes this:

1890—Professor of jurisprudence and political economy at Princeton.

1902—President of Princeton (first nonclerical).

Principal Works of Woodrow Wilson

Woodrow Wilson's Ph. D. thesis was "Congressional Government: A Study in American Politics" (1885). His later works include:

"The State: Elements of Historical and Practical Politics" (1889; new edition, 1911).

"An Old Master, and Other Political Essays" (1893).

"Division and Reunion" (1893).

"Mere Literature, and Other Essays" (1896; new edition, 1913).

"George Washington" (1896; new edition, 1913).

"The Free Life" (1908; new edition, 1913).

"Constitutional Government in the United States" (1908).

"Civic Problems" (1909).

"History of the American People" (5 Vols., 1902; new edition, 1912).

"The New Freedom" (1913).

"When a Man Comes to Himself" (1915).

WOODROW WILSON PASSES AWAY

THE GREAT WAR PRESIDENT DEAD, AFTER NEARLY FOUR YEARS OF SICKNESS.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—Woodrow Wilson, former President of the United States passed away today at 11:15 a. m. at his home here.

The end came when vitality no longer could retard the steady dissolution which set in with the stroke of paralysis that laid Mr. Wilson low on his return from the western speaking trip in 1919 in which he declared he was glad to give his life for the league of nations if that would make it a success.

Fatigued and worn by the illness which began before he left the white house in 1921 the president of two terms eight of the most momentous years in the history of the world closed his eyes and slipped peacefully away.

Cause of death as officially announced was general arterio sclerosis and haemoplegia.

The general sclerosis had been progressively hardening Mr. Wilson's arteries since he was first stricken in 1919. The haemoplegia which refers to the paralytic condition of his left side manifested itself principally in his left arm and leg.

Digestive disorder, which developed last Monday hastened death by a new and vicious attack on the warning vitality of the former president. He took a sudden turn for the worse Thursday night and physicians found that thereafter it was only a question of how low they would be able to prolong life.

The passing of the former president was announced in the following statement issued by his physician and friend, Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson:

"Mr. Wilson died at eleven fifteen this morning.

"His heart action became feebler and feebler and the heart muscles were so fatigued that it refused to act any longer. The end came peacefully."

Mrs. Wilson, his daughter, Margaret and Dr. Grayson only were in the sick room at the end. Dr. Grayson restraining tears with obvious difficulty gave the formal announcement to waiting newspaper men.

First word of the seriousness of Mr. Wilson's condition was given by Dr. Grayson Friday morning after he had spent Thursday night at the bedside. He called in at once two other physicians and members of the family were summoned by telegraph.

During all of Friday, yesterday, last night and early today he lingered on the verge of eternity. He slept fitfully and toward the last refused nourishment, but before extreme weakness overcame him, he talked with those about him and told Dr. Grayson he was "Ready to go." Step by step he lost ground and his physicians knew that the end was but a question of a short time.

Last Words, "I Am Ready."

Mr. Wilson's last words were spoken Friday. They were: "I am ready."

Realizing fully that he could not hope to rally from the onslaught of the digestive disorder which sapped his strength, weakened his heart and accentuated the condition which followed his first stroke of paralysis, he watched for a moment when all except Dr. Grayson were out of his bed chamber. Drawing his friend and physician close, he murmured with some difficulty of articulation:

"The old machine has broken down. You've done your best for me. But it's better that I should go than to live on a helpless invalid. Tell Mrs. Wilson I want her. I'm ready."

All this was without a show of emotion but in his usual measured habit of speaking. Mrs. Wilson came at the physician's call and spoke for several moments with her husband, during which he communicated to her some last wishes.

Knew He Would Die

From that time on Mr. Wilson lived out his fast-fleeting life with the full knowledge that he was on the threshold of the great beyond.

The real cause of Woodrow Wilson's death was a stroke by paralysis which followed his collapse in the late summer of 1919. Like Warren G. Harding he was stricken while on a speaking trip in the west.

The end was peaceful. Life ebbed away while he slept.

A tired man, he closed his eyes and "sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust," passed on to the great hereafter "like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

It is more likely that he will be entombed temporarily in Washington, at some one of the local cemeteries, to rest there until the national memorial which is sure to mark his final tomb is prepared. Where that may be still is a matter of conjecture.

Wilson made a heroic fight for life. As he did not surrender to death. When life seemed to be fading fastly, the former president would rally and surprise attending physicians with his stamina.

Wilson's political death softened the animosities of ruthless politics and the passing of the ex-President is today mourned by a nation that always had the highest respect for his deep learning, diligent search after truth and unswerving devotion to what he believed were the world's ideals and which he adopted as his own.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

While Iowa was indorsing Secretary Wallace's export corporation plan to buy surplus wheat, the Illinois Farm federation refused to indorse the idea.

The model of a snow plow made by J. C. McCallum of Goldfield met with the approval of the Wright county supervisors, who ordered him to manufacture one for tryout purposes.

Dead to each other fifty-six years, John Curyea, of Clinton, aged 77, and his brother, Tom Curyea, of Callender, Iowa, aged 75, were reunited here through the United States pension bureau.

The physicians and dentists office building, concerning which elaborate plans were discussed several months ago for Burlington, is a sure go, according to information through reliable sources.

Leap Year, in its more serious aspect, the time when unbeckoned maids are supposed to sally forth and give the bashful male the necessary urge which lands him before the minister, may become a forgotten institution unless Iowa girls look more faithfully toward the last chance to avoid spinsterhood.

Charles S. Cox is a winner in more ways than one. While he was winning the championship from all the corn huskers in the world, he also won the hand of the 18-year-old daughter of his employer, R. M. McCoombs. He and Ethel Louise McCoombs were married a day or two after his record was established.

Two cases of mergers between churches have occurred at Spencer. Bethany Lutheran of Spencer took over the entire membership of the St. Paul's Danish Lutheran church of Meadow township, and a tentative union has been formed between the Methodist Episcopal and the Congregational churches of Milford.

The supervisors have asked the attorney general to pass on a proposal of the Benton County Farm bureau to revive the old petition for T. B. area test and make it a basis for securing the 51 per cent required; the old one had only 48 per cent. The farmers figure the cost of the test at $30,000 and increase of revenue from the tested product $90,000, a net profit of $60,000.

Former service men who are foreign born have only until March 3rd of this year to complete their naturalization under provisions of the act of 1919 passed in their behalf, it is announced by the veterans bureau. The act provided that the date of expiration of its provisions should be one year after the return of the last troops from abroad.

Complete soil survey reports of the soil surveys of Mahaska, Fayette, Wright and Johnson counties are almost completed and will be ready for distribution within a few weeks. These reports, which include a detailed colored map of the soil types of every field in the county, are designed to help farmers of the county to adapt their crops to their soil and to handle it in the most profitable manner.

The six prizes to be given by the Iowa branch of the Parent-Teacher association for achievement in the membership drive which will be carried on from January 1st to April 1st, are described in a letter recently sent to school superintendents by state officers. "A Parent-Teacher association in every school"—this is the new slogan of the association, that organization which claims for its objective the mental, moral and physical welfare of the child.

For their second annual convention, members of the Iowa Radiological and Physiotherepy society, organized a year ago at Ottumwa, will come to Hotel Savery, Des Moines. It is announced by the conventions bureau of the Chamber of Commerce. The convention dates are February 26th and 29th. This is an organization of legitimate surgeons, physicians and dentists in the state, who are interested in the two sciences mentioned in their society name.

R. E. Chase, a farmer and potato grower living near Buck Grove, Crawford county, who has been giving his seed potatoes the formalin treatment for scab for the past several years, says that he has found this practice increased his potato yields from about 70 bushels of mediocre quality to about 135 bushels of high quality tubers. He does not plant potatoes on ground that has been in potatoes within three or four years. Mr. Chase soaks the seed in a solution of one pint formal-dehyde to thirty gallons of water for two hours and then spreads them out to dry before cutting them up.

The fact that, due to the protective layer of snow on the ground when cold weather set in, frost is only a few inches deep in the ground, is causing farmers of the State considerable satisfaction, they say.

Calling upon the people of America to set an example for all nations to the end that worldwide prohibition may soon be realized, the Iowa Anti-Saloon league in its annual convention adopted resolutions insisting that the fight against bootleggers and "wet" adherents must not be given up until every section of the United States is entirely dry.

Why You May Need—

for Economical Transportation

CHEVROLET

There are three main groups of prospective buyers of Chevrolet automobiles and commercial cars.

First, are all who know from comparisons or through the experiences of friends that Chevrolet provides the utmost dollar value in modern, economical transportation of people or merchandise.

Second, the large group of people with modest incomes who have the false impression that so good a car as Chevrolet is beyond their means.

They do not realize that due to engineering excellence and full modern equipment, Chevrolet operating and maintenance costs average so low that during the life of the car, it delivers modern, comfortable, fast transportation at the lowest cost per mile, including the purchase price.

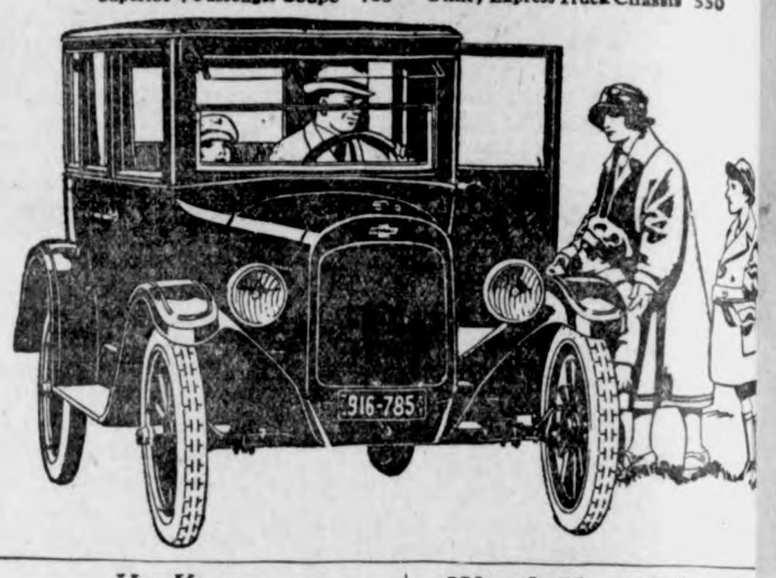
Third, the smaller but very important group of car owners of ample means, only a small percentage of whom as yet realize that Chevrolet as an extra car virtually costs them nothing, due to the reduction in their transportation expenses effected by it.

We respectfully suggest consideration, investigation and comparison of Chevrolet with any other car at any price.

Chevrolet Motor Company, Detroit, Michigan
Division of General Motors Corporation

Prices f. o. b. Flint, Mich.

Superior Roadster	$490	Superior Sedan	$795
Superior Touring	495	Superior Commercial Chassis	395
Superior Utility Coupe	640	Superior Light Delivery	495
Superior 4-Passenger Coupe	725	Utility Express Truck Chassis	550



He Knew

Teacher—And what was Washington's farewell address?

Bright Boy—Heaven, ma'am.

The Best External Remedy

for all local aches and pains, the result of taking cold, over exertion or strain, is an Allcock's Plaster.—Adv.

Page the Poet

Whistles of the mills and factories are the shrieks and groans of the Demon of Steam because he has to go to work. Somebody ought to put that into verse.

Always Keep a Box on Hand.

Brandreth Pills are a safe and reliable laxative, made in America for ninety years, entirely vegetable.—Adv.

You are right, Clarence—a sound sleeper is one who makes so much sound that others cannot sleep.

Pugnacity is defending a proposition when you don't care.

Worth More Than Go

The rhea of the Argentine p and the Patagonian wastes ha done to death in thousands m feathers sold, says Nature Ma Heron feathers were worth eig lars an ounce, four times as m gold; and, as man has murde fellowman for gold since he firs on two legs, the bird was doo

Shave With Cuticura Soap

And double your razor efficie well as promote skin purity, sk fort and skin health. No m slimy soap, no germs, no waste tation even when shaved twice One soap for all uses—shavi ing and shampooing.—Advertise

A Clear Explanatio

Teacher—"Johnny, what a two genders?" Johnny—"Ma and feminine. The masculine vided into temperate and inte and the feminine into frigid a rid."—American Legion Weekl

Ask for This New Book

"Concrete Around the Home"

Everyone who wants to improve his place or save money around his farm, needs the new Portland Cement Association booklet "Concrete Around the Home."

It tells in everyday language the easiest, simplest and most economical way to use Concrete for making drives, walks, septic tanks, garages and other permanent improvements. Easily followed instructions give you all the details necessary for estimating materials, mixing, placing and finishing the Concrete.

"Concrete Around the Home" is only one of our many booklets available without charge to those interested in using Concrete.

If you are planning any of the money-saving concrete improvements seen everywhere nowadays, such as a permanent floor, basement, or foundation for your buildings, a manure pit, feeding floor, corncrib or silo, we have a booklet on the subject with complete instructions for building it of Concrete.

Remember this service is free. The Portland Cement Association has 28 offices, listed below, and one of them is your office—the one nearest you.

Find which one it is, and write today about the concrete improvements you are planning.

There are people in that office whose business it is to help you save money by making it easy for you to use concrete. Let them show you how they can help you.

PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION
A National Organization to Improve and Extend the Uses of Concrete

Atlanta, Birmingham, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Denver, Des Moines, Detroit, Helena, Indianapolis, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Memphis, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, New Orleans, New York, Parkersburg, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Portland, Oreg., Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Seattle, St. Louis, Vancouver, B.C., Washington, D.C.

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Office opposite from Hotel Klemme

Phone No. 19

Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

Wellemeyer is pulling off another big furniture sale and kept the force at the Times Print Shop busier than cranberry merchants the past few days geting out his big posters and other material. This year Wellemeyer used over a quarter ton of print paper, besides several hundred pounds of book, bonds, and other high grade papers. A reproduction of the bill is being run in the center of this issue of the Times. There are sure some real bargains being offered this year. Read the doubl page ad and see for yousrelf.

New Spring Goods--

For Your Spring Sewing

We have just received and unpacked our new line of Spring Goods, which are now on display in our Store. Come in early and take your choice of this large, new line of the latest in Spring Merchandise. We have the following in the new stock—

SILVER TISSUES
SPRING PERCALES
PETER PAN
GINGHAMS
FRENCH GINGHAMS
TRIMMINGS, all kinds.
RATINE
CURTAIN NETS

CURTAIN DRAPES
LINGETTE—this is something new, you have sen it nationally advertised as a very fine material for dainty underthings—ask our clerks to show it to you.
PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERNS—all of the latest patterns for spring.

SPRING SEWING—Now is a good time to do your spring sewing before the rush of house-cleaning. That's why we are now showing our spring goods, so you can do your sewing now, and pick the latest in spring materials from our stock.

The goods we are now showing are absolutely the newest and latest materials from the dry goods mills. You will not find a nicer selection anywhere.

Do Your Spring Sewing Now—

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Forecasting A Tremendous Spring Demand

739,626

more Ford cars and trucks were produced last year than the previous year, an increase of over 50 per cent.

In spite of this tremendous increase in production, it was impossible to meet delivery requirements during the spring and summer months when orders for 350,000 Ford Cars and Trucks could not be filled.

This year winter buying for immediate delivery has been more active than ever before—and in addition 200,000 orders have already been booked through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan for spring delivery.

These facts clearly indicate that the demand during this spring and summer will be far greater than ever, and that orders should be placed immediately with Ford Dealers as a means of protection against delay in securing your Ford Car or Truck or Fordson Tractor.

Ford Motor Company
Detroit, Michigan

A small deposit down, with easy payments of the balance arranged, or your enrollment under the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan, will put your order on the preferred list for spring delivery.

See the Nearest Authorized Ford Dealer

F-44

GOODELL SCHOOL NOTES

As a result of the sale of Christmas seals the Red Cross has purchaed for our school a first aid kit. This is something that every school should have. We also have the promise of a Red Cross nurse for inspection here for one day. Mrs. Elmer Schneider of Goodell, Iowa, has charge of this part of the work by the Red Cross for Hancock County.

The Garner grade boys' basket ball team came down after school last Friday and clashed with our "graders," winning the game by a score of six to four. Our boys played a fine game. The grade girls are to be comended for their excellent support of the boys during the game.

The Goodell High School has joined the Iowa Extemporaneous Speaking Contest. This is the best organization in the state for training speakers. The organization is controlled by the Extension Division of the State University.

Thursday and Friday the eighth grade wrote the first examination for eighth grade diploma. We feel certain that most of them will pass, but some will certainly fail because of the large number of absences marked up against them.

GOODELL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cok were shopping in Belmond between trains last Friday.

Mrs. J. E. Savogue and Frae Allice went to Chicago for a two weeks visit with Arthur Savogue and the Reed family.

Ray Christie returned from his North Dakota visit, last Thursday.

J. W. Griggs and J. T. Griggs autoed to Ventura, last Friday.

Mrs. J. T. Griggs and family enjoyed a visit from her brother, Fred Grosz, who is here from Canada.

H. A. Sweigard, of Garner, was calling on friends here Saturday.

Frank Nolte returned from Iowa City one day last week.

Mr. L. Vantassel, of Fort Dodge spent the week end at the W. L. Sherwood home.

Jack Zeilie is filling his ice house this week. The ice is coming from Crystal Lake.

The fore part of the week we were again enjoying an old time blizzard, and the roads will have to be shoveled out again in some places for cars

The young folks held a dancing party at the H. A. Christensen home Friday night.

Ed. Kennedy of Goldfield, was calling on friends here Friday.

THE DAIRY SHORT COURSE TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

Following Is The Program

Wednesday, February 13—
1:30 P. M. F. M. Sheldon Ames, "Care of Cream"
Motion Pictures.
C. Bechtelheimer, Waterloo, "Food Value of Dairy Product"
Thursday, February 14—
10:00 A. M. J. N. Spencer, of Ames, "Figuring Dairy Rations"
1:30 P. M. J. N. Spencer, Ames, "Dairy Feeding and Management."
Motion Pictures.
F. M. Sheldon, Ames, "Dairy Manufacturing."

No admission will be charged, the expenses of this course will be paid from a fund which remained on hand from previous Courses held several years ago.

—Committee.

Another I. O. O. F. Dance

The Odd Fellows are going to put on another one of those famous old time dances at the Idle Hour Thursday evening, February 14th. This will be extra special as it will also be a Valentine Dance. Welcome all!

MRS. ANNA STIEHL MARRIED!

Was Married Last Thursday To Mr. Frank, of Waseca, Minn.

A special communication from Mrs. Anna Stiehl, until recently of Klemme, carries the news that she was married to Mr. F. W. Frank, of Waseca, Minnesota, on Thursday, January 31st, at Brookings, South Dakota. She is now Mrs. Anna M. Frank, wife of F. W. Frank. They will live at Waseca, Minn., at 408 Division St., which address the old friends of Mrs. Frank can write to her.

Mrs. Stiehl was recently divorced from her first husband, Chas. W. Stiehl.

Her many Klemme friends extend congratulations.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

January 7, 1924.

Regular meeting of the Town Council held in Mayor Gruetzmacher's place of business, with all members of the Council present except Joseph E. Johnson.

Motion made and seconded that the following bills be allowed:

First National Bank, Coupons	$285.00
First National Bank, Coupons 38-40-55-56	60.00
First National Bank, Coupons 41-42	30.00
Iowa Falls Electric Co., 3 months light	151.20
T. C. Hake, Salary for December	75.00
Standard Oil Co., Gas	20.01
F. H. Ridder, Nozzel for Fire Hose	13.85
W. F. Stille, 34 loads of sand	8.50
Emil Krause, Hauling in sand	25.50
Conrad Quandt, meals for Fire Department, Belmond	2.45
Northern Lumber Co., Hitching Posts	11.55
W. F. Missman, Cultures & Lab. Fees	11.30
Henry Lau Sons, Repairs and Supplies	12.55
Klemme Times, Publishing Council Proceedings	4.21
Lewis Service Station, Gas	2.03
Klemme Co-Op. Grain Co. Coal	13.45

Bills Allowed.

Motion made and seconded that the Idle Hour Theatre be charged no license fee for the coming year.

Motion carried.

Meeting adjourned.

A. J. KUDJE, Clerk.

Fancy Round and Boxed Stationery for sale at the Times Office. A high class correspondence paper at a reasonable price. adv

Thanking You

Having purchased a Drug Store at Ventura we are moving away from Klemme.

We want to thank the people of Klemme for their business and their friendship during our stay in Klemme. We have enjoyed a good business here and thank you.

Whenever you are in Ventura we will appreciate a visit from you; we will also be ready to serve you in our line and you will find us with a complete stock of drugs, jewelry, toilet goods, etc at our Ventura Drug Store.

E. S. D. Kahrs

Druggist

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Kahrs' Drug Store Phone 4009

Klemme, Iowa

Short Talks

BY

Uncle John

NO. 4.

"Well, after seeing the machinery I told about last week, the manager took me out to the coal pile and showed me the men at work, shoveling the coal into the furnaces under the big boilers. While at this particular plant, the men were handling the coal by shovel, it seems that at some of the plants in the system, they have automatic stokers to do this work, which of course, makes it much easier for the men on the job. The day I was there, it seems that twenty tons of coal were being shoveled into those furnaces, and the manager said there were twnty-five hundred tons of coal in the pile. Besides this large coal pile, there was barrels of oil and lots of other material that was used in the plant. The manager explained that the coal used was carefully tested before being bought to find out how much steam could be produced by each pound of coal. The idea of this was to be sure to buy the very best coal that would be economical for use in this plant.

"After seeing the boiler room we went around where the transformers were. This I found, was called the outdoor sub-station, and the manager said that the electric current was carried from these transformers at a voltage 13,000 volts to certain points along the line where other transformers brought it down to 2200 volts, and still other transformers, like that one near my house brought the current down to 110 and 220 volts.

"Sure wonderful, how all this is done, and I caught myself thing, how, right then, people many miles away were probably using the electricity I had just seen made.

"The manager then told me that the company had four other power plants like the one I had seen besides five water power plants, and that there was pretty near four hundred and fifty miles of what he called, high tension transmission lines, and many hundreds of miles of the same kids of lines like that past my house. I began to get mighty interested, so the manager promised to show me one of the water power plants, so I'll tell you about it when I see you next week."

FURNITURE PRICES SLASHED TO THE BONE

Wellemeyer's
Will Divide the Mellon 50-50

50

Everything Goes At HALF PROFIT During This BIG BOLD QUICK TURN

Crash! Smash! Bang!

Down Go The Prices!

8—Daily—8

FIFTY-FIFTY SALE

FEBRUARY 15 TO 23

Wellemeyer's
Go Fifty-Fifty With You

50

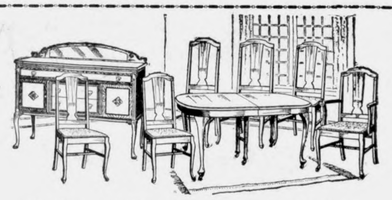
Pay Day Is Coming!
WE MUST SELL OR BUST!

Nothing Reserved!

Out Go The Goods!

Free Friday at 9:00 We will give FREE to the first 100 Ladies our Store a "CHORE BOY MITT," which is a ne ful article for kitchen use. One Mitt to each La

Friday at 1:00 p. m. Free We give away FREE twelve of these strong, handy DUST PANS to the Ladies who live on the farm. The first twelve to enter our store at or after 1:00 P. M. get the DUST PANS.



8 Piece Dining Room Suite

This suite is finished in Oak, Jacobean Finish. Consists of Buffet, Table and 6 Leather Seat Chairs. $144.00 "Fifty-Fifty"

Chair
Rock Elm
Golden Oak
Finish
Strong and Well Made
"Fifty-Fifty" $2.15

Oak Extension Table
6-ft. 42 inch.
"Fifty-Fifty" $17.50

$9.00 All Cotton Mattress $9.00

Good looking Mattress, full size, full weight, feels soft, covered with cheap ticking which will fade, filled with a poor grade of dark cotton which will get "bumpy" sooner or later, and if you have only $9.00 to put into a Mattress we recommend our "Cotton Top" with extra good tick at $6.50 or our "Splendid Combination" Mattress at $8.50; either of which will give you more comfort and more wear than a cheap all cotton mattress. However, if you want a good all cotton mattress call during this Fifty Fifty Sale and see our seven kinds at from $12.00 to $35.00. Specially priced for this sale.

Draperies

The new Draperies for Spring have arrived. It is necessary for us to carry a large and complete line, so that we can supply a double demand.

The demand from our dry goods customers and the demand from our furniture customers.

In addition to our large stock we have access to the sample swatches of a wholesale dry goods firm, who have offices in our store.

We are Hancock County's' greatest store when it comes to Draperies, and all of this line is especially priced for this "Fifty-Fifty" Sale.

Sewing Machines

Free Cabinate	$39.00
Ideal 5-Drawer	$42.00
New Home 5-Drawer	$55.00
Singer 7-Drawer	$77.00

Mr. Geo. Jersey, from the New Home Factory, will be here to demonstrate the Baby Table New Home Machine which sells for $12.50 at this "Fifty-Fifty" Sale.

Rugs

A half hundred Room Size Rugs to pick from, in different qualities, all priced "Fifty-Fifty."

Empire Tapestry 9x12	$27.50
Congoleum 9x12	$14.85

Linoleum by the Yard and Linoleum Rugs—all floor coverings go at "Fifty-Fifty" Prices. Mr. Edwards, special factory representative, will be here with samples to take care of your every special need.

MISSION BUFFET "Fifty-Fifty" $25.75

THE "Fifty-Fifty"—What It Means

THE "Fifty-Fifty" Sale means we divide our profit with you during this EIGHT DAY

Our Buyers searched the markets during January with instructions to buy more than ever before, and they could get quality goods and rock bottom prices, and they placed orders for enough good Furniture to last any average a year.

These goods have now come on our floor; and we want to tell you that the factories are making furniture than ever before---everything is made stronger, the finish and the new designs are pleasing.

This "Fifty-Fifty" Sale is a GAMBLE on our part. But we are glad to do it; first to please our Customers who have always been loyal boosters for our store, and to attract New Customers from other towns, for we believe in the policy, "Quick Sales and Small Profit." So tell all your friends, and come this the Biggest Feast of Furniture Bargains which this Store has ever given to its customers in the 17 years we have been serving you.

SALE PRICES CASH——Money talks at this Sale—our prices are so extremely low that we must have your check or a bankable note.

GOODS DELIVERED ANYWHERE during this "Fifty-Fifty" Sale will be delivered without charge, but not until after the sale is

Wellemeyer's

DEPARTMENT STORE

Klemme - Iowa

(Klemme, Iowa.)

Phonograph Day

SATURDAY, FEB. 16th

—just to make things lively we will reduce the price $5.00 per hour on two popular styles of Phonographs.

Vianola, Style A. in wax walnut; Columbia New Style, wax oak; both similar in design to above cut. Your choice at the following prices:

At 8:00 A. M.	$100	3:00 P. M.	$65
9:00 A. M.	$ 95	4:00 P. M.	$60
10:00 A. M.	$ 90	5:00 P. M.	$55
11:00 P. M.	$ 85	6:00 P. M.	$50
12:00 Noon	$ 80	7:00 P. M.	$45
1:00 P. M.	$ 75	8:00 P. M.	$40
2:00 P. M.	$ 70	9:00 P. M.	$35

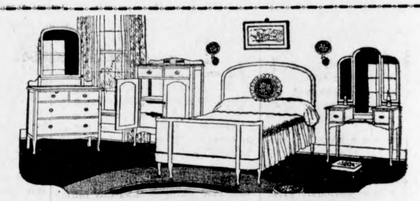
Two machines only are offered in this way. However, we have a full assortment of Phonographs—10 different kinds and makes—all priced on the "Fifty-Fifty" basis during this Sale.

Mason City

We sold several loads of Furniture to Mason City people in 1923—We invite you to come again and bring your friends. Your City Dealers cannot meet our prices on account of the difference in rents, taxes and expense in the two towns.

New Furniture For Old

Trade us your Old Furniture and buy New. We have a separate department for Used Furniture. We have on hand, 2 sets of Dining Chairs; 4 Parlor Tables; 1 Morris Chair; 4 Rockers; 3 Kitchen Cabinets; 2 Baby Cabs; 1 Cot; 1 Comode; 2 Davenports; 1 Book Case; 2 Libray Tables; 2 Phongraphs 1 Piano; 1 Player; 4 Sewing Machines; 3 Large Rugs. All at "Fifty-Fifty" Price.



Walnut Bedroom Suite

This Suite consists of Bed, Dresser, Vanity and Bench, beautifully finished in Walnut. Can furnish Chiffonier to match.

"Fifty-Fifty" $99.00

STEEL BED— Finished Vernis Martin.
"Fifty-Fifty" $6.98

FABRIC BED SPRING
Fifty"
"Fifty- $3.50

2-piece Over Stuffed Living Room Suite
"Fifty-Fifty" $129.00

Covered with beautiful high grade Tapestry. The legs and runners are of well seasoned Birch finished in the new Dull Brown Mahogany finish. Both pieces have spring filled soft loose cushions resting upon deep substantial seat springs of the highest grade.

We have five Living Room Suits on our floor, and Mr. Teslow, the factory man, will be here, with actual photographs of the complete factory line, and his yard wide samples of coverings—all at "Fifty-Fifty" prices too.

Political Announcements

COUNTY RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election to the office of Recorder of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Clarissa Abel. (J-3)

COUNTY SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Supervisor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—Thos. Berhow. (J-3)

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican Primary to be held in June, 1924.—H. C. Meyer. (J-10)

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to a decision of the republican voters at the primary election in June, 1924. I solicit your support on a platform of strict economy, fair and impartial treatment.—Wallace Darrah. (J10)

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—John Suurballe. (J-10)

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary...H. ... Sweigard.

COUNTY AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of County Auditor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters of the June, 1924 primary.—J. D. Madison. (J-10)

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Verne C. Grau. J-17)

COUNTY SHERIFF

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the republican primaries to be held in June 1924.—Ward Hanson, Crystal Lake.

I hereby announce myself a candidate on the Republican ticket for Sheriff of Hancock County at the June primaries. Pledging the same service that I have previously given while in public office.—Peck Hanson.

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock Coutny, subject to the decision of the voters at the primary June.—W. C. Zeismer.

COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—C. Hanson, Garner, Ia. (J-17)

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination of Clerk of Courts of Hancock County subject to a decision of the voters at the June 1924 Primaries.—Chris J. Jansen, Britt, Iowa.

FOR STATE SENATOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for State Senator from this 43rd district of Iowa comprising Cerro Gordo, Franklin and Hancock counties, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 primaries. If nominated and elected I agree to abide by the precedent established in this district and will not be a candidate for a second term.—C. F. JOHNSTON. Winfield, Iowa, Beby. 1st, 1924.

DAIRY SHORT COURSE

Arrangements have been made for a 3 day program to be held at ... time at the Idle Hour Theatre. ... Sheldon will talk on Dairy Manufacturing on the afternoon of the 13th, and Mr. Spencer will talk on Dairy Production in the forenoon and afternoon of the 14th. These men are well informed and are authorities on the subjects assigned to them and they are coming to encourage greater interest in dairying. Other definite announcements will be made at a later date.

Jos. Schuldt
W. H. Greimann
W. J. Schlawein
A. D. Gimer
F. A. Arnold, Committee.

Legislative News

Committees and sub-committees to whom have been referred code revision measures have digested the short and inconsequental laws for revision and are now reporting to the full general assembly the more complicated bills. Some of these are very long and cover all kinds of intricate legislation. The lawyers in both the house and the senate are called upon for advice, and their judgment is a valuable asset. The work of revision is making satisfactory progress, although to the casual observer, it looks like much valuable time is being wasted. This is because sessions are short in order that committee work may proceed because here is where the heavy work in code revision is being enacted.

Resolution Introduced in the House

Gallagher, of Iowa county, presented a resolution in the house which deprecated the multiplicity of laws that are a burden to the statutes to regulate the conduct of individuals and communities at the behest of amateur reformers and irresponsible teachers, and often touching upon a disrespect for law because of these things, proceeds to close with the following: Resolved, that there can be no lasting moral or social betterment until the home and church act in concert to accomplish this end. The moral element is envolved in every human thought, word and act, the trinity that constitutes the source of all our joy and happiness, all our remorse and regret, the product being conditioned upon the election of the will, and this election is entirely dependent upon the character formed by parental and spiritual guidance and instruction. Feeling that the position hereinbefore expressed is invulnerable, unassailable, this body makes an ardent and earnest plea to parents and guardians of Iowa to join with their respective spiritual organization o fthe only reform movement that can remedy the evils that now threaten to swamp society in a common ruin. The Christian home is the greatest legislative body in the world as a school, it transcends in primary importance every educational agency to which we gladly attribute our countless millions. Once arouse it to a full sense of its responsibilities, obligations and potentialities, and the prime bulwark of civilization has been reared anew and the frantic appeals for more statutory laws will subside in that rational and right-ordered peace that can flow only from homes that properly function.

Tuition at Ames Stirs Debate in the Senate.

Senator Fulton of Jefferson county, came forward with an amendment in the senate to the educational bill up for passage which had for its object the modernizing of the law as it pertained to the state college at Ames. Free tuition has been the policy there since 1858 while at Iowa City tuition was charged for pursuing some of the same branches that are taught free at Ames. Power to determine what tuition shall be charged for attendance at Ames is given to the state board of education by the new provision. A stipulation in the code of 1853 required that all students attending the Ames college without paying tuition, must work for the state two hours a week during the course of the school term, and three hours a week during the summer vacation, was dropped in the early eighties.

Uniform Marking of Primary Roads.

The marking of the highways brought out a somewhat vigorous discussion in the senate during which enemies of the state highway commission took opportunity to make faces at the organization. Brookins, of Floyd, told the senate of the need of a system of uniform marking. Citing 363 deaths from auto accidents, 70 of them at railroad crossings in Iowa during 1923, with a total of over 9000 accidents resulting in 10,822 persons being injured during the same time, Senator Brookins insisted upon Iowa's need of well marked roads. The uniform system calls for the marking of all primary roads with route indicators and suitable warning signs to be placed at dangerous points in the road. Cost of establishment of the system, if it becomes a law, shall be paid from the primeary road fund allotment of the county in which the markings are constructed. The Brookin's amendment does not specify any type of marking, leaving this decision to the highway commission.

Insurance Department Is Under Fire.

Senator Browne of Jackson county, has drafted a resolution calling for an investigation of the State Insurance Department, with special reference to the activity of Commissioner Kendrick, in an effort to avoid the wrecking of the North American National Life Insurance Company, of Des Moines. The resolution reads: "Whereas, the insurance department has recently appeared in court and defended irregular proceedings in one fire insurance company and whereas it has spent large sums of the taxpayers' money to help conceal irregularities, and whereas there is reason to believe that some companies have paid illegal dividends, and whereas the fire insurance companies of Iowa do not come under the blue sky law, and the people have no protection in these companies except the report of the insurance commissioner, therefore be it resolved by the senate: That a committee of seven not more than five of whom shall be republicans, be appointed to investigate the state insurance department and make a report to the senate within fifteen days after the passage of this resolution

Infected Cattle Not to be Slaughtered

One of the longest bills before the house was that pertaining to animal husbandry. All of the laws pertaining to the safeguarding of breeding, the prevention of disease, including tubercular tests, quarantine and inoculation were brought under one heading and grouped under one classification. A spirited debate followed the attempt to have all cattle killed that ha dtubercular infection, thus eliminating the present system of quarantine. The amendment was presented by Criswel of Boone. "Tuberculosis among cattle is not hereditary," declared Hollis of Black Hawk county, a breeder of exhibition cattle. "It would be a great waste to kill all cattle infected when they can be safely utilized under the strict quarantine laws." An amendmennt by McClune of Mahaska, providing that notice of enrollment under the era plan should be published in the various county papers was adopted. Under the terms of the act, owners of herds of cattle must have their animals tested 90 days after the official publication. Failure to do so is punishable by a fine of $100. State funds for the testinng work are to be allotted to the various counties on the basis of the number of breeding cattle owned.

More Petitions Are Received.

Petitions urging the reading of the Bible in the public schools which came to both houses bearing thousands of signatures a couple of weeks ago were followed last week with petitions protesting the reading of the Bible in the public schools. Not as many names were signed on these as to those favoring the reading, but the protest was made in a vigorous preamble. Then, another class of petitions were received, these being from reputable physicians who want the law changed as to the responsibility of prescribing alcoholic liquors for medicinal purposes.

County Superintendent Once Again

Ontjes, of Grundy, introduced an amendment to a bill limiting the amount county school superintendents should spend for expenses, which provided a new method of electing such superintendents by having as members of the election board presidents of all independent and sub-district boards of a county, but the amendment was defeated by a large vote. The amount a county superintendent may spend for expenses in a year shall not exceed $400. Provision in the bill is made for a system of keeping track of all expenditures for this purpose.

Sand and Gravel Taken From State Streams to be Taxed.

Leaseholds under which firms taking sand and gravel from streams in the state will pay 3 cents a ton as fixed by the state board of conservation. The payment of the 3 cents per ton is retroactive to Jan. 1. About forty firms in the state will be affected by the new policy. The state board of conservation adopted a resolution providing for the charge after the last legislature gave the board the right to make such leases. Three exceptions were made to the tax of 3 cents a ton on sand and gravel under the terms of a bill fathered by Senators Caldwell and Shane. The exceptions are, sand and gravel for private use, for road and bridge construction and public improvement in cities.

Physicians' Prescriptions for Liquor Under Fire.

Strong pressure is being brought to bear by the W.C.T.U. and the Anti-Saloon League to have Iowa join twelve other state in discarding alcoholic liquor as a necessity in the practice of medicine. The official records relating to the extent of the business the past year, are in the hands of Bradley, in the house, and McIntosh in the senate, eash at the head of the committee on the suppression of intemperance in either house. Last year 102,544 pdescriptions for liquor for medicinal purposes were issued in Iowa by physicians and presumably filled by pharmacists holding federal permits, according to the records of the Des Moines office of the federal prohibition enforcement department. These prescriptions called for the dispensation of 12,818 gallons of bonded whiskey. 93 permits were issued during 1923.

Election Law Amended.

The Bradley-Francis law passed by the 39th general assembly which provided for a double board on election day, the subsidary board to go on duty at one o'clock of such day and proceed to count the ballots as cast and to continue such duty until the polls are closed, has been changed so that such counting board will go on duty at nine o'clock on election morning and proceed with the counting the remainder of the day.

Critic Teacher System Defeated in the House.

The critic teacher system as feared at the State Teachers College at Cedar Falls was annulled by an amendment to the State Board of Education bill introduced and pressed with vigor by Storey, of Warren, Dewar of Cherokee, and Gallagher of Iowa, fought adoption of the Storey amendment, declaring such anamendment would hamper the work of the teachers college and curtail the necessary supply of highly trained and efficient teachers. The Storey amendment was carried by a vote of 53 to 47. President Seerley, of Ceadr Falls upon receipt of the action of the house, issued the following statement. "The Storey amendment to the Board of Education bill was adopted on a misunderstanding as it was assumed that the board had varying policies and that the state paid money or service to the school districts cooperating. In no case is either money or service paid by the state for the privileges granted either directly or indirectly. In both cases the state furnishes the critic teachers, the supervisors and the managers who have immediate charge of the instruction and direction of the students in training. In doing this the state pays all these persons their salaries as they receive no other remuneration than the budget grants. The differences that exist in the system are due to the methods of providing for the other expenses incurred. At Cedar Falls and its adjoining districts, the state receives pay for the upkeep such as rent for buildings, janitor service, supplies and room teachers, determined by a contract that decides the amount each district shall pay on average attendance of its respective pupils. This amount meets all the overhead that the organization of the Training School demands. At Cherokee, Mason City and Waterloo as well as other cooperating districts away from Cedar Falls, all the overhead is provided by the cooperating districts and no other expenses are required by the existing contracts.

Shares of Corporate St ock Must Have Value.

A committee amendment relating to the transfer of cooperative stock passed the senate without a dissenting vote. It provides that no certificate of shares of stock shall be issued, delivered or transferred by any corporation, officer or agent thereof or by the owner of such certificate or shares, without having indorsed on the face thereof what amount or portion of the par value has been paid to the corporation issuing the same, and whether such payment has been in money or property. Any certificate of stock issued, delivered or transferred in violation of this section shall be void. Any person violating the provisions of this section, or knowingly making a false statement on such certificate, shall be fined not less than $100 nor more than $500, and shall stand committed to the county jail until such fine and costs are paid.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
A. W. Gauger, Pastor

Next Sunday being the Sunday nearest Lincoln's birthday, we shall observe the day by considering the work so well begun by this great man in setting free the negro. While this work was well begun, it is ours as a church and a country to carry this work to completion. The Sunday morning sermon will deal with this subject.

In our Sunday evening service we will study "Lincoln the Man." All are invited to attend.

Prayer meeting this week will be held at the Bailey home. Do not fail to come!

On Thursday afternoon the W. F. M. S. will hold its meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred Ridder.

Twenty additional copies of the great World Service volumes have been ordered and should be here by Sunday. Be sure to get yours.

BASKET SOCIAL

There will be a basket social at the Liberty No. 9 school, six miles west of Klemme on Friday night, February 15. Ladies please bring baskets. Mabel Beier, Teacher, Louis H. Griffen, Director. 1wp

Miss Christabel Parkhurst, daughter of Mrs. Emmaline Parkhurst, prominent in the fight for woman suffrage in England a few years ago, is delivering addresses in Iowa in behalf of world peace. She is to speak in Waterloo February 17th under the auspices of the Waterloo Bible Conference.

MRS. HERMAN GREIMAN

Caroline Anna, wife of Rev. Herman Greiman, was born Sept. 6, 1883, at New Knoxville, Ohio, daughter of Ernst and Anna Haberkamp. She was baptized and confirmed in the Reformed Church at New Knoxville, in which vicinity she grew up to young womanhood. Early in life, being at that time only five years of age, she lost her mother, and having reached the age of twelve her father also passed away. Thus even in her early years she became acquainted with grief and accustomed to sorrow. She was left an orphan together with one brother and one sister. Coming to Garner, in 1902 to her brother who now resided here, she soon found and made friends. Diligently, lovable and trustworthy she was highly esteemed and respected by all who knew her. Here she was engaged to Herman Greiman in 1906, who after having finished his studies for the ministry, wedded her on June 18, 1913 at Garner. Having accepted a charge at Dale, Wis., they commenced housekeeping there and attended to the pastoral duties to which they were devoted. Their wedded life was blessed with five children, Charlotte aged 9, Curtis aged 8, Adeline 6, Eugene 4 and Dorothy 3. In April, 1920, they moved to Shaller, Iowa, taking charge of the Reformed congregation.

It was the good pleasure of the Lord to take her from the midst of her family and labors to His heavenly home at 6:30 p. m., Wednesday, Jan. 30, 1924, at the age of 40 years, 4 months, and 24 days. We cannot discern the wisdom and dercees of the Lord and may but acquiesce to the prayer: not my, but thy will be done. She leaves to mourn her early and unseemingly untimely death, her devoted and beloved husband, her loving children, one brother, Wm. Habercamp of Garner, and one sister, Mrs. Leroy Schroer of New Knoxville, Ohio, besides innumerable relatives and friends.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

John Suurballe, Treasurer, to Floyd Chisel, Tax Sale Deed 1-28-24, lot 12, block 8, Crystal Lake $3.51

John Suurballe, Treasurer, to Floyd Chisel Tax Sale Deed, 1-28-24 lot 10, block 8 Crystal Lake .. $2.12

James O. Ostby to Chas. E. Miller, W. D., 1-25-24, lots 1-2, block 2, Miller $1

E. T. Hauptman and wife to Kunz-Benson-Ochs Co. Q. C. D., 1-30-24 part lots 1-2-3-4, block 4, Corwith $1

John N. Sprole, Ex., to Jens. Moe, W. D., 1-28-24, part E 19-96-23, ... $21,446.26

J. E. Johnson et al to Will S. Hick ok, W. D., 12-5-23, lots 2, 3, 5 to 15 block 13, Hayfield $1000

Mary J. Lawler et al to Frank J. Lawler, Q. C. D., 1-21-24, N NW 2-97-26 ..... $1

Peter Freund and wife to R. W. Newton, Trustee, W. D., SE & E NE 7-96-23 ..... $1

August Schlutz and wife to Henry Jante, W. D. 2-1-24, NW 7-96-23, ... $20,000

Albertina Lemke to August Schultz W. D., 12-27-23, lots 1-2, block 5, Tallman's add to Garner $2000

Miller Bank Suspends Operations Beckjorjen of Forest City, Named as Assignee.

Thursday of last week, J. O. ... owner of the Farmers & Merc... Bank of Miller, closed the doo... that institution for what he exp... at the time to be but a temp... suspension of activities, but from ... velopments of the days since, ... pears that the closing will be p... nent. In conversation with Mr. ... by Friday of last week, he exp... that the closing of his bank was ... necessary on account of a de... cash reserve, and an over-supp... "frozen assets" upon which he ... time was unable to realize the ... sary cash. This shortage of ... he explained, was due to heavy ... drawals which far exceeded ... deposits. After the bank's situa... was realized by Mr. Ostby, and ... knew that he could no longer do ... iness without being able to re... cash from some of his paper, he ... his depositors this proposition: ... positors to accept certificates of ... posit from the bank calling for ... ment of ten per cent of their ch... ing account in two months, and ... ten per cent in four months, and ... per cent in six, eight, ten, ele... twelve, thirteen, fourteen and fi... months. On time deposits, he ... an extension of two years time ... present date of expiration. He ... posed to pay five per cent on all ... posits. In this manner, he exp... ed, he would be given time to re... on his paper, and in his judgm... would be able to pay all deposito... full. However, this failed to ... through it appears, as on Monda... this week, Otto Beckjorden, ca... of the First National Bank of F... City, was named assignee for ... Miller bank. The assignment ... corded at the court house indic... deposits in the amount of appr... mately $60,000.00 Later, it wil... necessary for the assignee to fil... inventory, and at that time the ... condition of the bank will be m... known. Naturally, the closing ... bank creates a great uproar in a ... munity. It is to be hoped that ... matter can be adjusted without ha... loss to anyone.

The herd of deer that roamed ... Shelby and Pottawattamie cou... for a number of years, numberin... one time from 400 to 500, has ... nigh became obliterated, not... standing the law which makes ... crime to shoot them. They bec... something of a nuisance to the f... ers over whose places they roa... at will and the temptation to s... them was ever present. In re... years game wardens have been ... strict in an effort to preserve ... remnant of the herd.

From the auditor of state comes ... report that up to January 21st ... mittances for the Iowa Soldiers' ... nus had been sent to 95,540 ... war veterans. Claims filed and ... pending investigation tatal 8,... while 700 have been rejected. Fail... to establish Iowa as a residence ... conscientious objection to mili... service caused the majority of t... rejections. A total of 104,500 cla... have been filed to date. Less than ... instances of forgery of bonus ... rants have been discovered.

DRUGS

A New Department Opening Feb. 15

We wish to announce to the Public that hereafter we will carry a Complete Line of Drugs. The stock we are putting in is New and Fresh. We propose to carry nationally advertised brands and goods of known quality.

Our stock will consist of Medicines and Family Remedies, Toilet Articles, Package Goods, Sundries, Sick Room Supplies, News Papers, Magazines, etc. You will find this New Drug Department on the main floor.

Call on us for any article which you would expect to find in a well regulated Drug Store.

We will start to do business in this new Drug Department Friday, Feb. 15th. Come in and look it over.

"A GOOD PLACE TO TRADE"

WELLEMEYER

Department Store Klemme, Iowa

HAD TO LET HOUSEWORK GO

So Ill Husband had to do the Work. Completely Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

South Bend, Indiana.—"I was all run-down, tired out, and had pains in my back and bearing-down pains. I was so sore I could hardly drag myself around and was not able to do a bit of housework. My husband worked all day in the shop, and then came home and helped me at night. The doctors said I had female weakness, and there was no help but to be operated upon, and of course that would cost us a great deal. My husband heard about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at the factory and one night he stopped at the drug store and bought me a bottle of it. I had begun to think there was no help for me, but I took three bottles of it and now I feel like myself once more. The price for three bottles wasn't so much as the doctor had charged. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough."—Mrs. DORA OSBORNE, 430 Sherman Avenue, South Bend, Ind.

Women troubled with female weakness should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial—now. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Garfield Tea

Was Your Grandmother's Remedy

For every stomach and intestinal ill. This good old-fashioned herb home remedy for constipation, stomach ills and other derangements of the system so prevalent these days is in even greater favor as a family medicine than in your grandmother's day.

CHILDREN WHO ARE SICKLY

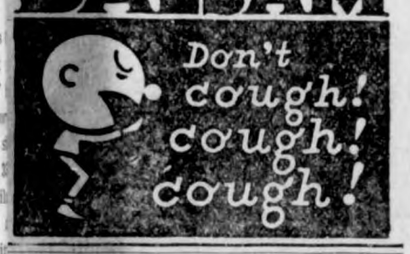
Mothers who value the health of their children, should never be without MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS for CHILDREN, for use when needed. They tend to Break up Colds, Relieve Feverishness, Worms, Constipation, Headache, Teething disorders and Stomach Troubles. Used by Mothers for over thirty years. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Ask today. Trial package FREE. Address,

TRADE MARK

Don't accept any Substitute.

MOTHER GRAY CO., LE ROY, N. Y.

KEMP'S BALSAM



A Clear Case

Stage Hand—Did you say you wanted a window or a widow?

Show Manager—I said window, but they're both much alike. When I get near either of them I always look out.—Japan Advertiser.

Better a good paying job than a low-salaried position.

The noisier an argument, the more people will be drawn into it.

Cooks and Good Housekeepers realize the superiority of

Baker's Chocolate

(Premium No. 1)

for making cakes, pies, puddings, fudges, ices, etc.

Be sure that you get the genuine, in the blue wrapper and yellow label with the trade-mark of the Chocolate Girl on the back.

Made only by

Walter Baker & Co. Ltd.

Established 1780

Mills at Dorchester, Mass. and Montreal, Canada

BOOKLET OF CHOICE RECIPES SENT FREE

Abraham Lincoln

RICH in the reverence of a nation's heart,
Thou martyred one! thou firm and rugged rock!
Like valiant knight didst thou perform thy part,
Despite all envy, malice, jeer and mock!

Dark were the shadows, deep the grief and care
That fell to thee, heroic, homely soul!
Belied, contemned, but now with splendor rare
Thy fame glows radiantly from pole to pole!

Could we our fated tasks as fitly meet
As thou didst thine, O peerless man of men!
Fearless the great assassin, Death, we'd greet,
Scorning his shaft. Life were a victory then!
—A. Rosenthal in Globe-Democrat.

"Abe" Lincoln as an Inventor

THAT Abraham Lincoln once seriously devoted his attention to mechanical invention, and pursued it so far as to obtain a patent, may be news to some who are unaware of the many activities that engrossed the great president's mind.

In the forties and later the matter of navigation was the big problem in the West. Nearly all the settlements of Illinois and Missouri anywhere near a stream were hopeful that in some way those streams could be made navigable for steamboats, and it seems Lincoln shared this hope regarding the Sangamon river.

The Lincoln patent was recorded:

"Model of sinking and raising boats by bellows below. A. Lincoln, May 30, 1849."

It was stated that at one time there was a wrecked boat in the Sangamon river, about four miles from Springfield, Ill., as the result of an attempt of Lincoln's to show that the little river was navigable. It was the dream of the pioneer planters that if boats could voyage up the little streams near their holdings they would become wealthy from the proceeds of their crops. They then could get them to the big markets, where big prices were paid, and throughout the states of the Mississippi valley craft of various kinds made many experiments at upstate navigation on small streams.

When he lived in old Salem it is said Lincoln had great faith in the future of the Sangamon river as a material arm of western industry. The big problem as he and others saw it was in getting the boats over the shallow places. The time was far in advance of appropriations for river improvement, and some other means had to be devised for overcoming obstacles to navigation. In the Sangamon river were numerous stretches of comparatively "easy water," for boats, and then would come a lot of sandbars or shallow places.

It was this problem on which Lincoln worked. The model he made may still be in the patent office, or on exhibition somewhere. It would be almost priceless now. It never was demonstrated in actual work, however.

Under the guards of the boat was a "battery" of blacksmith bellows. When the boat reached a place where the bottom would strike the river bed the bellows were supposed to act as "lifters" for the boat, like an air-inflated bladder. It was figured the bellows would raise the boat so its draught would slide over the bars like a raft. Once over the shallows the air would be released from the bellows and the boat would proceed until it came to the next bad place.

Soon after Lincoln obtained his patent his mind was diverted to weightier matters, though he never forgot his "safety first" invention for boats. It is said that soon after his inauguration as president he got one of the patent office officials to look up the model for him.

LINCOLN SAYING

"IF YOU once forfeit the confidence of your fellow citizens," Lincoln said to a caller at the White Huose, "you can never regain their respect and esteem. It is true that you may fool all the people some of the time; you can even fool some of the people all the time; but you can't fool all of the people all the time."

An Inspiration.

In his homely rugged honesty, in his whole-souled devotion, to "right" in piloting the nation through the rocks that threatened its destruction Abraham Lincoln becomes enshrined eternally in the hearts of the people and serves as an inspiration down through the centuries.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

BATHE YOUR EYES

Use Dr. Thompson's Eyewater. Buy at your druggist's or 163 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

YOU CAN'T CUT OUT

A Bog Spavin or Thoroughpin but you can clean them off promptly with

ABSORBINE

TRADE MARK REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

and you work the horse same time. Does not blister or remove the hair. $2.50 per bottle, delivered. Will tell you more if you write. Book 4 A free.

W. F. YOUNG, Inc., 510 Lyman St., Springfield, Mass.

Hard Luck

Rub—Well, I got justice from the court at last.

Dub—You don't say? I thought you'd be acquitted.—Town Topics.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Aspirin Marked With "Bayer Cross" Has Been Proved Safe by Millions.

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

Views in Cities

Fine vistas in cities are almost invariably the result of accident; but dozens of them ought to be planned.

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry Mother! Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits. Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.

Many "entertainments" are well attended because those who attend think staying at home is a bore.

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

The man who boasts of the wonders he is going to work never amounts to much as an actual worker.

WOMEN! DYE FADED THINGS NEW AGAIN

Dye or Tint Any Worn, Shabby Garment or Drapery.

Diamond Dyes

Each 15-cent package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple that any woman can dye or tint any old, worn, faded thing new, even if she has never dyed before. Choose any color at drug store.—Advertisement.

Fish Not Brain Food

It used to be believed that certain foods, especially fish and other foods containing phosphorus, were especially valuable for the gray matter of the brain. This is not believed any more. Brain cells apparently use the same kinds of food materials as all other living cells do. The best way to feed the brain well is to keep the body in good health.

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER COMPOUND

A safe, dependable and effective remedy for Coughs, Colds, Distemper, Influenza, Heaves and Worms among horses and mules. Absolutely harmless, and as safe for colts as it is for stallions, mares or geldings. Give "Spohn's" occasionally as a preventive. Sold at all drug stores.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO. GOSHEN, IND. U.S.A.

Relief for Coughs

Use PISO'S—this prescription quickly relieves children and adults. A pleasant syrup. No opiates. 35c and 60c sizes sold everywhere.

Man or Woman to Distribute McNess Sanitary line of quality extracts, Spices, pharmaceutical remedies, toilet articles, stock and poultry tonics, etc. Free samples. Excellent remuneration for full or part time. Write today to Furst & Thomas, Dept. S, Freeport, Ill.

W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 6--1924.

Your Favorite Cocoa at a Big Cash Saving!

MONARCH COCOA DUTCH PROCESS

FARM HOUSE COCOA AMERICAN PROCESS

Order Today From Your Grocer

Now you can buy the finest Dutch and American Process Cocoa at big cash savings. Monarch—genuine Dutch Process Cocoa—is equal to the finest imported brands yet costs about half as much.

If you prefer American Process Cocoa there's none better than Farm House, regardless of price. Take this advertisement to your grocer today and get the cocoa you like best at the money saving prices offered here.

TRY THESE TESTED RECIPES

"One-Egg" Cake With Monarch Cocoa Icing

¼ cup butter
½ cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup milk
1½ cups cake flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder

To creamed butter gradually add sugar and egg, well beaten. Mix and sift flour and baking powder, adding alternately with milk to first mixture. Bake in shallow pan 30 minutes with moderate oven.

MONARCH COCOA ICING

Mix 1 cup sugar, ½ cup water and ⅛ teaspoon cream of tartar. Boil without stirring till it threads. Pour slowly over white of egg beaten stiff, beating constantly. When mixture begins to cream add 3 heaping teaspoons Monarch Cocoa. Spread on cold cake.

Farm House Cocoa Fudge

Melt 1 tablespoon of butter in a cast iron skillet, add ⅓ cup of milk and 1½ cups of sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved, then add ⅓ cup of Farm House Cocoa; continue stirring until thoroughly blended. Heat to the boiling point and let boil 12 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from the fire, add 1 teaspoon of vanilla and beat until the mixture is creamy. Pour into a buttered pan, cool, and cut in one inch squares.

Clip and use for → MONARCH COCOA DUTCH PROCESS

Tear out and present to your grocer with 38c and receive a full pound package of Monarch genuine Dutch Process Cocoa. The finest imported brands do not excel Monarch in rich quality. Yet Monarch costs about half as much. To be sure of getting the genuine at the special price of 38c, clip and present this coupon to your grocer. This offer not good at "chain stores."

Clip and use for → FARM HOUSE COCOA AMERICAN PROCESS

If you prefer the flavor of American Process Cocoa, you'll want to try Farm House. Clip this coupon and present it to your regular retail grocer with only 18c and receive a full pound package of the finest American Process Cocoa packed. If you trade on a charge account, don't bother with the cash. Your grocer will enter a charge of only 18 cents to your account.

Retail Grocers Read This →

If our salesmen do not reach you, write for our special proposition on Monarch Dutch Process Cocoa, Farm House American Process Cocoa and the world famous Monarch Coffee. Write today to the office nearest you.

REID, MURDOCH & CO.

CHICAGO Established 1853 PITTSBURGH NEW YORK

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

Volume 2—Number 13. Thursday, February 7, 1924.

When the demand is dull for farm implements, this fact is no reflection upon the merits of the equipment, and the farmers who attempt to dispense with necessary equipment, lose out sooner or later. It is encouraging to review the favorable testimony offered by farmers who recognize the worth of modern equipment and thru its use have minimized the effect of the recent slump in the value of farm products.

Not By Good Tools

When a farmer goes broke, it is seldom that he can trace the cause of his failure to the purchase of good equipment. Recently a farmer disposed of his farm through the cooperation of the sheriff. Finding it necessary to move to another locality he sold his equipment at public auction. here wasn't a serviceable tool in the assortment. He had a tractor which had become practically worthless thru neglect. The other tools were suitable only for scrap iron. He had afiled to grow profitable crops on good bottom soil because he lacked suitable equipment. Haphazard planting and inadequate cultivtin of crops eventully landed him in "debtors' row."

"The wrong men got that fellow's money," commented a business man. "He bought oil stocks and other worthless things, but considered it good economy to dispense with modern tools. Some time ago he made up his mind that farming didn't pay. His failure to keep up with the times and increase production and lower his costs thru use of modern equipment eventually placed him in a position where he could not meet his obligations. He was forty years behind in his methods. That kind of farming doesn't pay.

Better When Its Worse

The farmer who uses good tools has an opportunity to keep out of debt. and live in reasonable comfort If disaster does not overtake him, it would have hit him still harder if he hadn't used modern tools. On the other hand, the farmer who has a mistaken idea of what constitutes real economy, and continues real economy, and continues to use worn out equipment, has very little of a chance to make a living. If he has a father-in-law who is rich and goodnatured, he may pull through; but can't succeed without outside aid. This, in brief, is the situation confronting the farmer.

When a farmer borrows money at the bank, he pays the same rate of interest whether he throws it away in speculation, or invests it wisely. Numerous farmers have borrowed money in the past for the purpose of buying new tolos, and without exception they profited by so doing when the tools were used systematically.

Newly-Weds--
And Others

When it comes to starting out newly-weds in house-keeping supplies—say, that's where we sure do shine. Wether you are a newly-wed or not if there's anything you need for the kitchen we have it!

We carry a full line of ranges in all sizes, kinds and finishes; everything in pots, pans, dishes, pails. etc in aluminum, tin or enameled-ware. Just remember—if its for the kitche we have it.

Oh, yes, we just got in another big supply of milk cans—the good kind that wear long and give the most value for the money.

Spend your DIMES here. It will surprise you what a large number of real bargains we have on our ten cent counter. Look it over.

Call on us when you need something for the house—you can find it here.

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

Double Your Money
In a Safe, Sure Way

If in 1910 you had deposited $100 in a SAVINGS ACCOUNT at 5 % compound interest, you would have in 1924 the original $100 plus another $100 in interest!

That's how compound interest grows! You can put this magic force to work for you TODAY by opening a Savings Account at this strong, friendly bank.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody".

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Let the Times print your sale bill.

R. W. Elder of Mason City spent Sunday with his family here.

R. A. Jorgenson and family spent Sunday at Garner.

H. J. Bailey went to Dows Tuesday and returned Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Burke of Belmond, were Klemme shoppers last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blank were down from Hayfield Thursday for a visit in Klemme.

Miss Eunice Braund, of Williams, Iowa, is visiting at the H. Freie home this week.

The W. F. M. S. were entertained at the home of Mrs. Fred Ridder this afternoon.

Henry Keeper came home from Fort Dodge Wednesday for a visit with his family here.

Harry Trumbell, of Goodell, was calling on his brother. Sumner, last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Harberts of Goodell were guests at the Sumner Trumbell home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ruka, of Goodell are the proud parents of a baby girl, born January 30th.

Martin Brinkman and family are moving into the G. Schaper residence accross from the school.

Mrs. C. F. Keraus went to Garner Friday to see her sister, who is on the sick list. She returned to this city Saturday.

Miss Minnie Blank was absent from her duties at Wellemeyer's Friday and Saturday on account of illness.

The fine weather of Saturday ended suddenly in a blizzard beginning Sunday night. The weather is again turning for the better at this time.

Mrs. Charlie Luick and son, Lee, went to Belmond Saturday noon for an over Suday visit with Grandma Brooks and Miss Laura Brooks. They returned to Klemme Mondya.

Ruth Wellemeyer was six years old today, Feb. 7th and her mother had a birthday party for her from 3:30 to 5:30 P. M. Ruth received many nice gifts. Her mother served refreshments to the guests.

The members of the old fire company held a meeting Friday evening last week to pay up old accounts. After paying up all debts they had a couple of cents on hand—"So we took the $50,000 and bought ice-cream cones for the firemen's kids."

Miss Elsie Caroles returned to Mason City again Monday after a few days visit with home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Jacobs and Mr. and Mrs. Lu Verne Smith were at Clear Lake and Mason City visiting Sunday.

The Twin City Auto Shrow, thru radio phone station WLAG Minneapolis put on an excellent memorial service program for Woodrow Wilson Wednesday afternoon, which was enjoyed by radio fans in this city.

Saturday was a great day for Oscar Larsen. It was both Ground Hog Day and also his birthday. On that day he was six years old. Among the presents which he received and which suited him best was a dandy Shetland pony. His mother also had a party for him, inviting his Sunday school class of boys to help spend the afternoon. A light lunch was enjoyed.

John Velau, Donald Stille, Clarence Gram and Geo. Schoenwetter all went to Chicago Saturday night on the stock train. Geo. wanted to get back home early so he took a train back from Chicago Sunday evening; the others left Monday evening. George got in Klemme Wednesday afteron on the freight and a few minutes later the others came in on the passeger. He didn't gain any time that trip. Snow delayed the trains.

FOR RENT—80 acres; 70 acres in stalks, 10 acres in pasture. Inquire of H. L. Suckow. tfc

Jack Poort. Standard Oil Man for this vicinity, has joined the lopeared list of radio fans. Already his ears are beginning to flatten as the result of Head Phones. Maybe it will improve his appearance to some extent as it has ours. Jack, we welcome you into the radio bugs organization. The password is "damhe-static"—the sign is, wiggle the flattest ear skyward, denoting antenna.

The Ladies Aid Society will serve dinner Thursday, February 14 at the Parrish House (church) at the noon hour to accomodate the Farmers Short Course, which is being held the same day. The ladies want to make money toward their pledge for a new church. 50c a plate will be the charge for the dinner to any one who comes and the money will go toward the fund. Everyone is invited to come. They will also serve their regular VaVlentine Supper at the church which has been planned for and to which tickets are already sold. But you can come to the supper whether you have a ticket or not, the price of the Valentine Supper is 50c. All who donated pies for the dinner wil please bring them to the parrish house at or before 11:00 o'clock.

Don't forget that on Feb. 14 the Ladies Aid will have a supper at the church. The public are invited to attend. Tickets will be sold for 50 cents. Buy a ticket from a member of the Aid. The ladies are trying to raise $1,000 dolars toward a new church. Boost this good cause.

ACTIVITIES OF THE WEEK IN THE KLEMME SCHOOLS

Continued from page 1

three laws concerning gravity and the chapter in Potential and Kinetic Energy" and have now started on "Heat, — Expansion and Transmission.

GRADE ROOM NOTES

This week the seventh and eighth grades are taking the County Eighth Grade examinations. The Eighth grade are taking all of them while the seventh grade are only taking Physiology and Geography.

The Klemme Public School is an accredited school and these pupils are not required to take these exam inations. They are writing them because they are a good review over the subjects.

The fifth grade are progressing nicely in fractions. Befroe long we expect to hear of some of these briliant fifth graders helping their father's in his mathematical problems.

The fourth grade are making use of the new globe.

TYPEWRITER RIBBONS
All Mases

Typewriter Ribbons for sale at the Times Office. all of the Standard makes. Ribbons 75 cents each.

DENTIST
J. B. Hesselhuus, D. D. S.
Office Hours 8-12 1-5
Office Opposite State Savings Bank; In Schaffer Bldg.
Evening Work By Appointment Only
Klemme, Ia. Phone 81

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

January 31, 1924

WHEAT	1.00
CORN	.95
OATS	.65
BARLEY	.40
RYE	.55
HOGS	.60
HAY	6.00—6.55
BUTTERFAT	15.00—20.00
BUTTER (creamery)	.57
EGGS	.56
HEAVY HENS	.30
LIGHT HENS	.15
STANDARD SPRINGS	.08
LEGHORNS	.12
COCKS	.08
DUCKS	.06
GEESE	.10

NEW CASES OF THE DISTRICT COURT THIS SESSION

(Continued from page 1)

Arthur Wellemeyer vs. Fred Hoffman. Transcript of judgment from Ell Twp. for $61.60 and costs.

Arthur Wellemeyer vs. C. W. and Maud Butts. Transcript of judgment from Ell Twp. for $257.69 and costs.

Arthur Wellemeyer vs R. R. Kester. Transcript of judgment from Ell Township for $38.49 and costs.

Arthur Wellemeyer vs. Andrew Peterson et al. Transcript of judgment from Ell Twp. for $20.55 and costs.

Arthur Wellemeyer vs. Andrew Peterson et al. Confession of judgment for $349.80 and costs.

International Harvester Co. vs. J. A.Young. Transcript of judgment from Polk Co., Iowa for $1034 and costs.

Ray E. Prusia Co. vs. Babe Peterson. Transcript of judgment from Britt Twp. for $40.75 and costs.

H. B. Cole vs. W. H. Anderson. Transcript of judgment for Wright County for $223.50 and costs.

B. H. Bishop vs F. W. H... Transcript of judgment fr... shall County for $881.49 ...

Dr. Paul Barth vs G. C. ... al. Transcript of judgm... Concord Twp. for $27.28 ...

Gurney Seed & Nursery ... C. Hejlik. Transcript of ... from Concord Twp. for $56...

Garner Auto Co. vs J. C. ... Transcript of judgment fro... Twp. for $47.10 and costs...

Ray E. Prusia vs. Cole ... al. Transcript of judgm... Britt Twp. for $12.65 and ...

B. F. Denny vs. Geo. C. ... al. Transcript of judgm... Britt Twp. for $41.50 and ...

Arthur Wellemeyer vs. ... man. Transcript of judgm... Ell Twp. for $63.95 and co...

G. I. Purdy vs. E. A. ... Transcript of judgment fr... Twp. for $23.35 and costs...

Arthur Wellemeyer vs. ... Latch. Transcript of ... from Ell Twp. for $17.87 ...

Butts & Uhlenkake vs. ... ken. Transcript of judgm... Kossuth County for $12... costs.

THE CRYSTAL CAFE
THE HOME OF GOOD EATS

CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIG...
MEALS and LUNCHES

Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It ...

Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service
We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.

CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

You Men
Who Drive Cars--

No matter what you need—from the smallest repairing job to motor overhauling —bring your car to us.

If You Get Stuck On the Road

—phone for our tow car—we'll do the rest.

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Authorized Service

Auto Mechanics —All Work Guaranteed— General Blacksm...

Are You Succeeding Financially?

No matter how good a bluff you may be putting up by keeping up appearances, you cannot delude yourself. YOU know whether or not you are succeeding.

You know that you must S-A-V-E in order to SUCCEED. You know whether you are reaching toward success, just standing still, or if you are slipping down. To be successful there must be not only saving but careful investing as well. A good bank like ours can and will help you to succeed. Your funds are safe in this bank and we will advise you in the matter of investments.

Your savings placed at 5 per cent interest here is a good investment.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

THE KLEMME TIMES

Twenty-eighth Year—Number 23. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, February 14, 1924 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

ACTIVITIES OF THE PAST WEEK IN THE SCHOOLS

GARNER DEFEATS KLEMME GIRLS BY CLOSE SCORE

Game Was Featured by Close Guarding on Both Sides

The only game playe dlas was a victory for the Garner girls over our girls. The game was featured by the extremely close guarding of both teams. At no time was there more than two points difference in the score. At half time the score stood 3 to 1 in Garner's favor, our only point being a free throw by Ridder.

The second half was a repetion of the first half, with each team guarding closely, an1 the ball changing rapidly from side to side. With the score standing at 7 to 6 in the last quarter, Ridder lost her chance to win eternal fame and glory by failing to corral either of the two free throws awarded her for a foul committed by her guard. By such a turn of Fortune are games won or lost, and such was the case last Saturday. Both teams were so evenly matched that there was little to choose them.

Summary and Lineup:

Klemme 6

	B	FT	F
Ridder F	2	2	2
Stille F	2	2	2
Koerner RC.	0	0	0
Blank JC	0	0	0
Hake G	0	0	0
Tanner G	0	0	0
TOTALS	2	2	4
Garner 7
Gordon F	1	0	0
Horecka F	2	0	0
L. Schneider RC	0	0	0
Pruil JC	0	0	0
Carr G	0	0	1
Engsther G	0	1	4
TOTALS	3	1	5

Free Throws Missed Ridder 5, Stille 1, Horecka 1.

Time of periods— 7 1-2 minutes.

Scorekeeper Tregilgus; Referee, Graber, Forest City.

BASEBALL

Contracts have been signed with Swaledale for two games, one at Klemme on April 25 and the return game at Swaledale May 16.

Meservey writes that they do not care to contract for any baseball games this spring as they no not have the material in school to form a first class team.

Possibly when the spring fever gets a little stronger in Meservey they will challenge our Shamrocks.

Mason City Junior college writes that they are not planning on having a baseball team this spring.

BASKET BALL

Basket practice has been discontinued for a few days as we have completed our schedule for this season. Practice will be resumed next week in preparation for the County Tournament.

A letter received from Meservey today stated that their basket ball teams have been inactive since Christmas and consequently Coach Tregilgus has been unable to schedule a game with them.

SENIORS SELECT PLAY

Class has Decided to Put on Play "Clarence"

The Senior Class has definitely decided to give Booth Tarkington's play "Clarence" as their class play. This is a four act play and will require much hard work on the part of the characters to put it over. A definite date is not set, but it will probably be given around the first of May. Although this play has a great many of comic parts It has also some very serious and moral parts.

The class will probably write orations before they graduate, but they will not be given in public.

FACULTY NEWS

Miss Flessner spent the week end with her cousins, the Rev. and Mrs. Schmidt. Rv. Schmidt is pastor of the Reformed church betwe enKlemme and Garner.

Monday evening most of the faculty enjoyed an evenings entertainment at the Lyric Theatre of Belmod.

CLASS NEWS

The soils class have completed study of Nitrofaction of soils. "This tells how nitrogen is taken out of the soil by vegetatin and also various ways in which nature and man can restore this element to the soil. They are now studying how the lack of Potassium in the soil effects plant growth and also how Potassium may be returned to the soil.

Mechanical Drawing class are all busy making new drawing boards and stands.

The Physics class is now studying the chapter on "The Connection of Heat in Liquds, Solids and Gases." They have just finished studying the efficiency of various kinds of heating plants for buildings.

The Freshman English class for this week have been writing themes of the Expository kind.

Th English II class are still working hard on their debates. Most of the wood-be debators have their speeches made up.

The English Literature class are taking of thes tudy of the lives and writings of the following 18th century authors; Thomas Caryle, John Ruskin, Charles Dickens, William Thackery and George Eliot.

Domestic Science

The Domestic Science girls are now making apons. They are making them entirely by hand as they have no machines. As soon as they get machines they will attempt more difficult pieces.

The Commercial Arithmetic class has taken up Multiplication.

The community civics class are taking up "The Training of the Young Citizen." This includes our States' school System, how schools are paid for, and haw they arer un.

GRADE NOTES

Be MY Valentine!

Thursday is Valentine's Day! In the Primary Room the Second and Third grades will give a short program for the first grade. After the program valentines will be given out Part of Thursday afternoon will be spent in distribution of valentines in the fourth and fifth grade room. St. Valentin'e day will also be celebrated in the Grammar room.

This week the second and third grade studied the life of Lincoln. They ha:

Booklets. In the State Examinations which part of the seventh grade and all of the eighth grade took last week, all passed with high grades in physiology. In the eighth grade Ethel Johnson passed with the highest average. The children were all satisfied with their grades.

AREA TESTING

The area testing for Tuberculosis work is progressing very satisfactorily in Hancock County. Ell Township has been practically completed. It was found that out of 2,014 cattle there were 78 reactors, which would be less than 4%. 101 farm herds were tested during this campaign. Four herds had already been tested. There are only eight farm herds in the township who have not had the test applied, and six of these signed and will be tested in the near future. Every cow in the town of Klemme was tested, they belonging to 17 diferent owners.

Dr. Ed. G. Dunn has charge of the work. The next township to be cleaned will be Bingham in the vicinity of Woden. Work was started there, Tuesday of this week.

Fancy Round and Boxed Stationery for sale at the Times Office. A high class correspondence paper at a reasonable price. adv

The town council met Monday evening in regular session. No very important business came before the board.

COUNTY SHIPPING ASSOCIATION MEETING

Arrangements have been made for a meeting of the managers and officrs of the Shipping Associations of Hancock County to be held at Brit, Wednesday, February 27th, beginning at 10:00 A. M. There are eleven shipping associations in the county, shipping from every shipping point.

Mr. S. H. Thompson of Ames has been secured to discuss methods of records and reports. This meeting will give the managers of the county an opportunity to get acquainted with each other and to discuss their various problems.

OFFICIAL CALL FOR REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

To The Republican Electors of Ell Township in Hancock County.

A caucus of the Republican voters in Ell Township will be held at the Town Hall in Klemme, Iowa, on the evening of February 19, 1924 at 7 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of electing four delegates to the County Convention to be held at Garner, Iowa, at the Court House on Saturday, February 23rd. at 11 o'clock A. M. at which Convention delegates will be named for the State Convention.

F. A. ARNOLD,
Committeeman.

WHAT TO DO TO INCUBATOR

Some Pre-Hatching Season Suggestions for Farm Poultrymen

Successful poultry raisers are getting their incubators out of attics, basements and other storerooms now in preparation for the hatching season, which is now getting under way. R. L. Cochran of the Iowa State College poultry department has outlined what he considers the most essential points, which should be checked over carefully to see if everything is in proper working order. His suggestions follow:

The thermostat should be tested to make sure that it has not sprung a leak. This is true when you have a water thermostat. To determine whether or not the thermostat is functioning properly, hold the thermostat close to the ear and shake. You will be able to hear the liquid on the inside. Should you at any time detect the odor of ether you will know immediately that your thermostat is broken.

The thermometer used in the incubator should be tested to determine whether or not it is recording the temperature accurately. This may be done by checking your thermometer, using warm water about the temperature of 100 degrees.

Inspect all water pipes carefully to see that none are leaking.

Remove the lamp from the incubator, clean the flues, lamp burner and all parts of the heating apparatus thoroly. Replace any parts that are needed.

Clean and thoroly disinfect the egg chamber, egg tray and nursery tray.

Provide the room in which you are going to operate the machine with adequate ventilatin without drafts.

In getting the machine ready for the eggs, be sure that the incubator is running evenly and maintainig a uiform temperature. The machine should be ru for several days before the eggs are placed in it.

This report about the wonders of radio comes from Grinnell. The University of Missouri broadcasting station operator obtained permission of the Bell Telephone Company to talk to San Francisco radio and the operator of the station at San Francisco radioed to the Radio Corporation of America, in Tokio, Japan, asking them how the weather was. The return message that it was cold and snow was expected, was broadcast, picked up at San Francisco, telephoned to the University of Missouri station and heard by Grinnell people in exactly one minute and forty-five seconds.

FISHING LICENSE PASSED BY HOUSE

Amendment To Game Law Wins, 54 to 42; Knutson's Amendment Passes

An amendment to Iowa's codified fish and game law, under which a $1 license fee would be imposed for fishing in stocked and meandered lakes and streams, was adopted by the house of representatives last Thursday by a vote of 54 to 42. The amendment provides for a combined fishing and hunting license to cost $1. There is now a $1 hunting license fee but none whatever for fishing.

Under the Knutson amendment all women would be exempted from fishing license fee, as would boys under 18 years of age and farm owners or tenants, or their relatives, when fishing on owned or leased land. Champions of the fishing license fee asserted that unless such a fee was imposed to provide funds for stocking lakes and streams, there would be "no real fishing in Iowa inside of five years."

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
A. W. Gauger, Pastor

Preaching service at 10 o'clock.
Sunday School at 11 o'clock.
Evening service at 7 o'clock.
Prayer Meeting on Thursday evening at the Albert Jahnke home.

Do not forget the Ladies Aid dinner and supper today. It will be worth your while to come in on this. They have set a splendid goal—let every one encourage them so they may reach it at an early date.

CORN NEEDS TESTING

Temperature of 80 With Rag Doll Will Catch Mold

While the seed corn situation in Iowa is not so serious as anticipated last fall, it is recognized by people in all parts of the state that the situation is the worst hat has existed since the spring of 1918.

That is the opinion of H. D. Hughes, head of the farm crops at Iowa State College. The killing of a considerable amount of seed by freezing weather before the corn was mature and the developement of unusual growths of molds ar two reasons for the shortage of good seed corn.

The seriousness of the Iowa eed corn situation, says Mr. Hughes, makes it imperative that all seed corn be tested this year. The rag doll method is an old, substantial test. It was first developed by the Iowa Experiment Station in 1913 and has come into almost exclusive use. This year, especially, the temperature of the rag doll tester should be kept around 80 degrese Fahrenheit so the moldy ears can be detected. Here is the way to make a rag doll tester. For more information, write for extension service bulletin 101, Iowa State College, Ames.

Cut good, unbleached muslin into strips 72 inches long and 9 wide. Line off each strip into checkers about 3 inches square with a dark crayon, numbering the spaces. Number each ear to be tested, take six kernels from each ear and place them in check corresponding to ear number. When the spaces are filled, take a piece of stiff wrapping paper, make into a small roll, and place in one end of the cloth for a central core. Roll the cloth around the paper, soak the whole thing in lukewarm water an hour, set away in warm place, keep moist and read test when sprouts are about two inches long, which is usually 7 days.

E. C. Bailey of Decorah, says that Delphy Brothers of Harper's Ferry, will load a car with fish which will be shipped alive to New York. The fish will be dipped from their pond which is suppiled by a flowing well where they have been on feed for several weeks, and placed in boxes which will be taken directly to the car and dumped into tanks of water. Five teams will be required to haul the fish, the weight of which is estimated at 50,000 pounds. The contract price is 8¼ cents on board the car.

H. L. SUCKOW TO BE CANIDATE FOR COUNTY SUPERVISOR

SAFER TO GROW OWN HERD

Useless for Dairymen to Import Scrubs From Other States

Five million dollars worth of dairy cattle have been added to the resources of Iowa farmers during the past two years.

So says the annual report of the Iowa State Dairy association which met at Ames during the Iowa State College Farm and Home Week. Continuing, it states that 26,818 head of dairy bred cattle were shipped into Iowa during the past year. This number added to the importations during 1922 would bring the total for the two-year period to upwards of 50,000 head and their cost would probably be in the neighborhood of $5,000,000.

The deplorable feature of this situation, says the report, has been that a large percentage of the cattle coming into the state have been inferior in quality. It is probable that many beginners in the dairy industry who have bought these cull dairy cattle will meet with disappointment in the returns from them, the report asserts. The far more sound practice for starting in the dairy business is to keep the best producing cows already on the Iowa farm and grow into the diary business thru the use of good, purebred dairy sires.

"We know that carload after carload of so-called dairy cattle have been sold to Iowa farmers which which have been bought on the cutter-canner markets of the Chicago, South St. Paul and St. Louis cattle markets." said Earl Weaver, head of the dairy husbandry department at Iowa State College, during a discussion on the imported dairy cattle situation at the Iowa State Dairy association meeting. "Iowa is and has been the dumping ground for inferior cattle from several mid-western and southern states. The dairy husbandry department does not favor the importation of inferior cows from other states. The best way to build up a dairy herd, altho slower, is to use the purebred sire you can secure in your community."

Camp Fire Girls Were Entertained At The Home Of Miss Adella Schroeder

Last Thursday at 5:30 o'clock the members of the Camp Fire Circle were entertained at the home of Adella Schroeder. Here a delightful supper was served by Adella Schroeder and Ethel Wellemeyer, these girls are working upward to the rank of "Fire-Maker." All the members agreed that the supper was a very good one, and the "cooks" can be proud of it. After supper a meeting was held. It was decided to have a food sale in place of a supper for securing funds for the Camp Circle. This food sale will be held in the near future. watch for date and come and buy food prepared by the Camp Fire Girls. Be a sport and help and the Camp Fire Girls along, they need your support.

The meeting was adjourned and closing sang for the program. Following the meeting the girls practiced basket ball.

GIMER TO SHARE IN HONORS

A. D. Gimer left this noon for Ames, where he will be present at a big banquet at the Sheldon Munn Hotel this evening at 7:00 o'clock.

At that time the National Banner will be presented to the Iowa Butter Makers Association for having carried away all honors at the National meet lst fall.

Mr. Gimer was one of the ten high men who helped to bring the banner to Iowa. These high men will also receive a special medal as a reward for their work in bringing the prize banner to Iowa.

The banner will perhaps be put on display at Ames for a time and it may then be passed around to each of the high men that they may display it in their home town.

HIS NOMINATION PAPERS WERE CIRCULATED YESTERDAY; GETS STRONG SUPPORT

Only Man On East Side Running For This Office; Voters Have Wanted Man For This Part Of County

A couple of weeks ago the Times carried an article which caused a big amount of excitement in political circles of the county and especially in this vicinity, when we announced that possibly Klemme would furnish a candidate for the office of County Supervisor. Our man has come out and his nomination papers are circulating and a long list of signatures have been attached to the documents Henry L. Suckow is the man we are referring to as the candidate for supervisor.

Mr. Suckow needs no introduction to the voters in Hancock County as he is an old resident and is widely known over the entire county.

The south-east part of the county has long felt that they should be entitled to a supervisor but have up to this time been content to support men in other parts of the county. Mr. Suckow is the man to fill the position and with a man on the Board from Klemme this vicinity would naturally be given more efficient service as a man would be right here to look after anything that might come up in matter of drainage, road work, and other matters.

And as a matter of passing the office around the taxpayers feel that hey are entitled to a man on the board. The west side of the county and the north-east part have had heir turn at it for a long time. Garner has a man on the Board, Britt has a man on the Board, and Kanawha has a mn. The vacancy will be the offices now held by the west side men. Mr. Lawhorn at Garner remains on the Board. Klemme, Goodell and this part of the county are only asking for their share of the pie. This neck of the woods are entitled to representation and by the great guns we are going to stick for it is the opinion of the taxpayers in this part of the county. The west side should have a man, we admit it, also the northeast is entitled to a supervisor, and why not Klemme and the southeast part of the county?

Mr. Suckow is going to make a trong campaign and is going to be backed solid in the east part of the county, according to political dope.

Mr. Suckow's announcement appears in the political column of the Times this week.

NO ELECTION RURAL SCHOOL DIRECTORS THIS SPRING

There will be no election of Rural School Directors the first Monday in March of this year. Under provisions of the law made by the fortieth General Assembly the terms of directors which would expire July 1, 1924 are extended to the third Monday in March, 1925.

The director elected in March, 1923, met with the board and organized on July 1, 1923. The new law became effective on July 4, 1923 and on the third Monday in March 1924, the board of directors of all rural school districts will again organize, notwithstaidng the fact that they previously organized on July 1, 1923. In other words, the organization of July 1, 1923 will hold and be effective until the third Monday in March, 1924, at which time the directors will meet and reorganize.

Because of the fact that there will be no election of directors in March, 1924, any vacancies which may occur in the board will have to be filled by appointment as provided by law.

The new law does not effect cities and towns or consolidated districts because they have been organized on the third Monday in March under the old law.—J. R. Baggs, County Superintendent.

Sick for Ten Years
Gained 60 Pounds by Use of PE-RU-NA
Read This

Mr. John Wick

No matter how long you have been sick or how much you have suffered, you must not give up hope. Mr. John Wick, of Monomonee Falls, Wisconsin, did not and is a well man today. In September, 1918, he wrote: "I have been a user of Pe-ru-na for nearly twenty years. I had catarrh of the stomach for ten years. Nothing did me any good. I grew worse until a friend advised me to try Pe-ru-na. While using the first bottle, I felt I had found the right medicine. I am entirely cured. My weight was down to 135 pounds and now I weigh 195 pounds. I have used very little medicine for the last ten years."

The condition known as catarrhal is not confined to the nose and throat. It may be found wherever there are mucous membrances and is responsible for a multitude of troubles. Coughs and colds are catarrhal as well as stomach and bowel disorders.

Do as John Wick did. Keep Peru-na in the house. It stimulates digestion, aids in throwing off the poisonous secretions, enriches the blood, increases the resistance to disease and promotes good health generally.

Insist upon having genuine Peru--na in either tablet or liquid form. Your dealer has it.

Cuticura Soap
AND OINTMENT
Clear the Skin
Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c.

A COLD TODAY—DON'T DELAY
AT ALL DRUGGISTS CASCARA QUININE HILL'S BROMIDE PRICE 30 CENTS
Cures Colds in 24 Hours
La Grippe in 3 Days
W. H. HILL CO., DETROIT.
SAFE SURE DEPENDABLE

Carnauba Wax

Scales of wax form on the under side of the young leaves of the Carnauba palm of South America. This wax drops off when shaken. Being collected in this way, the wax is melted into masses and is often used to adulterate beeswax. It is exported and used in the manufacture of candles.

Mrs. S. W. Knott

Health Brings Beauty

All Women Can Look Well if in Health.

Champaign, Ill.—"Ever since I developed into womanhood I have been troubled with functional disturbances and fainting spells. I was under a physician's care, but no medicine I took seemed to do me any good. A friend, who had gone through the same experience as myself and had found such help by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, urged me to try it. I tried it and to my great delight the Prescription brought about a wonderful change, every organ functionating correctly. I can speak in the highest praise of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. S. W. Knott, 1212 N. Market St.

All druggists. Tablets or liquid. Write Dr. Pierce, Pres. Invalids' Hotel, in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice, or send 10c for trial pkg. tablets.

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP

Allays irritation, soothes and heals throat and lung inflammation. The constant irritation of a cough keeps the delicate mucus membrane of the throat and lungs in a congested condition, which BOSCHEE'S SYRUP gently and quickly heals. For this reason it has been a favorite household remedy for colds, coughs, bronchitis and especially for lung troubles in millions of homes all over the world for the last fifty-seven years, enabling the patient to obtain a good night's rest, free from coughing with easy expectoration in the morning. You can buy BOSCHEE'S SYRUP wherever medicines are sold.

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

By CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company

CHAPTER XVI—Continued.

—21—

Monsieur Dominique was looking about vacantly when there came a hail from the forward lookout, Clark, who had spent the hour aloft.

"Sail—Ho! On the weather bow!"

Old Dominique lurched up stiffly. De Almonaster came from his furious pacing amidships. Monsieur Sazarac, presently, from the cabin. The gentlemen gathered about the master's sea-glass. After a while he picked it up clearly.

"A Yankee—and a sloop-of-war, I think. She is laying a course to cross us." Sazarac looked about with some concern.

"American!" cried Raoul eagerly. "Then break out the jack, and run up the national colors also! This is an American ship!"

Sazarac glanced at him oddly. It appeared some sentiment was struggling with expediency. But when Clark came down he was sent to hoist the starred flag of the Washington republic.

"This is a hard nut to crack," grumbled Dominique. "The story this schooner holds. Not a document aboard . . . and you—Jean!"

Mademoiselle Lestron had turned a glad tired face to the stranger's sail; she did not hear a sudden conference.

"It will not do for them to see him," muttered Monsieur Sazarac. "Nor Mademoiselle Lestron to see him. He is roaring his chanteys—he is telling of his sea fight—he names us all of the old crew, one by one."

"There goes a signal gun." Raoul was watching the strange sail, and the slender figure of Louise Lestron waving an arm as though the Yankees might see. "They mean for us to lay to. Now, we will have to explain."

Mademoiselle had run back to them, her eyes sparkling joyously. She heard the young man's last word, and her keen eyes noted the constrained silence that had fallen on them.

"Your fellow countrymen, Messieurs of Louisiana! A rescue . . . what is the matter? What is there to explain? This ship, a victim of mutineers?"

She glanced from them to the sloop-of-war sailing swiftly, wind a-beam, to cross the bows of the Seraphine. Already, at her masthead, they could see the flag of the North republic.

"The Napoleon plot," the English woman guessed. "Well that—a ship of his majesty might seize you all, but I have not heard that the Yankees have ever interfered seriously in this madness of New Orleans to free Napoleon?"

"The emperor," said Monsieur Sazarac darkly, but with his smile, "is in his bed—with his boots on!"

The Seraphine was coming around and up in the wind with a clatter of blocks and snapping cloth. Dominique sighed wearily. There was nothing else to do. Monsieur Sazarac, after that last enigmatic jest, looked gravely at the other vessel.

"The Hornet—" he shrugged: "Commodore Biddle's famous sloop of the British war. Lay-to, hearties! You are boarding a mate worthy of a chase if we had other than dead sailormen forward of the mast!"

Dominique watched him sorrowfully. For them all, save Jean Lafitte, there might be explanation, pardon; perhaps, even praise for a gallant exploit.

"She is up in the wind also," muttered De Almonaster. "I see a boat swinging off, and a smart lieutenant's head-gear. Now, Monsieur Sazarac—"

"It depends upon who may be in the Yankee boarding party," said the other indifferently. "There may be old heads there who know me well."

Monsieur Sazarac's short laugh stung the hothead again. He crossed to him at the rail. "Monsieur Sazarac, it is idle to say I will not betray you. There is no one here who can or will, except . . . what is John Jarvis saying now?"

"He instructed, just now: 'Jean Lafitte, fetch the sea boots of Monsieur Sazarac.'"

"Perdition!" fumed De Almonaster. "He will hang you yet! He will hang you yet—even at the last!"

"A word from him—from any one—naturally—" Monsieur Sazarac took his snuff composedly. "Eh, bien! He was my jester in the old days! This entire affair seized his fancy. It was he, it seems, for he boasts of it—who caught a camellia which was once thrown to me from a balcony. Things might have been far different if I had done so, and not he. Well, what would one have? Life depends on the slightest things. And death as well; you see—if the Emperor of the Bottle had not caught the camellia he might never have been inspired to outswagger Monsieur Sazarac!"

"Her ragged cavalier—" muttered the other: "be still. She must not know. It would be abominable—he, with his cognac, roaring the doggerel of your black ship! Name of Names! The American boat is under our counter. See to the boarding, Clark!"

A hail had come from the small boat as she sheered off to await the ladder. Then presently, after some difficulty, a young American lieutenant climbed over the rail. He stared bewilderedly down the empty waist of the schooner first, and then to the little group by the wheel where Monsieur Dominique idly hung.

"Sir, my compliments, and those of Captain Dallas of the American sloop, Hornet—but we have orders to stop all sailing craft in the gulf and make inquiry. Besides we saw you were sailing with some trouble—very short-manned and hard-used, it might be. You are—sir?"

"Captain Gaspar Sazarac, sir—acting master." He bowed and stepped nearer with an assuring smile. The Seraphine is largely the property of this gentleman, Monsieur de Almonaster of New Orleans. The lady, sir, is a British subject, whom we took under stress. The victims of a mutiny, sir—as you will see if you look about. I will make you a full report of the affair in writing, if you wish, sir."

The American lieutenant was, indeed, looking about with some curiosity. He saw bullet-riven woodwork and torn sail cloth . . . perhaps even rimming crusts of red along the scuppers. Then he smiled. Dominique gave a soft whistle of relief. The Hornet, then had not sailed from New Orleans. The officers did not yet know of the affair at the Place d'Armes!

Lieutenant Ramsey's smile deepened upon the gentlemen:

"I can guess, sir! Monsieur de Almonaster is known in Baltimore and Charleston. And this schooner—the Seraphine, the famous ship that was to take Napoleon!"

A stir and a shout had come from the Yankee seamen over the rail.

"The Girod ship! I saw her at Charleston ere she was purchased!"

"Aye—the ship bought by the gentlemen of New Orleans! There is no faster in the Indies!"

The lieutenant still smiled doubtfully: "Monsieur de Almonaster, I can assure you you do not appear very dangerous!"

"We speak the truth, sir!" Raoul advanced eagerly, catching at the knowledge that the Americans knew nothing of the stealing of the Seraphine. "Our mission ended in mutiny—disaster, as you see about us. Will you detain us, sir? Has Washington ordered any action against our purpose?"

The officer bowed . . . even he, as Mademoiselle Lestron noticed, appeared to be inwardly amused:

"But last week, Monsieur de Almonaster, it might have done so on certain representations of the king's ambassador. But now, both England and America are relieved of this momentous issue. For when we left Charleston a clipper had just arrived from Liverpool with dispatches. Gentlemen of the Seraphine, your fantastic dream is over. The Emperor Bonaparte is dead."

Monsieur Sazarac shrugged as if it was a matter of no moment to a sailing master for the New Orleans gentry. Dominique, alone, gave way to emotion. He blew his red nose loudly.

"Eh—old Bony! Name o' G—d!—now I will have to go back to mulling over street contracts with the Mayor Rouffignac!"

"You are therefore absolved from all duty in the affair," continued Lieutenant Ramsey with some irony. "It is very apparent that a vessel crippled as is the Seraphine by a mutiny which, luckily, you had the gallant fortune to put down, is in no way fit for a lady. Captain Dallas will be pleased to receive her, and any of the rest who wish transfer, and take you to New Orleans on the Hornet. Monsieur de Almonaster has a wound which needs a surgeon. Can we serve you, gentlemen, in this?"

"Naturally you will require a report in writing," suggested Monsieur Sazarac.

"At your leisure, Monsieur." The lieutenant turned away as if to give the refugees a moment to confer upon the matter.

Dominique found chance to pull the sleeve of Monsieur Sazarac. "You cannot go to the Hornet, Jean! There will be older seamen there who will recognize you. Your head is not worth Beluche's gimcrack cockade. Nor in New Orleans either!"

"Mademoiselle Lestron will accept Captain Dallas' courtesy on the Hornet," observed Monsieur Sazarac, as if he had not heard.

She turned joyously to him. "Why, naturally! And leave this ship of blood and mystery! We shall go, Messieurs!—it is in my heart to go!"

"You hear?" murmured Sazarac to De Almonaster. The count had taken a turn of the deck forward with Lieutenant Ramsey, showing him certain things and explaining earnestly. Now he was back to his party.

"I say this is luck! The Hornet is overcrowded with some twenty sailormen taken from a wrecked island trader off Key West on her rundown! Jamaicans—some white and some half-breed, but able seamen, Lieutenant Ramsey tells. Captain Dallas will be more than glad to shift this burden, and at the same time provide the working crew which our schooner must needs have in any event! It is admirable. We can stay on her."

But the girl shivered . . . she had been peering curiously down through the skylight where the snowy top of the Seraphine against the blue cast wavering colors on the ornate furnishings of the emperor's cabin.

"No—no—Monsieur; On the Hornet—"

"On the Hornet," repeated Captain Sazarac quietly.

Raoul stopped with a remembrance of Sazarac shadowing his exuberance. "Ah, yes! I see," he went on slowly. "Nom de Dieu! It would be the same for you—the Seraphine following in the wake of the Hornet to New Orleans! Monsieur Sazarac— Ah, well!" He shrugged helplessly: "I cannot think what to do for Monsieur Sazarac!"

The girl could not understand, of course. Monsieur Sazarac bowed with some satire.

"This phantom—Sazarac! How it haunts your happiness, Monsieur de Almonaster! Dispel it with a word! A gesture!"

The younger man came to him with a gesture, indeed, but of some humble grief. "I have stood aside. I have spoken no word of love to her . . . I have held my honor. The look in her eyes I have seen—that is for you today, if I cannot win it fairly!"

"There," murmured Sazarac. "See? She is looking into the cabin—curiously! Eh, a woman! Fascinated by mystery—this or that ghost. Come, be the man, Raoul! Call the lieutenant's guard. . . I am Jean Lafitte!"

"This sword of mine would be at the throat of any man who breathed that name upon this ship. That is my honor still—Sazarac."

"Come! Name of the devil! The lieutenant is fidgeting—he must be back to report this matter. Why, what is the matter with you?" growled Sazarac impatiently. "Take what is in your grasp! The happiness that is in your power—seize it, Monsieur! Honor?—bah! Go down in the emperor's stateroom . . . ask the jester! He would roar the truth of us all to Heaven! It appears that he has protected the good name of Sazarac long enough, and has tired of it. He has, in fact, now called on me to be an honest man. It must be Lafitte, the outlaw, who has the lady's fancy—not a chivalrous Sazarac. And the jester rules, Monsieur—he has come to command at last!"

Monsieur De Almonaster appeared not to understand the other's laughter which must conceal so much of pain. "Jarvis must not see her then," he muttered. "There would be no sense to that!"

Sazarac took the young man's unwounded arm and turned him firmly toward the Hornet lying up in the wind astern. "Come—I, too, am a ghost. Sazarac is a ghost—he never did exist." And then the old somber look of Lafitte, the fugitive, came to his eyes: "I tell you, Raoul, if we had not just learned that Bonaparte was dead, I would have tried—for a last desperate venture of the last man of my infamous lot—to seize Napoleon. To be at sea! To be under the sky again on a good ship! At the end—too late—your dream grappled me! Monsieur, you see everything else is gone for me," he added. "I depart from the stage. Jarvis would tell you so with his mocking. Ah, God, I envy the dead men up there forward!"

"You love her, then," muttered De Almonaster, "that is plain—"

"Too well to have her see me swing in air at the end. Of course that will be the end—" he said composedly: "and she will know I played a role for her merely. I could not be Sazarac more than could John Jarvis."

"You give her up because there is no more to do—for Sazarac," returned the other slowly. "Ah, yes! I am sorry, Monsieur! I am unfair after all, at the end."

And then he suddenly seized the adventurer's bronzed hands. "See, here! Your life? The Seraphine will save your life! I give her to you, Monsieur! The crew of shipwrecked mariners—why, in some obscure port of the Indies you can refit and be off before you are identified!"

The older man put back the iron-gray wisp that had come to his black hair above the temples. "Be off—Monsieur!"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Hafnium Atoms Weighed.

Nils Bohr, discoverer of the new element, hafnium, has determined its atomic weight. The element which was named in honor of the city of Copenhagen, is still not completely isolated, but the professor's efforts in this direction are nearing completion. The connection of the element with zirconium, a kindred element, has made investigations difficult, but Professor Bohr has been able to ascertain that the atomic weight lies between 179 and 181.

Five of 92 elements existent remain to be discovered.

As a result of his experiments, Professor Bohr has discovered that hafnium is impenetrable by Röntgen rays. He asserts it has the good qualities of bismuth, which is used in connection with Röntgen-ray experiments, but none of the bad ones, and the discovery is expected to be of considerable value to medical science.

The Tired Toiler.

"How's business, Sandy?"

"Fine! I never saw things so dull in all my life."—Life.

Demand BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy—Genuine

Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Genuine Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

If the people made the laws by a popular vote, there would be teeth in them.

Why Suffer Pain

from a cut or burn? Cole's Carbolisalve stops pain instantly and heals quickly without a scar. Keep it handy. All druggists, 30c and 60c, or J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill.—Advertisement.

Edible Birds' Nests Found in Great Caves

Far up in the great limestone caves of North Borneo are found, glued to the sides in hundreds of thousands, the edible birds' nests so loved by Chinese epicures for making soup.

The nests are built by a species of cave-haunting swifts which breeds in colonies. They are formed not, as the natives believe, from sea foam, but from a glutinous substance produced from the large salivary glands of the birds themselves.

There are two kinds of nests, the white and the black. The white nests are clean and semi-transparent, the fine threads of which they are interwoven being not unlike those of a shredded wheat cake.

The black nests are discolored and have grass and feathers mixed with them. The black nests predominate, but the white, from which the best soup is made, fetch from ten to fifteen times as much as the others.

All the Joys

At a South-end chauffeur's wedding, his comrades made an arch of petrol cans outside the church. Another pretty idea would be to strew soft pedestrians in the path of the happy couple as they drive away.—London Opinion.

Woman's Wisdom

He—What do you think Miss Oldgo would like for her birthday?

She—Not to be reminded of it.

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A Box

Cures Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion. Drug stores.

Accuracy of Weights Is Revealed by Test

An instance of sustained accuracy in the weights which are now being submitted to the bureau of standards for test was noted. In a shipment of nine sets, containing a total of 1 weights, all were within the requisite accuracy. Only once before has a larger number of sets been submitted without some of the weights having errors greater than the prescribed tolerances. The fact that such shipments are now received, even if only occasionally, is an encouraging indication of the good work done by some American makers. It need not be said that such sustained accuracy would have been entirely out of the question as recently as ten years ago.—Scientific American.

In Boston

"Why didn't you turn in a fire alarm?"

"I didn't know there was a fire," said the green cop.

"This lady claims she went out to notify you."

"She did say something about a conflagration."

One Reason for Nervous Disorders

YOUR doctor can tell you that nervous disorders are very common among Americans. One reason for this is found in the fact that they are great coffee drinkers.

Coffee contains caffeine, a drug, prescribed by doctors as an emergency stimulant for the heart and nervous system. It has a tendency to increase blood pressure, develop heart irregularities and cause digestive disturbances.

If you feel that coffee is not good for you, serve Postum as your meal-time drink.

Postum is a pure cereal beverage that refreshes and satisfies. It is absolutely free from caffeine or any other irritating drug.

Try a cup of Postum with your dinner or supper tonight. Postum is sold everywhere.

Postum
for Health

"There's a Reason"

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum [in tins] prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal [in packages] for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

Plymouth county supervisors will hire road patrolmen soon.

The people at Alden voted a $71,000 school house, 339 to 26.

Plans are making to pave three miles of streets at Cedar Falls.

Nearly 70,000 tons of ice has been harvested and stored by Des Moines ice companies during the past three weeks

Des Moines retail merchants will stage a style show on the evenings of March 10, 11 and 12 from 8 to 10 o'clock.

The annual meeting of the Grundy County Farm bureau indorsed the Wallace export idea and urged congress to act at once for it.

Dr. E. V. Stromlund, federal expert on bovine tuberculosis, has made a good start with the cattle testing in east Pottawattamie county.

Judge House has held the winner of a raffle is on a plane with the raffler and cannot retain an interest in the prize, says a dispatch from Maquoketa.

A total of $205,456.15 was spent by Pottawattamie county on its roads, and bridges during the thirteen-month period ending January 1st, according to the report of the county engineer.

The Chester White Post, a magazine printed in the interest of Chester White hogs, is being moved from Minneapolis to Maquoketa. It is a $100,000 corporation and an eighty page magazine.

Collection of marine life specimens is the objective of an expedition to the peninsula of Lowa California, Mexico now being planned by Prof. Homer R. Dill of the State University of Iowa museum.

Receipts of hogs at the Sioux City stockyards during the month of January just ended, amounted to 360,827 head, breaking all previous records. The previous high record of 337,915 head was made during March, 1923.

The 242 cows tested in Palo Alto county produced an average of 22 pounds butter fat, an increase of 4 pounds over the first month. G. W. Biggers herd was first with 678 pounds of milk and 31.12 pounds of butter fat.

"Soybeans and Sudan grass are the two most satisfactory hay crops available for use by Iowa farmers when clover or alfalfa fail," F. S. Wilkins of the department of farm crops and soils at Iowa State College told farmers at the annual farmers' short course.

H. Gaarder of Kensett had high producing cow in Worth County Cow Testing association No. 2, 59.2 pounds butter fat, 1,519 pounds of milk. S. J. Furness of Hamlontown has the high producing herd for the month with an average of 897 pounds of milk. 39.4 pounds of butter fat. J. Pancell of Fertile had the highest average production of milk with 913 pounds of milk and eleven cows.

Iowa was in prehistoric days largely a neutral field, with Indian tribes on all sides and no important tribe which made its home specifically or entirely in Iowa. The Sioux inhabited the northwest and their villages stretched across into the northwest corner of what is now Iowa; the Sacs and Foxes inhabited a part of the state, with parts of Illinois and Missouri; and a number of other smaller tribes lived along the state's borders.

State and savings banks and trust companies increased their deposits $48,992,218.29 and reduced their borrowings $12,921,004.05 during 1923, the consolidated statement of the state banking department shows. This general health condition of the banks prevails in spite of reverses with which individual banks in some sections met. Total deposits in the 886 savings banks, 404 state bank and 22 trust companies on December 31, 1923, amounted to $625,914,268.90.

In a recent address at Des Moines, Ivan O. Hasbrouck, cashier of the Central State Bank, said among other things: "Another menace to the financial machine in this country at the present time is the cost of maintaining and operating the pleasure known as the automobile. Do you realize that the state registering fees of the automobiles of this state are $8,827,062.00, or equal to the combined value of the spring wheat, barley, rye, flax seed, timothy seed, clover seed and sweet corn? There were registered in Iowa last year 535,635 automobiles, not mentioning more than 36,000 trucks, 3,000 motorcycles and 91 trailers. Estimating the autos at $700 a car, you will find invested as a first investment of the automobile, to say nothing of the upkeep, $374,944,500. More than the entire 1923 oats crop and corn crop combined," Mr. Hasbrouck said.

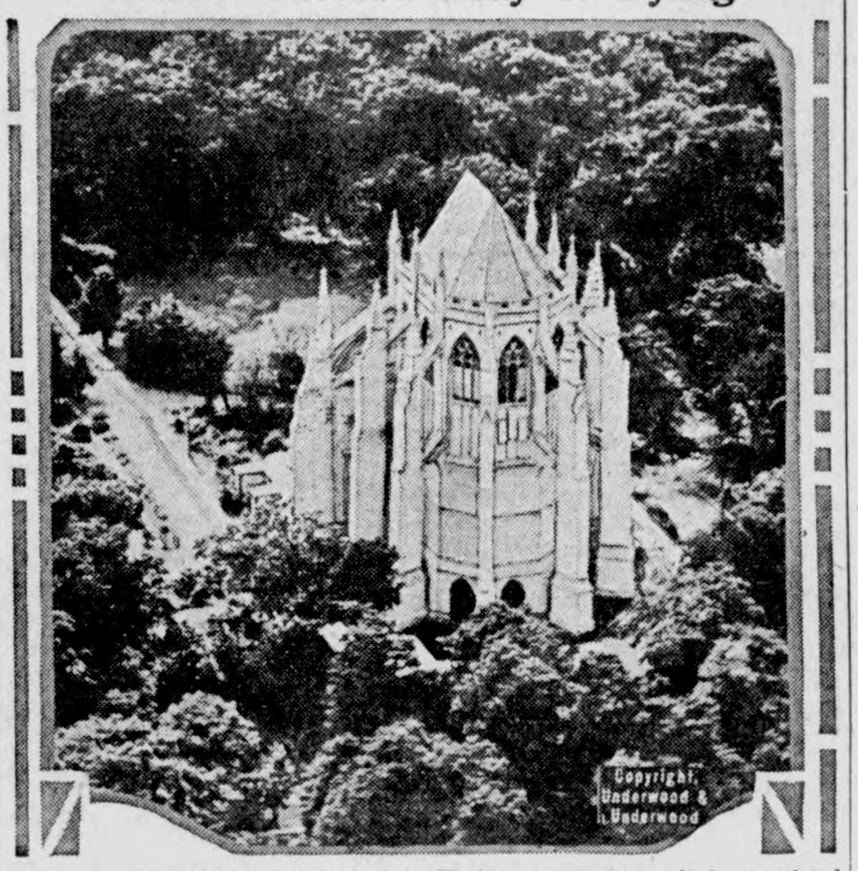
Fifty-one years of teaching in this state is the record held by Miss Kate S. Reed, who for the past twenty-nine years has been in charge of the ancient and modern history departments of the Abraham Lincoln high school at Council Bluffs.

George W. Wilson, 96 years old, of Bloomfield, is given the honor of being the oldest resident of Davis county. Uncle George attributes his long life to continued hand work. "I am a light sleeper and an early riser he says. Mr. Wilson still saws wood occasionally for exercise, although he is nearly blind.

Gen. Wood Suppresses Igorrote Dog Market

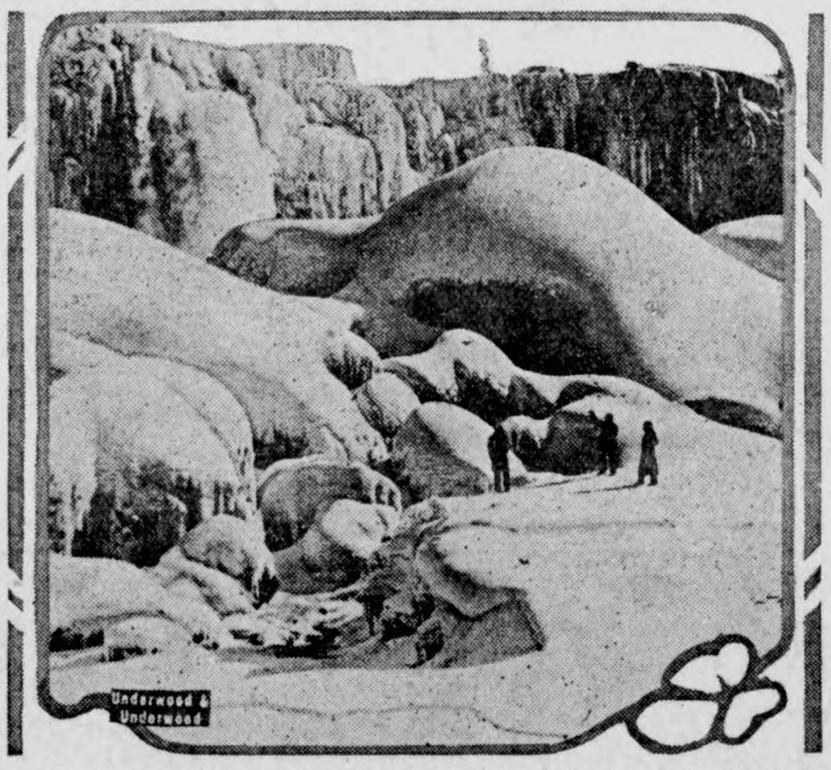
This may not look like a meat market, but it was, for the lean dogs were destined to furnish steaks and chops for Igorrote households. It is a view of the dog market at Baguio, Philippine Islands, which was recently suppressed by Governor General Wood. The women, of course, are just tourists.

Where Wilson's Body Is Lying



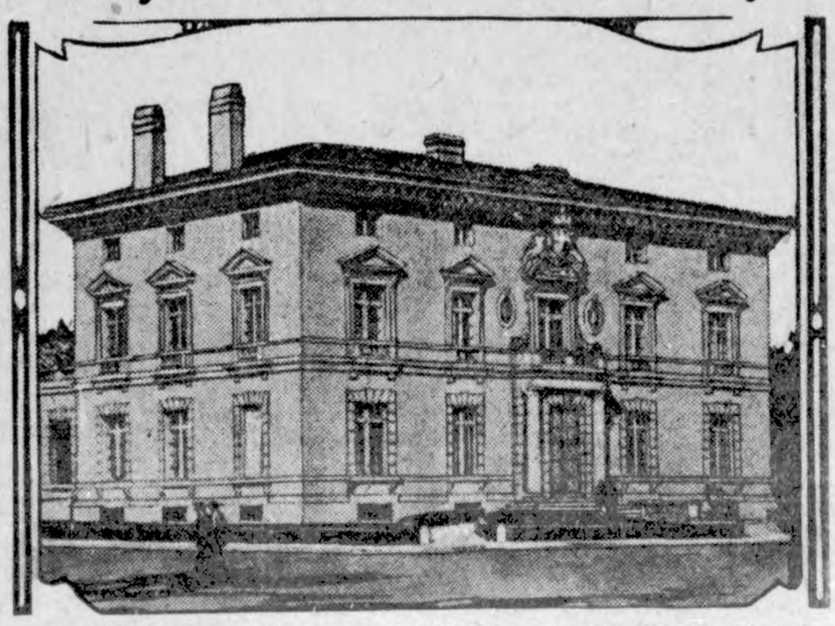
View of the National cathedral in Washington, so far as it is completed in the vaulted crypt of which is reposing the body of Woodrow Wilson.

Why Folk Flock to Niagara Falls



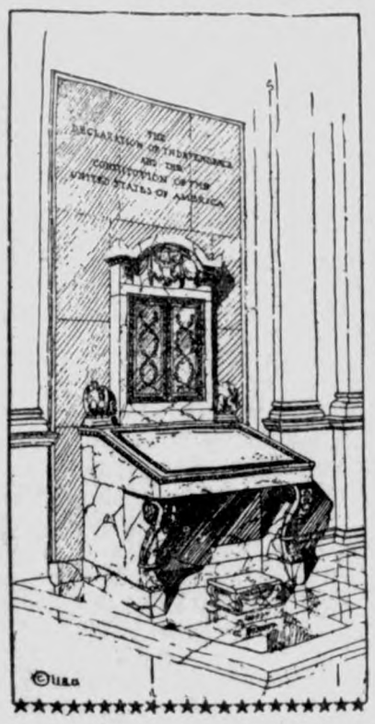
Despite the severe weather, Niagara Falls is attracting many visitors, for the cold waves have transformed the falls into the wonderful ice picture shown in this photograph.

Italy Is to Have a Fine Embassy



Architect's sketch for the new Italian embassy in Washington which has been submitted to the government at Rome. It will be built on "Embassy Hill," an exclusive part of Sixteenth street, and will be one of the handsomest embassies in the city.

NEW SHRINE OF NATION



Design of the shrine now being set up in the Library of Congress to hold the original documents of the Constitution of the United States and the Declaration of Independence. The shrine is being placed directly above the entrance to the library and will be completed in a few weeks. The architect is Francis Bacon, who designed the Lincoln memorial.

GEOGRAPHY FOR BLIND

Children in the blind class of the Atlanta public schools are taught geography by the Braille system, the instructor himself, J. H. Childs, being blind. The globe by which the child is being taught has a raised surface.

HYDROPLANE PILOT

There are, in all these United States, only two women who pilot hydroplanes—the speediest things moving in the water—and here is one of them, Mrs. Randall McFarlan of Cincinnati, a society woman, who is spending the winter at St. Petersburg, Fla. She owns and operates her own speedster.

BOLLES RESIGNS AS NATIONAL ADJUTANT

Lemuel Bolles, perhaps more closely associated with the American Legion for a greater length of time than any other World war veteran, has resigned his position as national adjutant.

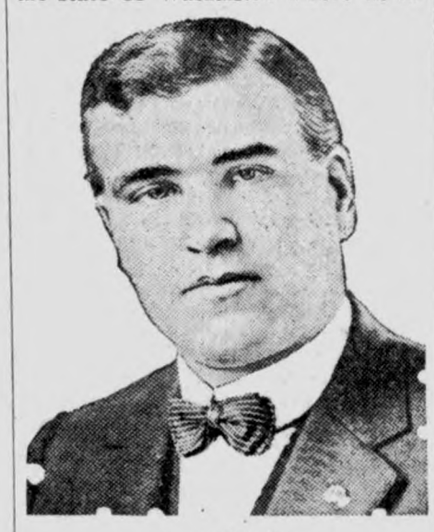
Bolles was a delegate to the Paris conference at which the actual work of organization was completed. He had a part in drafting the national constitution of the organization and was named a member of the executive committee when a permanent organization was formed at that caucus. Franklin D'Olier, as national commander in 1919, named Bolles to the position of national adjutant which he has since held by appointment from every succeeding commander.

He was born in Minneapolis, Minn., in 1885, just when the pioneers were resting after opening up the West. His grandfather built the first grist mill ever erected in that state.

As a youth he tended furnaces, cows and horses during his boyhood, and by these earnings educated himself at McAllister academy in St. Paul. In spare times he assisted in opening up Northern Pacific land grants for settlement, as a member of and appraising and surveying party in the Western Dakotas.

By the time he was fifteen he was riding along the Buffalo divide in the Grande river country—into the Dakota "Bad Lands." Before long he accompanied a carload of western ponies to Yakima, Wash., and chose that section as his home.

He was in the banking, fruit-growing, law and soldiering business, all of which meant diligent study for the young man—a hardy offshoot of the pioneers of the early Nineteenth century. As a climax to the legal phase of his life, he became an assistant in the office of the adjutant general in the state of Washington where he received great inspiration for military life. In 1917, when America entered the World war, Bolles was assistant adjutant general in that state, holding the rank of major.



Lemuel Bolles.

He was named as assistant quartermaster with the Forty-first division, and was sent to France where he was assigned to Headquarters First Army corps as assistant general in charge of supply transportation and evacuation for the whole corps. He held the rank of lieutenant colonel and served through the Champagne, the Marne, the Aisne-Marne, Toul and Meuse-Argonne drives. For meritorious services he received the rank of Chevalier of the Legion d'Honneur from France.

Still holding a commission in the organized reserve, he is a lieutenant colonel commanding the Three Hundred and Thirty-fourth infantry of the Eighty-fourth division.

His Legion service has been long and useful.

He was given a month's leave of absence on his return to the United States in order to arrange for the first annual convention of the American Legion which was held at Minneapolis in 1919. Following this convention he acceded to the post of national adjutant, which he has since held.

Perhaps no one person in Legion circles has a wider acquaintance. Mr. Bolles' mail reached 1,000 letters a day, his duties have taken him into every section of the country, and he has made countless friends in his breezy, wholesome way.

Mr. Bolles is resigning to accept a position with a firm of New York publishers.

In speaking of the resignation, National Commander John R. Quinn, who had reappointed Mr. Bolles as national adjutant following the San Francisco convention, said:

"The resignation of Lemuel Bolles is a loss to the American Legion. His place will not easily be filled. If it were possible for me to retain his services, I would do so. I could seek no better support as national commander than to continue his services for the organization. It would be manifestly unfair, however, to attempt to persuade him to remain. There comes a time in every man's life when that man must give consideration to his own welfare. I feel that the work Mr. Bolles has done for the Legion, the sacrifices he has made for the Legion, have largely prevented the advancement of his own career.

"He goes from this organization with hundreds of thousands of friends. His unremitting toil for the organization, his zeal in carrying out the administration of the organization, his labor in building up the organization—all these things have become invaluable.

"I can wish him no greater success than that which has always accompanied his efforts as national adjutant of the Legion."

WRIGLEY'S
After Every Meal
It's the longest-lasting confection you can buy—and it's a help to digestion and a cleanser for the mouth and teeth.
Wrigley's means benefit as well as pleasure.
Sealed in its Purity Package
WRIGLEY'S JUICY FRUIT CHEWING GUM
THE FLAVOR LASTS

Cuticura Talcum is Fragrant and Very Healthful
Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c.

Relief for coughs
Use PISO'S—this prescription quickly relieves children and adults.
A pleasant syrup. No opiates.
35c and 60c sizes sold everywhere.

If one doesn't feel well in the morning, perhaps he doesn't get exercise enough until nearly noon.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION
BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION 25 CENTS
6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief
BELL-ANS
25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

Some silence may be golden, but much of it is ironical.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN
Take Tablets Without Fear if You See the Safety "Bayer Cross."

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.
Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

Flattery is the easiest and least expensive mode of pleasing.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.
Sold by druggists for over 40 years
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

AS SURE AS DAWN BRINGS A NEW DAY
HILL'S CASCARA BROMIDE QUININE
AT ALL DRUG STORES Will Break That Cold And Make You Fit Tomorrow. PRICE 30 CENTS
W. H. HILL CO., DETROIT.

Always
A safe and soothing remedy for cuts, burns, or skin troubles. Protects, relieves and heals. Take internally for coughs and sore throats.
Vaseline
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
PETROLEUM JELLY
Chesebrough Mfg. Co., Cons'd.
State St. New York

When they cough!
KEMP'S BALSAM

WHY BANKS?

LESSON IV

By J. H. PUELICHER, Chairman,
Committee on Public Education, American Bankers Association.

Formerly the saver paid to have his money kept in a safe place. Today he is paid interest by banks which keep his savings safe. Is this interest on money, saved and deposited in the bank, the only gain to the depositor from saving?

J. H. Puelicher

MONEY SAVED AND DEPOSITED IN BANK = funds for the banker to loan out on farm mortgages, land bank or other farm bonds; railroad, municipal or government bonds; or notes of farmers, merchants and manufacturers. Therefore SAVING = assisting the farmer to raise crops; the railroads to run trains; the town, city, state or nation to build schools for the children of the depositor and his fellow citizens; or construct water works or other public enterprises.

Saving also equals helping the butcher, baker and grocer to do business so that food is brought within reach of the home; and the manufacturer to make shoes, clothing and the many things people need to live.

Every saver, therefore, is not only putting away money against a rainy day and earning interest on it meanwhile, but he is also making it possible for himself and others to have the luxuries, comforts and necessaries of life,—to enjoy all the advantages of a greater and better civilization. Thus through banks every saver gains a great deal more than merely interest on his money.

AMERICA NOT INDIFFERENT

By FRANCIS H. SISSON,
Chairman, Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association.

While the facts justify the belief that the financial and general economic strength of the United States is so great that it creates a stability here which cannot be seriously shaken by the adverse conditions in Europe, it still remains true that an attitude of indifference to these distressing conditions is unworthy of the American people. In fact, I believe that such indifference does not exist. The nation is observing with deep interest the progress of events abroad and has given many evidences of a readiness to aid in restoring normal conditions there whenever it is seen that a suitable opportunity is afforded.

© U. & U.
Francis H. Sisson

Our people have naturally been reluctant to act while the European nations still fail to display the will to accept the only terms on which rehabilitation is possible, and to abandon their mutual hatreds and distrusts, their persistence in preparation for further warfare, and their destructive political and financial policies. Such policies have so weakened the credit of some of the continental nations that the task of aiding them seems futile until it is clear that these policies are discredited and disowned by them.

Although it seems clear from the record of recent years that America, more perhaps than any other country, has been and will continue to be able to adjust itself without serious disaster to the conditions created by European depression, and has in its own vast domestic market and in other non-European markets an outlet for its products adequate to maintain a fair degree of national prosperity, the fact remains that it is very definitely to the selfish interests of the United States to have Great Britain and the European continental countries regain their normal prosperity at the earliest possible date. They normally absorbed between 60 and 70 per cent of American exports, but recently have been taking less than 50 per cent.

Moreover, the rich contribution which Europe has made in the past to the upbuilding of other parts of the world, including the United States, would seem to create a genuine obligation upon other countries to come to its aid in the present period of difficulty. General well-being throughout the entire world will be diminished to a degree as long as Europe is unable to play its part in production and consumption of valuable products. It possesses vast resources of skill and equipment for the production of useful commodities in demand by all nations, and loss continues while these resources are limited in their use by poverty and by adverse political and social conditions.

That the share of the United States in this loss is relatively small should not preclude an active interest in every promising effort that may be made to restore the European nations to economic and financial health.

For Community Betterment

The Committee on Agriculture of the Missouri State Bankers Association has sent out a questionnaire to all members to secure a frank opinion as to what are the most important community problems to be solved in the state. The questionnaire covers bank deposits, crops, schools, manufacturing, roads, junior club work, agricultural agencies, co-operative agencies, farm abandonment, land values, finances, dairying, and social life, with a view in determining what work should be undertaken for the year.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON HOW NOT TO GET RICH

"Oh, Aunt Emmy," cried Helen, rushing in and kissing Aunt Emmy, "I've got a wonderful chance to get rich. The nicest man told me about a patent bee-hive that will double my money in a year! With it bees will make two or three times as much honey. If I buy it right away I can make ever so much money, for the stock is selling at fifty cents and it's going to par soon, whatever that is, so I'll have oodles of money. Oh, Aunty, won't it be lovely? You and I can go to Europe and—"

"Hold on a minute, Helen," begged Aunt Emmy; "would you really let this man have your money for a fool thing like that?"

"Why, Aunty, I'm sure it is all right! He gave me the loveliest booklet—I brought it along. You are so suspicious, Aunty," she reproached.

"Suspicious, am I! That $5,000 is the only money you ever had or ever expect to have except what you earn as a teacher. You can't afford to throw it away. Sit right down and write to your bank for information about that bee-hive. Tell them you are thinking of investing your $5,000, and send them the booklet."

"But, Aunty, that would take several days, and the man said not to wait," Helen protested.

"If people would wait a while before investing, there would be far less failures in the world. You will hear from the bank soon enough. Promise."

"I suppose I'll have to," agreed Helen, crestfallen, "but I'm sure the old bank doesn't want to be bothered with poor little me."

When Helen came to see Aunt Emmy again she looked serious. Aunt Emmy guessed that her get-rich-quick bubble had burst.

"Look, Aunty," she said, handing over a letter from the bank that gave a report on the patent bee-hive. The letter said that the men engaged in the enterprise were not trustworthy. It invited Helen to consult with the bank about her investment.

"You were right, Aunty," said Helen. "I saw Mr. Hitchcock there. He told me a lot about investments and suggested some safe ones. I never understood the bank's value before. If it had not been for you and the bank I should not have a cent today. I'll never do a thing with money unless I ask the bank first. I felt I was with friends, Aunty."

"You were, my dear," said Aunt Emmy, smiling.—ANNE B. AYMES.

A Chance to Shine

THE young man of today need not leave the farm for a career. True, present conditions are not conducive to large financial returns, but these conditions will undoubtedly change. Those who are in position to know think that we have reached the low ebb and now farm products are on the upgrade.

We have only begun to solve our agricultural problems. There is a large unexplored field ahead of us. The young man with brains and a sympathetic heart can find ample opportunities for making a name for himself on the farm.

In addressing a national group of young people recently, President Head, of the American Bankers Association, said he believes the opportunities for making a name as a leader in agriculture are greater than making a name in the position of a Congressman. He thinks the day is coming when a man shall take pride in saying, "I am an American farmer."

Any young man who has a liking for things rural can well afford to consider preparing himself to become a good farmer, for after he has made a success of his farm, he will find abundant opportunity for leadership in his community.—Banker-Farmer.

Political Announcements

COUNTY RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election to the office of Recorder of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Clarissa Abel. *

COUNTY SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Supervisor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—Thos. Berhow. *

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican Primary to be held in June, 1924.—H. C. Meyer. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to a decision of the republican voters at the primary election in June, 1924. I solicit your support on a platform of strict economy, fair and impartial treatment.—Wallace Darrah. *

I hreeby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock Contuy, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the Primaries to be held in June, 1924.—H. L. Suckow, Klemme, Ia.*

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary —John Suurballe. (J-10)

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—H. A. Sweigard. *

COUNTY AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of County Auditor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters of the June, 1924 Primary.—J. D. Madison. *

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Verne C. Grau. J-17)

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock County, Iowa, subject to the decision of the republican primaries to be held in June 1924. I solicit the support of all voters, both men and women.—V. S. White.

COUNTY SHERIFF

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the republican primaries to be held in June 1924.—Howard Hanson, Crystal Lake. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate on the Republican ticket for Sheriff of Hancock County at the June primaries. Pledging tht same service that I have previously given while in public office.—Peck Hanson.

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock Coutny, subject to the decision of the voters at the primary in June.—W. C. Zeismer.

COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—J. C. Hanson, Garner, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination of Clerk of Courts of Hancock County subject to a decision of the voters at the June 1924 Primaries.—Chris J. Johansen, Britt, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, and solicit your support at the June Primary election, 1924.—F. P. Oleson. F-14

FOR STATE SENATOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for State Senator from this 43rd district of Iowa comprising Cerro Gordo, Franklin and Hancock counties, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 primaries. If nominated and elected I agree to abide by the precedent established in this district and will not be a candidate for a second term.—C. F. JOHNSTON. Sheffield, Iowa. Feb. 1st, 1924.

SHORT TALKS

—By—

Uncle John

No. 5

'As I told you last week, the Manager and I aftr looking over the steam power plant, good, we hopped into a gasoline buggy, and went out to see the big Dam, I had heard a lot about this Dam, and about how much money it cost and all that, but honestly, I was surprised at what I saw when we turned the corner near the hill and got a good look. There it was, 600 feet long, stretching from bluff to bluff, and higher than most two story houses, and that part of it across the main channel of the river, was built of steel and concrete, and the rest of the Dam of earth and rocks. At one end of the Dam was the Power House, from which ran the wires carrying the power of this strong river.

"Well, I got up to the Dam and back of it spread the finest looking lake I ever saw, and it was lying between the high bluffs, just like pictures I'd seen o fmountain lakes. The Manager told me that because of the Dam, the river was a lake over seven miles long.

"I began to think how it would be to build myself a cottage on one of the bluffs and camp right there to fish and boat, so I says to the Manager, "I guess the improvements mean a lot to everybody around here besides just the power you fellows will get from the river."

"He agreed with me alright, and then began giving me a lot of figures about the whole thing which I put down in my book, and will tell you about next week."

IOWA GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION ASKS FOR CHANGE IN PRIMARY ROAD LAW

There has been much favorable comment upon the part of the Press of the state, together with the very general belief upon the part of our citizens that the Iowa Good Roads Association has hit upon a very generally desired relief in our primary road law when it has recommended that county bond money for primary road surfacing should be permitted to be used for graveling as well as hard surfacing.

This matter was given special attention at a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Iowa Good Roads Association, and it was the belief upon the part of President Allfree and Director Goodell that our people should be informed as to just what is standing in the way of having this done at the special session of the legislature.

The reason is: that this section of our primary road law does not happen to be included in the 281 bills submitted by the code commissioners.

If this section of the law was being codified, then it would be an easy matter to suggest an amendment from the floor to make this needed change, but since this section of the law is not included in the bills of the code commissioners, there is no opportunity to make this change in the law unless the Senate and the House permit another bill to be introduced that would simply make this slight amendment, which is so generally wanted upon the part of the people of this state, that it would not take as much time of the legislature as most any little amendment now priviledged to be offered from the floor of the Senate or the House in consideration of any bill now coming before them.

There is little question but that the present session of the legistlature has more work before them than was ever requested upon the part of any other legislature in the history of this state.

Simply adding the word "gravel" in that section of the primary road law relating to the use of county bond money for surfacing purposes would indeed be a very simple change, requiring but a few minutes time, and give great relief to many of our counties desiring to make such improvements upon a portion of their primary road system.

"It is so eminently fair, just and right that it deserves attention," says Mr. Allfree and Mr. Goodell.

FARM ACCOUNTING SCHOOL

Arrangements have been made for Farm Accounting and Organization Schools to be held at Garner Friday, February 15th. It is felt that keeping records on the farm is just as essential as keeping records for any other business, and for this reason the Hancock County Farm Bureau and the Extension Service of the Iowa State College have arranged for this school.

Mr. J. C. Galloway of Ames will have charge of the work. A class will be started in the simple form of farm business records, and will be met with sevearl times dur year, and at the end of the summarizing meeting will Every farmer should spend time with the records of his so that he may form an in opinion as to the income an of his farm plant. The men keeping a business record to answer very important as to his busines; for exam will be able to tell at a gla much their livestock retur them for each $100.00 worth fed to them.

The keeping of these re cords takes very litle time. eighty-six farmers were ask much time they spent on cords, and their answers that an average of twenty-f utes a week will keep rec good shape.

The work at Garner will to any farmer who cares to The program will start at M., and close at 4:00 P. M. attending are requested to full inventory of their livest and all farm equipment.

TYPEWRITER RIBBONS
All Makes

Typewriter Ribbons for at the Times Office all of Standard makes. Rib 75 cents each.

Drug Department

Our shelves are now loaded with a fresh new stock of Drugs.

We have tried to order everything that you will need, and we expect to carry a larger and better stock of this class of goods than you would expect to find in a town of this size.

We do not know it all about the Drug business, but we do know that we should be able to sell you drugs for a little less money than an exclusive Drug Store, for the reason that our expenses will not be heavy; we own our store, and have light and heat anyway, and all the extra expense we have is perhaps an extra clerk for Drugs.

We invite the Public to call on us, and we promise to serve you well in our New Drug Department.

Wellemeyer
Department Store

AUCTION

As I am movnig to another State I will sell at Public Sale, on the Oren Bamford farm, 2 mile west of Goodell; 1 mile south and 7 miles east of Kanawha, on——

SATURDAY, FEB. 16, 1924

Commencing at 1 o'clock Sharp

5 HEAD OF HORES

1 team of gray horses, 10 years old, wgt. 3200; 1 bay mare 8 year old, wgt. 1500; 1 sorre gelding 6 years old, wgt. 1500; 1 bay gelding, 13 years old, wgt. 1400.

22 HEAD OF CATTLE

5 cows, some milking; 4 steers coming two years old, in good flesh; 6 heifers, coming 2 years old, in good fleh; 1 yearling steer; 4 coming yearlings, 3 heifers and 1 steer; 2 summer calves.

FARM IMPLEMENTS, ETC.

2 triple box wagons in good condition; 1 combination hay and hog rack; 1 truck wagon; 1 bob sled; 1 spring wagon; 1 8-ft. McCormick binder; 1 5-ft. Standard mower; 1 John Deere manure spreader; 1 44-ft. Sandwich elevator; 2 John Deere corn planters, 1 new; 160 rds. wire; 80 rds. of wire, all in good condition; 1 Emerson gang plow; 1 Monmouth Sulky plow with sod bottom attachment; 1 Cassidy Sulky plow; 1 John Deere walking plow, new; 3 cultivators; 1 20-ft. lever drag; 1 harrow cart; 2 sets breeching harness; 1 et farm harness; 2 Osborn discs, in good shape; 1 Herchel endgate seeder with grass seed attachment; several horse collars; wire cornerib; 1 hog trough; 1 load cover; 1 stack of straw; and numerous other articles.

FORD CAR IN GOOD RUNNING ORDER.

50—60 R. C. RHODE ISLAND HENS.

TERMS—All sums $10 and under cash; over that amount 9 months time will be given on approved notes bearing 8 per cent interest. No property to be removed until settled for, on day of sale.

WM. GREER, Owner

H. BRUMMOND, Auctioneer.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK, Clerk.

News of Goodell And Vicinty

Dorothy Allaben was having dental work done in Belmond Saturday.

Mildred Fuller was a Belmond caller Saturday.

Gus Okrug shipped a car of cattle Saturday.

Maude Griggs, who spent several days visiting her sisters in the country, returned home Saturday.

Miss Hill, Miss Mylie and Edith Halfpop were Belmond callers Satruday.

Lew Erickson has resigned his position as manager of the Woodford Wheeler Lumber Company.

A Sunday School party was given in the basement of the U. B. Church Friday evening. Everybody reported a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Kahrs of Klemme, spent Friday evening at the W. M. Larnar home before moving to their new home in Ventura.

The Wantano More Club met Saturday at the home of Evelyn Chelsvig. They had a very fine program as some of the parts were carried over from the previous meeting. The next meeting will be at the home of Viola Finn.

Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Conlan, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. G. Houghton gave a party in the hall Friday evening in honor of Mrs. Houghton's birthday. The time was spent in playing cards and dancing. Luenh was served and the crowd dispersed at the wee hour of the morning, after spending a very pleasant evening, and wishing Mrs. Houghton many more happy birthdays.

Five hundred and forty-six decisions were handed down by the Iowa supreme court in 1923 it is announced by B. W. Garrett, clerk of the court. The amount of business before the supreme court, although it is somewhat greater than it was ten years ago, has not grown as rapidly as that which has come before the district courts and the federal courts in recent years, Mr. Garrett declares. The district and federal courts are heavily laden with cases growing out of violation of the liquor law, while not many liquor convictions find their way to the supreme court from the district court except on appeal from citations for contempt, which are less difficult to handle than cases involving detailed briefs and arguments and requiring lengthy opinions, the court clerk explains.

Some folks are so busy upholding their principles that they have no time to upport their families.

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Kahrs' Drug Store — Phone 4009

Klemme, Iowa

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Office opposite from Hotel Klemme

Phone No. 19

Eyes Examined — Glasses Fitted

For dingy Walls

Here is a section from the Sherwin-Williams "Household Guide." On it you will find the correct paint and enamel for use on your walls. We can supply you with the materials specified.

HOUSEHOLD GUIDE

	TO PAINT Use product named below	TO VARNISH Use product named below	TO STAIN Use product named below	TO ENAMEL Use product named below
WALLS, Interior, (Plaster Wallboard)	Flat-Tone: the washable, flat oil paint SWP House Paint: a full oil gloss			Enameloid: assorted colors

DECO-TINT—A sanitary Wall Finish, ready for use by mixing with cold water. For a wall where low cost and fine fine finish is desired.

G. W. KLUCKHOHN & SONS

Next Spring—

With over 200,000 orders for Ford Cars and Trucks already placed for delivery during the next few months, we are facing a record-breaking spring demand.

Each successive month this winter has witnessed a growth in sales far surpassing that of any previous winter season. This increase will be even greater during the spring months, always the heaviest buying period.

These facts suggest that you place your order early to avoid disappointment in delivery at the time desired.

Ford Motor Company
Detroit, Michigan

It is not necessary to pay cash for your car in order to have your name placed on the preferred delivery list. You can make a small payment down, or you can buy, if you wish, under the convenient terms of the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

See the Nearest Authorized Ford Dealer

F-45

PUBLIC AUCTION

I will sell the following described property at public auction at the farm 1½ miles west of Klemme; 7 miles south and 1 mile west of Garner; and 7 miles north and 1 mile west of Goodell, on—

Monday, February 18

Begins at 10 a. m. Free lunch Noon

11 Head of Horses & Mules 11

Bay mare 7 yrs old, wt 1900 (in foal to jack.) Black mare 8 yrs old, wt 1600 (in foal to jack),, span 4 yr old mare mules, broke, wt 2600; bay mare 5 yrs old, wt 1700; black mare 2 yrs old, wt 1350; black mule 2 yrs old, wt 1,00; 2 yearling mule colt; 1 suckling mule colt.

31 Head Of Cattle 31

16 milch cows, 3 fresh, others to be fresh in March; 1 two year old Durham bull; 13 calves coming 1 year old; 1 calf.

30 Head Of Hogs 30

20 Chester White Bred Sows, due to farrow last week of March and April. 10 Chester White shoats.

Farm Machinery

Independent binder; Deere 2 row corn plow; Sattley 2 row corn plow; Moline single row corn plow; Hayes single row corn plow; walking plow; 2 8-ft disc; Hayes corn planter with 120 rds wire; 1-h.p. R. I. engine; 2 bob sleds; high wheel wagon and box; 10x12 chicken house; new J. Deere elevator; 26-ft Boss harrow; Herchel endgate seeder; Emerson gang plow; Moline single plow; Emerson mower; Bloom manure spreader; IHC 6-in feed grinder; 3 h.p. IH C engine, truck wagon; hay rack; 3 sets work harness; 1000-chick coal burner Hoover; Iowa Dairy cream separator; emery grinder and disc sharpener; washing machine; 18-bu. seed corn; 300 bu corn in crib; stack corn fodder; 2 stacks of cane fodder; 60-gal. hog waterer; hog oiler; 40-bu. self feeder.

TERMS—Usual terms, 8% interest on amounts over $10, 10 months time on bankable notes.

SUMNER TRUMBELL, Prop.
Reemstma &Brummond, Auct.
First National Bank, Klemme, Clerk

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

January 29, '24.

Regular meeting of the Town Council, of Klemme, Iowa, held in Mayor Gruetzmacher's place of business.

Councilmen present: A. D. Gimer, H. L. Suckow, Wm. Smith, Joe E. Johnson.

Absent: Valentine Josten.

Motion made and seconded that the following bills be allowed:

Jacobs & Son, Supplies, 8-1-22 & 1-29-24 ..	$31.62
Kluckhohn Sons, Supplies 11-13-23 & 1-29-24	3.00
Thomas C. Hake, Salary for January	50.00
Joseph E. Johnson, 1 load sand, 2 loads filling	1.80
Standard Oil Co., 85 gals gas	13.34
White Phillips Co., Coupons 34-35-51-52...	60.00

Bills allowed.

Motion made and seconded that $4.00 be the rate fixed for poll tax for the Incorporated Town of Klemme for 1924.

Meeting adjourned.

A. J. KUDJE,
Clerk.

Many Form This County Attended Short Course at Ames Last Week

Approximately 1900 men, women and children, from every nook and corner of Iowa and a few from other states spent last week at Iowa State College at Ames, attending the annual farmers short course. Lectures demonstrations, campus tours and entertainment occupied the visitors' time during the week. This year's was a record attendance, according to registration officials. The big annual corn show held in the college armory by the Iowa Corn and Small Grain Growers association, and the horse pulling contest proved to be strong attractions. Lectures and demonstrations in almost every field of activity about the farm or home were offered every day, so that visitors particularly interested in any one subject could get almost a full week of training in it. The big night mass meetings drew crowds of 1500. This yaer the homemakers' week was held in connection with the regular short course for men and junior club members. More women were in attendance this time than last year, when they met independ- three high school judging teams competed in judging grain and live stock under the direction of the department of vocational education dedress and why she wanted to come all the way to Des Moines to receive a musical education.

Lieutenant Governor Talks to Mahaska County Farmers.

Lieutenant Governor Hammill, who by the way owns and oversees some fine farm lands in this county, recently delivered an address before the farm bureau of Mahaska county, at Oskaloosa, and in the course of his remarks made reference to the importance of soil conservation and hence the value of crop rotation. He told the farmers that every acre of oats sowed on his land was also sowed to clover so that there was always a large acreage of this legume to plow under from year to year and thus rejuvenate the soil. He told about the good results that he had obtained from alfalfa and spoke of the value of sweet clover as a soil restorer. While corn is his principal crop he told the Mahaska farmers how much larger the yield is from ground that the year before has produced a valuable crop of clover hay. A Wayne county farmer says that clover sweet clover and alfalfa have well nigh put alleged hard pan out of business in that section of the state. A Montgomery county farmer avers that he grew corn sixteen years in succession on ground where he hogged- down the corn every fall and the yield was large each season.

COAL MINERS ARE PROSPEROUS

N. M. Leonard of Waukee, in Dallas county, where he has an opportunity of studying coal mining at short range, says that coal miners in that coal field either live in Valley Junction or in Des Moines and drive to their work in automobiles and back to the city after the day's work is done. Miners are making fine wages this winter. He tells of a fellow who was a failure as a farmer making at the rate of around $300 a month in the coal mines. In the Boone field it is said that Joe Pestotnik, veteran miner, topped all previous records for eleven and a half days work with a pay check of $205 98. Pestonik always has been one of the big producers according to the officials of the mine. He got out 110 tons 90 pounds in the period, and was paid the regular rate of $2. 05 per ton.

"A SCOUT IS BRAVE"

The tenth scout law—"A Scout Is Brave"—has a touching little illustration in a story reported from a Pittsburgh hospital. As the nurse was bringing a twelve-year-old boy patient out of the anaesthetic after a serious operation, she found lying in the palm of the lad's right hand a scrap of crumpled paper. Straightening out the scrap to see if it had any bearing on the lad's welfare, she read the words, scrawled in a boyish hand—"A Scout Is Brave."

Very Much So.

Customer (missing his favorite waiter)—Where's Jules today?

Waiter—He's gone, sir.

Customer—Gone! Do you mean he's defunct?

Waiter Yes, sir—and with everything 'e could lay 'is 'ands on!

References.

"And what about your references?" asked the employer of the applicant.

"References?"

"Yes. My advertisement stated, 'Best references.'"

"But I thought that applied to you!"

India Wants Merchant Fleet.

India wants an Indian merchant marine, says the Nation's Business, or at least there is enough discussion among the people of India to give the subject some importance. The argument seems to proceed pretty largely upon the theory that every well-regulated and proud nation with its feet on salt water should have a merchant marine. In other words, a merchant marine is an indispensable demonstration of sovereignty if a nation wishes to maintain a place in high society. As India's foreign dangers have always lain on the landward side, national defense would not enter into the equation.

The Sergeant Commands.

In the small town of Wayback there were so many holdups that the police were being seriously annoyed. Try as they might, they failed to arrest the persons responsible. Late one night an excited voice came over the telephone:

"Burglars have broken into No. 64 Lyons street! Send help quick!"

The sergeant looked at the solitary policeman in the station.

"Mike," he said simply. "The house at 64 Lyons street is being robbed. Go up and surround it."—American Legion Weekly.

Miss Marietta Chapman, of Bantfeld, Ontario, Canada, a full blood Chippewa Indian, is anxious to receive a musical education, so she writes Mrs. Pauline Neufeld, director of the womens division of the Des Moines employment Bureau. She says that she has no money for carfare but if a job is secured for her, she will work and pay back whatever it costs to bring her to the capital city. Mrs. Neufeld is wondering how the Indian maid got her name and apartment.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SCOUT CAPTURES BANDITS

That boy scouts are prac- workers for community law and o- is shown in the recent vigorous re- turn of Scout John Watkins of Phila- delphia who, after an exciting chase on foot, trolley car and automobile, trailed three burglars and caused the arrest of two of them.

Scout Watkins first learned of the bandits' activities when Morris Cohen, proprietor of a drug store which the boy was passing, rushed from his shop, shouting he had been robbed, states a Philadelphia journal.

"The men had entered the store and had taken $60 from the proprietor's pocket and a gold watch and chain. They then forced the druggist to the cellar, took $80 from the cash register, and left the store, on the run. The scout noticed them first as they passed him, and a few moments later when Cohen emerged and described what had occurred, the boy started in pursuit.

"Once he nearly caught up to the bandits, but helpless to do anything single-handed, kept them in sight until he would see a policeman. At another point in the chase Watkins jumped on the rear of a passing automobile. Sighting the men boarding a trolley, the boy jumped from the auto and hung on back of the car until he saw two policemen, to whom he called. They boarded the car and Watkins identified two of the burglars. The third could not be found. On the floor of the car, near where the men had been seated, the police found the money and two pistols. The burglars were taken to the police station."

Scout Watkins recently saved the lives of three small children when a team of horses attached to the wagon in which the children were riding, became frightened and ran away. Watkins leaped on back of the wagon and, grabbing the reins, brought the animals to a stop.

A SCOUT'S POINT OF VIEW

The scout movement carries a boy back to nature and teaches him not only how to take care of himself in meeting all conditions of the open, but also to observe and appreciate the great out-of-doors.

"HOME OF BOY SCOUT HEROES"

Cosmopolis, Wash., has good claim to the name—"Home of Boy Scout Heroes." Within a period of four days two boys recently made heroic rescues in the Chehalis river and saved lives. Scout Burton Keegan, thirteen years of age, is one of the life savers. According to the story of three witnesses, Keegan swam half-way across the river and rescued a ten-year-old crippled lad who had become weakened in an attempt to swim the river.

Keegan was standing on the dock when the younger boy, who had just reached midstream, suddenly felt his strength leaving him and called for help. The scout immediately jumped into the river and reached the lad as he was sinking. Keegan started to swim toward shore with the boy. He became exhausted before he reached the end of his long journey and several other boys helped him. The crippled lad was in a semi-conscious condition when he was placed on the bank of the river, but first aid administered by his scout rescuer revived him and he was taken to his home. The second hero, Scout Milo Luke, also rescued a drowning person, Fred Raffelson, from the Chehalis when the latter fell off the Cosmopolis city dock.

BOY SCOUTS AID COMMUNITY

A valuable community good turn was recently performed by six troops of Ogden, Utah, in fighting a large forest fire advancing in a canyon some miles from the city. Within one hour after a distress call had reached scout headquarters, the boys were on their way, armed with shovels and axes. At 8:30 p. m. the scouts reached the fire area, and by 10 p. m., after heroic work, they had the flames under control. The boys then stood guard to put out any stray sparks.

DON'T DO THIS — TRY THE WATCH TEST

Can You Hear?

Place watch to ear then draw away. You should hear tick at 56 inches. Does a ringing in your ears prevent your proper hearing?

LEONARD EAR OIL

relieves both Head Noises and Deafness. Just rub it back of ears and insert in nostrils.

For Sale Everywhere.

Interesting descriptive folder sent upon request.

A. O. LEONARD, Inc.
70 5th Ave.
New York

PATENTS Send model or drawing for examination. Highest references. Best results. Promptness assured. Watson E. Coleman, Booklet FREE. Patent Lawyer, 644 G St., Washington, D. C.

Family broils are best when confined to the kitchen.

MOTHER!

Child's Best Laxative is "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry Mother! A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" now will thoroughly clean the little bowels and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love its pleasant taste.

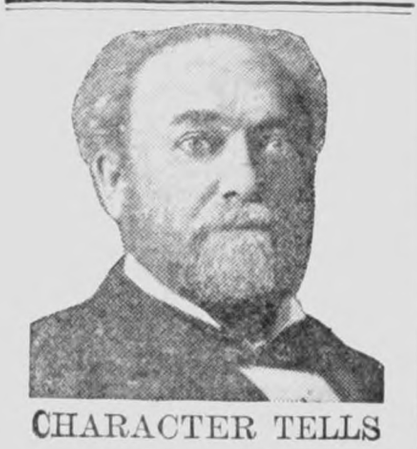
Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, you must say "California." Refuse any imitation.

Chronic complaining doesn't make a hard lot any softer.

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

Every thoughtful man knows that frequent vacations injure his capacity for work.



CHARACTER TELLS THE STORY!

People throughout this country are giving more thought to hygiene and to the purity of remedies on the market, but no one doubts the purity of Doctor Pierce's vegetable medicines, for they have been so favorably known for over fifty years that everyone knows they are just what they are claimed to be. These medicines are the result of long research by a well-known physician, R. V. Pierce, M. D., who compounded them from health-giving herbs and roots long used in sickness by the Indians. Dr. Pierce's reputation as a leading and honored citizen of Buffalo, is a sufficient guarantee for the purity of that splendid tonic and blood medicine, the Golden Medical Discovery, and the equally fine nerve tonic and system builder for women's ailments, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Send 10c. for trial pkg. tablets to Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel, Buffalo, N.Y.

RUB YOUR EYES? Use Dr. Thompson's Eyewater. Buy at your druggist's or 1165 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff—Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c. and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

Green's August Flower

The remedy with a record of fifty-seven years of surpassing excellence. All who suffer with nervous dyspepsia, sour stomach, constipation, indigestion, torpid liver, dizziness, headaches, coming-up of food, wind on stomach, palpitation and other indications of digestive disorder, will find GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER an effective and efficient remedy. For fifty-seven years this medicine has been successfully used in millions of households all over the civilized world. Because of its merit and popularity GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER can be found today wherever medicines are sold. 30 and 90 cent bottles.

by Charles Tenney Jackson

Illustrations by Irwin Myers

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

CHAPTER XVI—Continued.

—22—

"I heard you say the seas are wide, and far—far the way to their secret places. It is a chance, Jean." The count seized his arm, for the lieutenant, whom Mademoiselle Lestron had now joined, was returning to them. "Come! I reimburse the gentlemen of New Orleans who were with me in the Girod venture. I give you the Seraphine—without condition."

"Without condition?" Monsieur Sazarac stared oddly at him. Then at Mademoiselle Lestron who had run to them brightly, vivaciously, as if all was arranged, as if the black-hulled schooner and its mysteries would, in an hour, be vanished in the seas . . . and she gladdened at its passing.

"Ah, yes!" Sazarac bowed: "without condition, Monsieur de Almonaster!"

And he bowed again to her, and took her finger-tips and pressed them to his lips. She could not understand this fervor which had a touch of satire. Nor the smile in his somber eyes; his turning away while Monsieur de Almonaster made hurried arrangements with the American lieutenant. Even now they had sent the boat away to apprise the Hornet, and to fetch the improvised crew which would be glad for a berth back to the Indies.

Monsieur Sazarac stood idly apart, twirling his sword knot, as if nothing any longer was affair of his. When Alderman Dominique made some query as to the dead seaman forward he shrugged. That was all.

He strolled forward to stare down at the nine dead buccaneers, and did not return until the Hornet's boats with a crew of strange half-breed men, and two obsequious, grateful, petty officers, were at the Seraphine's side.

While the other party was descending to the small boat he still stood apart. Dominique supposed he was going, dumb hurt as the alderman was at thought of the chance that an instant cry, "Lafitte!" would ring on the Hornet's quarter-deck.

Mademoiselle Lestron thought he was going, for he stood close by the ladder as she was helped away.

But he detained her suddenly at the rail.

"A moment, Mademoiselle—" He exhibited to her a small bracelet. Curiously inlaid, gold of three colors, and a number of pearls . . . the gift of a queen.

Mademoiselle Lestron cried out in joyous wonder. She had never seen Marie Antoinette's bracelet since the night she saw the ragged fellow kiss it in the emperor's cabin, when the mutineers sent her away.

"My bracelet! Monsieur—" All a child's lovely eagerness to grasp a toy was in her face and the hand she reached for it.

Monsieur Sazarac, however, drew it back gravely: "Ah—no!"

"But—my bracelet, Monsieur? I want it!"

"That is the point. It is yours, and you cannot have it."

"Nom de Dieu!" She stared at him incredulously. "Why?"

"It must be stolen. It is essential as a matter of honor."

De Almonaster and Dominique were in the small boat. They looked up astonished; and the girl sat down by them trying to keep back hot puzzled tears.

There was an adieu or so waved from the Hornet's officers in the small boats as they sheered off the schooner's side. Monsieur Sazarac bowed. Bowed to them all with apparently the same debonair dismissal.

Mademoiselle Lestron turned to De Almonaster with a wild whisper. "He is not coming! He is not coming with us!"

For no sooner had Mademoiselle Lestron left the Seraphine that day in 1821, than Monsieur Sazarac turned and ran down in the emperor's cabin. He burst into the doorway of the emperor's stateroom and flung the golden trinket upon the lace and silken coverlet of the emperor's bed.

"There—robber!" he shouted, somewhat impatiently. "Her bracelet—stolen—taken against her will! Are you satisfied?"

The man on the bed looked at it quietly with glittering eyes above his hollow cheeks. He still had his boots on, and the imperial couch was rather the worse for the mud and dried blood upon it. But now he sat up straighter and gestured with superb authority.

"Well, then! You lost her—you will never see her again!"

"I lost her. And neither you nor I will ever see her again!" He looked at the painter of the rue Royale more composedly: "Eh, Jarvis? What should you and I ask of life? Youth turns to youth always—and a fine fellow, this De Almonaster. You and I will never see her again."

"The devil take me if I saw her at all, very clearly. Whether her eyes are brown, or merely very dark blue—and her hair. . . . Eh, well! She never saw me very clearly either. Which is most fortunate. She will remember longest the one who was the greatest mystery. Sir—another peg o' brandy."

"Here—scum o' the seas! Your drink—plunderer o' the ports!"

"Monsieur Lafitte"—the jester crushed back against the emperor's pillows and touched a handkerchief of elegant linen to his lips delicately—"you say I shall die before morning?"

"It is certain as anything I know, Jarvis."

"Jarvis?" The jester grew quite solemn: "Wait a moment, Monsieur Lafitte." He straightened his body a bit: "Now—bring me the cutlass of old Gorgio!"

"I brought it—here," answered Monsieur Lafitte obediently.

"The pistol of Bohon!"

"By your side, there—cleaned and loaded—"

"The head scarf of Nez Coupe!"

"On the pillow by you. And see—the earring of Johanness—"

"Where the devil is the other one?" roared the Bottle Emperor testily.

"I could not get the other one unless I cut the bo'sun's left ear—"

"Name o' evil!—why don't you obey me!" He thrust out a skinny finger and shook it with a lordly wrath.

Monsieur Lafitte shrugged exculpatingly.

"Eh, well! Can't you be satisfied? You have plundered them all! You have laid a solid shot through a good ship, killed your man on a red deck—boasted, swaggered; robbed nine buccaneers in a row—and looted a jewel from a woman!"

"Not so soon. A pot o' gold, that also is essential. Fetch it at once—"

The master shrugged; then with a patient sigh, he scattered from his pockets an arc of Spanish doubloons across the silken coverlet. "There, corsair! That is all I have to be robbed of. Now, rest, Mad John."

"Another thing. The name—Sazarac—it was the name she loved."

"Perdition!" The other man turned to the bedside: "Well, then—be Sazarac. Monsieur Sazarac was also a ghost. He never dared step from the shadows to her eye, more than did

"Look, Dearest . . . Sazarac, a Phantom Fading Into the Mist!"

you. Be comforted, old friend! Jean—of the old days—is with you. The others have gone a little time before."

"Sazarac—" murmured the other, and the old plaintive tone came again to him: "I demand that also . . . it is the name she will remember—"

"Well, then! Name o' G—d! Take everything from me—strip me to the hide! See—I dub you—Sazarac."

Monsieur Lafitte touched him upon his bloody-bandaged shoulder with the rusty cutlass of Gorgio, the dead Catalan. "Now, boaster—Sazarac!"

Monsieur Sazarac laid back upon the emperor's pillows. He motioned to the emperor's decanter. "A peg o' cognac, Monsieur Lafitte."

He moistened his tongue with the drink fastidiously, and rubbed his unshaven chin. A square of blue hung above him through the open skylight, and against it the snowy burst of sail. He could hear the creak of blocks and gear, the faint shout of sailormen aloft to Clark, the English lad at the wheel, as the new crew of the emperor's ship set the royals.

"See here?" exclaimed Monsieur Sazarac thoughtfully. "The flag once painted at my studio in the rue Conti—black with the white bones? You will hoist it tomorrow when they all go over."

"Eh? Over?—Well, I understand. Monsieur, the black flag shall be at the peak."

"How many are there in the row by the fo'cas'le for me to command?"

"Nine. You will make ten, Monsieur Sazarac."

"It must be done by precedence—" ordained the other loftily. "First, I—Monsieur Sazarac—with my plunder. It is all to be wrapped in my silk-lined cloak and tied very tightly to my belt—"

"Dieu de Dieu!" whispered the other; and then to himself: "Is this the fever? . . . the brandy? . . . or the secret soul of my friend?"

Monsieur Sazarac suddenly thundered to recall his lieutenant's mind.

"Silence! I was saying—in precedence! First, Monsieur Sazarac. Then, Beluche, the admiral; Johanness, the bo'sun—and then the others to the green water. I order—you will obey."

"I will obey, Monsieur Sazarac." The last adventurer turned away as if he had a petition to offer. It was hard to conceal that he desired to keep one little thing for himself out of this ravishment.

"See here—Corsair. The little bracelet which you ordered must be stolen? Is it needful that it go to the bottom of the sea with you tomorrow?"

Monsieur Sazarac fixed his bright restless eyes upon the other's somber attentive face. The flicker of a wise ruthless smile came to him.

"It is needful. It is my plunder. It was—hers. Name o' names! There can be no discussion! Pin it to my new waistcoat—do you understand?"

The last man turned away from the emperor's bedside. He took his snuff absently, and sat down with the air of one who had lost the last battle. Then he looked at the plunder of Monsieur Sazarac upon the emperor's pillow.

"Even the bracelet—" he sighed. "What a buccaneer, this Sazarac . . . and tomorrow he will be less lonely than I!"

Monsieur Sazarac, outstretched with some luxurious peace upon the silken, imperial coverlet, appeared to hear this whisper. He turned to see the other man staring out the open port at the sloop rolling in the gentle seas.

"They have reached the deck," murmured Lafitte absently. "She is in De Almonaster's arms . . . she is crying, or laughing, I cannot say which, but she is waving a little hand to us—"

"To Sazarac—I will have that, too," smiled the jester. "My ragged heart has always longed for a tear or a smile from a lady. What riches I have—at the end! Here—Monsieur Lafitte—" He lifted Mademoiselle Lestron's bracelet and tossed it to the other. "Out of the wealth of my empire and my love I give you this trinket as a keepsake from her and from myself. Sazarac must be generous to the last, eh—Jean?"

"He must fail in nothing." The adventurer lifted the bracelet to his lips and smiled in turn: "He must be as she dreamed from the first. Thank you, Monsieur Sazarac."

And the two watched the distant figures on the Hornet. They could not know what the girl was crying out from her lover's arms:

"Raoul! The Seraphine is not following us! She is sailing eastward after all. . . . Oh, Raoul, what is the mystery?"

"The seas are wide—there are many far, secret places for Monsieur Sazarac," he whispered. "Louise! Dearest—and always longed for! . . . you love me! . . . you love me!"

"I love you." She smiled out of her tears, glad for his arm, his tenderness, his understanding, when her eyes turned again to the black schooner with the gold line along the water. It had broken out to snowy sail; it was growing smaller, fainter, in the east, like a lily floating in the sun-wash of the gulf.

"In New Orleans you will know everything," Raoul smiled, out of his joy. "I will tell you everything—and of my love again! Look, dearest . . . Sazarac, a phantom fading into the mist!"

"Ah, but my little bracelet! In the end, perhaps I shall understand everything except why he stole my bracelet!"

Which was exactly the way things fell out.

Long years afterward Madame, the Countess de Almonaster's children—and then the children of her children—stood before a shabby little shop which was once Pierre Maspero's gaming-house, and looked across at the faded facade of the gray house which their forefather built for the exiled emperor. They went, also, of a Sunday afternoon, among the tourists, to the low tomb in the old St. Louis cemetery where the city had carved a flattering inscription from Voltaire's "Henriade" to the memory of an honest councilor:

"The Victor of a Hundred Fights on Sea and Land."

Ah, what jests may live in stone!

Madame, the countess, could relate everything to her children, except about the bracelet of Marie Antoinette. At times, from the gallery of her great house on the Esplanade in old New Orleans, Madame would look across the mighty Mississippi to the dark and flooded forests of Barataria beyond which lay the blue gulf into which Monsieur Sazarac vanished forever from the world of men.

Eh, bien! The adventurer might come again some day with her bracelet . . . but over Monsieur's shoulder would peer his last ragged follower whispering that a jester, too, might love!

[THE END.]

Troops Under British Flag.

Great Britain supports a standing army of 237,500 men and a reserve of 237,500. The untrained reserve is 4,655,500. She also has 17,000 troops in Egypt and 50,000 in Canada, with an available man power of 1,351,000. There are 220,000 in New Zealand and 1,130,000 in the South African possessions. Most of these troops include trained veterans of the World war.

NERVOUS & HALF-SICK WOMEN

Relieved by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

These Three Letters Prove It

Lowell, Mass.—"I am sending you a few lines to let you know what good your medicine has done for me. I want you to let every one know that it has helped me in nervous troubles. I have four children and you know there is a lot to do where children are. They would come in from school and they would start telling me about their little troubles but I could not stand it. I had to send them away. I could not even walk on the street alone I was so nervous. I found one of your books and read it and then I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I got it and had taken one bottle when I saw a change in myself. I was surprised. The children can talk all they want to now and it does not bother me. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JOSEPH LEMERE, 84 South Street, Lowell, Mass.

Felt Like A New Woman

Springfield, Missouri.—"For four or five months I was run-down, nervous, my back ached and I did not feel like doing a thing. Sometimes my legs ached and felt like they would break and I had a hurting in my sides. I had been reading in the newspapers the letters of other women who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the advertising of it appealed to me so I bought some and saw results in almost no time. I had hardly been able to do my own work and after taking the Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman. I recommend it to my friends who have troubles like I did and hope they will find the same results."—Mrs. M. CARPENTER, 607 W. Chase Street, Springfield, Missouri.

40 Years Old, Feels Like 20

Hagerstown, Md.—"I was very bad off with backache, a bearing-down feeling in my body and a pain in my left side. I could not be on my feet at times and once I was so bad I walked bent over to one side for three weeks. My sister read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got me a bottle. I got so much relief that I took more until I was well. I am 40 years old and feel like 20. I am sure this medicine will help all women."—Mrs. MARY E. SANDY, 436 W. Franklin Street, Hagerstown, Md.

Over 100,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?" 98 per cent of these replies are "Yes."

That means that 98 out of every 100 women who take this medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.

All druggists are having increased sales of this medicine.

Primitive man had little, but he had no dishes to wash.

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A BOX

Cures Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion. Drug stores. Adv.

A funny story gets more applause than sensible talk.

Others Find Relief

in Allcock's Plasters from local aches and pains. So can you. One trial will convince you of their merits.—Adv.

Talk is cheap, but advice often proves expensive.

To the Last Word

"Isn't it awful how much scandal there is in the papers these days?"

"Yes. It makes me two or three hours late with my housework every day."

Cuticura for Sore Hands.

Soak hands on retiring in the hot suds of Cuticura Soap, dry and rub in Cuticura Ointment. Remove surplus Ointment with tissue paper. This is only one of the things Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum are used for all toilet purposes.—Advertisement.

If a man is brought up right his prejudices will be as worthy as his good principles.

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, prepared for Infants and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

Laxatives do not overcome constipation

"More Important is Internal Cleanliness"

LAXATIVES and cathartics provide temporary relief only, at the expense of permanent injury. In time, says an eminent physician, an almost incalculable amount of harm is done by the use of pills, salts, mineral waters, castor oil and the like.

Some laxatives, according to an intestinal specialist, contain poisons which affect the stomach and intestines, resulting in grave disorders. Certain laxatives are a direct cause of piles.

Physicians Advise Lubrication for Internal Cleanliness

Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Not a Medicine

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water it is harmless.

Get rid of constipation and avoid disease by adopting the habit of internal cleanliness. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

Nujol

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

For Internal Cleanliness

M'ADOO'S NAME IN LEASE QUIZ

Doheny Also Hired Garrison, Gregory, Lane and Creel, He Says.

Washington.—The name of William . McAdoo was involved in the senate l investigation when Edward L. Doeny testified that he had paid Mr. cAdoo a total of $250,000 for legal rvices in connection with a number f oil transactions.

Mr. Doheny also declared that he ad paid large sums to Thomas W. regory, Lindley M. Garrison and ranklin K. Lane, all cabinet members nder the Wilson administration, and eorge Creel, an officer in the admintration. The cabinet members were t employed until after their connecon with the government was ended d their right to accept such position as not questioned.

The testimony of Mr. Doheny neverheless is expected to result in Presint Coolidge selecting another Demoatic attorney to take the place of r. Gregory in the oil prosecutions, as is the desire of the President to ngage lawyers who have never been nployed by oil companies.

A statement issued by the White ouse indicated the selection of anher attorney in a statement to the fect that Mr. Gregory might find it mbarrassing to serve because of his rmer connection with Mr. Doheny.

The statement that Mr. McAdoo had en in the employ of Mr. Doheny ought a vigorous protest from the emocratic presidential candidate, who eclared that the introduction of his me was unjust, in that his connecon with Mr. Doheny had nothing to with leases and was confined to Mr. oheny's Mexican interests. Mr. Mcdoo also said that the retainer which as received by his firm amounted to 5,000 a year for four years.

While Mr. Doheny was on the stand fore the senate committee, the house opted the Walsh resolution propsg court action to annul the Teapot ome and California leases. The reso tion passed by a vote of 120 to 4.

remier MacDonald Praises American Neighborliness

London.—In his first public utterce as prime minister and foreign sectary, Ramsay MacDonald addressed e largest banquet ever held by the lgrims' society and welcomed Frank ellogg, the new American ambassar. Mr. MacDonald said the United ates had discovered how to be neighrly and that the great trouble beeen nations was due to the lack of at knowledge. He declared that "no liances and no documents" were eded to perpetuate the friendliness England and the United States.

ncome and Profits Taxes of U. S. Increase 21 Pct. Year

Washngton.—It was announced by e bureau of internal revenue that come and profits taxes collected in 23 averaged 21 per cent greater than 1922. The figures showed $1,835,-2,966 for 1923 and $1,520,594,620 for 22. Only two states, New Hampire and Oregon, showed decreases m the previous year. Delaware, th a gain of 201 per cent over 1922, nked all states.

tinnes Wars on Gold Bank Plan for Germany

Berlin.—Defeated in their efforts to bble up Germany's railways for thing by taking over the railway bts of 1,000,000,000 gold marks 50,000,000)—the system is conservaely valued at 50,000,000,000 gold rks ($12,500,000,000)—Hugo Stinnes d Herr Kloeckner, leaders of the rman industrial association began ir fight against the Dawes experts mmittee's plans for a gold bank.

other, Three Children Are Burned to Death

Akron, O.—Four persons, a mother d three children, were burned to ath, and a fourth seriously injured en fire destroyed a home in East tron. The dead are Mrs. Arthur nith, twenty-two; Anne, three; Kathn, two, and Arthur, ten months old. avid Hayes, a brother of Mrs. Smith, in City hospital suffering from seous burns. All were trapped in eir beds when the house caught fire.

ld Ford Shoals Offer Accepted by Committee

Washington.—The house military mmittee voted to report out Henry ord's offer of two years ago for uscle Shoals as embodied in the Mcenzie bill and the Madden amendent, providing for duplication of the orgas plant sold to the Alabama ower company.

Edison's Birthplace Aglow.

Milan, O.—The little brick house in is village in which Thomas A. Edin was born was electrically lighted hursday night for the first time. Unl now the old-fashioned kerosene mp had held full sway.

Inheritance Tax Heavy.

Detroit.—A statement of the inheritance tax owed by the estate of John odge, late auto magnate, totaling 930,652.91 was filed for probate. The ersonal estate is valued at $36,942,-27.18.

LORD CHELMSFORD

Lord Chelmsford, new first lord of the admiralty in the cabinet of Ramsay MacDonald.

HOUSE BODY ACTS TO CUT INCOME TAX

Ways and Means Committee Favors Big Slash

Washington.—An unexpected saving of $225,000,000 for persons paying income tax was virtually assured by the action of the majority members of the house ways and means committee. On motion of Chairman William R. Green of Iowa, the Republicans on the committee agreed unanimously to include in the tax-reduction program a retroactive provision making a flat reduction in income taxes to be paid this year on last year's incomes.

The rate of the reduction was not definitetly determined, but Chairman Green stated it probably will be 25 per cent.

It is not possible to go higher than that, he said. Treasury experts advised the committee that a 25 per cent cut would mean a saving of $225,000,000. The estimated surplus of $320,000,000 in the treasury, Green asserted, would be ample to take care of this amount. The chairman explained that the proposed reduction would work this way:

Tax returns would go in as usual by March 15, and the income taxes computed in the regular manner on the present rates.

Then 25 per cent would be lopped off the net amount of each individual's tax.

When an individual pays the full amount of his tax in a lump sum when it first comes due, March 15, Green went on, the amount of the reduction would be refunded to him.

Where payments are made in installments, a provision will be made to allocate the reduction over the remaining installments.

McCray Declared Bankrupt; Occupation Is Overruled

Frankfort, Ind.—Governor Warren T. McCray was declared a bankrupt in the report of Harry C. Sheridan, federal master in chancery, which was made public. Mr. Sheridan held that under the law, Governor McCray is neither a farmer nor a laborer and therefore is not exempt from the federal laws governing involuntary bankruptcy. Governor McCray's assets were found to be $2,111,888.86 and his liabilities were established at $2,619,320.64.

Miners Decide Against Strike in Coal Fields

Indianapolis, Ind.—With only a few dissenting votes the miners' convention authorized the policy or scale committee to get the best agreement obtainable on the basis of no reduction in wages in negotiating with the coal operators of the central competitive field at Jacksonville, Fla., February 11. The report calls for a four-year contract and submission of any agreement reached to a referendum vote for the membership for ratification. It is the report of the administration and bears the unanimous endorsement of the members of the committee.

German Government Frees Lieutenant Griffis

Berlin.—Corliss Hooven Griffis, daring army lieutenant from Hamilton, O., serving a sentence in a German prison for attempting to forcibly kidnap Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft dodger, and bring him to the United States, has been pardoned. The decision to release the young Ohioan was made known by the national government, after Berlin had finally succeeded in prevailing upon the government of the state of Baden to take that action.

Miners Adopt Four-Year Pact.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Final and overwhelming approval was given the antistrike and no wage increase program by the miners' convention. The plank providing for a four-year wage contract was endorsed.

Two Missouri Banks Closed.

Jefferson City, Mo.—The state finance department closed two banks. The first was the Northeast bank of Kansas City and the other the Dade County bank at Greenfield. Resources were $820,564.

SENATE WOULD ANNUL LEASES

Unanimous Against Sinclair and Doheny Contracts; Debates Denby.

Washington.—By a unanimous vote, after several days of political debate, the senate adopted the Walsh resolution authorizing President Coolidge to employ special counsel and institute legal proceedings for the annulment of the leases of naval oil reserves to private interests and criminal action against any guilty person.

Just as soon as the Walsh resolution was out of the way the Robinson resolution to immediately request the resignation of Secretary of the Navy Denby was placed before the senate and it opened up anew the floodgates of oratory.

With reckless abandon the Democratic senators directed their shafts at Denby, charging that in the whole transaction where the naval oil reserves were turned over to private parties he displayed the grossest incompetency, if not worse.

Senator Moses of New Hampshire, in a striking speech near the end of the day's debate, said:

"If there were reason to believe that Mr. Denby or other active officials of the Navy or Interior departments are guilty of actual malfeasance, the republic would not want resignations but impeachments."

Senator Lodge, opposing the proposal to request the resignation of Secretary Denby, said that it was an outrage on every principal of justice and fair play and was in the nature of "lynch law."

"I suppose," said Senator Lodge, "strictly speaking, that the senate has the right to make that request of the President, but, of course, it has absolutely no power in the premises whatsoever."

Treasury's Savings Plan Is Halted in the West

Washington.—Sale of treasury savings certificates by postmasters in 17 middle-western and western states has been ordered discontinued by Postmaster General New, with the approval of Secretary Mellon. The step was taken in order to assist in easing the recent financial stress among small banks in the territory. The states affected are: North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Texas, Arkansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, New Mexico, Idaho, Arizona and Montana.

Litvinoff Protests United States Ships in Russia

Moscow.—Protests against the entry of American ships into Russian ports have been forwarded to Secretary Hughes by Maxim Litvinoff, assistant secretary of foreign affairs. The protest cites the case of a United States destroyer which entered Batum, a Black sea port, on January 15. It charges that the presence of the destroyer and other ships constitute a breach of international law, inasmuch as permission for entrance was not asked of port authorities.

Big War Damage Graft in France, Officials Admit

Paris.—Graft arising out of reparations paid for the reconstruction of the devastated regions of France makes the Teapot Dome oil scandal of America look like a deuce, according to developments in the chamber of deputies. Between 18,000,000,000 and 25,000,000,000 francs is the amount overpaid to persons and firms in the war-devastated regions, according to figures admitted as correct by the minister of the liberated regions.

Water Flasks Fly in Riot in Jap Diet

Tokyo.—The imperial diet was dissolved following scenes of the greatest disorder, in which water flasks were thrown and fists used. The disturbance resulted from attempts of the opposition to interpellate the government regarding the attempted wrecking of a train at Nagoya, carrying opposition leaders to Tokyo. The turbulent scenes which occurred in the lower house made further business impossible.

Street Cars Quit Akron for Good; Use Busses Now

Akron, O.—City street car operations ceased here and many of the busses with which Akron is to be motorized were gotten ready to take up the traffic burden. There are no prospects that operation of the street cars will be resumed. The right to run cars ceased at midnight when the Northern Ohio Traction & Light company's franchise expired.

To Travel by Airplane.

Peking.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and her son, Kermit, received a soviet passport. They will travel via Siberia, reaching Moscow on Feb. 21. From there both will travel by airplane to Warsaw.

Killed at Crossing.

Lafayette, Ind.—Harry A. McGrath, son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. McGrath, Chicago, died at a hospital here of injuries received when an automobile in which he was riding was struck by a train.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

What the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

Speedy passage in the state legislature of the resolution introduced in the senate by Senator Stoddard, of Woodbury county, appropriating $5,000 for the use of the Iowa child welfare commission, was urged in a letter sent out by the Iowa Parent-Teachers association. The appropriation was recently requested by Governor N. E. Kendall in a special message and the Stoddard resolution embodying the request in legal form was referred to the senate appropriations committee, which has not yet reported it out to the senate. "Strange as it may seem," the Parent-Teachers association plea asserted, "opposition to the support of the work of the child welfare commission has developed in the legislature. It does not take the assembly long to use a thousand dollars worth of the states' money by time-killing tactics, but there are some members who become suddenly solicitous for the taxpayers' welfare whenever a small appropriation is asked for in behalf of a work that goes to the very life of the state. In that same work many earnest men and women of the state are giving their full time and service without pay." The expenses are being defrayed at present by an anonymous gift of $500 contributed through the Iowa Conference of Social Workers.

The Izaak Walton League of Iowa has issued a statement designed, it wa ssaid, to clear up a misconception on the part of some sportsman, of the provisions of a sportsmen's licensing measure before the legislature. Some sportsmen, it was explained, had gained the impression the bill would apply to all fishermen and hunters, whereas it exempts from the licensing requirements all persons under 18 years of age, owners of farms upon which bodies of water are located, the farmers' children, their tenants and employes. The money derived from licenses would be used for restocking Iowa streams and lakes and the Izaak Walton League feels the measure should have the support of all sportsmen of the state, the statements says. The bill is being sponsored in the house of representatives by C. A. Knutson, of Clear Lake.

Both houses have plenty of work ahead of them on their calendars. The senate has thirty-five bills passed by the house either in committee or on the calendar. The house, likewise, has thirty-one senate bills to act on, in addition to its own. A motion is pending in the house to act on both odd and even numbered bills. Since the session started the house has been considering only the even numbered bills and waiting for the odd numbered bills to come from the senate where they have been acted on exclusively.

At the end of the eighth week of the special session practically two-thirds of the 211 code revision bills were in some stage of passage. One hundred thirty-five code revision bills have been passed by one house or another, indefinitely postponed, sent to Governor Kendall for his signature or are awaiting his signature. Only seventy-six bills have not been acted on in either house. The majority of them are on the verge of being reported by committees. Some committees have already completed their work.

New prison labor contracts, designed to bring the operation of prison industries more clearly within the limits of the state law on the subject, are being considered by the board of control, and probably will be submitted to the senate and house institutional committtees. The board, it is understood, plans to recommend to the committees that the new contracts supersede those now in effect at Anamosa and that the prison labor law be not materially changed by the special session of the legislature.

The house refused to concur in senate amendments to the bill relating to general powers of municipal corporations, and the matter must now go to a conference committee. Concurrence was voted, however, in the senate amendments to the supreme court bill. The amendments related principally to arguments before the supreme court and to the fees to be paid by applicants for admission to the bar from outside the state.

One of the longest of the code bills legislature—that relating to the state fair board and other agricultural organizations which receive state financial aid—was taken up in the house after two special orders were laid aside to permit the beginning of its consideration.

The Des Moines city council will ask the state legislature for special legislation permitting the city to use the city owned ground, north of Grand avenue, on the east bank of the Des Moines river, for a site for a new market house.

In addition to considering the code revision bills, both houses have passed four legalizing acts which have been signed by the governor and one which is ready for his signature. Five joint resolutions have been signed by the governor.

The dreary business of code revision, without any digressions into the field of new legislation has held the attention of both houses of the general assembly with the result that the house passed six bills and the senate three in one morning session none of which depart from the present law.

Is Winter Time Your Backache Time?

DOES every cold, chill or attack of grip leave you lame, achy and all worn out? Does your back throb and ache until it seems you just can't keep going another day? Do you know these troubles are often due to weakened kidneys?

Winter's colds and chills throw a heavy strain on the kidneys. The kidneys are apt to weaken and fall behind in filtering the blood. Poisons accumulate and upset blood and nerves.

Then comes constant backache, rheumatic pains, headache dizziness and kidney irregularities.

Don't wait! Delay is often serious. Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's have helped thousands. They are recommended by users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These Good Folks:

John Lampe, Third St., Bellevue, Iowa, says: "My kidneys got out of order and I had a lame and aching back. It pained me so I could hardly bend. My kidneys acted too freely and bothered me at night. Doan's Pills freed me from the backaches and regulated by kidneys."

Mrs. Mattie Baumann, Front St., Bellevue, Iowa, says: "I had severe backache and could hardly keep going. I became rundown and had nervous weak spells and headaches. My kidneys acted too often. Doan's Pills relieved me from all signs of kidney trouble. I feel better in every way."

Doan's Pills

Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

At all dealers, 60c a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chemists, Buffalo, N. Y.

Not in This Weather

English Teacher—John, have you done your outside reading?

Johnnie—No, ma'am, it's too cold.

GIRLS! HAIR GROWS THICK AND BEAUTIFUL

35-Cent "Danderine" Does Wonders for Lifeless, Neglected Hair.

A gleamy mass of luxuriant hair full of gloss, luster and life shortly follows a genuine toning up of neglected scalps with dependable "Danderine."

Falling hair, itching scalp and the dandruff is corrected immediately. Thin, dry, wispy or fading hair is quickly invigorated, taking on new strength, color and youthful beauty. "Danderine" is delightful on the hair; a refreshing, stimulating tonic—not sticky or greasy! Any drug store.—Advertisement.

Term "high brow" is applied to intellectual people, but people who are really intellectual can't be derided.

How Coal Mines Look

A coal mine has the appearance of a crushed centipede, says Nature Magazine. If the surface could be lifted off, as one cuts open an ant hill, the mine, with its main corridor and its lateral chambers would look not unlike a long bridge, with frequent supports, laid over on its side.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

Running a Boarding Cave

Officer Stonebat—You got awfully beat up. Some enemy do it?

Widow Bonechisel—No, suitors; I killed and dressed an aurochs and served my boarders with real porterhouse steaks. Then they all proposed to me at once.

Children Cry for "Castoria"

Especially Prepared for Infants and Children of All Ages

Mother! Fletcher's Castoria has been in use for over 30 years as a pleasant, harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups. Contains no narcotics. Proven directions are on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it. The kind you have always bought bears signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

SMITH BROTHERS

S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL (orange colored box)

Famous since 1847

SICK HEADACHE

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. They restore the organs to their proper functions and Headache and the causes of it pass away.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

THEY REGULATE THE BOWELS and PREVENT CONSTIPATION

Genuine bear signature— Brentfood Small Pill; Small Dose; Small Price

LLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

ume 2.—Number 14. Thursday, February 14, 1924.

WAITING

Means

LOSING

Suppose that the use of a certain implement next season would ou $100.

ow much will you lose by not ng that implement this spring?

You will lose One Hundred Dollars.

How much will the implement really cost you if you wait until next to buy it?

ll really cost you the market lus the one hundred dol- not having the imple- use in the coming season.

Waiting to buy such an implement would be just as poor economy as waiting until next year to put out a crop, in the hope of getting lower-priced seed.

Good implements are the best friends that a farmer can have. They profit-makers—not profit takar in and year out, good imple- enable you to make the best conditions as they come.

Don't go into the race for farming profits this year crippled by worn-out implements.

Get the full benefits of labor-saving, cost-reducing, crop-improving equipment, adequate to your needs.

You have the needs; we have the equipment.

LLt's get together and figure out how we can make your farming pay more.

MAD AT IT

Guess one of our big troubles is that too many farmers are "down on the farm."

But it's the turnover that counts. From the Marshfield (Mo.) Mail: "The average woman's vocabulary contains only 850 words."

Butchering Supplies

We carry a full line of everything the farmer needs for home butchering:—

BUTCHER KNIVES—are guaranteed, if not satisfied return them to us.
MEAT SAWS
MEAT CLEAVERS
STEAM COOKERS
MEAT GRINDERS
LARD PRESSES
HOG SCRAPERS
EMERY GRINDERS
KNIFE SHARPENERS, STEELS
And other supplies.

Our Ten Cent Counter has hundreds of useful articles for the kitchen and the house.

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

Double Your Money n a Safe, Sure Way

If in 1910 you had deposited $100 in a SAVINGS ACCOUNT at 5 % compound interest, you would have in 1924 the original $100 plus another $100 in interest!

That's how compound interest grows! You can put this magic force to work for you TODAY by opening a Savings Account at this strong, friendly bank.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'."

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Let the Times print your sale bill.

Miss Esther Jante spent Sunday at Garner.

Mrs. Ahrenkeil and son of Goodell were Klemme visitors Monday.

Ed. Jacobs and wife spent Sunday at Clear Lake visiting relatives.

Mrs. Watts was down from Garner Saturday between trains.

Mrs. LuVerne Smith went to Belmond Tuesday for a few days visit.

Fine Box Stationery and Pound Paper sold at the Times Print Shop.

John Woods left Tuesday with his car load of goods for Watkins, Ia., where he will farm the coming year.

Mrs. E. S. D. Kahrs was called to Nevada, Iowa, Saturday by the serious illness of her mother.

Mrs. Henrietta Wilkins and children of Garner, were visiting Klemme friends Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis drove to Sheffield Sunday for a visit with relatives.

Charlie Luick came home Monday from Clear Lake, to remain in Klemme for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Holmes from Belmond were shopping in Klemme Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Johnson entertained the A. D. Gimer family Sunday.

R. W. Elder came over from Mason City Sunday to spend the day with his family.

C. C. Tessier, of Garner, was doing some electrical work here yesterday.

Gus P. Baack is here from Sheboygan, Wisconsin, looking after business matters.

Tom Roths and wife are moving this week into the Mrs. Buseman house at the east end of Main St.

Coach Tregilgus drove to Algona Sunday. He was also at Belmond Saturday.

W. C. Keraus and C. F. Keraus drove to Garner Sunday for a short visit at the Joe Horecka home.

Mrs. J. P. Larsen came from Belmond Tuesday to remain until Friday for a visit at the Clarence Larsen home in this city.

Geraldine Smid returned Saturday from Belmond where she had been helping at the Chester Cullinan home.

E. S. D. Kahrs moved the remainder of his drug stock and fixtures to Ventura Saturday where he bought a drug store.

Ed. Jacobs and LuVerne Smith went to Des Moines Tuesday night. Ed. went to attend the hardware dealers convention.

Mrs. Adriant Bielefeld, of Goodell visited with Mrs. Will Kirkwood from Sunday until Tueday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Waterman and C. G. Waterman and family spent Sunday at the Chester Cullinan home at Belmond.

D. D. Ross, of Garner, was here the fore part of the week helping with the work on his farm near this place.

PIANO PLAYER for sale at a bargain. In A No. 1 condition, must be seen to be appreciated. Write Rev. W. A. Buell, Plymouth, Iowa. 1c

The farm sale season is about a thing of the past in this vicinity. Sumner Trumbell has a sale Monday; the list is published elsewhere in this issue.

ASLESMEN for lubricating oils and paints. Excellent opportunity. Salary or commission. Jed Oil And Paint Co., 3701 Burwell, Cleveland, Ohio. 1wp

We wonder who that couple was going down the street 2:00 a. m. Tuesday morning carrying a lantern? Must have been some radio night hawks.

Mr. and Mrs. Holly Lewis and baby son, of Mason City, came Tuesday for a visit at the Lew Lewis home and with other Klemme relatives and friends.

Paul Muller is back on the job at the creamery after a forced lay-off of three weeks during which he was sick. He stayed with his folks at Titonka during his illness.

John Woods and family are moving to Watkins, Iowa, this week. Miss Bertha Miller will accompany them to help them get settled in their new home. John accompanied the car, but Mrs. Woods and daughter, and Miss Miller leave at a later date.

Frank Oleson, of Hayfield, and a resident of the county for 37 years, is this week announcing his candidacy for the office of Clerk. Frank is well known, having served on the Board 2 terms, four years as president, which, now is five or six years ago and since that time he has been farming. Frank is well qualified for the office if elected.

Sumner Trumbell has received official instructions from the department at Washington, D. C. that he will begin to carry mail on route one, Klemme, Monday, February 25. Mr. C. W. Wiles has been the temporary mail carrier and has given excellent service and the rural route patrons praised his work. He had some very bad, cold weather and almost impassible roads to contend with this winter.

Chris Gram and "Stub" Lewis drove over to Mason City Tuesday to get a big radio outfit for Chris. "Stub" is the dealer for the big 6-tube Radiodyne machine which Chris bought. We were down to see the new outfit last night and of all the radios we have seen and heard the Radiodyne sure has them all outclassed, for clearness, selectivity and volume. Chris has an outfit to be proud of.

A step in the right direction we would say. The council took a paper around Monday to have the various business places sign up for the purchase of a 2½ gallon chemical fire extinguisher. Aobut 15 or 16 business places bought one; some of the other already having the large fire extinguishers. This will give a much better fire protection and we believe should have some effect on decreasing fire insurance rates. Now if th town will go ahead and buy a large chemical outfit for the new fire truck we will have good protection in case of fire. Not only should each business place have a small chemical outfit—each residence in the town and country should buy a chemical "gun" and the investment of a few dollars may mean a saving of hundreds of dollars should a fire break out in a home.

The 100th anniversary of the birth of Edward Corrin was given official recognition in the Methodist church in Cedar Falls, of which organization he is a member. The G. A. R. Post occupied reserved pews. Prayer was offered by Rev. F. X. Miller, the oldest minister in the Upper Iowa Conference. A special church bulletin was issued giving a brief sketch of the life of the venerable guest. Mr. Corrin has been a member of the Methodist church for 95 years, having been baptized into the faith when he was five years old.

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

February 14, 1924.

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN	.65
OATS	.40
BARLEY	.60
RYE	.60
HOGS	6.00—6.50
BUTTERFAT	.56
BUTTER (Creamery)	.56
EGGS	.27
HEAVY HENS	.16
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.15
LEGHORNS	.08
COCKS	.06
STAGS	.12
DUCKS	.12
GEESE	.08

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Arthur Anderson to Jens Anderson, Q C D date 2-1-24, E½ SE¼ & SW¼ SE¼ 12-97-25.....$1

A. H. Medlicott wf to C. H. Morris, W D. date 11-23-23, SE¼ block 4 Lattimores add to Britt...$2700.

Corwith Holding Co. to Peoples State Bank, Corwith, Q C D, date 4-28-22. A part of lots 1-2-3-4 blk. 4 Corwith $1

Corwith Holding Co. to Peoples State Bank, Corwith, Q C D, date 12-6-23. A part of lots 1-2-3-4 blk. 4 Corwith $1

Iowa Loan & Trust Co to Commercial Savings Bank of Des Moines, Ia. W D, date 2-5-24 lot 4 blk 36 Garner $1

Mary Schmidt to Alma Selek, W D date 2-7-24, lots 18-19 blk 47 Garner, also S½ of lot 1 blk. 3 West Side Garner, also 112 sq. rds. in SE¼ of SW¼ 30-96-23.....$1

E. P. Hanson, Sheriff, to Edwin A. Pinckney, sheriff's deed, date 2-8-24, N* SW¼ & NW¼ SE& also SW¼ NE¼ 5-97-24 ..$14,288.41.

E. T. Wesson to Rebecca Jane Wesson, W D, date 11-22-20, W* of lots 7-8 blk 44 Garner .....

E. P. Hanson, Sheriff, to Hanson, Trustee, Sheriff's deed 2-8-24, lots 7-8 blk 16 Garner .....

Mr. V. S. White, a young Britt starts his announcement issue of the Times as a candidate County Attorney. Mr. White qualified for the office and if will make a good official.

Tuesday must have been day" in Klemme for on the four dogs departed this earth happy hunting ground. Some down human evidently placed for the dogs as they died in manner at about the same ti

o o o o o o o o o o o
o DENTIST
o J. L. Hesselhuus, D. D.
o Office Hours 8-12 1-5
o Office Opposite State Sa
o Bank; In Schaffer Bldg
o Evening Work By Appoint
o Only
o Klemme, Ia. Phon
o o o o o o o o o o o

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

THE HOME OF GOOD EATS
CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGAR
MEALS and LUNCHES
Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It He
Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service
We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.
CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

You Men

Who Drive Cars--

No matter what you need—from the smallest repairing job to motor overhauling —bring your car to us.

If You Get Stuck On the Road

—phone for our tow car—we'll do the rest.

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Authorized Service
Auto Mechanics —All Work Guaranteed— General Blacksmithin

Are You Succeeding Financially?

No matter how good a bluff you may be putting up by keeping up appearances, you cannot delude yourself. YOU know whether or not you are succeeding.

You know that you must S-A-V-E in order to SUCCEED. You know whether you are reaching toward success, just standing still, or if you are slipping down. To be successful there must be not only saving but careful investing as well. A good bank like ours can and will help you to succeed. Your funds are safe in this bank and we will advise you in the matter of investments.

Your savings placed at 5 per cent interest here is a good investment.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

THE KLEMME TIMES

Twenty-eighth Year—Number 24. | Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, February 21, 1924 | $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

ACTIVITIES OF THE PAST WEEK IN THE SCHOOLS

DECLAMATORY CONTEST TONIGHT

New Beginner's Orchestra To Make First Debut

Tonight (Thursday) is a big event at the Klemme Auditorium. This is the Sub-District Triangular contest in which Ventura, Latimer and Klemme are competing. This contest is sure to be a good one as the best speakers from these three schools have been chosen to represent them in this contest. This is Klemme's first year to compete in this particular contest, but there is no reason why we should not be able to get one or two first places. Our speakers have had the benefit of over two months training for the contest.

Our Orchestra, which started a few weeks ago is to make their first debut tonight. How the orchestra will sound is a question as yet, but the chance are, if our reports are correct that they will do better than is expected by most. Under the capable instruction of Earl P. Tregilgus they have advanced rapidly.

Besides this there is to be more music; a solo by Mr. J. J. Poort and a duet by two prominent young ladies, the Misses Stille and Behringer. Be Sure to Attend. Come and BOOST for Your School, is the invitation we are extending to every one. But if you do not want to boost for your school, come anyway and listen to a real program.

We might also add that Mr. Neese has secured three xcllnt judges for his contest and are sure to judge with a fairnss and squarness for all concerned.

HAMROCKS TO GO TO COUNTY TOURNAMENT

Arrangements have all been completed and Coach Tregilgus's Shamrock's are to attend the county tournament. This tournament takes place each year, but this is the first time the Klemme School has entered a team. Coach Tregilgus and his team will probably leave for Britt, Friday morning, March 14 and return with their sorry tale the next evening. There are seven teams entered; Britt, Garner, Corwith, Crystal Lake, Klemme, Hayfield and Wanawha. We believe that Mr. Martin of Goldfield will officiate at the games.

Verner Stromer Absent

We have noted the absence of one of our Freshman the past two weeks Verner Stromer has not been with us for a long time and we are sorry that he has been required to be absent for this length of time. We hope to see you back again soon, Verner.

BASEBALL BOYS TO PRESENT MINSTREL SHOW

Parts Have Been Given out and Boys are Working Hard

Our baseball boys have been making preparation for a minstrel show, which is to be given around the first of March. Thye are practicing about an hour and a half each day. One hour will be taken up by the regular minstrel show and another hour by a real negro play. Making a full two hour program.

Mr. Tregilgus is coaching the boys and his previous experience in this line of work makes him an especially valuable coach. The proceeds, we understand go to the baseball fund.

If you attend no other school event in the whole year, be sure to attend this minstrel show. It is something just a little more different and funny than anything previously put on under the auspices of the Klemme High School. There are about twenty five boys taking part in the entertainment.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

The class in soils are now learning some simple chemical soil tests. The soil should be submitted to are the litmus paper tests for acid and the test for carbonates.

With due precaution, these tests may be used by any one, even tho not a trained chemist.

These tsts ar of particular importance, because upon the absence of acidity and the presence of limestone depend the sucessful growth of our valuable legumes such as clover and alfalfa.

The litmus test is best applied to the moist field soil before it is air dried.

Use a sensative grade of blue litmus paper, with a clean wooden knife or stick divide a lump of soil into two portions and insert the litmus paper, pressing the portions of soil against the paper. Allow the soil and paper to remain in contact for five or ten minutes. If the soil is acid, red spots will appear or an entire reddening of the paper will occur.

Precaution—Use a clean wooden knife in handling the soil and use a piece of wire for forceps i handling the litmus paper.

Never handle the soil or paper with the fingers, for the perspiration from theh and contains acid and this may color the paper and show acid and led to miss conception o the test.

The Carbonate Test

The presence of carbonates may be detected by the bubbling which follows treatment of soil with dilute hydrochloric acid, unless the quantity of carbonates present is very small, bubbling and evolution of carbon dioxide gas will occur. The soil should be moistened with distilled or pure rainwater first in order to drive out the air bubles.

The dilute acid used should consist of about one part of concentrated hydrochloric acid and five parts distilled or pure rainwater.

NEWS OF OUR TEACHERS

Thursday evening Mrs. Paul Griesmer entertained several members of the faculty. All enjoyed a pleasant evening playing Mah Jongg.

Miss Rone spent the week end at her home in Northwood.

Coach Tregilgus, much to the surprise of his many friends, spent the week end in Klemme this week. Usually he leaves bright and early Saturday morning and returns about 9.00 o'clock Monday morning. Sometimes he tells us that he goes to Nora Sprigs, but at other times he leaves us in the dark, keeping a "dear sweat silence.

NEWS OF THE GRADES

Mrs. Sampson viisted the 4th and 5th grades one day last week.

Donald Lemke also visited the 4th and 5th grades last week.

On Valentines Day the Primary Room had eight visitors.

Friday afternoon, Mrs. Neese and Mrs. Day visited school.

The second and third grades wrote their first original stories in Language Friday.

MATERIALS IN BODY WORTH 98 CENTS, CHEMIST DISCOVERS

The net material value of an average human being is 98 cents, according to analytical research made by D. C. A. Pierle, head of the West Texas Teachers' college at Canyon Texas.

Dr. Pierle has found that the body of a man weighing 150 pounds if divided into its component chemical elements would be found to contain enough water to wash a pair of blankets, enough iron to make a ten penny nail, lime sufficient to whitewash a small chicken coop and enough sulphur to kill the fleas on a good sized dog. All these elements, he estimated, could be purchased at a drug store for 98 cents.

Know Iowa

Although Iowa Ranks Sixteenth In Population And Twenty-third In Area of Land, She Raks:

In value of Corn, Oats, Horses, Hogs, Poultry	First
In value of Farm Lands and Buildings	First
In total value of Farm Products	First
In combined value of Live Stock	First
In total value of Farm Property	First
In percentage of Farm Land Improved	First

The farms of Hancock County are worth as much as all the farms of either Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Delaware, Rhode Island or Nevada.

The farms of two Iowa Counties (Plymouth and Sioux) are worth more than the combined value of all the farms in the states of New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

The farms of five Iowa counties (Sioux, Crawford, Shelby, Kossuth and Plymouth) exceed in value the farms of either Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, New Jersey, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Maryland or Florida.

The farms of ten Iowa counties (Cedar, Crawford, Hancock, Jasper, Kossuth, Marshall, Polk, Plymouth, Shelby and Sioux) exceed in value the farms in any one of the states of New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Mississippi, Arkansas, Colorado. Washington, Oregon or Montana.

The farms of the ten counties above are worth more than all the combined farms in the six states of Arizona, Florida, Maine, Maryland, New Jersey, and Nevada.

NEARLY one hundred years ago the Wabash valley was a land of uncommon romance, virile frontier types and vigorous action. The river itself was the seat of a prosperous pearl-fishing industry and to its shores came the hardy, reckless spirits of the time, very much akin to the adventurers who are always found where possibilities of sudden wealth exist.

In a previous story, "The Blue Moon," David Anderson penned the romance of the pearl fishers. In "The Red Lock" he has gone into another phase of the locality. The period is during the Forties and early Fifties, and the tale recounts a drama as stirring, as true to life and habitat as anything that has been written about any section of pioneer America.

Will Appear in Serial Installments in

The Times Beginning This Week

RESULT OF IOWA STATE COLLEGE DAIRY SHORT COURSE

A. D. GIMER ONE OF DIPLOMA WINNERS; ALSO CLOSE TO PRIZES

F. H. Harms of Oelwein won first place in the National Butter scoring contest held in connection with the Iowa State College annual dairy short course at Ames last week. His butter was scored 95 by the three judges, O. A. Storvick, Albetr Lea, Minn., Howard D. Reynolds, Mason City, and F. W. Stephenson of Oelwein. One hundred and five tubs of butter were entered in the contest from Iowa, Minnesota, Oregon, Wisconsin, Michigan, Kansas, Oklahoma Colorado and Canada. The fact that 100 of the tubs scored 90 or above indicates that all of the butter was of excellent quality. Second place went to John M. Hansen of Coulter, whose entry scored 94.75. Otto F. Weger of Strawberry Point was the third with a score of 94.50.

Medals and diplomas won in the 1923 Iowa Educational Butter Contest were awrded at the annual banquet held at the close of the short course February 15. Otto F. Weger of Strawberry Point was awarded the gold medal for an average of 94.34 for eight different sectional contests in which he entered. The silver medal was won by O. J. Kloock of Northfield with an average score of 94.15. A. H. Bentz of Maynard proved to be the third most consistent high scorer and was awarded the third prize on an average score of 94.06. Diplomas were awarded to 35 buttermakers who exhibited in at least eight contests during the year by 206 different buttermakers. The sectional meetings held in connection with the scoring at different points in the state were the means of arousing greater interest in dairying. The same plan will be continued in 1924.

In the butter judging contest held during the short course for visiting creamery men and regular six months dairy students at Iowa State College, D. W. Mehler of New Hampton, a six-months dairy student, won a gold watch and a gold meadl for scoring highest in the contest, and John Fosen of Randall was second, winning a silver medal. Placigs in the various contest follow:

Diploma Winners and Scorers

F. H. Harmes, Oelwein.....94.
A. D. Gimer, Klemme.....93.88
W. J. Spurbeck, Denver.....93.85
Ed. Andreason, Manly.....93.85
R. J. Allenstein, Bremer.....93.83 and so forth.

Mr. Gimer was also a winner in another division for buttermakers who made a score of 90 or over for the year.

The National Banner, won by the Iowa butter-makers is now at the Ames College. Mr. Gimer, who was one of the highest scorers in the National Contest will no doubt be presented with this banner for a a couple of weeks at an early date that he may put it on display, as it was voted to pass it around to the high men.

FRANK HANSON IS CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE

In this issue of the Times appears the announcement of Frank M. Hanson, of Garner, who is a candidate for representative from this county to the legislature.

Mr. Hanson is well known all over the county and has many friends in this vicinity. He has been a resident of the county for some thirty years, and when he first came to this county he was cashier of the State Savings Bank which is now the First National, which position he held for nearly three years and later going to Kanawha where he held a like position in what is now the First National there, and coming to Garner in 1905 to take the cashiership of the First Natioal, later being elected vice-president and then the president of the bank, which office he now holds. Besides being an experienced banker and business man he is also a largel and holder in this county, and so he is well qualified to serve both the interests of the farmer and the business man alike.

It is not often that a man of such ability can be had to run for a public office, as it means the sacifice of personal business matters to serve the people.

Mr. Hanson will make one of the best officials this county has ever had, giving due credit to past representatives.

BERHOW QUITS RACE FOR CO. SUPERVISOR

Withdraws From Race To Give The Other Kanawha Candidate A Better Chance To Win

STILL THREE CANDIDATES ON WEST SIDE

We clipped the following item of news from the Globe-Gazette and is from Kanawha:

KANAWHA, Feb. 16.— Kanawha had two candidates in the field seeking the nomination for supervisor of Hancock county, Thomas Berhow and W. H. Darrah, and realizing the outside candidate, F. J. Oxley of Corwith, would have a big advantage the local candidates hit upon the plan of one of them withdrawing, the matter to be decided by the Commercial Club. The club met Wednesday night, both candidates being present, and after hearing the details of the proposition put it to a vote of those present. The result of the ballot favored Darrah, 29 to 9, consequently Berhow will withdraw as agreed. Berhow has held the office for two terms, his present term expiring next January. This leaves Darrah and Oxley in the field from this part of the country an das both are well qualified and popular, political interest is running at a high pitch.

The above article will be of great interest to the readers of The Klemme Times and shows that politics are developing fast.

There are now four in the race for supervisor, viz., Darrah, of Kanawha; Oxley of Corwith; Meyer, of Britt; and H. L. Suckow, of Klemme. This arrangement in itself is rather interesting, as three of the four candidates are on the west side of the county, and one on the east side. We will let you guess as to the outcome.

CUMMINS IS 74; HAS BEEN LONG IN POLITICS

Went To Washington In 1908 To Fill Unexpired Term of Senator Allison

Albert B. Cummins, Iowa's senior United States senator celebrated his seventy-fourth birthday in Washington, last Friday.

Mr. Cummins was born in Carmichaels, Pa., in 1850 and has been a resident of Iowa since 1878. His record in congress, as governor of Iowa and in other offices has been cited by his friends as one of the outstanding features of Iowa's participation in affairs of state.

Since Mr. Cummins went to Washington in 1908 to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Allison, he has taken a prominent part in every matter of importance before congress, has reached the place of ninth senator in seniority and now is the president of the senate.

Mr. Cummins studied law in Chicago and was admitted to the bar in Illinois in 1875, practicing in Chicago for a few months before coming to Iowa. He became a prominent member of the bar in this state before entering politics in 1888, when he was first elected to the general assembly.

Twice before his election to the senate he had been defeated for that office, having been a candidate in 1894 and 1900. His last election was for the term ending in 1927.

In addition to these public offices, Mr. Cummins has devoted much of his time to republican party affairs in the state, serving as chairman of republican state conventions as far back as 1892 and 1896. He was a member of the republican national committee from 1896 to 1900 and was a delegate to four national conventions. He was elected for three terms as governor, the last time just prior to his selection as a United States senator.

TROOPS AGAIN SENT TO HERRIN

Klan and Anti-Klan Forces Shoot It Out—One Dead, One Wounded.

Marion, Ill.—The war in Williamson county flared up into new flames late Friday night. Klan and anti-klan forces are arrayed against each other in Herrin and threaten to shoot it out.

One man was killed, another is dying, and three have been kidnaped.

Five companies of state troops are on duty in Herrin to prevent more bloodshed.

It is the same old trouble which has been the beginning of many battles. Bootlegging is the cause or is being made the excuse for the raids and counter raids and pitched battles.

On the one side is the klan and its "dry" raiders, headed by S. Glenn Young. On the other is the sheriff of Williamson county and his deputies.

Each faction claims to have the law on its side. The sheriff says he will clean up the bootleggers if the klan will support him. The klan claims the county authorities are lax and that the klan's vigilance committee must enforce the law.

It was the activity of the klan raiders which caused the French government to file protest with the officials in Washington, asserting that the rights of French citizens in Williamson county were being violated.

The real cause of and the circumstances surrounding the night's battle are somewhat in doubt. These facts are known:

Constable Caesar Cagle, leader in the klan and a dry raider, was shot and killed.

Deputy John Layman was seriously wounded.

Three of Herrin's police force—Chief John Ford, Assistant Chief Grain and Patrolman Frank Stephens—have been spirited away. Klan leaders asserted they were kidnaped. The sheriff's forces say they were arrested and taken away for "safekeeping."

The roads were crowded as car after car filled with armed men rushed for Herrin. There were representatives of Marion, Johnston City, Carterville and Carbondale in Marion within a short time.

The first version of the affray was telephoned to Marion by Sheriff George Galligan of Williamson county.

The sheriff asserted that he was in a room at the Rome club in conference with Col. A. L. Culberson of the Illinois National Guard, who was sent to Herrin to prevent a threatened outbreak. With them was Deputy Sheriff John Layman.

Suddenly, the sheriff reported, three Herrin policemen broke into the room and opened fire. Laymen fell and the policemen rushed out. Cagle, the sheriff reported, was shot later in the street near the Jefferson hotel.

The klansmen assert that the trouble began with the killing of Constable Cagle. They allege that Cagle was attacked and shot dead by a mob headed by Deputy Sheriff John Layman and that, following that attack, the mob went to the Rome club; that the Herrin police received a riot call there, and that the shooting of Layman followed in that place.

Woman and Man Slain in Duel; 2 Others Shot

Opelousas, La.—A gun battle at Palmetto, a village near here, in which two women and two men participated, ended with the deaths of one woman and one man and the serious wounding of another woman and man.

Mrs. Roland W. Clark, fifty-six, was killed; her daughter, Wilda, eighteen, is suffering from one bullet wound, and Louis Meyer, thirty-one, merchant, died in a New Orleans hospital.

According to the version of the affair received here, the trouble was the outgrowth of a recent election for mayor at Palmetto in which Mrs. Clark was defeated by Meyer's candidate by one vote.

House G. O. P. Body for 1923 Tax Cut

Washington.—A 25 per cent reduction in all personal income taxes payable this year was approved on Tuesday by Republicans of the house ways and means committee. The Republicans completed consideration of the tax bill Tuesday.

Indict Woman, Five Men, for Oil Fraud in Texas

Los Angeles, Cal.—Indictments were returned here by a federal grand jury against Wyatt L. Nix, E. Guy King, Alice Gardner, Frank L. Gardner, James E. Chambers and Percy M. Raymond, charging them with using the mails to defraud.

Train Kills Six Boys.

Milwaukee, Wis.—Six boys were killed and another is dying as a result of a Northwestern train striking a truck at St. Francis. The boys were employed by the Milwaukee Journal and were returning from a party.

Would Protect Indians.

Washington. — Commissioner Burke of the Indian bureau on Friday afternoon recommended legislation to protect the five civilized tribes of Oklahoma from "wholesale mismanagement."

COL. A. A. SPRAGUE

Col. A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works of Chicago, has been selected by the Democratic state advisory committee as the Democratic nominee for United States senator.

SENATE ORDERS QUIZ OF NAVAL OIL LEASE

McAdoo Resigns From Company—Denby Defends Act.

Washington.—Without a dissenting vote, the senate voted its oil committee unlimited authority to follow through its investigation of the naval reserve leases.

In addition to voting full authority for the investigation, the senate authorized the committee to take steps to recover portions of the Elk Hills reserve leased to the Standard Oil company. These sections are near the property which was leased to Edward L. Doheny.

Senator James A. Reed of Missouri opened the discussion with a prepared address assailing Secretary Denby, Mr. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair.

The investigating committee decided to abandon its efforts to compel Albert B. Fall to testify after receiving an opinion from Silas Strawn and Atlee Pomerene, special prosecutors, that to force Fall to give testimony might give him immunity in future criminal proceedings.

On the eve of action on the Robinson resolution expressing the sense of the senate that President Coolidge should ask for the immediate resignation of Secretary of Navy Denby, Mr. Denby made public a telegram sent to Roy D. Chapin of Detroit, in which he defends his part in the leasing of the naval oil reserves to private parties. He justifies his approval of the leases by reports and statements made to him by governmental and other experts that the oil lands were being drained.

President Signs Bill to Cancel Oil Leases

Washington.—While the senate continued to debate the resolution calling for the removal of Secretary of the Navy Denby, the naval oil lease scandal developed still more ramifications on Friday. The principal developments were:

President Coolidge signed the Walsh resolution directing the institution of proceedings to nullify the Doheny and Sinclair leases.

The nomination of Silas Strawn of Chicago and Atlee Pomerene of Ohio to be special oil prosecutors were sent by President Coolidge to the senate and referred to the public lands committee (conducting the present investigation).

The investigation committee heard the testimony of Frederick G. Bonfils, part owner of the Denver Post, who said he and his partners received $250,000 from Harry F. Sinclair in settlement of claims they held on the Teapot Dome reserve.

John C. Shaffer of Chicago, publisher of the Chicago Evening Post, the Rocky Mountain News of Denver and other newspapers, was subpoenaed to appear as a witness in connection with facts disclosed by Bonfils' testimony.

Chief Justice Taft Ill; to Take Complete Rest

Washington.—Chief Justice Taft, by direction of his physician, Dr. Thomas A. Clayton, has canceled all engagements for the immediate future and entered upon a period of complete rest. This course was determined upon after the chief justice had suffered an attack of indigestion. Although the attack is yielding to treatment he followed his physician's instructions and went to bed. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge is confined in his home with a bad throat.

Anderson Must Go to Prison.

New York.—William H. Anderson must go to Sing Sing prison for from one to two years for forging the books of the New York Anti-Saloon league, of which he is superintendent, unless his conviction is reversed.

MacDonald Opposes Pension.

London.—Prime Minister MacDonald declared that he opposes the pension for former prime ministers. He suggested that after leaving office they all should go back to "porridge and plainness."

FINAL TERMS OF TAX BILL VOTED

Reduction Measure Is Ordered Favorably Reported to the House.

Washington.—The federal tax reduction bill was started on its way to passage or defeat.

By a strictly partisan vote the ways and means committee ordered the bill favorably reported to the house, the fifteen Republican members voting for it, three Democrats voting against it, and the other eight Democrats voting "present."

Debate on the tax bill is expected to continue for two or three weeks.

The bill, as approved by the ways and means committee, is satisfactory to Secretary Mellon, although some changes have been made in the original treasury draft.

The principal changes made by the committee in the original treasury bill are the following:

The bill contains a provision by Chairman Green for reduction of 25 per cent in the tax payable in 1924 on the income of 1923.

The definition of earned income is changed to provide that at least $5,000 of the income of a taxpayer shall be considered to be earned, and that in no case shall the earned net income of a taxpayer be considered to be in excess of $20,000.

The secretary of the treasury recommended the repeal of the tax on telegraph and telephone messages, and the tax upon admissions. The ways and means committee approved the repeal of the tax on telegraph and telephone messages, but only partially repeal the tax on admissions, and instead repealed or reduced a considerable number of miscellaneous excise taxes.

Changes made in the committee bill from the provision of existing law are enumerated in the following summary prepared for the ways and means committee by treasury experts:

The normal tax on the first $4,000 of net income is reduced from 4 per cent to 3 per cent, and upon the remainder of the net income from 8 to 6 per cent.

The surtax rates are reduced so as to begin from $10,000 to $12,000; an additional 1 per cent is added for each $2,000 of net income up to $36,000; 1 per cent additional is added for the next $4,000 of net income up to $40,000, and then 1 per cent additional is added for each $6,000 of net income up to a maximum of 25 per cent at $100,000 and over.

The tax on earned income is reduced by 25 per cent of the amount of the tax attributable to the earned income.

The tax on telephone and telegraph messages is repealed.

The tax imposed upon admissions by Title VIII is changed to apply only to admissions in excess of 50 cents.

The tax imposed upon candy, knives, dirks, livery and hunting garments and yachts by paragraphs (6), (8), (9), (13) and (14) of section 900 of Title IX is repealed.

The tax imposed upon carpets, trunks, valises, purses, lighting fixtures and fans by section 904 of Title IX is repealed.

The tax imposed upon jewelry by section 905 of Title IX is changed so as not to apply to articles sold for less than $40 nor watches sold for less than $60.

The tax imposed upon proprietors of theaters, circuses and other public exhibitions by paragraphs (5), (6) and (7) of section 1000 is repealed and the tax imposed upon proprietors of bowling alleys and billiard rooms by paragraph (8) is cut in half.

The tax imposed upon sales of produce by paragraph (4) of schedule A of Title IX (stamp taxes) is reduced from two cents to one cent.

Woodrow Wilson Had $20,000 of Insurance

New York.—Woodrow Wilson carried $20,000 worth of life insurance. He had two $10,000 policies in the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York. One was issued when he was thirty-seven and a professor at Princeton. The other was taken out in 1899, six years later, his secondary occupation then being given as lawyer and lecturer.

$2,500,000 Mail Theft Suspect Held After Fight

Chicago.—Walter Barnes, several times a convict, once for the murder of his mother-in-law, was arrested in Gary, Ind., in connection with the Union station $2,500,000 mail robbery. The arrest of Barnes was accomplished only after he had attempted to kill the postal inspectors, Robert D. Mundelle and D. J. Purcell.

Tax Bill Loses In House.

Washington.—Congress will not during the present session propose for ratification by the states a constitutional amendment prohibiting the future issuance of tax exempt securities.

Chief Justice Taft Recovers.

Washington.—Chief Justice William H. Taft has recovered from his recent attack of indigestion and was at his desk in his home on Friday attending to correspondence that accumulated during his illness.

FRANK FARRINGTON

Frank Farrington, Illinois chief of the United Mine Workers who, at the Indianapolis convention, was made chairman of the scale committee. His selection for this position is expected to go toward healing the breach in the ranks of the miners.

U. S. GOVERNMENT MARKET REPORT

Washington.—For the week ending Feb. 7.—LIVE STOCK—Chicago prices: Hogs, $7.45 for the top and $7.15@7.40 for the bulk. Medium and good beef steers, $7.85@11.00; butcher cows and heifers, $3.65@10.75; feeder steers, $4.50@8.00; light and medium weight veal calves, $9.50@12.50. Fat lambs, $12.75@14.75; feeding lambs, $11.75@13.75; yearlings, $9.75@12.75; fat ewes, $5.50@8.90.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—New York round white potatoes, $1.75@1.90 sacked per 100 lbs., $1.35@1.45 f. o. b.; northern sacked round whites, $1.40@1.60. Yellow onions, $2.25@2.65 per 100 lbs. Danish type cabbage, $25.00@40.00 bulk per ton. New York Baldwin apples, $4.00@4.50 per bbl.; northwestern extra fancy winesaps, $1.90@2.25 per box.

GRAIN—No. 2 hard winter wheat, $1.11½@1.11¾ Chicago, $1.13 St. Louis, $1.09@1.21 Kansas City; No. 2 red wheat, $1.18@1.22 St. Louis, $1.14@1.15 Kansas City; No. 2 yellow corn, 82½c Chicago; No. 3 yellow corn, 79@83c St. Louis, 74c Kansas City; No. 3 white oats, 49@49½c Chicago, 49¼c Kansas City.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $23.50 Cincinnati, $26.50 Chicago, $19.50 Minneapolis, $25.50 St. Louis, $20.50 Kansas City; No. 1 alfalfa, $24.75 Kansas City, $28.50 Minneapolis; No. 1 prairie, $14.75 Kansas City, $16.00 Minneapolis, $19.50 St. Louis.

Incomplete on account of wire trouble.

Actress Found Slain in New York Hotel

New York.—Miss Louise Lawson, a young music student from Texas, was found murdered in her luxuriously furnished apartment she occupied alone in a hotel at 22 West Seventy-first street, a step from Central Park West. She had been bound hand and foot and then left to suffocate.

Some time between eight and nine o'clock in the morning two men had trussed up the girl, ransacked the flat, and escaped with some of her jewels.

Miss Lawson, who was twenty-five years old and the daughter of a grocer in Walnut Springs, Tex., was a member of the party that ended last September at Greenwich, Conn., in the drowning of Angier B. Duke, heir to the $5,000,000 estate of Benjamin B. Duke. Ostensibly a student of the piano, Miss Lawson was the friend of many wealthy men, had a big car at her disposal, and spent every weekend at country parties. She had taken small parts in movies.

Gets $1,282,492,909 for Surplus War Material

Washington.—The federal liquidation board is bringing to a close the most colossal selling effort in history. There have been liquidated to date surplus materials and property valued at $3,691,002,762 for which $1,282,492,909 has been received. There have been transferred between federal agencies supplies valued at $357,614,823. Road-making materials of an estimated value of $195,870,144 have been transferred to the Department of Agriculture for use by various states.

Gould Estate Defendant in $200,000,000 Suit

New York.—Executors of the estate of the late George J. Gould on Wednesday were ordered brought into the courts of New York state as defendants in the $200,000,000 suit of stockholders of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad against the former directors of the road.

Mrs. Wilson Will Stay in Seclusion at Capital

Washington.—It is learned that Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the late war president, has no plans or intention to leave Washington following the death of her husband. She will remain in seclusion in the Wilson home at 2340 S street.

To Make Monticello Home of Great.

Richmond.—A plan is on foot to allow great men of the country to live at Monticello for a certain time each year. The plan is being promoted by the Thomas Jefferson Memorial foundation.

January Postal Income Higher.

Washington.—Postal receipts showed an increase of 4.40 per cent in January over the corresponding month of 1923, in 50 leading cities. The receipts in the 50 cities during the month totaled $26,030,837.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

What the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

Iowa's consumption of prescription liquor increased in 1923 by 6,186 gallons, which represented 49,488 prescriptions, Supt. J. P. McNaught of the Anti-Saloon league declared in making public figures from the federal government to support his contntion for enactment by the general assembly of a provision which would stop issuance of the filling of liquor prescriptions by licensed druggists. A bill which takes away the present right of such stores to fill whisky prescriptions has been in committee in the general assembly.

Uniform marking signs for primary roads was adopted in a senate bill and the absent voter law changed to give more leeway to men in military service away from home, extending the time for reception of their ballots and allowing the county auditor to mail applications and ballots, together to applicants when the time of election is near. Free tuition at Ames was abolished by senate vote and the House eliminated the critic-teacher system in vogue at College and the House eliminated the vote.

There is a possibility that the special session may so change the present laws with reference to the state colleges that tuition will be required at all the state schools. The high cost of education is a perplexing problem for the legislature, the state board of education and all concerned. A movement in the Fortieth general assembly to work out some tuition plan failed to result in any legislation of this nature. It is possible it may be put through at this session.

Eugenics legislation cleared the first hurdle in the Iowa legislature when the senate, by a vote of 31 to 13, adopted the Gilchrist-Holdoegel amendment to the code revision bill on marriage and incest requiring male applicants for marriage licenses to present to the district court clerk a physician's certificate, executed within ten days preceding the application, stating that there is no reason to believe the applicant has any venereal disease.

The provision of the law permiting county attorneys to collect fees in certain cases in which they appear, which was stricken from the statutes at the last regular session, was reinstated by an amendment adopted by the senate to code bill Number 264. The fee provision carried after defeat of an amendment which would have made payment of the fees retroactive of the date they were abolished. A publication clause was attached to the bill.

Bills passed by the Senate: State university and bacteriological laboratory. Iowa State college. Medical and surgical care of indigent persons. Compensation of county attorney. Municipal corporations-libraries. Municipal corporations. Canvass of Iowa geological survey. State highway commission. Township road system. Removal from office. Superior courts. Adoption, master and apprentice. Municipal corporations—hospitals.

Bills passed by the House: Relating to estrays and trespassing animals. Relating to corporate stock. Relating to nomination of judges. Relating to elections expenses of candidates. Relating to bonds. Relating to animal husbandry. Relating to the eradication of bovine tuberculosis. Sorporate stock. County superintendent of schools. Municipal corporations—street railways. Board of railroad commissioners.

The Browne resolution, calling for the appointment of a committee of seven senators to investigate the state insurance department and report to the senate in thirty days, was troduced in the senate and may be brought up at any time during the special session. The only change in the resolution from the draft Senator Browne made is the change in time for making the report from fifteen days to thirty days after the adop-

The farm bloc, educational bloc, the famous "nicotine" bloc and other blocs for which the Iowa House of Representatives is noted, voted to yield their time in the session to Rep. Gallagher, the undisputed "Socrates" of the assembly in order that he might deliver the anniversary address on the ground hog. On paging the representative however, it was learned that he was absent.

Senator Buser lost his fight against the $15,000 standing appropriation for the bacteriological laboratory at Iowa Ctiy when the upper house voted to continue it.

The senate record on bills is as follows: Passed senate only, 28; withdrawn, (because house had passed same bill) 44; signed by Governor Kendall, 23; on the calendar, 7; in committee, 93; passed by both senate and house, 6; indefinitely postponed, 2; in conference committee, 5; killed, 3.

The house record on bills is as follows: Passed house only, 35; withdrawn, 39; on calendar, 13; in committee, 84; passed by senate and house, 39; indefinitely postponed, 1; killed, 1.

An amendment to the pools and trust law will be introduced by Representative O. A. Ontjes of Grundy county when the bill comes up for consideration in the lower hous of the Iowa legislature, providing that city and town councils may buy and sell oil and fuel when the prices of those commodities have been raised unfairly.

Both the House and the S paid their tribute to the late row Wilson by adjourning for day upon hearing of his death following resolutions were p "Whereas we have heard with found sorrow of the death in W ton, D. C., of our beloved former ident, Woodrow Wilson. Be solved that the house, the s concurring, give expression of heartfelt appreciation for his id ability, his devoted service a bility of character and that, passing, America and the world lost a most faithful public serv unusual ability and fidelity and who has sacrificed his health and en his life for the ideal that la est to his heart—the permanent of the world. Be is further re that the house do now adjourn respect to the memory of our d ed and beloved former president 9:30 Tuesday."

The Anamosa reformatory overcrowded that about 100 pri are sleeping on cots in corridors a new cell house must be e within the next year, State S Hale, of Jones county, declared lowing an investigation he ma conditions at the institution. senator, along with members of board of control, hopes that th tension required may be financ the prison industries and be this will be possible unless the lature unexpectedly decides on son labor policy that would d the state of from $8,000 to $ a month now received from source. The experience of the with the industries, has convinc ficials and lawmakers that all son industries should be so con that they will contribute to their maintenance and if possible enough revenue to make the in tions self-supporting if possible Hale said.

Last year 102,544 prescription one pint of liquor for medicina poses were issued in Iowa by cians and presumably filled by macists holding federal permits cording to the records of the Moines office of the federal pro tion enforcement department. prescriptions called for the disp tion of 12,818 gallons of be whisky. Ninety-three permits issued during 1923. These re are in the hands of the house senate committees on suppress intemperance of the Iowa legisl These committees are considerin amendment to the state law gi ing permits to sell intoxicating li which, if adopted, would forbid issuance of permits in the future

The State Teachers Associa echoes the sentiment of the p of wola when it says that much can be and should be eliminate the enactment of budget legisla The time is ripe for such actio has already been too long del It is the only hope for a reducti taxes, so urgently needed. The ent legislature has it within its er to grant this demand by pass budget law. It is a respons which the legislators cannot or shift. Words and promises w longer suffice. The people wi be satisfied with anything els performance.

An amendment to the state bill relating to hunting and f licenses has been offered by R sentative Hauge of Polk county posing to make Nov. 1st to open season for pheasants. Hauge amendment would giv state game warden the right tablish given districts where sants were plentiful in which th season would apply. In territo designated the season would closed. The fishing and hunti cense act has been made a order.

Immediately following the ad of the eugenics section of the riage law which came at the four solid hours of debate of termined character the senate the amnded bill by a vote of 15 and laid it on the table. Th sure, which has gained the tion of being the most debated the special session, was termed advocates the most far-reaching of legislation in thirty years expected to put marriage on a moral plane.

Former State Representative B. Weaver, of Des Moines, is p the child welfare appropriati quested by Governor Kendall special communication to the bly a few weeks ago. The nor asked for $5,000 to carry work. Representative Weaver there is great need in this st some agenucy to look after lings, children born out of w and orphans sent out here from states for adoption.

The senate had passed 111 bill the house 108, including bills ating in each house. The senat passed 72 of its own bills and house 74 of its own. Of the 74 bills passed by the house and saged to the senate, the senat passed 39. Of the 72 senate passed by the senate and messa the house, the house had passe

Uniform marking of Iowa's pr road system was authorized by Iowa Senate. Citing 363 deaths auto accidents, 70 of them at ra crossings in Iowa during 1923, a total of over 9000 accidents r ing in 10,822 persons being i during the same time, Senator R ins insisted upon Iowa's need of marked roads. His amend adopted by the senate was f amended so that primary road ready well marked will retain present signs, the state uniform er to be substituted when the are in need of replacement.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

Ralph Kimball has bought the John Brix eighty-acre farm near Atlantic for $275 an acre cash.

Twenty-four boys and girls have joined baby beef clubs, breaking the Audubon county record.

There will be an auction of $220,000 worth of Indian lands at Winnebago reservation February 28th.

The Knights of Pythias of Des Moines are planning the erection of a $200,000 building within the next year.

At a recent stockholders' meeting of the Tipton County Cooperative Creamery company, a dividend of 5 per cent was declared.

The vaccination school held at Macedonia was attended by thirty-five to forty-five farmers and twenty-nine took the examination the last afternoon.

The sixth annual short course for electric metermen will be held at the Iowa State College at Ames, March 10th to 14th. Plans now under way call for a more extensive treatment of the subject than has ever been attempted in previous years.

Announcement is made that the State Association of Music Teachrs will hold its annual meeting in Des Moines April 3rd, 4th and 5th in connection with the meeting of the central division, State Teachers' association.

Clay county is committed to sugar beet raising ,the produce to be shipped to a factory at Belmond. At a meeting by representatives of the Belmond factory several farmers promised to raise tracts of from twenty to thirty acres each.

Another step in the white way 7 highway program of a paved road from Davenport to Des Moines, was made when the Durant Community club announced that a petition for paving this road through Muscatine county would soon be circulated.

Critics of art, painting and architectural design have said that the most beautiful piece of ceiling design in the Iowa state capitol building is that of the ceiling in the office of the secretary of state, which, incidentally, is the smallest decorated ceiling in the capitol building.

Polk county supervisors have let the contract for paving primary road No. 7 east of Des Moines, to the Wright Construction company, for approximately $160,000. The road connects with Hubbell boulevard at the northeast cornr of the city limits and extends two miles beyond Altoona.

Anamosa is a Sac Indian word, referring to an Indian woman, and its literal meaning has reference to a young fox whose eyes are still unopened. Records indicate that it was a term of endearment applied to Indian women in general, and perhaps to the wife of a prominent Iowa chieftain specifically.

A bulletin of the Iowa State Teachers' Association calls attention to the great demand for trained teachers. In spite of th fact that large numbers of young men and women in colleges and normal schools are preparing for the teaching profession, there is still a distressing shortage of instructors who can qualify under approved standards.

The Eagle Grove Shipping association at its annual meeting reported shipping 177 carloads of stock in 1923 as follows: One hundred twenty-three cars of hogs amounting to $123,027.72; fifty two cars of cattle, $76,065.49; two decks of sheep, $1,956.22. In all 8,702 head of stock brought in $206,049.43. Of the 7,164 head of hogs shipped there were only seven dead and ten cripples.

There were 362 cows in twenty-nine herds tested in Fayette association No. 1, and seventeen produced more than fifty pounds of butterfat. B. A. Stohr had the high cow, 1,776 pounds of milk, and 62.9 pounds of butterfat. J. and T. L. Hanson had the high herd, twenty cows averaging 1,217 pounds of milk and 40 pounds of butterfat. The average of all cows was 795 pounds of milk and 27.5 pounds of butterfat.

Approximately 5,000 cows were under test in Iowa the past year, the greater number of them in the northeastern part of the state where dairying is becoming a bib business. The average butterfat production for the year per cow for the cows under test was 254 pounds. For all the cows in the state the average production of butterfat for the year is estimated at 140 pounds. If all the cows in Iowa had averaged as high as the average of the 5,000 cows under test the increased revenue to the farmers of the state would have been $42,000,000, reckoning butterfat at 42 cents a pound.

Greene county farmers, organizing a branch of the corn growers' association, passed resolutions denouncing those who condemn farm legislation as class in view of the fact that railroads, manufacturers and others receive benefits from legislation.

The current campus population at the University of Iowa is 5,500, or 250 more than for the corresponding period of last year, and the attendance of the entire year, not counting duplicates, probably will be about 7,250, as against 6,837 last year, a gain of 5 or 6 per cent.

Where Aviators Will Start to Fly Around World

Airplane view of Clover field at Santa Monica, Cal., which has been selected as the starting place for the round-the-world flight of army aviators; and at the left, Lieut. C. C. Moseley, commander of the field.

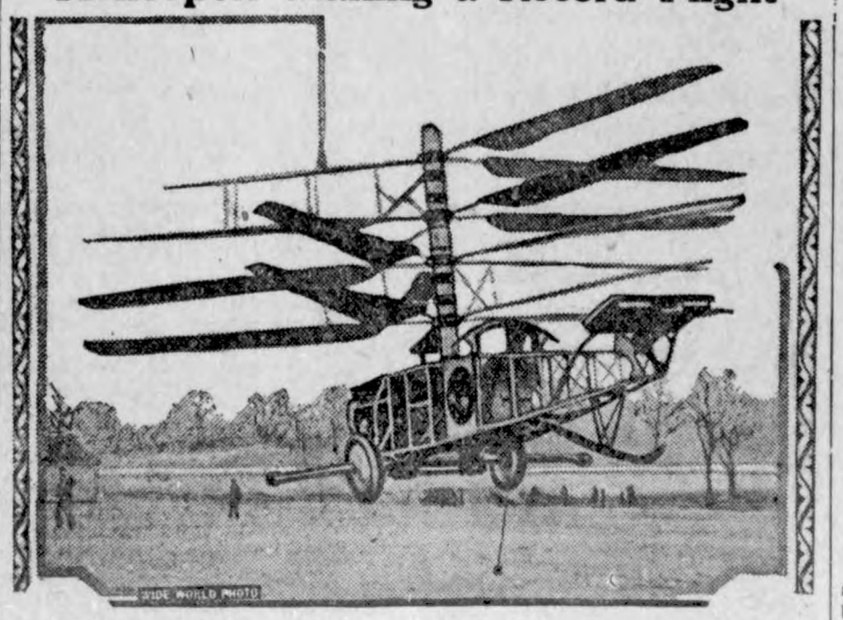
Gave All Their Clothing to Disabled Veterans

Forty-six members of the Inglewood Lions' Club of Los Angeles had a lot of explaining to do when they returned to their homes, as above, clad only in rough barrels and California sunshine. As a result of a speech made by their president, Bruce Dixon, at their weekly luncheon, they gave everything they wore to the disabled war veterans at the California hut. Enough clothing and valuables were collected to supply the needs of one hundred veterans.

Griffis Returns From German Jail

Lieut. Corliss Hooven Griffis, the American who recently was released from the Mosbach jail in Germany, where he was serving twenty-one months for attempting to kidnap Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the slacker, photographed on his arrival at New York. With him are seen two of the four American Legion men who acted as his bodyguard on the trip across the ocean.

Helicopter Making a Record Flight



Pescara's helicopter, driven by the inventor, photographed during its flight at Issy, near Paris, when it remained in the air eight minutes and thirteen seconds, making a world record.

WINNER OF BOK PRIZE

Charles Herbert Levermore of New York, student of international relations, writer, and former college professor, was announced as the winner of the $100,000 prize offered by Edward W. Bok for the best plan to preserve peace among the nations of the world.

FITS IN MOTHER'S CUP

"Peek-a-boo' says "California Grey" as he peaks out of the silver cup won by "Queen Petrova," his mother, at a recent rabbit show. The bunnies are the property of Mrs. J. M. Sherman of Los Angeles.

FILM SERVICE GETS GENEROUS APPROVAL

Motion picture producers who have been making pictures that would appeal to the "thirteen-year-old" intelligence of the average motion picture audience are begining to discover that motion picture goers are interested in something besides flappers, custard pies, and triangles, according to Earle A. Meyer, director of the American Legion Film service.

Meyer believes that the producer is blamable for the accepted "thirteen-year-old" intelligence of the "movie" audience and that the producer to a certain degree can control the class of his audience by the type of picture he produces.

Earle A. Meyer.

Two years ago the American Legion began a campaign for cleaner and more truly American films. The campaign has been conducted by the Legion's film service under the direction of Meyer. As a part of the campaign the Legion has produced several pictures for exhibition in theaters throughout the country under the auspices of the 11,000 local Legion posts. These pictures have been educational, historical and entertaining, and the enthusiasm with which they have been received, according to Meyer, is evidence a plenty that the people of America want more wholesome films.

What Soldiers Will Do With U. S. Bonus

"What the soldiers will do with this bonus after they get it seems to be an idle question. Will they spend it carelessly buying expensive automobiles? Five hundred thousand questionnaires have been sent out asking the men if they prefer money, farms, homes or insurance rights. The answers show that two-thirds of the veterans asked for farms, homes or insurance rights. If the Legion men were big enough to fight for the United States, they are big enough to do what is right."

This was the answer of National Vice Commander William B. Healey of the American Legion to charges that moneys received from adjusted compensation would be wasted. His statement was made before women's clubs at Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Says American Legion Becomes Civic Asset

Oscar G. Hoose, retiring commander of Illinois' largest post of the American Legion in Bloomington, said that the American Legion may safely be said to have become a civic asset.

"Its purposes and its accomplishments have won for it an enviable position in the eyes of the community," he said. "Its policy of fair dealing, its willingness to co-operate, its determination to be of service in countless ways, have established for it a position from which it must not recede."

Must Not Use Flag to Cover Back of Canine

The American flag is never to be used as a covering for a dog, at least not in Birmingham, Ala.

John Morald, a "globe trotter" and his dog passed through Birmingham recently on their way to New Orleans. Around the dog's back Morald had wrapped the Stars and Stripes.

An American Legion post official saw the dog and soon after Morald was in police court explaining. After a night in jail he was released with a promise to the judge that he would not again use the flag in this manner.

Scholarships for Veterans

A scholarship for former World war service men has been established at the Lincoln Memorial university, Cumberland Gap, Tennessee, by the Lincoln post of the American Legion in Washington. This scholarship, representing an endowment of $1,200 is expressly provided for the many thousands of uneducated people of the Appalachian mountain range, who by reason of distances have enjoyed few educational advantages.

Fund to Go to Post

A special fund of $4,000, raised by the Douglas County (Kansas) Red Cross during the war will be turned over to the Douglas Legion post, according to an announcement by Red Cross officials. The fund was raised to help dependent families of service men, but since the end of the war it has not been needed.

WRIGLEY'S

after every meal

Cleanses mouth and teeth and aids digestion.

Relieves that over-eaten feeling and acid mouth.

Its l-a-s-t-i-n-g flavor satisfies the craving for sweets.

Wrigley's is double value in the benefit and pleasure it provides.

Sealed in its Purity Package.

The flavor lasts

To make a good cup of cocoa use

THE COCOA OF HIGH QUALITY

MANUFACTURED by the most scientific, up-to-date mechanical processes (no chemicals), it is absolutely pure and has a most delicious flavor and aroma.

Made only by

Walter Baker & Co. Ltd.

Established 1780

Mills at Dorchester, Mass. and Montreal, Canada

BOOKLET OF CHOICE RECIPES SENT FREE

What is "useful" work? Merely the kind that feeds, clothes and houses the human body?

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup." A teaspoonful never fails to clean the liver and bowels.

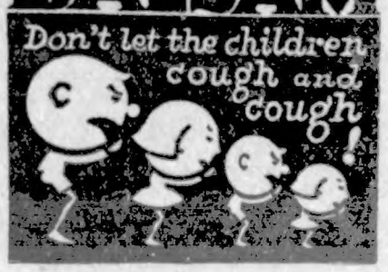
Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

There's nothing like making good resolutions—if you have the backbone to live up to them.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

KEMP'S BALSAM



BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SCOUT SAVES WOMAN'S LIFE

The first uses Mrs. M. E. Graves of Jamaica, Long Island, made of her injured right hand as soon as it was sufficiently healed to serve her, was to write her appreciation of a boy scout who, through his prompt first aid, had saved her from bleeding to death.

Mrs. Graves on the morning of the accident, while engaging in preserving fruit, came across a broken jar, which she threw into the ash can. Some time later as the fruit peelings piled upon the kitchen table, Mrs. Graves gathered them up and hastened to dispose of them. With her thoughts intent upon her work, and forgetful of the broken jar, Mrs. Graves plunged her hands into the ash can. Her right hand struck the jagged glass which inflicted three cuts, and severed the artery.

Horrified at the stream of blood which came from the wounds, Mrs. Graves ran to the telephone to call a doctor. In her effort to make the call, she became weakened from loss of blood, and staggered to the door to look for other assistance.

At that moment Scout Michael Salucka in passing the house noticed the injured woman and ran to help her. Quickly the boy seized a clothespin which he espied on the back yard clothes lines, and with the wooden pin and a handkerchief improvised a tourniquet.

"The handkerchief he put right around the arm," states Mrs. Graves, "and twisted the stick which he held in place until the doctor arrived an hour later. I was immediately taken to Jamaica hospital and kept over night. There is no doubt that the boy scout's knowledge of first aid and his use of it saved my life, for which I am very grateful. I am now able to use the right hand to give him all appreciation for his timely aid."

IN SCOUT AMBULANCE UNIT

Members of Boy Scout Red Cross Ambulance Unit Number 1 of Syracuse, N. Y., demonstrating a "carry" used in first-aid work. The unit receives special training in first-aid and places its services at the disposal of the community. Nine of the members have been cited by the American Red Cross for heroism and outstanding work at the Barnstable fire in that city.

LEAGUE ENDORSES SCOUTING

That august ally of peace and symbol of the brotherhood of man, the League of Nations, has placed on record through a recent resolution its appreciation of the benefit of the younger generation of the great scout program.

The league assembly emphasized in its resolution the importance of encouraging contact between the younger generations of different nationalities; and asked that conveniences of travel be accorded groups of students of the higher and secondary educational institutions.

It further declared that the boy scout and girl scout movements promoting closer understanding among the youth of all nations, are rendering valuable services to the cause of world peace

"It should not be forgotten," said the resolution, "that the thoughts and feelings of the younger generation are an important element in forming the conscience of humanity, a pure and healthy element, free from prejudice, rancor, and memories poisoned by hatred, an element of enthusiasm and generous sentiments."

BOY SCOUTS AID "VETS"

On Rough and Ready island near Stockton, Cal., there is a vocational training school for disabled soldiers, in one branch of which the art of shoemaking is taught. The scouts of Stockton know that their friends, the "vets," who are practicing cobbling, need shoes to work upon and to use as samples. For this reason the boys recently carried on an old-shoe drive. They called at homes which had worn shoes to dispose of, and later took the shoes to the future shoemakers.

That's Different

By MORRIS SCHULTZ

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

"THAT fellow?" Lizzie, the blonde manicurist in the hotel, tossed her head scornfully. "I wouldn't go out with him if he was to cover me with diamonds."

"You got a swell chance, Lizzie," responded the telephone girl. "No diamonds growing on him."

"Well, I should say not. Say, Amy, if he asks me again I'm going out with him, just for the fun of it. That's five times he's asked me now; every time he stays here."

"He sure is stuck on you, Lizzie," Amy answered. "He looks kinder cheap to me, though."

"Cheap? I guess it'd take a pair of dentist's pincers to extract anything from him."

Lizzie was a favorite with all the traveling men who stayed at the hotel. In fact she was famous all along the route. She was a jolly companion, in fact possessed all the qualities that traveling men require in their dinner companions, which are presumably only known to traveling men.

Both girls looked after the subject of this conversation as he lingered uncertainly in the lobby of the hotel. His name was Amos Smith, and he traveled in hosiery, and he certainly did not look like the sort of man a girl would want to go out with.

He was five feet six, with a tiny mustache, a sharp face, sleek, plastered hair and a worried, nervous expression. His hands were knobby and and his feet were large.

He approached Lizzie with an ingratiating smile. "Morning, Miss Lizzie," he said blandishingly. "Now would you—wouldn't you—would you come out to dinner with me tonight?"

The little runt did have an engaging smile; Lizzie had to admit that as she looked at him.

"Would I, wouldn't I?" she retorted. "Why—well, I don't see why I shouldn't, Mr. Smith."

She had to drop her head at once to hide the smile that came over Mr. Smith's face. It was a smile of happy simplicity—utter simplicity.

"Well, I guess I'll have to be getting back below to the finger-parlor, Amy," she said. "Sure, Mr. Smith, I'll be ready at six o'clock, if that will suit you."

She turned to Amy as he went away. "Say, I'm going to make him take me to Rusterman's," she said.

"Well, I guess so, Lizzie, and a show afterward," answered the telephone girl. "Make him pay up good; it's only right when he takes a swell girl like you out."

Despite the scorn that Amy poured upon little Smith, she saw with a sort of wistfulness Lizzie, attired in all her war paint, meet Mr. Smith that evening in the lobby. Amos Smith certainly looked queer, and yet—there was something about him . . . he almost looked a gentleman. And all at once Amy found herself beginning to like Lizzie's escort.

"Treat him nice, Lizzie," she whispered to her friend.

"You bet," said Lizzie. "I'll make him give me a swell time."

Amy noticed how carefully Mr. Smith held the door open for Lizzie. "Gee, I guess she's been overlooking something," she said.

She was on duty late—very late that night. It was nearly half-past twelve when finally Mr. Smith and Lizzie appeared. Very ardently he saw her to the desk—she had a room in the hotel. He raised his hat and took his leave.

"My, what a little gentleman!" said Amy. "Well, dear, what sort of time did you have?"

"Oh, middling," said Lizzie, looking down.

"Did he take you to Rusterman's?"

"What, him? No, sir, he took me to a dairy lunchroom."

Amy gasped. "Well, of all the mean sneaks!" she exclaimed. "I wouldn't have gone. And a show afterward?"

"Oh, sure! We went to the movies."

"Say, how much do you reckon the evening cost him?"

"Oh, maybe two plunks," said Lizzie.

Amy gasped again. "Say, what's the matter?" she demanded. "You don't act natural."

"Why, Amy, he—he asked me to marry him soon as we got outside and so—why, you don't suppose I'd let him throw away his money on swell joints and shows when he's saving up to buy furniture, do you?"

Doe Stirred Up Town.

A doe, lost in Willimantic, Conn., was chased by a dog into the Y. M. C. A. building. It broke the thick glass in the door and bounded into the vestibule, overturning furniture and scaring a visiting minister. It bounded upstairs and into the directors' room, from which it leaped through a window to the yard ten feet below. It then crossed the railroad tracks, and after swimming the Willimantic river, disappeared.

Stewed Geese.

A flock of geese on a farmhouse near Vevey recently drank copiously of some cordial. They immediately started a riot. The farmer fearing they were poisoned, plucked their feathers, which he hoped to sell, and then threw the fowl in a barnhouse. The next morning he was surprised to see the geese come sheepishly out of the barn, still a bit wabbly, but otherwise no different from a human being on the morning after.

Political Announcements

COUNTY RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election to the office of Recorder of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Clarissa Abel. *

COUNTY SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Supervisor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—Thos. Berhow. *

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican Primary to be held in June, 1924.—H. C. Meyer. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to a decision of the republican voters at the primary election in June, 1924. I solicit your support on a platform of strict economy, fair and impartial treatment.—Wallace Darrah. *

I hreeby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock Contuy, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the Primaries to be held in June, 1924.—H. L. Suckow, Klemme, Ia.*

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—John Suurballe. (J-10)

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—H. A. Sweigard. *

COUNTY AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of County Auditor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters of the June, 1924 Primary.—J. D. Madison. *

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Verne C. Grau. J-17)

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock County, Iowa, subject to the decision of the republican primaries to be held in June 1924. I solicit the support of all voters, both men and women.—V. S. White.

COUNTY SHERIFF

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the republican primaries to be held in June 1924.—Howard Hanson, Crystal Lake. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate on the Republican ticket for Sheriff of Hancock County at the June primaries. Pledging tht same service that I have previously given while in public office.—Peck Hanson.

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock Coutny, subject to the decision of the voters at the primary in June.—W. C. Zeismer.

COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—J. C. Hanson, Garner, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination of Clerk of Courts of Hancock County subject to a decision of the voters at the June 1924 Primaries.—Chris J. Johansen, Britt, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, and solicit your support at the June Primary election, 1924.—F. P. Oleson. F-14

FOR STATE SENATOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for State Senator from this 43rd district of Iowa comprising Cerro Gordo, Franklin and Hancock counties, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 primaries. If nominated and elected I agree to abide by the precedent established in this district and will not be a candidate for a second term.—C. F. JOHNSTON. Sheffield, Iowa. Feb. 1st, 1924.

COUNTY REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Representative from the 86th district., subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1924, Primaries.—Frank M. Hanson, Garner, Iowa.

PUBLIC AUCTION

As I am going to move to Minnesota, I will sell the following described property to the highest bidder, at the Church farm located 2½ miles south of Klemme; and ½ mi. east and 4 miles north of Goodell, on—

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 26

At 11 o'clock. Free lunch at 12.

7—Head of Horses—7

Black mare 8 yrs old, wt 1400.
Black gelding 5 yrs old wt 1500.
Bay mare 7 yrs old wt 1200.
Mule, 1 yr old.
Pair black ponies, 6 and 7 yr old, wt 700 each.
Spotted pony stallion 10 yrs old, wt. 425.

18—Head of Cattle—18

10 head of Angus heifers, 2 yr old
4 head Angus heifers, 1 yr old.
3 head Angus steers, 1 yr old.

40—Head of Hogs—40

5 old sows, wt 350 lbs.
25 shoats, wt. 150 lbs.
10 fall pigs.

Farm Machinery

Manure spreader; Keystone hay loader; 6-shovel corn plow; set of pony harness; set driving harenss; 1 stack corn fodder; 150 shocks of corn; 5 tons tame hay; 20 bushels of potatoes; house-hold goods and other articles.

TERMS—usual terms, 10 months time at 8% on approved notes.

G. A. RICHARDSON, Prop.

Col. B. A. Reemstma, Auctioneer.
First National Bank, Klemme, Clerk

Fancy Round and Boxed Stationery for sale at the Times Office. A high class correspondence paper at a reasonable price. adv

TYPEWRITER RIBBONS
All Makes

Typewriter Ribbons for sale at the Times Office, all of the Standard makes. Ribbons 75 cents each.

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Office opposite from Hotel Klemme
Phone No. 19
Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

Heinz "57"

Just to remind you again that there is none better than "HEINZ 57" varieties.

"Brighten-up" your meals by using one or more of the following Heinz 57 on the table each day—the result will please you:

HEINZ 57 PICKLES, both sweet and dill—we have them in bulk.
HEINZ 57 KETCHUP—very fine.
HEINZ 57 MUSTARD.
HEINZ 57 CHILI SAUCE
HEINZ 57 WORCHESTER SAUCE
HEINZ 57 BEEF STEAK SAUCE

S-P-E-C-I-A-L—We have Sauer Kraut now in bulk. Come in and get your supply today. This is very nice Kraut.

J. P. Larsen & Sons
The Klemme Meat Market

N-O-W Is The Time!

Now is the time to think about Spirng and what ought to be done before field work starts.

FIRST—How is the Brood Sow's pen? It it clean, well ventilated and does it have plenty of sunlight? If not make it so.

SECOND—Is your barn, especially the Milking Room ventilated properly? T. B. in most cases comes from poor ventilation, a good ventilation sysetm will fix this. We have a SIDE-WALL VENTILATING WINDOW that will do a lot to help venitlate the barn properly and at a SMALL COST.

We have a complete stock of Ventilators on hand—figure and buy now—you will save by doing so.

DRAIN TILE

5 inch TILE	$43.80
6 inch TILE	$54.50
8 inch TILE	$84.50
10 inch TILE	$156.00
12 inch TILE	$199.20

ORDER YOUR TILE NOW AND HAVE THEM BEFORE THE ROADS OPEN UP.

POSTS—We have a good supply of Post, 3 inch, 4 inch and 5 inch posts with some good8—10—12 foot corners.

AMERICAN WOVEN WIRE from 41 cents up. Have some that is cheaper.

RED TOP STEEL POST (the guaranteed post) from 42 cents up. We also have a painted post just as good.

BUILDING BLOCKS and TILE—we have a good stock of Building Blocks and Tile on hand now.

VENTILATORS and SUNSHINE WINDOWS to meet the need.
SLATE ROOFING and Heavy ASPHALT SHINGLES—the kind that won't catch afire.

Everything to build with or repair. OUR FREE PLAN SERVICE will hlep you.

Northern Lumber Co.
Building Materials of All Kinds

Michigan All-year Radio

—Long Distance, Exceptional Volume, Pure Musical Tone, Easy Operation—Guaranteed Satisfaction. 2-stage $57.00, with Loud Speaker $87.00, complete installed. This model is selling fast at Belmond and Kanawha.

I can order you one out of 14 different makes and save you some money, if I don't carry one in stock you want.

Prices from $35.00 up. Ask for demonstration.

KARL KRAUS

—Wireman—

Michigan Radio Dealer Klemme, Iowa.

Short Talks

BY

Uncle John

No. 6

Well, I got through putting down the figures the Manager gave me, and I found that the Dam will furnish enough power to run all the machinery and lights in a city of 25,00 people, which he said was equal to, "Let's see, "Yes, that's right," 3,500 kilowatt hours.

He also said, that it had taken nearly 8,000 barrels of cement; over a mile of crushed rock, a yard wide; and over 3½ miles of dirt, a yard wied; and about 200 tons of steel reinforcing to build the Dam, and the Power House foundation, and that they had to drive the best part of 4 miles of piling. Sounded like building a city, B' Gosh.'

Then, not satisfied with giving all these figures, the Manager said that about three_fourths of a section of land, not counting the river bed, was overflowed with water by the Dam. And as this had to be bought, I begun to see why it cots 'like blazes' to build one of these Dams.

After writing the figures in my book, so I'd remember them, the Manager said, "Well, long as you are here, you better look over the whole thing," so he showed me the big steel gates set in the Dam, that they raise to let the water out when they don't happen to need it for the Turbines. These gates are raised or lowered by electricity, excepting one that is worked by hand.

Then, I took a look at the Fish-Way, which is at one end of the Dam, and wa put there so fjsh could get up the River. Then we went in the Power House, and saw the big generators, which you remember I said were 800 Horsepower apiece. There was also the same kind of marble board that I saw at the Steam Plant, and on it what looked like the same kind of intruments they had at the other Power House.

Then, I saw the Wheel-Race, which is the passage through which the water pours down through the Turbines. It was also explained to me just how the heft of the water made the wheels turn the generators, and in that way make the Electricity. There was also transformrs, and so forth, just as at the Steam Power House, and from these ran wires that the Manager said, were connected with those running from the other plant.

He also said that this Dam and Power House would cost nearly $400,000 before it was ready for business.

It don't surprise me nome now, that the Electric Company is always asking the Customers to invest and I'm pretty nearly convinced I'd ought to do it myself.

Well, next week I will tell you about some other things I found out.

Court House News

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS AND DISTRICT COURT NEWS

Transfers

U. S. to Ezra R. Butler, Patent to W½ NW¼ 24_95-23.

New Cases

Britt Lumber Co. vs. M. J. Kelly Estate. Mechanics lien for $59.50 on W½ 29, S* S¼ 20 & S 2 acre SE¼ 20-95-25.

Dr. Denny vs. Hugh Rice and wife. Transcript of judgement from Britt Twp. for $41.50 and costs.

Mechanics Savings Bank vs. B. H. Gish. Transcript of judgement from Hamilton County for $8,383.22 and cost.

J. Yepson & Sons vs Henry Groh, Jr. et al. Plff. asks judgement on account for $191.09

Britt Motor Co. vs. Louie Schleuger, et al. Plff. asks judgement for $529.16.

State Sav. Bk. Woden vs. Ben Morse & Horace Murr. Plff. asks injunction restraining defts. from disposing of crops etc on NW¼ 9-97_26.

State Sav. Bk. Woden vs. Ross Morgan et al. Plff. asks judgment on note for $60.00.

Ramsay & Blackstone vs. Louis F. Dow Co. Plff. asks judgment for $128.50 on account of services and for attachment.

Agnes E. Carton vs. C. H. Morris. Plff. asks judgment for $100.00.

D. E. Keat vs. Hancock County et al. Plff. asks that certain taxes be cancelled.

Paul Havelick vs. C. R. I. & P. Ry. Co. Plff. asks damages on account of fire for $373.05.

Mrs. Ed. Rhodes vs. O. D. Church. Plff. asks judgment on account of slander for $5,000.00.

First Nat. Bk. Garner vs. Geo. P. Newman et al. Plff. asks judgment on notes for $2,664.89.

Minneapolis Bedding Co. vs C. J. Lewis. Plff. asks judgment on account for $265.16.

Farmers Nat. Bk. Crystal Lake vs. M. P. L. Juhl. Plff. asks judgment on notes for $2,148.81.

C. P. Juhl vs Farmers Nat. Bk Crystal Lake. Plff. asks judgment for$1,206.80.

Mary E. Donahue vs. C. C. Wiltse et al. Plff. asks judgment for $2,-842.13 & foreclosure of mtg. on lots 11-12 & S 6 ft. lot 10 blk 4 Andersons Add. Britt.

Andrew Wilson vs. Mrs. Andrew Wilson. Plff. asks that he be divorced from deft.

C. P. Lewis vs. Anton Jacobson et al. Plff. asks judgment on account for $201.73.

P. J. Elsmo & Co. vs Henry Weizel Sr. & Jr. Plff. asks judgment on note for $310.00 and attachment.

J. Yepsen & Sons vs. Augusta Johnson. Plff. asks judgment on note for $401.03.

PETIT AND GRAND JURY

Petjt Jury For March Term Of Court

L. N. Thompson, Britt,	Orthel
Chris Jacobson, Britt	Orthel
Mable Schreck, Hayfield,	Mad'sn
Joe Logan, Forest C'y.	Madison
Ed. Clappsaddle, Wesley,	Orthel
J. A. Gergman, Goodell	Avery
Kay Jensen, Woden	Bingham
Theo. Fredrickson, Woden.	B'ham
Alfred Schlei, Garner	Liberty
Peter Gilbert, Garner	Concord
H. H. Ollenburg, Garner	Concord
Ed. Jante, Garner	Garfield
Carrie Brede, Garner	Concord
Fred Knudsen, Kanawha	Ams'dm
L. S. Poor, Kanawha	Amsterdam
F. C. Dominy, Goodell	Amsterd'm
Wm. Goodrich, Kanawha	Ams'dm
John Oleson, Corwith	Magor
Mae Page, Corwith	Magor
L. S. Anderson, Corwith	Magor
Chas. J. Perkins, Corwith.	Cor. Pct
Grace Hinshaw, Corwith	Magor
John Sheahan, Corwith	Magor
Oscar Erickson, Britt	Britt
Rose Ormsby, Britt	Britt
Alzo Blank, Britt	Erin
J. F. Lorenz, Brjtt	Britt
Martin Friedow, Britt	Orthel
M. J. Whitsell, Klemme	Ell
Adolf Orthel, Woden	Bingham

Grand Jury For The Year Of 1924

Sam Hanson, Britt	Crystal
John Loebig, Wesley	Boone
J. W. McCollock, Kanawha	Twin Lk.
Wm. Kauptley, Wesley	Orthel
Tom Harrigan, Corwith	Magor
R. R. Lemke, Garner	Liberty
W. G. Green, Forest City	Mad'sn
John Bock, Klemme	Ell
Henry Carr, Garner	Concord
Oscar Gunderson, Kanawha	Amst.
Louis Groth, Forest City	Ellington
R. S. Kent, Britt	Britt

News of Goodell And Vicinty

E. P. Hood and family moved to Belmond Thursday.

Mrs. Frank Clark was a Mason City caller Friday.

Miss Dorothy O'Krug is reported as being quite ill with measles.

Maude Griggs spent the week end at the Cook and Sherwood homes.

Jay Griggs made a business trip to Ventura and Clear Lake Mondy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ness went to Story City to visit their son and family.

Gus O'Krueg returned from Chicago where he had bee nwith several cars of stock.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Houghton of Kanawha spent Friday night at the Houghton home herei.

Mrs. Gus. Wenzel, of Belmond, spent the latter part of the week with her mother, Mrs. Chase.

Mardel Kensitt, of Belmond, came Thursday to spend the week end with her parents.

Mrs. J. E. Savogue and Frae Alice Reed returned from their Chicago visit last Friday.

Earl Finn, of Belmond, spent Saturday and Sunday at the Lew Wilson home east of town.

The North Avery Progressive club had their all day meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sherwood, Friday.

Miss Viola Hood and Mrs. Adrjen Beilifield entertained their many friends with a dance in the hall Friday evening. A large crowd was present and all report a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Walt Mason returned from Cedar Rapids where they were called by the serious illness of their daughter, Louise, who is in the hospital with a case of measles. She is reported much better now.

Farm Bureau Program

There will be a Farm Bureau program at Ell Center School House on Thursday, February 28. Everybody invjted.

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Kahrs' Drug Store Phone 4009

Klemme, Iowa

Will Close

March 1st.

This Company will close the offering of 7% Gold Notes carrying Conversion Privilege, on March 1st, 1924, and will accept orders until and including that date for the $10,000 of Gold Notes now available, and as this small amount of Notes will be quickly taken, we reserve the right of filling orders for a less amount than asked for.

The price is $100 for $100 Notes, and these Notes will be issued in amounts of $100 or multiples and to become due in from One Year to Five Years.

The value of the Conversion Privilege requires us to limit the amount of these Gold Notes to be held by Investors.

See our Manager, at Iowa Falls, Garner, Belmond, and Armstrong, for full particulars, or address Securities Department

Iowa Falls Electric Co.

215 South Second St. Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Buy Your Ford Now

WITH spring almost here thousands of families, anticipating the demand that is certain to exist for Ford Cars and Trucks are placing their orders for immediate delivery.

Sales now are far ahead of sales at this time last year. Advance orders calling for delivery under the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan have already reached a total of 255,758 Cars and Trucks.

The prospect of securing prompt delivery is daily becoming more uncertain. We cannot urge too strongly, therefore, the necessity for placing your order immediately, if you are planning to drive a Ford Car this spring.

See the nearest Authorized Ford Dealer

Ford Motor Company

Detroit, Michigan

It is not necessary to pay for your car in full in order to secure delivery. You can get on the preferred list for early delivery by making a small payment down. Or, if you wish, you can arrange for delivery under the terms of the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

KILLIAN'S New York Resident Buyers' SALE

KILLIAN'S

Great Sixth Annual

New York Resident Buyer's Sale

Begins Thursday, Feb. 21st and Runs Through Saturday, March 1st

Not a Clearance Sale But!

Mid Summer Prices on New Spring Merchandise

Every Dollar's Worth of Merchandise in the Store is Included in This Sale wtih the Exception of a Very Few Items on Which the Manufacturer Regulates the Prices.

A sale to make new friends and to strengthen old friendships, a sale made possible only through our affiliation with one of the largest buying organizations in the world. An organization which buys for many of the largest stores in the United States. Remember the dates, and attend Northern Iowa's greatest sale at least one or two days. Never before, have we offered such values.

Louis Killian Company

MASON CITY'S SHOPPING CENTER

Nasal Catarrh is a Dirty, Filthy Disease

That continual dripping of catarrhal mucus from the head down into the stomach finally poisons the whole body, a condition known as systemic catarrh.

For more than fifty years Pe-ru-na has held an enviable record for results in the treatment of all Catarrhal conditions.

Sold Everywhere

Tablets or Liquid

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER COMPOUND

Horses and Mules

can be kept on their feet and working if owners give "SPOHN'S" for Distemper, Influenza, Shipping Fever, Coughs and Colds. Cheapest and surest means of escaping these diseases. Occasional doses work wonders. Give "SPOHN'S" for Dog Distemper. Used for thirty years. 60 cents and $1.20 at drug stores.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO. GOSHEN, IND. U.S.A.

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP

Allays irritation, soothes and heals throat and lung inflammation. The constant irritation of a cough keeps the delicate mucus membrane of the throat and lungs in a congested condition, which BOSCHEE'S SYRUP gently and quickly heals. For this reason it has been a favorite household remedy for colds, coughs, bronchitis and especially for lung troubles in millions of homes all over the world for the last fifty-seven years, enabling the patient to obtain a good night's rest, free from coughing with easy expectoration in the morning. You can buy BOSCHEE'S SYRUP wherever medicines are sold.

Cuticura Soap The Velvet Touch For the Skin

Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c.

Happy

See the great soprano. She is passing the evening alone. Is she lonely? Not at all.

She is gazing at her own photograph while listening to some of her records on the graphophone.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mrs. A. Van Arnam

Davenport, Iowa.—"I wish I could tell to all the world how much I owe to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I was nearing middle life when my last child came and my health was miserable, I had continuous pain in my right side. I took nine bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and can truly say that I suffered the least that time and my health afterwards was better than it had ever been before. While passing through the critical time of life I depended solely upon 'Favorite Prescription' to keep me well and strong and it did not fail me. I had none of the distressing symptoms most women have at this period, such as heat flashes and dizzy spells. I came through in excellent health and am still just as strong and well as I was thirty years ago, thanks to this best of medicines, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. Alice Van Arnam, 1705 W. Fourth St.

Your health is most important to you. Why not write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free, confidential, medical advice or send 10c for trial pkg. of Favorite Prescription Tablets.

Couldn't Say

"Astounding cheek, hasn't he?"

"Don't know, darling. Didn't dance with him."—Judge.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

The Red Lock

A Tale of the Flatwoods

By DAVID ANDERSON

Author of "The Blue Moon"

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

THE BOUND BOY

Three generations ago life on the banks of the Wabash was the life of the frontier—of the backwoods—of the outposts of civilization. Life there was simple—and strenuous. Men were strong and the primitive emotions swayed them. And this is a tale of the days of our grandfathers and of those conditions.

David Anderson, a native of this region, knows it as few do. His "Blue Moon," which told of the pearl fishers, was a great success. "The Red Lock" takes up a time a little later—when the pearl fishers were giving place to permanent settlers. It is a tale of the Flatwoods.

Yes; we have no canal construction in this story. The red lock is a lock of hair recurring in the generations of the Colins—an inheritance from a pirate ancestor who even in those days was regarded as an undesirable citizen. And this red lock played the mischief with any Colin so adorned.

So we have Ken Colin, who mysteriously disappeared, red lock and all; Texie, his pretty and loyal sister; Big Jack—bound boy who loves Texie, and various red-blooded pioneer people who are involved in the results of the reappearance of the red lock.

Nature lovers and woodsmen will find much here to interest them. For the author is close to nature's heart and his pages show his relationship. And Big Jack is an adept in woodcraft, with an efficient eye for an enemy's trail and the quickness of the wild animal life of the Flatwoods.

CHAPTER I

—1—

The Bound Boy.

A girl came out of the back yard of a red-roofed cottage at the up-stream edge of Buckeye, passed around a rather tastefully built barn, with its flanking cribs and pens, crossed the fallow pasture lot in a corner of which it stood, climbed the fence and picked her way up the face of the cliffs that roughly walled the village on three sides, until she stood at last among the jagged and broken pinnacles at the top of Black rock, a lighter speck against the gray green background of the Flatwoods.

Away beyond the bend where the placid Wabash lost itself among the hills the sun crawled toward the rim of the West. Pendant above the distant timber line its round splendor, burnished bright by the wonder of May, turned a lingering glance at the serene world.

But the girl was not watching the sunset. The splendor of the widespread landscape at her feet was lost on her.

Crawling out from under the sunset, halving the village and winding away up the river between cliff and bottom, ran the River road, the one slim artery that connected Buckeye with the great world outside the Flatwoods.

The girl's eyes were on the road. Far up the river—twenty miles of gravel and gray sand—it led to the city. On clear days she had sometimes made out the hazy whiteness of its roofs and spires—the gateway of another world—a world that the errant fancies of girlhood peopled with many a wonder.

Seven years ago to a day she had stood there and watched the Milford stage carry her brother away to the end of that road—through the dimspired gateway and out into the great world beyond. The East—it swallows up many a man of the West. It had swallowed her brother up. It never gave him back.

Seven Years Ago Today She Stood There and Watched the Milford Stage Carry Her Brother Away to the End of the Road.

The eyes, grown pensive, turned slowly to the upstanding pinnacle of sandstone, polished smooth by a thousand winds, alive in the bronze glow that struck up from the distant riffle. Three names had been rudely carved there, one above the other, so long ago that storm and frost had begun to obliterate them.

The girl picked up a piece of ragged shale and with a sharp corner scraped clean each knife stroke, till the three names stood out clear as the day they were first carved there:

KEN
TEXIE
JACK

She dropped the piece of shale; thoughtfully passed her fingers over the names and glanced down at the foot of the upstanding pinnacle. In a sheltered pocket of the great rock, where only the tempered rays of the sun could strike it, lay a tiny bed of leaf mold set with clumps of yellow orchids not yet abloom—"lady slippers," in the quaint and expressive vernacular of the Wabash country—that had doubtless been transplanted from the deep woods.

The girl stooped above the tiny flower bed—a friendly spot in its setting of stern rocks; plucked away an obtrusive weed or two; let her sobered eyes stray back to the red-roofed cottage, across a small orchard that lay spread at her feet, and out over the rather pretentious farmstead to which the orchard belonged.

Pretentious—just that; a promise of comfort and affluence never fulfilled. There was every evidence that the farmstead had been laid out on a scale much more elaborate than was usual in the Flatwoods, but nothing had been finished—an attempt that failed; a dream that never came true.

Outlined among the weeds and encroaching brambles lay the extensive foundation of the farmhouse, but it had been carried little beyond the foundation. A few sills—huge squared logs, cut and hewed in the upland woods—had been laid. Of the few timbers of the superstructure, some had fallen entirely, others had fallen at one end and hung straining, while even the firmest canted far out of plumb.

Back of this creaking skeleton of time-blackened timbers, and nearer the cliff, stood a mite of a log cabin, rudely constructed, where doubtless a man had housed while dreaming his unfinished dream of house and barns and happy homestead. Rooted beside the door and almost completely covering the cabin, a crimson rambler of many years' growth—a far wanderer that no surroundings can degrade—offered a fragrant suggestion that a woman had shared the dreams of the man.

Three horses grazed in the barn lot down near a big elm that stood at the road gate; some geese squatted along the diminutive rivulet leading from the spring; out in the feed lot lolled a bunch of cattle, fine and thrifty as could have been seen the length of the Wabash.

The eyes of the girl suddenly waked from brooding; darted to a point a short distance up the cliff; livened. The slouch hat and drab corduroy hunting blouse of a tall young woodsman with an immense spread of shoulder had flitted past a break in the bushes as he sprang down the steep and rugged path that picked its way among the rocks from the uplands. She was just in time to see him reach up, put his hand on the top rail of the fence and vault over into the barn lot. The girl missed a breath. Few men in the Flatwoods could have made that leap.

Down by the big elm at the road gate one of the horses, a powerful gelding, glossy black save for one white lock in his foretop, raised his head; came trotting up the lot. The big woodsman put his arm about the arched neck; laid his face against the glossy mane and stroked the soft nose.

"Good ol' Graylock!" he muttered—"bound 'r free, t' you a man's a man—"

A shadow subdued the bold frankness of his face, as a chance cloud draws across a fair field; he gazed hard at the wind-staggered skeleton of the unfinished farmhouse.

His roving eye, following the glow of approaching sunset, found the girl upon the rock, her pliant body softly outlined against the silver-green background of the woods.

"Texie—w'y—!"

In another moment he was racing up the cliff. The girl was waiting for him by the upstanding pinnacle of sandstone, a half sadness in her eyes that gradually subdued the eagerness in his. He laid his big hand on her shoulder; slid it down her arm and gathered her fingers in his great palm. There was not even a twitch of response. He dropped the fingers, backed away a step and stood studying her.

"Jack—? Do y'u know what day this is?"

He puzzled to find the answer she doubtless had in mind; finally ventured the only one he could think of.

"Tuesday, May 10th, 1849."

She flared around at him. "You know that ain't what I mean."

The girl pointed to the carved names on the monolith of sandstone. He followed the motion; stepped past her and ran his hand over the three names, lingering an instant over the middle one.

"Pore Ken—" he muttered, "—he could 'a' be'n anything he wanted to, a'most."

The girl's eyes flinched and turned back to the dim frayed end of the road; the man stood silent.

"Seven years ago t'day," she mused, "you and me stood up here on Black rock and watched the Milford stage haul 'im away off yonder to the city, and out in the big world t' college, and then we—cut them names—"

She paused. He seemed to feel that an answer was expected of him, but made none.

"Two years we got letters—wonderful ones at first. I 'low you ain't f'rgot how we use' t' come up here—you and me—and read 'em." She spoke more to herself than to him. "Then the letters got fewer and farther b'tween, till fin'ly they got s' trifiin' ther' wasn't no satisfaction in gittin' 'em.

"Then, y'u know, that terrible one come from the president of the college, tellin' how awful—Ken was carryin' on, and advisin' father t' take 'im home. But he never come, and a little while afterwards the president writ another letter, tellin' how Ken had—killed a man and run away from school, leavin' all them debts. That was five years ago—and the last we ever hear'd—"

And What Word Could Alter the Stern Fact That He Was a Bounty Boy—Bound Out to Her Own Father.

* * * * * * *

It is curious and interesting how some of the greatest names of the Anglo-Saxon race have lodged, like river drift, along the byways and waterways of what was once the great American woods.

Ken, Texie, Jack—the first two Colins; the third a Warhope—names that have been spread wide on English history. And of the two ancient families, probably no purer strain existed than the far-flung thread that had found lodgment here in this out-of-the-way corner of the earth—the great Flatwoods that seventy years ago stretched for many an unbroken mile along the north bank of the upper Wabash.

The man swept a hand toward the distant end of the road. The girl glanced at him.

"Ten more days"—there was a strained firmness in his voice, as if what he was about to say came hard to him—"and I'm ridin' out yonder m'self."

He felt her eyes upon him.

"Ten more," he went on. "This is the tenth of May. When it's the twentieth, I'll be twenty-one—and free. Ten more—I be'n countin' 'em."

A deep seriousness clouded his face; he stared down at the warped skeleton of the unfinished farmhouse. The girl fumbled the bit of ribbon at her waist.

"My father dreamed that dream," he went on. "B'fore it could come true, the Seminoles bolted their reservation and he dropped everything and rushed away to the head of the rangers. You know how he—fell at Okechobee." He paused a moment; gripped his hat and went on. "Mother never saw a well day no more. You know how she lingered along down there under the rose vine till I was twelve. When she—died, it was found out Pap Simon had a mor'gage on everything. He foreclosed; had me—bound out to 'im; and—"

The girl stole a look at his face. It was so hard and bitter that she dared not venture a word. And what word could alter the stern fact that he was a bound boy—bound out to her own father?

"Wild and savage and terrible, like ol' 'Red Colin' must 'a' looked."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Children Cry for "Castoria"

A Harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups — No Narcotics!

Mother! Fletcher's Castoria has been in use for over 30 years to relieve babies and children of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and, by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving natural sleep with opiates. The genuine bears signature

Chas. H. Fletcher

Blue Band VELVET PENCILS

At all Dealers

5¢

Supreme in their class.

As Smooth as Velvet.

Write for trial sample

American Lead Pencil Co., New York

Makers of the famous VENUS Pencils

Garfield Tea

Was Your Grandmother's Remedy

For every stomach and intestinal ill. This good old-fashioned herb home remedy for constipation, stomach ills and other derangements of the system so prevalent these days is in even greater favor as a family medicine than in your grandmother's day.

ABSORBINE

TRADE MARK REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

Reduces Strained, Puffy Tendons, Wind Galls, Lymphangitis, Poll Evil, Fistula, Bursal Enlargements, Bruises, Lameness and allays pain. Heals Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Boot Chafes. It is a

Safe Antiseptic and Germicide

Does not blister or remove hair and horse can be worked. Pleasant to use. $2.50 a bottle delivered. Describe your case for special instructions and Book 5 A free.

W. F. Young, Inc., 510 Lyman St., Springfield, Mass.

Relief for coughs

Use PISO'S—this prescription quickly relieves children and adults. A pleasant syrup. No opiates. 35c and 60c sizes sold everywhere.

African Ruler Devises Language of His Own

A few years ago Njoya, king of Foumban, in the Cameroons, became jealous of the particularly good set of secret languages of neighboring tribes, and invented from French, English and German words a code tongue of his own which is reserved for the exclusive use of the "cabinet" and upper administrative officials.

The interesting feature of this state language, which was discovered and studied by a Frenchman, Lieutenant Clapot, is that, instead of meaning their usual equivalent, the European words have entirely different code significations. "La mission," for instance, means "to see," and "franc" means "the king." "Ordnung" means "we," "savant" means "an egg," "lemon" means "a hill," "left" means "which," and "English" means "a head."—Manchester Guardian.

Doctors Easy Marks?

The average physician is notoriously an easy mark for the stock swindler. To offset this condition, an organization of physicians, surgeons and dentists has been formed which will investigate all investments offered to doctors. This organization will also sue the deadbeat who seeks to avoid paying for professional services.

The Canvasser

After Mrs. Softleigh had purchased a can of talcum powder from a house-to-door canvasser just to get rid of him she watched out of the window to see him approach the house of Mr. Hardheart, a neighbor across the street.

In the rear of the yard she could see Mr. Hardheart tinkering with his automobile. The canvasser also could see him, so he passed beyond the front entrance walk. Then he circled back across the lawn and, keeping out of sight of the man of the house, ran gthe bell. Mrs. Hardheart appeared and the peddler's wares were instantly on display and the "canvass" begun. Mrs. Hardheart bought something and the agent departed. He had come, keeping well out on the lawn and out of Mr. Hardheart's sight. —New York Sun and Globe.

If you could hear what people say when they talk aloud to themselves it would make a good book.

"I'll Take a Chance!"

THE thought that goes with the cup of coffee at the evening meal is a disturbing one. "It may keep me awake tonight!"

The something [caffeine] in coffee that keeps so many folks awake nights, is entirely absent in Postum—the delicious, pure cereal beverage. The difference means a full night's rest and a bright tomorrow.

Postum

for Health

"There's a Reason"

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum [in tins] prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal [in packages] for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

At grocers everywhere

See Monarch ad in colors; page 106, February Ladies' Home Journal

If you work hard for your money, why fool it away?

GIRLS! A GLEAMY MASS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

10-Cent "Danderine" So Improves Lifeless, Neglected Hair.

An abundance of luxuriant hair full of gloss, beams and life shortly follows a genuine toning up of neglected scalps with delightful "Danderine."

Falling hair, itching scalp and the dandruff is corrected immediately. Thin, dry, wispy or fading hair is quickly invigorated, taking on new strength, color and youthful beauty. "Danderine" is delightful on the hair; a refreshing stimulating tonic—not sticky or greasy! Any drug store.—Advertisement.

Japan has 14 national holidays.

Keep Well! Avoid Sickness.

Take Brandreth Pills. One or two at bed time will cleanse the system, purify the blood and keep you well.—Adv.

The timed never set up a trophy.

Up Against It

Customer—Oh, dear! There's three things I always forget when ordering, and I forget what the third one is.

WOMEN CAN DYE ANY GARMENT, DRAPERY

Dye or Tint Worn, Faded Things New for 15 Cents.

Diamond Dyes

Don't wonder whether you can dye or tint successfully, because perfect home dyeing is guaranteed with "Diamond Dyes" even if you have never dyed before. Druggists have all colors. Directions in each package.—Advertisement.

To win a man's regard is impossible if that man's bump of selfishness is large.

Stop the Pain.

The hurt of a burn or a cut stops when Cole's Carbolisalve is applied. It heals quickly without scars. 30c and 60c by all druggists, or send 30c to The J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill.—Advertisement.

If one has a temperament, one should make sure he has genius to go with it.

Demand BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy—Genuine

Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Genuine → Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Disordered Stomach

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills—then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. You will relish your meals without fear of trouble to follow. Millions of all ages take them for Biliousness, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Upset Stomach and for Sallow, Pimply, Blotchy Skin. They end the misery of Constipation.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Genuine bear signature— Brent Good

Small Pill; Small Dose; Small Price

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

SMITH BROTHERS

S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL

Famous since 1847 (orange colored box)

WASHINGTON AND HIS FAVORITE CHARGER

This fine painting shows the Father of Our Country on his favorite horse. It is the well-known painting from which many equestrian statues have been copied.

THE DATE OF WASHINGTON'S BIRTH

OLD records—what stories they can tell. Sometimes full of romance, sometimes startling in their disclosures.

It would seem that Washington's birthday, observed for so many years on February 22, was a celebration founded securely on accurate historical facts. Yet buried in the family Bible of Washington's mother and written in her own handwriting is an entry which makes one pause with surprise. There she has clearly recorded the astounding statement that George Washington was born on February 11.

Certainly no one should know more about this important event than Mrs. Washington.

There it is in black and white in her own handwriting:

George Washington, son to Augustine and Mary, his wife, was bore ye 11the of February, 1732, about 10 in the morning, and was baptised the 3d of April following. Mr. Beverley Whiting and Capt. Christopher Brooks, godfathers, and Mrs. Mildred Gregory, godmother.

Family Bibles, especially in those times, were the last word in accuracy, so this statement must be accepted as indisputable.

By the latter part of the Sixteenth century the calendar year had become askew with the astronomical year. It seemed important that a readjustment be made and Pope Gregory XIII, after careful consultation with the learned men of his time, decreed that in 1582 10 days should be dropped and arranged what has since been called the Gregorian calendar. The mandate of the pope was followed that year by Spain, Portugal, Italy and France, but England would have none of it and continued on the basis of the old calendar for another century and a half.

Difference of Eleven Days.

By 1752 in England the discrepancy had mounted up to 11 days, and the disadvantages of two systems of dates was causing great annoyance. It was necessary to date letters going from England or her colonies to France with the days of both systems; for instance, February 11-22. So at last to avoid all this confusion England officially adopted the Gregorian calendar and decreed that 11 days be omitted in the year 1752 between September 3 and September 14.

So for Washington, his birthday in 1753 and all succeeding years fell on February 22.

But there is another record which throws light on what was probably the first public recognition of his birthday. This time the record is in his own handwriting. While commander in chief of the Continental armies, with all his other responsibilities and duties, Washington found time to keep exact records of all his expenses. These expense accounts were several years ago made available by their transferal from the Treasury department to the library of congress where they were placed with the great collection of Washington's papers there.

In one of Washington's daily expense account books there is an entry, under date of February 22, 1778, which reads:

Cash paid the 22nd Inst. to Proctor's band by the G. O.....15s.

WASHINGTON'S EXPENSE

Based on the expenses for three months in 1789, Washington figured his year's outlay at about $25,000. When Washington became president he was unwilling to receive any money from the public treasury beyond his actual expenses. At the time his household included a secretary, an assistant secretary, three aids and eighteen servants, while a livery of sixteen horses also figured into the yearly cost.

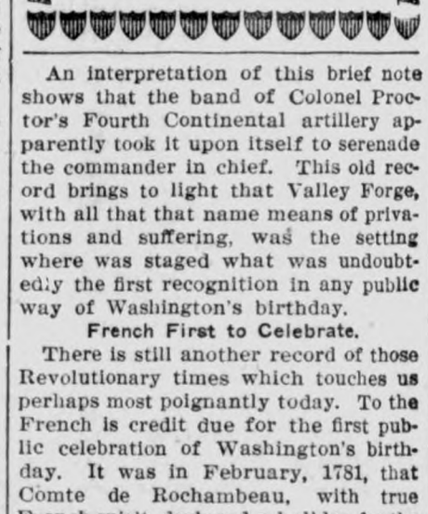
An interpretation of this brief note shows that the band of Colonel Proctor's Fourth Continental artillery apparently took it upon itself to serenade the commander in chief. This old record brings to light that Valley Forge, with all that that name means of privations and suffering, was the setting where was staged what was undoubtedly the first recognition in any public way of Washington's birthday.

French First to Celebrate.

There is still another record of those Revolutionary times which touches us perhaps most poignantly today. To the French is credit due for the first public celebration of Washington's birthday. It was in February, 1781, that Comte de Rochambeau, with true French spirit, declared a holiday for the French troops who were then located in Connecticut. Washington's birthday fell that year on Sunday, so the Frenche general specified that the following Monday be set aside for the celebration of the birthday of his commander, whom he so highly esteemed.

It was another of the many evidences of the close ties between France and America which existed in Revolutionary times. It was on that memorable occasion that was first laid the foundation of our national holiday.

WASHINGTON'S 16-BLADED KNIFE



One of the unique relics of American history still extant is the 16-blade pocket knife which was presented to George Washington by Capt. Samuel De Wees in 1784. The many blades, it will be noted, are arranged to fold into four slots placed at right angles to each other in the handle. The knife is now the property of George De Wees of Chicago, Ill., a descendant of Captain De Wees.

Yeast Foam makes good bread

Bread making is easy to learn and is an education in other cooking.

Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"

Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 North Ashland Ave.
Chicago, Ill.

CALUMET

The Economy BAKING POWDER

Is truly the world's greatest baking powder

It has produced Pure Foods—Better Bakings—for over one third of a century

Sales 2¼ times as much as that of any other brand

BEST BY TEST

Some Mistake

The telephone in a well-known surgeon's office rang and the doctor answered it. A voice inquired, "Who is this?"

The doctor readily recognized the voice of his seven-year-old son. Although an exceedingly busy man, he was always ready for a bit of fun, so he replied:

"The smartest man in the world."

"I beg your pardon," said the boy. "I have the wrong number."

True Love

He—Oh, Peggy, I shall be so miserable all the while I'm away from you.

She—Oh, darling, if I could be sure of that it would make me so happy!

A baby's first attempt to walk is a trial balance.

According to Law

Music, for obvious reasons, is prohibited during certain hours within university precincts.

An Oxford undergraduate, who had transgressed the laws by playing his piano when he should have been studying the classics, received the following note from the dean:

"Dear Mr. Johnson: For purposes of discipline, I am bound to regard your piano playing as music."

New Traffic Light

Lights to direct traffic have been invented that can be set in the surface of a street, being supported by springs that raise them into place again if run over by a vehicle.

In a war, both nations suffer; though the winner pays for the loss more cheerfully than the loser.

An Amazing Fact

TO many people it may seem incredible that a habit so common as coffee-drinking can be harmful. Yet if your doctor were to enumerate the common causes of indigestion, headache, and run-down condition, he would be likely to mention coffee.

If you are troubled with insomnia, nervousness, or are inclined to be high-strung, try Postum in place of coffee for thirty days, and note the difference in the way you feel, and how much better you sleep.

Postum is a pure cereal beverage, absolutely free from caffeine, or any harmful drug.

Postum for Health

"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms. Instant Postum [in tins] prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal [in packages] for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

Volume 2—Number 15. Thursday, February 21, 1924

SPECIAL BARGAIN WEEK!

From Monday, February 25 to Friday, Feb. 29 Inclusive

— we will allow the following price fo this adv., if clipped out of The Times on the following machines carried in stock. Only one adv. to be used on any machine:

$3.50	on any ENDGATE SEEDER
$7.75	on any DISC in stock
$7.50	on any Cream Separator.
$8.00	on any Washing Machine.
$5.00	on any Manure Spreader.
$4.00	on any Fanning Mill.
$3.75	on any Drag Harrow
$4.00	on any CORN PLANTER
$1.00	on any purchase of $10.00 or over of goods in stock.

The above offer is good only when goods are bought and paid for in cash during the SPECIAL BARGAIN DAYS.

Be sure to bring this adv. with you if you want to use it.

We received a wire from the New Idea Spreader Co. that those new style auto truck, all-steel spreaders are on the road, and due to arrive any day. We can hardly wait until they get here and we finish setting one up for display. They sure are a dandy rig.

A bank is a filling station for fountain pens.

Mustard is good on the table, but not in the oats field. Don't sow weed seeds—clean your seed grain and have a nice looking crop. If your fanning mill is in bad shape or if you have none, come in and look at those we have. Mighty fine machines and a cheap price to everybody.

The other day we read: "Radio keeps some from talking long enough to listen. Let's boost the Radio!"

As we have stated before, those that do their machinery buying early have everything to win and nothing to loose. You can buy as cheap now as you can when the rush season is on and the demand is great, and maybe cheaper. The buyer has a good choice now and is sure of having the machine when he needs it. Put your order in now!

Flat Wall Paint

It is time to think of your interior decorating as Spring is almost here and painting and house-cleaning time are at hand.

HI-TONE FLAT WALL—we carry a full stock of this high grade wall paint in all colors.

GILT-EDGE WALL FINISH—this is a low priced but beautiful wall finish easily applied, for use where paint is considered too expensive. A real good "clean-up" wall decorator.

VARNISHES—STAINS—we have a big line for every purpoes.

BRUSHES, Etc.—everything you need inbrushes, wall size, wax, etc.

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

Double Your Money in a Safe, Sure Way

If in 1910 you had deposited $100 in a SAVINGS ACCOUNT at 5 % compound interest, you would have in 1924 the original $100 plus another $100 in interest!

That's how compound interest grows! You can put this magic force to work for you TODAY by opening a Savings Account at this strong, friendly bank.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'."

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Let the Times print your sale bill.

Mr. Calise and two sons were here from Titonka, on business Monday.

Mrs. Watts, of Garner, was in this city on business Tuesday.

Herb Bailey went to Iowa Falsl Tuesday, returning yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. LuVerne Smith returned Tuesday from Belmond where they had been visiting.

Sherjy E. P. Hanson, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme Tuesday.

Mrs. Hod Lawhorn and daughter, Loretta, of Garner, were visiting at the Clifford Swartz home Saturday.

Carl Brecke, of Joice, came Saturday for a few days visit at the J. J. Poort family.

Mrs. Lydia Meckstroth and little grandson, of Garner, were visiting Klemme relatives Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Buss, of Goodell, visited at the Ben Coobs home Sunday.

August Lau returned to Minneapolis Sunday to take more treatments at the hospital.

Mrs. Ben Schwichtenberg and son went to Illinojs Tuesday for a visit with relatives.

Ed. Jacobs returned last Friday evening from Des Moines, Where he had been to attend a hardware dealers' convention.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Gimer wree called to Abbott Crossing last Thursday to attend the funeral of a niece of Mrs. Gimer's.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus went to Clear Lake Friday afternoon and visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rice until Saturday noon.

Mrs. Ralph Elder went to the hospital at Hampton last Friday where she will take treatments for a short time. She is getting along fine according to reports.

R. W. Elder came over from Mason City Monday to attend the Sumner Trumbell sale. Ralph is going to move back on his farm south east of town again this spring.

The Short Course held last Wednesday afternoon and all day on Thursday was well attended and enjoyed by those interested in better dairying.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis entertained a number of their friends at a Whist party last Friday evening. Refreshments were served. All report a fine time.

Klemme is to have a drug store again as Mr. G. G. Seney, of Sheffield has rented the G. A. Pabst building for that purpose and will start in business at an early date.

Sumner Trumbell had a good sale Monday and everything brought a good price. He is moving to town as he starts his mail carrying job next Monday, on route one.

The Camp Fire Girls will hold their food sale at Kluckhohn's store Saturday morning beginning at about 10:30 o'clock, so you can get your pies, buns, cakes, etc in time for dinner. Help them by buying at their sale Saturday.

This vicinity had more snow again Saturday night and some more on Monday. The snow drifted some. Last night the thermometer dropped again and we had a cold snap, but the indications are for warm weather gain.

There will be a basket social and a two-act, 2 hour comedy entitled, "Deacon Dubbs," at Dist. No. 8 Ell, school on Wednesday evening, February 27th. 2 miles east of Klemme. Ladies bring baskets. Edith Haupt, teacher.

Mrs. J. P. Larsen returned to her home at Belmond Friday after visiting at the home of her son, Clarence and family for a few days. She also attended the Aid Supper as she is still a member of the Klemme society.

The Aid Society dinner and the Valentine supper held at the parish house were well attended. Music by the orchestra was enjoyed during the meal. The ladies took in about $68.00 and cleared over $55 above expenses. The ladies wish to thank all those who donated towards these meals and also for the patronage of the people. The ladies are endeavoring to make a thousand dollars toward a nw church.

The show at the Idle Hour Saturday night was well attended. In addition to the regular picture program a good thirty minute vaudeville artist entertained with magic. Each Saturday night from now on the Idle Hour is running, in addition to their regular pictures, a extra feature picture called "Fighting Blood." Each picture is complete in each program but they ling together one with the other making a sort of continued story also.

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Hesselhuus have rented the C. F. Keraus residence and will move in the first of the month. Mr. and Mrs. Keraus will go to Garner for about a month and stay with Mrs. Keraus' sister who has been quite ill. Then they will go to the Lake and get their cottages in order for the summer renting. After that they are going to take another car trip as they always do for the rest of the summer. This year they will strike out north, and we would not be surprised if Charlie brings back a kodak picture of himself chasing a polar bear up the North Pole.

Drugs and Remedies

In today's Globe-Gazette you will find advertised 26 different kinds of drugs and remedies.

We have 25 of these items o nour shelves. Which is the one item which we do not have? We will give 25 cents to the first Boy or Girl who can point out to us this one item.

Talcum Powder

9c

Saturday Only.

Wellemeyer's

Klemme Iowa

DENTIST

J. L. Hesselhuus, D. D. S.

Office Hours 8-12 1-5 20

Office Opposite State Savings Bank; In Schaffer Bldg

Evening Work By Appointment Only

Klemme, Ia. Phone 81

KLEMME MARKETS

February 29, 1924
(Subject To Change)

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN	.65
OATS	.40
BARLEY	.60
RYE	.60
HOGS	6.00—6.70
BUTTERFAT	.56
BUTTER (Creamery)	.55
EGGS	.25
HEAVY HENS	.16
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.15
LEGHORNS	.08
COCKS	.06
STAGS	.12
DUCKS	.10
GEESE	.08

NOTICE--

All of last year's accounts still unpaid must be settled by—either by Cash or Bankable Note. Don't ask to have this account extended. The banks have money to loan, and we need the cash.

MARCH 15th

Klemme Co-op. Grain Company

"The Farmers' Elevator" Klemme, Iowa

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

THE HOME OF GOOD EATS

CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGARS

MEALS and LUNCHES

Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It Here

Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service

We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.

CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

You Men

Who Drive Cars--

No matter what you need—from the smallest repairing job to motor overhauling —bring your car to us.

If You Get Stuck On the Road

—phone for our tow car—we'll do the rest.

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Authorized Service

Auto Mechanics —All Work Guaranteed— General Blacksmithing

Are You Succeeding Financially?

No matter how good a bluff you may be putting up by keeping up appearances, you cannot delude yourself. YOU know whether or not you are succeeding.

You know that you must S-A-V-E in order to SUCCEED. You know whether you are reaching toward success, just standing still, or if you are slipping down. To be successful there must be not only saving but careful investing as well. A good bank like ours can and will help you to succeed. Your funds are safe in this bank and we will advise you in the matter of investment.

Your savings placed at 5 per cent interest here is a good investment.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

THE KLEMME TIMES

Twenty-eighth Year—Number 25. | Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, February 28, 1924 | $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

ACTIVITIES OF THE PAST WEEK IN THE SCHOOLS

PARENT-TEACHER TO MEET MARCH 4th

COMMITTEE HAS PREPARED AN EXCELLENT PROGRAM

Supt. F. T. Vasey of Mason City To Speak

BE SURE TO ATTEND

The Parent-Teachers' Association will hold their reguler monthly meeting in the Klemme High Schoo. Auditorium on March 4th. The committee has prepared a fine program for this meeting in fact a program, which none should miss if living in Klemme or the surrounding neighborhood. The orchestra will furnish some fine selections of familiar music for the accession.

The committee on refreshments is planning on an excellent "spread" for all who are iterested in the school and are willing to come and listen to this excellent program.

This program is all free and we hope every body will come and help will the auditorium to its fullest capacity.

The speaker of the evening is a man who has made the school and its sucesses and failures a critical study for many years; and also has figured very largely in school legislatjon in Iowa for several years.

This man is Superintendent F. T. Vasey of the Mason City School.

His subject has not been definately settled upon, yet he has suggested that he may speak on "Financial Sucesses of The Educated Person".

If you stay at home and miss this program, you surely will feel that you have lost a rare treat from the lips of a man who knows, and also knows how to drive facts home to parents teachers and taxpayers.

Hoping to meet you March 4, we are your very truly, COMMITTEE

DECLAMATORY CONTEST GOOD

Klemme Places only Two Second; Competjon Strong.

VENTURA SCORES HIGHEST

The Declamatory contest held here last Thursday evening was very good and the program showed the hard training the contestants had put on their selections. The Klemme schools met with hard luck and was able to place only two second places. Following isthe decision given by the judges.

ORATORICAL

"Toussaint's Last Struggle for Hati" First— Ernest Johnson of Ventura

"America First" Second Clarence Fider of Klemme

DRAMATIC

"Elizabeth" First over All Magaret Mitchell of Ventura

"Cigarettes Ride and Death—First Beatrice Busch of Klemme

HUMOROUS

"Aristarchus Tries Elocution' 'First Herbert Jensen of Latimer

"What the Janitor Heard" Second Jeanette Boomhower of Ventura

The winners of this contest are going to Corwith on February 29th to participate in another contest.

As to the orchestra, we will pass no comment upon it, leaving that en entirely to the large audience which attended. They are going to appear again soon, publicly and we hope that they do even better than the

ROUGH USUAGE ON BIRTHDAYS NOT OUT OF STYLE

Editors of this Column is Victim of Good Hard Beating

Who said that the tim has passed when a fellows birthday came around the gang would give him a good beating for apresent? We don't and we have ample proof. The other day we celebrated a birthday, rather we enduredone while the rest enjoyed it very much. It all happened in this manner. The other noon we came to school and went into the gymnasium with the common intent of practicing to shoot baskets. However, we did not even get to try it once until about thirty high school boys attack us, part of them holding us while the other part administered the punishment, and then changig positios whe they tired of oe job, but what made us so mad was when Prof. Neese jumped into the scramble and gave us a couple of whacks, that ,if they had been exerted on the baseball field would have registered home runs. We also noted that all gave us three or fout whacks "to grow on". If a fellow grows on those kind of things we belive we ought to be about six feet eight in height. However we believe we were stunted out o fabout a year and a half's growth. But ver geance is sweet. My birthday is passed and I will have vengeance

GRAD EROOM NOTES

Jean Lau wkas a welcome visitor of the Primary room last Friday

Both the Primary Room and the Intermediate Room are to have a "Story Teling contest on Friday March 7. First and Second prizes will be given in each room. Judges will be people not connected with the Klemme school.

BOOK WILL PRESERVE STORIES BY RUTH SUCKOW

Miss Ruth Suckow of Forest City who has beer heralded as the American Katherine Mansfield A. Knopf is again honored; for a new book "Stories From the Midland," edited by John T. Frederick of Iowa City is to contain two stories which were written by the Forest City author.

The collection is said to consist of 15 stories judiciously selected by the editor for lasting preservation in book form. Miss Suckow's stories of the middle west have been apparing in such magazines as Harpers, Century, Smart Set and American Mercury

CORN CHAMP HAD TROUBLES

His Early Days in Corn Breeding Were Disappointing Ones; Success at Last

George Steen of Elemenhurst Farm West Liberty—the champion corn breeder of Iowa for the 1923 corn yield contest—had his troubles when he was starting in the corn breeding business, and still has them.

In a letter to Joe L. Robinso, secretary of the Iowa Corn and Small Grain Grower's association, he tells how he started in hte corn breeding and of his early trials.

"It was at the first corn show and short course held at Ames that Professor Holden offered to send me some of the better varities of Illinois corn with which to starte breeding", Mr. Steen writes. "From other sources from time ti time other seed was secured and blended with the Illinois corn. The first few years were disapointing, for the corn was not acclimated and so did not mature and the yield was not up to expectations. Systematic selection and breeding up was undertaken Detasseling was tried in breeding rows, but this method was not as sucessful as it wa hope dto be. This was dropped for a better method, the ear to row selection of the high yielders.

"I have today", Mr. Steen writes, "a corn that matures—that is solid—no other strain which I have seen equals it in this respect, I belveie."

George Eteen's corn is Reids Yel low Dent. His corn yileded under average Iowa conditions, 68.57 bus hels per acre.

A Pretty Good Check

Belmond, Feb. 22.—The highest cream check for the month of January was $199.75 and belonged to Guy Baker.

SPECIAL—Mens' work shirting 19¢ yd. Saturday only. Wellemeyer Department Store. 1wc

SECRETARY'S ANNUAL FINANCIAL STATEMETN FOR 1924 TO SCHOOL DISTRICT

School District Of The Independent School District of Klemme, Hancock County, Iowa.

FOR YEAR ENDING FEBRUARY 23, 1924.

GENERAL FUND

Dr.		Cr.
On hand Feb. 23, 1923	$ 7,923.07	Paid teachers since last report: Males	$ 2,872.20
Received from District Tax	$10,002,32	Females	$ 5,290.00
Received from semi-anannual apportionment	$ 146.00	Paid Secretary	$ 50.00
Received from Tuition	$ 2,253.00	Paid for tuition	$ 801.00
Rec'd from sale of text books and supplies	$ 594.43	Paid for library books	$ 16.90
Received from interest on deposits	$ 119.21	Paid for free text books	$ 646.43
		Paid for fuel, rent, repairs, insurance, janitor, general supplies	$ 6,679.01
		Paid for other purposes	$ 26.12
		Amount on hand Feb. 21, 1924	$ 4,658.37
TOTAL	$21,040.03	TOTAL	$21,040.03

SCHOOL HOUSE FUND

Dr.		Cr.
Received from sale of bonds, original issue	$15,000.00	Paid for Building and Plumbing	$22,586.65
Overdrawn	$ 7,586.65	Overdrawn Feb. 21, 1924	$ 7,586.65
TOTAL	$22,586.65	TOTAL	$

INDEBTEDNESS

Total oustanding bonds	$15,000.00	Total interest-bearing warrants outstanding	$ 7,586.65

It is estimated that the following amounts will be necessary to meet the requirements of the Dist. for the next year:

General Fund	$ 9,000.00	School House Fund	$ 2,130.00

I hereby certify that the foregoing report is correct.

LEW LEWIS, Secretary.

Dated Feb. 21, 1924.

APPLIES TO OUR TOWN, TOO

"What's wrong in Eagle Grove, and is the disease incuralbe?" Rev. Haney in his address to the business men djagnosed our troubles and prescribed the sure and only cure. We printed a summary of his talk in last week's Eagle. We wish it were possible for it to be delivered before every lodge, study club, every soap club in Eagle Grove.

If YOU own property in Eagle Grove, you better cut this out and pin it up in your home where your WIFE and YOU can see it every day.

Again we reprint a portion of Rev. Haney's remarks:

"Co-operation spells success for any community. Too many times it is thought that the merchant is the one that makes the town grow, and that it is all up to him. But such is not the case. Everyone in the community has his or her part to play in making the city a growing and a thriving place. The merchant can build a fine store and stock it with a fine line of goods but if the people do not trade with him he is not able to help build up the city. EVERY TIME A MAN OR WOMAN TRADES OUT OF TOWN THEY HELP TO DESTROY THEIR OWN HOMES! For it is only as a city grows that property value is increased. If the business of a city does not increase, before long the main street becomes run down at the heel, and then the rsidence property begis to lose value, and before long you have a dying town.

"Sometimes people get the idea that they can do better by trading somewhere else, but when they figure their time and expense they find that thy could have done better at home. Then, when they trade at home they are boosting their own home town and making it possible to have a fine place to live, while when they trade elsewhere they are HELPING TO BUILD SCHOOLS IN THE OTHER TOWN, TO PAVE the STREETS FOR THE OTHER People instead of their OWN, to build stores in other towns instead of their own. I wonder if we have ever asked ourselves the question, "Who is to build my town and make it a success if I don't do so?" "

Every property owner in Eagle Grove better ask himself: "How much pavement have I helped pay for in Des Moines, Fort Dodge or Webster City? How much of their school taxes have I helped to pay? How much have I helped raise the value of Fort Dodge property by trading over there? How much have I helped destroy the selling value of my own property, my own home here in Eagle Grove, by NOT spending my money at home where I am vitally interested? How much are the Fort Dodge or Des Moines storekeepers going to contribute toward paying off OUR school debt, OUR paving tax, or toward raising the value of MY residence or business property? Money you spend in Fort Dodge is deposited in banks THERE—NOT HERE."

If every property owner had compelled his wife to trade in Eagle Grove, there would not have been a single business failure in Eagle Grove the past year. Many business and professional men are just as guilty in this respect as the individual property owner. If all the wives of merchants and professional men, and others had set the example by buying in Eagle Grove, hundreds of others would have been satisfied with what they could get here—the local stocks would have improved, and there would have been no failures.

These are unpleasant, hard things to say. It hurts to say them. But other things hurt worse.

It hurts to see a neighbor go bankrupt. It'll hurt worse when YOUR time comes. The situation is not hopeless. The remedy is so simple that it is foolish to have to mention it here.

The first and only thing for the business man, the banker, and the professional man to do is to make that wife of his spend the money in Eagle Grove that HE makes in Eagle Grove. Next, the individual property or home owner should make his wife do the same thing. If argument fails, get a club, and if the club fails get a divorce. IT IS LESS HUMILIATING TO APPEAR IN A DIVORCE COURT THAN IN A BANKRUPTCY COURT.

It is the duty of every stockholder in every bank in Eagle Grove to see that he and his wife do their buying at home. Who is going to help pay dividends on YOUR stock if YOU don't?

The entire situation can be saved here by community co-operation just as Rev. Haney says: "Boosting each other always makes friends and brings trade to all. WE GROW AS WE HELP OTHERS GROW.

—Eagle Grove Eagle.

NEW DRUG STORE OPENED IN KLEMME

Mr. and Mrs G. G. Seney, of Sheffjeld, came last Thursday to open a drug store in Klemme in the G. A. Pabst building, and which was occupied until a couple of weeks ago by E. S. D. Kahrs as a drug store.

Mr. Seney is a registered pharmacist and has been in the drug business for a number of years, and, although a young man, he has had a wide experience jn this line and was practically raised in a drug store.

Mr. Seney has struck a good town for a drug store and he should have a real successful business here.

Mr. and Mrs. Seney are both very pleasant people to meet and we extend a cordial welcome to them to mingle with the people of Klemme both in the business cirlce and also socially.

MANY ARE MOVING THIS WEEK TO OTHER FARMS NEAR HERE

THIS LIST MAY HELP YOU FIND YOUR NEIGHBOR

Many people have been busy moving the past few days as the first of March approaches.

It is a rather difficult matter to find out where everybody has moved to, and those we have missed we will appreciate a report as to their new location, and other information as it is interesting to know where everybody jive after the first of March.

Here is the list we have been able to procure thus far:

Country List

To begin we will start with Sumner Trumbell. He had a sale and is moving to town from the place west of town. Harvey Harberts moves to the farm vacated by Trumbell. That complete one round of moving.

As John Woods has moved to Watkins, Iowa, the farm he was on west of town needed a tenant so Alvin Stokesbarry moved on the place. And Joe Lawhorn, of Garner then moved to the farm vacated by Alvin Stokesbarry.

Now to begin another circle of moving we will start with Ralph Elder who has been living jn town. Ralph had a hankering for country life so decided he would move back to his farm, after a residence of about five or six years in town. Lesley Hartbeck has been on the place and he has moved to the new farm of Julius Priebe's. Another round completed.

Art Schoenwetter has been sojourneying jn town for a couple of years while he has been building a new farm west of town. He is moving to the farm and his old neighbors will welcome him back to that neck of the woods.

Albert Caroles has moved to the old C. W. Wiles farm south of the city and Ernest Helps is moving to the place vacated by Albert Caroles. Ernest is starting up in the farming business. He was formerly a tiler and resided in Klemme. That also makes us wonder if "Ernie" intends to keep on leadjng a bachelor life? We give our readers only one guess.

Bob Roths is moving to his father's farm and will run it for him in the future. We did not learn who is moving to the place vacated by Bob Roths.

Hans Hansen is moving to his house in town, so he has rented his farm to Ben Merkel, who is moving on it. Hans has been running the farm last year while his wife jived in their town residence so their grand daughter could attend town school.

G. A. Richardson, who has been on the Henry Church farm 2½ miles south of town had a sale and is moving to a farm a few miles from St. Paul, Minn. Warren Tries, who resides on the other Church farm is moving to the farm vacated by Richardson. Henry Church is moving down from Garner to live on his farm which will be vacated by Tries. Henry has lived at Garner three or four years now.

Arthur Wade is moving to a farm west of Goodell. We do not know who will move to the farm vacated by Mr. Wade.

R. A. Schlawin, who has been on the Fred Haupt farm 2 miles south west of Klemme is moving to the Ed. Griffen farm 6½ miles northwest of Klemme. Owen Neuhring, who has been on the Aug. Schuldt farm near Klemme moves to Fred Haupt's farm. We have not learned who is to occupy the Aug. Schuldt farm.

John Heginger, who has been on the old Spitler farm northwest of Klemme moves to his own farm 7 miles northwest of Klemme. We do not know who moves to the farm vacated by Heginger.

Clarence Dillow will leave this vicinity and will move to a farm over near Hayfield.

This is as far as we have gotten with the country moving list. We will appreciate it if any of our readers will give us any changes they may know of before next Wednesday noon.

Town Moving List

There is also quite a lot of moving going on in Klemme and the following is the list of changes we have picked up thus far:

Ralph Elder is moving to his farm and so his house will be occupied by Mrs. Phil Behringer and daughter. Mrs. Behringer's house in the north part of town has been rented by Ralph Irving and family. The place vacated by Irving has been purchased by G. A. Goll, and we understand he will move to town.

As Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Keraus are going away for the year on an auto tour, they have rented their house to Dr. J. L. Hesselhuus who will move in in a few days. Dr. and Mrs. Hesselhuus have lived in the Mrs. Wilbur McGee house north of the school, which will be vacant at the present.

Carl Suckow and family of Garner are moving to the home of Mrs. Suckow's mother, Mrs. Herman Ludeke. and Art Schoenwetter and family, who have been living with her, are moving to Art's farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Roths, who have resided jn the Gus Baack residence just south of the City Hall have moved to the Mrs. Buseman house on east Main. Harold Leitsinger and family have moved into the Gus Baack house, vacated by Tom Roths.

Martin Brinkman and family are moving into the G. A. Schaper residence south of the school house. They have been living with Mrs. Brinkman's motehr, Mrs. Baack.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Seney, from Sheffield, have moved into the drug store.

As far as we can learn this completes the moving list in Klemme.

Paste this list in your hat as it will help you to locate your old neighbors.

KLEMME MAN IS CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF

This week we are printing the announcement of C. N. White, of this place, who is a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County.

Charlie, as he is better known to the people here, belongs to the Republican party, and has always voted that ticket.

Mr. White has resided in Hancock county for a nubmer of yeras and is well acquainted all over the county. This is the first time he has asked for a public office.

If elected, Charlie promises to devote all his time to running the office in an efficient manner to the best of his ability.

SMITH-HUGHES WORK POPULAR

56 Iowa Schools Now Have ; Over 50 More Want In .

'Vocational agriculture, as taught under the Smith-Hughes law," says W. H. Lancelot, head of the vocational education department at Iowa College, "is winning fr more general approval than ever before. Fifty-six high schools jn Iowa are now teaching agriculture according to erms of this law and are receiving aid from the federal government to the extent of one half the cost.

This number, he says, is the result of a gradual increase extenidng over a period of seven years. The jndications are, however, that upwards of 50 schools in Iowa will be added to the list next year since more than that number have applied for it to date.

"Vocational agriculture differs from the type generally taught," Mr. Lancelot explains, "in thatit is far more practical, deals with the actual problems of the farm, and aims to make genuine frmers of the boys who take as a rule, but they become far better farmers than they would otherwise be."

4,700 Acres Beet Acreage

Belmond, Feb. 22.—Four thousand seven hundred, is the total acreage of beets already signed up, which promises the most successful year of the factory history. Eight thousand acres are planned.

10-MILLION FUND FOR NORTHWEST

Financiers Unite to Give Early Relief to Farmers.

Chicago.—Bankers and business men of the East and Middle West on Thursday joined hands in pledging a fund of $10,000,000 to be used for the immediate relief of the troubled banking and agricultural situation in the Northwestern states. Furthermore, government aid and co-operation to the extent of additional millions was assured through the War Finance corporation.

The big pool pledged by banks and business men was launched without a hitch at a meeting in Chicago attended by more than a hundred bankers and business men. The $10,000,000 was subscribed by districts as follows: New York and the East, $5,000,000; Chicago, $2,000,000; Minneapolis and St. Paul, $1,000,000; Detroit and Cleveland, $700,000 each, and Pittsburgh, $600,000.

The actual work of financial relief will be started within two or three weeks, according to John McHugh, chairman of the organization committee and president of the Mechanics and Metals National bank of New York. The subscriptions will be called in installments just as soon as the necessary service corporation to administer the fund can be formed, which will be within the next few days.

The success of the project was conveyed to President Coolidge in Washington in a telegram.

A total of $100,000,000 will be available for relief work by the new corporation, inasmuch as it will be eligible for loans from the War Finance corporation to an amount equal to ten times its capital.

The headquarters of the organization will be in Minneapolis. C. T. Jaffray, president of the "Soo" railroad, will be chairman of the executive committee. A president will be chosen later. The other members of the executive committee follow:

John McHugh, New York; Ralph Van Vechten, Chicago; G. H. Prince, St. Paul; P. J. Leeman, E. W. Decker and C. C. Webber, Minneapolis; J. R. Howard, former president of the American Farm Bureau federation; Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific, and Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern.

Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover and Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the War Finance corporation, attended the meeting and gave assurance of government cooperation.

Griffis Home Again; Assails the Germans

New York.—Lieut. Corliss Hooven Griffis, released by the German government after six months' imprisonment for an attempt to capture Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft evader, arrived in New York on Monday, but plans for his welcome completely miscarried.

Due to what Commodore Thomas Kier, commander of the Albert Ballin, terms "a misunderstanding," but what Dr. James Whitney Hall, chairman of the national reception committee, calls "another German affront toward the government," several hundred persons shivered for hours on a Battery pier, where they had gathered to greet Lieutenant Griffis.

Griffis, pale from his confinement in a sunless cell, was bitter against the Germans.

"When I was arrested," he said, "the German police took $500 away from me."

Griffis said he was not pardoned by the Germans, but was deported as an undesirable alien. He expressed the opinion that if he had not been released before the German embassy flag incident he would have had to serve his term out.

Adams Asks Public to Ignore "Scandal"

Washington.—Chairman Adams of the Republican national committee, on Thursday asked the public to keep calm in the midst of the clamor over the oil scandal and the partisan efforts to fan the flames of class hatred and sow seeds of suspicion against all public men. Mr. Adams said:

"The American people are honest. They demand honest administration of their public affairs. Under our form of government they obtain it. Our system of party responsibility with the constitutional provisions for frequent elections at which parties must render an accounting to the people safeguards our country.

"Freedom of speech and of the press acts as an additional guarantee that no sinister influence can control our government or corrupt our great political parties."

Nip Counterfeiters' Plot

Washington, D. C.—A nation-wide conspiracy to make and distribute counterfeit treasury notes of $1,000 denomination has been nipped, according to secret service operatives, through the arrest of James C. Houghton, employee of the bureau of engraving and printing, and Curt Jacobson of New York. A photographic plate of a $1,000 treasury note and several plates described as nearly perfect reproductions of those used in the bureau were seized.

T. V. O'CONNOR

T. V. O'Connor of New York, member of the United States shipping board, who has been selected by President Coolidge to succeed Edward P. Farley as chairman.

TRUE BILLS IN HERRIN RAIDS NAME YOUNG

Troops Maintain Order in Williamson County.

Herrin.—A total of 48 indictments were returned by the Williamson county grand jury. Among the charges are illegal arrest and destruction of property.

S. Glenn Young, grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan and dry raider, was indicted by the Williamson county grand jury in Marion on charges of malicious destruction of property.

All of the Herrin and Williamson county officials held in the county jail at Marion on charges of murdering Constable Caesar Cagle were released by Acting Sheriff McCown.

"Bloody Williamson" is calm again. Citizens go about their business quietly and unarmed. They do not form in groups. There is a startling absence on the streets of leaders of the rival klan and anti-klan factions whose differences twice have called state troops into the county in little more than a month.

The calm followed a proclamation broadcast by Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman ordering all citizens disarmed and forbidding the gathering of groups. The proclamation is backed by two regiments of guardsmen scattered over the county.

Herrin found itself with a new mayor, the council having named Alderman Carl Nall to the post at the request of the military to take the place of Mayor C. A. Anderson, held in jail on a charge of complicity in the killing Friday night of Constable Caesar Cagle.

Maj. Gen. Foreman said that the officers had told the representatives of the citizens the root of the trouble was the permitting of unauthorized people to conduct raids and other acts of law enforcement and that two factions had been causing the disturbances.

Senator Shot by Dry Agent's Stray Bullet

Washington.—United States Senator Frank L. Greene of Vermont is in a critical condition at Emergency hospital, the victim of a stray bullet, one of a fusillade fired after fleeing bootleggers. Senator Greene and Mrs. Greene were "window shopping" in lower Pennsylvania avenue. The bootleggers were escaping in an automobile from a raid conducted by J. Leroy Asher, "Lone Wolf" of the Washington prohibition unit.

As the bootleggers turned down the avenue one of the revenue men emptied his revolver after the fugitives. This agent, according to the police, was O. E. Fischer.

Senator and Mrs. Greene stepped out into the range of the bullets. Realizing the peril, the senator placed himself in a position to protect Mrs. Greene, and was himself almost instantly shot down.

When Fischer saw that he had injured an innocent bystander, he went to the senator's aid, the fugitive bootleggers escaping.

Poincare to Recall Troops

Paris.—The French reparation policy was altered sharply when Premier Poincare decided to accept guarantee of payment by Germany and to withdraw troops from the Ruhr.

Walton Pleads Not Guilty

Oklahoma City.—Pleas of not guilty were entered by J. C. Walton, impeached governor, when he appeared in district court to answer seven charges of conversion of public funds, grand larceny and interfering with a legislative assembly. Five informations were filed against Dr. A. E. Davenport, former health commissioner, and T. P. Edwards, former guard officer, charging conversion of funds. The filing of these informations followed the quashing of seven attempts.

ALASKA COAL PLOT CHARGED

Seattle Man Tells Coolidge Terms of Transfer Were Like Dome Affair.

Washington.—Initial steps toward a possible senate inquiry into the long fought Alaskan coal controversy were begun after John E. Ballaine of Seattle, an Alaskan railroad constructor, had presented to President Coolidge charges respecting the transfer of the Matanuska coal reserve from the Navy to the Department of the Interior.

Mr. Ballaine, in a lengthy letter to the President, declared examination of official files would show that former Secretary Fall and Secretary Denby in July, 1921, four months after they had taken office, began negotiations for the transfer of the Alaskan coal reserve from the Navy to the Interior department and for the leasing of that reserve for a period of fifty years.

The negotiations and the terms agreed upon, Mr. Ballaine asserted, "ran along lines exactly parallel with the negotiations and the terms of the lease of the Teapot Dome oil reserve." He charged that powerful interests are hindering Alaskan development.

The Alaskan railroad man explained that the lease was never consummated, but declared that the Department of the Interior upon taking over mining operations in the Matanuska field suspended mining operations, and that the Navy department had refused to utilize Alaskan coal on the Pacific coast, although it had been shown to be cheaper and better, he said.

Senator LaFollette (Rep., Wis.) introduced a resolution paving the way for an investigation into the charges made by John E. Ballaine, an Alaskan railroad constructor, that former Secretary of the Interior Fall and Secretary of the Navy Denby entered into negotiations seeking to transfer and lease valuable coal reserve lands in Alaska along the same lines of the Teapot Dome transaction.

Troops Quit Herrin; Three Arrests Made

Marion.—Three arrests in connection with recent disturbances were made by the sheriff on indictments from the grand jury.

Carl Nielson, Herrin cyclops of the Ku Klux Klan; John Arms of Johnston City, candidate for sheriff in the last primaries, and Arthur Barnwell, also of Johnston City, were the three who were arrested. Forty-five warrants remain to be served.

The arrests were made as the soldiers were entraining and they forecast that the law-abiding forces of the county have determined to enforce the law. Only one detachment of the One Hundred and Thirtieth infantry is now on guard in Williamson county.

Nielson was arrested at Herrin on a warrant charging five counts of larceny and five counts of robbery growing out of the recent liquor raids conducted by klansmen. Arms and Barnwell were arrested for larceny alleged to have been committed during the disturbances.

S. Glenn Young, paid leader of the de facto dry forces of the county, left Thursday for Washington to confer with federal prohibition leaders. It is understood the grand jury indicted Young, but no warrant was served.

It is understood that Young will attempt to obtain injunctions closing 50 places that have been raided.

Adams Asks Public to Ignore "Scandal"

Washington.—Chairman Adams of the Republican national committee, on Thursday asked the public to keep calm in the midst of the clamor over the oil scandal and the partisan efforts to fan the flames of class hatred and sow seeds of suspicion against all public men. Mr. Adams said:

"The American people are honest. They demand honest administration of their public affairs. Under our form of government they obtain it. Our system of party responsibility with the constitutional provisions for frequent elections at which parties must render an accounting to the people safeguards our country.

"Freedom of speech and of the press acts as an additional guarantee that no sinister influence can control our government or corrupt our great political parties."

Maryland Kills Dry Law Enforcement Bill

Annapolis, Md.—The state prohibition enforcement bill was killed for this session of the Maryland general assembly on Thursday, when the house of delegates, by a vote of 72 to 39, adopted an unfavorable report submitted by the temperance committee.

Farmers' Bank Closed

St. Paul.—Because of depleted reserves, the Farmers' State Bank of St. Cloud, with deposits aggregating approximately $600,000, was closed on Friday by A. J. Veigel, state superintendent of banks.

Forsythe Bank Shut

Helena, Mont.—The American National bank at Forsythe has closed, according to a report received on Friday at the Federal Reserve branch at Helena.

CARL SHERMAN

Carl Sherman, attorney general of New York, is considered a probable nominee for governor of the Empire state by the Democratic party.

U. S. GOVERNMENT MARKET REPORT

Washington.—For the week ending Feb. 14.—GRAIN—No. 1 dark northern spring wheat, $1.16@1.29 Minneapolis; No. 2 hard winter wheat, $1.10@1.13 Chicago, $1.11@1.12½ St. Louis, $1.07@1.17 Kansas City; No. 2 red winter wheat, $1.16@1.18½ St. Louis, $1.13@1.14 Kansas City; No. 2 yellow corn, 80½@81c Chicago; No. 3 yellow corn, 77½c St. Louis, 70@70¾c Kansas City; No. 3 white oats, 47¾@48½c Chicago, 49¼c St. Louis, 44½c Minneapolis, 48c Kansas City.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Northern sacked round white potatoes, $1.20@1.35 in Chicago, mostly $1.05@1.10 f. c. b. Yellow onions, $2.25@2.50 sacked per 100 lbs. Danish type cabbage, $30.00@35.00 bulk per ton. New York Baldwin apples, $3.50@4.25 per bbl.; northwestern extra fancy winesaps, $1.90@2.25 per box leading markets, top of $2.50 in Chicago.

LIVE STOCK—Chicago prices: Hogs, $7.35 for the top and $7.00@7.25 for the bulk. Medium and good beef steers, $7.75@11.00; butcher cows and heifers, $3.75@10.50; feeder steers, $4.50@8.90; light and medium weight veal calves, $8.00@11.00. Fat lambs, $13.00@15.00; feeding lambs, $11.75@13.75; yearlings, $10.00@13.00; fat ewes, $5.75@9.40.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, 50@52½c Chicago. Cheese prices at Wisconsin primary markets: Single daisies, 22c; double daisies, 21¾c; longhorns, 22¼c; square prints, 22½c.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $23.50 Cincinnati, $26.00 Chicago, $20.50 Kansas City, $24.50 St. Louis, $20.00 Minneapolis; No. 1 alfalfa, $23.50 Kansas City, $23.50 Minneapolis; No. 1 prairie, $15.00 Kansas City, $19.50 St. Louis, $16.00 Minneapolis.

Vanderlip Admits His Charge Was "Gossip"

Washington.—The honor of the late President Harding was unstained by the corruption which idle and irresponsible gossip has whispered was concealed in the sale of his newspaper, the Marion (O.) Star, a few weeks before his death.

In the senate oil committee's inquiry Mr. Vanderlip was able to produce no facts in substantiation of the insinuation that the price paid Mr. Harding for the property covered a sinister deal. His speech, he said, was based on the whisperings of New York acquaintances, not one of whom, however, would he name to the committee.

The purchasers of the Star submitted a statement pertaining to the purchase which completely exploded the insinuations of corruption. The committee declined even to cross-examine the purchasers.

36 Killed, Many Hurt in Riots in Bavaria

Speyer, Germany.—The latest figures available following the recovery from the town hall of Pirmasens of more bodies of Separatists slain in Tuesday night's butchery by Nationalists show thirty-six dead. In Wednesday's battle between Separtists and police at Kaiserslautern ten were killed and about a dozen seriously wounded. The Separtists were either burned alive or killed in hand-to-hand fighting or beaten to death with clubs and axes after they had surrendered. Their bodies were then thrown back into the flames.

Navy Flight to Pole Halted by President

Washington.—President Coolidge instructed Secretary of the Navy Denby to cease preparations for the North Polar flight of the dirigible Shenandoah. Opposition to the required expenditure of $350,000 prompted the order. This was considered tantamount to abandonment of the expedition.

More Time on Returns

Washington.—An extension to June 15 of the date for filing tax returns of domestic corporations was announced on Thursday by the bureau of internal revenue.

Orders Canadian Released

Ottawa.—Immediate release of T. G. McKenzie, a Canadian, who is being held for 200,000 ransom by the Villa bandits, has been ordered by Adolfo de la Huerta, rebel commander, according to word received here.

Venizelos Policy Will Live

Athens.—Premier Kafandaris, successor of M. Venizelos, declared that he would carry out the principles of his predecessor. The retirement of M. Venizelos is only temporary.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

What the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

Impatience with the rate of progress of the special session of the Iowa legislature was formally expressed in both houses the other day. A resolution asking the appointment of a joint whip committee to keep bills moving was introduced in the senate by Senator Banta of Delaware county. The house threw out a dragnet for members whose excessive absenteeis has provoked the other representatives. The duties of the committee would be to ascertain the status of all pending bills; report any delinquencies of committees; provide for the attendance at each session of some member who is prepared to handle every bill on the calendar, and pass on all amendments proposing new legislative matter. No bill with amendments proposing new legislation would be in order for consideration in either house without the approval of the whip committee, the Banta resolution further provides. New legislation hindered the progress of both houses of the legislature. Indignation over absence of members who had bills on the calendar in charge was expressed by members of both houses when each was forced to adjourn because nobody was present to explain provisions of bills.

An amendment to Iowa's fish and game law, under which a $1 license fee would be imposed for fishing in stock and meandered lakes and streams, was adopted by the house of representatives by a vote of 54 to 42. The amendment provides for a combined fishing and hunting license to cost $1. There is now a $1 hunting license fee, but no fee whatever for fishing. Under the amendment all women would be exempted from the fishing license fee, as would boys under 18 years of age and farm owners or tenants of their relatives when fishing on owned or leased lands. Champians of the fishing license fee asserted that unless such a fee was imposed to provide funds for stocking lakes and streams there would be "no real fishing in Iowa inside of five years."

Many members of the Iowa house of representatives declared that the small school districts will be compelled to curb their activities as the result of a curtailment in the house. of the amount which school districts are permitted to spend per pupil for school purposes. The amount which school districts are permitted to levy in taxes for school purposes is set by the present law at $100 in consolidated districts and $80 in districts which are not consolidated. The farm bloc in the house stood fairly solid against the amendment, but some of its members were weaned away by Representative Clark's point that the curtailment was in the interest of economy, and that one good place to economize is in the schools, which expend 60 per cent of the money raised annually in Iowa for taxes.

A new method of selection of municipal court jurymen, recommended by all the municipal court judges, by which it is claimed the expense and work of picking jurors may be reduced to one-tenth the present cost without minimizing the distribution of duty, is asked of the legislature in an amendment to be offered by Senator Goodwin of Polk county. The amendment is to be offered to H. F. 220. Instead of inclosing the name of each voter in an envelope, as in the present system, only every tenth name in each precinct would be inclosed. All these envelopes are placed in two barrels now in the clerk's office. The barrels are rotated; but the envelopes have become so bulky that they are not shaken up in the rolling and the number of envelopes is increasing.

One bill up for consideration, extends to packing plants, mercantile establishments and similar concerns employing night watchmen and guards the right to arm them with weapons, but it takes away from mayors and chiefs of police the right to issue gun permits, and in court cases where the right of a defendant to carry a gun is questioned the law specifies that the burden of proof shall be upon the defendant to prove that he holds such a permit.

Eugenics legislation cleared the first hurdle in the Iowa legislature when the senate, by a vote of 31 to 13, adopted the Gilchrist-Holdoegel amendment to the code revision bill on marriage and incest requiring male applicants for marriage licenses to present to the district court clerk a physician's certificate, executed within ten days preceding the application, stating that there is no reason to believe the applicant has any venereal disease.

The house committee on judiciary, of which Representative C. F. Clark, of Cedar Rapids, is chairman, has recommended to the Iowa house amendments to the "gun toting" laws to still further restrict the use of firearms.

The house passed two senate bills, relating to the state commerce council and to the estates of descendants, and concurred in senate amendments to the bill on private corporations. It refused, by a 76 to 2 vote, to concur in the senate amendments to the bill on certain special liens.

The right to issue permits to carry dangerous weapons was restricted to county sheriffs in the "gun-toting bill" as passed by the house of representatives. The measure, already passed by the senate, was entirely rewritten by the house judiciary committee and passed the house in that form.

CIVIL SERVICE BILL IS P... BY HOUSE

The house of the Iowa leg... held one of its longest deli... meetings of the special session... posing of four code bills and ... lution urging congress to enac... lation to give relief to agricu...

For more than five hours ... lons deliberated, disposing of ... of the more important code bi... will come before the assembly ... the special session on code re...

The civil service will was ... the measures passed during ... ternoon session.

Clerks and baliiffs of the ... pal court are placed under ci... vice under an amendment to ... as passed by the house recen... the past these city employe... taken an active part in munic... litical campaigns. Now, h... they will be unable to do so ... civil service law strictly prohi... litical activity.

A specific statement that ... sailors and marines shall be ... preference in appointment to ci... vice positions provided that ... qualifications are equal to th... other candidates was also ap...

The employment of extra po... ficers except in times of cr... great public danger is also pro... under the amended statutes.

As amended the bill provide... persons who have not passed t... ular civil service examination... not be casually employed as ... This section of the bill was in... to remove from office political ... men of superintendents of publ... ty who have been keeping n... eligible under the civil service ... the pay rolls of the various ci...

As a substitute for the B... resolution, the house passed ... lution requesting congress to ... legislation intended to relieve t... mers of the central west.

The plan indorsed is the for... of a government export corp... as suggested by Henry C. W... secretary of agriculture. It i... the McNary-Haugen bill now ... congress proposing to export a... tural products through the me... a government export corp... which would buy farm produc... price equal in purchasing po... that enjoyed by those products ... the war. These products wo... sold abroad at the world price a... loss on the exported proportion ... be pro-rated back to the prod...

An amendment to the highw... of Iowa to permit counties to ... money raised by issuance of bo... primary road improvement, for ... ling as well as hard surfacing, ... posed in a resolution prepared ... troduction in the senate today ... ator Bowman of Blackhawk ... Senator Bowman points out th... surfacing of all highways is no... sary and that counties should ... en the right to use gravel whe... materials will answer the p... The resolution calls upon th... commission to frame a bill fo... duction at the present session ... ing the situation.

Swayed by opinions that mo... social reform lies in the teac... the Bible in public schools, th... senate has passed an amendm... educational bill 85 making th... ing of the Bible in all public ... mandatory. A commission o... of which the superintendent ... lic instruction shall be chair... officio, is created by the bill ... duty it shall be to select an e... list of Bible passages to be ... the schools without comme... commission would be appoi... the governor immediately up... sage of the act and would ser... out pay.

There is a possibility that ... cial session may so change th... ent laws with reference to th... colleges that tuition will be ... at all the state schools. Th... cost of education is a perplexi... lem for the legislature, the sta... of education and all concer... movement in the Fortieth ge... sembly to work out some tuiti... failed to result in any legisl... this nature. It is possible it ... put through at this session.

The legislature was in sess... than an hour one morning. ... house thirteen bills were on ... lendar, but committee chairm... had them in charge were al... asked for delay in their co... tion to permit preparation of ... ments. The senate had only ... bills out of committee and the... over for similar reasons. ... them was senate file 51, the ... tion enforcement act.

The house has refused to ... amendments which would h... moved the prohibition against ... rel shooting, and which woul... permitted an open season on ... chickens for four weeks in t... fall.

At the conclusion of the af... a brief memorial service wa... in memory of Abraham Lincol... resentative E. A. Grimwood of... county read the Gettysburg ... and delivered a speech in tri... the dead president.

The house passed code bill ... relating to the state fire mars...

Senators Wichman of Ha... county, White of Benton county... ing of Mills county, Gilchrist of... hontas county and Shane of W... county were appointed by Pr... John Hammill of the senate as ... mittee to receive evidence upon ... Senator Browne of Jackson co... cently asked an investigation ... state insurance department. ... committee will, after hearing ... dence, make a recommendation ... senate on the action it should ... the investigation proposal.

THE RED LOCK

A Tale of the Flatwoods

By DAVID ANDERSON
Author of "The Blue Moon"

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

THE PREACHER

SYNOPSIS.—On the banks of the Wabash stand Texie Colin and Jack Warhope, young and very much in love. Texie is the only daughter of old Pap Simon, rich man and money-lender. Jack is the orphan bound boy of Pap Simon, who had foreclosed a mortgage on the Warhope estate. At first Texie and Jack talk sadly of Ken Colin, the girl's missing brother. Then Jack says that in ten days his servitude will be over, that he will ride out into the big world to seek his fortune. Both know what that will mean to them.

CHAPTER I—Continued.

—2—

She glanced away along the distant windings of the road.

"When men of the woods ride out—yonder, they don't come back. Ken—didn't."

The man's eyes searched her face for some hidden meaning in her words; apparently did not find it.

"I ain't aimin' t' let the big worl out yonder swaller me up like it did—Ken. Some flatboatmen told me yesterd'y there's a wagon train makin' up in the city for the gold diggin's in California. Y'u know, when a bound boy's time's out, the man he's bound to most gener'ly starts 'im off with a hoss and saddle and bridle. Pap Simon said he fig'r'd on givin' me Graylock.

"I 'low we'll jine that wagon train—Graylock and me. And when we find gold, we're—comin' back."

He stole a shy look at her. She dropped her eyes.

"You'll f'rget the Flatwoods when you've found—gold."

He seemed to search her words again for some meaning that he wished much to find. But her face was very thoughtful and turned aside.

"F'rget the Flatwoods! Where else in the world is there a sight like that? The minute I've got money enough I'm comin' back. I'll buy the homestead back f'om Pap Simon; finish the house; and then—"

An arm unconsciously reached toward her. The movement brought the red-roofed cottage into his line of vision—the red-roofed cottage, where lay a paper that bound him to servitude. He drew his arm back; crushed his hat rim in his powerful fingers.

Down by the rivulet in the barn lot the geese honked and clapped their wings. The sound aroused the man from the half bitter mood and he glanced at his companion, to find her eyes upon him.

"Jack—" she hesitated; "do y'u s'pose it could be the red lock that made Ken act like 'e did?"

The question was so at variance with the man's trend of thought that he was a long time considering it.

"It ain't the red lock," he finally answered in his slow way, "it's the drop of blood that come along with it. F'r that matter, though, every man gits a bad drop 'r two out of the past. But them bad drops can be overcome, if a man bucks ag'in 'em. The trouble with Ken was it didn't 'pear like he wanted t' buck ag'in' his."

"The 'curse of Colin,'" was the girl's musing comment. "F'r hundreds of years—ever sence the days of 'Red Colin,' the old sea pirate—it's be'n breakin' out in the family every few generations. It alw'ys worried Ken that it broke out on him. I've sometimes thought it would 'a' be'n better if he'd never 'a' found out the meanin' of that red lock—that it was the 'curse of Colin'—"

"That's it," he commented. "I 'low Ken fig'r'd the curse had 'im anyhow, and so it wasn't wo'th while t' buck ag'in it."

"Mother kep' the lock cut off, y'u know, till Ken was big enough t' notice it himself. After that he alw'ys kep' it combed under so's it didn't show. I don't reckon anybody in the Flatwoods but you and me and father know'd 'e had it."

"Yes," the woodsman interrupted, "ol' Uncle Nick Wiffles knows. But that's as good as sayin' it's dead and buried. Nothin' ever gits a-past Uncle Nick's jaw."

He grinned, pushed up the mop of tousled hair that fell over his brow and pointed to a scar.

"That's where Ken struck me with 'is whip han'le the day I found out 'e had it."

The girl ran her slim fingers over the scar.

"And he cut me with the whip b'cause I flew at 'im when 'e done it."

"And then I hit 'im with a rock b'cause 'e cut you."

The girl shivered.

"I thought he'd kill y'u that day," she said. "His hat fell off, his hair was mussed, and y'u know how awful it made 'im look when that red lock worked out and fell down over 'is eyes—wild and savage and terrible; like ol' 'Red Colin' must 'a' looked. He jerked y'u up and drawed the butt of 'is whip—mercy! It makes me shiver t' think about it. But he only laughed—hard and wild—and let y'u go."

A smile crawled across the bold features of the woodsman, narrowed his eyes and pinched out two queer little wisps of friendly frankness.

"This ain't Fourth o' July, n'r Chris'maa, n'r nobody's weddin'. How come the scenery?" He reached out his big hand and touched the smart bow of ribbon at her waist.

"W'y, didn't y'u know, the new preacher's a-comin' on the Milford stage this evenin', and we're all goin' t' meet 'im—you, too."

The twinkle at the corners of the man's eyes deepened.

"Am I?"

"Father's already fixed it f'r 'im t' have the use of ol' preacher Mason's study at the parsonage—Mis' Mason's terrible lonesome sence the ol' preacher died, and he'll be company. He'll do 'is writin' and makin' up 'is sermons there. He'll board with us—he ain't married, y'u know."

She paused and laid a hand on the man's arm. He covered it with his great palm; looked hard at her, with suddenly sobered eyes.

"He was a classmate of—Ken's," she went on, "and he's now one of the teachers and preachers in the very college where Ken went."

The man's eyes widened. She drew her hand from under his palm.

"I 'low that's why father was s' quick t' hire 'im; and mebbe that's why he was s' willin' t' come. He ain't none too well, his letter said, bein' nigh broke down with teachin' and preachin', and he 'lowed this would be a good place t' rest up in."

Her eyes swept the serene landscape; suddenly she raised an arm and pointed to the blurred end of the road. His eyes followed the direction of her rigid finger. The Milford stage was just crawling out of the bronze shadows and coming into view. The next moment she had seized his hand and was dragging him, half unwilling, down the cliff.

CHAPTER II

East Meets West.

Of four stages that passed through Buckeye each day—the evening stage from up the river—from the city twenty miles above—was by far the most important. Its arrival was the one big event of the day. Half the village was usually gathered about the broken porch of Zeke Polick's general store to see it come in.

The Buckeye post office shifted back and forth across the River road about as often as the nation changed presidents. Zeke Polick was a Whig, and the man in the White House in far-off

The Old Man Grinned, as Broadly as the Pinched Shrewdness of His Dry Face Would Allow.

Washington happened to be a Whig. That's why the post office was in a store on the north side of the road in the year of grace, 1849, instead of in a store on the south side.

The River road was a bigger institution than the town. It not only halved the town; it well-nigh halved its political faith. From the Warhope farmstead at the east edge to the school house at the west edge, it formed, in political years, a sort of "devil's lane" between the north siders and the south siders. The farmstead and the red-roofed cottage—which is to say Jack Warhope and the Colins—were both on the north side of the road.

Simon Colin had once been Zeke Polick's partner, but had dissolved the partnership years before to follow the more lucrative business of lending money and collecting rents—mostly his own. A banker without a bank, so shrewd was his judgment and so hard the bargains he drove, that half the Flatwoods was under mortgage to him.

He still kept a sort of office in the store—a desk by the dusty window; a narrow shelf nailed along the tops of the palings at the longer side; a chair; a table against the wall, on it three or four law books that were never opened. There was no safe. That was at the red-roofed cottage.

Not a very imposing office—but the commerce of the Flatwoods passed across those time-faded, unpainted palings. Even Zeke Polick, Simon's closest business associate, would have been astonished to know the actual wealth that journeyed in an old satchel back and forth every day between house and store.

Dangerous?—twice the attempt had been made to see inside that satchel, and a man had died each time. The old banker carried a huge double-barreled horse pistol, loaded half to the muzzle with buckshot, and he knew the way to its light trigger as the weasel knows the way to its den.

And the safe at home—a cracksman from the city tried that one night. The old man blew a hole in his ribs the size of an open hand with a sawed-off shotgun he always kept near his bed.

The old banker had just closed his desk, picked up the rusty satchel, and come out on the porch of the store when his daughter and the big woodsman joined the crowd around the post office—a crowd doubly large, gathered for the doubly auspicious occasion.

The girl ran to her father and slipped an arm about his waist. He looked down at her and grunted. It was the only sign he gave that he knew she was there.

Up beyond the Warhope farmstead there came a prodigious rattle of wheels, a clatter of iron-shod hoofs, and the Milford stage dashed into sight; roared across the wooden bridge where the River road crossed Eagle run; rumbled past the church into the village and pulled up in front of the post office.

The crowd flocked around it. The guard threw off the mail sack. Zeke Polick picked it up and carried it in, and the lumbering stage rattled away down the river.

One passenger had alighted, a tall young man wearing a full beard, neatly cropped and pointed—the new preacher, without a doubt—quite the oddest array of satchels and umbrella, patent leather boots and high hat, stiff neck stock and enormous spectacles, that had ever invaded the Flatwoods.

He seemed nervous as he stood at the side of the road peering through his enormous spectacles, slightly amber tinted, upon the crowd.

The old banker, with his daughter a step behind him, advanced, touched his faded black hat and extended his hand.

"The Rev. Caleb Hopkins, I 'low?"

The eyes behind the huge spectacles lighted. The young preacher dropped one of his satchels and met the outstretched hand.

"Ah—Mr.—Colin, I take it?"

"All but the mister. I'm jist plain Sime Colin."

The old man grinned, as broadly as the pinched shrewdness of his dry face would allow.

"I want y'u t' meet my daughter." He half turned; jerked his thumb toward the girl; jerked it back toward the preacher. "Texie, Mr. Hopkins."

The young preacher touched his tall hat; dropped his other satchel, grasped the girl's hand in both his own and pressed it closer than the occasion could possibly warrant.

It may have been merely the expression of a genial nature touched with the fervency of his profession—the outflowing of a benevolence that embraced all humanity—but even so, it brought a quick flush to the girl's face, and drove her eyes to the ground.

The old banker had turned to the crowd.

"Step up, step up," he called, "and shake hands with the new parson. The way y'u hang back, he'll think he's drapped off amongst a pack o' publicans and sinners."

The crowd had evidently been waiting for just such an invitation. Stolid faces raveled into grins, and the quaint vernacular of the Flatwoods had an airing. Odd bits of philosophy, ancient jokes, that nobody would have dared to spring on his neighbor, were freely sprung on the hapless and helpless sojourner from the polite East.

The informal reception was over and most of the crowd gone when Texie noticed Jack Warhope still leaning against the porch post where she had left him. She ran back, caught his arm and dragged him forward.

"Mr. Hopkins, meet Ja—Mr. Warhope."

"Glad to meet you, Mr. Warhope."

The young preacher stretched forth his hand; the other grasped it. The peering eyes behind the heavy glasses studied him with curious intentness, but the woodsman, only mildly interested, missed the inquisitive look.

The old banker had taken a step up the road.

"Well," he said, "I 'low that jist about winds up the how-d'-y'-doin'. Texie, run in and git the mail, and we'll be moseyin'."

He half turned and glanced back over his shoulder at the preacher.

"I've dickered the use of our ol' preacher's study f'r y'u at the parsonage. Sister Mason—the widder, y'u know—she 'lows she'll be right glad to have y'u come over and use the study, she's that lonely sence the parson died. We'll stop as we go a-past, and you can take a look at the study, and meet Sister Mason. But, as I writ y'u, I'm aimin' f'r y'u t' put up with me, at least f'r a few days"—the brisk, raspy voice softened—"I'm honein' t' have a talk with y'u about—the boy."

He glared down at the road; the preacher studied him curiously.

So long had the old money-lender been accustomed to dominate everybody about him that it did not once occur to him to inquire what the preacher's wishes might be. He strode another step or two up the road, remembered that his daughter had gone in after the mail, stopped and frowned half impatiently toward the store door.

At that moment Texie came out with half a dozen letters in her hand, saw the big woodsman, and, with a tiny wisp of roguishness in her eyes, stopped on the edge of the porch.

"Yes; there's a fairy peeping into the spring right now."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Enmity of your enemies is less uncertain than the friendship of your friends.

100,000 PEOPLE PRAISE TANLAC FOR ITS MERIT

World's Greatest Tonic Is Endorsed by People Grateful for the Relief It Has Given Them.

Actuated by a deep sense of gratitude and desire to help their suffering neighbors, more than 100,000 well-known men and women have offered their personal experiences as proof of the wonderful health-giving powers of TANLAC, the World's Greatest Tonic.

Throughout each and every one of this long list of testimonials rings the spirit of earnest sincerity which charterizes the following excerpts:

Mrs. D. J. Pritchard, Cleveland, Ohio: "People wanting to know what TANLAC will do may communicate with me. It increased my weight 32 lbs. and brought me the very help I longed for."

J. H. Taylor, Memphis, Tenn.: "To me TANLAC was just like a good friend—gave me help when I needed help most."

Mrs. Mary Schumaker, Racine, Wis.: "Every year at the change of seasons a course of TANLAC makes me eat with a relish, restores my strength and leaves me in splendid health."

Judge George P. Wagnes, Police Magistrate, Belleville, Ill.: "That I am enjoying such fine health now I can attribute only to the help I received from TANLAC."

Mrs. C. K. Sellers, Springfield, Mo.: "Since taking TANLAC I enjoy the blessing of perfect health and have the complexion of a schoolgirl."

V. E. Ferry, age 73, Seattle, Wash.: "TANLAC built my weight up 21 lbs., rid me of fifteen years' stomach trouble, and left me feeling many years younger."

TANLAC IS FOR SALE BY ALL GOOD DRUGGISTS. ACCEPT NO SUBSTITUTE. OVER 40 MILLION BOTTLES SOLD.

TAKE TANLAC VEGETABLE PILLS.

Lost in the Fog

Children lost in London fogs have furnished the basis for many a story. Temporary separation from home and friends is, however, merely one of the minor tragedies shrouded in the murk, health statisticians have found. Recently it was discovered that the death rate from bronchitis and pneumonia increased sharply during the week following extra heavy fogs. Large quantities of unburnt coal from chimneys of factories and private residences, held in the atmosphere by the fog, are blamed for lowering the individual resistance to the disease germs, and so boosting the death rate.

Cuticura Soap for the Complexion.
Nothing better than Cuticura Soap daily and Ointment now and then as needed to make the complexion clear, scalp clean and hands soft and white. Add to this the fascinating, fragrant Cuticura Talcum, and you have the Cuticura Toilet Trio.—Advertisement.

Split Infinitives

There are bushels of magazines in the United States now, but still only about six that you can sell highbrow stuff to—we glory in split infinitives.

Demand BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy—Genuine

Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Genuine—Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.
Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets.
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Size of the Human Body

Authorities differ in fixing the number of square feet of the surface of the human body, there being no fixed limit owing to the variations in size, but a man of 5 feet 8 inches weighing around 175 pounds has a skin surface of approximately 16 square feet. The larger men and women measure more, some of them very much more, while some of the more diminutive bodies have a measurement as low as 10 square feet.

Thousands Keep In Good Health
by taking one or two Brandreth Pills at bed time. They cleanse the system and purify the blood.—Adv.

Some Typewriter

A Swiss inventor claims to have produced a typewriter which will automatically type words as they are dictated to it by the human voice.

Never lend yourself to the borrowing of trouble.

His Hour of Rest

Peck.—The after-dinner nap is my favorite hour of the entire Sunday.

Heck—I thought you never slept after dinner.

Peck—I don't, but my wife does.—Boys' Magazine.

Burning Skin Diseases
quickly relieved and healed by Cole's Carbolisalve. Leaves no scars. No medicine chest complete without it. 30c and 60c at druggists, or J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill.—Advertisement.

Some View

Cyclist (thinking to have a joke with Simple Sammy)—Is it true that you can see as far as Australia from the church?

Simple Sammy—Oh, you can see farther than that.

"What! Farther than Australia?"

"Yes, to the sun!"

Anyone can "await developments" if his temperament is phlegmatic enough.

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, prepared for Infants in arms and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

75% of disease avoided through internal cleanliness

Internal Cleanliness More Important Than Bathing

WHY run the risk of sickness? Keep clean internally. When you are constipated, poisons form in the accumulated food waste. These poisons, absorbed by the blood, attack all parts of the body. The first results, headache, biliousness, a feeling of "heaviness," etc., serve as warnings of a graver danger. If this intestinal poisoning continues unchecked, you become the victim of some serious organic disease.

This is why intestinal specialists state that constipation is the primary cause of three-quarters of all illness, including the gravest diseases of life.

Laxatives Aggravate Constipation

Washing Cleans Only the Skin

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favor Lubrication

Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Not a Medicine

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water it is harmless.

Get rid of constipation and avoid disease by adopting the habit of internal cleanliness. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

Nujol

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

For Internal Cleanliness

Political Announcements

COUNTY RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election to the office of Recorder of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Clarissa Abel. *

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican Primary to be held in June, 1924.—H. C. Meyer. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to a decision of the republican voters at the primary election in June, 1924. I solicit your support on a platform of strict economy, fair and impartial treatment.—Wallace Darrah. *

I hreeby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock Contuy, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the Primaries to be held in June, 1924.—H. L. Suckow, Klemme, Ia.*

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary —John Suurballe. (J-10)

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—H. A. Sweigard. *

COUNTY AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of County Auditor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters of the June, 1924 Primary.—J. D. Madison. *

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Verne C. Grau. J-17)

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock County, Iowa, subject to the decision of the republican primaries to be held in June 1924. I solicit the support of all voters, both men and women.—V. S. White.

COUNTY SHERIFF

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county. subject to the will of the voters at the republican primaries to be held in June 1924.—Howard Hanson, Crystal Lake. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate on the Republican ticket for Sheriff of Hancock County at the June primaries. Pledging tht same service that I have previously given while in public office.—Peck Hanson.

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock Coutny, subject to the decision of the voters at the primary in June.—W. C. Zeismer.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 Primaries. I solicit the vote of everybody.—C. N. White, Klemme, Iowa. *

COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—J. C. Hanson, Garner, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination of Clerk of Courts of Hancock County subject to a decision of the voters at the June 1924 Primaries.—Chris J. Johansen, Britt, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, and solicit your support at the June Primary election, 1924.—F. P. Oleson. F-14

FOR STATE SENATOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for State Senator from this 43rd district of Iowa comprising Cerro Gordo, Franklin and Hancock counties, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 primaries. If nominated and elected I agree to abide by the precedent established in this district and will not be a candidate for a second term.—C. F. JOHNSTON. Sheffield, Iowa. Feb. 1st, 1924.

ARE SOYBEANS GOOD FEED?

Soybn Values for Cattle Feeding to Be Given Out Tuesday April 22 Cattle Feeders' "Hey Day"

"How are we going to handle soybeans after we get 'em?" is the question that is up to the farmers who generally, says John M. Evvard, nationally known feeding authority and head of the aimal husbandry experiment section of Iowa State College. He will discuss and answer it as a part of the program of the annual Cattle Feeders' "Hey Day", which will be held t Ames Tuesday, April 22.

"Soybeans are not eaten by humans," Mr. Evvard says; "all of them a reconsumed by livestock. Beef cattle can utilize soybeans, but what are ground soybeans worth when fed to cattle? How do they act? Will they replace linseed or Cottonseed oilmeal pound for pound Will it pay to sen soybeans to the mill and have the oil taken out and then bring the soybean oilmeal back to the farm? Or, is it better to beed the soybean oilmeal after the mills have extracted most of this high grade expensive oil? Does the extra oil produce scouring? How detrimental is that? Is there any way to avoid it?

"If a ton of linseed oilmeal is worth $50.00, what can a catte feed er affor dfor soybean oilmeal? continues Mr. Evvard. "It is nothing unusual i nIowa for one acre to grow enough soybeans to make a ton of ground soybeans. Ayield of one-half to three fourths of a ton is the general expectation. Now, if linseed oilmeal is worth$ 50.00 a ton, and an acre of soybeans will yield a ton of ground soybeans, then there would be $50.00 returned from the one acre. Are soybeans worth this much as cattle feed?

Ten groups of cattle are benig fed at the Iowa Experiment Station jn order to determine the value of soybean concentrates, soybean roughages, oats,minerals and linseed oilmeal in the fattening of steers. Results of the tests will be given out to the cattle feeders who ar eat Ames for Cattle Feeder's "Hey Day", April 22.

FIGURE TOAD WORTH $19.44

Worth That Alone for the Cutworms He Eats in Three Months.

During May, June and July, the three months of greatest activity of toads, it is estimated tha each oad will desroy 360 beneficial insects and $9,720 harmful ones. Altho cutworms for but 16 percnet of a toad's diet the value of his services in destroying cutworms alone equalls $19.44 yer year. This figure is obtained by allowing one cent for each cutworm eaten, since many gardeners offer their children a similiar sum for each one destroyed.

Some idea if the toads' appetite for the fact that one was known to have eaten 34 grown celery caterpillars in three hours.

Court House News

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Nancy M. Pollock to Alva M. Pollock, W. D. date 5-15-1907, E½ lots 5-6 block 10 West Side add Garner, ... $1

Gilmore Johnson wf to H. D. Foster, W. D. date 9-28-23, lots 9-10 blk. 1 Stubbins 4th add Britt. .$4500.00

Geo. C. Call to Gertrude Magor Q. C. D. date 2-16-24 lot 20 blk 11 Call Orig. Plat to Kanawha $1.00

First National Bk. Kanawha to Peoples State Bank of Corwith, Q. C. D. date 2-18-24 part of lots 1-2-3-4 blk 4 Corwith $1.25

O. D. Church to Sarah Church W. D. date 2-20-24 S½ SW¼ 19-94-23 ..... $1.00 etc

E. E. Smith wf to T. R. Robinson Q. C. D. date 2-21-24 SW¼ 34-96-26 ..... $1.00 etc

Chew Your Food Longer

"Doctor, there's an awful rumbling in my stomach, like a wagon running over a street car track."

"H'm, probably that truck you ate last night."

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Office opposite from Hotel Klemme

Phone No. 19

Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

Heinz "57"

Just to remind you again that there is none better than "HEINZ 57" varieties.

"Brighten-up" your meals by using one or more of the following Heinz 57 on the table each day—the result will please you:

HEINZ 57 PICKLES, both sweet and dill—we have them in bulk.
HEINZ 57 KETCHUP—very fine.
HEINZ 57 MUSTARD.
HEINZ 57 CHILI SAUCE
HEINZ 57 WORCHESTER SAUCE
HEINZ 57 BEEF STEAK SAUCE

S-P-E-C-I-A-L—We have Sauer Kraut now in bulk. Come in and get your supply today. This is very nice Kraut.

J. P. Larsen & Sons

The Klemme Meat Market

HOUSEHOLD GUIDE

For Painting, Varnishing, Staining and Enameling

IMPORTANT: Each of the products specified below bears our name and trade mark

TRADE MARK

	TO PAINT Use product named below	TO VARNISH Use product named below	TO STAIN Use product named below	TO ENAMEL Use product named below
AUTOMOBILES	S-W Auto Enamel: for the man who paints his own car	S-W Auto Enamel Clear: a colorless varnish		S-W Auto Enamel: assorted colors
AUTOMOBILE TOPS AND SEATS	S-W Auto Top and S-W Auto Seat Dressing
BRICK	SWP House Paint: a full oil gloss S-W Concrete Wall Finish: dull finish			Old Dutch Enamel: full gloss for outside exposure
CEILINGS, Interior	Flat-Tone: the washable, flat oil paint	Scar-Not Varnish: for work only	S-W H...	...loid: assorted colors
Exterior	SWP House Paint:			...h Enamel: white, ...ory, gloss or rubbed
CONCRETE	S-W Concrete Wall Finish: a paint, resists weather
DOORS, Interior	SWP House Paint:			...ssorted colors
Exterior	SWP House Paint:	R...		...amel: white, For interior ...e
FENCES	SWP House Paint: Metalastic (iron or wire only) S-W Roof and Bridge Paint: for rough work
FLOORS, Interior (wood)	S-W Inside Floor Paint: stands repeated scrubbing	Mar-... w...		...Paint: ...nish
Concrete	S-W Concrete Floor Finish: wears well; washes well			...Finish.
Porch	S-W Porch and Deck Paint:
FURNITURE, Indoors	Enameloid: the decorative enamel	Scar-Not... stand...		...white, ...ubbed
Porch	Enameloid: assorted colors	Rexpar V... resist...
HOUSE OR GARAGE Exterior	SWP House Paint:	Rexpar Var... weather
LINOLEUM	S-W Inside Floor Paint: stands repeated scrubbing	Mar-Not Va... protects th...
RADIATORS	Flat-Tone: flat oil paint S-W Aluminum or Gold Paint			...Enameloid: assorted colors
ROOFS, Shingle Metal Composition	S-W Roof and Bridge Paint: Metalastic: Ebonol: black coal tar paint		...servative Shingle Stain:
SCREENS	S-W Screen Enamel:			S-W Screen Enamel
TOYS	S-W Family Paint: assorted colors	Rexpar Varnish:	Floorlac: (inside use) a varnish and stain combined	Enameloid: assorted colors
WALLS, Interior (Plaster or Wallboard)	Flat-Tone: the washable, flat oil paint SWP House Paint: a full oil gloss			Old Dutch Enamel: white, gray, ivory, gloss or rubbed effect Enameloid: assorted colors
WOODWORK, Interior	SWP House Paint: gloss Flat-Tone: flat oil paint	Scar-Not Varnish: high gloss but can be rubbed to a dull finish Velvet Finish Varnish No. 1044: dries dull without rubbing	S-W Handcraft Stain: penetrating spirit stain for new hardwood S-W Oil Stain: for new soft wood Floorlac: for new or old wood; a varnish and stain combined	Old Dutch Enamel: white, gray, ivory; dull or gloss; aristocrat of enamels, specified by leading architects Enameloid: assorted colors

Dingy Walls transformed

Note the correct paint or enamel for your walls.

The "Household Guide" gives the recommendations of the Sherwin-Williams Company which has for years devoted the resources of the largest paint and varnish industry in the world to producing paints, varnishes, stains and enamels exactly suited to different purposes. The complete "Household Guide," covering all surfaces to be coated is displayed at this store. Come and see it. We can supply the material specified.

DECO-TINT—is a sanitary, low-priced wall finish, or tint producing a pleasing, beautiful wall at a low cost.

Copyright, 1923, by The Sherwin-Williams Co.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINTS AND VARNISHES — COVER THE EARTH

NOTE: Best results can only be had by following the carefully prepared directions on labels.

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

Announcing The Opening Of

The New Drug Store

We wish to announce to the people of Klemme and the surrounding vicinity, that we have opened up a new Drug Store in the G. A. Pabst Building (formerly occupied by E. S. D. Kahrs, Druggist.)

Our entire stock is all new, fresh merchandise direct from the Drug Company, and just un-packed. We will carry a full stock of all Drugs, Medicines, Remedies, Sundries, Toilet Articles, School Supplies, Wall Paper, Paints and Varnishes, Etc.

We will also carry a full line of Tobacco, Cigars, Candy, in both bulk and fancy boxed.

We want you to come in and get acquainted. We will be glad to serve you promptly and courteously in our line and we will appreciate your patronage.

We can fill your prescriptions—bring them to us

G. G. SENEY Reg. Phar.

Phone 40 Klemme, Iowa

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Seney's Drug Store Phone 4009.

Klemme, Iowa

Short Talks

BY

Uncle John

NO. 7

As I told you last week I had to wait until now to tell you about some of the other things I found out. The manager said that the Company had six water power plants, that they owned as well as five steam power plants, making eleven power plants owned and besides these the Company have contracts for power from six other plants, four of them being water power plants. I looked at a map that showed just how these different powers were connected together, and I was surprised to learn just how the Company could bring the electricity from one place to another just as it was best to do so.

One part of the system I noticed did not have water power plants, but I was told, had a very fine central steam plant of nearly 1400 horsepower, besides having two other steam plants and being conected to the main long distance line. And after seeing the figures showing the cost of a great number of things that make up an electric power plant and distribution system, and the number of times this investment had to be duplicated, it did not need anything more to convince me that the two systems showed over $4,000,000 invested. I asked the manager where all this money came from and he said that a great many of the customers had invested, and that the rest of the money came from "hard boiled" investors living all over the United States who put their money in because they know it was a safe place and paid a good regular income. As some of the money had been in the Company for ten years, and never a penny lost, I made up my mind, right there, that I wanted some of the stock so I said to the manager, "I happen to have five hundred dollars not bringing in much, so you just put me down for five shares as I guess I know a good investment when I see one."

AVERY TOWNSHIP NEWS

Al Williams is visiting at the Frank Roths home for a few days.

J. A. Wade was a caller at the D. A. Marshall home Monday afternoon.

Jennie and Johanna Albers, who have been out of school on account of measles, returned to school last Monday.

Quite a number from this vicinity attended the contest in Klemme last Thursday night.

Will Waddingham and family were Meservey callers last Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Marshall and Fred Bachman and family were visitors at the Ted Christie home Sunday.

Mr. nd Mrs. Fred Bell and baby were visitors at the home of Fred's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bell, Sunday.

Farewell Party

A farewell party was given Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Goll and daughter, Emma, last Friday night. A good time was had by all present. At a late hour lunch was served which consisted of sandwiches, cake, coffee, and fruit salad. Those present at the party were: Geo. Thieman and family; Henry Thieman and family; N. G. Moberly and family; Wm. Bell and family; Elko Buss and family; Sylvan Johnson and family; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fuller; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wille; and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Goll.

The Ship Ahoy Club, of Avery Township met at the home of Minnie Beek on February 23rd, with five members and the leader present. The Club has begun to make their uniforms. Lunch was srved at 4:30. The next meeting will be held at the home of Wava Bachman on March 1st. All members are requested to be present.

Once Is Enuf!

"Marriage is not practiced in China."

"How terrible!"

"Yes, the first one is permanent."

The Writing Lady

By ELLA SAUNDERS

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

"MISS MARTIN, we're powerful glad to see you here again," said kindly Mrs. Pringle.

Doris Martin descended at the door of the farm house happily. She was always happy to get back to queer, simple, isolated Pleasant Valley, among these delightful, primitive people.

Doris Martin was an author, and quite a famous one. "The writing lady," they called her in the little settlement. She had spent the summer before in the valley and had embodied her experiences in a novel that had run into fifty thousand.

Queer, lovable people she had made them. There was old Silas Grigg, the deacon, an inimitable character who had really been the success of the book. There were half the young men and young women of the valley. And above all there was Mrs. Pringle.

Elizabeth Pringle, the kindly, middle-aged woman who was now welcoming her so hospitably, so ignorant of the fact that she, with the deacon, formed one of the central characters of the novel. Everything that was Elizabeth Pringle had gone into Doris' book, her queer ways, her homely speech, her simplicity.

Yes, Mrs. Pringle had been a find indeed. There were few Mrs. Pringles anywhere but in Pleasant Valley.

For a few moments, as Doris entered the pleasant, homely little sitting room, as they called it locally, her heart misgave her. She felt that she had been guilty of a sort of treachery to her kind hostess to embody her in the novel—no, not to embody her, but to make gentle ridicule of her in the way she had done.

Still, it was for the sake of art. That fact consoled her. It was legitimate to use all material that came one's way.

And then it was not as if Mrs. Pringle would ever know. Books never came into Pleasant Valley—at least, Doris Martin had never seen any, except the Bible and hymn books. If Mrs. Pringle did ever learn—Doris shuddered to think how she would feel. Very badly, undoubtedly. But there was no chance of that.

Mrs. Pringle was kinder than ever and treated her more respectfully than ever. And it was really quite like a scene out of her own book when Deacon Grigg came in after supper and sat with them in the little low-ceilinged room, talking of the crops and the flocks, and detailing the local news.

And then the real secret came out. "Yes, Marm, Mrs. Pringle and me aims to git married next month after the corn's been stacked. We've been kind of courting"—he glanced shyly at Mrs. Pringle—"off and on these three years past, and we allow we're old enough to know our own minds."

"I congratulate you very sincerely," said Doris; and she thought she simply must get this scene into her next novel.

Deacon Grigg's next words left Doris cold and quivering.

"We was reading that there book you wrote, Miss, 'Happy Valley,'" he said. "Mrs. Pringle and me used to set here a-reading it over the stove night after night last winter. And laugh—say, we laughed fit to split ourselves, seeing all the queer characters you got into it—old Hank, the liveryman, and Miss Jane, the school teacher. And we had to let 'em all read it after we got through."

Doris sat like a stone, overcome with horror. She had never dreamed that these people would discover her novel.

"It's good and true, Miss," said Deacon Grigg, "and I guess you ain't got such a long way to go now before you git to the top of the tree in this here writing business. Lord, how we laughed when you brought in them funny sayings of mine and Mrs. Pringle here. That's what I calls a real book, Miss Martin, a book that makes folks feel and think and reckernize themselves, not this sort of trash that so many authors writes."

Mrs. Pringle nodded and whispered, and the Deacon changed the subject. A little later Doris rose to go to bed.

But she sat in her room a long time, half-stunned still to think that they had read her book, and had taken it all so kindly.

"My next novel of Pleasant Valley will be a real one," Doris said.

For she felt that at last she had come to understand the valley as she had not done before.

Why He Threw Her Over

By MYRA CURTIS LANE

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

"AND he threw you over like that, Dorothy?"

Dorothy nodded tearfully. Maisie looked at her in flaming anger. Dorothy had been her chum since they were at school together. She had been going with Ray Crawford for months; now, it seemed, Ray had deliberately jilted her.

"Oh, I'll pay him out for that!" said Maisie.

And her bitterness against Ray was none the less because she had grown very fond of him. In fact she had been struggling for weeks past to be loyal to her chum and not to let her feeling for Ray sweep her off her feet.

"I'll pay him out, Dorothy," she said again.

From that moment she set herself to winning Ray's love. It is not a difficult task for a young and pretty girl like Maisie. But that evening when first Ray kissed her she was conscious of two instincts struggling within her. One was to forget everything in her love for Ray; to abandon herself to it. The other was to murder him.

Ray was desperately in love with her. There was no doubting that. He haunted her; he lay in wait for her. Slowly Maisie had seemed to surrender. Now the moment for her revenge had come.

"Sweetheart, when will you marry me?"

Maisie gave him a cold stare. "Marry you? Marry you, Ray? Why, surely you never thought I'd marry you, did you?"

"You told me you loved me. You let me kiss you."

"Oh, you've a lot to learn, Ray, if you think that amounts to anything. Lots of men have kissed me. Were you conceited enough to suppose that I was going to marry you just because of that? Go away and learn something about life!"

Ray stood his ground. "A girl who lets a man kiss her and behaves as you have done is no better than—"

He stopped right there. But it was enough. A flaming color rose in Maisie's cheeks.

"How dare you think you can insult me?" she exclaimed in furious tones. "If I let you kiss me it was to make a fool of you. I hate you more than any man I've ever known."

Ray bowed and went away, and Maisie, when he was gone, burst into passionate weeping.

She loved Ray with all her heart, and she had thrown away that love for her friend's sake, out of loyalty to her. After that Ray and she cut each other. Sometimes Maisie wondered whether the sacrifice had been worth while. Dorothy seemed to be recovering very quickly from her heart wound. And then the day came when Dorothy came flying in like a fairy.

"Maisie, listen! I'm engaged to Tom Briggs. I'm so happy. Congratulate me, dear!"

Maisie congratulated her and sat with a heart of lead after she had gone away.

So this was the result of her loyalty! This was the end. What a fool she had been! After all, she had only heard Dorothy's side of the story, and there might be another. Ray might have had good reason to have done what he did.

Well, it was ended, and there was nothing more to do. She got up.

The front door opened. It was Ray in the passage. Her heart leaped at the sight of him. She stood, half-fainting, staring at him.

He was coming toward her. His arms were about her. His lips were upon hers. And momentarily Maisie surrendered herself to his embrace. Then she pushed him away.

"No, no! How dare you come here like that!"

"Maisie, darling, listen!"

"There's nothing to say."

"There's a whole world to say. Dorothy came to me this afternoon and told me she was engaged to Tom Briggs—"

"What's that got to do with it? What's Dorothy to me?"

"She confessed all the wicked plot she had made up to keep us apart. She told you we had been engaged and that I had jilted her."

"Weren't you? Didn't you?"

"Never! It was always you I cared for. Dorothy was jealous of you because she cared for me, and in order to keep us apart she played on your friendship for her and made up that lie about us."

"Oh, Ray, can you—can you forgive me?"

"There's nothing to forgive, sweetheart. Will you answer me now—that question that I asked you?"

Maisie answered.

$2,542.90

Extra Money For 16 Farmers For The Past 30 Days!

A nice sum of extra money to divide among sixteen Farmers in this community, isn't t? Besdes the above amount there are many more farmers who get cream checks for this thirty day period from Jan. 16 to Feb. 16 which are over $100.00. And then there are many more farmers who are drawing extra money each month from their cream checks that more than pay their living expenses.

Each month we are going to publish an "Honor List" of about fifteen farmers who draw the biggest checks for the month. Now, get busy and see if you can't get your name on the list next month—and you fellows who are on it now better hustle and do more milking or the other fellow may get your place on the list.

HONOR LIST THIS MONTH

Lassahan Bros.	$265.23	Ben Reemstma	$144.47
C. C. Schaefer	$197.12	Lee Hammon	$143.08
Wm. H. Grieman	$191.99	H. Beek	$136.81
E. G. Beiers	$184.96	D. A. Marshall	$135.43
Geo. Albers	$170.29	Virdie Anderson	$130.16
Herman Paul	$162.18	E. C. Buentenbach	$124.91
Fred Krause	$160.30	Mrs. Fred Chase	$124.28
Elmer Schaefer	$153.17	V. A. Cook	$118.52
		TOTAL 16 highest	$2,542.90

Milking good cows and selling your cream to us is the best thing you can do. It means ready CASH and pays you well when you bring your cream here.

Those sixteen men on the above list are getting big checks—extra money—they would not otherwise have if they did not milk cows. Milk more cows—sell your cream to a home co-operative creamery and get in on the honor list next month.

Klemme Co-op. Creamery Company

Have you ordered your Ford?

Last year 350,000 buyers waited for delivery.

Insure yourself against delay this spring by placing your order for a Ford Car now.

See the Nearest Authorized Ford Dealer

Ford Motor Company
Detroit, Michigan

GARNER TAX PLAN WINS IN HOUSE

Democratic Amendment to Lower Income Taxes Approved.

Washington.—The Democratic tax reduction plan won over the Mellon plan in the house, acting as committee of the whole on Tuesday.

The Garner amendment, embodying the Democratic surtax and normal tax rates and increased personal exemptions, was approved by a vote of 222 to 196.

The Democratic victory was made possible by a vote of 17 insurgent Republicans, one independent and one Farmer-Labor member who joined with 203 Democrats in support of the Garner amendment.

The retroactive feature of the Mellon bill providing for a 25 per cent reduction in taxes paid in 1924 on 1923 incomes, was not voted on and likely will not be reached for several days. The income tax substitute adopted by the house provides:

Normal taxes of 2 per cent on incomes below $5,000; 4 per cent on incomes between $5,000 and $8,000. 6 per cent on incomes exceeding $8,000.

A graduate surtax scale, beginning at 1 per cent on incomes between $12,000 and $14,000 up to a maximum of 44 per cent on incomes exceeding $92,000.

Exemptions of $2,000 for single persons and $3,000 for heads of families.

Existing law provides:

Normal taxes of 4 per cent on incomes up to $4,000 and 8 per cent above $8,000.

Surtaxes beginning at 1 per cent on incomes between $6,000 and $10,000 and graduating progressively to 50 per cent on incomes in excess of $200,000.

Exemptions of $1,000 for single persons and $2,500 for heads of families.

The Mellon provision eliminated proposed:

Normal rates of 3 per cent on incomes up to $4,000 and 6 per cent on incomes exceeding $4,000.

Surtaxes ranging from 1 per cent on incomes between $10,000 and $12,000 to 25 per cent on incomes exceeding $100,000.

No increase in personal tax exemptions.

Part Publicity for All Incomes Voted by House

Washington.—Partial publicity of tax returns is provided in an amendment to the tax bill adopted by the house in committee of the whole on Friday.

The amendment, which was supported by the Democrats and by insurgent Republicans and opposed by most of the regular Republicans, directs the secretary of the treasury to furnish information contained in income tax returns at the request of the finance committee of the senate ways and means committee of the house, or a special committee of either house.

The house first rejected a much broader amendment for full publicity of tax returns offered by Representative Frear (Rep., Wis.) Leading Democrats as well as Republicans objected to the Frear amendment on the ground that it would constitute an improper invasion of the rights of an individual to keep his private business affairs secret from his competitors or from his neighbors.

Business Draft Bill Introduced in Senate

Washington.—Senator Capper of Kansas introduced a universal draft bill in keeping with suggestions made in a speech by the late President Harding designed to safeguard civilian population and the government against extortion by exploiters and profiteers in the necessities of life and essentials of war.

Under the provisions of the proposed measure the President would be authorized to take such steps as may be necessary to establish the prices of services and of all commodities declared to be essential whether such services and commodities are required by the government or by the civilian population.

Woman Gives Clue to Leo Koretz at Avalon

Los Angeles.—Emboldened by his success in eluding capture, Leo Koretz, Chicago's "smoothest swindler," who obtained $7,000,000 through his fake Bayano River Trust company, was a recent visitor to Catalina island. Chicago detectives, who have trailed the missing broker from Canada to southern California, were convinced Koretz actually visited Avalon within the last four days. A woman whose identity is being kept secret told them she had seen the hunted man.

Vandal Blurs Painting

Boston, Mass.—Chemical analysis of a black, inklike material spattered on John Singer Sargent's famous painting, "The Synagogue," on the walls of the Boston public library has been ordered by the librarian. The police are trying to trace the vandal.

State Owned Flour Mill Shut

Grand Fork, N. D.—The state owned flour mill at Drake, N. D., will remain closed until market conditions warrant its reopening.

OWEN J. ROBERTS

Owen J. Roberts, prominent Philadelphia lawyer, who has been nominated by President Coolidge as the Republican member of the counsel to try the naval oil reserve cases.

ADD MILLION TO LUSITANIA CLAIMS

German Reich Ordered to Pay U-Boat Victims.

Washington.—The German reich on Thursday was ordered to pay another round million in American dollars on claims arising from the sinking of the Lusitania, May 7, 1915.

Beneficiaries announced by the mixed claims commission, 57 in number, are claimants who obtained no award, or a partial award by the first settlements, November 1, 1923, because their nationality was unsettled or the full measure of damages had not been determined.

The largest of the new awards is in favor of Cora H. Page, individually, and Cora H. Page as executrix of the estate of John H. Page, the aggregate being $83,092. Other heavy awards are: May Davis Hopkins, $80,000; Bessie Elms Bloomfield, $45,000; Margaret Lavinia Kellett, $30,000; Minna E. Schwartz, $32,000; Mrs. Bertha V. Trumbull, $50,000; Anna B. Mills, individually, $40,000, and Mrs. Virginia Leney Gamble, $26,700.

Man and Woman Found Murdered in Chicago

Chicago.—A sensational double murder mystery, involving the theories of bootleg murder, revenge, or domestic trouble, centered the activities of most Chicago detectives on Friday.

Friday morning the body of a man identified as John Duffy was found in a snow bank on a prairie on the southwestern edge of town. At seven o'clock Friday night the body of a woman, believed to be "Mrs. John Duffy," was found in an apartment at 1216 Carmen avenue. Both had been shot to death.

Duffy, also known as "Edward Curtis," had, it is supposed, been slain and then carried in an automobile to the far southwest prairie. The woman who formerly resided at 447 South Third street, Louisville, Ky., was shot as she lay asleep in the Carmen avenue apartment.

Immediately a search was started to find Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. "Jack" Horton, a young couple who shared the apartment with Duffy and his wife.

Denby Is Not Satisfied With Disaster Verdict

Washington.—The findings in each case of the seven naval officers acquitted of charges of negligence by the court-martial held after the wreck of seven destroyers last September 8 on the California coast are disapproved in indorsements placed on the court-martial records by both Secretary Denby and the judge advocate general of the navy.

The indorsements were made public by the Navy department with a statement noting that disapproval of the findings by the secretary did not serve as a basis for retrial of the cases, but was "simply an expression of the secretary's views of the court's action."

Wilson Widow to Get Mail Frank for Life

Washington.—The senate on Thursday voted unanimously to extend the mail franking privilege for life to Mrs. Edith Bolling Wilson, widow of the former president, in accordance with the general practice of extending franking privilege to widows of former presidents.

Gotham's Population Now Put at 6,015,496

New York.—The population of New York city is 6,015,496, according to the "Little Green Book," the city's official directory, which is being distributed. Its area is 316 square miles.

Villa of Mikado Periled

Tokyo.—The villa at Numazu, where the Japanese emperor and empress have been living, was seriously threatened at midnight by a fire suspected to be of incendiary origin. The fire destroyed 400 surrounding houses. It had been announced that Prince Regent Hirohito and his bride were to visit the emperor and empress.

Quake Rocks Ecuador

Guayaquil, Ecuador.—A very strong earthquake shock was felt here.

COOLIDGE MAKES RADIO ADDRESS

Message Broadcast to Nation Urges Sacrifice for Common Good.

Washington.—President Coolidge, in a radio address delivered from the White House on Friday night, combined with a tribute to Washington an appeal to accept the responsibilities and sacrifices necessary to make enduring the institutions Washington founded.

Mr. Coolidge described the part played by Washington in the founding of the American government and declared he accomplished the results "by accepting great responsibilities and making great sacrifices."

"If we are to maintain the institutions which he founded, if we are to improve what he created, we must be like minded with him; we must continue to accept responsibilities; we must continue to make sacrifices," the President said. "Under all the laws of God and man there is no other way."

The address was delivered by the President in his study in the White House and was made by invitation of the International Rotary clubs, members of which recently asked that the President deliver an address on the anniversary of the founding of Rotarianism. Millions of radio enthusiasts throughout North America are believed to have "tuned in" on the President's speech.

Mexican Federals Cut Off Retreat of Rebels

Washington.—The Mexican embassy in a statement on Friday said:

"Gen. Lazaro Cardenas, who joined forces of General Amaro at Santa Ana, Jalisco, after escaping from rebel captivity, brought the news that the rebel general, Anzaldo, who commanded the rebel forces that evacuated Guadalajara, together with those garrisoning the state of Colima, arrested the rebel Generals Alvarado, Garrido and Nunez, who later were able to effect their escape and board a vessel at Manzanillo for an unknown destination.

"General Anzaldo with all the forces under his command placed himself at the orders of the federal government.

"It can now be said that the campaign against the rebels in the states of Jalisco, Colima and Michoacan has practically come to an end, as the only scattered group of rebels fleeing with General Dieguez and General Estrada is being hotly pursued and its complete annihilation is expected at any time."

Elbert H. Gary Seeks Iron Mines in Peru

Lima, Peru.—Former Judge Elbert H. Gary is looking for iron in Peru.

The chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation said as much in a speech during a reception at the foreign office, one of many accorded him since his arrival here.

"If Peru contains iron, I want the opportunity to investigate," Judge Gary said.

He left Lima on Thursday for Santiago, Chile, where he will remain from February 28 to March 4. He will be at Valparaiso from March 6 to 12 and at Montevideo on March 13 and 14. He will spend twelve days in Brazil, during which time he will visit the United States Steel corporation's big manganese mines in the famous iron mountains of Minas Geraes.

U. S. Army Flyer Reaches Altitude of 34,983 Feet

Dayton, O.—Lieut. John A. MacReady on Friday failed in his second attempt in two months to set a new world's airplane altitude record. His Lepere plane reached an actual altitude of 34,983 feet, it was announced several hours after he had descended. It previously had been believed that the record was broken when his instruments showed an indicated altitude of 41,000 feet.

The present record of 36,555 feet is held by the French aviator, Sadi Lecointe. To better that record, MacReady must have reached 37,855 feet, 1,300 feet or 400 meters higher than the French mark.

Sisters Die in Fire in Telephone Exchange

Andalusia, Ala.—Edna and Maude Donaldson, sisters, met death in a fire which gutted the building where they were working as telephone operators. Miss Edna sacrificed her life, officials think, in turning in an alarm. Her sister, who was a guest, died by her side. Rescue attempts by firemen failed.

Designer Killed by Train

Chicago.—Jay Bassett Beel, forty-six years old, wealthy designer of art light fixtures, was killed on Friday by an Illinois Central suburban train at the Forty-seventh street station. Beel lived at 4761 Dorchester avenue.

Quake Rocks French Towns

Tarbes, France.—An earthquake on Friday afternoon rocked buildings here and at Bagnerese, Cauteres, and other places. The walls of some buildings were cracked.

PERCY OWEN

Percy Owen of Detroit, former president and general manager of the Liberty Motor Car company, who has been appointed chief of the automotive division of the Department of Commerce. Mr. Owen has been actively associated with the automotive industry for twenty-four years and is intimately acquainted with foreign marketing problems.

U. S. GOVERNMENT MARKET REPORT

Washington.—For the week ending Feb. 16.—FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—New York round white potatoes, $1.65@1.90 sacked per 100 lbs., $1.40@1.45 f. o. b.; northern sacked round whites, $1.20@1.40 in Chicago, mostly $1.05@1.10 f. o. b. Danish type cabbage, $30.00@40.00 bulk per ton. Yellow onions, $2.00@2.50 sacked per 100 lbs. New York Baldwin apples, $3.50@4.00 per bbl.; Missouri Jonathans, $5.50@6.00.

LIVE STOCK—Chicago prices: Hogs, $7.35 for the top and $7.00@7.20 for the bulk. Medium and good beef steers, $7.75@11.00; butcher cows and heifers, $3.75@10.50; feeder steers, $4.50@8.00; light and medium weight veal calves, $8.00@11.00. Fat lambs, $13.00@15.00; feeding lambs, $11.75@13.75; yearlings, $10.25@13.25; fat ewes, $5.75@9.50.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $24.00 Cincinnati, $26.00 Chicago, $24.00 St. Louis, $20.50 Kansas City; No. 1 alfalfa, $23.00 Kansas City; No. 1 prairie, $19.50 St. Louis, $14.50 Kansas City.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, 50c Chicago. Cheese prices at Wisconsin primary markets: Flats, 22c; twins, 21½c; single daisies, 22c; double daisies, 21¾c; longhorns, 22½c; square prints, 22½c.

GRAIN—No. 1 dark northern spring wheat, $1.16@1.29 Minneapolis; No. 2 hard winter wheat, $1.10@1.10¼ Chicago, $1.11 St. Louis; No. 2 red wheat, $1.14½ Chicago, $1.15@1.17 St. Louis; No. 2 yellow corn, 80½c Chicago; No. 3 yellow corn, 76@77c St. Louis; No. 3 white oats, 47¼@48¼c Chicago, 49c St. Louis, 44c Minneapolis.

Oil Leases Can Be Found When Needed, Says Walsh

Washington.—Senator Walsh on Friday confirmed the accuracy of the statement made on Thursday by Universal Service that the senate oil investigating committee is without the originals of any documents vital to the investigation, having photostatic copies only.

He said that in the case of certain documents, particularly the Doheny leases of December, 1922, there was not time to make copies of documents for the committee and Walsh, therefore, read the originals into the record and returned the originals to their source.

He expressed the opinion that when the President's special counsel, Pomerene and Robert, are ready to use the originals of the documents, they can get access to them in government files.

Charles B. Warren New U. S. Envoy to Mexico

Washington.—Charles Beecher Warren, formerly ambassador to Japan, was on Thursday formally nominated by President Coolidge to be ambassador to Mexico.

He will leave for his new post as soon as the senate confirms the nomination, probably within a week. At the same time the President is expected to select two American claims commissioners, so that they may proceed to Mexico with Mr. Warren.

With the arrival of the United States warship Tulsa at Tuxpam, a decisive battle between the Mexican federals and the revolutionists in that district is expected momentarily, according to State department advices.

Senator Greene Shows Slight Improvement

Washington.—A slight improvement was reported on Thursday in the condition of Senator Frank L. Greene, Republican, of Vermont, who is believed to have been fatally wounded when he was shot during a battle between prohibition agents and bootleggers. Physicians at the Emergency hospital feared, however, that Greene would not survive the rest of the week

Two Delegates to Russia

London.—Great Britain's two municipal delegates to the Anglo-Russian commission, which must thrash out the chief questions between the two countries before complete recognition is granted the Soviets, were appointed. J. D. Granger, counselor of the foreign office, is head of the political section, and Sir Sydney Chapman, permanent secretary of the board of trade, is chairman of the financial section. This commission will not sit before the latter part of March.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

Guthrie county has tyo crack debating teams which have reached as far as the semi-finals in the state and district contests.

Des Moines' first union bus depot has been opened for business with nine independent bus lines operating to Iowa points using it as a terminal.

At the Fuller farm sale near Dows, corn sold at 69 cents per bushel, hay at $16 a ton, cows as high as $70 per head sheep as high as $25, and 260 chickens sold for $260.

Ninety-five cars of stock were marketed by the Green Mountain Shipping Association in 1923, according to the yearly report. A total of $123,852.80 cents was paid to shippers of the association for stock shipped, representing $83,134.20 for hogs, $33,952.78 for cattle, and $6,765.82 for sheep.

At Nashua The Farmers Creamery association's annual report shows a prosperous year. There was manufactured during the year 255,673 pounds of butter, which sold for $154,780. The sale of other products brought the total up to $155,831. This showed a gain over the year of 1922 of $14,661 or 10 per cent.

Figures obtained from Judge Hubert Utterback, chairman of the Iowa division of the national Red Cross society, revealed that there now are 62,069 persons on the membership roster of the organization in Iowa, compared to 58,031 members—last year's total number as of February 1st. There are 132 chapters in the Iowa division.

Iowa hog shippers have obtained what amounts to a reduction in freight rates on hogs with the decision that 16,500 pounds, instead of 17,000, will be made the minimum on hogs, effective until October 13 of this year. The reduction was brought about by the Iowa Farm Bureau reduction and the Iowa Meat Producers' Association.

The supervisors of Webster, Humboldt, Pocahontas, Palo Alto, Buena Vista, Calhoun and Sac counties, meeting in Fort Dodge, passed resolutions asking the state legislature to boost the truck tax, further limit the size of trucks that can be operated on Iowa roads, force truck drivers to keep to the right and not hog the road, and fix a tax of 2 cents a gallon on gasoline.

That ten good milk cows may be purchased for the same amount of money that would have to be paid for three acres of Grundy county farm land, and that the returns from those ten cows will be about equal to the value of grain raised on a quarter section of land last season, are deductions made by Jurgen Dieken, a farmer living five miles north of Grundy Center.

Examinations for farm manager will be held by the United States Civil Service commission on March 15th in Des Moines and the following cities: Ames, Atlantic, Burlington, Cedar Rapids, Council Bluffs, Creston, Davenport, Decorah, Denton, Dubuque, Fort Dodge, Iowa City, Knoxville, Marshalltown, Mason City, Ottumwa, Shenandoah, Sioux City, Spencer, and Waterloo.

The formation of an automobile drivers' association in Des Moines to be known as the Iowa Careful Drivers' club has been launched. Purposes outlined in an announcement by the secretary are: Educational campaign of motor laws; to assist in bettering street and highway conditions; servicing for members; cooperation with traffic officials to enforce traffic ordinances and laws.

The Parent-Teachers Council in Des Moines has gone on record in favor of the repeal of the Army Law of 1920. A committee has been appointed to discuss with other organizations a plan to reduce the evils of militarism and pledge candidates for Congress to vote for the repeal of the Army Law of 1920. The provision in the 1920 Army Law particularly objectionable to the P. T. A. Council permits boys to be enlisted without the consent of their parents.

The remarkable increase in the number of radio receiving sets in use on the farms of Iowa has aroused a great deal of interest in the opportunities for information and recreation which the radio receiving set makes possible. Not only are all the latest market reports thus made available within a few minutes after they are officially issued, but the United States Department of Agriculture in conjunction with the Iowa State College is also broadcasting through the college broadcasting station, WOI. much information of value to the up-to-date farmer.

The state board of health issued a restraining order against the North Iowa Sugar company of Mason City, preventing it from dumping refuse into the Rock river.

The Iowa State Highway Commission's Service Bulletin contains a report on the solution of road problems by the process of relocation. Primary road No. 2, between Oskaloose and Columbus Junction, is used as an illustration. The distance has been reduced by twelve and a half miles; twelve railroad crossings and thirty nine right angle turns have been eliminated.

GIRLS! HAIR GROWS THICK AND BEAU

85-Cent "Danderine" Does Wond Lifeless, Neglected Hair

A gleam of luxuri full of sh ter and li ly follows the toning neglected with dea "Danderi Falling itching sc the dand corrected immediately. Thi wispy or fading hair is quickly rated, taking on new strengt and youthful beauty. "Dande delightful on the hair; a ref stimulating tonic—not sticky or Any drug store.—Advertisem

College Gets Rare Manu

"'The Beehive,' a manuscript written by Francis Pastorius, founder of Germ has been loaned to the Univ Pennsylvania by his descen says the Philadelphia North A "The book, which consists o 1,000 closely-written pages, w ten, according to Pastorius, a acy to his son and to rest his many facts that are in it. It w printed. The volume is wri several different languages, b Latin, Greek, German and Eng contains much dry humor mix philosophy."

MOTHER!

Child's Best Laxative "California Fig Syru

Hurry Mother! Even a billio stipated, feverish child loves th ant taste of "California Fig Syr it never fails to open the bow teaspoonful today may prevent child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for genuin fornia Fig Syrup" which has d for babies and children of printed on bottle. Mother! Y say "California" or you may imitation fig syrup.

Information Want

"I have brought this weddi ent—"

"To exchange it?" interpo clerk.

"No; merely to ask what Boston Transcript.

A Simple, Safe, Sure Rem for all local aches and pains taking cold or over exertion Allcock's Plaster.—Adv.

Quite the Contrary

"Did I understand you to your neighbor's boy was the of the family?"

"Good heaven, no! I said of the family."—Boston Trans

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVE AND BOWELS—10c

Cures Biliousness, Constipa Headache, Indigestion. Drugsts

She Was Safe

"What are you doing, Doro "I'se writing a letter to M "But, darling, you don't kn write."

"Dat's all right. Maisie do how to read."

John W. McLain

How to Gain Streng and Endurance

Milwaukee, Wis.—"For th twenty years I have used Dr. P Golden Medical Discovery at t a general tonic with excellent One bottle in the spring, and oc fall, is usually sufficient. It g added strength and endurance greatly aids me in following my uous occupation. I have also fou Pierce's Pleasant Pellets very be and mild in action.

"I have been thru Dr. Pierc valids' Hotel and Surgical Insti Buffalo, N. Y., and have found thing just as represented."—Jo McLain, 188 Wisconsin St.

Get the "Discovery" in tab liquid and you'll be surprised way you'll pick up.

Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' in Buffalo, N. Y., for free consu medical advice. Send 10 cents desire a trial pkg. of the tablets

RUN-DOWN WEAK, NERVOUS

Benefited by First Bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lancaster, Pa.—"After I was married I became terribly run-down and was weak and nervous. My sister-in-law told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My husband got me a bottle at once, and it did me so much good that I kept on taking it. I began to feel well and strong again and was able to do my housework up to the time my baby was born—a nice fat little girl in the best of health. I surely am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends when they have troubles like mine, and I am perfectly willing for you to use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. FRANK H. GRIMM, 533 Locust Street, Lancaster, Pa.

Women should heed such symptoms as pains, backache, nervousness, a run-down condition and irregularity, as they indicate some form of female trouble.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for all these troubles. For sale by druggists everywhere.

A Safe and Sure Laxative—Brandreth Pills. One or two taken at bed time will keep you in good condition. Entirely vegetable.—Adv.

Scent in Gems

The perfume of precious stones was discussed in a lecture in Geneva recently, says the New York World, by the French jewel expert De Henselaer. Some stones, such as the emerald, he said, give a subtle, pleasant scent when reduced to powder, while others, among them diamonds, have a disagreeable odor.

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A BOX

Cures Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion. Drug stores. Adv.

Huge Palm Leaves

The Imaja palm, growing in South America, has leaves reaching a length of fifty feet and often ten feet wide. Another palm, a native of Ceylon, has leaves twenty feet long and eighteen feet broad, from which the natives make tents and shelters.

Cuticura Soothes Baby Rashes

That itch and burn, by hot baths of Cuticura Soap followed by gentle anointings of Cuticura Ointment. Nothing better, purer, sweeter, especially if a little of the fragrant Cuticura Talcum is dusted on at the finish. 25c each.—Advertisement.

Sharp tongues are apt to be more dangerous than useful.

Demand BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy—Genuine

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians 23 years for

Colds	Headache
Toothache	Rheumatism
Neuritis	Lumbago
Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets—Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

CURES COLDS — LA GRIPPE in 24 Hours — in 3 Days

HILL'S CASCARA QUININE BROMIDE

Standard cold remedy world over. Demand box bearing Mr. Hill's portrait and signature.

At All Druggists—30 Cents

A-10(L)

Our idea of a modest man is one who can keep his opinion of himself to himself.

Good advice is well enough in its way, but a hungry man can't make a satisfactory meal on it.

Cole's Carbolisalve Quickly Relieves and heals burning, itching and torturing skin diseases. It instantly stops the pain of burns. Heals without scars. 30c and 60c. Ask your druggist, or send 30c to The J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill., for a package.—Advertisement.

Isn't it pitiful to make indignation one's life-work?

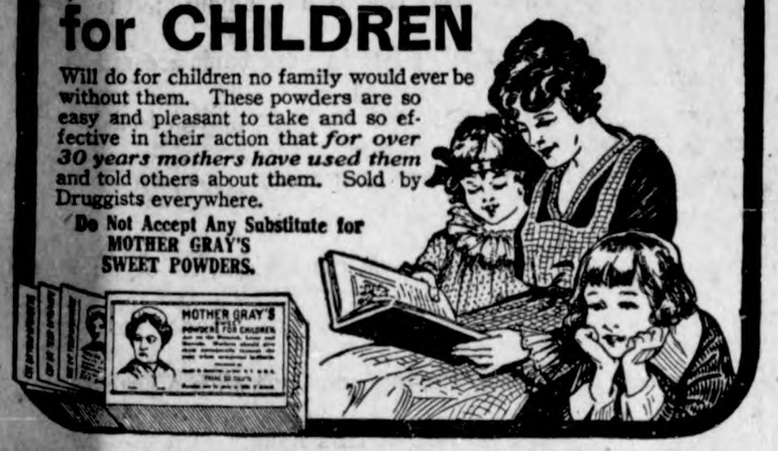
Keep the Children Well!

During these days many children are complaining of headache, feverishness, stomach troubles, and irregular bowels. If mothers only knew what

MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS for CHILDREN

Will do for children no family would ever be without them. These powders are so easy and pleasant to take and so effective in their action that for over 30 years mothers have used them and told others about them. Sold by Druggists everywhere.

Do Not Accept Any Substitute for MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS.



Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

TRADE

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

MARK

SMITH BROTHERS

S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL

(orange colored box)

Famous since 1847

WASHINGTON'S TOMB

GREAT kings of old have wrapped them round in state,
And, clothed in splendor, yielded up their breath,
Dreaming a monarch's fame should outlast Death,
And gold and jewels stay the hand of Fate.

The treasures of the earth have decked their tombs;
With amber, topaz, diamonds and jade
Have skillful craftsmen their dark house inlaid,
As though their jeweled gleam might light Death's glooms.

Yet have kings slept the centuries away,
Their names forgotten and their glories dim;
And no man's lips have named the name of him
Who walked as walks a god, a little day.

But thou, a Country's honor and its pride,
How void of splendor is thy sleeping place!
For no man's hand has skill enough to trace
The story of thy worth, thy grave beside.

Yet here shall gather through all passing days,
So long as men shall reverence the true,
Children and children's children, to renew
Thy Country's homage in their heartfelt praise.

Sleep thou serenely on the earth's soft breast;
Better than radiant gems or dazzling gold
Our love and reverence about thee fold;
In nobler state what king would ask to rest?

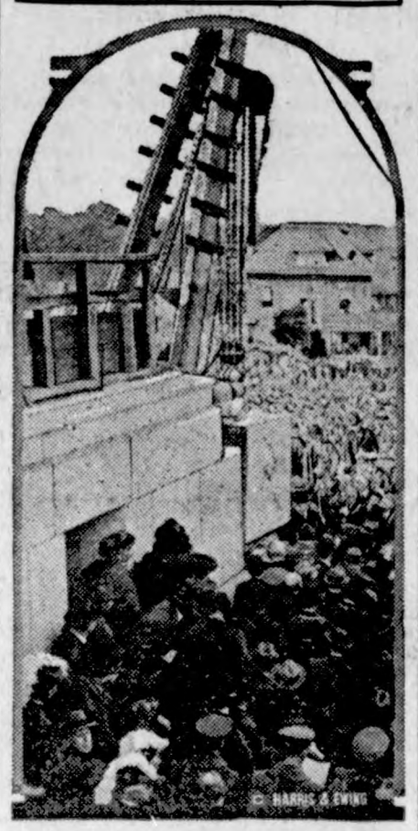
—Lois Whittlesey.

The SIMPLICITY of the WASHINGTONS

ALTHOUGH the inauguration ceremonies and festivities were well over when Mrs. Washington reached New York, and the house furnished, there remained for her and her husband the difficult task of arranging the social functions of the executive mansion. While those about them were discussing the question of the title to be used in addressing the new president, whether it should be His Highness, His Serene Highness, His Highmightiness, or simply His Excellency, and whether the reception of the president and his wife should be surrounded by the ceremony of a court or be characterized by the simplicity suited to a republic, the Washingtons quietly and unostentatiously mapped out their social duties according to their own ideas of propriety.

Washington, to whom nothing connected with his office seemed small or unimportant, and who realized that this was naturally a period for the establishment of precedents, gave much time and thought to the proper adjustment of social as well as of political etiquette; in all of which arrangements he was assisted by his former aide-de-camp, Colonel Humphreys, who had recently been secretary of legation in Paris. Mrs. Washington warmly seconded her husband's efforts to combine republican simplicity with the form and ceremony befitting the dinners, levees, and receptions of the chief executive. Thus, although the president simply bowed to each guest as he was introduced to him at his Tuesday afternoon levees, making it very evident that the more familiar handshake was to be omitted, at his wife's Friday evening receptions he chose to be considered simply as "a private gentleman."

New Washington Memorial



Scene at the recent cornerstone-laying of the George Washington Masonic Memorial at Alexandria, Va. President Coolidge used the trowel used by Washington when he laid the cornerstone of the Capitol building in Washington, D. C.

WOMEN! WARNING! DON'T BE FOOLED

Beware! Not All Package Dyes Are "Diamond Dyes."

Diamond Dyes

Always ask for "Diamond Dyes" and if you don't see the name "Diamond Dyes" on the package—refuse it—hand it back!

Each 15-cent package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint skirts, dresses, waists, sweaters, stockings, kimonos, coats, draperies, coverings—everything new, even if she has never dyed before. Choose any color at drug store. Refuse substitutes!

Which do you prefer—walking on old brick sidewalk or across a room full of rugs.

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

Pessimists like to plague the optimists, but that only makes the optimists weep; they won't scold.

A Universal Remedy for Pain.

For over 70 years Allcock's Plaster has been a standard external remedy, sold in all parts of the civilized world.—Adv.

The complexion of a woman's thoughts may be due to the way her face is made up.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Aspirin Marked With "Bayer Cross" Has Been Proved Safe by Millions.

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

One minute today is worth an hour tomorrow.

Why You May Need—

for Economical Transportation

CHEVROLET

There are three main groups of prospective buyers of Chevrolet automobiles and commercial cars.

First, are all who know from comparisons or through the experiences of friends that Chevrolet provides the utmost dollar value in modern, economical transportation of people or merchandise.

Second, the large group of people with modest incomes who have the false impression that so good a car as Chevrolet is beyond their means.

They do not realize that due to engineering excellence and full modern equipment, Chevrolet operating and maintenance costs average so low that during the life of the car, it delivers modern, comfortable, fast transportation at the lowest cost per mile, including the purchase price.

Third, the smaller but very important group of car owners of ample means, only a small percentage of whom as yet realize that Chevrolet as an extra car virtually costs them nothing, due to the reduction in their transportation expenses effected by it.

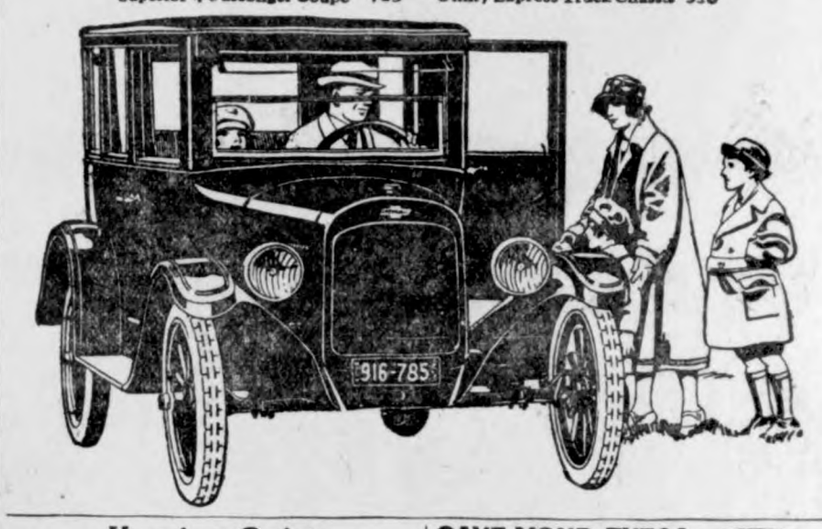
We respectfully suggest consideration, investigation and comparison of Chevrolet with any other car at any price.

Chevrolet Motor Company, Detroit, Michigan

Division of General Motors Corporation

Prices f. o. b. Flint, Mich.

Superior Roadster	$490	Superior Sedan	$795
Superior Touring	495	Superior Commercial Chassis	395
Superior Utility Coupe	640	Superior Light Delivery	495
Superior 4-Passenger Coupe	725	Utility Express Truck Chassis	550



Keeping Quiet

'Tis better to keep silent and be thought a fool than to speak and remove all doubts.—Midwest Review.

SAVE YOUR EYES! Use Dr. Thompson's Eyewater. Buy at your druggist's or 1167 River, Troy N. Y. Booklet.

W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 8—1924.

FARM HOUSE

~the old-fashioned American Process

COCOA

Children thrive on it ~ Give it to them every day

TWO or three times a day is not too often to serve this delicious health drink.

For growing children especially, there is nothing better than good cocoa.

It is strengthening and invigorating—a fine health builder.

Farm House Cocoa costs much less than any other high grade American Process cocoa on the market.

It will pay you to stock several pounds at the low price of 18 cents.

To Retail Grocers

If our salesmen do not reach you, write for our special proposition on Farm House (American Process) Cocoa, Monarch (Dutch Process) Cocoa and the world famous Monarch Coffee. Write today to the office nearest you.

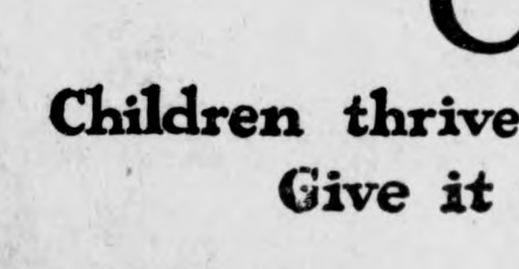
REID, MURDOCH & CO.

Established 1853

Chicago Pittsburgh New York

Quality since 1853

18¢



Clip and use for → FARM HOUSE COCOA AMERICAN PROCESS

To be sure of getting the genuine, cut or tear out this coupon, take it and 18 cents to your regular retail grocer and he will give you a full-weight one-pound package of Farm House Cocoa. If you have an account with him, don't bother with the cash. He will enter a charge of only 18 cents. This offer is not good at "Chain Stores."

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

Volume 2—Number 16. Thursday, February 28, 1924

Now is a good time to buy your SPRING MACHINERY

Our Line Is Complete

Flat Wall Paint

The interior painting season is at hand and we want to tell you right here that we have a fine large line of interior Flat Wall Paint, and the best Varnish you can buy for the money. Just come in and look over our color cards and pick your paint—we have it.

SPECIAL—we are able to offer you real attractive prices on our famous HI-TONE flat wall paint and can give you an extra good price on quantity lots.

RENTERS! LOOK! You renters who do not want to put very much money into a wall painting job, but yet want your walls to look bright and clean with a nice velvety finish we have just what you want—GILT EDGE WALL FINISH. It's very low in price, goes a long way and covers those dirty walls. Just mix it with water and brush it on. Your wife or boy can easily put it on and make a fine job at low cost.

SUPPLIES—We carry a full line of Brushes, both for painting, varnishing, etc. Steel brushes, steel wool, sandpaper, putty, oils, turpentine, step-ladders, etc.

Ask us for prices FIRST before buying elseweher.

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

PATRONIZE YOUR HOME STORES. TRADE WITH MEN YOU KNOW

What's Your Favorite Book?

When Mark Twain was asked to name his favorite book, he replied, "My Bank Book."

You can't wirte a book—not like Mark Twain's "Huck Finn" anyhow—but you can HAVE a book like Mark Twain's favorite—a bank book.

It will be the most interesting book on the face of the earth to you. It will teach the most interesting of all lessons, and its finis will spell happiness, comfort and safety.

You can have this book by calling at this bank today. Don't wait.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'."

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Let the Times print your sale bill.

Putman Diamond Dyes sold at Seney's Drug Store, Klemme, Ia.

Ernest Helps moved to the Mrs. Tice farm Saturday.

Bargains in Shirting, 19¢ ,Saturday only at Wellemeyer's. 1wc

Mrs. Charlie Luick was at Belmond Thursday on business.

Jo Wenck, of Garner, was here on business Wednesday afternoon.

Examinations are being held at school this week.

Ing. Lauritzen was a business caller at Woden, Tuesday.

Do your own dyeing with Putman Diamond Dyes. Seney Drug Store.

The W. F. M. S. meets at the parrish house next Thursday afternoon.

Dr. Zinn has been quite sick the past few days.

I do all kinds of Plumbing and Heating work. R. E. Quintus, Garner, Ia. tfc

The Royal Neighbors held hteir meeting at the hall last Friday afternoon.

Harley Hubbard and friends of Goodell were here on business Saturday.

LOST—Corduroy sheep lined coat on road between Carl Wille's and Wm. Bell. Return to J. J. Poort.

Miss Mabel Starnes has been quite sick the past week. Later reports indicate she is slowly improving.

Valentine Josten was at Garner Monday to look at the high buildings of the county capital.

Boys' Blouse Shirting 19¢ yard. Saturday only. Wellemeyer Department Store. 1wc

Mr. and Mrs. Voiles of Belmond were here Tuesday visiting and also on matters of business.

Grover Cleveland Dailey came on Tuesday for a visit at the Aug. Lau home.

R. E. Quintus, the plumber from Garner, was in Klemme on business Tuesday.

Mr. Schmidt came from Appleton, Iowa, Tuesday to work for his brother near Kanawha.

Miss Mary Swanson came home from Algona Wednesady for a few days visit with home folks.

A. C. Carpenter, of Goodell, was a business caller here Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lau are entertaining a number of their friends at a card party this evening.

Mrs. George Starnes came up from Belmond Friday for a visit at the Joe Starnes home for a few days.

Mrs. Gee, of Goodell, visited from last Wednesday until Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Chris Gram.

Miss Laura Brooks came up from Belmond Thursday for a few days visit with Klemme relatives and friends.

Mr. Worthy Usher from Cedar Rapids came Thursday and remained until Sunday visiting at the Tom Blank home.

Miss Flessner spent the week-end visiting at the home of her cousin, Rv. and Mrs. Schmidt, north of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gruetzmacher came over from Britt Sunday to spend the day visiting at the Frank Gruetzmacher home.

R. N. A. Card Party, March 6th, ta the I. O. O. F. Hall; both single and married couples invited. Price 25¢ per person. 1wc

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kluckhohn ntertained a number of their friends at a card party last Thursday evening. Refreshments were served. All report a fine time.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Buss, at Goodell, Monday afternoon. Merlin Dean is the young man's official name.

Mabel Smith's sunday school class entertained Dr. Anderson's class at the parrish house Tuesday evening. All had a fine time.

The Camp Fire Girls had a very successful food sale at Kluckhohn's store Saturday. Everything sold fast and they realized a nice sum.

Minnie Lenz' and Mrs. Clarence Larsen's Sunday school classes had a party at the parrish house Wednesday evening. Games were played, and refreshments were served. All had a fine time.

Mr. and Mrs. John Waterman entertained a number of their friends at a bjd whist party Tuesday evening after which refreshments were served. A good time was enjoyed by all.

The Kemme Legion boys are giving their dance tomorrow night, Friday, Febr. 29th, at the Idle Hour hall. This is a Leap Year dance. Music by Meekers. A big time will be had. You are invited.

FINAL NOTICE—All those who owe me an account and have failed to pay after receiving a statement, MUST PAY before March 10, 1924. On that date I will turn in all accounts for collection. F. H. Ridder.

A number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus surprised them at their home last Friday evening. The evening was spent playing cards after which a light lunch was served. It being Washington's birthday the guests were served cherry pie.

This is Leap Year girls, and we are glad to hear you are landing our bachelors nd will lead them to the. There will be a lot of June Brides this year but we will keep the list a secret for a time. Grab them girls —it's a long time until Leap Year Again, and by that time you will be classed as old maids. Plenty said for this time. Watch 'em blush!

The 2½ gallon chemical fire extinguishers which the town ordered, have arrived and were distributed Wednesday of this week. Eighteen outfits were ordered and distributed among th business places. Some extra ones were also ordered to hang on the fire truck. This is a move in the right direction. Now all other propery owners should purcase a chemical extinguisher for their own home and if each one would do that the fire danger would be greatly lessened. Chemicals right at hand is better than ten fire company's at a distance. Get busy folks.

The Way They Do In Klemme

Stranger: "Why don't you arrest that farmer in the flivver who just cut that corner?"

Cop: "Jest wait, stranger. That feller's our official Dee-coy. If ye want to see some arrestin', wait till some tourist sees him cuttin' corners an' follers suit."

DENTIST

J. L. Hesselhuus, D. D. S.

Office Hours 8-12 1-5.20

Office Opposite State Savings Bank; In Schaffer Bldg.

Evening Work By Appointment Only

Klemme, Ia. Phone 81

KLEMME MARKETS

February 28, 1924
(Subject To Change)

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN	.63
OATS	.40
BARLEY	.60
RYE	.60
HOGS	6.00—6.70
BUTTERFAT	.54
BUTTER (Creamery)	.52
EGGS	.18
HEAVY HENS	.16
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.15
LEGHORNS	.08
COCKS	.06
STAGS	.12
DUCKS	.10
GEESE	.08

Great Invention for Hog Raisers

At last the problem has been solved—of keeping hogs supplied with plenty of warm water outdoors in the winter—without lamps or heaters. Hogs must have warm water in the winter if they are to thrive and get full value from their feed. Ice water chills them — and they will not drink enough.

Dempster Self-Heating Hog Waterer

Here is something every hog raiser needs.

It is new—it is novel—it serves a purpose that is highly important to the farmer — it saves considerable expense and trouble.

It keeps the water warm all winter, without stoves, heaters, burners, lamps or any other burning contrivance. It will also keep the water cool in summer. Utilizes one of the forces of nature.

The Dempster Hog Waterer has been thoroughly tested and has proven a great success. We are exclusive agents.

This Hog Waterer is absolutely guaranteed NOT TO FREEZE in the coldest weather. Order one today of—

R. E. Quintis

Plumbing & Heating GARNER, IOWA

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

THE HOME OF GOOD EATS

CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGARS

MEALS and LUNCHES

Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It Here

Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service

We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.

CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

You Men Who Drive Cars--

No matter what you need—from the smallest repairing job to motor overhauling —bring your car to us.

If You Get Stuck On the Road

—phone for our tow car—we'll do the rest.

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Authorized Service

Auto Mechanics —All Work Guaranteed— General Blacksmithing

Can You Change A Ten?

You don't have to ask that when you pay by check. You write the check for the exact amount; the "change" is left in your bank account and not placed in your pocket to be quickly spent.

Checks are convenient, save you time and lessen errors. Handle your affairs the modern way, with a checking account at this bank.

Place your surplus savings on time deposit at 5% here.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

THE KLEMME TIMES

Twenty-eighth Year—Number 26. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, March 6 1924. $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

ACTIVITIES OF THE PAST WEEK IN THE SCHOOLS

SUPT. VASEY GIVES GOOD TALK AT P. T. A.

Orchestra Plays For Parents at Meeting Also .

The Parent-Teacher's Association held their monthly meeting last Tuesday evening in the High School Auditorium. The program was exceptionally good, the chief feature being the splendid talk given by Superintendent Vasey of the Mason City schools.

The subject of Superintendent Vasey's talk was "The Money Value of an Education" .He portrayed many interesting facts on this subject; facts which the parents who were present ought to think over very carefully before allowing their children to quit school. He brought out the following facts during his speech Our educational laws keep our children in school until they have acquired a sixth grade education; an education very inadequate for the needs of the present generation. Germany put up such a fierce struggle against the whole world in the late war because for fifty years previous to the time of the war, those old gray headed schoolmasters had educated the school children in the way best suited to their needs, they had literally pounded militarism into them. They had taught them geography, reading and writing, up to the eighth grade, with the view in mind that the knowledge gained thereby was to help their army in the future. And the result of this education; a few million people, nearly winning over the world. He quoted this as an example of what education can do. The percent of illiteracy in Iowa is 1 per cent; the percent of illiteracy in German is only one half of one per cent.

As a example of the value of education he gave these examples as some of the proof that education is a paying investment.

In New York, records were kept of five hundred boys who left school after having finished an eighth grade education, went to work at the age of fourteen; records were also kept of five hundred boys who went on through High School and then went to work at eighteen years of age.

When these men were twenty-five years of age it was found that the average High School graduate was earning more than $900.00 more yearly than the average eighth grade graduate. Also the average High School student had saved over $5000 more than the average eighth grade student at the age of twenty-five.

Bringing his talk to bear on farming he said that the average eighth grade graduate farmer made about $280 a year. The average High School student made about $616 and a college student could make more than three times as much on a farm than an eighth grade educated man. It has been found through careful study that every day a student spends in High School is worth ten dollars to him or her. This, of course is speaking on the average.

Superintendent Vasey is a prominent school man in the state and is in authority in school matters. He is very importat man in school legislation and his ability to drive his facts home with a great force makes him a very interesting speaker.

About Our Orchestra

Say, folks, did you hear the High School Orchestra at the Parent Teachers meeting last Tuesday? If you didn't you missed a real treat. The orchestra played a few selections at the beginning of the program to open the meeting. To hear them one could hardly believe that this was only their second public performance, and that a few short months ago some of the performers didn't know a note from a sharp.

The task of building up an orchestra was undertaken soon after school opened last fall and for some time each student met once a week with Mr. Tregilgus and received individual instruction on their instruments. About six weeks ago they started playing together and since then their progress has been extremely rapid. They meet three times a week for rehearsals and will soon be able o play the more diffjcult pieces.

The following persons comprise the orchestra:

Piano— Neota Ridder
Violins:—Ethel Wellemeyer, Elvira Stille, Donald Gibbs, Ruth Bailey, Johnny Read, Silvanus Wacker, Russel Bell.
Cornet—Francis Schaefer, Wayne Lemke.
Clarinet— Adela Schoeder.
Saxaphone— Vernon Turgasen Verner Stromer.
Mellophone— Clarence Elder
Trombone— Harl Gimer
Drums— Milo Patet, Paul Stromer.

SIX WEEKS TESTS OVER

Cause Little Excitement; Majority Receive Good Grades

The six weeks tests are over again for another six weeks. This time they caused little excitement. We judge the reason must have been because the majority of the pupils were well prepared for them. Of course, there are some that always have flunked, and always will unless they change their ways somewhat, but we are glad to say that this number is getting smaller. These tests are only over the six weeks work and are given at the end of every six weeks period. All students are required to take them.

BASKET BALL PRACTICE RESUMED

Boys' Team Practicing Full Time In Order to Prepare for Tournament

After about a month lay off, Coach Tregilgus's Shamrocks have again gone into rigid training for the County Tournament to be held at Britt, the 14th and 15th of this month. For over a monh the whole squad has been doing little, because of the fact that no games had been played during February. However, the next two weeks will be put into vigorous training in preparation for the coming contest. We understand Coach Tregilgus will leave with his Shamrocks on Friday morning of the 14th and return the following Saturday evening. Probably our team will not make a great headway this year, but it will be a start, and they will not be dissapointed if they do not win, because this is the first year our school has had a team entered.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

Parts Have Been Assigned, Work to Start On It Soon

The parts for the Senior Class play have all been assigned and the work is to be started upon it soon.

The seniors have chosen a very good play for their class play and with its cast of characters it promises to be very good.

The play "CLARENCE" has four acts and will play about two hours and a half. No doubt the High School Orchestra will play for them. The date has not been set, but it is to be given around the first of May. Reserved seats are to be on sale soon. Be sure and get yours soon. We are expecting a large crowd and you don't want to miss out on this.

MINSTREL SHOW

Work on the Dark Town Minstrel has been progressing nicely. Watch for dates.

GRADE NEWS

There is going to be a Story telling contest on Wednesday, March 12th in the Auditorium at 2:30 P. M. All the pupils of Miss Flessner's and Miss Buchan's rooms are to participate. Following are the names.

Miss Flessner's Room

Leona Port	Meeting Milly May
Carlyle Gauger	Hunt the Tailor
Orvis Poort	The Tightwad Uncles
Verner Priebe	Pocohontas
Alvin Keeper	Bunny Patch
Mildred Lemke	Dust Under the Rug
Leon Lemke	St. Valentine
Byrnes Missman	Bunny Boy
Dale Swartz	Cubby Bear an the Fox Hunt.
Ethel Barz	Goldjlocks

Miss Buchan's Room

Elden Kessler	Brave Little Tailor
La Vohn Larsen	Trisby Rabbit
James Laroon	The Cedar's Reward
Dorance Day	Billy Bobs
Clarence Kluckhohn	Brave Peter
Virginia Irving	Two Rabbits
Thomas Gimer	Gingerbread Boy
Verle Keraus	A Little Coal Car
Novlla Bredbenner	Snowball
Paul Busch	Little Black Sambo

The judging of the first and second places will be done by outside judges. Mr. Neese is giving the winners prizes. A very cordial invitation is extended to you to come and hear these stories.

Those having perfect attendance since school began last September in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades are: Wayne Pavey, Otho Keraus Valeria Koerner, Reva Elder, Esther Larson, Elmer Larsen, Lucille Keraus, Ethel Johnson.

..Visitors .

Monday P. M., Mrs. A. D. Gimer visited both of the lower rooms.

Everett Stokesbary visited the Primary room on Monday afternoon.

Nora Wellemeyer also visited the Primary room Monday.

NEW PUPILS

Hertha and Marie Maldenhaurer were transfered from the counrty school to the Klemme Grade school March the third. They both entered into the third grade. They have been going to school since September and are now able to read and write the English Language well. They came from Germany last fall.

Emma Goll entered our furth grade last Monday. She has been a pupil in the Avery number one school.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

A. W. Gauger, Pastor

We were pleased to greet the fine audjences of both Sunday morning and evening.

These services prove helpful and inspiring to those who attend. You are the better qualified to meet the tasks of life as you meet them in the week following. Your presence is an inspiration to others. Thus you have a responsibility to meet aside from caring for your own soul needs. We shall look for you on the coming Sabbath. It is ours to prepare a message that may be beneficial to you; it is yours to come and hear it and profit thereby.

Our morning services will be regular.

The evening service will be continued as we have for the last weeks. However the hour will be 7:30, or one half hour later than heretofore.

The special singing is greatly appreciated by all, and we shall look for its continuance. Thanks to those furnishing the same.

JOHN JOSTEN'S HENS ARE GOOD LAYERS

John Josten brought us an interesting item of news the other day, which is a little out of the ordinary.

John has a fine flock of choice Rhode Island Red chickens that are good layers. And considering that he does not give them more than ordinary care they are exceptionally good layers.

The record John gave us is for the past two years, as follows:

Jan. 1, 1922 to Jan. 1, 1923
55 hens, lay 6,589 eggs, average 120.
Jan. 1, 1923 to Jan. 1, 1924
53 hens, lay 6,362 eggs, average 120.

You will note that the hens are steady layers as the average per hen is the same for the two years.

Any other better records? Let us hear from you.

Now is the best time to plan the summer vacation; then when summer comes and you can't take it, you will have had all these months of fun planning for it, anyway.

Court House News

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

(Feb. 25 to March 1)

Frances . Cummins hus to S. C. McCllough, W. D. date 3-7-23, W½ NW¼ & SE¼ NW¼ 35-97-25.... ..... $16,575.00

Maggie Cosgriff to Mrs. Alice Conner, W. D. date 2-25-24, lot 8 blk 13, Britt $1.00

U. S. to James S. Easley, Patent o W½ SW¼ & E½ SW¼ 21-94-26.

Mrs. Mayme Costello to Dave Roach, W. D. date 2-25-24, Und. 1-3 int. in S½ NW¼ SW¼ 16-94-25.. ..... $1.00

Nora C. Rhodes to Frae Cleaves, W. D. date 2-24-24 lot 8 blk 24 Garner $1.00

U. S. to James Meads, Patent to W½ NE¼ & SE¼ NE¼ 15-95-24.

Mary Griffen to Alice Upmeyer W. D. date 3-7-23 Nfr½ of NEfr½ 2-95-24 ..... $1.00

Mary Griffen to Nettie Greimann, W. D. date 3-7-23 SW¼ of NE¼ & W½ SE¼ 2-95-24 ..... $1.00

Mary Griffen to Louis H. Griffen, W. D. date 3-7-23, SW¼ 29-95-24 ..... $1.00

Mary Griffen to John A. Griffen, W. D. date 3-27-23, NWfr¼ 2-95-24 ..... $1.00

Linley A. Miller wf. to Peoples State Bank, Corwith, Q. C. D. date 2-25-24, part of lots 1-2-3-4 block 4 Corwith $1.25

Carrie Hughes hus et al to Harvey Christensen, Q. C. D. date 1-31-23, W½ NE¼ & SE¼ NE¼ 31-94-23. ..... $1.00

First Nat. Bank, Forest City, to Archie Scott, W. D. date 2-14-24, SW¼ 23-97-23 ..... $1.00

Jens Moe wf to G. B. Lawhorn Q. C. D. date 2-21-24 Pt. SW¼ SE¼ 19-96-24 ..... $1.00

J. N. Church to L. A. Church Q. C. D. date 2-28-24 NW¼ SW¼ & N. 10 a. of SW¼ SWlb 33-94-23 $1.00

L. A. Church wf to Mrs. Goldie Rhodes, W. D. date 2-28-24, NW¼ SW¼ & N. 10 a. of SW¼ SW¼ 33-94-23 ..... $6,000.00

O. H. Stilson et al to C. R. Keyes, W. D. date 2-26-24 NE¼ 8-94-26.. ..... $1.00

MARCH MAKES ENTRY PER REPUTATION

March "Comes In Like A Lamb;" First Day Fair and Warm

With fair weather and the temperature bouncing around between 30 and 40, March came in like the proverbial lamb Saturday and continued fair and warm over Sunday.

Monday this vicinity was visited by a heavy, wet snow, continuing all day and accompanied by a thunderstorm at night.

Tuesday the weather again made a change and the day was warm and bright.

If the month of March is to live up to the old, established record, we can expect it to "go out like a lion."

But, then, on the other hand, the ground hog did not live up to his established reputation altogether.

ANOTHER SUPERVISOR OUT ON WEST SIDE

This week we are running the announcement of A. O. Christensen, a candidate for supervisor from Crystal Lake.

We are not acquainted with the candidate, but he is a farmer and a live stock breeder. In his letter he stated he would visit Klemme as soon as the roads were passable.

There are now four candidates on the west side for the office of supervisor—one from Crystal Lake and one each from Britt, Corwith and Kanawha. H. L. Suckow, of Klemme is the only candjdate out on the east side of the county, and it is very doubtful if any others will come out on the east side.

Was Dad's Off Day

Bobby was of an inquiring turn of mind, but mother usually managed to answer his questions.

"Why does daddy go to town every day?" he asked on one occasion.

"To work so that you and I can have good dinners," mother replied promptly.

Next day, as Bobby sat down to dinner, he looked disparagingly at the fare provided, then turned an accusing eye on father.

"You didn't do much today, did you?" he remarked.

SCHOOL ELECTION MONDAY MAY BE A QUIET AFFAIR

MEMOIR

Funeral Services For Miss Mabel Aurene Starnes Held Tuesday In Klemme

The subject of this sketch was born at Dubuque, Iowa, on August 31, 1902, and died at the home of her parents near Klemme, Iowa, on March 2, 1924. She reached the age of 21 years, 6 months and 2 days.

Mabel had a sunny disposition and was a cheerful and willing helper in the home, and ever ready to aid friends or relatives jn need.

She was blessed with a good strong body and physical health in former days and no doubt would have lived to a ripe old age, had it not been for a nerve trouble that made inroads on her health.

About a week before her death she suffered a nervous break-down. Doctors pronounced her condition very serious. Mabel realized this and said to those at her bedside: "God used to heal the sick and he still lives and can do it now. I will trust Him." And while she trusted, the allwise God gathered her unto Himself to dwell with Him forever, in Heaven reserved for the faithful.

She leaves to mourn her death—her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Starnes and one brother, Verle Starnes. One brother preceded her in death about ten years ago.

Besides she leaves a host of relatives and friends to mourn her death. Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Gauger at the Methodist Church in Klemme and interment was made at the Goodell cemetery.

80 YEARS OLD BUT ONLY HAD 20 BIRTHDAYS!

AUSTIN, Minn., March 6.—To be 80 years old and yet have had only twenty birthday anniversaries is the unique experience of Robert Tyrer, G. A. R. veteran, whose fourth score year was passed and observed at the G. A. R. hall with eighty friends in attendance. The event was one that will long live in the memories of those present and made a deep impression on the large group that had gathered to pay a tribute of respect to their loyal comrade and friend.

His birthday was February 29.

LEGLESS BEGGAR AT D. M. IS WILLED $200

DES MOINES, Mar. 4.—Two hundred dollars is willed to "a legless beggar" who seeks alms in the business district, by Rachael Hull Brown 4008 Sixth avenue, whose will was filed in district court here.

The Grace Methodist church is left $100 and the remainder of the estate after amounts ranging from $100 to $500 are paid to relatives, goes to the Salvation Army.

Howard L. Bump, executor, today was seeking for the beggar but had found no trace of him.

IOWA TWINS NOW 81, BOTH FOUGHT IN WAR

STUART, March 6.—Iowa lays claim to another distinction, that of being the residence of the oldest pair of twins to see service in the Civil War. The twins who now are 81 years old, are Albert J. Ticknor, of Earlham, Iowa, and Allen J. Ticknor, of Stuart.

The twins enlisted together at Peoria, Ill., in August, 1862, and served with the union armies until June 1865, when they were mustered out at Washington, D. C. They soldiered together and were with Sherman's command.

When Silence Is Bliss

"Sam, do you solemnly swear to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth?"

"Ah does, sah."

"Well, Sam, what have you got to say for yourself?"

"Jedge, wif all dem limitatjons you jes' put on me, Ah don't believe Ah has anything at all to say."

Why not call a national conference to determine how to spell and pronounce mah jongg and Tut Ankh-Amen?

SCHOOL ELECTION MONDAY IN KLEMME

Looks Like IT Will Pass By Quietly As There Are No Opposing Candidates On Ticket

The school election Monday looks like it will be a quiet affair as only two candidates are on the ticket for two offices, that of directors for the three year terms.

A. D. Gimer and Frank Kluckhohn are the candidates and each are for the three year term of director to succeed themselves.

Apparently the present board is giving satisfaction as no other candidates are out for office, so we predict that there will be only a very small number out to vote.

However, perhaps you will not even take time to go to the polls to see what the ballot looks like, so we will re-prduce it here:

SAMPLE BALLOT

Directors For The Term
Of Three Years
(Vote For Two)

☐ A. D. GIMER

☐ FRANK KLUCKHOHN

☐ .....

☐ .....

There will be no election of directors in the rural districts this year.

BUFFALO MEAT MAY BE A VERY COMMON DISH IF GAIN KEEPS UP

WASHINGTON.—Secretary Wallace has been feasting on Buffalo meat, a rare delicacy in these days, but one which may become more common in time, since the extinction of Buffalo has been averted.

Heavy increases of these animals on the national bison range in Montana has enabled biological survey experts to experiment with long distance shipments to determine whether the buffalo meat will stand transporting to eastern markets.

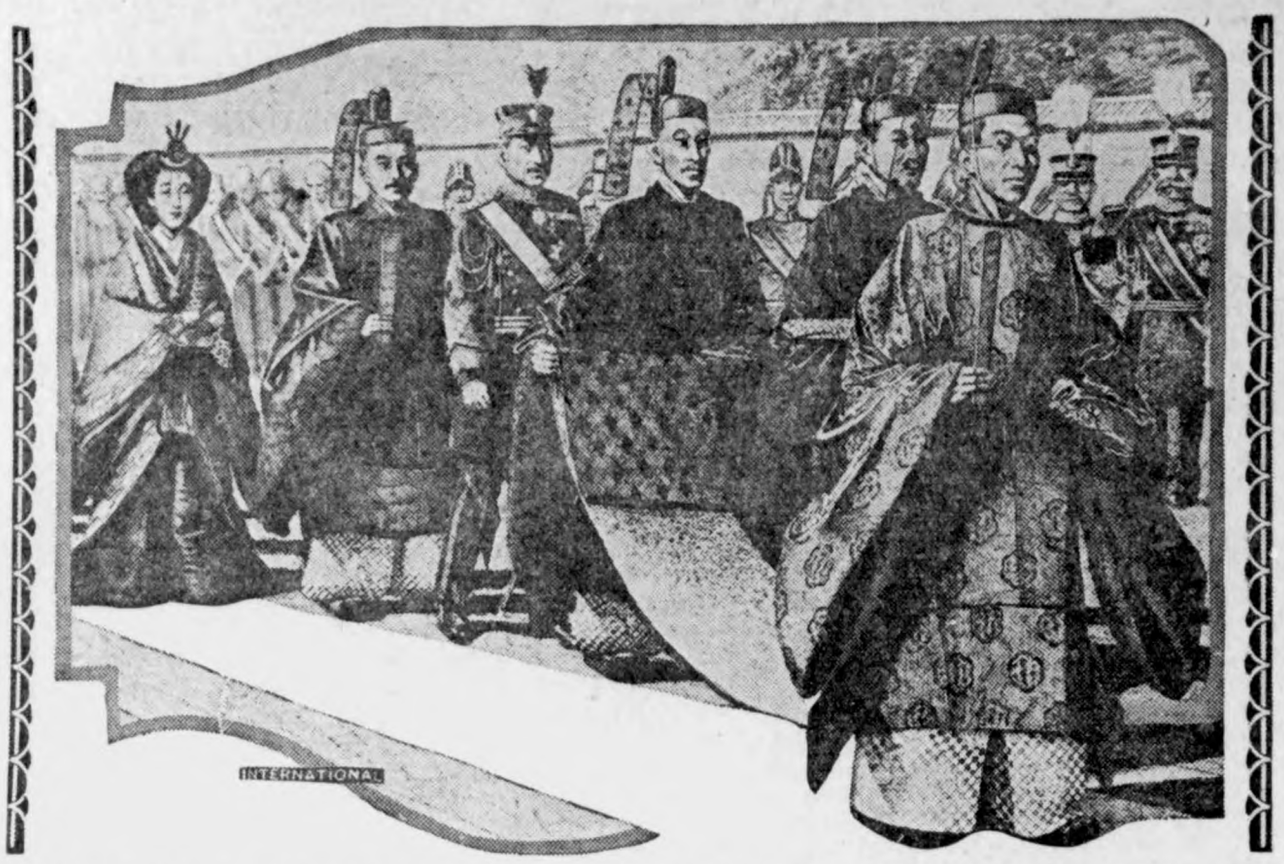
There are now about 4,500 head of buffalo in the United States and about 11,500 elsewhere in North America. Experts say their perpetuation is assured, with an ample supply for exhibition and breeding purposes and a surplus each year for marketing.

J. J. Poort went to Mason City, Monday, March 3rd to attend a district convention of Standard Oil Co. tank wagon men and service station attendants. The convetion was held in the Tea Room of the Hanford Hotel and covers were laid for 187 for a noon luncheon in the dining room. Manager R. H. Thomas, Ass't. Mgr H. E. Hanson and Mr. Lou, General Sales Manager gave interesting talks to the gathering. This convention covers only one third of the Mason City district and another meeting was held Tuesday at Fort Dodge and one today at Waterloo to take in the balance of the territory. Mr. Poort says there was something doing all day and a fine meeting was held.

Last Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Ben Swalve had been married forty-two years. That evening their children and families gathered at the Swalve home for a surprise party. Those of the children who were present were Herman Priebe and family; Dick Swalve and family; John Swalve and family; Gilbert Schaper and family; Miss Lena Swale, and Ben Swalve, Jr Mr. and Mrs. Swalve have lived in this vicinity for thirty four years. Ben says the first time he saw Mason City it wasn't any bigger than Klemme is now. There was a lot of good Iowa land to be bought in any part of the state for a couple of dollars an acre.

Automobiles now are nearly foolproof, but their drivers are not.

Japan's Imperial Wedding as Seen by Native Artist



Above is shown a most unusual drawing of the recent imperial wedding in Tokyo, representing several weeks of study on costumes and scenery by K. Kabashima, the artist of the Asahi Shimbum. This has been pronounced by the imperial household department the most authentic artist's drawing of the wedding. Prince Regent Hirohito leads the procession in the ancient ceremonial wedding dress. Viscount Iriye, grand chamberlain, holds the end of the regent's robe. General Nara, chief aide de camp, follows, while in the extreme rear is the crown princess.

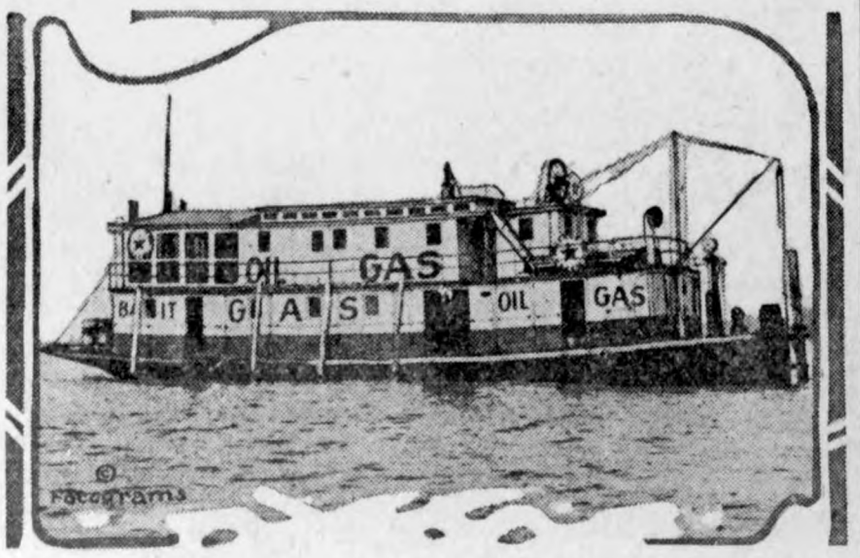
Lad Overcoming Great Handicap

Being crippled and without arms is not too great a handicap for Henry Wiegman, fifteen, of Chicago. This unfortunate boy is making a winning fight against his tremendous afflictions. Henry is a pal of "Uncle Robert," friend of afflicted boys and girls. Henry showed he could do many things the other boys of his age do with both arms and legs. He wrote a letter on a typewriter with the aid of a stick clutched between his shoulder and his cheek. He drew a picture of Uncle Sam with the aid of a pencil held in his mouth. He carried a chair on his shoulder, removed his hat and coat and put them on again—all this without the use of arms. Henry is particularly keen about art work and hopes to become an accomplished commercial artist.

Manila Says "Yo Protesto"

"Yo Protesto," parade held recently in Manila, Philippine Islands, protesting against the American Chamber of Commerce and the territorial government.

Florida Has Novel Floating Garage



This sea-going garage, anchored on Lake Worth, Palm Beach, Fla., is probably the only one of its kind in the world.

FUTURE MRS. HARRIMAN

Miss Harriet Hewitt—nee Horowitz—a millinery model in a New York shop, whose tentative engagement to Oliver C. Harriman, New York banker and sportsman, has just been admitted by both of them. Mr. Harriman is merely withholding formal announcement until the interlocutory decree of divorce obtained by Mrs. Lois Bisbee Harriman becomes final, three months in the future.

GOING TIGER HUNTING

Five thrilling adventures in her life, each of which came within a hair of causing her death, have failed to dampen the enthusiasm of Mrs. Ernest Thompson Seton of New York city and Greenwich, Conn., and she has just left London, where she has been visiting, to hunt tigers in India. Mrs. Seton, who was formerly Grace Gallatin—of one of New York's oldest and most prominent families—is the wife of the well-known naturalist and writer.

Urges Conferences

JOHN H. WALKER, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, believes that an understanding between the American Legion and organized labor will accomplish great things. He said:

"There should be conferences from time to time between organizations of labor and the American Legion in every city in which there are Legion posts established, for the purpose of removing any misunderstandings that might arise. No real American denies the right of labor to organize for the betterment and protection of its members.

"That is exactly why the American Legion was organized—for the returned service men—that, and for the continued service to their country in peace as well as war."

MAKES VOCATIONAL TRAINING BIG CARD

If the vocational training department of the veterans' bureau advertised its activities in the magazines as do various correspondence schools, you would probably see the subject of the accompanying picture pointing a finger at you and inquiring if you, too, wanted to make a thousand dollars and royalties.

Here's the story: Richard G. Quehl of Peterson post, American Legion, Minneapolis, Minn., is a veteran whom the Germans picked on. In one year of service ten months were spent in France, and on two separate occasions Quehl was "at home" for the reception of steel-jacketed calling cards.

As a part of his vocational training he was farmed out to a Minneapolis maker of flour and cereal milling machinery, as a salesman. His employer told him to go into the shop and observe things, so that he would know the business from the ground up. Being a spectator didn't appeal to Quehl. He put on a pair of overalls and went to work at the bench.

Richard G. Quehl.

His genius immediately showed itself and in no time at all he demonstrated some practical improvements in machinery design. His latest idea is an improvement on a disk separator for keeping the chaff from the wheat. He sold the idea for $1,000 and royalties.

Now don't try to spoil this story by pointing out that Quehl was trained as a salesman. He is a versatile comrade. He also made good as a salesman and compiled the best catalogue that his company ever armed its sales force with.

Veteran of World War Poses as Real German

For once, John Thomas, a veteran of the World war, was glad that he could pose as a German, even though he had fought them on French soil in 1917 and 1918.

For Thomas escaped from Huertista rebels in Mexico by posing as a German, after the rebels learned that the United States had begun to supply the federalists with guns and munitions. Even then, he was tortured with hot irons, and his clothing taken from him, and escaped only through aid of friendly freight train conductors, who helped him make his way across the border.

Thomas was a miner employed by a British syndicate on the Jalisco-Guadalajaro front, and the mine was attacked and wrecked by the Huertistas. He was taken prisoner with a group of federal soldiers and was accused of being a "gringo." He saw another American killed by the rebels.

"Americans are about as popular as rattlesnakes with the rebels just now," said Thomas to a group of American Legion members in El Paso, who provided him shelter and funds. "Since the United States began to send munitions to Obregon, they call it interference in their family scraps."

The rebels took 367 pesos—all the money he had—and left him almost naked, but he was freed when he claimed to be German. Then the loyalistic troops caught him and repeated this treatment.

To Aid Unemployed

In order to provide employment for ex-service men in and around Mobile, Ala., members of the American Legion in that city have arranged with local newspapers to carry advertising in the "Situations Wanted" column for local veterans without charge. A membership card in the American Legion or an honorable discharge is the only requirement.

Millions prefer Yeast Foam

Begin today to learn the most useful of home arts—bread-making.

Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"

Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 North Ashland Ave.
Chicago, Ill.

Bootblack Refused to Work After Making $1.50

All afternoon the score of bootblacks in Washington square had annoyed the sitter on the bench with their, "Shine, Joe? Only fiva da cent."

He swore that sudden death soon would be visited on one of the boys as a horrible example of the danger of overdrumming trade.

As dusk settled over the square the young man suddenly remembered that he had an engagement with his prospective father-in-law at an uptown hotel. There might be a job in the interview. The father-in-law owned a large import business.

Glancing at his brogue shoes, he discovered that they were gray with dust, a damning condition in view of the interview.

There was just time for a shine. Most of the bootblacks had disappeared. Just one lone straggler was still to be found.

"Here, boy, quick shine," said the young man.

But the boy, who had pestered him at 15-minute intervals throughout the afternoon, grinned and shook his head.

"Not now, Joe," he said. "I make de dollar-a-half and I queet."—New York Mail.

Lots of men suddenly become near-sighted when they start out to look for work.

What a lot of discouraged-looking people one meets.

Showed Fido the Ho

A woman carrying a little in her arms was riding in a bu went along Park lane. All th up she worried the conductor a whether they had come to No- tioning a house nearly at th When they reached the nucle conductor halted the bus, thinki woman wished to alight there, b of doing this, however, she went door of the bus and, holding dog, said: "Look, Fido, that's your mother was born!"

"DANDELION BUTTER CO

A harmless vegetable butter used by millions for 50 years. stores and general stores sell of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—

To Cure Insomnia

Insomnia victims have found cures, such as counting im sheep passing through a gate, inn keeper in Europe, when s covers one of her guests has w well, turns his bed so it will b a other direction. She maintain her long experience in catering comfort of travelers that su "East and Westers," while oth "North and Southers," or "We Easters," when it comes to slee

Men have their troubles the w women, but they have less to su them.

A fool and his money are started.

MONARCH
DUTCH PROCESS
COCOA

38¢

Save Money on Cocoa

Quality for 70 Years

Buy these choice cocoas from your Regular RetailGrocer at the money saving prices offered here. Monarch equals the finest imported brands in quality, yet costs half as much. Farm House is an American Process Cocoa—at a price that is unprecedented. It will pay you to stock several pounds at these money saving prices.

To Retail Grocers: If you own and operate your own store and our salesmen do not now call on you, write for special proposition on Monarch Dutch Process Cocoa, Farm House American Process Cocoa, and the world famous Monarch Coffee.

REID, MURDOCH & CO.
ESTABLISHED 1853
Chicago Pittsburgh New York

18¢

FARM HOUSE
AMERICAN PROCESS
COCOA

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

SMITH BROTHERS
S.B. COUGH DROPS
Famous since 1847
MENTH (orange colore

SICK HEADACH

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver P then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. They re the organs to their proper functions and Head and the causes of it pass away.

THEY REGULATE THE BOWELS and PREVENT CONSTIPATION

Genuine bear signature— Brentwood Small Pill; Small Dose; Small

Sure Relief
FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS
Hot water
Sure Relief

BELL-ANS
25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

suspicious sore throat

Don't neglect it. Begin gargling at once with one teaspoonful of Zonite in 20 teaspoonfuls of water. Gargle every half hour until all discomfort has disappeared. Zonite is the most remarkable of all antiseptics. It doesn't taste or smell sweet, but it surely does kill germs. Positively non-poisonous.

Zonite
KILLS GERMS

Mother Gray's Powders Benefit Many Children

Thousands of Mothers have found MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS an excellent remedy for children complaining of Headaches, Colds, Constipation, Feverishness, Stomach Troubles and Bowel Irregularities. These powders are easy and pleasant to take and excellent results are accomplished by their use. Used by Mothers for over 30 years. Sold by Druggists everywhere.

A COLD TODAY - DON'T DELAY

AT ALL DRUGGISTS CASCARA QUININE MILES BROMIDE PRICE 30 CENTS
Cures Colds in 24 Hours
La Grippe in 3 Days
W. H. HILL CO., DETROIT. (A-403)
SAFE SURE DEPENDABLE

Worth Trying

Brown—Halloa, old chap! Nice melons you've got there!

Green—Yes, there're for my mother-in-law. She said she would give half her life for a good melon, so I've bought a couple.—Stray Stories.

A Standard for 90 Years.
As a laxative and blood purifier there is nothing better than Brandreth Pills. In use throughout the world.—Adv.

Or Mittens

Teacher (after giving the class a lesson on snow)—"And should we go out on a winter's day and look about us, what might we see on every hand?" Small Boy—"Gloves."

Freshen a Heavy Skin
With the antiseptic, fascinating Cuticura Talcum Powder, an exquisitely scented, economical face, skin, baby and dusting powder and perfume. Renders other perfumes superfluous. One of the Cuticura Toilet Trio (Soap, Ointment, Talcum).—Advertisement.

Speed

Wise Guy—What's your idea of a fast guy?

Mess Cook—I don't know. You tell me.

"It's a guy that can turn the light out and jump into bed before the room gets dark."—Delaware Blue Hen.

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A BOX

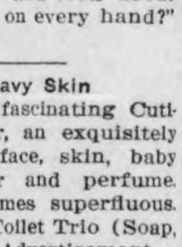
Cures Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion. Drug stores. Adv.

Would Return to Old Job

Doubtless many a woman wishes she could dispose of her stock in the matrimonial combine and get her old job back in the laundry.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

Don't Cut Out a Shoe Boil, Capped Hock or Bursitis for



ABSORBINE
TRADE MARK REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
will reduce them and leave no blemishes. Stops lameness promptly. Does not blister or remove the hair, and horse can be worked. $2.50 a bottle delivered. Book 6 A free.
W. F. Young, Inc., 510 Lyman St., Springfield, Mass.

Relief for coughs
Use PISO'S—this prescription quickly relieves children and adults.
A pleasant syrup. No opiates.
35c and 60c sizes sold everywhere.

PLAN FOR AID OF EX-SERVICE WOMEN

Creation of a body to promote the aid and interest of 52,000 ex-service women of the World war has been authorized as an organization activity of the American Legion Auxiliary. This action was taken at a meeting of the national executive committee of the organization, when its members authorized the establishment of a "president's parley," fostered from the first department presidents of the organization, and including past presidents of the national body, departments and units.

A fund for the relief of these ex-service women will become the principal objective of the parley, which has already settled on April 6 of each year as the day for such a drive. This campaign will be a separate undertaking for each past president in her own community. In case these funds exceed the needs of ex-service women, the money will be devoted to rehabilitation and hospitalization work.

Membership in the original parley, known as the "Aloha Presidents," in honor of Hawaii, the first department chartered, was limited to 53 departmental presidents. In the new body, all past department presidents are eligible to the "national president's parley," this number being automatically increased by expiration of annual terms. In provision for departmental parleys, past department presidents and past presidents of local units will hold membership, an annual meeting at the department convention being required.

The "Aloha Fund," for relief of women who served in the World war, is to be drawn from work by departments and units, one-half going to the department and national parleys, the remainder to be used by the local unit. Handling of the national funds by the Aloha presidents is provided by the constitution of that body.

Creviston Is Chosen New National Adjutant

Russell G. Creviston of Marion, Ind., who for some time has been assistant national adjutant to Col. Lemuel Bolles, recently retired, has been named to succeed Colonel Bolles.

Russell G. Creviston.

Mr. Creviston has played a prominent part in Legion affairs for the past four years, going to the national headquarters from Minneapolis, where he had been doing work among returned soldiers with a war camp community organization.

State-Wide Campaign to Arouse Citizens

The most comprehensive experiment in education in citizenship ever undertaken in the nation is under way in California, under direction of the American Legion. Nearly 2,000 workers, enrolled by the Legion in a statewide speakers' bureau, are carrying a message of Americanism to every settlement in the state in an effort to offset the apathy of citizens toward civic affairs.

Department Commander James F. Collins organized the movement and is directing instruction of the huge corps of workers from state headquarters, in a cause which will continue until fall.

"The Legion is aroused by the danger which confronts this country because of apathy of her citizens toward civic affairs and the increasing neglect of the privilege of voting," said Commander Collins, "a prime movement of the whole campaign will be to secure a larger registration among eligible voters in the state and to impress upon the citizens their duty to participate in governmental affairs."

The state has been divided into forty districts, with a district commander appointed in each district who is to supervise the work. At least once each month, every American Legion post is to be visited by a Legionnaire from another post, and in addition all the civic clubs as Rotary, Kiwanis, women's clubs, church, luncheon and fraternal clubs will hear a Legion speaker, seeking to arouse the citizenry of its obligation to community, state and nation.

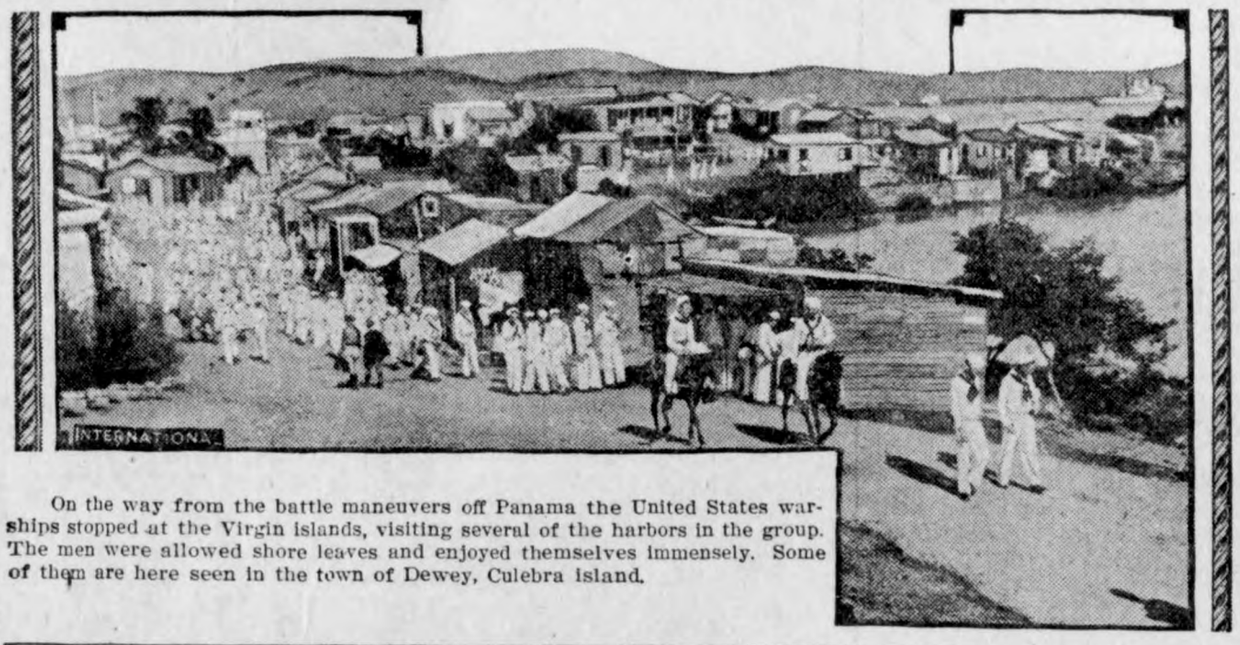
Took Meeting to Bedside

Because two ex-service men were in plaster casts in a hospital at Anchorage, Alaska, members of the American Legion took their meeting to the bedside of the veterans, and there formally adopted them as members. One of the men, Chris Sladoje, was badly injured by a fall of rock while working along the line of the Alaska railroad.

Washington Headquarters at Chadds Ford

This is the Washington headquarters at Chadds Ford, Pa., which is to become a national shrine, if the nation-wide movement to make it such is successful. It was here that the first American flag was raised over a headquarters, by George Washington, at the Battle of Brandywine, Sept. 11, 1777. Thousands of tourists visit this old building during the vacation season.

American Jackies Visit Ports of the Virgin Islands



On the way from the battle maneuvers off Panama the United States warships stopped at the Virgin islands, visiting several of the harbors in the group. The men were allowed shore leaves and enjoyed themselves immensely. Some of them are here seen in the town of Dewey, Culebra island.

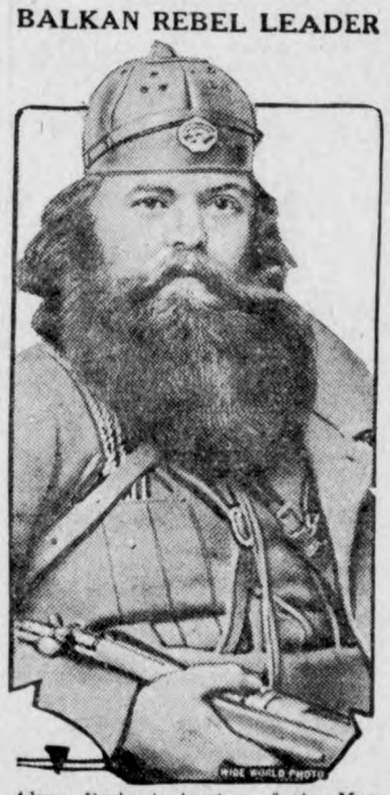
"Lincoln's Suit" Sold at Auction

S. V. Henkel of Philadelphia is here seen holding the suit which he sold at auction the other day as that worn by President Lincoln when he was shot by Booth. It is stained with blood and the cuts in the coat were said to have been made by the physicians to get at the wound. But the Chicago Historical society has what it believes to be the suit Lincoln wore that fatal night, and has affidavits to support its claim.

Rioters Keep Tokyo Police Busy

There have been numerous outbreaks of the government's opponents in Japan recently. Police of Tokyo are here seen charging on a mob, one of whose members has been caught by them.

BALKAN REBEL LEADER



Aleco Pasha is leader of the Macedonian revolutionary movement in Jugo-Slavia, who led a revolt against the terms of the treaty of Neuilly awarding most of the territory inhabited by Macedonians to Greece and Jugo-Slavia.

KILLED HIS FAMILY

Frank McDowell, the nineteen-year-old youth now in jail in St. Petersburg, Fla., where he confessed to having shot his parents to death recently and also admitted that he set the fire which resulted in the death of his sisters, Marian and Williamateen, a year ago in Decatur, Ga., where the family then lived. His explanation of the murders indicates that he is a religious maniac.

PE-RU-NA
For COUGHS & COLDS

Backed by Over Half a Century of Success in the Treatment of Catarrh and Catarrhal Conditions

Sold Everywhere

Tablets or Liquid

Etiquette for Everybody—10,000-word booklet. Dime or stamps to Newspaper Inform. Service, 1322 New York Ave., Washington, D. C.

GOOD SALESMEN CAN EARN $300.00 monthly selling LUCKY STRIKE BLEND COFFEE. Highest quality, lowest price. Exclusive agency will help establish trade. David Williams & Co., 311 River St., Chicago.

LOCAL AGENTS for our patent weather strip that can be installed without removing sash. Profitable business for reliable person. Write ALLEN MFG. CO., MORRIS, ILL.

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER COMPOUND

Is indispensable in all cases of Distemper, Influenza, Coughs, Colds, Heaves and Worms among horses and mules. Used and endorsed by leading stock farms, breeders and drivers of United States and Canada for thirty years. Sold in two sizes at all drug stores.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO. GOSHEN, IND. U.S.A.

Missing Persons Found

One metropolitan newspaper which conducts a "Missing Persons Department" reports that in 1,260 cases in which aid was requested in finding missing persons, 163 inquiries were successful and that many persons were reunited with their relatives and friends. It is said, however, that this does not represent the total of the missing who are found, as many of the responses are made direct to the inquirer and the cases do not become public.

MOTHER!

Baby's Best Laxative is "California Fig Syrup"

When baby is constipated, has wind-colic, feverish breath, coated-tongue, or diarrhea, a half teaspoonful of genuine "California Fig Syrup" promptly moves the poisons, gases, bile, souring food and waste right out. Never cramps or overacts. Babies love its delicious taste.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has full directions for infants in arms, and children of all ages, plainly printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Her Favorite

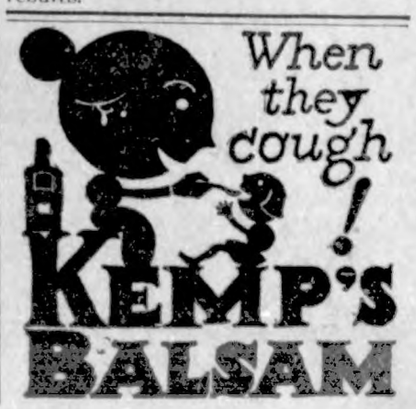
Tactless Lady Friend (to hostess)—By the way, what birthday is this we are celebrating?

Hostess—My thirty-fifth.

Lady Friend—But have we not celebrated that before?

Hostess—Oh, yes; it is one of my favorite birthdays.—Stray Stories.

Learn to labor while you wait for results.



Political Announcements

COUNTY RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election to the office of Recorder of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Clarissa Abel. *

I hreeby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock Contuy, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the Primaries to be held in June, 1924.—H. L. Suckow, Klemme, Ia.*

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subjeet to the decision of the Republican Primary to be held in June, 1924.—H. C. Meyer. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to a decision of the republican voters at the primary election in June, 1924. I solicit your support on a platform of strict economy. fair and impartial treatment.—Wallace Darrah. *

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1924 Primaries.—A. O. Christensen, Crystal Lake, Iowa.

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary John Suurballe. (J-10)

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—H. A. Sweigard. *

COUNTY AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of County Auditor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters of the June, 1924 Primary.—J. D. Madison. *

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Verne C. Grau. J-17)

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock County, Iowa, subject to the decision of the republican priaries to be held in June 1924. I solicit the support of all voters, both men and women.—V. S. White.

COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—J. C. Hanson, Garner, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination of Clerk of Courts of Hancock County subject to a decision of the voters at the June 1924 Primaries.—Chris J. Johansen, Britt, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, and solicit your support at the June Primary election, 1924.—F. P. Oleson. F-14

COUNTY SHERIFF

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county. subject to the will of the voters at the republican primaries to be held in June 1924.—Howard Hanson, Crystal Lake. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate on the Republican ticket for Sheriff of Hancock County at the June primaries. Pledging tht same service that I have previously given while in public office.—Peck Hanson.

I hereoy announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock Coutny, subject to the decision of the voters at the primary in June.—W. C. Zeismer.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 Primaries. I solicit the vote of everybody.—C. N. White, Klemme, Iowa. *

FOR STATE SENATOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for State Senator from this 43rd district of Iowa comprising Cerro Gordo, Franklin and Hancock counties, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 primaries. If nominated and elected I agree to abide by the precedent established in this district and will not be a candidate for a second term.—C. F. JOHNSTON. Sheffield, Iowa. Feb. 1st, 1924.

COUNTY REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Representative from the 86th district, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1924, Primarjes. —Frank M. Hanson, Garner, Iowa.

Corn Breeder Grows 'Lemon Yellow' to Ripen to Order.

Albert A. Miller of Ogden, Iowa, whose entry of "Lemon Yellow' seed corn in the 1923 Iowa corn yield con test placed second in the south central section with a yield of 67.66 bushels per acre under the average farm conditions, says that his corn will ripen ears to order."

"Lemon Yellow is of recent mixture," he writes in a letter of R. M. Vifquain ,farm crops specialist at Iowa State College, "and is hardly an established variety. Since it is new, most any shape of kernel may be developed into another strain from it. What I want from "Lemon Yellow' is for it to develope ears to order. A stalk to do this ripens its ears to order when its leaves remain green until the husks have ripned and the ear is quite solid and of a rich lemon color."

DO CATTLE FATTEN ON OATS?

Oats Being Compared With Other Feeds; Results to Be Given Out Cattle Feeders' "Hey Day"

Cattle feeders in Iowa who are feeding oats to cattle will be interested in the latest experimental data on oats for feeder cattle which will be given out by John M. Evvard and his staff of animal husbandry experimentalists at the annual Cattle Feeder's "Hey Day" at Iowa State College, Ames, Tues. April 22.

"Iowa is a grat oat growing state" says Mr. Evvard. "Milljons of bushels of oats are available on Iowa farms for cattle feeders. Can these oats be used to advantage in fattening steers? It is often assumed that oats will replace protein supplements such as linseed or cottonseed oil meal in rations for fattening cattle. But will oats do it? That is one of the questions we are trying to answer in the cattle feeding work at the Iowa Experiment Station this year.

"Previous experiments have indicated that oats may be used satisfactorily in cattle feeding, particularly in the early part of the feeding period. In the experiment at Ames this year, one group of steers is receiving three pounds of oats per head daily in addition to shelled corn and roughage."

Ten lots of steers are being fed at the Iowa Experiment Station in order to determine the feeding value of soybean concentrates, soybean roughages, oats, minerals and linseed oilmeal in the fattening of steers. Results of the test will be given out to cattle feeders who are at Ames for Cattle Feeders' "Hey Day," Tuesday, April 22.

TEST CREAM SEPARATORS

Skimmilk Tests Tell Truth on Cheating Separators

Cream separators that have not been tested for some time may be cheating their owners out of a considerable sum every week. That can be avoided, for skimmilk testing will reveal the honesty of the most deceitful separator, according to C. A. Iverson of the Iowa State Colelge department of dairying.

Suprjsing results have been obtained whever fairly large numbers of hand separators have been tested," Mr. Iverson says. "In Worth county, five separators in one cow testing association were found to be losing excessive amounts of butterfat. We feel certain that there are many separators in every community that are losing butterfat for their owners. An annual loss of several dollars can easily result if the machine is not regulated properly."

Skimmilk testing can be done by the Babcock method with a spceial double-necked test bottle. In place of the 17.5 cubic centimeters of acid required for whole mjlk, 20 are used for skimmilk. Otherwise, practically the same procedure is followed as in testing whole milk. The test can be made by the farmers themselves, or, if this is not convenjent, by the local creamery. If no local agency is available, a sample can be sent to the dairy section, Iowa State College, Ames, and it will be tested. A four ounce medicine bottle full of skimmilk js sufficient for a testing. It should be well packed in a cardboard box and mailed. A charge of 10 cents per sample is made for the testing.

A Hint To Candidates

A prominent attorney for a mammoth corporation had been bitten by the political bug and was making his first race for Congress.

He had just finished a particularly effusive address before a large country audience and was receiving the usual congratulations. Among those who came up to him was an old farmer who had heard political speeches for fifty years.

"Son," said the farmer, "that was a good speech up till the last sentence, but if ye don't retract that last sentence ye'll sure get beat."

"Why, what was the matter with it?"

"Well, ye said if elected ye'd be true to your trust, and that's just what a lot of us has been afraid of."

Titles

A buck private who had strayed from the fold—the fold of his encampment—decided that he would spend his last handful of jack in a blaze of glory before surrendering to the M. P.'s. Accordingly he went to a big hotel, picked up the pen and was preparing to sign the register when he saw inscribed on the lines above:

"Rev. James Morgan, A. M., Ph. D., D. D."

"Gen. Morton Butterby-Miggs, K. C. B., O. B. E."

Sighing heavily, the buck wrote:

"Prvt. Jim Harnish, A. W. O. L., probably S. O. L.

SAW HORATIO ALGER'S GHOST

Intervenes in Time to Save Two Young Bootblacks by Tripping Policeman.

Emil Jones was always going in for things. His acquaintances knew him, and because they knew him they kept away from him. His latest is spiritualism, and he has been a bore for the last few weeks; so when he quietly stated after returning from lunch that he had just seen the ghost of Horatio Alger no one gave him the slightest heed.

That didn't stop Emil any. He just smiled sheepishly, took a long breath and began: "Yeh; when Alger's ghost walked up the street to the corner the other day at noon and stopped for a moment in front of a cafeteria and watched four little bootblacks busy at their trade, he received the most earthly shock of his entire spiritual existence."

"Yes?" said Smith, the bookkeeper, who didn't particularly care for Emil's tales, but took a keen delight in the discomfiture of the rest of the staff, "just what caused this particular shock?"

"Well," beamed Emil, who was now sure of at least one listener, "the four bootblacks were working so quickly that Horatio stopped and remarked at the terrible speed of the youngsters.

"I turned to Horatio's ghost and whispered: 'See the first boy on the end? He seems to be winning.'

"'Yes,' replied Horatio Alger, who had overcome his timidness and came closer to me, so I could now see him quite plainly, 'but 2, 3 and 4 are not far behind. See—all of them almost simultaneously have now commenced on the second shoe.'

"'But' I replied. 'I still think the nearest lad will finish first. If you wish to make a little wager I—'

"Just then there was a hurried scurrying and a sharp 'Cheese it, de cops!' and four boys sprang as one from their tasks, leaving boxes, brushes, polishing rags and polish scattered over the sidewalk.

"One of the lads in another instant would have been arrested, but just as the policeman stretched out his hand to grasp the little fellow he tripped and sprawled upon the sidewalk.

"The policeman picked himself up, brushed off his clothes, glared at the quickly gathering crowd for a moment and then continued on up the street at a slow walk.

"He probably did not know and possibly never will know what I know and saw with my own eyes. Just as he was about to lay his hand on the youngster, Horatio Alger's ghost ran quickly out from the shadows of the building and deliberately gave the villainous policeman 'the foot.'"—New York Sun and Globe.

Monkeys Rang the Tocsin.

A correspondent in Naples tells an amusing tale of two escaped monkeys, which, after frightening a whole district for several days, mobilized the countryside by ringing the tocsin in the village church. The two delinquents were acquired by two rich Neapolitans, who wished to have a Voronoff operation performed. Pending the moment when the celebrated professor could proceed to Italy, the monkeys were kept in a cage. One day they managed to break the doors of the cage and escape. Reaching the Royal park of Capodimote, the simian visitors considerably startled the people there, until finally they were chased into the village church. Spying two ropes, the monkeys made a dash to climb up to what must have seemed a safe point of vantage. Soon the bells at the other end of the ropes began to toll a tocsin, which grew ever wilder as the beasts, driven half frantic by the unknown sound of clanging, swung widely back and forth until crowds attracted by the ringing bells captured them both.

Angler-Fishes.

The family of the angler-fishes contains more strange forms than any other. Living on the sea-bottom and seeking their prey by stealth, angler-fishes do not need powerful swimming-muscles; consequently the size of the body and tail has become considerably reduced, so that the head, relatively to the size of the body, is usually large (and villainously ugly). The rays of the back-fin are very long, and the foremost is provided with a flaglike flap of skin at the top, extremely sensitive to touch, and playing a very important part in the capture of its food. The fish commonly lies concealed on the sea-bottom, with this "flag" erected. From its general resemblance to the surrounding seaweed it is quite inconspicuous, so that passing fishlings seek not to avoid it. If one touches it the jaws beneath open instantly, and the luckless trespasser is engulfed. It is probable that this flag serves also as a lure to attract passing fishes.

The Change.

"Yes, Mabel has given up the idea of a career."

"You don't tell me! And she was so determined, had made all arrangements to work her way through music in Munich and art in Paris. My goodness! So devoted to a career!"

"Yes, dear, yes, she was; but there was an awful wealthy bereavement in the family of that young man who wanted to marry her, so she decided to console him!"—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Got Off Lightly.

"Hello, Jones, what's up?"

"Gunshot wound, old man."

"Great Scott! How did it happen? Out shooting?"

"No, home—learning the cornet."—

START COLD FRAME NOW

Here's Way to Build One; Means Early, Hardy Plants

Now is the time to start a cold frame.

The way C. L. Fitch of the horticulture extension department of Iowa State College, starts one is to take a storm window off the house or get an old one, making a sloping frame there and bank manure around it. Cold frames should be located where the sun can have a full sweep into them because it is the sun that furnishes the necessary heat, while in a hot bed, the main source of heat comes from the manure placed under it.

On cold, dark days and at night the glass should be covered with old quilt or something similar, be sure to uncover it to let in every possible hour of sunlight, says Fitch.

Covering the glass at night, the heat furnished by the warm manure, will melt the frozen ground. It surprising how quickly the frost will leave, he says. Plants can be grown in cold frames almost as early, Fitch points out, and they will be much hardier and considerably cheaper than as if grown in a hot bed.

Many a wife would get a divorce if she didn't hate to leave the Spring is here. The time is here to get your machinery in shape for the Spring Work. We have the tools and machinery to do almost any repair job—Stormizing Cylinders, Burning-in Bearings, Fitting Piston Pns and Rings.

We weld the break to-day.

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Notice

To Iowa Falls Electric Company Customers

We will issue to Customers who invest now in the Common Stock paying 7 per cent Dividends, a Written Agreement covering the re-sale of the Shares invested in from March 1st, 1924.

The Re-Sale Agreement will assure to the Investor a definite market if he should be obliged to sell his shares.

Investors in the Common Stock are satisfied shareholders and the new Re-Sale Agreement is simply an extension of our policy.

Ask our Manager for full particulars or address Securities Department at 215 South Second Street, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Iowa Falls Electric Co

Now Is the Time to Plan Fencing

COME in now and let's talk over your season's fencing work. Now is a good time to plan fencing and to get your order placed for supplies so that you will have them when you need them.

Before you buy another post be sure to see the improved RED TOP Steel Post. It is a better post and it will cut your fencing costs. We can prove this. Don't fail to see the RED TOP one-man Post Driver—you can drive 200 to 300 posts in one day with this driver.

RED TOPS are backed by a liberal guarantee and we, as local distributors, are authorized to make all adjustments promptly.

RED TOPS are the leading fence post. You have noticed that you never find a dealer of any kind selling only one leading line. You'll find this true of us. Our values in other lines are just as good as RED TOPS.

Red Top GUARANTEED Double Strength Studded Tee Steel Fence Posts

Northern Lbr. Co.

Fish--

At this season of the year we aim to have on hand a large, fine variety of FISH both Fresh and Smoked or Pickled.

At this time we have a very choice line of fish in stock as follows:

SMOKED WHITE FISH

PICKLED HERRING

4-K SALT HERRING

HOLLAND MILKER HERRING

FRESH FISH—We are receiving shipments of extra fine Fresh Fish every Wednesday for the week-end. We are now able to procure fine fresh Pickerel and Pike.

We Are Headquarters For "HEINZ 57"

Try one of the varities

Next Time

J. P. Larsen & Sons

The Klemme Meat Market

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Seney's Drug Store — Phone 4009.

Klemme, Iowa

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Office opposite from Hotel Klemme

Phone No. 19

Eyes Examined — Glasses Fitted

Short Talks

BY

Uncle John

NO. 8.

Well, when I got back home and saw the old agent, I got the surprise of my life, here I had got all set for a good laugh at the old man when when I told him about what I had found out about this electric light business, and what do you know, that, I had hardly got started, when he up and tells me, "Say you don't think, do you, that you are the only geezer that can find out things, why I just thought after you and I had the argument, that I would just do a little investigating myself and here's the proof." And then what does the old rascal do, but spring a ten share certificate of the IOWA FALLS ELECTRIC COMPANY on me, and gave me the 'horse laugh.' Well, the only 'come back' I could think of was to say, "I guess you are smarter than I thought you were." The fact that we both had got some of the stock as soon as we had really looked into the matter has convinced me that if you don't want any of it, then don't investigate, because if you do you will surely want some if you can scrape up the money.

I hope all of you folks enjoyed hearing my experiences, and when I learn some more that I think you may want to particularly know, I'll start telling you about it again. Much obliged for your time and hope to see you all again soon.

$295 F.O.B. DETROIT

BUY NOW!

Every spring the demand for Ford Cars is several hundred thousand greater than the available supply. Place your order immediately, to avoid delay in delivery.

Ford Motor Company
Detroit, Michigan

NOTE: A small payment down puts your name on the preferred delivery list.

See the Nearest Authorized Ford Dealer

Ford
CARS · TRUCKS · TRACTORS

P-56C

Greimann Motor Company

Authorized Ford Dealer — Klemme, Iowa

News of Goodell And Vicinty

Margaret Halfpop is sick with the measles.

Supt. Baggs visited school last week.

Francis Quigley, Jr. has been entertaining the measles the past week

A home talent play, entitled "The Minister's Birthday," will be given Friday night at the opera house.

Roy Clark is visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. Hall, in Charles City.

A party of Belmond young folks held a dancing party in the hall last Friday night.

A. C. Carpenter and family have moved to Belmond. This family will be greatly missed in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lackore gave another dancing party last Friday. All present report a good time.

Fred Grosz, who has been visiting relatives here for some time, returned to his home at Brock, Canada.

Gust Church and family are moving to Wisconsin this week, where they expect to make their future home.

Some of the spring birds of the South were seen in this vicinity Sunday; such as the robin, and wild ducks, but the recent snow has driven them back to the sunny South.

Changed

"If the human body is renewed every seven years, I can't be the same woman that you married."

"I've been suspecting that for some time."

Daddy's Halo

The bald-headed brigade has been the subject of many a jibe, but the other day one admirer was found in Sam's barber shop.

"How do you want your hair cut?" asked Sam of the little fellow sitting in the chair.

"With a hole in the top, like my dad's," was the prompt reply.

HAD TRAMP CHAIR

Maine Used Odd Contrivance to Rout Hoboes.

Large Iron Cage for Wanderers Succeeded Newspaper's Exposure of Unique Graft System.

Out in a dump pile in the outskirts of Rockport, Me., is the wreck of one of the "tramp" chairs which attained fame in Maine something like twenty-five years ago. This chair was expected to put an end to the tramp evil—for the tramp had become an evil in the state at that time—but like so many other things of which wonderful reforms are expected, it failed. However, before its failure became definitely established, many Maine towns purchased one of the chairs, and today there are in many junk piles of the state specimens of the chair in varied states of preservation.

This chair was nothing more or less than a cage of strap iron built in crude imitation of a chair. The front would swing open so that the hobo sentenced to do his bit in the contraption could step in and sit down. It was then swung back and locked. There was very little opportunity for moving, so that the thing was actually a machine to torture rather than punishment. A shelf on the front served as a table from which the tramp inside could eat. The chair was mounted on wheels so that it could be moved about.

What brought this chair into existence, undoubtedly, was the exposure by the Boston Globe of a system of graft in vogue in York county and some other sections of the state by making use of the Maine tramp laws.

The plan was a combination between certain trial justices, deputy sheriffs and constables to keep the justices busy trying tramp cases and the jail full of the wayfarers. These trial justices got a fee from the state for every case they heard, the officer received a fee for the arrest and transportation of the prisoners and the sheriff got so much a day for each prisoner he had in the jail. In order to make the scheme work they had to have a sufficient number of tramps, and this was what in the end led to its expose. These men didn't try to hog all the money. In order to be sure of a sufficient supply of raw material in the person of tramps they paid the tramps a percentage of the amount of fees received. This kept the raw material interested.

Short sentences were given in all cases. Ten days in the jail was a long time. Usually it was not more than six. The sheriff did not work them hard, fed them well, and they were always sure of a good bed and a warm place to stay in cold weather. When a tramp was released from the jail he was given directions what town to visit next. In this way the frequency of men being sentenced to jail took on a semblance of reasonableness so that no one got wise to the arrangement until the story was told in the Globe.

Virgil Eaton, a native of Maine, was at that time one of the star reporters on the Globe. He heard of the system and came down to Maine to investigate. He disguised himself as a tramp, got arrested and sentenced to jail; also he became one of the members of the graft ring as a part of the raw material supply, so that when his story was printed it was correct to the minutest details of the methods of working the scheme.

Naturally, this put an end to the tramp industry, but it didn't relieve Maine of the tramp problem.

The state was fairly swarming with tramps. When the tramp industry "blew" their soft snap was ended in all sections of the state. Officers and justices dare not be lenient on tramps and in the effort to drive them from the state this tramp chair was devised.

In the "Good Old Days."

It was in the early days of sleeping cars, when they measured the sheets by square inches and weighed the blankets on letter-scales.

It was also a suffering passenger who, tossing and jolting through the dark and chilly night, wondered whether, by error, he was sleeping between towels and would possibly find the sheets hanging over the towel-horse next morning.

"Porter," he cried, as the train gave a particularly vicious jolt, and dragged his last sheet of bed-clothing aside, "bring me a corkscrew!"

The porter came hurrying.

"Sorry sir," he said respectfully, "but we don't allow drinking in the berths."

"I don't want to drink!" retorted the suffering passenger. "I merely want to extract a pillow that has worked its way into my ear."

After Thinking Twice.

Father was standing before the fire lecturing his son and heir on the necessity for thinking twice before speaking once.

"Father!" exclaimed the boy suddenly.

The parent held up a warning finger. "Think again before you speak and then I will answer you."

The boy pondered for a minute or so and then said: "Father, I have thought twice and now I am quite convinced that your coat tails are on fire."—Boston Herald.

Still Same Age.

When mother introduced Dorothy to the caller, she said: "My little girl was five years old yesterday."

"And I am five years old today, too," said Dorothy.—Boston Transcript.

USED BOARDS TO GUIDE CAR

Hero of Desert Automobile Race Won Third Money Owing to His Resourcefulness.

I used to hear a lot about the old Los Angeles-to-Phoenix desert races, which were run in two or three relays, the drivers checking in at all-night stops at the end of each day. These races were run at a season of the year when rain on all or part of the course was not unusual. It took brains, a powerful car and a heavy foot to negotiate that muddy course.

Bill O'Day was my hero in the Phoenix struggle. He wasn't licked unless his motor fell out of the chassis or something else just as bad happened.

In one of these races Bill was running pretty well up in front on the third day. He was sitting pretty, in spite of having wallowed through mud for two days. But bad luck got him. He broke his steering arm—I mean on the car. That would have been the curtain for most drivers.

But old Bill and his mechanician took two fence rails and wired one to the axle on the inside of each front wheel. Then they got into the car, each one holding to the rail on his side of the car. They guided that car into the fair grounds at Phoenix by pressing the rails against the front tires when they wanted to turn.

That is, when they wanted to go to the right the man on the right side of the car would pull in on his fence rail and the end of it would then press on that part of the right front tire ahead of the front axle. At the same time the man on the left would so manipulate his fence rail as to press on the left front wheel behind the front axle and thus both front wheels would be turned in the right direction.

The tires were cut to pieces on the sides, but the car finished in third place—and that was the important thing.—Saturday Evening Post.

With Happiness.

We heard a stranger philosophizing about the feverishness of a visit. "One evening it was a ride, the next a trip to the movies, the next dancing, and so on. Always restlessness. We're getting so we can't sit still." Do we deserve Stevenson's advice and indictment:

"We are in such haste to be doing, to be writing, to be gathering gear, to make our voice audible a moment in the derisive silence of eternity, that we forget that one thing, of which these are but the parts—namely, to live. . . . We run to and fro like frightened sheep. And now you are to ask yourself if, when all is done, you would not have been better to sit by the fire at home and be happy thinking. To sit still and contemplate—to remember the faces of women without desire, to be pleased by the great deeds of men without envy, to be everything and everywhere in sympathy, and yet content to remain where and what you are—is not this to know both wisdom and virtue, and to dwell with happiness?"—Collier's.

Probation Precedes Vows.

In most of the Nyasaland tribes, in Africa, permanent connubial life is preceded by a term of probation, which can be broken off at will by either party. When the woman has finally made up her mind to stay, she punctuates her decision by kneeling when she addresses her husband. As a rule, she will inaugurate this change in their relations by a little coup de theater. She will choose an occasion when chance has brought together a goodly number of people, and she sees her husband standing among them. She will then walk right up to him, kneel down before him, put some trivial question, or give some unimportant piece of information, wait for the reply in a kneeling posture, and, after this has been given, get up and join the others. By thus humiliating herself, she has taken possession of her husband.

In some tribes, as, for instance, that of the Wangoni, where probation is not required, the girls will postpone kneeling until after marriage.—Atlantic Monthly.

Giving Meyerbeer a Treat.

Musicians are proverbially jealous of one another; but not all of them can manage to get a smile out of that unfortunate fact, as the gentle and merry-hearted composer Rossini once did. Rossini, who lived most of his life in Paris, was walking one day on the boulevard with his friend Braga. They met the composer Meyerbeer, who stopped and inquired politely after Rossini's health. "It's bad, very bad, my dear Meyerbeer," answered Rossini, "I have a splitting headache, a strange pain in my side and a leg that troubles me constantly." After Meyerbeer had condoled sufficiently he passed on, and Braga asked Rossini how he happened to have become suddenly so unwell. "Oh, I'm well enough," said Rossini with a laugh, "but I wanted to give Meyerbeer a moment's pleasure. He would be so delighted to see me go to pieces!"—Youth's Companion.

How He Knew.

"Changed your brand of shaving soap, haven't you?" asked Uncle Pennywise of the barber.

"Yes, suh. Feels smoother?"

"No, tastes different."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Fountain of Youth.

"What! You are planning to go to Vienna! But that will cost you a fortune."

"Oh, not so much. You see, I'll have my youth restored by Doctor Steinach and came back on a child's ticket."—Lustige Blatter.

FEW HINTS FOR HUSBANDS

Advice on How to Make One's Wife Perfectly Happy All Through Married Life.

"The secret of success in married life," says a paper, "is to reveal some new trait in your character from time to time."

You see the idea? Don't be all yourself all at once. Spring little surprises on your wife from time to time and spread them over at least fifteen years; that is, if your wife is still alive.

Do not rush matters; wait until things begin to humdrum. Then is the time to reveal the new traits.

For six months—spin it out to a year if you can—make happy little quotations from standard authors. Your wife will be delighted to see how well read you are. Buck her up a bit. Wives must be cheered up; after all, she's your wife—she needs it.

When the quotation era palls try something else. Buy a piccolo and a book on how to play it. Learn to play it in your office or on the omnibus.

Then one night, putting your hand in your breast pocket, say, "I've got a little surprise for you, dear." She will think you are only going to give her a diamond necklace, and to her great surprise you will pull out your piccolo and play a little tune.

Do not take any notice of the expression on your wife's face—remember, you have taken her by surprise. Play another tune another day in your study with the door closed and a blanket over the piccolo. Whatever happens, it will be a new trait.

In the meantime you can be secretly perfecting yourself in various conjuring tricks. Practice out in the country with a pack of cards, some rabbits, and a top hat.

Then one evening you will be able to say, "I'll show you a little trick, my dear." Lead the conversation up to cards first. "In memoriam" cards are a good start. Make your wife take a card and look at it. Tell her to put it in the pack again. Then ask her how many spots it has. When she says she has forgotten, do not show any chagrin; you can change it into a rabbit.

If your wife is ill, relieve her tedium by reciting poetry to her. If the servants are ill, too, see to your wife's breakfast yourself. Bring it to her bedroom cheerily. If her affection wanes, say, "Carissima mia" tenderly one morning. Show her you are a scholar.

Start a beehive next to the window flowers; learn the Treaty of Versailles by heart and explain the reparations problem to her.

The possibilities are endless. Be versatile—ever changing—and at the end of the tenth year, if she has not already got a divorce—well, she ought to, that's all!—London Mail.

Art of Making Batik.

The two most striking industries of Java are the making of batik and the making of the kris. Every true Javanese that can afford it wears batik head-and-body kain and carries a kris (a weapon with a blade about a foot long) in his belt. Djorka is the center of the batik industry, and the majority of its women are adepts in the production of this artistic fabric.

Batik is cotton cloth on which designs have been printed in a special way. Melted white wax is allowed to trickle from the small end of a funnel upon those portions of the fabric that it is not desired to color, the operation being exactly duplicated on the two sides. This done, the cloth is dipped in the dye vat, withdrawn and hung up to dry, and the wax removed later with the use of boiling water. This series of operations is repeated in the application of each color, till the entire design is transferred.

Certain designs may be worn only by royalty, others by priests, and so on. The designs are of every conceivable description, from conventional flowers and geometrical figures, to jungle scenes and quaint representations of wild beasts.—Detroit News.

Arnold Burned in Effigy.

The feeling against Benedict Arnold, traitor, was particularly strong in Philadelphia, and in September, 1780, the people were called out to join in a popular demonstration against the man who had once been the military ruler of the community.

His effigy, in full regimentals, was placed in a cart and drawn through the city to be afterward burned in effigy on High street hill. The mock Arnold had two faces and a mask in his left hand. Near him was the devil, in black robes, holding out to him a purse of money. There were a number of banners containing pictures and letters describing the conspiracy.

The procession was headed by a line of Continental officers and by a guard of city infantry. There was a band of music playing the "Rogue's March." A funeral pile had been arranged at the head of the hill, and here in the midst of an immense crowd, the mock Arnold was burned.

Hat Principal Attraction.

Pastor—I was so sorry for your wife during the sermon this morning, Doctor. She had such a dreadful fit of coughing that the eyes of the whole congregation were fixed upon her.

Doctor—Don't be unduly alarmed. She was wearing her new hat for the first time.—Judge.

Handy With an Excuse.

Jealous Wife—You ought to be ashamed at your age, running after pretty women.

Hub—My dear, that ought to put you at your ease—it proves, doesn't it, that they are trying to get away from me?—Boston Transcript.

WRIGLEY'S

Chew it after every meal

It stimulates appetite and aids digestion. It makes your food do you more good. Note how it relieves that stuffy feeling after hearty eating.

SEALED in its Purity Package

Whitens teeth, sweetens breath and it's the goody that L-a-s-t-s.

E4

Not Quite

The Press Man (interviewing notorious personage recently released from prison)—And then shall I say that you walked forth from the grim gates of prison a free man?

The Notoriety—No, no, you can't say that. I had my wife with me!—Humorist.

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

Sure Proof

She (tenderly)—When did you first know you loved me?

He—When I began to get mad when people said you were brainless and unattractive.—Pearson's Weekly (London).

Always Keep Allcock's Plasters in your home. Invaluable for all local aches and pains. Inexpensive, absolutely pure, safe and effective.—Adv.

Material for Letters

Folks who keep a diary have no trouble in finding material for writing letters.

Don't Be Disfigured.
Keep Cole's Carbolisalve in the house. It stops pain from burn or cut quickly and heals without scars. At all good druggists, 30c and 60c, or J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill.—Advertisement.

The milk of human kindness is usually of a poor quality and little in the can.

Robust Men Like

BAKER'S COCOA

The cocoa of high quality.

Baker's Cocoa is invigorating, stimulating only in the sense that pure food is stimulating, it has a delicious flavor and aroma, is a great addition to meals and a wonderful between meals stay.

MADE ONLY BY

Walter Baker & Co. Ltd.

Established 1780

MILLS AT DORCHESTER, MASS. AND MONTREAL, CANADA

Booklet of Choice Recipes Sent Free

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP

Allays irritation, soothes and heals throat and lung inflammation. The constant irritation of a cough keeps the delicate mucus membrane of the throat and lungs in a congested condition, which BOSCHEE'S SYRUP gently and quickly heals. For this reason it has been a favorite household remedy for colds, coughs, bronchitis and especially for lung troubles in millions of homes all over the world for the last fifty-seven years, enabling the patient to obtain a good night's rest, free from coughing with easy expectoration in the morning. You can buy BOSCHEE'S SYRUP wherever medicines are sold.

Cuticura Soap Clears the Skin and Keeps it Clear

Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c.

KEEP EYES WELL!

Dr. Thompson's Eye Water will strengthen them. At druggists or 1157 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

THE RED LOCK

A Tale of the Flatwoods

By DAVID ANDERSON
Author of "The Blue Moon"

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

"BIG JACK!"

SYNOPSIS.—On the banks of the Wabash stand Texie Colin and Jack Warhope, young and very much in love. Texie is the only daughter of old Pap Simon, rich man and money-lender. Jack is the orphan bound boy of Pap Simon, who had foreclosed a mortgage on the Warhope estate. At first Texie and Jack talk sadly of Ken Colin, the girl's missing brother. Then Jack says that in ten days his servitude will be over, that he will ride out into the big world to seek his fortune. Both know what that will mean to them. Texie and Jack talk of the red lock of "Red Colin," inherited by Ken. And Jack says he's coming back as soon as he finds gold in California. Then arrives the new preacher, Rev. Caleb Hopkins.

CHAPTER II—Continued.

—3—

"Mercy! but you're a hard man t' herd. Don't y'u know you're goin' home with us t' supper?"

"First I hear'd of it," the woodsman drawled, shifting his shoulder against the post.

The girl glanced at the preacher standing at the edge of the road, jerked her head ever so slightly toward him—a motion so elusive that it would have escaped anybody else but Jack Warhope—and lowered her voice to a whisper:

"We'll git 'im t' tell us about—Ken."

She turned away. The shoulders left the porch post, and the man followed.

The old banker was holding out his hand for the letters. He glanced them over, grunted, thrust them unopened into the pocket of his faded coat; muttered a word, drew them forth again, sorted out one, stared hard at the address and postmark; and then, with a half petulant grimace, knocked the bunch of letters together, crammed them back into his pocket again and, followed by the others, trudged away up the road.

The venerable widow, like the rest of the village, must have been on the lookout for the new preacher, for she was at the door to meet him as he came up the walk with the others. The old banker presented him.

"So glad to have you come, Brother Hopkins. It has been so dreadfully lonesome since—!"

The mild old eyes floated full of tears. The preacher seemed not to notice.

"I saw your husband's obituary in one of the church papers."

The widow dabbed at her eyes with a black-bordered handkerchief; the preacher, in his hesitating, jerky way, went on.

"I immediately wrote to Mr. Colin offering to come on a—ah—sort of vacation trip and serve the congregation until the vacancy could be filled. I was the more attracted to the thought of coming because my health had given way under the dual strain of preaching and teaching. And then, too, I had heard much about Buckeye and the Flatwoods from a—ah—classmate of mine while a student in the college in which I now have the honor to hold a professorship."

The banker frowned thoughtfully; Texie glanced at Jack.

Evening shadows were gathering thick in the corners of the room. The old man, becoming aware of them, glanced about him and turned to the widow.

"Well, Sister Mason, if you don't mind, I'll jist show Brother Hopkins the study, and then you better g' 'long over with us t' supper."

With the fine courtesy of one trained to the parsonage, she excused herself; the old banker went on:

"I b'lieve you said he was t' have the use of the study?"

The Widow Mason was only too well used to the crisp curt ways of Simon Colin. She turned to the young preacher.

"Brother Hopkins, I don't want you to feel that you are to have merely the study. My home is your home. Please feel free to use all of it or any part of it."

The young preacher bowed very low, and turned to the banker, who led the way up the stairs with as much authority as if he owned the place—which, in reality, he did.

The study, with its writing desk and leather easy chair, with its shelves and shelves of books, showed that its late owner had been a man of studious habits and apparently scholarly attainments.

An immense apple-tree grew by the east window, thrusting its stout branches so close as almost to brush the panes. Through its opening blossoms and half sprung leaves enough of the day remained to catch a view of the old banker's two or three acres of park-like orchard that lay between the parsonage and the red-roofed cottage.

The young preacher stood at the window and gazed out over the orchard, aromatic with promise, green with its thick mat of blue-grass, white under the trees where the blossoms snowed down.

The banker slapped him on the shoulder. He must have been deeply absorbed in the spell of the place, with its quiet and repose, for he started and laughed nervously.

"I must have been dreaming."

The old man tossed a hand toward the window.

"Not s' bad, is it?"

"It is very beautiful."

"I 'lowed y'u'd like it." The old man rubbed his long bony hands together in a sort of grim satisfaction. "My daughter fools away hours and hours in that seat yonder under the big maple by the spring. I 'low ther' ain't a bird comes by she cayn't mock."

The preacher looked at him curiously, half sternly.

"I can well believe you," he said. "A girl like your daughter, with her quite obvious gifts and possibilities, and so much a part of this wonderful profusion of wild nature about her, would naturally seek some such diversion to keep her life from starving in this out-of-the-way place."

The money-lender pondered these words and seemed on the point of resenting them; but only jerked his thumb toward the window again.

"Took a right smart pile t' fix it up like that. Money wasted, I tell 'er. We'll go across that way t' the house, if y'u like."

"It would please me greatly."

The momentary sternness had left the eyes behind the spectacles, the jerky precise voice had resumed its effusive drawl.

When they came down, Texie and Jack had already gone out into the yard. Mrs. Mason was standing in the door, talking to them.

The gray-haired gentlewoman turned to the preacher.

"Brother Hopkins, won't you please run over for a few minutes after supper? I have so longed to talk with a minister since—since—"

"Brother Hopkins, Won't You Please Run Over for a Few Minutes After Supper?"

"It is a minister's duty to go where his people call him," he said, in a voice pitched to reach the ears of the others, as it might have seemed. "I shall be very pleased to come."

He bowed himself out and joined the half impatient banker on the doorstep.

"Come on," the old man called to the others down the walk, "we're goin' across the orch'id. Brother Hopkins 'lows he'd like to."

There was no gate between the banker's park-like orchard and the parsonage yard. The fence had to be climbed. When they reached it the preacher offered his hand to the girl, who, to the amazement of the woodsman, took it and allowed him to lift her down—a concession that meant much in the Flatwoods.

At the bridge over Eagle run—merely a huge foot log broad-axed flat along the top—the girl allowed the preacher to assist her again, and the woodsman was treated to his second surprise. He had seen her, hundreds of times, skip across that log as surefooted as a squirrel.

The path beyond led past the big maple with the rustic seat beneath the shelter of its far-flung branches. At its roots a spring gushed up, lapping the white pebbles of the tiny gutter it had worn for itself on its way to Eagle run.

"Whispering spring," said Texie simply, raising her eyes to the preacher. "Jack named it that. He can think of s' many names f'r things. He's a poet, I guess."

The woodsman fidgeted. The preacher glanced toward him, but made no comment.

"My brother, Ken, use t' tell me the fairies come down out of the cliffs at night t' dance around Whispering spring, and I b'lieved him—I b'lieved everything he told me them days—and I use' t' watch f'r the fairies."

She looked up at the preacher; then back into the spring.

"Do you b'lieve in fairies?" She asked the question as if she hoped he did believe in them.

He glanced down at the reflected face in the water. "Yes; there's a fairy peeping into the spring right now."

The old banker grunted; the woodsman turned to the face behind the huge spectacles. It was the first thing the preacher had said that caught his interest.

The girl was so entirely an unspoiled creature of the woods that she let the preacher see how much the neat compliment pleased her. With the color tingling over her face, she sprang over the gnarled roots of the great maple and ran a few steps up the path to the edge of the yard, paused and then hurried on. The preacher looked after her in his peering way, while the woodsman strode up the path and overtook her at the kitchen door.

"I'll run over and do the chores, and then come back," he said.

He walked on a little way and then came slowly back. The girl, just going into the kitchen, seemed to know that he had turned—seemed to know that he would turn back. With her hand on the door casement she waited for him to speak.

The man glanced out over the orchard; up the side of the cliffs; along the timber line that bearded them; came back to the eyes. The inquisitiveness had lessened; the roguishness deepened.

"You let 'im lift y'u!" he muttered.

With an odd, hard little laugh she darted in at the kitchen door.

CHAPTER III

Three Candles.

The last flare of sunset had followed the Wabash out under the rim of the west by the time Jack Warhope came back along the orchard path to the red-roofed cottage.

From the porch at the front of the house came the drone of the banker's voice, broken occasionally by the preacher's precise, jerky sentences.

Warhope listened for a moment. The money-lender was talking about a quarter-section that he had foreclosed on the day before. The woodsman had heard many an hour of that talk. With a shrug of his shoulders, he pushed the gate open and walked around to the kitchen door.

With a step that the woods had made light as a falling leaf he slipped in and stood motionless. The portly, pudgy form of Mrs. Curry, the housekeeper, was bent over the cook stove, busy with the supper.

The flit of a shadow and the clink of dishes in the adjoining dining room told the grinning intruder that Texie was "settin'" the table. For such an occasion there would be a white cloth, the best silver would be out, and there would be three candles instead of one.

The clink of the dishes ceased and the girl appeared in the doorway between the two rooms. Seeing Jack, she paused, tried to look severe, but failed.

"Now look at that!"

Mrs. Curry straightened, and exclaimed:

"Big Jack! Mercy, how you can slip up on a body."

"Put 'im t' work, Mis' Curry. We don't 'low no loafers, do we?"

The housekeeper in reply was interrupted by a misbehaving skillet and she turned back to the stove.

Supper was on the table. The woodsman took his place with the others. The banker dropped his hands in his lap, nodding toward the preacher, and bowed his head.

The traditions of the Flatwoods called for a long and sonorous grace—a sort of sermonette—when the preacher was a guest, but the new minister seemed never to have heard of any such tradition. The grace he said was so short, so direct and concise, yet so beautiful in thought and diction that the banker looked at him in pleased surprise.

Supper over, there fell a moment of silence—the delicious breath of repose that almost always follows the evening meal in quiet country homes. The old money-lender sat marking on the tablecloth with his fork, as if mapping out the boundary lines of other quarter-sections that he hoped to have the chance to foreclose in a short time.

The girl seized the favorable moment, and leaning forward, said: "Now, Mr. Hopkins, tell us about—my brother—Ken. I've be'n wishin' all evening t' ask y'u."

Her father stopped marking on the tablecloth and sat very still; the housekeeper crossed her knife and fork on her plate, as the Christians of Spain used to do in the days of Moorish domination; the woodsman let his thoughts revel in the faultless profile of the girl's face. The preacher caught the wistful look in her eyes—the subdued eagerness of one who could not resist the desire to ask, yet dreaded the answer. He fumbled his napkin.

"P. S.—Mr. Colin is dead. He died before he could quite finish signing his name."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

World's Coldest Place.

The Province of Werchojanesk, in Oriental Siberia, is the coldest inhabited place in the world. The daily mean temperature throughout the year is 2.72 degrees below zero.

Often Done.

"Why don't you get a new hotel in Plunkville?" "It is easier to change the name of the old one."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

To you—he's worth
$2,500 in Prizes

THE du Pont Company is offering $2,500 in merchandise prizes for team and individual scores in an International Crow-Shooting Contest. Sportsmen in the United States and Canada are eligible.

The crow is a destroyer of growing crops and of game birds. He is a menace and a nuisance. Get him!

Send for two, free booklets telling all about the crow. It costs you nothing to enter the contest. Write today for full information.

E. I. DU PONT DE NEMOURS & CO., INC.
Sporting Powder Division
WILMINGTON, DEL.

Owners of Coffee Rooms Thrown Into the Sea

Coffee came first out of Arabia and Abyssinia, according to the best information available. The first reference to it in literature was made by Avicenna, a Mohammedan physician, who died in 1037. "It fortifies the members," he wrote; "it cleanses the skin and dries up the humidities that are under it and gives an excellent smell to all the body."

The "kaveh kanes" of Mecca were the first coffee houses. Kair Bey, the governor, discovered that those who met in the coffee houses discussed politics and religion, sometimes critically. So he ordered the kaveh kanes closed. The sultan at Cairo disapproved of the governor's indiscreet zeal and had him executed.

But in Constantinople, where plots against the oppressive government were hatched over the coffee, the public houses were closed and reopening meant that the proprietor was sewed in a sack and thrown into the Bosporus.—Detroit News.

Embarrassing Moment

A shy young hostess, in an effort to be genial, led aside the comparative stranger, whose name somehow eluded her.

"Look," she said, "I've paired you off with that lady in the corner. Will you take her in to dinner? My husband, naughty man, says she's a bit of an old frump, but she's got lots of money, and one of his clever friends has just married her for it, so we must be nice to her."

"I am sorry, madam," said the guest, "but I am the clever friend in question."

Life is too short to be spent in nursing animosities.

No man ever lives to be as old as he feels at twenty-one.

Russian Chemist Makes Strong Wire From

A wonderful discovery has made by a Russian scientist claims to have found a method ing wire stronger than steel common rock salt. His discovery the result of a series of extraordinary experiments in the mutability metals by structural chemistry.

The scientist found that by ting the rock salt to high heat sure before the elementary crystals gan to decay he arrested the process changing the structural arrangement of the atoms and molecules. change increased the durability ductility of the substance 30 says London Tit-Bits. He is ing his experiments with other substances.

If this discovery can be applied metals it will revolutionize the It will mean, amongst other trains capable of running 200 an hour and turbine steamers could reach Australia in ten days.

Long Hike on Stilts

The people of the department Landres, in France, mostly farmers shepherds, spend the greater their lives on stilts, owing dampness of the soil and floods. Naturally they become in their use. The stilts are below the knees, the feet fastened in a kind of stirrup feet from the ground. A the stilt walker carries in ordinary walking stick, serving rest, the user propping himself it when halting. The women district are as skillful as the use of stilts, and a country striding off to their trysting stilts is a common sight. A stilt walker of the district Dornon, a baker, walked on Paris to Moscow, a distance miles, in 58 days.

"They Can't Put You in Jail for That!"

"Can't, eh?" said the man, "Well, I'm here!"

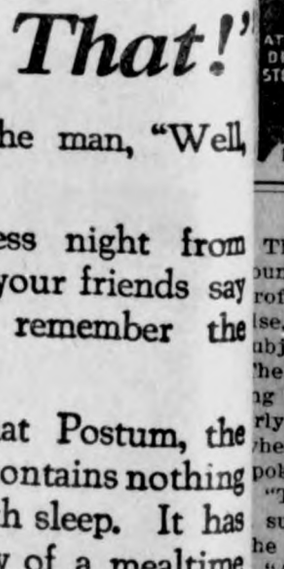
After your sleepless night from coffee drinking and your friends say it's all imagination, remember the sleepless night.

Also remember that Postum, the pure cereal beverage, contains nothing that can interfere with sleep. It has every desirable quality of a mealtime drink—cheering warmth, delightful flavor and wholesomeness that makes for health.

Postum for Health

"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum [in tins] prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal [in packages] for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.



ALL WOMEN WHO WORK

Should Know how this Worker was Made Strong and Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Zahl, N. Dakota.—"I was nervous and weak and was not regular. I also had pains frequently. I was sickly for seven years and finally had a nervous breakdown following an operation. I am a dressmaker and milliner, and a lady I work for told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am taking it and it has made me well and able to my work again. I have even helped take care of a sick neighbor recently, so you can see how fit I am. I highly praise your medicine and you may use my letter as you see fit. I hope it will help some other woman."—Mrs. OLE NORDEIN, Box 23, Zahl, North Dakota.

Over 121,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?" 98 per cent. of these replies answer "Yes."

This means that 98 out of every 100 women taking this medicine for ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it. For sale by all druggists.

Always

A safe and soothing remedy for cuts, burns, or skin troubles. Protects, relieves and heals. Take internally for coughs and sore throats.

Vaseline

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

PETROLEUM JELLY

Chesebrough Mfg. Co., Cons'd.
State St. New York

Green's August Flower

The remedy with a record of fifty-seven years of surpassing excellence. All who suffer with nervous dyspepsia, sour stomach, constipation, indigestion, torpid liver, dizziness, headaches, coming-up of food, wind on stomach, palpitation and other indications of digestive disorder, will find GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER an effective and efficient remedy. For fifty-seven years this medicine has been successfully used in millions of households all over the civilized world. Because of its merit and popularity GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER can be found today wherever medicines are sold. 30 and 90 cent bottles.

Shave With Cuticura Soap The New Way Without Mug

CURES COLDS IN 24 HOURS

WORLD'S STANDARD

AT ALL DRUG STORES — CASCARA QUININE BROMIDE — FOR TWO GENERATIONS — PRICE 30 CENTS

CURES LA GRIPPE IN 3 DAYS

DETROIT, W. H. HILL CO. MICHIGAN

A Live Topic

The professor was really very profound, and he wasn't such an elderly professor, either. His style was concise, and when he had finished with a subject but little remained to be said. The girls on the campus were discussing this with admiration. The scholarly ones had declaimed at length, when a little bobbed-haired beauty spoke.

"The professor tells me he now has a subject he can't say enough about," she said.

"And what is this subject, girlie?" they inquired.

"Me."

He who marries for fun may be sorry that he won.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

KEMP'S BALSAM

Don't cough! cough! cough!

Prominent People

Sprague Has Eye on McCormick's Seat

Col. A. A. Sprague (portrait herewith) has been put on the Democratic slate for nomination as United States senator from Illinois to succeed Senator Medill McCormick, whose term expires March 4, 1925. Colonel Sprague is Chicago's commissioner of public works. He was born in Chicago in 1876, is a wholesale grocer, inherited wealth and is active socially and in many local enterprises of a semi-public character. He is Colonel Sprague Q. R. C., and saw service overseas, July, 1918, to March, 1919, with the One Hundred and Thirty-first regiment, Eighty-sixth division. "Who's Who" (1923) says he is a Republican.

He is best known in connection with his work as head of the hospitalization committee of the American Legion. The Legion credits him with the securing of many improvements.

"I believe that the heart of the American people is in the right place and that it is a generous heart," said Colonel Sprague, concerning the plight of the wars' disabled. "Maladministration, not niggardliness, has been at the bottom of the mess in the treatment of our wounded. The day is approaching when they will get a new and a square deal. The service men have the right to demand only one thing from their country and that is adequate provision for their disabled comrades. For other things they have only the right to argue and suggest."

Pomerene, Special Counsel in Oil Case

Atlee Pomerene of Canton, former United States senator from Ohio, a Democrat (portrait herewith), is one of the special counsel in the oil investigation appointed by President Coolidge, the other one being Silas H. Strawn of Chicago, Republican.

Former Senator Pomerene has been a prominent figure in the Democratic ranks in Washington. He served as senator from 1911 to 1923, being defeated for re-election in 1922. There had been much talk of Mr. Pomerene as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president until his defeat in the race for re-election to the senate. This incident was accepted as eliminating him from the presidential race, but the official report that he would be made counsel in the oil cases has revived talk of the former senator, especially if the legal proceedings to be brought are successful.

Mr. Pomerene is a member of the law firm of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, one of the best known in Cleveland. He is sixty years old, a graduate of Princeton and of the Cincinnati Law school. He served as city solicitor of Canton, Ohio, from 1887 to 1891, and was elected prosecuting attorney of Stark county, Ohio, in 1896, serving three years.

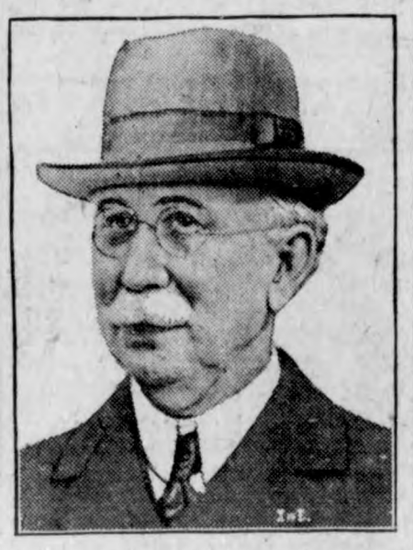
He was chairman of the Ohio Democratic state convention in 1910, and was elected lieutenant governor on the ticket headed by Gov. Judson Harmon.

Love Enters House of Japan's Mikado

The marriage of the prince regent of Japan to the young woman of his choice is an event of world importance for the reason that for the first time in history love, as occidentals know and understand it, has been recognized in Japan. For this is absolutely the first love match in all the court annals of the oldest reigning dynasty existent today throughout the whole world. Love won out at last at the imperial court of Nippon when the marriage of the prince regent with Princess Nagako of Kumi passed into history. It took a long, long time to turn the trick. This is the 2,584th year since Emperor Jimmu ascended the throne of Yamato and founded the reigning house of Japan. Therefore it took nearly six and twenty centuries for Love to crown itself the sovereign of sovereigns in the storied empire.

"What the Above does, the Below follows," says an ancient saying in Japan. The example set by the regent in his marriage will, in time, revolutionize the fundamental relations between men and women in Japan. That is the biggest meaning of the imperial wedding. In the days of Elder Nippon—and to a large extent even in these advanced days—there are millions and millions of people in Japan to whom love is by no means the leading and dominating factor in marriage relationship. The dramatic manner in which the young prince won out in his love match with Princess Nagako has simply revised the point of view of these millions of his people.

Doheny, an "International Oil King"



Edward Laurence Doheny (portrait herewith) revealed by the oil investigation in congress to be one of the "oil kings" of the world is a "petroleum producer." He was born in 1856 in Fond du Lac, Wis., and was graudated from its high school in 1872. He was a prospector for gold and silver for twenty years—his biography in "Who's Who" does not state where or with what success. In 1892 he became a prospector for petroleum; evidently he struck oil, for he began producing petroleum the same year. He discovered several oil districts in California and oil fields in Mexico. He has organized several companies to handle his properties and products. He served in 1917 as a member of the sub-committee on oil of the council of national defense. His interests are international and the extent of his operations is very large He figures in the investigation as a lessee of California naval oil reserve. It has been Mr. Doheny's policy to employ prominent men to look after various phases of his interests. For example, he paid the law firm of W. G. McAdoo $150,000 to look after some matters in connection with his Mexican interests. Having plenty of money, he was generous with it. For example, he loaned former Secretary of the Interior Fall $100,000 to purchase an addition to his big New Mexico ranch.

The oil investigation in congress has already been replete with sensations and more are promised—in politics as well as in the oil business.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

What the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

The Iowa legislature determined to make marriage medically perfect, is putting the finishing touches to a new eugenics bill. Men and women must undergo a medical examination 10 days before a marriage license is issued, under the bill. The Senate adopted a measure affecting men only but the House inserted a clause including women and passed the bill. The Senate is ready to concur, it is believed and Governor Kendall is expected to sign the measure. Enforcement of the eugenics clause is provided in a provision which states that any physicians who shall knowingly or wilfully make any false statement in the certificate shall be guilty of perjury. Any clerk of the district court who shall issue a license to marry without the presentation of the physician's certificate or who shall issue such license contrary to the provisions of the act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Charges that the bill recently passed by the Iowa senate providing for compulsory Bible reading in the public schools violates the principle of religious liberty and would cause dissension between Catholics, Protestants ad Jews on the merits of various parts of the Bible, were made by Rev. E. H. Reeman, pastor of the Unitarian church, in a sermon at Des Moines. He stated the present law is sufficient for school boards and superintendents to make their own selection of Bible readings and that the proposal that the governor appoint a committee to select passages is outside the precinct of the state. "The acknowledged purpose of the amendment is a moral anl religious purpose, and in my judgment religious instruction is not the function of the state as such, nor an appropriate matter for legislative enactment," he declared.

Says Chief Hawkeye in Des Moines News: "Not only have you been very negligent in attending daily sessions of the Assembly, but now I observe that you propose to recess the latter part of this month for several days while all the time your salaries go on. This special session is costing the taxpayers of Iowa approximately $2500 a day. The cost will be enormous befor the job is finished. Your failure to attend the daily sessions, thereby crippling the work of passing bills, together with your penchant for taking recesses fails to show a great deal of interest in your job or concern over the way the money of the taxpayers is being used. My advice to you is to get on the job, buckle down to your task and get it over with before the expense becomes exorbitant and a mighty howl goes up from your constituents."

Senator Horchem believes a voter should receive the ballots of all parties when he enters a voting booth in order that no one might know which ticket he votes and that he should be permitted to vote one tickets for one office of another governmental division. The Horchem proposal is in effect the "wide open" primary under which no voter is required to declare his party affiliations and no one is enabled to find out how he votes. Senator Horchem has drafted an amendment to code bill No. 21 dealing with the state primary election.

The house has passed the municipal corporations bill which permits towns of 5,000 and under to buy or build electric garbage disposal plants. Under its provisions even though the purchase raises the debt of the city above the constitutional limit of 5 per cent, the indebtedness shall not be regarded as illegal when the revenues of the plant are to be used for the retirement of the bonds. In effect the bill makes the bond holders look for their security to the plant and its revenue.

The Iowa law with reference to child labor was strengthened somewhat in the code bill covering this subject passed by the senate of the Iowa legislature after having previously passed the house. The changes prescribe that a boy or girl under 16 can not operate an elevator, as has heretofore been possible, nor can they work in a barber shop, cafe or restaurant. These lines of prohibited employment were added to those already in the law.

The special budget committee, after several weeks of labor, has presented the draft of a budget bill to the House of the Iowa Legislature. The strength of the measure lies in that it is a step in the right direction, that it sets up the machinery for the economical and efficient expenditure of the taxpayer's money. Its weakness rests in the fact that it does not go far enough and specifically exempts state institutions from the provisions of the enactment.

Decision to shorten the ballot to a single "yes" or "no" in voting bonds for improvements by municipal corporations has been approved by the state legislature.

A proposed measure up for conbiles and other vehicles used for unlawful purposes to be public nuisances, and subject to injunction and abatement proceedings, and providing for punishment for contempt of court for a violation of the order."

Code bill 168, covering streets and public grounds, has passed the senate. It makes no change in the present law except to permit cities of the first class to spend a maximum of 60 cents per foot for construction of temporary sidewalks in front of agricultural property, instead of 40 cents as now provided.

Important changes in Iowa's enforcement law are made in a bill passed by the senate by a vote of 46 to 0. The Volstead definition of liquor is substitued for the Iowa definition under which any liquid or compound containing a trace of alcohol and fit to be used for beverage purposes was regarded as intoxicating. Forfeiture of vehicles used to illegally transport liquor, and provisions to prevent accomplices recovering such vehicles, are also included. The new law makes it mandatory that a county attorney shall prosecute abatement cases and any peace officer who delays service of papers in a liquor case is made guilty of a misdemeanor. The reputation of a person of concern involved in a prohibition case may be introduced by the prosecution as supporting the charge. A rum runner may be prosecuted in any county which he traverses with an illict cargo.

The House was defeated the amendment which the senate passed discontinuing the practice of free tuition at the State College of Agriculture at Ames. Before voting to continue the free tuition members of the house engaged in a debate over the question of whether the college was not guilty of misrepresentation when the statement was made that tuition was free. "We are beating the devil around the stump by calling tuition dues and fees," declared Representative Storey of Warren county, "Fees are now as high as tuition. Why not call a spade a spade?" Representative Storey of Warren county pointed out that the fees at Ames were as high as the tuition in other schools for the same courses. By defeating the senate amendment free tuition will remain in name as is the past.

The house, by a vote of 60 to 37 passed the senate resolution on adjournment which shortened the vacation period one day. With concurrence of the senate to the one-day change, the house will adjourn Feb. 28 and reconvene March 5. The vacation resolution met stiff opposition from members of the house. Parsons of Calhoun declared that the "feeling over the state that the legislature is not progressing with code revision as it should, will be increased." Parsons declared he had warned legislators that taking a week's vacation with pay, would not meet with the approval of their constituents.

Amendment of the primary election law to curb change of party on election day was rejected in the senate elections committee by a vote of 6 to 4. The amendment offered by a subcommittee struck out the section of the law permitting change of party upon election day by taking an oath in case of challenge. This removed what was asserted to the a conflict with a preceding section requiring change to be made with the county auditor ten days before election.

The house of representatives by unanimous vote adopted the Harrirson resolution pledging support of the Iowa legislature to the national administration and President Coolidge in the proposed federal investigation of gasoline puts the lower house on record as holding the belief that the six cents raise in gasoline in Iowa during the last forty days yas caused by unfair methods of competition.

Six charges of irregularity in the promotion and conduct of insurance companies were laid before the special senate committee named to investigate the state insurance department by Senator Charles S. Browne of Jackson county. The senate, by a vote of 41 to 2 adopted the McIntosh resolution widening the scope of the investigation to include the insurance business, particularly,

The much talked of budged bill is taking form under the direction of the house committee directed to draft it, and will probably be reported out before long. The committee has not yet made known any of its provisions, but it is understood to make the state executive council the budget board with power to select a director of the work, whose selection must be confirmed by the senate.

The first meeting of the Insurance investigating committee was held in executive session. It was announced, however, by Senator Wichman, chairman, that future meetings will be open. A motion by Senator Dutcher of Johnson county that the senate go into secret session and have a "heart to heart talk" over all the matter proposed in the senate was rejected.

The senate is expected to take up soon the amendments to the present bovine tuberculosis law introduced by the friends of the measure to strengthen its operation. The law as a whole has been highly complimented by other states. It was first adopted last winter.

The soldiers' and sailors' relief bill also passed with an amendment providing that expenses for burial of former service men or their dependents shall be paid by the county in which they reside, regardless of the place of death.

The bill covering duties of boards of supervisors, which only condenses the present law, passed, 40 to 0.

The senate has defeated the code revision bill which prescribes the regulatory powers of city councils over public utilities. Debate was limited principally to the section prohibiting discriminatory rates, which the house had eliminated.

A new eugenics measure, drafted after conferences of the three physician members of the Iowa house with leading physicians of the state and the attorney general, will be offered as a substitute for the eugenics amendment pending in the house, it was announced during discussion of reconsideration of the amendments.

WRIGLEY'S

After every meal

A pleasant and agreeable sweet and a l-a-s-t-i-n-g benefit as well.

Good for teeth, breath and digestion.

Makes the next cigar taste better.

PATENTS Send model or drawing for examination. Highest references. Best results. Promptness assured. Watson E. Coleman. Booklet FREE. Patent Lawyer, 644 G St., Washington, D. C.

Beautiful Marabou Most Repulsive of All Birds

Would it enhance or dampen the enthusiasm of the woman who possesses a costly and beautiful marabou collarette or boa if she knew that those lovely feathers came from under the wings of the most repulsive scavengers of the stork family?

In the native villages of Africa they are reverenced as sacred—in Arab marabou means saint—so they are quite tame and are allowed to stalk around the native huts unmolested

Though obnoxious, they are really a blessing, as they devour great quantities of filth and troublesome insects that would surely be a menace to the inhabitants of the villages.—Nature Magazine.

WOMEN! BEWARE! REFUSE IMITATIONS

Warning! Not All Package Dyes Are "Diamond Dyes."

Diamond Dyes

Always ask for "Diamond Dyes" and if you don't see the name "Diamond Dyes" on the package—refuse it—hand it back!

Each 15-cent package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint skirts, dresses, waists, sweaters, stockings, kimonos, coats, draperies, coverings—everything new, even if she has never dyed before. Choose any color at drug store. Refuse substitutes!

Threw Old Gems Away

Here's the best yarn that has come out of a British drawing room for some time. A great aristocrat and political leader gave a big dinner party. All sorts of people were there. The wife of a new-rich was sitting opposite the wife of a labor leader. Somebody talked about jewelry.

Mrs. New-Rich spoke up:

"I clean my diamonds with ammonia, my rubies with Bordeaux wine, my emeralds in Danzig brandy, my sapphires in fresh milk. And you, dear friends?"

So saying she turned condescendingly to the labor leader's wife.

"Oh, I don't clean mine," said the latter silkily. "When they are dirty I simply throw them away."—Detroit News.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Take Tablets Without Fear if You See the Safety "Bayer Cross."

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

Truth and politeness are seldom synonymous.

Lost wealth may be recovered, but lost time never.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Removes Dandruff—Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c. and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

BATHE TIRED EYES with Dr. Thompson's Eyewater. Buy at your druggist's or 1169 Hiver, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

WRIGLEY'S

Chew it after every meal

It stimulates appetite and aids digestion. It makes your food do you more good. Note how it relieves that stuffy feeling after hearty eating.

SEALED in its Purity Package

Whitens teeth, sweetens breath and it's the goody that L-a-s-t-s.

Not Quite

The Press Man (interviewing notorious personage recently released from prison)—And then shall I say that you walked forth from the grim gates of prison a free man?

The Notoriety—No, no, you can't say that. I had my wife with me!—Humorist.

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

Sure Proof

She (tenderly)—When did you first know you loved me?

He—When I began to get mad when people said you were brainless and unattractive.—Pearson's Weekly (London).

Always Keep Allcock's Plasters in your home. Invaluable for all local aches and pains. Inexpensive, absolutely pure, safe and effective.—Adv.

Material for Letters

Folks who keep a diary have no trouble in finding material for writing letters.

Don't Be Disfigured.
Keep Cole's Carbolisalve in the house. It stops pain from burn or cut quickly and heals without scars. At all good druggists, 30c and 60c, or J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill.—Advertisement.

The milk of human kindness is usually of a poor quality and little in the can.

Robust Men Like

BAKER'S COCOA

The cocoa of high quality.

Baker's Cocoa is invigorating, stimulating only in the sense that pure food is stimulating, it has a delicious flavor and aroma, is a great addition to meals and a wonderful between meals stay.

MADE ONLY BY

Walter Baker & Co. Ltd.

Established 1780

MILLS AT DORCHESTER, MASS. AND MONTREAL, CANADA

Booklet of Choice Recipes Sent Free

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP

Allays irritation, soothes and heals throat and lung inflammation. The constant irritation of a cough keeps the delicate mucus membrane of the throat and lungs in a congested condition, which BOSCHEE'S SYRUP gently and quickly heals. For this reason it has been a favorite household remedy for colds, coughs, bronchitis and especially for lung troubles in millions of homes all over the world for the last fifty-seven years, enabling the patient to obtain a good night's rest, free from coughing with easy expectoration in the morning. You can buy BOSCHEE'S SYRUP wherever medicines are sold.

Cuticura Soap Clears the Skin and Keeps it Clear

Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c.

KEEP EYES WELL!
Dr. Thompson's Eye Water will strengthen them. At druggists or 1167 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

THE RED LOCK

A Tale of the Flatwoods

By DAVID ANDERSON
Author of "The Blue Moon"
Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

"BIG JACK!"

SYNOPSIS.—On the banks of the Wabash stand Texie Colin and Jack Warhope, young and very much in love. Texie is the only daughter of old Pap Simon, rich man and money-lender. Jack is the orphan bound boy of Pap Simon, who had foreclosed a mortgage on the Warhope estate. At first Texie and Jack talk sadly of Ken Colin, the girl's missing brother. Then Jack says that in ten days his servitude will be over, that he will ride out into the big world to seek his fortune. Both know what that will mean to them. Texie and Jack talk of the red lock of "Red Colin," inherited by Ken. And Jack says he's coming back as soon as he finds gold in California. Then arrives the new preacher, Rev. Caleb Hopkins.

CHAPTER II—Continued.

—3—

"Mercy! but you're a hard man t' herd. Don't y'u know you're goin' home with us t' supper?"

"First I hear'd of it," the woodsman drawled, shifting his shoulder against the post.

The girl glanced at the preacher standing at the edge of the road, jerked her head ever so slightly toward him—a motion so elusive that it would have escaped anybody else but Jack Warhope—and lowered her voice to a whisper:

"We'll git 'im t' tell us about—Ken."

She turned away. The shoulders left the porch post, and the man followed.

The old banker was holding out his hand for the letters. He glanced them over, grunted, thrust them unopened into the pocket of his faded coat; muttered a word, drew them forth again, sorted out one, stared hard at the address and postmark; and then, with a half petulant grimace, knocked the bunch of letters together, crammed them back into his pocket again and, followed by the others, trudged away up the road.

The venerable widow, like the rest of the village, must have been on the lookout for the new preacher, for she was at the door to meet him as he came up the walk with the others. The old banker presented him.

"So glad to have you come, Brother Hopkins. It has been so dreadfully lonesome since—!"

The mild old eyes floated full of tears. The preacher seemed not to notice.

"I saw your husband's obituary in one of the church papers."

The widow dabbed at her eyes with a black-bordered handkerchief; the preacher, in his hesitating, jerky way, went on.

"I immediately wrote to Mr. Colin offering to come on a—ah—sort of vacation trip and serve the congregation until the vacancy could be filled. I was the more attracted to the thought of coming because my health had given way under the dual strain of preaching and teaching. And then, too, I had heard much about Buckeye and the Flatwoods from a—ah—classmate of mine while a student in the college in which I now have the honor to hold a professorship."

The banker frowned thoughtfully; Texie glanced at Jack.

Evening shadows were gathering thick in the corners of the room. The old man, becoming aware of them, glanced about him and turned to the widow.

"Well, Sister Mason, if you don't mind, I'll jist show Brother Hopkins the study, and then you better g' 'long over with us t' supper."

With the fine courtesy of one trained to the parsonage, she excused herself; the old banker went on:

"I b'lieve you said he was t' have the use of the study?"

The Widow Mason was only too well used to the crisp curt ways of Simon Colin. She turned to the young preacher.

"Brother Hopkins, I don't want you to feel that you are to have merely the study. My home is your home. Please feel free to use all of it or any part of it."

The young preacher bowed very low, and turned to the banker, who led the way up the stairs with as much authority as if he owned the place—which, in reality, he did.

The study, with its writing desk and leather easy chair, with its shelves and shelves of books, showed that its late owner had been a man of studious habits and apparently scholarly attainments.

An immense apple-tree grew by the east window, thrusting its stout branches so close as almost to brush the panes. Through its opening blossoms and half sprung leaves enough of the day remained to catch a view of the old banker's two or three acres of park-like orchard that lay between the parsonage and the red-roofed cottage.

The young preacher stood at the window and gazed out over the orchard, aromatic with promise, green with its thick mat of blue-grass, white under the trees where the blossoms snowed down.

The banker slapped him on the shoulder. He must have been deeply absorbed in the spell of the place, with its quiet and repose, for he started and laughed nervously.

"I must have been dreaming."

The old man tossed a hand toward the window.

"Not s' bad, is it?"

"It is very beautiful."

"I 'lowed y'u'd like it." The old man rubbed his long bony hands together in a sort of grim satisfaction. "My daughter fools away hours and hours in that seat yonder under the big maple by the spring. I 'low ther' ain't a bird comes by she cayn't mock."

The preacher looked at him curiously, half sternly.

"I can well believe you," he said. "A girl like your daughter, with her quite obvious gifts and possibilities, and so much a part of this wonderful profusion of wild nature about her, would naturally seek some such diversion to keep her life from starving in this out-of-the-way place."

The money-lender pondered these words and seemed on the point of resenting them; but only jerked his thumb toward the window again.

"Took a right smart pile t' fix it up like that. Money wasted, I tell 'er. We'll go across that way t' the house, if y'u like."

"It would please me greatly."

The momentary sternness had left the eyes behind the spectacles, the jerky precise voice had resumed its effusive drawl.

When they came down, Texie and Jack had already gone out into the yard. Mrs. Mason was standing in the door, talking to them.

The gray-haired gentlewoman turned to the preacher.

"Brother Hopkins, won't you please run over for a few minutes after supper? I have so longed to talk with a minister since—since—"

"Brother Hopkins, Won't You Please Run Over for a Few Minutes After Supper?"

"It is a minister's duty to go where his people call him," he said, in a voice pitched to reach the ears of the others, as it might have seemed. "I shall be very pleased to come."

He bowed himself out and joined the half impatient banker on the doorstep.

"Come on," the old man called to the others down the walk, "we're goin' across the orch'id. Brother Hopkins 'lows he'd like to."

There was no gate between the banker's park-like orchard and the parsonage yard. The fence had to be climbed. When they reached it the preacher offered his hand to the girl, who, to the amazement of the woodsman, took it and allowed him to lift her down—a concession that meant much in the Flatwoods.

At the bridge over Eagle run—merely a huge foot log broad-axed flat along the top—the girl allowed the preacher to assist her again, and the woodsman was treated to his second surprise. He had seen her, hundreds of times, skip across that log as sure-footed as a squirrel.

The path beyond led past the big maple with the rustic seat beneath the shelter of its far-flung branches. At its roots a spring gushed up, lapping the white pebbles of the tiny gutter it had worn for itself on its way to Eagle run.

"Whispering spring," said Texie simply, raising her eyes to the preacher. "Jack named it that. He can think of s' many names f'r things. He's a poet, I guess."

The woodsman fidgeted. The preacher glanced toward him, but made no comment.

"My brother, Ken, use t' tell me the fairies come down out of the cliffs at night t' dance around Whispering spring, and I b'lieved him—I b'lieved everything he told me them days—and I use' t' watch f'r the fairies."

She looked up at the preacher; then back into the spring.

"Do you b'lieve in fairies?" She asked the question as if she hoped he did believe in them.

He glanced down at the reflected face in the water. "Yes; there's a fairy peeping into the spring right now."

The old banker grunted; the woodsman turned to the face behind the huge spectacles. It was the first thing the preacher had said that caught his interest.

The girl was so entirely an unspoiled creature of the woods that she let the preacher see how much the neat compliment pleased her. With the color tingling over her face, she sprang over the gnarled roots of the great maple and ran a few steps up the path to the edge of the yard, paused and then hurried on. The preacher looked after her in his peering way, while the woodsman strode up the path and overtook her at the kitchen door.

"I'll run over and do the chores, and then come back," he said.

He walked on a little way and then came slowly back. The girl, just going into the kitchen, seemed to know that he had turned—seemed to know that he would turn back. With her hand on the door casement she waited for him to speak.

The man glanced out over the orchard; up the side of the cliffs; along the timber line that bearded them; came back to the eyes. The inquisitiveness had lessened; the roguishness deepened.

"You let 'im lift y'u!" he muttered.

With an odd, hard little laugh she darted in at the kitchen door.

CHAPTER III

Three Candles.

The last flare of sunset had followed the Wabash out under the rim of the west by the time Jack Warhope came back along the orchard path to the red-roofed cottage.

From the porch at the front of the house came the drone of the banker's voice, broken occasionally by the preacher's precise, jerky sentences.

Warhope listened for a moment. The money-lender was talking about a quarter-section that he had foreclosed on the day before. The woodsman had heard many an hour of that talk. With a shrug of his shoulders, he pushed the gate open and walked around to the kitchen door.

With a step that the woods had made light as a falling leaf he slipped in and stood motionless. The portly, pudgy form of Mrs. Curry, the housekeeper, was bent over the cook stove, busy with the supper.

The flit of a shadow and the clink of dishes in the adjoining dining room told the grinning intruder that Texie was "settin'" the table. For such an occasion there would be a white cloth, the best silver would be out, and there would be three candles instead of one.

The clink of the dishes ceased and the girl appeared in the doorway between the two rooms. Seeing Jack, she paused, tried to look severe, but failed.

"Now look at that!"

Mrs. Curry straightened, and exclaimed:

"Big Jack! Mercy, how you can slip up on a body."

"Put 'im t' work, Mis' Curry. We don't 'low no loafers, do we?"

The housekeeper in reply was interrupted by a misbehaving skillet and she turned back to the stove.

Supper was on the table. The woodsman took his place with the others. The banker dropped his hands in his lap, nodding toward the preacher, and bowed his head.

The traditions of the Flatwoods called for a long and sonorous grace—a sort of sermonette—when the preacher was a guest, but the new minister seemed never to have heard of any such tradition. The grace he said was so short, so direct and concise, yet so beautiful in thought and diction that the banker looked at him in pleased surprise.

Supper over, there fell a moment of silence—the delicious breath of repose that almost always follows the evening meal in quiet country homes. The old money-lender sat marking on the tablecloth with his fork, as if mapping out the boundary lines of other quarter-sections that he hoped to have the chance to foreclose in a short time.

The girl seized the favorable moment, and leaning forward, said: "Now, Mr. Hopkins, tell us about—my brother—Ken. I've be'n wishin' all evening t' ask y'u."

Her father stopped marking on the tablecloth and sat very still; the housekeeper crossed her knife and fork on her plate, as the Christians of Spain used to do in the days of Moorish domination; the woodsman let his thoughts revel in the faultless profile of the girl's face. The preacher caught the wistful look in her eyes—the subdued eagerness of one who could not resist the desire to ask, yet dreaded the answer. He fumbled his napkin.

"P. S.—Mr. Colin is dead. He died before he could quite finish signing his name."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

World's Coldest Place.

The Province of Werchojanesk, in Oriental Siberia, is the coldest inhabited place in the world. The daily mean temperature throughout the year is 2.72 degrees below zero.

Often Done.

"Why don't you get a new hotel in Plunkville?" "It is easier to change the name of the old one."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

To you—he's worth
$2,500 in Prizes

THE du Pont Company is offering $2,500 in merchandise prizes for team and individual scores in an International Crow-Shooting Contest. Sportsmen in the United States and Canada are eligible.

The crow is a destroyer of growing crops and of game birds. He is a menace and a nuisance. Get him!

Send for two, free booklets telling all about the crow. It costs you nothing to enter the contest. Write today for full information.

E. I. DU PONT DE NEMOURS & CO., INC.
Sporting Powder Division
WILMINGTON, DEL.

Owners of Coffee Rooms Thrown Into the Sea

Coffee came first out of Arabia and Abyssinia, according to the best information available. The first reference to it in literature was made by Avicenna, a Mohammedan physician, who died in 1037. "It fortifies the members," he wrote; "it cleanses the skin and dries up the humidities that are under it and gives an excellent smell to all the body."

The "kaveh kanes" of Mecca were the first coffee houses. Kair Bey, the governor, discovered that those who met in the coffee houses discussed politics and religion, sometimes critically. So he ordered the kaveh kanes closed. The sultan at Cairo disapproved of the governor's indiscreet zeal and had him executed.

But in Constantinople, where plots against the oppressive government were hatched over the coffee, the public houses were closed and reopening meant that the proprietor was sewed in a sack and thrown into the Bosporus.—Detroit News.

Embarrassing Moment

A shy young hostess, in an effort to be genial, led aside the comparative stranger, whose name somehow eluded her.

"Look," she said, "I've paired you off with that lady in the corner. Will you take her in to dinner? My husband, naughty man, says she's a bit of an old frump, but she's got lots of money, and one of his clever friends has just married her for it, so we must be nice to her."

"I am sorry, madam," said the guest, "but I am the clever friend in question."

Life is too short to be spent in nursing animosities.

No man ever lives to be as old as he feels at twenty-one.

Russian Chemist Makes Strong Wire From Sal

A wonderful discovery has bee made by a Russian scientist, wh claims to have found a method of ma ing wire stronger than steel out common rock salt. His discovery the result of a series of extraordina experiments in the mutability metals by structural chemistry.

The scientist found that by subm ting the rock salt to high heat pr sure before the elementary crystals gan to decay he arrested the decay changing the structural arrangeme of the atoms and molecules, and t change increased the durability a ductility of the substance 300 tim says London Tit-Bits. He is contin ing his experiments with other me substances.

If this discovery can be applied metals it will revolutionize the wor It will mean, amongst other thin trains capable of running 200 mi an hour and turbine steamers t could reach Australia in ten days.

Long Hike on Stilts

The people of the department Landres, in France, mostly farmers a shepherds, spend the greater part their lives on stilts, owing to t dampness of the soil and continu floods. Naturally they become expe in their use. The stilts are strapp below the knees, the feet being f tened in a kind of stirrup raised f feet from the ground. A pole, wh the stilt walker carries in place of t ordinary walking stick, serves as rest, the user propping himself agai it when halting. The women of t district are as skillful as the men the use of stilts, and a courting cou striding off to their trysting place stilts is a common sight. A fam stilt walker of the district, Sil Dornon, a baker, walked on stilts fr Paris to Moscow, a distance of 1 miles, in 58 days.

"They Can't Put You in Jail for That!"

"Can't, eh?" said the man, "Well, I'm here!"

After your sleepless night from coffee drinking and your friends say it's all imagination, remember the sleepless night.

Also remember that Postum, the pure cereal beverage, contains nothing that can interfere with sleep. It has every desirable quality of a mealtime drink—cheering warmth, delightful flavor and wholesomeness that makes for health.

Postum

for Health

"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum [in tins] prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal [in packages] for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

LL WOMEN WHO WORK

ould Know how this Worker was ade Strong and Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Zahl, N. Dakota.—"I was nervous and eak and was not regular. I also had pains frequently. I was sickly for seven years and finally had a nervous breakdown following an operation. I am a dressmaker and milliner, and a lady I work for told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am taking it and it has made me well and able to my work again. I have even helped ke care of a sick neighbor recently, so u can see how fit I am. I highly praise ur medicine and you may use my let- as you see fit. I hope it will help me other woman."—Mrs. OLE NORDn, Box 23, Zahl, North Dakota.

Over 121,000 women have so far re- ied to our question, "Have you re- ived benefit from taking Lydia E. nkham's Vegetable Compound?" 98 per cent. of these replies answer Yes."

This means that 98 out of every 100 men taking this medicine for ail- nts for which it is recommended are edited by it. For sale by all drug- ts.

Always

A safe and soothing remedy for cuts, burns, or skin troubles. Protects, relieves and heals. Take internally for coughs and sore throats.

Vaseline

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

PETROLEUM JELLY

Chesebrough Mfg. Co., Cons'd. State St. New York

Green's August Flower

The remedy with a record of fifty-seven years of surpassing excellence. All who suffer with nervous dyspepsia, sour stomach, constipation, indigestion, torpid liver, dizziness, headaches, coming-up of food, wind on stomach, palpitation and other indications of digestive disorder, will find GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER an effective and efficient remedy. For fifty-seven years this medicine has been successfully used in millions of households all over the civilized world. Because of its merit and popularity GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER can be found today wherever medicines are sold. 30 and 90 cent bottles.

Shave With Cuticura Soap The New Way Without Mug

CURES COLDS IN 24 HOURS

WORLD'S STANDARD

CASCARA BROMIDE QUININE

FOR TWO GENERATIONS

PRICE 30 CENTS

CURES LA GRIPPE IN 3 DAYS

DETROIT, W. H. HILL CO. MICHIGAN.

A Live Topic

The professor was really very profound, and he wasn't such an elderly professor, either. His style was concise, and when he had finished with a subject but little remained to be said. The girls on the campus were discussing this with admiration. The scholarly ones had declaimed at length, when a little bobbed-haired beauty spoke.

"The professor tells me he now has a subject he can't say enough about," she said.

"And what is this subject, girlie?" they inquired.

"Me."

He who marries for fun may be sorry that he won.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

KEMP'S BALSAM

Don't cough! cough! cough!

Prominent People

Sprague Has Eye on McCormick's Seat

Col. A. A. Sprague (portrait herewith) has been put on the Democratic slate for nomination as United States senator from Illinois to succeed Senator Medill McCormick, whose term expires March 4, 1925. Colonel Sprague is Chicago's commissioner of public works. He was born in Chicago in 1876, is a wholesale grocer, inherited wealth and is active socially and in many local enterprises of a semi-public character. He is Colonel Sprague Q. R. C., and saw service overseas, July, 1918, to March, 1919, with the One Hundred and Thirty-first regiment, Eighty-sixth division. "Who's Who" (1923) says he is a Republican.

He is best known in connection with his work as head of the hospitalization committee of the American Legion. The Legion credits him with the securing of many improvements.

"I believe that the heart of the American people is in the right place and that it is a generous heart," said Colonel Sprague, concerning the plight of the wars' disabled. "Maladministration, not niggardliness, has been at the bottom of the mess in the treatment of our wounded. The day is approaching when they will get a new and a square deal. The service men have the right to demand only one thing from their country and that is adequate provision for their disabled comrades. For other things they have only the right to argue and suggest."

Pomerene, Special Counsel in Oil Case

Atlee Pomerene of Canton, former United States senator from Ohio, a Democrat (portrait herewith), is one of the special counsel in the oil investigation appointed by President Coolidge, the other one being Silas H. Strawn of Chicago, Republican.

Former Senator Pomerene has been a prominent figure in the Democratic ranks in Washington. He served as senator from 1911 to 1923, being defeated for re-election in 1922. There had been much talk of Mr. Pomerene as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president until his defeat in the race for re-election to the senate. This incident was accepted as eliminating him from the presidential race, but the official report that he would be made counsel in the oil cases has revived talk of the former senator, especially if the legal proceedings to be brought are successful.

Mr. Pomerene is a member of the law firm of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, one of the best known in Cleveland. He is sixty years old, a graduate of Princeton and of the Cincinnati Law school. He served as city solicitor of Canton, Ohio, from 1887 to 1891, and was elected prosecuting attorney of Stark county, Ohio, in 1896, serving three years.

He was chairman of the Ohio Democratic state convention in 1910, and was elected lieutenant governor on the ticket headed by Gov. Judson Harmon.

Love Enters House of Japan's Mikado

The marriage of the prince regent of Japan to the young woman of his choice is an event of world importance for the reason that for the first time in history love, as occidentals know and understand it, has been recognized in Japan. For this is absolutely the first love match in all the court annals of the oldest reigning dynasty existent today throughout the whole world. Love won out at last at the imperial court of Nippon when the marriage of the prince regent with Princess Nagako of Kumi passed into history. It took a long, long time to turn the trick. This is the 2,584th year since Emperor Jimmu ascended the throne of Yamato and founded the reigning house of Japan. Therefore it took nearly six and twenty centuries for Love to crown itself the sovereign of sovereigns in the storied empire.

"What the Above does, the Below follows," says an ancient saying in Japan. The example set by the regent in his marriage will, in time, revolutionize the fundamental relations between men and women in Japan. That is the biggest meaning of the imperial wedding. In the days of Elder Nippon—and to a large extent even in these advanced days—there are millions and millions of people in Japan to whom love is by no means the leading and dominating factor in marriage relationship. The dramatic manner in which the young prince won out in his love match with Princess Nagako has simply revised the point of view of these millions of his people.

Doheny, an "International Oil King"

Edward Laurence Doheny (portrait herewith) revealed by the oil investigation in congress to be one of the "oil kings" of the world is a "petroleum producer." He was born in 1856 in Fond du Lac, Wis., and was graudated from its high school in 1872. He was a prospector for gold and silver for twenty years—his biography in "Who's Who" does not state where or with what success. In 1892 he became a prospector for petroleum; evidently he struck oil, for he began producing petroleum the same year. He discovered several oil districts in California and oil fields in Mexico. He has organized several companies to handle his properties and products. He served in 1917 as a member of the sub-committee on oil of the council of national defense. His interests are international and the extent of his operations is very large He figures in the investigation as a lessee of California naval oil reserve. It has been Mr. Doheny's policy to employ prominent men to look after various phases of his interests. For example, he paid the law firm of W. G. McAdoo $150,000 to look after some matters in connection with his Mexican interests. Having plenty of money, he was generous with it. For example, he loaned former Secretary of the Interior Fall $100,000 to purchase an addition to his big New Mexico ranch.

The oil investigation in congress has already been replete with sensation and more are promised—in politics as well as in the oil business.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

What the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

The Iowa legislature determined to make marriage medically perfect, is putting the finishing touches to a new eugenics bill. Men and women must undergo a medical examination 10 days before a marriage license is issued, under the bill. The Senate adopted a measure affecting men only but the House inserted a clause including women and passed the bill. The Senate is ready to concur, it is believed and Governor Kendall is expected to sign the measure. Enforcement of the eugenics clause is provided in a provision which states that any physicians who shall knowingly or wilfully make any false statement in the certificate shall be guilty of perjury. Any clerk of the district court who shall issue a license to marry without the presentation of the physician's certificate or who shall issue such license contrary to the provisions of the act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Charges that the bill recently passed by the Iowa senate providing for compulsory Bible reading in the public schools violates the principle of religious liberty and would cause dissension between Catholics, Protestants ad Jews on the merits of various parts of the Bible, were made by Rev. E. H. Reeman, pastor of the Unitarian church, in a sermon at Des Moines. He stated the present law is sufficient for school boards and superintendents to make their own selection of Bible readings and that the proposal that the governor appoint a committee to select passages is outside the precinct of the state. "The acknowledged purpose of the amendment is a moral anl religious purpose, and in my judgment religious instruction is not the function of the state as such, nor an appropriate matter for legislative enactment," he declared.

Says Chief Hawkeye in Des Moines News: "Not only have you been very negligent in attending daily sessions of the Assembly, but now I observe that you propose to recess the latter part of this month for several days while all the time your salaries go on. This special session is costing the taxpayers of Iowa approximately $2500 a day. The cost will be enormous befor the job is finished. Your failure to attend the daily sessions, thereby crippling the work of passing bills, together with your penchant for taking recesses fails to show a great deal of interest in your job or concern over the way the money of the taxpayers is being used. My advice to you is to get on the job, buckle down to your task and get it over with before the expense becomes exorbitant and a mighty howl goes up from your constituents."

Senator Horchem believes a voter should receive the ballots of all parties when he enters a voting booth in order that no one might know which ticket he votes and that he should be permitted to vote one tickets for one office of another governmental division. The Horchem proposal is in effect the "wide open" primary under which no voter is required to declare his party affiliations and no one is enabled to find out how he votes. Senator Horchem has drafted an amendment to code bill No. 21 dealing with the state primary election.

The house has passed the municipal corporations bill which permits towns of 5,000 and under to buy or build electric garbage disposal plants. Under its provisions even though the purchase raises the debt of the city above the constitutional limit of 5 per cent, the indebtedness shall not be regarded as illegal when the revenues of the plant are to be used for the retirement of the bonds. In effect the bill makes the bond holders look for their security to the plant and its revenue.

The Iowa law with reference to child labor was strengthened somewhat in the code bill covering this subject passed by the senate of the Iowa legislature after having previously passed the house. The changes prescribe that a boy or girl under 16 can not operate an elevator, as has heretofore been possible, nor can they work in a barber shop, cafe or restaurant. These lines of prohibited employment were added to those already in the law.

The special budget committee, after several weeks of labor, has presented the draft of a budget bill to the House of the Iowa Legislature. The strength of the measure lies in that it is a step in the right direction, that it sets up the machinery for the economical and efficient expenditure of the taxpayer's money. Its weakness rests in the fact that it does not go far enough and specifically exempts state institutions from the provisions of the enactment.

Decision to shorten the ballot to a single "yes" or "no" in voting bonds for improvements by municipal corporations has been approved by the state legislature.

A proposed measure up for conbiles and other vehicles used for unlawful purposes to be public nuisances, and subject to injunction and abatement proceedings, and providing for punishment for contempt of court for a violation of the order."

Code bill 168, covering streets and public grounds, has passed the senate. It makes no change in the present law except to permit cities of the first class to spend a maximum of 60 cents per foot for construction of temporary sidewalks in front of agricultural property, instead of 40 cents as now provided.

Important changes in Iowa's enforcement law are made in a bill passed by the senate by a vote of 46 to 0. The Volstead definition of liquor is substitued for the Iowa definition under which any liquid or compound containing a trace of alcohol and fit to be used for beverage purposes was regarded as intoxicating. Forfeiture of vehicles used to illegally transport liquor, and provisions to prevent accomplices recovering such vehicles, are also included. The new law makes it mandatory that a county attorney shall prosecute abatement cases and any peace officer who delays service of papers in a liquor case is made guilty of a misdemeanor. The reputation of a person of concern involved in a prohibition case may be introduced by the prosecution as supporting the charge. A rum runner may be prosecuted in any county which he traverses with an illict cargo.

The House was defeated the amendment which the senate passed discontinuing the practice of free tuition at the State College of Agriculture at Ames. Before voting to continue the free tuition members of the house engaged in a debate over the question of whether the college was not guilty of misrepresentation when the statement was made that tuition was free. "We are beating the devil around the stump by calling tuition dues and fees," declared Representative Storey of Warren county, "Fees are now as high as tuition. Why not call a spade a spade?" Representative Storey of Warren county pointed out that the fees at Ames were as high as the tuition in other schools for the same courses. By defeating the senate amendment free tuition will remain in name as is the past.

The house, by a vote of 60 to 37 passed the senate resolution on adjournment which shortened the vacation period one day. With concurrence of the senate to the one-day change, the house will adjourn Feb. 28 and reconvene March 5. The vacation resolution met stiff opposition from members of the house. Parsons of Calhoun declared that the "feeling over the state that the legislature is not progressing with code revision as it should, will be increased." Parsons declared he had warned legislators that taking a week's vacation with pay, would not meet with the approval of their constituents.

Amendment of the primary election law to curb change of party on election day was rejected in the senate elections committee by a vote of 6 to 4. The amendment offered by a subcommittee struck out the section of the law permitting change of party upon election day by taking an oath in case of challenge. This removed what was asserted to the a conflict with a preceding section requiring change to be made with the county auditor ten days before election.

The house of representatives by unanimous vote adopted the Harrirson resolution pledging support of the Iowa legislature to the national administration and President Coolidge in the proposed federal investigation of gasoline puts the lower house on record as holding the belief that the six cents raise in gasoline in Iowa during the last forty days yas caused by unfair methods of competition.

Six charges of irregularity in the promotion and conduct of insurance companies were laid before the special senate committee named to investigate the state insurance department by Senator Charles S. Browne of Jackson county. The senate, by a vote of 41 to 2 adopted the McIntosh resolution widening the scope of the investigation to include the insurance business, particularly,

The much talked of budged bill is taking form under the direction of the house committee directed to draft it, and will probably be reported out before long. The committee has not yet made known any of its provisions, but it is understood to make the state executive council the budget board with power to select a director of the work, whose selection must be confirmed by the senate.

The first meeting of the Insurance investigating committee was held in executive session. It was announced, however, by Senator Wichman, chairman, that future meetings will be open. A motion by Senator Dutcher of Johnson county that the senate go into secret session and have a "heart to heart talk" over all the matter proposed in the senate was rejected.

The senate is expected to take up soon the amendments to the present bovine tuberculosis law introduced by the friends of the measure to strengthen its operation. The law as a whole has been highly complimented by other states. It was first adopted last winter.

The soldiers' and sailors' relief bill also passed with an amendment providing that expenses for burial of former service men or their dependents shall be paid by the county in which they reside, regardless of the place of death.

The bill covering duties of boards of supervisors, which only condenses the present law, passed, 40 to 0.

The senate has defeated the code revision bill which prescribes the regulatory powers of city councils over public utilities. Debate was limited principally to the section prohibiting discriminatory rates, which the house had eliminated.

A new eugenics measure, drafted after conferences of the three physician members of the Iowa house with leading physicians of the state and the attorney general, will be offered as a substitute for the eugenics amendment pending in the house, it was announced during discussion of reconsideration of the amendments.

WRIGLEY'S

After every meal

A pleasant and agreeable sweet and a l-a-s-t-i-n-g benefit as well.

Good for teeth, breath and digestion.

Makes the next cigar taste better.

Sealed in its Purity Package

WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT THE PERFECT GUM THE FLAVOR LASTS MINT LEAF FLAVOR

E3

PATENTS Send model or drawing for examination. Highest references. Best results. Promptness assured. Watson E. Coleman, Booklet FREE. Patent Lawyer, 644 G St., Washington, D. C.

Beautiful Marabou Most Repulsive of All Birds

Would it enhance or dampen the enthusiasm of the woman who possesses a costly and beautiful marabou collarette or boa if she knew that those lovely feathers came from under the wings of the most repulsive scavengers of the stork family?

In the native villages of Africa they are reverenced as sacred—in Arab marabou means saint—so they are quite tame and are allowed to stalk around the native huts unmolested

Though obnoxious, they are really a blessing, as they devour great quantities of filth and troublesome insects that would surely be a menace to the inhabitants of the villages.—Nature Magazine.

WOMEN! BEWARE! REFUSE IMITATIONS

Warning! Not All Package Dyes Are "Diamond Dyes."

Diamond Dyes

Always ask for "Diamond Dyes" and if you don't see the name "Diamond Dyes" on the package—refuse it—hand it back!

Each 15-cent package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint skirts, dresses, waists, sweaters, stockings, kimonos, coats, draperies, coverings—everything new, even if she has never dyed before. Choose any color at drug store. Refuse substitutes!

Threw Old Gems Away

Here's the best yarn that has come out of a British drawing room for some time. A great aristocrat and political leader gave a big dinner party. All sorts of people were there. The wife of a new-rich was sitting opposite the wife of a labor leader. Somebody talked about jewelry.

Mrs. New-Rich spoke up:

"I clean my diamonds with ammonia, my rubies with Bordeaux wine, my emeralds in Danzig brandy, my sapphires in fresh milk. And you, dear friends?"

So saying she turned condescendingly to the labor leader's wife.

"Oh, I don't clean mine," said the latter silkily. "When they are dirty I simply throw them away."—Detroit News.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Take Tablets Without Fear if You See the Safety "Bayer Cross."

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

Truth and politeness are seldom synonymous.

Lost wealth may be recovered, but lost time never.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Removes Dandruff—Stops Hair Falling. Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair. 60c, and $1.00 at Druggists. Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

BATHE TIRED EYES with Dr. Thompson's Eyewater. Buy at your druggist's or 1169 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

Volume 2—Number 17. Thursday, March 6, 1924.

NO TEAPOT DOME

Imagine a tea kettle that will hold 25,000 gallons, then you have some idea of an oil still, used for this purpose. Into one of these huge oil stills goes the selected crude oil from which En-Ar-Co Motor Oil is refined.

This oil is heated until it forms a vapor. The vapor is then condensed into a liquid distillate (the same as the vapor from a tea kettle spout might be condensed) further refined and then filtered. The result is a clear, clean oil containing no free carbon—En-Ar-Co Motor Oil.

A Motor Oil loaded with residue will break under heat and fail to perform its function. The residue and deposit which becomes incandescent, causes pre-ignition under heavy load and finally, after continued use, coke-like carbon forms; just as scale is formed in the tea kettle.

SOME PEOPLE THINK:

Long Island Sound makes a noise
A crank-case is a law suit
Pat. Pending is a great inventor
Muscle Shoals is a strong man
That time-tables have legs
Roof garden is where they raise vegetables (Proof reader pauses to comment and says, "That's where peaches bloom.")
A cow boy is a male calf
—But you can't ring a dumb bell.

Don't waste all your money buying machinery. Buy standard stuff and get away from buying every year. The best is by far the cheapest. Did you ever stop to think that you can buy a Cultipacker this spring & it will make you the price of three or four Cultipackers by fall? A poor corn planter can loose for you the price of three or four in your corn crop.

A poor skimming cream separator can loose the price of three or four new machines every year.

Don't waste your money buying machinery. Get good machines and they will save you money.

A ten foot disk may save you a man's wages.

VOSS Washers

We now carry a full line of VOSS washing machines and can supply you with one of the following types—

SINGLE TUB—POWER
TWIN TUB—POWER
SINGLE TUB—ELECTRIC
HAND WASHER—and combination hand and power machines.

The VOSS Washer has swinging wringer; quick-drain faucet; kiln dried Cypress tubs; solid frames; folding tub racks.

This machine has been tested and is approved by Good Housekeeping Institute.

WASH DAY IS VOSS DAY

Jacobs & Son
"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

PATRONIZE YOUR HOME STORES. TRADE WITH MEN YOU KNOW

Happiness Insurance

In the final analysis, what is more necessary to our well being of mind and body than happiness, for the unhappy man is sick in mind and body.

Of all happiness insurance, saving is the best. It is insurance against worrk, too, so if you are not saving now, start. You will be surprised at your different outlook on life.

First National Bank
"The Bank for Everybody'."

News of Klemme and Vicinity

See Jacobs & Son for inside paint.

39¢ Bargain window—Kluck's.

Buy Seeds now at Jacobs & Son.

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Let the Times print your sale bill.

Fred Musfelt went to Clarion Monday noon on business.

Northrup King & Co. seeds—all kinds at Jacobs & Son. 2w

Mrs. Sumner Trumbell is visiting her parents at Goodell this week.

P. M. Griesemer was a business visitor at Goodell Monday.

Mrs. Wm. Schlichting, of Goodell, was a Klemme visitor Tuesday.

I do all kinds of Plumbing and Heating work. R. E. Quintus, Garner, Ia. tfc

Supt. Vasey, of Mason City gave an address at the school here Tuesday night.

Big assortment of plain colored Cotton Crepes—very special at 23¢ SATURDAY ONLY at Wellemeyer's.

Mr. and Mrs. Al White and son drove to Belmond Sunday for a visit with relatives.

Miss Gale Buss went to Goodell Monday noon for a visit with relatives.

For Sale—Trusty Incubator, 150 egg, 1 year old, good condition. H. J. Stromer. 2wp

New shipment of Spring Aprons—fine assortment at 95¢ for SATURDAY ONLY at Wellemeyer's. 1tc

Mrs. R. A. McConn was absent from the store Tuesday and Wednesday on account of tonsilitis.

The W. F. M. S. of the Methodist church meets this afternoon at the parish house.

Art Wellemeyer spent Thursday in Minneapolis buying a new stock of millinery.

Miss Thorman's piano students will give a recital at the school Friday evening of this week.

Mr. S. S. Grange, of Ruthven, Ia., is here visiting with his son, Paul, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McConn drove over to Clear Lake Sunday to try out their new Chevrolet coupe.

Theo. Wright, of Belmond, was a business visitor in Klemme last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Cunningham of Goodell, were shoppers in Klemme yesterday.

Ben Coobs was at Des Moines last Thursday to take another army examination. Ben was a victim of gas during the war.

Paul Griesemer attended a district meeting of the Methodist church at Goldfield, Tuesday evening. He was on the program for an address.

Miss Laura Brooks, of Belmond, came Monday, being called here by the death of her neice, Mabel Starnes.

New Little Radiola III—wonderful little set for distance and volume, with 2 tubes, 1 head set, installed $35.00 K. A. Kraus, Klemme, Ia.

For Sale—Setting eggs, full blood S. C. Rhode Island Red. 50¢ setting, $3.00 per 100. Frank Miller, Garner Route. 2wp

Mrs. Tom Blank went to Belmond Friday between trains to see Mr Henry F. Meinders, a brother-in-law who has been sick.

The Mexican family, who have been living in the shack near the tracks, have moved to Mason City. The men will work in the cement plant there.

The play which was given at the school, of which Miss Edith Haupt is teacher, was a great success and was well attended and enjoyed by all and the basket socjal and play netted the school $44.30, a neat little sum we woul say. The play was given last week Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Fred Ruiter, of Belmond, came Thursday for a weeks visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Tom Blank, and family.

Mrs. Ben Coobs has been at Goodell since last Thursday helping at the home of her sister, Mrs. Harry Buss, and also to see the new baby.

39¢ House Dress and Apron Sale, values up to $2.00. Big values for ladies, girls and children. See our bargain window. G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons.

Miss Mabel Starnes, who has been seriously ill the past two weeks, died Sunday at the home of her parents near Klemme. The obituary is published in this issue of the Times.

Big clean-up on House Dresses & Aprons, for women, girls and children—values up to $1.50 and $2.00—all go for 39¢. See our window of Bargains. G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons.

Mrs. Frank Kluckhohn and Mrs. Harvey Stille have been enjoying a visit from their cousin, Mrs. M. O. Havnen, of Thompson, Iowa, who came last week Wednesday for a weeks visit.

Fred Stockwell and family moved the first of the week to Hutchins, Iowa. Mr. Stockwell will conduct a blacksmith shop there. He has been working in the Pavey shop here for the past year or more.

FINAL NOTICE—All those who owe me an account and have failed to pay after receiving a statement, MUST PAY before March 10, 1924. On that date I will turn in all accounts for collection. F. H. Ridder.

Dr. Zinn, who has been quite ill the past week was able to be about again Monday. On Tuesday he went to Fort Dodge to enter his newphews hospital, Dr. Edgar Zinn, where he will probably undergo an operation.

Evelyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Arnold, celebrated her sceond birthday Sunday, March 2, at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Henry Lau. Her grandmother served a fine birthday dinner for her.

Mrs. Ralph Elder returned home Saturday from the hospital at Hampton, where she had been for a couple of weeks for treatment. Her many friends are glad to learn that she is greatly improved in health.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lemke Saturday morning, March 1st. Had the little Miss arrived a couple of hours earlier she would have been a leap year baby and could only have celebrated her birthday every four years.

Louie Katter returned Saturday from his three months trip spent in California. Louie took in the whole thing while he was there and visited all of the big cities from one end to the other, and also took a trip into old Mexico. While there he saw all the former Klemme people and had quite a visit with them. He bought a Ford as soon as he got there so he could get around and he says he drove over 4,000 miles and road the train for another 6,000 miles. He says Califonria is fine for old people who want to retire, but is not a very good place for a young man as there are too many men there for the jobs. The weather was good while he was there and he was glad to escape the 30 degree below weather we had in this country.

Evolution of the dance: Square, round, crooked.

KLEMME MARKETS

March 6, 1924.
(Subject To Change)

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN	60—63
OATS	.40
BARLEY	.60
RYE	.60
HOGS	6.00—6.70
BUTTERFAT	.54
BUTTER (Creamery)	.52
EGGS	.17
HEAVY HENS	.16
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.15
LEGHORNS	.08
COCKS	.06
STAGS	.12
DUCKS	.10
GEESE	.08

Great Invention for Hog Raisers

At last the problem has been solved—of keeping hogs supplied with plenty of warm water outdoors in the winter—without lamps or heaters. Hogs must have warm water in the winter if they are to thrive and get full value from their feed. Ice water chills them — and they will not drink enough.

Dempster Self-Heating Hog Waterer

Here is something every hog raiser needs.

It is new—it is novel—it serves a purpose that is highly important to the farmer — it saves considerable expense and trouble.

It keeps the water warm all winter, without stoves, heaters, burners, lamps or any other burning contrivance. It will also keep the water cool in summer. Utilizes one of the forces of nature.

The Dempster Hog Waterer has been thoroughly tested and has proven a great success. We are exclusive agents.

This Hog Waterer is absolutely guaranteed NOT TO FREEZE in the coldest weather. Order one today of—

R. E. Quintis
Plumbing & Heating GARNER, IOWA.

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

THE HOME OF GOOD EATS
CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGARS
MEALS and LUNCHES
Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It Here
Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service
We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.
CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

Kodak Finishing--

Bring your Kodak Films to the Drug Store for first class developing and printing.

You will be pleased with the results. We can give you 3 Day Service on all Kodak work.

G. G. Seney
"The New Drug Store"

Can You Change A Ten?

You don't have to ask that when you pay by check. You write the check for the exact amount; the "change" is left in your bank account and not placed in your pocket to be quickly spent.

Checks are convenient, save you time and lessen errors. Handle your affairs the modern way, with a checking account at this bank.

Place your surplus savings on time deposit at 5% here.

State Savings Bank
Klemme Iowa

THE KLEMME TIMES

Twenty-eighth Year—Number 26. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, March 13, 1924. $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

LAWHORN IN FAVOR OF TEMPORARY GRAVEI ON HIGHWAY

MUD HOLES AND SUPERVISORS!

About Time Something Was Done On Wilson Highway

The people who use the Wilson Highway between Klemme and Garner are beginning to wonder now why our Board of Supervisors spent so much money to build such a fine, high and wide road-bed from Garner to Klemme a couple of years ago and since its completion are letting it go to rack and ruin.

At the time it was built they certainly knew the county would not be able to pave it as the North Iowa Pike pavement had hung a debt on the county for several years that would hault other paving projects for a few years.

The grade is getting in worse condition every day; is getting lower and spreading out of shape. It is far from being smooth, is getting all cut up and full of deep ruts. North of Klemme from the Hueneman farm around the corner and east of the Reformed Church there are mud holes deep enough to bury a horse and almost impassable for cars, wagons or any other mode of travel.

If paving is not in sight for a few years then the Board should get busy and gravel the highway just as soon as possible to save the roadbed from further ruin.

Lawhorn Makes Statement

At a Commercial Club meeting at Garner, Monday evening, February 25th, George Lawhorn, member of the Board made the following statement which was printed in the Garner Signal and which we copy:

"George Lawhorn told the club that he did not think there was any possibility or probability of paving the road to Klemme this year but he did think a good coat of gravel would be put on to hold the grade until paving could be put on."

That is the best piece of news we have heard since the grade was built and we had rosy dreams of riding on paved roads.

If the Supervisors had to drive over that road frequently they would realize how bad it really is, and we bet our shirt it would have been fixed up long aga.

We are glad that one member of the Board is in favor of doing something about it and we are with Lawhorn on the proposition for temporary gravel until the County has the necessary funds for paving.

Let's get out of the mud, Board!

S. S. Class Has Meeting

Miss Minnie Lenz's Sunday school class of girls, held a class meeting Monday night at the home of Miss Lenz. A social good time was had and refreshments were served. The class is called the "Glad Game Class" and they had a business meeting and elected the following officers:

President ..... Dora Swanson
Vice-President .... Valeria Koerner
Secretary ..... Lela Bachman
Treasurer ..... Ethel Johnson
Social Com.—Ethel Wellemeyer,
Social Committee, Clarice Wellemeyer and Leona Poort.
Program and Flower Committee—Reva Elder, Lillian Bjeler and Irene Johnson.

To The Voters At The School Election Monday

Say folks, I want to say a hearty "Thank You" for your generous support you gave me for the office of School Director. I shall do my best to merit a continuance of you good will.

A. D. Gimer.

A Talkative Nag

They tell of a young married artist in Washington Square who has a predilection for talking in his sleep. Several times recently he had mentioned the name "Irene," and his wife questioned him about it.

"Oh, that," said he, thinking fast, "is the name of a race-horse."

Several days later when he came home he asked his wife the news of the day: "Nothing exciting happened," she said, "except your race-horse called you up twice."

A SEEMINGLY QUIET SCHOOL ELECTION STIRRED UP TO ACTIVITY

All Because It Looked Too Tame So Two Women Are Run To Liven It Up

What's a school election without any opposition? No fun at all said a half dozen men about noon Monday a short time before the polls were open to vote for two school directors.

Everything looked peaceful and it would be a good joke to get a bunch of voters lined up and write in two names and carry the election on the "q. t."—but the aforesaid "q. t." business leaked out too soon and the news spread like wild fire that "they were running two women!"

When the smoke of battle had cleared away the ballots were counted and the votes stood as follows:

Gimer	83
Kluckhohn	80
Mrs. Koerner	41
Mrs. Jorgenson	39
Art Wellemeyer	2
Mrs. W. F. Lau	2
Frank Gruetzmacher	1
Chas. Velau	1

Total votes cast were 120.

The ladies made a fine run as their names had to be written in on the ballot and only a few knew they were being run for directors.

Since election we have heard a great many comments and it looks like that at next year's election there will be ladies running on the ticket. So prepare now for it will be a grand election.

Mr. Gimer and Mr. Kluckhohn were both elected to succeed themselves for a three year term. Both are good men and we guess everybody is satisfied that they are again on the school board.

HORSES NEED "TUNING UP"

Spring Rush Will Demand Best That Is in Work Horses

Work horses need "tuning up" before the grand spring rush commences, according to A. B. Caine, horses pecialist of the Iowa State [illegible] animal husbandry departmen.

"Horses that have been wintering [illegible]" Mr. Caine, "should be given enough feed, starting three to six weeks before spring work commences, so that they will be gaining in condition when heavy work starts. If they have been getting corn stalks fodder, and straw, it would be advisable to start them on a small grain allowance and to give them better roughages, such as clover, alfalfa or mixed hay.

"Horses that are taken right off corn stalks or straw," says Mr. Caine, "are not in the right condition to do heavy spring work. If it is possible, it is well to have work horses shed all their long winter hair before they are put into harness. Horses with long hair sweat freely and in early spring thee is danger of their catching cold. Liberal use of thec urry comb and keeping the horses in will help shedding. Shoulders should be handled to harden them up before the heavy work commences. This can be done best by braking the horses into the heavier work gradually, thus toughening their shoulders. Shoulders that are washed off with saltw ater toughen more quickly and tend to stay in good condition longer. Fitting collar is always important, as every farmer knows. Collars should be cleaned each day; all sweat and dirt crapper off.

A satisfactory grain allowance for spring would be 50 per cent corn and 50 per cent oats, and another ration liked at the Iowa Experiment Station is 50 per cent corn, 35 per cent oats and 15 per cent bran. The amount varies with the condition of the horse, but not over a half pound per day for each hundred pounds livew eight until put into heavy work. Then the rate can be increased to one pound in the above ratio.

School News

The English II class is now studying the classic "Idyll's of the King"

The agriculture class has been studying Drainage, during the past week.

English Literature started on their new classic "Tale of Two Cities," by Dickens, Monday.

A Junior clas smeeting was held Tuesday night for the purpose of selectjng class rings.

SENIOR CLASS

The physics class have been drawing the past week.

Thep ublic speaking class is taking up the study of orations, and have choosen their topics upon which they intend to write.

The Mechanical drawing class is now nicely located in their corners with their mechanical drawing instruments trying out their skill in drawjng.

Domestic Science girls have completed their first garment and are starting on their second.

The General Science class are making scrap books containing clippings on topics which have been assigned to them.

The English I class have been writing argumentative themes.

GRADE NOTES

Raymond Schuldt and Lester Buseman were both absent the past wkek.

The fourth and fifth grades are making booklets for the month of March.

The first grade started their new readers this week.

EDITORS CHANGE

This week marks another change of school editors. Maurine Hake step into the Editors position, taking the place of Clarence Elder. Her associates are Florence Behringer, Ruth Johnson, and Bernice Tanner. Here's hoping them sucess in their new undertaking, also for a bigger and better school column.

The Former Editor, Elder.

PROGRESSIVE CLUB MEETS

The program given at the February meeting of the North Avery Progressive Club was as follows:

Singing, —"Battle Hymn of the Republic
Scripture Reading — Mrs. Arnold
Recitation — Irene Marshall
Debate.
Piano and Violjn Duet — Mr. &Mrs. Cook.
Reading "Why the World Loves Abraham Lincoln" — Iris Sherwood
Song — Dolores Cook and Lavon Sherwood.
Reading "Good St. Valentine" — Miss Griggs.
Song — "America"
Motto

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. C. Arnold, March 15.

GIRL ALMOST BLED TO DEATH BY FERRET

SIUOX CITY,—Helen Greebaum,9 narrowly escaped death Friday night when a ferret was found in her bed sucking blood through the bridge of the nose of the girl. W. Greenbaum, her father had found the ferret Thursday. When members of the family missed the animal, a search was made in the bedrooms where it was found.

Attempts to frighten the animal away were futile. Finally Mr. Greenbaum tore the animal away. The wound will leave an ugly scar on the girl's nose.

DIAMOND NECKLACE FOUND IN BASKET

SIOUX CITY,— Mrs. Arthur Sanford, who absentmindedly tossed her $2,000 diamond necklace into a waste basket, found the jewelry in the ashes of the heating plant of the Sioux apartments today. Detectives searching for the gems carefully probed the ashes. The gems were spied in the fire box of the furnace and were unharmed in any way.

Court House News

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS AND DISTRICT COURT NEWS

(March 3 to March 8, 1924)

Real Estate Transfers

Chas. S. Lawhorn wf. to Geo. Albers, W. D. date 2-24 W½ NW¼ 24 95 23 ..... $10,000.00

Lewis Formanek wf. to Joseph T. Formanek W. D. date 3-1-24 W½ SW¼ 21-96-24 ..... $1.

Walter Kirchgatter to A. M. Hauptman W. D. date 2-23-24 a strip of land out of lot 34 blk. 2 Sapps add Corwith $75.00

Knud A. Larson wf. to Hejko H. Veldhouse W. D. date 2-21-24 lots 13-14 blk. 1 John K's. 1st add to Kanawha $5,750.00

John Fillenwarth wf. to Harry Ricketts, W. D. date 1-26-24, lot 6 blk. 13 Britt $1,000.00

Edward Hauptman wf. to Wm. Gelner and wife, W. D. date 3-3-24, NW¼ SE¼ 8-96-23 .... $4,000.00

Gertie C. Martin to H. R. Kluver, W. D. date 2-28-24, SE¼ 36-97-25 ..... $9,600.00

Lars Olson to Frank Lewis, W. D. date 10-31-23, lots 17-18-19 blk 2, Hansen & Severins add to Kanawha $650.00

Frank Lewis to Lars Olson, W. D. date 10-31-23, lots 7-8-9 blk 2, Hanson & Severins add to Kanawha.... ..... $3,000.00

Farmers State Bank, New London, Ia., to Christ Norland, W. D. date 2-23-24 E½ SE¼ 19-97-23.. ..... $11,600.00

Chas. Buns wf to Henry Freerks, W. D. date 2-6-24, lots 11-12-13-14 Way's Sub. Div. to Woden ..$475.00

W. J. Madole wf to Henry Freerks W. D. date 2-29-24, lots 17-18-19 Way's Sub. Div. jn NE¼ 9-97-26.. ..... $1,800.00

Clarence C. Bowers wf to Paul E. Gast, W. D. date 3-3-24 W½ NW¼ 25-96-23 ..... $1.00

Paul E. Gast wf to Lewis F. Formanek W. D. date 3-1-24, S½ SE¼ 8-96-24 ..... $12,800.00

Dora A. Kutzner hus. to J. L. Tompkins, W. D. date 3-1-24, SW¼ NE¼ & N. 30 a of NW¼ NE¼ SE¼ 24-97-23 ..... $8,000.00

Fred L. Voltz wf. to Chas. Engstler, W. D. date 3-6-23, SW¼ 7 & W½ NW¼ 18-96-23 ..... $1.00

New Cases In District Court

First National Bank, Garner, vs. Geo. Newman, et al. Plaintiff asks judgment on notes for $2,664.89.

Hutchins Community Store vs E. E. Smith. Plaintjff asks judgment for $599.01.

Minneapolis Bedding Company vs. C. J. Lewis. Plff, asks judgment on account for $265.16.

C. W. Travelute vs. Joe J. Schumacher. Plff. asks judgment for $14. 583.89 and foreclosure of mortgage on E½ of W½ 31-97-24.

Commercial State Bank, Britt, vs. C. C. Wiltse. Plff. asks judgment for $310.67 on note.

Peoples State Bank, Corwith, vs. H. N. Albeck, et al. Action to quiet title to part lots 1-2-3-4 blk. 4. Corwith.

Farmers State Bank, Kanawha, vs. F. C. Paine. Plff. asks judgment for $987.67 on notes and account.

Patterson Dental Supply Co. vs. C. Stull. Plff. asks judgment on notes for $205.68.

A. Kelly vs. Jas. O. Ostby, et al. Plff. asks judgment for $2,080.00 and foreclosure of mtg. on tols 1-2-3-4 blk 4 Miller.

F. A. Steinhoff vs. J. H. Johnson, et al. Plff asks judgment for $363.20 and foreclosue of chat. mortgage.

Britt Motor Co. vs. Tom O'Rourke. Plff. asks judgment on notes etc for $1226.75 and foreclosure of chat mtg.

Mrs. John Klein vs. John Klein. Plff. asks that she be divorced from defendant.

Peoples State Bank, Corwith, vs. Archie O. Haines, et al. Plff. asks judgment on note for $1,055.52.

A. M. Morse vs. Benjamin Morse, et al. Plff. asks judgment on note for $5,350.00.

Application for transfer of funds of the Independent School District of Garner from General fund to Special School House fund.

Farmers State Bank, Kanawha, vs. Geo. Wagner. Plff. asks judgment on note for $463.62.

Amana Society vs. W. F. Pavey, Plff. asks judgment on account for $387.17.

Citizens State Bank, Rice Lake, Wis. vs. A. A. Depping. Plff. asks judgment on notes for $6,792.01.

C. C. Wells vs. Farmers National Bank, Crystal Lake. Plff. asks judgment for $316.76 for labor performed.

Senneff, Bliss, Witwer & Senneff vs H. C. Schleusner, et al. Plff. asks judgment for $118.30 for legal services.

Lindsay Bros. vs. Jensen Brothers Plff. asks judgment on account for $84.08.

Meyer Brody, et al, vs. E. A. Holt, et al. Plff. asks judgment on note for $765.33.

P. R. Gilligan vs. Martin Cosgriff and wife. Plff. asks judgment n note for $930.64.

Oliver Erickson vs. Thos. Keough et al. Plff. asks judgment for $38, 609.02 and foreclosure of mortgage on SW¼ 26-96-25 and Pt. SE¼ 27-96-25.

G. A. Bemis vs. Carl Jensen. Plff. asks judgment on account for $33.00

Embalmers Supply Co. vs C. J. Lewis. Plff. asks judgment on account for $51.12.

Northwestern Casket Co. vs. C. J. Lewis. Plff. asks judgment on account for $293.80.

Mike Gehan vs C M & St. P Ry Co., Plff. asks judgment for $150.00 on account of killing horse.

First Nat. Bk. Britt vs E. E. Smith, et al, Plff asks judgment for $16,611. 17 & forclosure of mtg. on SW 1-4 34-96-26.

The Boston Store vs Dr. R. S. Fillmore, Plff. asks judgement on account for 52.50.

Mrs. John Meinders vs Alice R. Elling et al, Plff asks judgment for $14, 475.20 and foreclosure of Mtg on NW 1-4 25 96-24.

Langfeldt Candy Co. vs A. S. Beckman, Plff asks judgment on account for $285.02.

Lehman Bakery Co. vs Woden Mercantile Co. Plff asks judgment on account for $102.12.

Reid, Murdoch & Co. vs Woden Mercantile Co. Plff asks judgment on account of $237.05

Thos. Lucast vs Sam Johnson, Plff asks judgment for medical servicces in sum of 137.00.

WILL HAVE DAILY SERVICE ON ROUTE ONE; BEGIN APRIL 1

WHAT'S WRONG AT SCHOOL?

We do not like to criticise the way our schools are being run; but we have heard a number of complaints along a certain line that could be easily remedied.

It seems that whenever a six-weeks test is given that the pupils write the test and then are given a vacation for the balance of the day "so that the teacher can correct the papers without being disturbed." Then the next day the same thing agajn takes place and the pupils are given another vacation.

That perhaps sujts the children, but the taxpayers feel that the local teachers are getting a large enough salary that it wouldn't hurt them a bit if they had to do a little work after school or at night correcting papers and keep the schools running instead of having a couple of days vacation every few weeks.

The remedy would be to keep the school running and let the teachers correct the papers outside of school hours—it wouldn't hurt them any.

Some seem to thjnk the teachers should remain at the school house a little later in the afternoon so that they could give more help to pupils that are backward in their studies.

The school teacher puts in only 6 hours a day actual work in the school room and an extra hour after school would still make a sho t day for her and may mean better grades for a backward pupil who could receive more help jf the teacher would put in a little more time.

We are not criticising our school We have a good school; we have a good teaching staff and most of the pupils are making good grades, but if there is room for improvement lets have jt.

You have an outsiders view of the situation, and if this is not correct we want the teacher to present her side of the story in these columns which are open for public discussion jn matters of general interest.

DAILY ROUTE SERVICE TO BEGIN APRIL 1st.

Carrjer Gets A Boost In Salary With New Schedule

The unexpected came like a bolt of lightning from a clear sky, and for once the wheels of postal government at Washington turned speedily.

Since the rural route was established in Klemme last November, it was put on for only three deliveries a week, and it was thought that it would be a long time before dajly rural delivery would be established here.

But at last the Department has authorized daily service as the following letter will show:

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT
Fourth Assistant Postmaster Gener'l
Washington

Division of Rural Mails.
The Postmaster, Mar. 6, '24.
Klemme, Iowa.

My dear Sjr:

An order is hereby issued authorizing the increase in frequency on rural route No. 1 from your office to daily except Sunday instead of triweekly, effective April 1, 1924.

Effective the same date the salary of Carrier Sumner Trumbell should be stated as $1860 jnstead of $1038 per annum. The length of the route is 26 miles.

Respectfully yours,
H. H. BILLAINY,
Fourth Assistant Postmaster Gen.

This is good news to all patrons on route No. 1. If they are going to have rural route service they should have daily service.

Daily service should have been established when the route was authorized as the pounds of mail carrjed was sufficient, and more, to warrant daily service according to the Post Office Department requirements for daily delivery.

With the new order for daily delivery the jncrease in salary for Mr. Trumbell, gives him a good thing.

GOT MUCH SILAGE LEFT?

Here's Easy Way to Calculate Tons of Silage in Silo

Figuring the tons of silage contajned in any silo would be an easy problem for an eighth grade pupil if silos contained nothing more than air or water, or rocks or sand. But silage volumnes are not as easy to compute because of the varying density between the top and bottom layers. Theh igher thes ilo, the greater thep ressure on the bottom layers, which means more pounds per sq. foot at the bottom of the silo. Other factors, such as time of filling and condition of thec orn cause variation in weight. The agricultural engineers at Iowa State College use a table of data which they have worked out and find it handy for computing the number of tons of silage in silos.

The following table shows the average weight at various depths of a cubic foot of silage; the first figure indicating feet and the second pounds: 10-26; 12-27; 14-28; 16-30½; 18-32; 20-33½; 22-34 5-8; 24-36; 26-37¼; 28- 38 1-3; 30 39⅝; 32-40 5-8; 34-41⅜; 36-42 3-4; 36-42 3-4; 38-44; 40 45; 42-46; 44-47; 46-48; 50-50; 60 54.

If a 12 by 40 silo contajned 36 feet of silage after being allowed to settle the exact number of tons here in the silo is wanted, the area would first be figured by multiplying half the diameter multiplyed by itself times 3.1416. So 6x6x3.1416 equals 113.1 square feet. The total amount of silage was 113.1x36 or 4071.6 cubic feet. The amount fed off was 113.1x16 of 1809.6 cubic feet.

From the table, the average of 36 feet of silage is 42 34 pounds for each cubic foot, or a total of 4071.6 x42 3-4 or 174,000 pounds. The amount fed off, however averaged only 30 1-2 pounds to ac ubic foot— as the table shows. Inother words, 1809.6x 30 1-2 equals 53, 175 pound fed out. The difference is 118.825 pounds remaining or approximately 59 tons.

HOUSE PASSES TAX MEASURE

Rate on Small Incomes Is Reduced From 4 to 2 Per Cent.

Washington.—With Republican regulars and Republican insurgents standing shoulder to shoulder, the Democrats were routed and the Republicans compromise income tax reduction bill was passed by the house. Then the Democrats swung into line and helped put through the Republican compromise, the vote on final passage being 408 ayes and 8 noes.

Under the terms of the bill as passed the normal tax will be 2 per cent on net income up to $4,000, 5 per cent on the next $4,000, 6 per cent on the remainder. Surtaxes begin at 1½ per cent on income between $10,000 and $12,000, and run to a maximum of 37½ per cent on income above $200,000.

A 25 per cent reduction is provided on wages, salaries, and other earned income, up to an amount of $20,000. All incomes under $5,000 are to be regarded as "earned incomes."

Taxpayers are also allowed to deduct 25 per cent of the tax they are to pay this year on income received in 1923. The bill now goes to the senate.

The eight members who voted to the last against the compromise bill included seven Republicans who are supporters of the Mellon plan—Representatives Tilson, Merrit, and Fenn of Connecticut, Bachrach of New Jersey, Mills and Wainwright of New York, and McFadden of Pennsylvania—and one Democrat, Representative Howard of Nebraska, who has opposed any reduction of surtaxes.

Congress Bribe Trail Bared by Grand Jury

Chicago.—A new political hornet's nest was uncovered in the report of the special federal grand jury before which Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty appeared. Two members of congress are accused of having accepted money. No names are given and the nature of the bribe is not disclosed. One or more "officials of the government" are accused of having used official information for purposes of speculation. Other unnamed individuals, presumably prominent in Washington, are accused of having accepted money to obtain clemency for prisoners, and of having paid money for permits for intoxicating liquor. The main purpose of the grand jury's work is reflected in four indictments which were returned in the United States veterans' bureau case. Col. Charles R. Forbes, former director of the bureau, and Col. John W. Thompson, millionaire contractor of St. Louis and Chicago, are the only two persons indicted.

French Chamber Stops Work for Battle Royal

Paris.—A free-for-all fist fight amidst a wild uproar marked the lengthy debate on internal affairs in the chamber of deputies. Former Premier Painleve was attempting to speak under a barrage of violent interruptions when Deputy Magne, a royalist, shouted a red hot insult. M. Painleve dropped his papers, leaped from his seat, and charged toward the royalist benches, followed by Deputies Poittevin, Masson and other friends. Many blows were exchanged, one deputy taking the count, but most of the fists hit the air. Finally the chamber was adjourned to allow the fighters to cool off. The meeting was resumed in twenty minutes.

Rebels Fire on U. S. Consulate at Cieba

Washington.—The American consulate at Ceiba, Honduras, has been fired on by revolutionists, and a detachment of thirty-six marines from the cruiser Denver has been landed, to act as a consulate guard. The Denver, commanded by Rear Admiral Dayton, has been held at Ceiba for several weeks. State department officials believe her personnel will be sufficient to protect American life and property, and it was not intended to send other ships to aid her.

Saxon Reds Pelt Premier With Inkpots and Books

Dresden.—Violence broke out in the Saxon diet when the Communists, amid much excitement and shouting, bombarded the prime minister with ink bottles, books and canes. It was necessary to adjourn the session for two hours. Two Communists were expelled by force. As they were being led from the chamber the Communists turned and shouted at the prime minister: "You are drunk."

Investigate Rail Ticket Plot

Cleveland, O.—Authorities are investigating what is claimed to be a conspiracy in the printing and sale of counterfeit tickets for the Long Island railroad. Charles Quinn is being held by Cleveland police.

Bad Conditions in England

London.—Both finance and industry in England are unsettled, according to the February summary of British trade issued by the London office of the American Chamber of Commerce.

WILLIAM PHILLIPS

William Phillips, undersecretary of state, has been nominated by President Coolidge to be ambassador to Belgium.

U. S. SENATORS ASK FAVORS FOR ALIENS

Many Poles and Jews Pay for Passage to America.

Warsaw.—Sixty thousand Poles and Jews have registered at the American consulate in Warsaw and are now awaiting their turn for American vises. Under the American 3 per cent law this fills Poland's quota for the next two years. If Poland's quota is reduced 50 per cent by the new Johnson bill, enough immigrants have registered to fill the quotas for the next four years.

During the last few months seven out of every ten letters received at the consulate have been from senators and congressmen pleading that special favors be shown certain Jewish immigrants—and occasionally one asking special consideration for a Pole.

The letters, which are being typed by hundreds of officers and legislators in Washington, are the result of powerful political pressure upon the writers by the Hebrew Immigrant Aid society known as the "Hias." This society maintains a large lobby in Washington under the direction of Isadore Hershfield, an immigration lawyer and the former president of the organization. American officials allege that Hershfield is receiving $30,000 a year for the direction of this work.

Another powerful group maintaining a huge lobby in Washington in order to defeat the Johnson bill is the steamship lines. Eight of the largest trans-Atlantic lines stand to lose millions of dollars annually if congress halts the flood of immigrants.

It is conservatively estimated by American immigration authorities in the Baltic states that these companies have collected approximately 300,000 prepaid passages from American relatives of would-be immigrants. The passage money resting in the coffers of the companies totals more than $40,000,000.

Jugo-Slavs Move Big Force for a Bulgaria Coup

Vienna.—Jugo-Slavia's declaration of war against Bulgaria seems imminent. In spite of a heavy snow a huge number of Jugo-Slav troops are being moved up to the Bulgarian frontier, particularly opposite the Pernik coal fields. Jugo-Slavia is waiting only for another Macedonian raid as an excuse for an invasion. Troops also are being concentrated opposite northern Albania, where Jugo-Slavia alleges the Macedonian raiders also have bases, and Scutari will likely be occupied.

Russ Soviet Government Closes Ports to Bulgars

Moscow.—The Russian soviet government has sent a circular note to all the naval powers, including the United States, warning them that no ships clearing from or calling at Bulgarian seaports will be permitted to enter Russian ports on the Black sea.

Just Say Spigot-Bigot

Cambridge, Mass.—The best terms for a prohibition law advocate is "spigot-bigot," the Harvard Advocate, a monthly college publication, decided in awarding its proffered $25 prize. The recipient was Miss Katherine Greene Welling of New York city.

Wilson Day to Be Holiday

Columbia, S. C.—A bill has been passed by both houses of the legislature setting aside December 28, Wilson's birthday, as an annual holiday. The bill has been sent to Governor McLeod for signature.

Reds Exile Enemies

Berlin.—One hundred and two persons, doctors, engineers, and business men, and many communists who have deserted the party, left Moscow bound for exile in Siberia.

FRIENDLY ALIEN SEEKS $468,632

Otto Heins Tells of Signing Away $16,000,000 During the War.

Washington.—Otto Heins, friendly alien and stormy petrel of the Bosch Magneto controversy, which is due to come to a head in New York courts next April, signed away $16,000,000 worth of property as the price of his liberty during the war, according to his testimony in the District of Columbia Supreme court, where he seeks to recover $468,632 in cash from the alien property custodian.

This money, according to Heins, was his own personal property and was in no way connected with Robert Bosch, an alien enemy, or the Bosch Magneto company of Springfield, Mass.

Heins contends that he was not declared an alien enemy, that he was never interned and that the seizure of his money was unlawful. The government contends that on April 16, 1918, Heins walked into the office of Francis P. Garvan, chief of the bureau of investigation of the office of the alien property custodian in New York and, without ever having been asked to surrender any property, turned over the money as belonging to Robert Bosch of Stuttgart, Germany.

Heins told an altogether different story on the witness stand. He said that he was threatened with internment at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and with a prison sentence of ten years if he failed to turn over the money or the Bosch Magneto works, which were valued by the owners at $16,000,000.

Mr. Garvan, who is said to have suspected that Heins had sent the cash to Bosch in Germany, was charged with having said, in effect, to Heins, "we are going to get your property, anyway. If we intern you all your property will fall to the government anyhow."

Referring to Garvan, Heins testified: "They took my check book out of my valise, wrote out the check on the Harriman National bank for $468,632 and told me to sign it. I did as I was told to and signed the check. I did not want to be separated from my family or be interned or sent to prison."

Lewis Closes Loan to Mexico for $28,000,000

Mexico City.—With the revolution broken and the position of the federal government re-established, President Obregon has arranged to obtain a loan of $28,000,000 for Mexico. The president signed a decree putting into operation five contracts with American capitalists, as a result of which the loan will be granted. James Hamilton Lewis of Chicago, former United States senator, who participated in the negotiations, was present when the decree was signed at the national palace.

$1,000,000 Whisky Theft Is Revealed at Chicago

Chicago.—Eight thousand cases of bonded whisky of prewar manufacture, valued at nearly $1,000,000, have vanished from the government concentration depot here, it has been revealed. Exposure of the gigantic theft developed circumstances which presage the running down of the greatest "hijacking" plot since the advent of national prohibition.

$13,853,989 Navy Asked to Fight Sea Rum Piracy

Washington.—Admission by Rear Admiral F. C. Billard, commandant of the American coast guard service that "the dignity of the United States is openly flouted" by rum running liquor smugglers, who make "open, organized warfare," induced the house appropriations committee to report a deficiency appropriation bill for $13,853,989 to carry out President Coolidge's recommendation that the coast guard be made adequate to curb the smugglers.

All Woman Over 21 in England May Get Ballot

London.—The house of commons celebrated leap year day by passing the second reading of a bill to extend the franchise to all women over twenty-one years of age, by a vote of 288 to 72. At present only women over thirty vote in England, and the proposed law would add about 5,000,000 to the total number of electors 26,000,000, with women in a slight preponderance.

Millions Face Famine

Moscow.—A new famine is threatening in the central Volga region, according to Professor Tulaikov, leading agriculturist. The peasant populations are trying to buy grain stores from the cities, paying high prices. More than 10,000,000 persons are affected.

Revenue Collections Grow

Washington.—Collections of the bureau of internal revenue in the seven months ended January 31 amounted to $1,461,646,165, an increase of $183,879,496 over the corresponding period which ended January 31, 1923.

Seek Yank Cemetery

Paris.—The Lafayette Escadrille Memorial association started negotiations with the French forest service for a common cemetery for sixty American fliers killed in the war.

BURTON L. FRENCH

Representative Burton L. French of Idaho, chairman of the house sub-committee on naval appropriations, who has been mentioned as a strong possibility as secretary of the navy to succeed Edwin Denby. Mr. French has served nine terms in congress.

U. S. GOVERNMENT MARKET REPORT

Washington.—For the week ending Feb. 29.—HAY—No. 1 timothy, $23.50 Cincinnati, $26.00 Chicago, $24.50 St. Louis; No. 2 timothy, $22.00 Chicago; No. 1 alfalfa, $28.00 Chicago; No. 1 prairie, $19.00 Chicago, $19.50 St. Louis.

GRAIN—No. 1 dark northern spring wheat, $1.16@1.30 Minneapolis; No. 2 hard winter wheat, $1.13@1.13½ Chicago, $1.10@1.12 St. Louis; No. 2 red winter wheat, $1.17@1.18 St. Louis, $1.11½ Chicago; No. 2 yellow corn, 82½c Chicago, 74¾@75¼c Minneapolis; No. 3 yellow corn, 77½@78c St. Louis; No. 3 white oats, 48@49c Chicago, 45c Minneapolis, 49¼@49½c St. Louis.

LIVE STOCK—Chicago prices: Hogs, $7.20 for the top and $6.85@7.15 for the bulk Medium and good beef steers, $7.75@11.15; butcher cows and heifers, $3.75@10.50; feeder steers, $5.00@8.50; light and medium weight veal calves, $9.00@12.25. Fat lambs, $14.25@16.50; feeding lambs, $13.75@15.15; yearlings, $11.50@14.50; fat ewes, $6.75@10.25.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Northern sacked round white potatoes, $1.15@1.30 in Chicago, 95c@$1.10 at shipping points. Apples, northwestern extra fancy winesaps, $2.00@2.50 per box leading markets. Northern stock cabbage, $37.00@40.00 in Chicago. Yellow onions, $2.25@2.50 sacked per 100 lbs. consuming centers. Texas spinach, $1.50@1.75 per bushel basket leading markets, $1.00 at shipping points. Florida golden self-blanching celery, $2.25@2.50 per crate of 3 to 6-dozen stalks, $1.50@1.60 f. o. b.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, 49½c Chicago. Cheese prices at Wisconsin primary markets: Twins, 20c; single daisies, 21c; double daisies, 20¾c; longhorns, 20¾c; square prints, 21½c.

Asks Report on Dividends Paid to Stockholders

Washington.—All domestic corporations not specifically exempted from taxation are ordered to file returns showing the amounts of payments of dividends and distributions to stockholders who are indivdiuals, fiduciaries or partnerships, according to a ruling made by the Treasury department. The decision calls for the filing of the returns not later than March 15.

Two Students Found Dead at Pottstown University

Pottstown, Pa. — Thomas Shenton and James Warmkessel, students at the Wharton school of finance, University of Pennsylvania, were found shot dead in Shenton's room at the Y. M. C. A. here. A note indicated a suicide pact, but the position of the bodies caused the police to investigate.

Banker Is Indicted With Gov. McCray on 18 Counts

Indianapolis.—Amos D. Morris, former cashier of the Discount and Deposit bank of Kentland, has been named jointly with Governor McCray in an indictment charging violation of the national banking laws in 18 counts. Morris is named as principal and Governor McCray only as an abettor in most of the counts.

Scorn 18th Amendment, Jurors Cause Dismissals

Los Angeles, Cal.—Three cases involving violation of the prohibition law were dismissed in federal court here by Judge Paul J. McCormick with the anouncement that the attitude of jurymen toward the eighteenth amendment made it a "useless waste of time" for the court to proceed.

Manila Auditor Stops Filipino Leader's Funds

Manila.—The action of Ben F. Wright, insular auditor, in refusing to approve expenses incurred by the Philippine independence commission proved a bombshell to independence advocates and is expected to have far-reaching consequences to separatist propaganda in the United States.

Seek to Kill Volstead Act

Washington.—Forty members of the house joined in an announcement that they each will introduce a bill to legalize the manufacture and sale of beverages with an alcoholic content of 2.75 per cent by volume.

Premier Refuses New Offer

Brussels.—Premier Theunis refused an offer by King Albert to reorganize his cabinet, which resigned, following an adverse vote on its Franco-Belgian economic convention.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

At Sully, the woodpeckers pecked holes in the water tank and let the water supply out. However, they didn't "bore from within." Say that for them.

The farm sale of Arthur Peck, near Shenandoah despite a bad day and icy roads, totaled $15,000, an exceptionally large amount for a public sale of stock and implements.

Tax propositions, for a special levy for band concerts during the summer, and support of a public library, will be put up to voters at the town election in Keosauqua this spring.

Members of the Marshall County Wool Growers association saved from 8 to 10 cents a pound by marketing their wool through the association. They pooled 28,000 pounds of wool.

Ninety-nine girls were enrolled in clothing clubs in Webster county last year, according to a report made recently by Miss Elizabeth Storm, former county home demonstration agent.

J. A. Cutting, mayor of Cresco, has been honored in Odd Fellowship by being appointed department commander of the Patriarchs Militant, in the rank of major general, for a three year term.

Business men of Menlo are planning a new bank to take the place of the defunct Menlo State bank. Bankers of Des Moines are conferring with citizens on the plan. The town has no bank now.

Secretary R. A. Cassady, of the state department of agriculture, believes that the business of agriculture is being injured by the publication of articles which do not reflect the true condition of affairs on the farms.

The University of Iowa had a birthday party February 25th. The old institution that has sent 14,440 men and women, mostly Iowans, into the world as physicians, lawyers, teachers, dentists, business men, engineers and countless others.

A plan has been agreed upon for the consideration of the Washington National and Farmers and Merchants State banks of Washington. The new bank will operate under the charter of the Washington National and the combined capital stock will be $200,000.

The number of milk cows in Iowa has increased 4 per cent in each of the last two years. The number on farms on January 1st this year is 1,206,000 against 1,160,000 a year ago and 1,115,000 for January 1, 1922. An increase of 1 per cent is reported for the United States.

Limestone for Iowa farmers will be more in demand this year than ever before, is the opinion of H. W. Warner, soils extension specialist of the soils department at Iowa State College, who has but recently made a mail survey of the 19 stone quarries manufacturing limestone fertilizer in Iowa.

The Minerva Valley Cooperative Creamery association of Clemons did a gross business of $151,541.58 during 1923. This was an increase of 23 per cent over 1922 business. In addition the hog business of the association amounted to $7,810.37, the egg business totaled $3,074.07. The association collected 852,376 pounds of cream and sold 327,734 pounds of butter.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, apostle of world-wide women's suffrage, announces she's ready to retire. She has won her fight. Nearly twoscore countries have accepted her creed. She has earned the title, "citizen of the world." This former girl superintendent of schools and wife of a weekly newspaper editor in a little Iowa town has carried her gospel to practically every corner of the universe.

The production of hogs in the state reached the peak some months ago and on January 1st had declined 5 per cent from the high point of 1923, the report said. Milk cows increased 4 per cent in number in 1923, the same proportionate increase as in 1922; sheep increased 12 per cent; the number of feeder cattle was the same as the year before, and the number of horses showed the same gradual decrease which has manifested itself for seven or eight years.

The Howard County Cow Testing association has got by its first quarter with gratifying results. In November 270 cows were tested. They averaged 626 pounds of milk and 22.6 pounds of butter fat. For December the 194 cows tested averaged 677 pounds of milk and 22.5 pounds of fat. In January the average for 315 cows was 752 pounds of milk and 27.5 pounds of fat. Of this number 7 cows produced 50 pounds of butter fat or over and 45 cows over 40 pounds.

A $100,000 student center, to house the activities of the Presbyterian students at Iowa university will be erected at the edge of the campus, according to an announcement made a few days ago.

Impetus has been given to dairy development by the offer of the Illinois Central, the first offer of the kind to have been made by that system in Iowa, to buy and loan to the farmers of Cherokee county for their free use, a purebred Holstein bull provided the business men of Cherokee will buy and loan to the farmers for their free use, another purebred Holstein bull.

GIRLS! A GLEAMY MASS OF BEAUTIFUL HA

35-Cent "Danderine" So Improves L... less, Neglected Hair.

An abundance of luxuriant hair full of gloss, gleams and life shortly follows a genuine toning up of neglected scalps with dependable "Danderine."

Falling hair, itching scalp and the dandruff is rected immediately. Thin, dry, w or fading hair is quickly invigora taking on new strength, color youthful beauty. "Danderine" is lightful on the hair; a refresh stimulating tonic—not sticky or gre Any drug store.—Advertisement.

Who Was Calypso?

In Homer's Odyssey the name that of a nymph that dwelt on Island of Ogygia, on which U was shipwrecked in his wander after the Trojan war. Calypso ceived him with kindness, and off to marry him, promising immort and eternal youth if he would con Ulysses refused and Calypso, after taining him for seven years, was manded by the gods to release This she did, and taught him ho build a raft, on which he left th land and continued his journey.

WOMEN! DON'T BE IMPOSED UP

Warning! Not All Package D... Are "Diamond Dyes."

Diamond Dyes

Always ask for "Diamond Dyes" if you don't see the name "Diam... Dyes" on the package—refuse it—b... it back!

Each 15-cent package of "Diam... Dyes" contains directions so simple woman can dye or tint skirts, dres... waists, sweaters, stockings, kimo... coats, draperies, coverings—everyt... new, even if she has never dyed be... Choose any color at drug store. Re... substitutes!

Good Intentions

Some boys were playing footbal... a lady drove by in a high-powered... The ball fell in the road and she c... fully drove around it, so as to n... running over it, slowing down as... did so. This gave one of the pla... time to doff his cap and say with... miration in his voice: "Lady, yo... a gentleman!"

When a woman stops crying... trouble and begins to think it's a... sign that she is getting along in ye...

STOP THAT BAKE-DAY Waste!

That's what Millions of women have done with CALUMET

The Economy BAKING POWDER

Being uniform and dependable it never spoils any of the ingredients used on bakeday

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

BEST BY TEST

Sales 2½ times as much as that of any other brand

BEFORE BABIES WERE BORN

Mrs. Oswald Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Girardville, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my last two babies came. It keeps me in perfect health and I am on my feet getting meals and doing all my housework until an hour before the baby is born. A friend told me to take it and I have used ten bottles since I heard about it. I recommend the Vegetable Compound whenever I can. Just yesterday a friend was telling me how miserable she felt, and I said, 'If you start taking Lydia E. Pinkham's you will feel fine.' Now she is taking it."—Mrs. P. J. OSWALD, JR., 406 W. Ogden St., Girardville, Pa.

Mrs. Nicola Paluzzi Says

Mishawaka, Indiana.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness before my babies were born. I was weak and tired out all the time and it helped me. When I had inward inflammation the doctor treated me, but it did not help me, so I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and it helped me right away. I will always have your medicines."—Mrs. NICOLA PALUZZI, 415 E. Broadway, Mishawaka, Indiana.

Poker Returns

"When my husband plays poker he always brings me $10."

"Does he always win?"

"I don't know about that. But he always brings me $10."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

MOTHER!

Child's Best Laxative is "California Fig Syrup"

Tongue Shows if Bilious, Constipated

Hurry Mother! Even a fretful, peevish child loves the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Men are apt to prefer a prosperous error to an afflicted truth.

CORNS

Lift Off—No Pain!

Doesn't hurt one bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the foot calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Housewives and Schoolboys average $1 an hour using Dr. Nardine's Remedy. So can you. Nardine Medical Co., Inc., Johnson City, N. Y.

THE RED LOCK

SYNOPSIS.—On the banks of the Wabash stand Texie Colin and Jack Warhope, young and very much in love. Texie is the only daughter of old Pap Simon, rich man and money-lender. Jack is the orphan bound boy of Pap Simon, who had foreclosed a mortgage on the Warhope estate. At first Texie and Jack talk sadly of Ken Colin, the girl's missing brother. Then Jack says that in ten days his servitude will be over, that he will ride out into the big world to seek his fortune. Both know what that will mean to them. Texie and Jack talk of the red lock of "Red Colin," inherited by Ken. And Jack says he's coming back as soon as he finds gold in California. Then arrives the new preacher, Rev. Caleb Hopkins. Pap Simon introduces the villagers to the new preacher, who was a college mate of Ken.

CHAPTER III—Continued.

—4—

"Really, Miss—Colin, there is very little to tell. Your brother was the—ah—most puzzling psychological problem that I ever tried to solve. He could have been one of the most brilliant scholars the institution ever turned out. He literally drank up everything the college had to give, and that without apparent effort—as the desert drinks the dew. His penmanship; his drawing; his command of English—very remarkable. I was his roommate and classmate, and yet I never saw him apply himself seriously to study. I don't think he did. And that was probably his limitation—learning came too easy to him. It can, you know."

He stopped, as if he had no more to say; stared at his napkin and folded it with careful precision.

"The president's letter said that—that—?"

The girl seemed unable to finish the question, but the preacher guessed what she wanted to know. He again fumbled his napkin, unfolded it, and looked around the table. It was an embarrassing moment.

"With all due respect to you, his family"—he glanced at Mrs. Curry and the woodsman—"and friends, though I would rather not speak of it at all, and should not do so, only that it is my duty as your minister to tell you the truth—Kenwood Colin was a very severe trial to the college authorities. His talent for learning was equaled only by his talent for mischief. Yet, wild as he was known to be, nobody thought that he would ever have forged his father's name. He was deeply in debt before his very clever forgeries were even suspected, much less detected.

"Then came his sensational killing of a gambler over a card game, and his subsequent escape somewhere into the great underworld of the city. Since that, nothing more seems to have been heard of him."

There was a moment's silence. The girl leaned forward; her lips apart; her eyes wide.

"Pore Ken—!" she said softly. "He couldn't he'p bein' what 'e was. It was the—red lock."

The preacher raised his spectacled eyes up from his plate and stared at the girl curiously.

"Red lock—?"

"Didn't you know 'e had it?"

The preacher looked his bewilderment.

"Then please, please, don't mention that you know it! Please, don't ever! I 'lowed you knowed, bein' his roommate, or I wouldn't 'a' told. He was that 'shamed 'e had it, and alw'ys kep' it combed under so's it didn't show,"

The banker had been staring at the tablecloth. He lifted his face.

"The 'curse of Colin,'" he commented thoughtfully. "He was a sea pirate in the days of Queen Elizabeth. 'Red Colin,' they called 'im. Looks like his blood would 'a' run out b' this time, but it hain't. Every three 'r four generations it shows up, gener'ly one child in a family with a lock o' hair as red as fire. Nobody would think a lock o' hair and a drop o' blood could set a child back hundreds o' generations t' what ol' 'Red Colin' must 'a' be'n, but it does.

"The minute I saw that red lock on Ken, I knowed 'e was doomed. I've licked 'im and reasoned with 'im and prayed over 'im—but I knowed all the time it wouldn't do no good. That's the main reason I sent 'im off t' the kind of a college I did—where ther' ain't nobody much but preachers a-runnin' it. He didn't like t' go t' that kind, but I hoped bein' throwed amongst men like that might head off what I knowed was in 'im."

The preacher leaned back in his chair; dropped his hands in his lap.

"Permit me to say," he observed in his jerky fashion, "that was as grave a mistake as you could possibly have made."

"Mebbe so," the old man answered. "But the devil 'imself couldn't 'a' coped with that boy."

The old man beat the tines of his fork on the table; gazed absently at a candle, reached over and snuffed it."

"Ain't it strange," he went on, "how the past fangs the present—the past with its sins and blunders and imperfections? Now there's Texie, cradled in the same arms and nursed at the same breast, and she's as different f'om Ken as sunshine is different f'om the wo'st storm that ever wrecked the woods."

The preacher put his napkin by. "Heredity plays many a queer trick," he said in a tone of finality.

In the silence that followed the old banker took the bunch of still unopened letters from his pocket, laid it on the table and began to sort them. The preacher looked around the room and, noticing the night at the windows, rose.

"If you will please excuse me, you remember I promised to run over to the parsonage for a few minutes, and Mrs. Mason probably retires early."

The others rose and gathered about him in polite protest, but the preacher insisted. Mrs. Curry picked up a candle and led the way into the sitting-room, while Texie brought his tall hat from a rack in the corner. He stood gazing about, peering through the open door to the right into the room where the banker kept his safe and papers; into the bedroom at the left where the old man slept; past the fireplace and through the open door to the parlor, as if impressed — possibly amused—by the novelty of a Flatwoods home.

His eyes, searching the walls, came at last to the portrait of a woman, framed in gilt and hung above the fireplace.

The girl followed his gaze.

"My mother," she said softly. "Seven years ago she left us; the very year—Ken went off t' college."

"She had a serene face," said the preacher as he turned away. The banker crossed the floor, picked up a key from the mantel and unlocked the door leading from the porch to the parlor.

At the Spring the Preacher Suddenly Grasped the Girl's Hand in His Own.

"I 'lowed I'd better show y'u where y'ur room is b'fore y'u go, so's y'u'll know how t' git in if we're in bed when y'u come back. We Flatwoods folks turn in purty early."

He took the candle that Mrs. Curry was carrying and led the preacher in across the parlor to the spare bedroom opening from it on the east, where the two satchels and umbrella had already been carried.

"I 'low this might be called a preacher's room, purt' nigh. Ain't nothin' but preachers slep' in it hardly sence it was built."

The old man chuckled as he led the way back to the porch, closed the parlor door, locked it and handed the key to the preacher. The latter stopped a moment on the step and fumbled his tall hat.

"Miss—Colin, won't you please accompany me as far as, your—ah—Whispering spring and show me how to get a drink?"

The darkness hid the flush of color that played up into the girl's face. She glanced at the woodsman; turned to the preacher and followed him down the steps.

The big woodsman stood looking after them, stirred by an unfamiliar emotion to see Texie walk away into the dark with another man.

At the spring the preacher suddenly grasped the girl's hand in both his own and held it with the same fervid eagerness he had shown that evening in front of the post office. She suffered her hand to remain slightly longer than it had before, then she gently withdrew it.

"Miss—Texie—you will grant me the privilege of calling you by your first name, will you not?"

She did not answer.

"Your—brother, my—roommate, was very enthusiastic about his pretty sister. But even he did not do you justice. You are—"

He stopped abruptly, stared past her into the night, as if groping for words to clothe a thought unusual with him. The look of a tired student came slowly back to his face, and his shoulders dropped as if weary with bearing the burdens of others. Mumbling a further word or two, he turned from her, crossed the foot-log with mincing step, and passed on through the orchard toward the parsonage.

The girl walked back up the path and sat down on the porch step.

Words were never too plenty with the woodsman, even in his most fluent moments. He leaned against a post and looked down at her. She seemed busy with her thoughts. The silence was so deep that the clink of the dishes, as Mrs. Curry put them away, and the crinkle of the old banker's letters, as he sat reading them at the head of the dining-room table, carried to them out on the porch.

The man roused himself from the spell of the silence; stepped off the porch and sat down by the girl's side.

"What d' y'u think of him?" she asked.

It was characteristic of the woodsman that he should answer by another question.

"What d' you?"

The girl laughed—a contented little laugh like the lilt of the happy water at the bridge.

"Oh, I think he's—"

There came a groan from the dining-room, and the sound of a heavy fall. They sprang up and dashed into the house, just as Mrs. Curry ran in from the kitchen. The money-lender lay sprawled on the floor, in one hand an open letter, in the other an empty envelope.

The girl darted across the room and bent above the shrunken figure.

"Jack—! Jack—!"

"Texie, no, don't be flustered. It's just another one o' them faintin' spells. He'll be all right in a minute."

He raised the old man in his great arms and laid him on a sofa at the side of the room.

Mrs. Curry had hurried back to the kitchen for cold water and cloths, and Texie was urging Jack to run for the doctor, when the old banker opened his eyes.

"Doctor!"—he panted hard for breath. "Who wants a doctor? It's jist another one o' them fainty spells. Look there—!"

He held up the letter. The girl glanced at it carelessly; then, with a quick exclamation, turned it toward the woodsman. And thus holding it between them they read it slowly, word by word.

"Somewhere in New York,
"May 2, 1849.

"Simon Colin,
"Buckeye, Ind.

"Sir:

"I caught a fellow with a card up his sleeve and called him. He beat me on the draw, and here I am. This girl here says I can't last till the ink's dry, and I'm not doubtin' her. She's always played square with me. I reckon you wouldn't allow her inside of your little old synagogue down there in the Flatwoods, but she'd be the whitest one there—except Sis.

"You've been one h—l of a father to me. I've heard you pray by the yard, and I've heard cussin' that was more religious. You starved mother's life out, and you're starvin' the life out of Sis, but you didn't starve my life out, d—n you. I've got a drop of ol' Red Colin in me—him that brought all this cussed red lock mess into the family. I've had my fling—and that's more than you can say, with all your money that you've wrung out of better men.

"I reckon I've got but a few minutes to live. I'd give half of them to see Sis. But if you'd come in right now I'd try to get up and kick you. I'm dyin' as ol' Red Colin died—with my boots on. I'm expecting to meet him and you both—in h—l—

"KEN CO—"

"P. S.—Mr. Colin is dead. He died before he could quite finish signing his name. You can see the blot where the pen fell. I am respecting his wishes and sending this letter without any street address, or other marks, whereby you might trace him. His confidence I shall never betray. I will only say that he shall have decent burial.

"THE GIRL."

"But ain't he some looker—Barrin' that killin' rig he's hobbled up in?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Strange Mongolian Whisky.

A kind of whisky known as airik is distilled from mare's milk by the natives of Mongolia. This milk, which is thicker than cow's milk, has a sort of sour taste even when fresh. After being allowed to stand for several days it attains the consistency of buttermilk. Then it is put into a huge pot and covered with what looks like a barrel with both ends knocked out. The vessel is suspended in the middle of the barrel, a kettle of cold water is set on the top, and after a few minutes of boiling in this primitive still the milk is changed into pure spirit.

In mineral wealth, according to her area, Mexico is reputed to rank first in the whole world.

Is Your Back Giving Out?

ARE you miserable with an aching back? Do you get up lame and stiff—lag through the day, tired, weak and worn out? Do you wonder why you are so run down? Many times this condition is due to weak kidneys. Winter's colds and chills are hard on the kidneys. The kidneys are apt to slow up in their work of filtering body-poisons from the blood. These poisons accumulate. Then comes backache, with rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and kidney irregularities.

Don't risk serious kidney trouble! Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's have helped thousands. They are recommended by many grateful people. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These Good Folks:

N. Olson, 100 Division St., Clear Lake, Iowa, says: "My back was lame and pained me when I did any lifting or stooping work. Mornings I felt dull and languid and had a soreness in my back. My kidneys acted irregularly, too. I used Doan's Pills and they soon fixed me up in good shape. My back was strong and well."

Mrs. W. Nasheim, 101 Benton St., Clear Lake, Iowa, says: "My back ached and there was no let up to my suffering day or night. When I stooped, pains ran all through my body. My head ached and I was so dizzy I couldn't walk. My kidneys acted too frequently. I used Doan's Pills and they rid me of all the trouble."

Doan's Pills

Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

At all dealers, 60c a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chemists, Buffalo, N. Y.

Not the Last of It

He—"But I thought you'd forgiven me for that and promised to forget it?" She—"Yes—but I didn't promise to let you forget I'd forgiven it!"—Punch.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Aspirin Marked With "Bayer Cross" Has Been Proved Safe by Millions.

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years. Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

Silence may be golden, but a good deal of speech is brazen.

Ladies Let Cuticura Keep Your Skin Fresh and Young

Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c.

The Cat!

Mildred—Mae is certainly a cheerful girl. She has a smile that won't come off.

De Loris—Oh, I don't know, a little soap and water would take it off.

Let 'Company Manners' Reign

It may be odd to let "company manners" reign for two or three hours after the company is gone.

Children Cry for

MOTHER:—Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, prepared for Infants in arms and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

CONSTIPATION

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills—then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. They cleanse your system of all waste matter and Regulate Your Bowels. Mild—as easy to take as sugar. Genuine bear signature— Brent Good

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

SMITH BROTHERS

S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL (orange colored box)

Famous since 1847

Political Announcements

COUNTY RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election to the office of Recorder of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Clarissa Abel. *

I hreeby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock Contuy, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the Primaries to be held in June, 1924.—H. L. Suckow, Klemme, Ia.*

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican Primary to be held in June, 1924.—H. C Meyer. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to a decision of the republican voters at the primary election in June, 1924. I solicit your support on a platform of strict economy, fair and impartial treatment.—Wallace Darrah. *

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1924 Primaries.—A. O. Christensen, Crystal Lake, Iowa.

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary —John Suurballe. (J-10)

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—H. A. Sweigard. *

COUNTY AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of County Auditor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters of the June, 1924 Primary.—J. D. Madison. *

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Verne C. Grau. J-17)

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock County, Iowa, subject to the decision of the republican primaries to be held in June 1924. I solicit the support of all voters, both men and women.—V. S. White.

COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—J. C. Hanson, Garner, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination of Clerk of Courts of Hancock County subject to a decision of the voters at the June 1924 Primaries.—Chris J. Johansen, Britt, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, and solicit your support at the June Primary election, 1924.—F. P. Oleson. F-14

COUNTY SHERIFF

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the republican primaries to be held in June 1924.—Howard Hanson, Crystal Lake. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate on the Republican ticket for Sheriff of Hancock County at the June primaries. Pledging tht same service that I have previously given while in public office.—Peck Hanson.

I hereoy announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock Coutny, subject to the decision of the voters at the primary in June.—W. C. Zeismer.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 Primaries. I solicit the vote of everybody.—C. N. White. Klemme, Iowa. *

FOR STATE SENATOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for State Senator from this 43rd district of Iowa comprising Cerro Gordo, Franklin and Hancock counties, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 primaries. If nominated and elected I agree to abide by the precedent established in this district and will not be a candidate for a second term.—C. F. JOHNSTON. Sheffield, Iowa. Feb. 1st, 1924.

COUNTY REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Representative from the 86th district, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1924, Primaries. —Frank M. Hanson, Garner, Iowa.

Ide Get One

"Give me an Arrow collar" said the customer.

"How narrow?" asked the clerk, politely.

Walking is the most healthful exercise and lots of people would indulge in it if it were more expensive.

The trouble with the dead past is that it won't always bury its dead.

If most of the women who object to rouge and lipsticks would use a little of both their arguments would be more effective—with the men.

Your New Spring Suit

The new suits for Spring are here. Models have changed a bit this season. The loose, easy suit will be generally worn. Because of its comfort and informal effect, its certain to remain in favor. There are many new novel fabrics offered—powder blues, greyes, stripes and plaids.

AS FOR VALUE—every garment represents a sincere worth. For thirty-one years it has been the policy of this store to offer only the best merchandise at the lowest possible prices.

We are showing some mighty fine suits for Spring at $45

Other Suits

$35 to $55

Patton Bros. Co.

Where a dollar does its duty

MASON CITY and Manly, Iowa

WON HIS NAME AT BULL RUN

General Jackson Was Called "Stone wall" by Lee in the First Battle of Manassas.

It was in the first battle of Manassas (Bull Run) that Gen. Thomas Jonathan Jackson won fame and a new name. The ringing words of the gallant Lee, "There stands Jackson like a stone wall," changed the name of "Thomas Jonathan" into the immortal "Stonewall." He was wounded in the hand but refused to leave the field, and when the surgeons were dressing his wounds President Davis of the Confederacy rode on the field and Jackson, pushing aside the surgeons, tossed his cadet cap in the air and exclaimed: "Hurrah for the president. Give me 10,000 men and I will be in Washington tonight."

In October, 1861, Jackson took command of the "Valley district," and entered in the early part of 1862 on that famous "Valley campaign" which is now studied in military academies in Europe as illustrative of able strategy, rapid movements and heroic fighting. He thrilled the Confederacy and sent terror to the North by his laconic and characteristic dispatch of May 9, 1862, to General Cooper. It was: "God blessed our arms with victory at McDowell yesterday."—Detroit News.

Aid to Polish Farmers.

Uncultivated land in Poland is rapidly being taken up by native farmers, as a result of the recent governmental credit of 3,000,000,000 marks, covering agricultural supplies for land colonists. This is in addition to credits formerly granted to settlers in the eastern districts, amounting to 14,000,000,000 marks. The American trade commissioner at Warsaw informs the Department of Commerce that during the past four years, from 1919 to 1922, the minister of agriculture has furnished to Polish farmers 21,307 carloads of seed, 147,000 agricultural implements, including 48 tractors, 64,405 cattle and horses and 4,974,000,000 Polish marks in cash. To this must be added grants to demobilized soldiers of 8,379,000,000 marks. The uncultivated land in Poland in 1919 amounted to 4,646,000 hectares, while for the current year it is estimated that but 370,000 hectares of land remain uncultivated.

Translating Post Office Sign.

Directions and simplicity form the slogan of the modern post office, but at the City Hall station there is one mail "drop" with a sign over it which can be figured out only by deduction and inference. It reads: "Do not put letters or packages at letter rates in this drop."

In other words, the sign means one may mail single newspapers and other matter of that class in this chute. Persons who infrequently stop in the building to mail a newspaper generally walk entirely around the horseshoe corridor looking for the proper drop and then, asking directions from a clerk, find they must walk back to their starting point.—New York Sun and Globe.

Reduction in Spots.

Skinnem had invented a new hair restorer, and had sent a large number of sample bottles out to various well-known people in the hope of securing some testimonials for advertising purposes.

"I don't know whether to publish this testimonial or not," he said to a friend who was calling upon him as he was opening the letters.

"What does it say?" inquired the other.

"Well, it says," said the proud inventer, "Before I used your hair restorer I had three bald patches. Now I have only one."—Minneapolis Tribune.

Reindeer New Meat Supply.

The great reindeer herds of Alaska are under the supervision of the bureau of education because this bureau of the Interior department instructs the natives in reindeer breeding, writes Joe Mitchell Chapple in McClure's Magazine. As early as 1921 over $100,000 worth of reindeer meat was sold in the United States. The range is sufficient for 10,000,000 of these animals which may some day constitute a new meat supply for all North America.

Make Boxes of Sawdust.

The latest substitute for cardboard and wood in the making of boxes is a chemical composition of sawdust and ashes. The finished boxes are light, washable, sanitary and non-poisonous. They are waterproof and as fireproof as asbestos, and can be made in any degree of flexibility or texture, either as hard as oak, tough as metal or as pliable as cardboard.

Certainly.

Dot—She was in that clairvoyant's room for two hours.

Tot—She must have been having her future told.

Dot—How so?

Tot—It would have taken two weeks to tell her past.—New York Sun and Globe.

Creating Impressions.

Flint—You were working like a Trojan cleaning up your house yesterday. How come?

Lint—Company is coming this afternoon and I want them to see what a good housekeeper my wife is.—New York Sun and Globe.

Quick, Watson!

The famous detective gasped as he arrived at the scene of the crime. "Heavens!" he exclaimed, as he looked in the window through which the thief had escaped. "This is more than I expected. It's broken on both sides."

TRIBE HAS EQUAL RIGHTS

Primitive Natives Found in South America Where Females Are Treated on Same Basis as Men.

A biological expedition to South America reports finding there a primitive tribe of Indians who are thought to be descendants of a people conquered by the Incas many years ago. The women are not slaves or beasts of burden like women of neighboring tribes, but are recognized by the males as their equals in every respect. All are astonishingly neat and clean.

All work is divided up equally among both sexes. Many of the women own their own canoes and go on long hunting trips like the men.

Among these Indians there is no mourning for the dead because they believe the departed go to "a beautiful place." Their chief superstition is that a "devil-devil" lurks in the jungles always ready to seize them. That is why they conduct an elaborate three-day ceremony at stated intervals to ward off this evil spirit.

Though the women dance with the men at the opening ceremonies, they are not permitted to view the grand climax when one of the males impersonates the "devil-devil" and beats the other males—if he can catch them—with a long, ugly whip. However, if they are touched they can turn around and beat the "devil." If they succeed in driving him off they are greatly pleased. They are more or less cut up in the ordeal, but fortify themselves with drugs.—Detroit News.

Scene on a Trolley Car.

The trolley car was crowded, it was late, and seated by the richly gowned woman who had just entered was a woman of the tenements, who held to her bosom a wailing infant. The foreign mother was in trouble. She, speaking only poor English, was at a loss to make herself understood and she was afraid she would be carried past her destination. She appealed in desperation to her newly arrived seat companion.

The richly gowned woman smiled, spoke to her in her own tongue, left her seat and gave directions to the trolley man, and for the rest of the journey held the grimy baby, who soon fell asleep in her lap.

Once again was proved, as a cynical person who was an eyewitness observed, "All women are sisters under the skin."—New York Sun and Globe.

America's Soft-Wood Forests.

The largest remaining supply of soft-wood timber in the United States is in the three states of Washington, Oregon and California, which contain more than half of all the saw timber in the country and more than two-thirds of the nation's entire supply of coniferous woods. Including the coastal forests of southern Alaska, this Pacific coast region is credited with 1,214,000,000 board feet, nearly half of which is Douglas fir followed by western yellow pine, western hemlock the true firs of several species, California redwood, spruce, western cedar and sugar pine. The amount of timber in these three states too small for lumber manufacture probably aggregates 400,000,000 cords.

Adds Lands to Forest.

President Coolidge has signed a proclamation adding to the Sitgreaves national forest in Arizona 11,520 acres of land on the drainage of Silver creek. The proclamation also eliminates 6,080 acres from the northeastern part of the forest.

The lands added in recent years have been badly overgrazed by nomadic herds of sheep which have prevented the growth of a forest cover. Within the sections eliminated from the forest there are many areas in private ownership which made the administration of the government lands difficult. The lands eliminated are of inferior values for timber production or streamflow production.

Many Kinds of Fish in U. S.

The richness of fish life in our fresh waters is amazing. The United States has a smaller area than Europe, yet it has nearly five times as many kinds of fresh water fish. We have about 585 species of these, while Europe has but 126 species. We find that a single state may have considerably more than 100, the number known to Illinois being 150, while New York is credited with 141. It could doubtless be shown that our fresh water fishery resources are greater than those of any other country.—National Geographic Magazine.

Tongue Followed the Hand.

The children of the second grade were busily employed on the writing lesson when Susie raised her hand. "Please, Miss Wright, Johnny Phipps isn't doing the lesson right."

"What do you mean, Susie?" asked the teacher.

"Why, the lesson is capital S's, and he's making L's."

"How do you know, Susie? You can't see his copy book."

"No'm, but I can see his tongue."—Youth's Companion.

Peach Borer Feels It.

What is paradichlorobenzene?

About 500,000 pounds of it are being used this year to save peach trees from the peach borer, according to reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture. This is twice the quantity that was used last year.

Long Calculation.

The value of the paper mark
Becomes infinitesimal.
It may require from morn till dark
To write the needful decimal.

KICKIN' THE DORG AROUND

Do You Believe In Prayers?

A western farmer was astonished to receive the following letter from his son in college:

"Dear Father: I am in a deuce of a hole. Kindly send me $100 and oblige. Your loving son, Pat.

P. S.—"After writing this letter I was so stricken with remorse that I ran after the postman and tried to get it back. I can only pray that it will not reach you."

But who could be more astonished than the son to receive this reply:

"Dear Son: Your prayers are answered. The letter did not reach me. —Dad."

What Kind Of Pocket

The word "thief" was on the blackboard, but Dick could not spell it.

"Surely you know what that spells the teacher exclaimed. "Now, suppose I put my hand into your pocket and took out a penny, what should I be?"

"A magician," replied Dick.

Not So Bad

Igg: "So you didn't like Cuba?"

Figg: "Naw. I went into a restaurant there to get a glass of milk. The waiter didn't speak any English, so I drew a picture of a cow, and the sun-of-a-gun went out and bought me a ticket to a bull fight."

Igg: "Serves you right for orderin' milk in Cuba."

The Proper Reply

Seeing an advertisement of a safety razor company in the papers, a young man wrote the following letter to the firm:

"Gentlemen:

"Enclosed please find one dollar for which send me a safety razor.

"P. S.—I forgot to enclose the $1, but no doubt a firm of your reputation would not hesitate to forward the razor."

To which he received the following reply:

"Dear Sir:

"Your order received. We are enclosing one safety razor which we hope will prove satisfactory.

"P. S.—We forgot to enclose the razor, but we think that a fellow of your cheek does not need one of our razors."

SUSPICIOUS

Jack: "So your father demurred at first because he didn't want to lose you?"

Ethel: "Yes; but I won his consent. I told him that he need not lose me; we could live wit hmis, and he would not only have me, but a son-in law to boot."

Jack: "Hm! I don't like that expression 'to boot' " —Boston Transcript.

PETTER'S GRAMMAR

"Two negations make an affirmation," Declared Proffessor Dryasdust.

"Yup," agreed the youth from the rear row, who was leaving school anyway. "Like when a girl says: 'Don't! Stop that!'— American Legion Weekly.

NOT ALONE

The lecturer had been describing some of the sights he had seen abroad. "There are some spectacles," he said, "that one never forgets." "I wish you would tell me where I can get a pair!" exclaimed an old lady in the audience. "I am always forgetting mine." —Punch Bowl.

Politeness is the grease that lubricates them achinery of business.

One who is in love with himself never has to worry about whether his affection will be returned.

One big trouble with some public men is that when they can't think of anything to say, they say it.

A wise preacher knows it is easier to drive men out of church than into it.

When truth lies at the bottom of a well there are few to man the pump.

Spring is here. The time is here to get your machinery in shape for the Spring Work. We have the tools and machinery to do almost any repair job—Stormizing Cylinders, Burning-in Bearings, Fitting Piston Pins and Rings.

We weld the break of Day!

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Fish--

At this season of the year we aim to have on hand a large, fine variety of FISH both Fresh and Smoked or Pickled.

At this time we have a very choice line of fish in stock as follows:

SMOKED WHITE FISH

PICKLED HERRING

4-K SALT HERRING

HOLLAND MILKER HERRING

FRESH FISH—We are receiving shipments of extra fine Fresh Fish every Wednesday for the week-end. We are now able to procure fine fresh Pickerel and Pike.

We Are Headquarters For "HEINZ 57"

Try one of the varities

Next Time

J. P. Larsen & Sons

The Klemme Meat Market

Mrs. J. L. Hesselhuus went to Minneapolis Sunday. She was called there by the illness of her mother. She expects to be away for a couple weeks.

For Sale—10 brood sows bred to farrow last 2 weeks of April and the first weeks in May, bred to P. B. Poland China boar. Henry Wade, Garner, Ia. Phone 4803 Klemme. 1p

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Musfelt are moving to Clarion the latter part of this week, where they will make their future home. Their daughter, Mrs. Hattie Lanahan will remain in town for a time and will continue her work at the Kluckhohn store.

Grandpa Schlawin has been quite ill again the past week.

Howard Hanson, one of the candidates for Sheriff, was calling on his Klemme frieds Saturday.

Mrs. Alma Louden has moved into the Mrs. McGee house, vacated by Dr. Hesselhuus.

R. E. Quintus, of Garner, was in town yesterday doing some plumbing work at the drug store.

A good time was reported by all who attended the R. N. A. card party. A lunch was served by the R. N. A. ladies.

E. R. Schlei, accompanied by Mrs. Ed. Weisbrod of Fenton, drove thru Tuesday for a visit with Klemme relatives.

C. W. Wiles wet to Des Moines Friday and returned the following day with an Oldsmobile sedan which he sold to Hans Hansen.

The Stille Implement Shop received two 10-20 McCormick-Deering tractors Monday. They are dandy machines.

Buy your new automobile of us. We sell the Durant and Star Cars, "worth the money." We deliver anywhere. Lau Auto Co., Mason City, Iowa. 1tc

The most useless citizen in the village, but the only one who could save it! See "The Clean Up" and you will quit wishing for a barrel of money and nothing to do! At the Idle Hour Saturday night.

Monday the voters in Twin Lake District No. 2 and 5 voted on the question of whether or not to build new school houses. The propsition carried. There were 31 votes for the proposition and only 9 against.

Adolph Lauritzen came home Monday from Fayette, as the college has been closed for two weeks on account of scarlet fever. "Abe" is making a fine record at college. He is on the basket ball team and has been on every trip with the team and has played the last two games. This is a fine record for a young man who is in his first year in college to get on the regular team. We are proud of the record our boys are making at college.

Friday night we were listening over the radio and heard the experiment put on by the Institute of Tech. of Mass., with the help of the Radio Corp. of America and the Westinghouse Co. They were broadcasting from WJX, New York, which was in turn picked up and re-braodcasted by East Pittsburg, Schenechtedy, Oakland, Calif., and Hastings, Nebr. and then picked up on the other side of the pond by 2LO London, Eng. While we were listening four men in London cabled that they had received the test. It was possible to hear the same speakers on five different wave lengths all at the same time.

AT THE IDLE HOUR SATURDAY

Herbert Rawlinson plays the most useless citizen in town, until it becomes the most useless town in the world. Then, what happens makes one of the livliest, and exciting pictures in years—"The Clean Up" new Universal attraction is the main feature.

Besides this there will be two reels of "Fighting Blood," the picture the whole community is talking about.

And, of course, we have another of those rip-roaring, side-splitting comedies enjoyed by old and young and a sure cure for the blues.

A real reel show! Saturday night at the Idle Hour. Bring the whole family.

BIBLE IN SCHOOLS NOW DEAD ISSUE

Lower House Refuses to Concur With Senate in Bill Calling for it

DES MOINES,— Compulsory reading of the Bible in the public schools of Iowa is a dead issue in theIowa legislature.

Passing the Rankin amendment to the senate patriotic bill by a vote of 54 to 42, the house late yesterday refused to concur with the upper body in makjny compulsory Bible reading a law and decided to leave the statute now in force in its present form, which provides that the Bible shall not bec ompulsory.

The vote on the Rankin amendment was preceded by one of the longest oratorical debates of the extra sessio.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

February 11, 1924

Regular meeting of town council held in the Mayor's place of business with all members present.

Motion made and seconded that the following bills be allowed.

Aaron Greimann, Louie Knoke Truck	$200.00
John Suckow Labor on Town Hall	3.90
Standard Oil Co. ,60 Gallons Gas	9.90
Klemme Times Pub. Council Proceedings	1.27
Matt Parott & Sons, Minute Book	7.14
Henry Lau & Sons, Pipe for Truck	8.58

Bills allowed.

Motion made to adjourn.

A. J. Kudje, Clerk.

All the world is a stage, making love is an overature, and when you marry, the curtain goes up.

Smart men do not try to explain things to a woman. They fix it up with a kiss or candy.

The color blooms on woman's cheek,
For less than fifteen cents a week:
But for the man as price now goes,
It costs a lot to paint his nose

GIRAFFE IS TARGET

How Humorists Pick on Maligned Animal.

Not Satisfied After Artists Have Colored Him to Suit Backgrounds.

America has never known a native giraffe, scientists say, though it is admitted that an American parrot was once found and is still preserved, stuffed. Yet the giraffe is rapidly becoming a native American by adoption, and its long neck and remarkable complexion is attaining something of a vogue among the new artists.

In fact, this African animal, with his fondness for the salad in diet, has furnished man with proofs and problems and picture book illustrations since he was first found nibbling a plantain leaf, and it is not strange that at last the artists should seize upon him to use him as the pinnacle of their new color endeavor. His popularity is growing with something of the speed his neck shows when he begins life on this earth.

How the giraffe got his long neck does not interest the artists. They are busy making him strange colors. One artist recently painted him on a vivid green background, in dull orange, with large black sections cut out to represent hexagonal spots. The matter of tail was slightly different from Darwin's remarks on the subject. Not that it mattered. A picture must have balance. So this giraffe wore a tail long and graceful and flowing like the gowns at a kingly coronation and, somehow, one felt that such an animal would make the wilds of Africa really colorful and exciting and worthy of a long trip in the heat.

The artists are not the only ones now finding the giraffe one of our most diverting animals. The writers are also picking him off and turning him to account. George Bernard Shaw in his "Back to Methuselah" discusses this matter of the long neck and the giraffe and seems to lean to the theory that after all the leaves on the lower branches of the trees had been eaten, the animals with the longest necks got the food higher up and that starvation gradually eliminated the short-necked ones, and thus the animal kept growing a longer and longer neck, by natural selection.

The theory, of course, doesn't matter so much. But it is rather painful to find this noble animal also the butt of the humorists. Literature may take him, art may mispaint him, but it seems pitiful that humorists are choosing him to compare him to bottles and other extinct phenomena.

There is something ingenious about the giraffe. Those long forelegs are ungainly and give him an air of helplessness. A certain sculptor has taken advantage of this unfortunate variation of nature and has put heads on his two forehoofs, leaving only the neck reaching up and absorbing luscious leaves. Satire carried to this extent seems a little ungracious in view of this animal's great service to the human race in the theory of evolution.

Not since the camel's coming to help the cartoonists in the problem of prohibition, has an animal done more modern service than has the giraffe. The camel was used to bearing burdens. His humps were provided for that aeons ago. That the burden was a moral one did not matter. But the giraffe is different. There is a delicacy about him. There is something brutal in this sudden attention —New York Sun and Globe.

Uses for Paper.

Paper has other uses than the common ones for printing purposes, stationery, wrapping parcels, magazines, books, etc. Some of these uses are as important in themselves as the common uses, but none of these approach the latter in the quantity of material consumed. However, these odd uses are of considerable interest. In the electrical industry paper has been used for making insulations of all sorts. In the manufacture of machinery it has been used to make packings for gas engines and hydraulic work, in making calendar rolls, car wheels, pulleys, etc. Articles of every-day use such as spoons, dishes, cups and saucers, suitcases, trunks, table covers and napkins, bags of all descriptions, flowers, wall paper, etc., are made from paper. Paper garments have been known for some time, and in the shoe industry paper is used for making box toes, counters, heel board, etc.

Bacteria Good and Bad.

As a class bacteria probably form a community with the greatest reputation for evil and probably they deserve it least. They are blamed for almost every form of disease and yet, as among ourselves, the useful members outnumber the criminal by many thousands to one. So closely in appearance do the good bacteria resemble the wicked ones that often it is impossible to distinguish one from the other. They are all very low forms of plant life and work by generating complex "enzymes" which bring about chemical changes. Scientists consider bacteria to be as necessary to human life as air and water! Nature has no greater scavengers for they transform dead bodies and plants by the process popularly known as decay into suitable foods for living plants. They are coming more and more into prominence in industrial process and the expert bacteriologist finds an increased demand for his services.—London Mail.

NOT ALL QUACKS

Drug Prepared by Chinese Doctors Vindicated.

Bufin Obtained From Toads for Heart Remedy Was Used for Centuries in the East.

That native Chinese doctors despite their supposed quack medicines and methods dating centuries back are sometimes in advance of scientific research and modern medical knowledge is pointed out by Dr. C. H. Barlow in an article relating some of his experiences in China.

"One day," Doctor Barlow states, "while rowing along in my boat on a canal in Soochow, I noted with a good deal of interest a man who held a tall basket. He was at a distance but I could make out that he was emptying some living things from the basket which were swimming away in every direction from the shore. My curiosity being aroused, I asked my boatman what the man was doing, eliciting the following information: 'The man is a Buddhist priest who is laying up merit by collecting toads from different localities and then liberating them in a safe place.'

"Being interested in herpetology and desiring to see the variety of toad he was letting go, I directed the boatman to row over to where I could see the creatures more distinctly. When we arrived I found the surface of the water alive with specimens of the big Asiatic toad, some of which I captured and put in my boat.

"On arriving in Shaoshing and telling my teacher of the experience, he informed me that the man was not a priest but that he was a doctor and that he had been keeping the toads to get medicine from them. Many a time have we all seen on the tables of the street doctors the skins of toads dried and used for medicine. The teacher also informed me that the medicine obtained from the toad is a very efficient heart remedy, and described the method of securing it. The toad is held firmly in one hand, while the biggest wart-like swelling just behind the eye is touched lightly with a hot iron, whereupon a whitish juice is exuded by the toad. This is scraped off and put on to a glass plate and another toad is taken, and the operation repeated till there is a good supply of the white juice. This is then allowed to evaporate slowly to a powder, which is used to make up into pills and solutions as a heart remedy. On asking my teacher whether it is a really beneficial remedy or not, I was assured that it is a very valuable remedy indeed. This information, I am afraid, I took with a grain of salt.

"Now the story changes a bit in its external features, but not in its essentials. Soon after the above experience I noted in my Journal of The American Medical Association the following account:

"'Two experimenters at the Rockefeller Research Institute in New York City in experimenting with Bufo asiaticus found that by stimulating the parotid gland of that toad by means of electricity they obtained a white secretion, the active principle of which they have named Bufin, after the toad. On experimenting with bufin on animals it was found to be almost identical in its physiological action to digitalis. It has been added to our pharmacology as a useful drug.'

"Thus does the laboratory vindicate empirical medicine of the century-old Chinese system."

Candy Tree of India.

It is said that in India there flourishes a species of tree that produces a kind of "candy," if that term may be applied in this relation. This tree is known as the bassia, and of the three important species two show sugary flowers and the third is called the "Indian butter tree." Now the petals of the flowers are rich in sugar, and drop from the tree in the early morning. They are picked up by the women and the children, and are spread out on mats to dry in the sun. A single tree will, it is said, provide 300 pounds of flowers annually. When fresh, these flowers are very sweet and taste much like figs. They are eaten fresh or cooked with rice, shredded coconut or flour. The seeds of the butter tree are full of oil, and this oil is used to make a kind of butter, and also for soap and for candies.

Seal of the United States.

The seal adopted June 20, 1782, by a committee appointed to secure a suitable device for a great seal of the United States, consists of a spread eagle, having on its breast a shield with thirteen stripes and a chief azure, and in its beak a scroll bearing the motto E Pluribus Unum. In one talon is a bundle of arrows, and in the other an olive branch. Above the head is a "glory" emerging from the clouds and surrounding thirteen stars. On the reverse side is an unfinished pyramid —symbolic of the strength and growth of the Union; above it is an eye, surrounded by a triangle. Around the rim are the mottoes Annuit Coeptis (He [God] has favored the undertaking) and Novus Ordo Seclorum (A new order of things). The great seal has never been altered, and is in the custody of the secretary of state.

Forming a Picture.

"You expect to make a farmer of your boy, Josh?"

"No," answered Mr. Corntossel, "But he's got to stick around the farm long enough to get a reputation so that he'll mebbe stand some chance as a politician."

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Seney's Drug Store Phone 4009.

Klemme, Iowa

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Office opposite from Hotel Klemme

Phone No. 19

Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

A Guaranteed Investment

COMMON STOCK OF

Iowa Falls Electric Co.

We have such Full Confidence in the Complete Satisfaction of each Customer Shareholder with this investment, that we are now giving a written agreement, guaranteeing the market for one year if Customer Shareholders should be obliged to sell the COMMON STOCK.

This is an unusual offer, and gives you the opportunity of trying the Investment.

The Shares are $100 each, and Pay Dividends Every 3 Months, at the yearly rate of 7 per cent.

You may invest in full shares, or have the privilege of paying a small amount each month.

Ask the Man Who Has a Share

Illustrated booklet and circular sent free on request. Adress

Iowa Falls Electric Company

215 So. 2nd. Street, Cedar Rapids, Iowa

Red Top
GUARANTEED
Double Strength Studded Tee
Steel Fence Posts

We have just unloaded a car load of "HY-LIME".

Buy a few sacks of this best DISINFECTANT and GERM KILLER going; use it in the hog house, cow barn, chicken coops, or any place that germs might originate.

We have it in handy 10 pound sacks for the house.

Everything To Build Anything

—At—

Northern

Lumber Company

Fordson

Make this a Fordson Year

Have dependable Fordson Power ready when the fields are first ready for breaking.

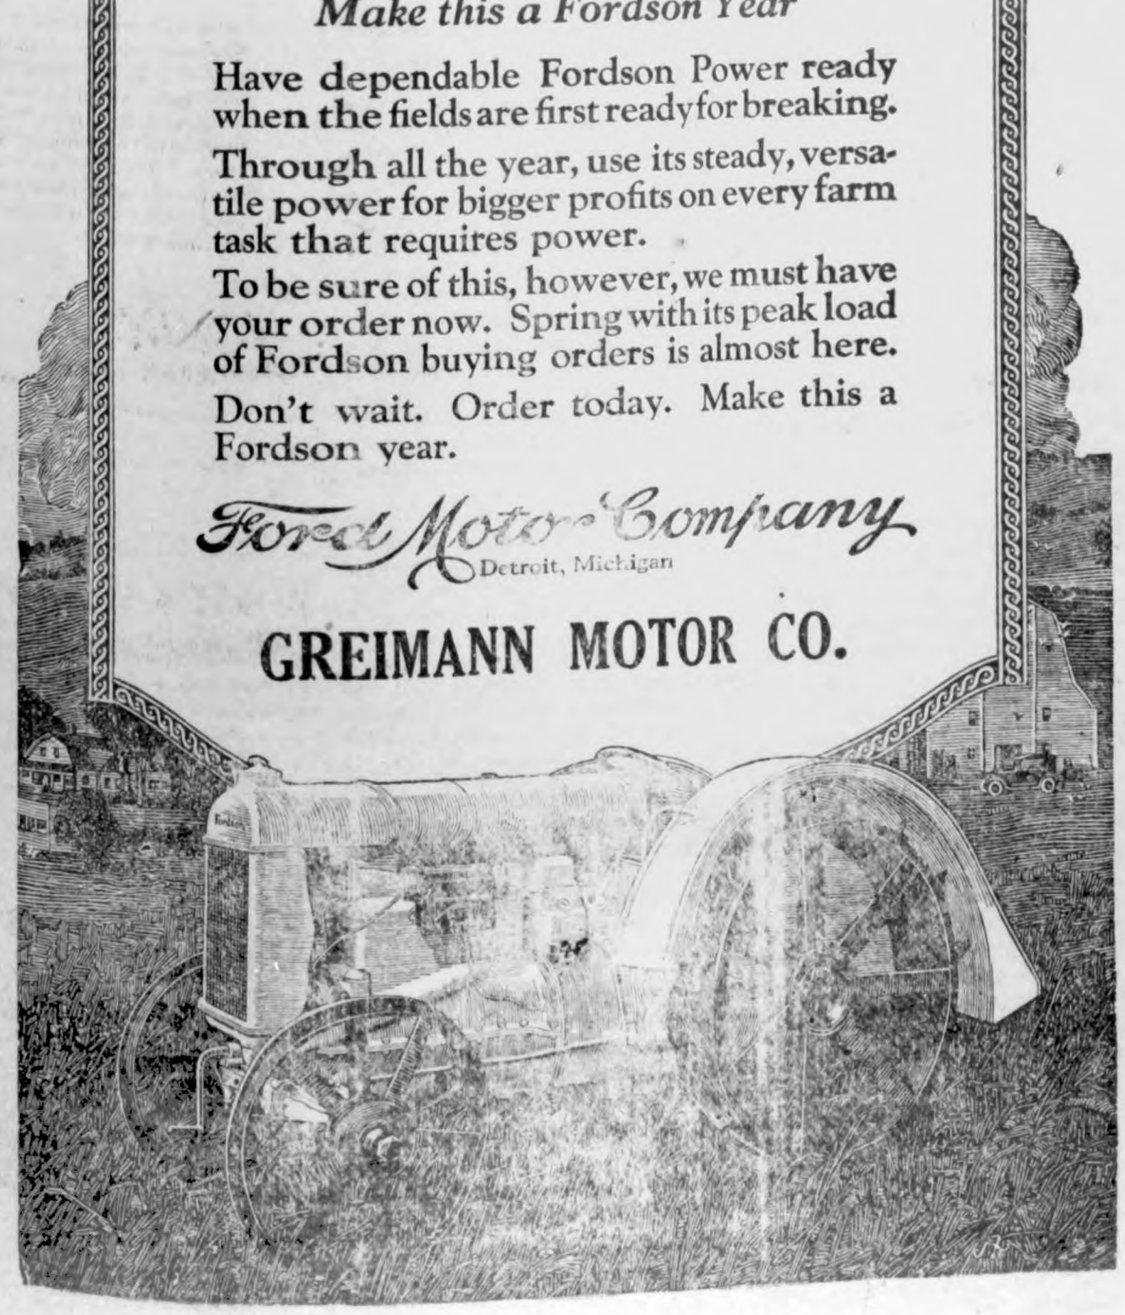
Through all the year, use its steady, versatile power for bigger profits on every farm task that requires power.

To be sure of this, however, we must have your order now. Spring with its peak load of Fordson buying orders is almost here.

Don't wait. Order today. Make this a Fordson year.

Ford Motor Company
Detroit, Michigan

GREIMANN MOTOR CO.



BONUS IS O. K'D BY COMMITTEE

Fails to Agree Upon Plan; Only Four Vote Against Measure.

Washington.—After voting 16 to 4 for a bonus, the ways and means committee adjourned in a squabble over the kind of a plan to recommend. A near-fight, according to reports of what occurred behind closed doors, resulted from a controversy between Representatives Treadway of Massachusetts and Crowther of New York during the discussion of pending plans. The controversy got no further than a waving of fists.

The only four opponents of the bonus were Representatives Mills of New York, Tilson of Connecticut, Treadway of Massachusetts, Republicans, and Collier, Mississippi, Democrat.

Difficulty in framing the new measure because of insistence on a cash bonus marked the proceedings. Chairman Green of Iowa definitely came out against cash, which he said would require either increased taxes or a bond issue, involving a sum of at least $1,000,000,000.

"I am opposed to the cash proposition," Mr. Green said, "the Legion having accepted the Fordney bill last congress, the new measure should not include any cash except to those who will receive less than $50."

Apparently all the Democrats have lined up for a two-feature plan which would carry a cash payment and insurance, making it optional for the ex-service man to choose the one he would prefer. Representative Green and enough other Republicans who will combine against cash will have greatest difficulty in checking this form of the bonus.

All the Democrats and at least two Republicans will stand out for cash, according to the best information available. This will then be written into the bill and brought to the floor of the house with almost a certainty of adoption here.

Red Hats for Mundelein and Hayes March 24

Rome.—Two American prelates will be elevated to the cardinalate at a consistory to be held March 24. They are Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes of New York and Archbishop George W. Mundelein of Chicago. This announcement was made at the Vatican. Pope Pius XI, in giving two additional cardinals to the United States, was moved by the generous response of the American people to the appeals for the suffering states of Europe.

The pontiff also is said to have desired to honor the people of the United States for their spirit of self-denial and loyalty.

Widow Has an Operation on Husband After Death

Paris.—A surgeon at Lariboisiere hospital performed a strange operation, severing the throat of a Frenchman's corpse. The deceased had always been haunted by a fear of being buried alive, so he requested that his wife have his throat cut in order to insure that he was really dead when he was buried. When he died the widow secured special permission for the operation from the commissioner of police.

Allied Council to Order Civil Control in Germany

Paris.—Transfer of the allied military control in Germany to civilian hands will be ordered, it was decided by the allied council of ambassadors. This action follows the suggestion of Prime Minister MacDonald for the succession of the military mission by the allied committee on guaranties and marks the acceptance of the new British cabinet's first proposal by the council.

House Approves Probe of Shipping Board

Washington.—A sweeping investigation of the shipping board was authorized by the house. Four Republicans and three Democrats, to be designated by Speaker Gillett, will serve on the committee. The inquiry was proposed by Representative Davis of Tennessee, a Democrat on the merchant marine committee.

Great Britain to Drop Singapore Naval Base Plan

London.—It was officially stated here that the government finally has decided not to proceed with the scheme for the construction of a new naval base at Singapore, which, it is estimated, would cost £10,000,000 ($43,000,000), but probably would cost much more.

Spanish Campaign Fails

London.—Reports received here indicate that the Spanish campaign against rebel Moroccan tribesmen has been an utter failure. In all of the engagements thus far, the national troops have been defeated.

Herrin Sheriff Indicted

Danville, Ill.—Sheriff Galligan of Williamson county has been indicted for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act. John Layman, Galligan's chief deputy, faces same charge.

MRS. EDITH LONGFIELD

Mrs. Edith Longfield of Ft. Wayne, Ind., who has been selected by Lewis S. Shank, mayor of Indianapolis, to take complete charge of his campaign for the office of governor of Indiana, to succeed Warren T. McCray. Mrs. Longfield is said to be the first woman to take charge of a man's gubernatorial race.

MICHIGAN SCHOOL IS UPHELD BY COURT

Commended for Expelling Girl Smoker.

Lansing, Mich.—Officials of the Michigan State Normal school, at Ypsilanti, who expelled Miss Alice Tanton for smoking cigarettes in the spring of 1922, were upheld by the state Supreme court in a decision handed down here.

Miss Tanton was refused permission to return to the school because of cigarette smoking, and took her case to the courts in an effort to compel the authorities to admit her.

The Supreme court not only refused to order her return to school, but praised Ypsilanti officials for maintaining certain ideals for the young women who will be the teachers of the state, and declared that, instead of condemning Mrs. Bessie Leach Priddy, dean of women, "she should be commended for upholding some of the old-fashioned ideals of young womanhood."

Mrs. Priddy again came before the public eye ten days ago at the University of Missouri, where she now is, when she caused the dismissal of eleven students, four of them girls, on charges of drinking liquor.

The Michigan case attracted statewide attention. The young woman contended cigarette stubs found in the waste basket in her room had been used to char the edges of posters on the walls of her room.

The brief filed by Miss Tanton's attorney also contended that there was no rule against cigarette smoking at the school, and authorities were seeking to make a requirement for girls which they did not make for boys.

Bootlegger to a Solon Goes to Washington Jail

Washington.—To furnish liquor to a member of congress is no ground for immunity—not these days. This was demonstrated forcibly when Ben Dorsey, house office building employee, was arraigned for illegal possession of liquor. He was caught with a half gallon jar of moonshine. "This liquor is for a congressman from Tennessee," he said. "You can't arrest me or you will get into trouble."

But the officers arrested him. "Twenty-five dollars fine or fifteen days in jail," said the judge, and the congressman is still thirsty, because Dorsey went to jail.

Puts Mother, Baby Out in Blizzard; Held as Slayer

Pryor, Okla.—Murder charges were filed here against Bill Van Dusen, thirty, who is alleged to have ejected his sister-in-law from his tent home in a blizzard with the result that her baby contracted pneumonia and died. "Under a seldom evoked law ejection by a landlord is murder if it results in death," declared W. W. Powell, county attorney.

Charles Forbes Pleads Not Guilty to Fraud Charges

Washington.—Charles R. Forbes, former director of the veterans' bureau, pleaded not guilty before a United States commission to charges of fraud, conspiracy and bribery. Bond was fixed at $10,000, which Forbes immediately furnished. He will appear in federal court at Chicago for trial on March 17.

Heflin's Life Threatened

Washington.—A letter threatening the life of Senator Heflin unless he ceases to make attacks on Republicans in his senate speeches was received. The communication was anonymous and postmarked New York.

Liquor Losses $164,160,000

New York.—An economic loss of $164,160,000 in customs duties has been suffered by the federal government because of liquor smuggling off the Atlantic coast.

COOLIDGE PUTS WHEAT LEVY UP

Tariff Increased to 42 Cents to Equalize Cost With Canada.

Washington. — President Coolidge, by proclamation, increased the tariff on wheat from 30 cents to 42 cents a bushel. His action was based on a report of the United States tariff commission showing that the higher rate is necessary to equalize the cost of production in this country and in Canada, its principal competitor.

This is the first important action under the so-called flexible provision of the Fordney law.

An increase in the duty on wheat flour, semolina, crushed or cracked wheat, and similar wheat products not specifically provided for from 77 cents to $1.04 a hundred pounds. A decrease in the duty on bran, shorts and by-products from 15 to 7½ per cent ad valorem. The changes in duties will take effect in 30 days. The changes followed recommendations by the tariff commission which conducted an investigation at the request of the President.

The President's proclamation, in part, reads:

"Whereas, in and by Section 315 (A) of Title III of the Act of Congress approved September 21, 1923, entitled 'An act to provide revenue, to regulate commerce with foreign countries, to encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes, it is among other things provided that whenever the president, upon investigation of the differences in cost of production of articles wholly or in part of the growth or product of the United States and of like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, shall find it thereby shown that the duties fixed in this act do not equalize the said differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country, he shall proclaim the changes in classifications or increases or decreases in rates of duty necessary to equalize the same."

"Little Orphant Annie" Dies at Indiana Home

Indianapolis, Ind.—Mrs. Mary Alice Gray, seventy-three years old, said to be the original of James Whitcomb Riley's "Little Orphant Annie," died at her home here. Mrs. Gray's acquaintance with the poet began when she was living in the neighborhood of Greensburg, Ind., and she was generally recognized as the one Riley had in mind when the poem was written, although several other claimants have been advanced.

Federal Trade Body Head Is Against Price Fixing

Washington.—Price fixing is going on as never before, Chairman Thompson of the federal trade commission declared at a public meeting here, predicting that if it continues "we will have a collapse that will wipe out the business structure." "This is what happened after the Civil war," he said. "We will repeat the economic war which followed that conflict and ended in the panic of 1873 unless we change our ways."

Two More State Banks in the Northwest Are Closed

St. Paul, Minn.—The state banking department closed the Farmers' & Merchants' State Bank of New York Mills. The bank had deposits aggregating $181,820. Slow paper was announced as the cause of the closing. It was reported here that the Wessington Springs State Bank of Wessington Springs, S. D., has been placed under direction of the state banking department.

All Post-War Deserters Pardoned by President

Washington.—President Coolidge issued a proclamation granting amnesty and restoration of citizenship to deserters from the army and navy whose offenses occurred between Armistice day, Nov. 11, 1918, and the formal ending of the World war. The proclamation does not affect any offenders who deserted prior to Armistice day, such as Grover Cleveland Bergdoll.

Twelve Billion in Year Is America's Farm Yield

Washington.—American farmers received $960,000,000 more for their 1923 crops than they did for those for 1922, although wheat values decreased more than $100,000,000 within the year. The total includes $9,953,000,000 for crops, and $6,111,000,000 for animal products, less an allowance of $3,860,000,000, which is the estimated value of crops fed to live stock.

Solf Coming to Washington

Berlin.—The government has arranged for Wilhelm Solf, German ambassador to Tokio, to succeed Ambassador Wiedfeldt as German representative in Washington. Solf has just arrived here from Tokio.

Yank Charged With Espionage

Moscow.—An American engineer, named Fisher, a witness in the trial of Alexander Krasnotchekoff, former Chicago lawyer, was arrested on a charge of espionage.

GEORGE CHAMBERLAIN

New portrait of former Senator George E. Chamberlain who has been employed by Attorney General Daugherty to defend his interests in the senate investigation of the acts of the cabinet member.

UNITED STATES MARKET REPORT

Washington.—For the week ending March 8.—FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Northern sacked round white potatoes, $1.20@1.30 in Chicago, mostly $1.00@1.05 at shipping points. Yellow varieties of onions, $2.00@2.50 sacked per 100 lbs. at consuming centers. Texas new stock round and flat types cabbage, $55.00@75.00 city markets, mostly $27.00 f. o. b. Michigan Baldwin apples, $4.50@5.00 Chicago; northwestern extra fancy winesaps, $2.00@2.50 per box at city wholesale markets. Texas spinach, $1.00@1.50 per bushel basket leading markets.

LIVE STOCK—Chicago prices: Hogs, $7.55 for the top and $7.25@7.50 for the bulk. Medium and good beef steers, $8.25@11.50; butcher cows and heifers, $3.90@10.50; feeder steers, $5.25@8.50; light and medium weight veal calves, $8.25@11.25. Fat lambs, $14.00@16.00; feeding lambs, $13.75@15.15; yearlings, $11.25@14.25; fat ewes, $6.75@10.25.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $21.50 Cincinnati, $26.00 Chicago, $19.00 Minneapolis, $26.00 St. Louis; No. 2 timothy, $22.00 Chicago, $17.00 Minneapolis; No. 1 alfalfa, $28.00 Chicago, $21.00 Minneapolis; No. 1 prairie, $12.00 Chicago, $16.00 Minneapolis, $19.50 St. Louis.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, 45¾c Chicago. Cheese prices at Wisconsin primary markets: Single daisies, 21c; double daisies, 20¾c; longhorns, 20¾c; square prints, 21½c.

GRAIN—No. 2 hard winter wheat, $1.12¼@1.14½ Chicago, $1.11 St. Louis; No. 2 red winter wheat, $1.15½@1.16 St. Louis; No. 3 yellow corn, 77½@78¾c Chicago, 76½@77c St. Louis; No. 3 white oats, 46½@48c Chicago, 48½c St. Louis.

Premier Poincare Seeks Duel; May Patch Up Row

Paris.—Premier Poincare sent seconds of Gaston Le Provost de Launay, member of the chamber of deputies, to challenge the deputy to a duel because of a remark made by him at a session which the premier considered offensive. M. Poincare's seconds are M. Maginot, minister of war, and M. Sarrant, minister for colonies. M. de Launay named Deputies Taittinger and Bouton to represent him. The seconds of the two men met later and decided that the remarks did not reflect on the honor of the premier and that, therefore, a duel was not justified.

New Conquest of the Air; Guide Big Blimp by Radio

Dayton, O.—For the first time in history airships have been guided from one point to another by means of radio. This was accomplished at Wilbur Wright field, when Capt. W. H. Murphy, McCook field, and Lieut. R. E. Robillard of the lighter than air section, piloted the blimp O.B.-1 in a straight course by means of radio signals, it became known.

10,000,000 Marks Arrive in U. S. From Reichsbank

New York.—One of the largest shipments of German gold to this country so far was received by the National City bank. The shipment consisted of 10,000,000 gold marks, or approximately $2,500,000. The gold arrived on the Hamburg-American liner Thuringia from Hamburg. Armed guards in steel, bullet-proof trucks carried the gold to the bank.

736 Million Post Office Bill Passed by Senate

Washington. — The Treasury Post Office department appropriation bill, carrying $736,000,000 was passed by the senate. A committee amendment, allotting $300,000 for continuance of the air mail service between New York and San Francisco, was approved.

France Accepts Bank Plan

Berlin. — Director Schacht of the Reichsbank returned from Paris and told newspaper men that his plan for a gold bank issue had been accepted by the experts' commission and approved by the French.

German Strike Riots

Berlin.—Pitched battles between workers and police in which one person was killed and more than forty-five wounded, were fought at Ludwigshafen and at Vienna.

Iowa State News

Events of Recent Occurrence Throughout the Commonwealth

Primghar will vote on a 20,000 memorial building March 31st.

Mahaska county was named for Indian chief, and it meant "white cloud."

Northwest Iowa teachers meet at Sioux City March 27 to 29 for their thirtieth annual session.

About sixty contestants are expected to take part in a spelling match at Orange City March 28th.

Members of the Loyal Order of Moose of Davenport have announced a new building to cost $200,000.

Citizens of Lincoln township will vote on a $25,000 bond issue proposal for seven ew school houses March 10.

The Coe college men's glee club will start a tour of Iowa and Illinois March 26th to last until April 8th.

Major George W. Landers of Clarinda has received 400 complimentary letters for the Page county farm band radio concert.

Pioneer Sunday School workers in Polk county will be honored April 8 at the 60th aninversary of the organization in the county.

Iowa road officials will hold their eleventh annual conference at the office of the state highway commission at Ames, March 19th, 20th and 21st.

Business interests are entering the race to have the new $1,000,000 headquarters building planned by the National Pharmacists Association built in Des Moines.

One town which bears an Indian name, went far from home for it, however. Osceola, was named for a chief of the Seminoles, in the Florida everglades.

Father J. M. Walsh has been assigned to S.t Mary's parish at Ottumwa, having completed a $1,000,000 drive for St. Ambrose college in Davenport.

Slightly more than 3 per cent of all the residences in Des Moines are vacant, according to a survey conducted by the Des Moines Real Estate board late in January.

John C. and Lena Johnson have sold their eighty-three acre farm in Sweetland township, Muscatine county, to C. F. Weaver for approximately $17,000, $205 per acre.

According to John A. Beyer, chairman of the committee on entertainment for Za-Ga-Zig shrine, the circus opening April 7th at Des Moines will mean an investment of $100,000.

Approximately $1,000,000 will be available in Iow athis year to rid the state of tuberculosis cattle, Secretary R. W. Cassady, of the state department of agriculture, has figured out.

The Board of Supervisors of Polk County are asking the voters to approve the issuance of $1,500,000 in bonds for the purpose of providing funds for completing the hard-surfacing of the primary roads of this county.

It is the general belief that, altho March 1st and subsequent days would see the ironing out of indebtedness which has hung over from year to year since the war, most of this bad condition will be eliminated from Iowa's economic system this year.

Neither charity, advice nor special favors, but fair economic conditions, especially better markets and cheaper transportation—this is what the agriculture of Iowa and the corn belt needs, in the opinion of C. F. Curtiss, dean of the agricultural division at Iowa State College.

It has been found that during the four-year period of 1918-1921 no less than $2,446,291 worth of Iowa farm property went up in smoke, the great bulk—probably 90 per cent—of this loss being from causes that were strictly or partly preventable. Chiefly responsible among the known causes in the state was 'lightning.

Flouring grist for a span of 70 years and still grinding is the faithful record of Forest Mill, on Yellow River in Allamakee county. There is believed to be none other in the state which has been in continuous service for so long a period. Back in the 50's and 60's there were seven mills with water wheels on the Yellow river and about as many more on creeks emptying into it. Forest Mill is the only one of them all still running. It floured its first grist in 1854.

To study the effect of various influences on rural children, the child welfare resarch station of the University of Iowa is making a three-year investigation in a selected township typical of the farming region of the state. Every child in the community younger than 18 years will be studied and an effort will be made to investigate every condition and institution that influences the life of the children. Such agencies as the home, this school, the church, nearby towns and the social agricultural and economic organizations of the community will be studied by specialists in many fields, such as child psychology, medicine, nutrition, sociology, political science, education, and eugenics.

Plans for the erection of a new edifice to replace the present Greenwood Congregational church at Des Moines, which has been used by its members as a place of worship for the last thirty years, will be pushed to completion by a committee of seventeen men.

Motor bus service between Mason City and Fort Dodge has been established. Two of the large Pullman type of busses will be used between the two cities, the route being via Humboldt and Algona. Each bus has a seating capacity of twenty-four persons.

A MAN OF INTEGRIT

A physician who reaches out benefit humanity leaves a record hind him that is worth while. Such man was Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder the Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. He was an eminent physician, a le ing and honored citizen, known for honesty and executive ability. study along medical lines, and knowledge of the remedial qualities herbs and plants led to the discovery his wonderful herbal remedy, Doc Pierce's Favorite Prescription, woman's tonic which has had greatest number of supporters for past fifty years. It is just the he tonic required if a woman is bor down by pain and sufferings at regu or irregular intervals, by nervousn or dizzy spells, headache or backac Favorite Prescription can now be in tablet form as well as liquid at m drug stores.

Send 10c for trial sample to Dr. Pier Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y.

Green's August Flower

The remedy with a record of fifty-seven years of surpassing excellence. All who suffer with nervous dyspepsia, sour stomach, constipation, indigestion, torpid liver, dizziness, headaches, coming-up of food, wind on stomach, palpitation and other indications of digestive disorder, will find GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER an effective and efficient remedy. For fifty-seven years this medicine has been successfully used in millions of households all over the civilized world. Because of its merit and popularity GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER can be found today wherever medicines are sold. 30 and 90 cent bottles.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Removes Dandruff-Stops Hair Falling

Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair

60c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N.Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N.Y.

Garfield Tea

Was Your Grandmother's Remedy

For every stomach and intestinal This good old-fashioned herb home remedy for constipation, stomach and other derangements of the system so prevalent these days is in greater favor as a family medicine than in your grandmother's day.

AS SURE AS DAWN BRINGS A NEW DAY

HILL'S CASCARA QUININE BROMIDE

AT ALL DRUG STORES Will Break That Cold and Make You Fit Tomorrow. PRICE 30 CENTS

W. H. HILL CO., DETROIT.

take precautions

With colds and influenza all too common just now, it pays to take regular preventive measures against them. Spray your nose and throat night and morning with Zonite (directions on the bottle). Prevention is always easier, better and less expensive than a cure.

Zonite KILLS GERMS

Manners Are Mirror

A man's manners are a mirror, in which he shows his likeness to the intelligent observer.—Goethe.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

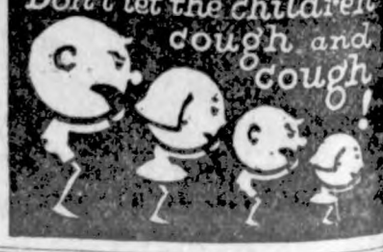
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

SAVE 60 Per Cent

Make Your Own Rope

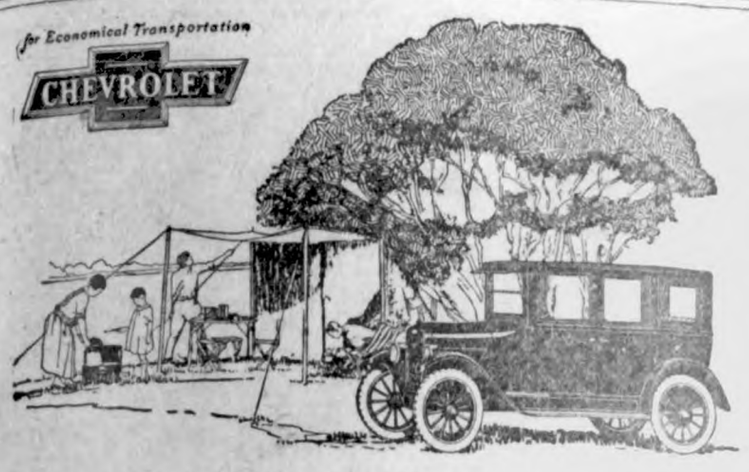
All sizes including hay fork rope. Wonderful saving. Send for Free Booklet, "Rope Making on the Farm." New Era Rope Machine Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

KEMP'S BALSAM



for Economical Transportation

CHEVROLET



Will Your Family Be Happy This Spring?

If yours is one of the few remaining families lacking an automobile, no doubt you have finally decided to get one within the next four months.

A low-priced modern automobile like the Chevrolet has become indispensable to the family of ordinary income. A million other families can easily prove to you that the better way is with Chevrolet. The beauties of nature, the interesting and educational features of other places and ways of living, remain things to read about or seen dimly in cold photographs until you are free to get to them at your convenience and pleasure.

But, suppose you have definitely decided to buy a Chevrolet this spring. This does not necessarily mean you are going to get it. Anyone posted on conditions in the automobile business will tell you that thousands of families are going to be unable to get cars this spring. This has been true almost every spring for the last ten years. There are just two ways of making sure of getting your Chevrolet for use when the flowers and balmy breezes of spring lure you to the country roads—buy it now or order it now.

If you do not want to pay for it in full at this time, any Chevrolet dealer will arrange terms to suit your convenience. You will be surprised to learn how easy it is to pay for a Chevrolet and use it while you are paying for it.

Please realize these statements are made by us in good faith and we mean just what we say about the possible difficulties of getting a car delivered to you this spring if you wait until then to order it. The only way to be sure of a Chevrolet this Spring is to order it NOW.

Prices f. o. b. Flint, Michigan

Superior Roadster	$490	Superior Sedan	$795
Superior Touring	495	Superior Commercial Chassis	395
Superior Utility Coupe	640	Superior Light Delivery	495
Superior 4-Pass. Coupe	725	Utility Express Truck Chassis	550

Fisher Bodies on all Closed Models

Chevrolet Motor Company, Detroit, Michigan

Division of General Motors Corporation

Heredity

"Unpunctual habits are the source of miserable excuses. There was once an Irishman who turned up late for his work every morning. So the boss sent for him and asked what his excuse was.

"'Heredity, sor,' said the Irishman.

"'Heredity, eh? Well, that's a good one,' said the boss. 'What's heredity got to do with your being always late?'

"'Shure,' said the Irishman, 'ain't I the son of the late Patrick and grandson of the late Michael O'Rourke?'"

Government Bond Is Best

A government bond draws much less interest than a pawn ticket does, but it is more profitable to the holder.

Social etiquette doesn't interest the man who is wearing a porous plaster on a hot day.

Where Is Cave of Nativity?

It is a winding cave in Bethlehem, beneath the Church of the Nativity, built over it by the Empress Helena and the Emperor Constantine. This cave is the supposed birthplace of Christ. The supposed position of the manger and the precise spot where Christ was born are marked. The grotto is beautiful with marbles and candles are constantly kept burning

Inside Stuff

"There's one o' them gosh dern new styles," said Hiram.

"What is it?" asked Aunt Em.

"Why, that there sign sez, 'Shoes shined inside.'"

Repose of Life

Old age is the repose of life; the rest that precedes the rest that remains.—Robert Collyer.

ALABASTINE

Look for the Cross and Circle

Printed in Red on Every Package of Genuine Alabastine

Alabastine

Instead of Kalsomine or Wall Paper

Because only genuine Alabastine will give you those soft delicate, artistic Alabastine colors, which add so much to the beauty of your home.

Good decorators use Alabastine. Nearly all stores selling paints carry it in stock. Ask your dealer or decorator to show you samples and explain the Alabastine-Opaline Process—the newest and most beautiful method of interior decoration.

The Alabastine Company
Grand Rapids, Mich.

Blue Band
VELVET PENCILS
At all Dealers

5¢

Supreme in their class.

As Smooth as Velvet.

Write for trial sample
American Lead Pencil Co., New York
Makers of the famous VENUS Pencils

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

What the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

Governor N. E. Kendall has approved an amendment to the law governing the executive council prepared by Senator Cessna of Poweshiek, authorizing the council to buy and sell gasoline whenever the council believes the price of the commodity is unfair. Governor Kendall advised that the amendment should also include coal. Attorney General Gibson declared he believed the amendment should become part of existing law. Cessna stated that he named gasoline only, for the purpose of starting toward price control of basic commodities which were "fixed" by corporation. The bill to which the amendment will be appended if adopted is code bill 14, a bill interlocking with number seven, to which the special house committee has attached the state budget proposal. An amendment including all commodities was filed in the house some weeks ago by Representative Ontjes of Grundy. The bill is still in committee.

The story of how the Iowa farmer, still smarting under the whip administered by high-pressure oil stock salesmen and other of the ilk, was wheeled into parting with valuable insurance company stocks for little of their real value, was written in colorful terms when Insurance Commissioner W. R. C. Kendrick appeared before the senate investigating committee with hundreds of replies to a questionnaire he broadcast over the state in an effort to determine the extent of the operations of "stock raiders." The returned questionnaires were entered as exhibits, and much of the information they contain will be used in any action the investigating committee, may decide to take, whether of a civil or criminal nature, it is understood.

The senate modified the measures of the existing law governing health safety appliances in industrial plants. Another bill passed by the senate codifies and condenses the law relating to protection of city property. The lower house passed code bill 266 with an amendment creating jury commissions in all counties. The commission will be composed of clerk of district court, county auditor and county recorder if the change is made part of the statute. The house also passed code bill 55 relating to public parks and code bill 197 prohibiting free transportation on railroads. No changes are made in either bill to existing law.

A third amendment to one of the code revision bills to effect state control over prices of basic commodities was introduced in the lower house of the Iowa legislature by Representative Wamstad of Mitchell county. The Wamstad amendment to code bill 211 provides that the state make investigations similar to the federal trade commission and gives the board of railroad commissioners authority to subpoena witnesses in any case they desire. The amendment makes the exchange of information between dealers in like commodities evidence of price fixing and unfair dealing.

To avoid conflict in dates of school elections and municipal primaries in cities under the commission form of government, the dates of such primary elections are advanced one week by the general primary law, just passed by the senate. The change also will lengthen by one week, the municipal campaign period. The action was taken on recommendation of the code commissioners, who felt that school elections and primaries should not be held on the same day, and that it would be inadvisable to change the date of the school elections.

Nurses who served with American armies in any of the country's wars are eligible for the same relief provided by the state for soldiers, sailors and marines, under an amendment to the soldiers relief bill as it passed the senate. The inclusion of nurses was sponsored by Senators Thurston of Clark county, and Baird, of Pottawattamie, who held that the state could not properly exclude them, because of their recognized valuable service. They were excluded from the old relief measure, probably by oversight.

Final action on the Eugenics Bill, now before the Iowa Legislature, will not come until a conference committee succeeds in ironing out differences which now exist between the House and Senate. The House refused to concur in Senate amendments to the bill, even though the House had amended the Senate changes. The vote of 49 to 47 was the first defeat handed the clause which requires a physical examination of those who desire to marry.

A move to change the manner in which directors of the state fair board are elected enlivened what apparently was about to go into the records as a dull session of the senate that dealt only with codifying bills of minor importance and little interest on the floor.

Senator Horchem's amendment to do away with party primaries and give every voter a ballot on which he can vote for candidates in either party failed hopelessly.

The primary election law codification bill was passed in the senate with but one change—elimination of presidential electors from the ballot. The change was recommended by the elections committee as a means of saving $10,000 in the cost of printing the names of electors on the ballot. They will be chosen at the state conventions, if the house concurs in the amendment.

Sale of gasoline by the state executive council whenever in its opinion the price is unlawfully controlled is provided in an amendment to the executive council bill offered in the senate by Senator T. C. Cessna of Poweshiek county. The amendment has the approval of Governor Kendall who would include sale of coal also, he said. Attorney General Gibson also approves the amendment. Another amendment providing for the sale by the state of any commodity has been offered in the house to another bill. Senator Cessna stated he limited his amendment to gasoline in order to get a start in the direction of state sale of gasoline as a check on prices.

The legislative insurance investigation now under way is to result in a complete revision of the insurance laws of Iowa, so framed that the commissioner of insurance will have power to block attempts of officers or persons outside a company from beating down the value of insurance stock only for the purpose of buying it in at a lower rate or fleecing stockholders through receiverships. Atty. Gen. Ben J. Gibson today was preparing a series of recommendations he will lay before the committee and upon which the legislature undoubtedly will act at the next regular session, if not at the present special session.

More than half the code revision bills have been finally disposed of. All but 36 of the 211 bills had been reported out of committees. Some of the longest bills have been passed, and much progress in reaching agreement between the senate and house over disputed amendments was made. The record of bills in both houses to date is as follows: Bills disposed of finally, 106; Bills passed by one house, 59; Bills in conference, 10; House bills not acted on, 16; Senate bills not acted on, 20; Total, 211.

The Diltz amendment to the present liquor injunction law, which was passed, makes a change to the effect that the $25 fee and costs may be assessed against the defendant. Hauge believes that under the law the county will be forced to pay the costs if the defendant cannot but that the attorney's fee cannot be included in the costs. The measure will return to the senate and an amendment similar to the one introduced by Diltz will probably be presented there.

At this time when the Iowa legislature is considering an eugenics bill, it will be of interest to know that the legislators 20 years ago were discussing the same question and getting nowhere. A bill was before the upper house providing for a College of Matrimony. It created a storm of protest throughout the state and was killed. Even 20 years ago Des Moines could be called a mid-west Reno. On this day there were 40 divorce petitions filed in that city.

The possibility that a provision in Iowa's new eminent domain law, which would give title to gravel and timber on the surface of condemned lands and materials beneath the surface of the land, might lead to difficulties, has resulted in a revision of that section. The house eliminated all reference to materials beneath the surface of the land and the senate, where the bill passed previously, accepted the amendment.

"Iowa laws on receivership are weak. The only ground for receivership for insurance companies is that capital has been impaired 20 per cent. This is easy to defeat." This statement, made by W. R. C. Kendrick, state insurance commissioner, before the Senate investigation committee, practically assures recommendation for strengthening of the laws, as one of the features of the committee's report.

The house passed code bill 41 requiring that all mines must maintain two separate shifts. Representative McClune of Mahaska county declared in opposing the measure that it would be a physical impossibility to conform to the terms of the law in opening a mine. He charged that the measure had been agreed upon by miners and large operators to knock out the small operator.

Senator Ethel, of Davis county, has obtained adoption of a proposal that dog taxes shall be paid in March along with other taxes instead of in January. Senator Shane proposes an amendment providing that a dog might be shot for chasing sheep. The present law permits shooting of dogs only after they have attacked sheep. The amendment was requested by Iowa Wool Growers.

The house has passed the joint resolution fixing a tax of 3 cents a ton on gravel taken from rivers of the state. Under an amendment of Representative Doolittle of Delaware county, however, sand used for public work is exempted from the tax until February 1, 1925.

Dental students who live in Iowa but attend schools in other states are writing to legislators here to voice opposition to the proposed statute which would require five years of college preparation in order to practice in the state.

By adding sixteen in the last week, the Iowa legislature has passed a total of 122 bills since it opened work last December to revise the code.

Disagreement over the proposal that shading devices, be permitted in lieu of safety lenses on automobile headlights delayed passage of the motor vehicle act in the senate. The bill was referred to the motor vehicle committee for the purpose of redrafting the headlight section.

The Iowa senate concurred in the house amendment to the civil service bill which transferred the power of appointing chiefs of fire departments from civil service commissions to the superintendents of public safety in cities operating under the commission form of government.

38¢

MONARCH

Dutch Process

COCOA

QUALITY FOR 70 YEARS

You save money every time you buy Monarch or Farm House Cocoa. And you get quality that has been unsurpassed for over 70 years. Order today from your grocer.

REID, MURDOCH & CO. ESTABLISHED 1853

Chicago Pittsburgh New York

FARM HOUSE

American Process

COCOA

18¢

Grocers:

If our salesmen do not reach you, write for our special proposition on Monarch Dutch Process Cocoa, Farm House American Process Cocoa and the famous Monarch Coffee. Write today to the office nearest you.

An Old One

"We have the same model in orange, lemon, plum and strawberry," said the saleswoman.

"I know how it's going to finish. 'But, yes, we have no bananas!'" replied the jovial little man.

Experience is a dear teacher, and largely because it teaches so many lessons not worth knowing.

Easiest to Make

Fair Caller (at the tax office in Paris)—A declaration is obligatory?

Clerk—Absolutely.

Fair Caller—All right, then I adore you!—Boston Transcript.

Extravagant Women

Happy is the man whose wife is stingy. Women's extravagance is the downfall of most men.

Demand

BAYER

ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy—Genuine

Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Genuine Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Differential

Caller (to footman)—Are their graces at home?

New Footman—His is—hers isn't.—Punch.

Two half truths may not constitute the whole truth.

It is better to keep peace than make peace.

His the Honor

"Does your wife always have the last word?"

"No, indeed. I have it. It's 'yes.'"—Judge.

There is nothing so well done but it may be mended.

If you expect to wear spurs you must win them.

Children Cry for "Castoria"

Especially Prepared for Infants and Children of All Ages

Mother! Fletcher's Castoria has been in use for over 30 years as a pleasant, harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups. Contains no narcotics. Proven directions are on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it. The kind you have always bought bears signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

SMITH BROTHERS

S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL (orange colored box)

Famous since 1847

Disordered Stomach

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills—then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. You will relish your meals without fear of trouble to follow. Millions of all ages take them for Biliousness, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Upset Stomach and for Sallow, Pimply, Blotchy Skin. They end the misery of Constipation.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Genuine bear signature— Brentwood Small Pill; Small Dose; Small Price

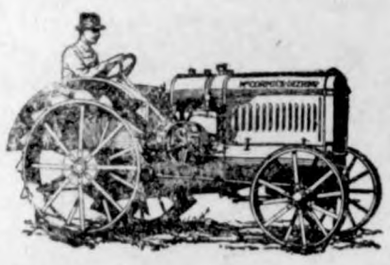
STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

Volume 2.—Number 18. Thursday, March 13, 1924

Just got a new bunch of 10—20 McCormick-Deering Tractors.



We have a proposition whereby you can buy a tractor at 1923 prices with 1924 terms. Come in, look them over, listen to them and ask to see what they'll do. They'll run a 10 inch feed grinder wide open and pull two plows anywhere.

If you are going to need a new plow this spring—either sulky or a gang—we have a couple of bargains in each. If you're interested come in and ask us.

The lipstick adds a new flavor to an old pastime!

Many a father is working his son's way through college.

This is about the last chance to put in your order for a corn picker and to be sure to get it. Don't put it off any longer; when corn picking time comes you'll wish you had one.

WAGONS! Why, we have just the thing you want at a price that can't be met anywhere. If you need a wagon, buy one that will last.

Don't waste your money for poor, inferior goods, when yu can get high grade wagns at the same price.

A good many of those who marry in haste repent with even more haste

What's funnier than a little fat man trying to look dignified?

Dairy Supplies--

CREAM SEPARATORS—we have a full line, all sizes, of MELOTTE and DE LAVAL cream separators and can make immediate delivery to your farm today.

CREAM CANS—We have a large variety of cream cans—large and small, light & xtra heavy. The price is RIGHT too.

SUPPLIES—Buy your milk pails here as we can give you most any size you want and at any price. We carry supplies for separators; milk can brushes, separator cleaning brushes, etc—in fact we carry

"Everything But Milk Stools"

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

PATRONIZE YOUR HOME STORES. TRADE WITH MEN YOU KNOW

Banking and Agriculture

If any two professions are, and should be, closely allied, they are banking and agriculture. One depends equally upon the other for its success, and we frankly acknowledge our dependence upon farmer business for growth and prosperity.

In our eyes, the business of the farmer in this community is very desirable. We solicit it and care for t, once we have secured it, with all the ability at our command.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'."

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Buy Seeds now at Jacobs & Son.

Pure linen crash toweling 19¢. Saturday at Wellemeyer's. 1tc

Prof. L. Neese went to Woden yesterday afternoon on business.

Mayme Costello, of Forest City, was a Klemme visitor Tuesday.

Charlie Hamstreet and wife were down from Clear Lake Saturday.

Mrs. Fred Ridder has been quite sick the past few days with quincy.

Pure linen crash toweling 19¢. Saturday at Wellemeyer's. 1tc

Mrs. LuVerne Smith went to Belmond Friday, returning Saturday.

Mr. L. D. Byers, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme yesterday.

R. A. Jorgenson and family were at Mason City on business Saturday morning.

I do all kinds of Plumbing and Heating work. R. E. Quintus, Garner, Ia. tfc

Miss Lola Smith left last Friday for Waterloo, for a visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. Howard Doyle.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Levi Klotzbach last Thursday morning.

Wellemeyer opened his millinery department Saturday with Mrs. Karl Kraus in charge.

For Sale—Trusty Incubator, 150 egg, 1 year old, good condition. H. J. Stromer. 2wp

Mrs. J. P. Larsen was up from Belmond Tuesday and remained until Wednesday.

The Klemme school teachers are attending the county teachers institute at Britt today and Friday.

For Sale—Setting eggs, full blood S. C. Rhode Island Red. 50¢ setting, $3.00 per 100. Frank Miller, Garner Route. 2wp

Miss Mildred Anderson returned to Klemme Saturday to assist at the Rev. Gauger home. Her folks moved to a farm near Britt.

New assortment of handkerchiefs in plain colors and colored borders, 5¢—Saturday only at Wellemeyer's. 1tc

Miss Florence Trumbell went to Goodell last Wednesday afternoon to spend a few days visiting with her grand parents.

G. G. Seney got his soda fountain in order the other day to prepare for the ice cream and soft drink season.

Tom Hake and family returned from Belmond Saturday having been called there by the illness and death of Mrs. Hake's niece.

Mrs. Harry Smith's husband died last Thursday at Ft. Atchison, Wis. Mrs. Smith was formerly Miss Florence Sampson, of this place.

Mrs. Ed. Jacobs went to Clear Lake last week end for a visit with her parents. Sunday, Ed. accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. LuVerne Smith drove over to get her.

Mrs. Joe Starnes and son, Verle, went to Belmond Friday for an over Sunday visit with relatives. They returned to Klemme Monday and were accompanied by Mrs. Geo. Starnes.

Mrs. Levea, of Mason City came Tuesday for a visit with her father, Al. Emerson. She took her little son with her to Mason City for a few days visit.

Walter Lau has been confined to the house the past week suffering with quincy. Lew Sampson has been looking after business at the elevator.

H. A. Swigard, of Garner was in Klemme Tuesday on business. Harvey is a candidate for County Treasurer and was also doing a little campaign work.

Mrs. George Ulrich returned home from the country last Thursday. She had been helping her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Wade move and get settled at their new home near Goodell.

The Odd Fellow dance was well attended Tuesday night and all had a good time. The Rebeccahs served lunch.

Dr. Geo. Zinn underwent an operation at Fort Dodge Friday and has since been in a serious condition. His many friends here hope for his speedy recovery.

We wonder what happened to the snow plow in Cerro Gordo county? The last snow blocked the rads in many places and they did NOT plow the roads. They were almost impassable in many places.

Eugene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kluckhohn, was two years old last Saturday, March 8th. His mother invited in six of his little friends and their mothers to celebrate the event. All had a fine time and Eugene is looking forward to his next birthday.

Over at Clinton the school board got into a fine little mess by neglecting to publish the itemized financial statement last July. Some of the taxpayers are taking it up and raising Cain about it.

Milk over at Nashua now sells for 6 cents a quart. The prevailing price had been 10 cents, until a few weeks ago when one dairyman cut to 7 cents. We wonder how long the unprofitable war will last?

The stores which run locals on their Saturday specials had a good sale of their merchandise last week. Just another evidence of the fact that it pays to advertise.

Northrup King & Co. seeds—all kinds at Jacobs & Son. 2w

The Four Leaf Clover Club, Leaf No. 2, of Twin Lake township, held their meeting at the home of their leader, Mrs. Kudej, March 8. There were eight members present. The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Laura and Alice Johnson on April 12.

The program of story telling by the lower grades at school yesterday was well attended and was greatly enjoyed. In Miss Flessner's room Byrnes Missman won first place and Ethel Barz second place. In Miss Buchan's room Paul Busch was given first place and Dorance Day was judged second best. All of the pupils did remarkably well.

Read all the ads each week. The merchants who advertise have quality goods for sale—that's why they are not afraid to tell the public what they have to sell. Watch the ads and read them—you will profit thereby. Many times real bargains are offered as special inducements.

The women won the school election at Garner Monday by a large majority. Mrs. C. A. Frisbee pulled 302 votes and Mrs. C. H. Easton 271. The men, Will Barz and W. F. Waller who were the losers in the race did not do so well. Barz received 259 votes and Waller got 204. The Garner people think a couple of women on the board will bring the patrons and the teachers into closer relationship and will make a better school.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to thank all who so kindly assisted us during our recent bereavement, and also extend thanks for the flowers ad words of sympathy. Jos. Starnes and family.

KLEMME MARKETS

March 13, 1924
(Subject To Change)

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN	.60
OATS	.38
BARLEY	.60
RYE	.60
HOGS	6.00—6.70
BUTTERFAT	.52
BUTTER (Creamery)	.52
EGGS	.16
HEAVY HENS	.16
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.15
LEGHORNS	.08
COCKS	.06
STAGS	.12
DUCKS	.10
GEESE	.08

Great Invention for Hog Raisers

At last the problem has been solved—of keeping hogs supplied with plenty of warm water outdoors in the winter—without lamps or heaters. Hogs must have warm water in the winter if they are to thrive and get full value from their feed. Ice water chills them — and they will not drink enough.

Dempster Self-Heating Hog Waterer

Here is something every hog raiser needs.

It is new—it is novel—it serves a purpose that is highly important to the farmer — it saves considerable expense and trouble.

It keeps the water warm all winter, without stoves, heaters, burners, lamps or any other burning contrivance. It will also keep the water cool in summer. Utilizes one of the forces of nature.

The Dempster Hog Waterer has been thoroughly tested and has proven a great success. We are exclusive agents.

This Hog Waterer is absolutely guaranteed NOT TO FREEZE in the coldest weather. Order one today of—

R. E. Quintus

Plumbing & Heating GARNER, IOWA.

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

THE HOME OF GOOD EATS

CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGARS

MEALS and LUNCHES

Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It Here

Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service
We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.

CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

Paint and Wallpaper--

We now carry a full line of Carpenter-Morton Paints and Oils. We have a fine selection of Interior and Flat Wall Paints—Varnishes, Stains, etc., as well as a full line of varnish and paint brushes and other supplies for painters.

Come in and make your selection now from our color cards and get our prices on high grade paint and varnish for any job.

WALL PAPER—Come in and make your selection of the latest patterns in wall paper—all kinds, at all prices. We can give you two day service on any paper you pick.

G. G. Seney

"The New Drug Store"

Use--- or Lose

Lack of use is in fact abuse.

This will apply to money, to grain, to human enery. If you keep, you will never reap. It is use—or lose.

Money in the bank goes into circulation, helps make business better. Money hid away about the house, locked in deposit boxes, buried in the cellar, does no good and is likely to be lost. The safe place for your money is in a reliable Bank, like ours.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

THE KLEMME TIMES

Twenty-eighth Year—Number 28. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, March 20, 1924 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

MORNINGSIDE GLEE CLUB WILL SING HERE SOON

COLLEGE SINGERS WILL GIVE CONCERT HERE NEXT MONTH

Earl Josten, Local Boy, Is Memeber Of Morningside College Glee Club

People of Klemme and this community will be interested in learning that the Morningside College Glee Club, of Sioux City, have arranged their pre-Easter concert tour so that Klemme will be on their route.

A number of local men are back of the movement and have put up a guarantee fund to get the singers to come to Klemme.

The Morningside College Glee Club will appear here on Thursday evening, April 17, and will give their concert at the High School.

The coming of the Club to Klemme is especially of local interest as Earl Josten, a local boy, is one of the singers. The club comprises twenty-two voices, all young men, and their conductor.

The local committee who are in charge of all arrangements are going to ask the people of Klemme to throw open their homes to the young men and as many homes as possible are asked to lodge two or four boys over night, or during their stay in Klemme. Any who would like to entertain two or more of these fine young men can make their wishes known to Paul Griesemer.

We have not received all of the details but we are told the admission charge will be fifty cents.

Be a booster and attend the concert Thursday, April 17.

MASON CITY AUTO SHOW

Present and prospective automobile owners in this community will no doubt be interested in the Annual Mason City Auto show which will be held in the Armory building at Mason City, for three days and nights March 27, 28, 29, 1924. Elaborate preparations have been made for display, decoration, music and entertainment and the show this year will be bigger and better than ever before.

All available display space has been plotted and visitors will see nearly fifty of the newest and finest of America's fine cars. The entire basement of the building will be filled with accessory displays and novelties that go hand in hand with motoring.

As for entertainment there will be music both popular and classic every afternoon and evening with several fine soloists to complete the bill. The show will close with a big carnival Saturday evening.

FAMILY OF SIX NEVER AWAY FROM SUNDAY SCHOOL IN THREE YEARS

MUSCATINE, March 19—Six children of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Chapman of this city claim the combined state record for continual attendance at Sunday school.

For three years none of the six have missed a single class dispite the fact that they live a mile and a half from the church which they attend. In addition to this combined record, none of the sextette has ever been late to the Sunday session.

In winter sleds were employed and in summer bicycles are the mode of transportation for this Sunday school Lucia which insures their punctual attendance. The church has rewarded them by presenting each with a gold recognition medal.

CAMP FIRE GIRL NEWS
St. Patrick's Dinner

The Camp Fire Girls attended a Saint Patrick's Dinner at the Fred Sidder home Monday evening. The dinner was supervised by the Misses Sidder and Hake. The seventeenth was also the twelfth birthday of the Camp Fire.

The Camp Fire Girls will have their regular meeting Thursday, Mar 27 at the home of Miss Elvira Stille.

GIRLS WANT RETURN OF CHIVALRY

Washington.— Add chivalry to your list of possible come-backs.

Mothers, daughters and teachers are banding for a nationwide campaign to restore mid-Victorian courtesies. At the head is Mrs. Giles Scot Rafter, district president of the Congress of Mothers. She declares the usual manifestations of gallantry are practically forgotten by the youth of today, and is asking the National Congress of Mothers parent teacher organizations and high school girl's societies to lead boys back to politeness.

Mrs. Rafter charges:

Boys do not observe old courtesies when with girls.

They fail to remove their hats when greeting women.

They resort to familiaritits forbid den a decade ago.

They "paw-over" their girl actances, grab their arms at first meeting, slap their backs and are otherwise boistrous.

They lack respect for elders.

Courtesy Rules

And the girls of Washington, under the leadership of Louise Braswell, Central high school seniors are getting in line to combat this result of the "new freedom" Their platform contains the following rules of decorum for sheik callers.

"Always remove hat when greeting a girl and bow while so doing.

"Stand at attention while talking with girls and their elders."

"Wait until recognized before speaking.

"Engage in no familiarities uninvited.

"Stop smoking in the presence of girls, unpermitted.

"Answer questions politely and respectfully.

Not Boy's Fault

"I don't think it's the boy' fault" says Louise. "It's probably the outcome of the war when men saluted. Now the boys just touch the front of their hats, often grudgingly, instead of giving the graceful bow their fathers were taught to give.

"Respect for girls is often measured by the attitude of the boy.

"The successful man is he who observes the courtesies which women have a right to expect. The discourteous is always shunned.

"Boys should remember this and train themselves accordingly.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES LAGGING IN SCHOOLS

DES MOINES, Mar. 20.—Foreign languages are wanjng in popularity in the high schools of Iowa.

According to a report of the department of public instruction, made public, high school students are no longer selecting the French, German or Spanish language in numbers equal to that of a few years ago. The department of public instruction has recommended that in schools where foreign languages are offered as a part of the curriculum, they should not be required of every student but that in cases where the subject is chosen, two years should be completed, if credits in this field are to be recognized.

TWO TICKETS NOMINATED AT GOODELL

Goodell will have a town election this year and already two tickets are filed.

An Independent Caucus was held the past week with the following ticket: T. O. Letch, Mayor; Councilmen, Anton Ahrenkeil, S. S. Matson, Nick Chelsvig, Walt Mason and Jack Zielie; Treasurer, Warner Butts; assessor, Fred Nolte.

The Republican Caucus was held Friday night with this ticket: Mayor, G. O. Vance; Councilmen, Walter Thada, Henry Christensen, Dennie Conlan, Lew Wesenberg and Will Lamer; Assessor, Chas. Conklin.

What is more pathetic than the sight of a man asking a bank to lend him money with which to pay his income tax?

Living models and special music at the Style Show this Thursday eve. at 8:00 o'clock. Wellemeyer's. 1c

COMING!! MARCH 31st

The Darktown Minstrels

—Of The Klemme High School—

In a hilarious evening of Fun and Song. A rip-roaring MINSTREL SHOW and A side splitting Comedy.

TWO HOURS OF SOLID FUN!!

Come and Forget Your Troubles!

Admission 25c—50c School Auditorium.

Court House News

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

March 10 to March 15 Inclusive

Julius Kunz et al to E. T. Hauptman, Q. C. D. date 2-4-24, Part lots 1-2-3-4 blk 4 Corwith $1.00

Julius Kunz et al to E. T. Hauptman, Q. C. D., date 2-4-24, Part lots 1-2-3-4 blk 4 Corwith ..... $1.00.

First National Bank, Kanawha, to Mrs. L. W. Brower, W. D., date 2-26-24, a tract land 100 ft. by 142 ft. in SW cor. 22-94-25 .. $4,800.00.

Humboldt Gravel & Tile Co. to Peoples State Bank Corwith Q. C. D. date 2-27-24 lots 1-2-3-4 blk 4 Cor with ..... $1.25.

B. W. McElhinney wf. to F. G. Colby W. D. date 2-23-24 Section 22 and N½ 27-97-23 .... $240,000.00.

Eva Duesenberg hus to Geo. Knaupp W. D. date 3-3-24 That part of NW¼ 28-96-23 lying S & E of open drainage ditch .... $8,000.00.

W. H. Dickinson wf to John F. Victoria W. D. date 3-24-15 S½ SW ¼ blk 9 Stubbins add to Britt ..50.

J. E. Wichman wf to J. F. Victoria Q. C. D. date 9-14-14 N½ NW¼ blk 9 Stubbins first add Britt $1.00.

Nels A. Nelson wf to Martin Bomgarden W. D. date 3-11-24 N½ NE ¼ 35-94-26 ..... $1.00.

James A. Ward wf to Chas. B. Gray, W. D. date 3-10-24, SW¼ 27-95-26 ..... $5,000.00.

Get Divorces

Court convenes at Garner with Judge J. J. Clark presiding. The grand jury had a busy session the past week.

Three divorces have been granted. They are Andrew Wilson from Mrs. Wilson; Mrs. John Klein from Mr. John Klein; Gladys Rentz from John Rentz.

On Wednesday a jury was impaneled to hear a case of Hall vs. Kolfrom. This action is the outgrowth of an automobile collision n the pavment between Garner and Brtt.

A couple of criminal cases were to come before the grand jury Monday.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
A. W. Gauger, Pastor

We have entered upon the Easter Season of the year which is indicative of new life as well as of life eternal. Nature about us is responsive to the occasion. Man too should respond with all his being. To help make this possible the pastor will give a series of pre-Easter sermons beginning next Sunday. A glad welcome awaits you at every service.

The Sunday school is on the upgrade again—another sign of new life and of spring. Let's overtop all former marks next Sunday. You are but one, but you are one—and you are the one that will help make it so!

Do not forget the prayer meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gruetzmacher's on Thursday evening.

Only a few of the World Service books are left. We have orders to double the price on them within a few weeks. You may still have one at the nominal price of fifty cents.

AT THE IDLE HOUR SATURDAY NIGHT

"The Six Fifty" Will Be Shown This Week

A wife's discontent forms the back ground for one of the most striking film romances of the day, as told in "The Six Fifty," new Universal picture at the Idle Hour Saturday night of this week, in which Renee Adoree plays the role of a farmer's bride whose longings for white lights and the gayeties of a city almost wreck a life's happiness.

The story is adapted from Kate McLaurin's stage play of the same name, and is portrayed in a series of dramatic episodes by a special cast. Among the actors appearing in the presentation are Orville Caldwell, noted as Elinor Glyn's avowed ideal of the "perfect lover"; Gertrude Astor, and Bert Woodruff, veteran char acter actor.

Renee Adoree, who plays the principal feminine role, is known in private life as Mrs. Tom Moore. The talented little Frenchwoman has been one of the picture sensations of he seaso.

Striking scenic settings mark the progress of the story. The railway collision scene, the dramatic highlight of the story, was made on a spectacular scale with real train, under artificial lights at night. An entire New England farm was built at Universal City for the rural scene which opens the play.

Two reels of "Fighting Blood" is also on the program and a real comedy, "The Rivals," featuring the Universal comedians, Slim Summerville and Bob Dunn.

On Saturday, March 29 Jack Hoxie will appear in "Men In The Raw." Don't miss this picture.

LOBSTER GROWS NEW EYE

Salamander Also Has This Unusual Advantage Over Human Beings.

The juicier a tissue is the greater its powers of repair, and nature has endowed the eye so generously in this respect, in proportion to its vital importance, that a scratch or cut in the delicate transparent cornea, or watch glass of the eye, actually heals quicker than a similar one in the skin. So keep the germs out of the scratch and nature will do the rest.

It should, however, moderate our human conceit to know that we are not the only pebble on the beach; even such lowly forms as the lobster and the salamander leave us far in the lurch in the matter of repair work, for they cannot merely heal a wounded cornea with neatness and dispatch, but regrow an entire eye—lens, iris, retina and all, if they have been unlucky enough to lose one in a fight or an accident; also, incidentally, they can replace completely a lost claw or limb. If they do not like the hand dealt them in the game of life they can throw it into the discard and draw a new one.

Nor is this a mere figure of speech, for a vanquished and fleeing lobster warrior is reported by a sharp contraction of his muscles to snap off a claw and leave it behind him for his conqueror to devour while he makes good his escape, and a lizard will leave his tail in the hand of his near captor.—Saturday Evening Post.

Logical Mind.

A gentleman who was a member of one of the aristocratic London clubs had his umbrella taken from the rack by some other member. Naturally he was offended, and promptly affixed this notice to the club bulletin board:

"The nobleman who took away an umbrella not his own will please have the goodness to return it to the rack."

The house committee did not like the form of the notice and had the member before them.

"Why should you suppose a nobleman took your umbrella?" they asked him.

"Well," replied the aggrieved member, "the constitution of the club says that the members must be noblemen or gentlemen, and he was no gentleman who took my umbrella."—Youth's Companion.

STUDY OF AGRICULTURE PROVES PROFITABLE IN SCHOOLS

AGRICULTURE IN OUR SCHOOLS

The teaching of agriculture in Hancock county has been a sucessful project this year. The teachers have been given a definite piece of work to do and they have entered enthusiastically and loyally into it.

Instruction in the subject has been confined to poultry as the farm animal study, and to potatoes as a type of farm crops. Definite one-page lessons have been provided to the teachers each week, poultry being studied first. The first examination was held recently and 367 children in the 6th, 7th & 8th grade have filed their papers in the superintendents office. Three town schools, every township and nearly ever y rural school are represented. Much interest is manifest. The lessons were prepared by the extension division of the Iowa State Teachers' College as a part of its work in assisting the teachers on the job to do their work more effectively.

Interest in this work is very much alive because, of the above children 100 will receive a setting of pure bred eggs under certain conditions provided by the Hancock County Fair Association. The eggs are awarded on a bass of scholarship and at least one setting will go to each school where the grade earned is 70 per cent or above. The papers were well written and it was necessary in a number of cases to cast lots to determine who would represent his school in the home project phase of the work. This is a practical type of agriculture because the study at school is followed by practical experience along the same line at home for many of the children during the summer. The chickens will be exhibited at the Fair this fall and this will finish the work on the year's project.

The lessons are planned as a series to cover three year's work, thus providing agricultural material for sixth grade on to the end of its course. The sittings of eggs provide the motive that keeps up the interest in the work.

The children of the county are now studying the potato lessons and an examiation will be given in the near future. In this project a peck of certified Northern grown seed potatoes takes the place of the setting of eggs.

This movement has the hearty support of County Agent Nutty, who is also secretary of the Fair Association.

East Africa Coffee Crop.

Last year the new British colony of Kenya produced 77,902 hundredweights of coffee from 43,359 acres under cultivation, Consul William L. Jenkins, Nairobi, states in a report received by the Department of Commerce. The sister British colony of Tanganyika last year harvested 85,426 hundredweights. The total exports of Uganda amounted to 51,262 hundredweights. No estimates for plantation coffee in Nlarobi and Tanganyika for 1923 have yet been received, but in Kenya colony the planters estimate that the 1923 crop is 99,582 hundredweights, compared with the government estimate of 80,000 hundredweights.

"Waves of Ether."

Many persons have wondered about the so-called waves of ether which, we are told, transmit sound by the wireless telephone. Mountains do not obstruct them, but how is it when the distance is such that a straight line between two stations would pass below the surface of the earth. An authority in such matters declares that the path of the ether waves is not a straight line, but follows the earth's curvature. Ordinary obstructions do not interfere with wireless waves.

Herring Shoals Block Norway Fjords.

The fjords in the extreme north, in the region of Tana and Vadsoe, Norway, have been literally blocked into a semi-solid state by herring shoals. The shoals often penetrate to the narrow heads of the fjords, where they wedge tight into the jetties of small villages and fishing stations. Several ships have been sent to the north to take advantage of the harvest and others have arrived at the herring oil factories heavily laden.

Mountain Going Up in Smoke.

A huge mountain of coal in the storage yard of the Canadian National railways at Bridgeburg, Ont., which has been harboring a smouldering fire in its center for the last two weeks has burst into flame. Officials estimated there were 150,000 tons of coal in the pile. Fire fighters have hesitated to mount the smouldering mountain, fearing a cave-in would precipitate them into the glowing core.

Distance and Enchantment.

"Your constituents have a great deal to say about what you ought to accomplish."

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum; "an important position with the government is like any other kind of a job. The less a person knows about it the easier it seems."

A Hard Audience.

The taxes paid by people here below
Produce some grand displays of varying worth.
It's hard to give the crowd the kind of show
That makes it think it's had its money's worth.

Eskimo Woman Quits Alaska.

Ada Blackjack, an Eskimo, who was the sole survivor of an expedition led to Wrangell island in the Arctic ocean by Alan R. Crawford of Toronto in 1921, arrived at Seattle from Nome on the steamship Victoria.

Breathing Troubles

"How are you feeling, ol' man?" inquired the ward doctor of one of his patients.

"Not so bad, doctor," replied the patient, "but my breathing troubles me."

"Well," assured the doctor, "I'll see if I can stop that tomorrow."

Style Show

At 8 o'clock

Tonight

Wellemeyer's

School News

Freshman News

The General Science class are having experiments in finding the starch in different plants.

The English I class has been studying letter writing the past week.

Sophomore Class

The Botany class is studying the parts of flowers and their functions. They are planning to take field trips this spring which will aid them in their study.

The Agriculture class has completed the chapter on drainage and are studying tillage. This class will also take field trpis this spring. We hope by the end of the year to have some real farmers in the class.

The Juniors have sent for samples of class rings.

The classic "Tale of TwoCities" that the English Literature class is studying this six weeks, seems so far to be very interesting.

The physics class is studying magnetism.

Some of the Domestic Science girls have finished their second garment, and are learning how to make the different kinds of seams.

The Arithmetic class is learing how to make out pay rolls.

Unless the oil investigation raises the price on gasoline, a lot of people will not take much interest in it.

A henpecked husband has nothing to crow about.

MEANS TELLS OF WHOLESALE GRAFT

Former Department of Justice Secret Agent Unfolds Amazing Tale.

Washington.—Gaston B. Means, former agent of the Department of Justice, told the senate committee investigating Attorney General Daugherty that he had collected money for the late Jesse W. Smith, Mr. Daugherty's "bumper and friend," in connection with the plot to check prosecutions in fight-film cases.

Mr. Means dwelt at length upon the "aircraft cases." He said that he had received $100,000 from a Japanese representative of Mitsui & Co., a Japanese firm, which he turned over to Mr. Smith. The money, he declared, was for the purpose of stopping government prosecution of the Standard Aircraft company, against which the government had a claim for overpayment amounting to $6,000,000.

Other large sums of money were received by Mr. Means and turned over to Mr. Smith in connection with "liquor permits." In all of these cases Mr. Means referred to himself as "the money carrier."

Collections for the suppression of prosecution in the Dempsey-Carpentier fight pictures amounted to $50,000, Mr. Means explained in answer to pressing questions of Senator Moses. He declared that this sum was the amount which passed through his hands and that there might have been more. The money was turned over to Mr. Means by messengers in sums ranging around $5,000 to $6,000, he declared.

Mr. Means told of investigations he had made into official actions of several public officers, including Senator Caraway of Arkansas, Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin and Secretary Mellon. He said that he had made the investigations "in search of something damaging." The rifling of Senator LaFollette's office took place shortly after the Wisconsin senator had instigated the oil investigation, he declared.

When asked who was back of the investigation, Means was a little hazy, but he said he understood they were initiated by President Harding. The Mellon investigation, he said, was in connection with the granting of liquor permits.

Prohibition Director Accused in Rum Steal

Chicago — The Chicago Tribune says: "Federal indictments charging $900,000 illicit booze transactions are being prepared, it became known Friday night, based on evidence in the hands of State's Attorney Crowe and federal agents with whom he has been co-operating. More than twenty-five persons will be named. Sensational evidence has been adduced against two prominent men, one of them a high prohibition official. These two are: Leon Brook, former first assistant prohibition director for the Illinois-Iowa-Wisconsin region. Brook now is general prohibition director for California. Sachet H. Verrall, general manager and a stockholder of the Sibley Warehouse and Storage company."

Illinois Mines Cut Coal Prices; Pits May Close

Chicago.—Rock bottom prices on southern Illinois domestic coal at the mines were announced here. Lump and egg were listed at $3 a ton. It represents a drop of 75 cents. Hundreds of mines are expected to be forced to close because of the reduction.

New prices are $3 for lump and egg; $2.75 for No. 1 nut; $2.50 on No. 2 and No. 3 nut; $2.35 on No. 4 nut, and $1.90 on No. 5 carbon. Mine run is listed at $2.50 in Chicago and $2.75 outside of the city. Prices are effective immediately.

House Gets $254,000,000 Army Bill; Small Force

Washington.—The army appropriation bill, carrying a total of $254,224,865, was reported to the house from the appropriations committee. It provides for an army of 12,000 officers and 125,000 men, as at present. There is an appropriation of $37,250,000 for rivers and harbors, the distribution being left to the rivers and harbors engineers.

Mexican Rebels Give Up in State of Guerrero

Mexico City.—A landslide of rebel troops towards the government from the state of Guerrero began when 400, including a number of prominent generals, surrendered at Toluca, 300 at Cuernavaca, and 800 at Puente de Ixtla. Gen. Romulo Figueroa is reported dangerously ill at Iguala, the insurgent headquarters.

Georgian Court Sold

Lakewood, N. J.—Georgian court, the palatial home of the late George Jay Gould, built twenty-five years ago at a cost said to be close to $2,000,000, has been sold to Mount St. Mary's college of Plainfield.

League Appeals for Albania

Geneva.—The League of Nations has appropriated 50,000 Swiss francs for the relief of Albania and has issued an appeal to the nations of the world to give relief.

LEONARD WOOD, JR.

Leonard Wood, Jr., son of Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, who was subpoenaed by the senate oil committee to tell of a story credited to him that his father had received an offer from oil men to back him for president if certain considerations were granted them.

WOMAN TELLS OF DAUGHERTY DEALS

Ex-Wife of Attorney General's Friend a Witness

Washington.—The senate investigation of Attorney General Daugherty began under stormy and spectacular conditions. The Brookhart committee listened to a story by Miss Roxy Stinson of Columbus, O., the divorced wife of the late Jesse Smith, Attorney General Daughterty's intimate friend.

Among the most sensational features of Miss Stinson's testimony were:

That Jesse Smith told her in a discussion at Atlantic City that "we," meaning, she insists, Smith, Daugherty and perhaps others, were involved in a deal to sell rights to exhibit Dempsey-Carpentier fight pictures, which Smith expected to yield a profit of $180,000. The transportation of fight pictures in interstate commerce is forbidden by law. That once when she urged Smith to stop speculating because he was losing money, he told her that he had just deposited $175,000 of "Eastern money" in the bank of Mal Daugherty, brother of the attorney general, in Washington Courthouse, O., to protect his (Smith's) losses.

Miss Stinson said that Smith was worth from $150,000 to $175,000 when he came to Washington with Mr. Daugherty and $250,000 two years later when he killed himself.

It was asserted by Miss Stinson that Smith's will left her $25,000, while it provided $25,000 for Mal Daugherty, a brother of the attorney general, now a banker at Washington Courthouse, O., and $25,000 for Harry M. Daugherty. Each also received a fifth interest in the residue.

U. S. Seizes Big Liner for Drug and Liquor Traffic

Washington. — Government agents seized the Royal Mail liner Orduna in New York harbor for violation of the customs, national prohibition, and narcotic laws. Eight persons were arrested, including the chief steward of the steamer. The seizure was the result of a raid made on the vessel when eight members of the crew were arrested and $10,000 in whisky and narcotics were seized.

Charges Are False, Says Attorney General

Washington — Attorney General Daugherty pronounced as "false and untrue" the statements of Miss Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of Jesse W. Smith, before the senate committee investigating him. Mr. Daugherty asserted he had never participated with Jesse Smith or any one else in any dishonorable undertaking for any purpose.

New York Banks Stake France to 100 Millions

New York.—Establishment of a banking credit of not less than $100,000,000 in favor of the Bank of France has been arranged by an American banking group headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., it was announced. The loan is fully secured by gold held in the vaults of the Bank of France.

Audit of Income Tax Is Still Seven Years Behind

Washington.—More than 8,500 income tax return cases for 1917 still are awaiting settlement in the internal revenue bureau, the select senate committee investigating the administration of that bureau was told by Commissioner David H. Blair.

Penn. Men Get Raise

Philadelphia. — Conductors, brakemen, baggagemen and switchtenders employed on the Pennsylvania Railroad system have been granted a 6.2 per cent wage increase, it was officially announced here.

Felder Pleads Not Guilty

New York.—Colonel Thomas B. Felder, indicted jointly with Gaston B. Means for an alleged conspiracy to bribe Attorney General Daugherty, entered a plea of not guilty.

COURT HALTS DOME DRILLING

Injunction Against Mammoth Oil Co. Granted by U. S. Judge.

Cheyenne, Wyo.—All drilling operations of the Mammoth Oil company on the Teapot Dome oil reserve are halted and the operation of existing wells is reduced to the minimum deemed "necessary to prevent loss or damage" under the terms of a temporary injunction granted by Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy at tthe request of the United States government.

Judge Kennedy appointed Rear Admiral Joseph Strauss of the United States navy and A. E. Watts, vice president of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, as joint receivers to take charge of the properties and sell oil from producing wells pending the suit for annulment of the lease of the reserve to Harry F. Sinclair and the Mammoth Oil company.

The injunction and receivership were granted by Judge Kennedy after a preliminary hearing which followed the filing of the bill of equity in which the government alleges false representations in the transfer of the Teapot Dome reserve from the Navy to the Interior department and also charges fraud in the execution of the lease to the Sinclair interests.

Besides the temporary injunction and receivership, the government in its complaint asks that the court enter a final decree canceling the leases and contracts, returning the properties to the government, and enforcing accounting.

The complaint was filed by Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, special government counsel, and Albert L. Walton, United States district attorney for Wyoming.

Walsh Attacks Navy for Sending Marines to Dome

Washington.—Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt and Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, commandant of the Marine corps, told the senate public lands committee that they sent marines to the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve to eject trespassers at the request of former Secretary of the Interior Fall, with the approval of President Harding. Senator Walsh sharply criticized the action of the Navy and Interior departments in using armed forces to compel the squatters to vacate when the matter could have been settled just as well in the courts.

California Judge Takes Secretary Denby's Post

San Francisco.—Curtis W. Wilbur, chief justice of the California Supreme court, announced that he had received a telegram from President Coolidge tendering him the office of secretary of the navy, made vacant by the resignation of Edwin Denby, and that he had accepted. Justice Wilbur said he telegraphed to President Coolidge that he would arrange to go to Washington as soon as his appointment was confirmed by the senate.

200,000 Rail Shopmen to Ask Pay Increase

Chicago.—Official demands are now in process of preparation at the Chicago headquarters of Bert M. Jewell, head of the Railway Employees' Department of the American Federation of Labor, for increases that will benefit the wage rates of 200,000 shopmen to the extent of 4 cents an hour each, or a yearly total of approximately $23,000,000. Information to this effect was disclosed by reliable sources closely affiliated with the local office of the shop crafts' head.

U. S. Asks Million Bond for Big Liner Orduna

New York.—The government, which seized the Royal Mail liner Orduna, demanded $1,000,000 bond for permitting her to sail, ordered her officers to trial on liquor and narcotics smuggling charges, and accepted pleas of guilty from two of the seven members of the crew. The two to plead guilty were Ship's Storekeeper Charles Dawe and his first assistant, Harry Osman.

172 Is Official Death Toll in Mine Explosion

Castle Gate, Utah.—The death toll from three explosions in the Utah Fuel company mine is officially estimated at 172, including the one rescue worker overcome by poisonous gases. Mine company officials state they have checked and rechecked their lists and announced 171 men and not 173 were under ground when the blasts occurred. All but five bodies have been recovered.

Dawes Report Delayed

Paris.—Completion of the Dawes committee's report to the reparation commission will be delayed by new obstacles which have arisen in connection with the plan for the establishment of a gold bank of issue.

U. S. in Boundary Dispute

Dublin.—The Ulster boundary question directly involves the American immigration law. At present all Ireland is viewed as one unit by the United States.

SIR ESME HOWARD

Most recent photographic portrait of Sir Esme Howard, the new British ambassador to the United States, made at the British embassy in Washington.

U. S. GOVERNMENT MARKET REPORT

Washington.—For the week ending March 14. — LIVE STOCK—Chicago prices: Hogs, $7.55 for the top and $7.35@7.50 for the bulk. Medium and good beef steers, $7.85@11.40; butcher cows and heifers, $3.90@10.50; feeder steers, $5.00@8.50; light and medium weight veal calves, $7.75@11.25. Fat lambs, $13.75@16.00; feeding lambs, $14.00@15.50; yearlings, $11.00@14.00; fat ewes, $6.75@10.75.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Northern sacked round white potatoes, $1.20@1.40 in Chicago, $1.00@1.05 at shipping points. Yellow varieties onions, $2.00@2.50 sacked per 100 lbs. in consuming centers. Cabbage, Texas flat type, $50@65 in midwestern cities, mostly $28 f. o. b. Baldwin apples, $4.25 per bbl. in Cincinnati, $3.65 f. o. b.; northwestern extra fancy winesaps, $2.00@2.50 per box leading markets.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $24.50 Cincinnati, $26.00 Chicago, $19.00 Minneapolis, $25.50 St. Louis; No. 2 timothy, $22.00 Chicago, $17.50 Minneapolis; No. 1 alfalfa, $28.00 Chicago, $22.00 Minneapolis; No. 1 prairie, $19.00 Chicago, $16.50 Minneapolis, $18.50 St. Louis.

GRAIN—No. 1 dark northern spring wheat, $1.13¼@1.28¼ Minneapolis; No. 2 hard winter wheat, $1.05¾@1.09¾ Chicago; No. 2 red winter wheat, $1.09½@1.10 St. Louis; No. 2 yellow corn, 79½@79¾c Chicago, 73¼@73½c Minneapolis; No. 3 yellow corn, 76½@77c St. Louis; No. 3 white oats, 45@46c Chicago, 47@47½c St. Louis, 42c Minneapolis.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, 47c Chicago. Cheese at Wisconsin primary markets: Twins, 20½c; single daisies, 21¼c; double daisies, 21c; young Americas, 21½c; longhorns, 21c; square prints, 21¾c.

Daugherty Gives Bribery Charges to Grand Jury

Washington.—Acting on the resolution of the house of representatives adopted Tuesday, urging him to hasten investigation into charges made before the Chicago grand jury that two members of congress accepted money improperly, Attorney General Daugherty rushed the case before a grand jury of the District of Columbia.

U. S. Sells $1,000,000 War Supplies to Mexico

Washington.—More than $1,000,000 worth of surplus war materials have been sold to the Obregon government by the United States since January. These include 2,900 bombs, 33 machine guns, 20,100 rifles, 5,010,000 rounds of rifle ammunition and 11 DH-4 airplanes.

Eleven Men Are Rescued at Sea; 22 Are Missing

New York.—Only eleven of the 33 sailors of the steamer Santiago, which sunk off Cape Hatteras, have been rescued. Officials of the New York and Cuba Mail Steamship company, owners of the ship, have given up hope for the others. The eleven survivors were in a lifeboat picked up by the Norwegian steamship Cissy.

Taxpayers Sure of Slice on 1923 Rate June 15

Washington.—Assurances were given by both Republicans and Democrats in congress that taxpayers might rest assured that notwithstanding the failure to give a reduction in taxes on 1923 income before Saturday's filing of returns, the retroactive cut was a certainty.

Filipinos Kill 48 Moros, but the Chief Escapes

Manila. — Forty-eight Moros were killed and six Philippine constabulary soldiers and one officer were wounded in a battle at Cotabato, Mindanao, when the constabulary surrounded the notorious Datu (Chief) Santiago. The latter escaped with five of his men during the fighting.

Bomb British Legation

Athens.—A bomb was exploded at the entrance of the British legation, causing material damage, but injuring no one. Greek officials expressed belief that the incident was staged in an effort to discredit the government.

Radio Speed Measured

Washington.—Experts of the Radio Corporation of America tested the velocity of radio and found that impulses travel at the rate of 8,500 miles in .045 of a second.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

A $65,000 school was voted, 242 to 127 at New Virginia.

Black Hawk county was named for Chief Blackhawk, the head of the Sac and Fox tribes.

W. E. Poogue has a prize Rhode Island hen that laid 25 eggs in the 29 days of February.

A club to preserve the few long hairs left in the high school has been formed at Clarion.

The receipt of 381,342 hogs in February broke the record of the Sioux City stock yards.

Oskaloosa, county seat of Mahaska county, took its name from the wife of the Indian Chief Mahaska.

According to a new Iowa law all property rights in a dog cease after January 15th, if the tax for the year has not been paid.

P. M. Dahlen of Cascade, has a letter from Burbank saying that the theory about planting in the dark of the moon, etc., is all bunk.

R. L. Polk & Co., have issued the thirty-second volume of their Des Moines city directory. They estimate the population of the city as 147,502.

The 113th cavalry of the Iowa National guard may hold its annual encampment this summer at Fort Riley, Kansas, instead of Camp Dodge, as in the past.

Nine hundred fifty thousand dollars worth of 5 per cent road bonds were sold recently by Black Hawk county at par, accrued interest, and $1,500 premium.

During the last year, the Public Health Nurses' association, Des Moines, took care of 491 matternity cases. There was not a single death for the year.

Samuel Simmons, father of a world war veteran, was honored at the funeral by flowers from the American Legion, in accordance with the "Iowa idea" of the legion.

Although the people have voted for them, the city council of Kalona has prohibited Sunday movies and dances by ordinance. The mayor says he will veto the ordinance.

Over fifty Iowa college students from the Orient were in attendance at the second annual Iowa State Oriental Christian Student Conference, which just closed at Cedar Rapids.

Mrs. Martin Van de Haar, of Altoona, has a flock of 240 S. C. Rhode Island hens and pullets that laid 2,504 eggs in January and 2,954 in February on 92 cents of feed a day.

Mortality among the babies in Des Moines has been reduced from 109 per thousand, when the public health nurses were getting their work under way ten years ago, to 67.1 a thousand at present.

F. W. Steffen, of Dubukue, who has just marketed a carload of hogs at Chicago, wholesales his poultry. He ships his geese, chickens, etc., to the Chicago commission men, just as the local buyers do.

F. W. Steffen, of Dubukue, who has just marketed a carload of hogs at Chicago, wholesales his poultry. He ships his geese, chickens, etc., to the Chicago commission men, just as the local buyers do.

The annual convention of the Iowa Horse Showers association will be held at Des Moines June 4. An attendance of approximately 150 men affiliated with the horse showing industry is expected.

Endorsement of the proposed bond issue of $1,500,000 for completing the hard surfacing of Polk county's primary roads has been given by the board of directors of the Des Moines Chamber of Commerce.

The populatoin of Des Moines is 147,502 according to estimates based on R. L. Polk and Company's 1924 edition of the city directory just off of the press. The 1923 directory estimated the city's population as 145,063.

The Iowa Agricultural Experiment association at Ames has a limited amount of Iogren oats to distribute this year. These are being sent out in three-bushel lots, or enough to plant one acre in comparison with a home grown variety, at actual cost, or $3 per lot.

In the summary on the Iowa agricultural situation agricultural and live stock statisticians declare that "the tender spot in the Iowa agricultural situation is prices. It is a shortage of buying power and not a shortage of production that handicaps the Iowa farmer today."

Fire at the state industrial school for boys destroyed a hog house containing seventeen brood sows and several pigs. The loss will approximate $1,000. The fire is supposed to have originated from a heating device installed in the house to keep the young pigs comfortable.

More Iowa people will pay income taxes this year, and the average tax will be higher, than last year or for several years past, Ora Williams, division chief of the internal revenue office says.

It would be a mistake for the farmers of Iowa to materially increase their corn acreage in 1924 with the expectation of receiving high prices for their corn a year from now. There will undoubtedly be a tendency for corn to take the place of wheat, especially where the largest reductions in the sowing of winter wheat were reported this fall.

WRIGLEY'S

after every meal

Cleanses mouth and teeth and aids digestion.

Relieves that overeaten feeling and acid mouth.

Its l-a-s-t-i-n-g flavor satisfies the craving for sweets.

Wrigley's is double value in the benefit and pleasure it provides.

Sealed in its Purity Package.

Why She Was Interested

The young man in the Pullman car seeing that a handsome girl was looking at him very intently, thought he had made an impression and in a few minutes changed his seat to the vacant one beside her.

"Haven't we met before somewhere?" he ventured to ask.

"Well, I'm not quite sure," she replied, "but I think you are the man I saw hanging around the night our motor car was stolen."

The young man vanished into the smoking car, amid the sniggers of those who had overheard them.

Stop the Pain.

The hurt of a burn or a cut stops when Cole's Carbolisalve is applied. It heals quickly without scars. 30c and 60c at all druggists, or send 30c to The J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill.—Advertisement

Something Wrong

May—How smoothly the auto runs.

Ray—Yes; what do you suppose is wrong with it?

Unrest, most of it, can be cured by properly choosing one's week-end adventures.

Ill treatment curdles the milk of human kindness.

ALWAYS READY FOR

Baker's Breakfast Cocoa

Growing children want and frequently need more nourishment than adults, owing to the activity of their restless little bodies. Baker's Cocoa fills all the requirements of the dietitian and physician as a delicious, pure and healthful beverage.

Just as good for older people.

It is the cocoa of high quality

Made only by

Walter Baker & Co. Ltd.

Established 1780

Mills at Dorchester, Mass. and Montreal, Canada

BOOKLET OF CHOICE RECIPES SENT FREE

for catarrh

Thousands afflicted with nasal catarrh have found Zonite highly efficacious as treatment for it. Spray the nose morning and night according to directions on bottle. Tones up the mucous membranes and kills germs without injuring body tissues. Doesn't irritate or burn and is positively non-poisonous.

Zonite KILLS GERMS

KEMP'S BALSAM

"Now I Am Well and the Mother of Two Children"

Just Another Story About the Goodness of PE-RU-NA

Mrs. Anna Linder, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 44, Dassel, Meeker County, Minn., writes: "For two years I suffered with that terrible disease, chronic catarrh. Fortunately I saw your advertisement and took Pe-ru-na. Now I am well and the mother of two children. I owe it all to Pe-ru-na. I would not be without that great remedy for twice its cost, for I am well and strong now. I cannot speak in too high terms of its value as a medicine."

For more than half a century Dr. Hartman's Pe-ru-na has been performing just such wonderwork as this.

Pe-ru-na is sold everywhere in both tablet and liquid form. Insist upon having genuine Pe-ru-na.

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER COMPOUND

Horses and Mules can be kept on their feet and working if owners give "SPOHN'S" for Distemper, Influenza, Shipping Fever, Coughs and Colds. Cheapest and surest means of escaping these diseases. Occasional doses work wonders. Give "SPOHN'S" for Dog Distemper. Used for thirty years. 60 cents and $1.20 at drug stores.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO. GOSHEN, IND. U.S.A.

It is interesting to watch an impulsive, irascible man trying to be cold and deliberate.

A Standard External Remedy of known value—safe and effective. It's "Allcock's"—the original and genuine porous plaster.—Adv.

Kind Boss

First Office Boy—What did your boss say when you asked him for a raise?

Second Office Boy—Told me I could wash the windows on the seventeenth floor.

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A BOX

Cures Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion. Drug stores. Adv.

A Cow's Age

City Miss—How old is that cow?

Hank—Two years.

City Miss—How can you tell?

Hank—By his horns.

City Miss—Oh, yes, it has two horns, hasn't it?

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

Changed Her Mind

Servant—Mrs. De Style is downstairs and wants to see you.

Mistress—I'm too ill to see her.

Servant—But she wants to show you her new gown.

Mistress—That's different. Tell her I'll be down in a minute.

Not Identified

The orderly officer was inspecting cations. "Any complaints?" he asked.

"Just taste this, sir," said a Tommy, presenting a cup of liquid.

"It's very good soup," said the officer.

"Yes, sir, but the corporal says it's tea and the cook says it's coffee, and I found a scrub brush at the bottom of the kettle."—Pathfinder.

The Revivalist's Conclusion

A revivalist preacher, at all times forceful in his language, his religion being of the "shirtsleeve" order, had taken for his text "Vanity." To point his moral, he said:

"Now, if there is a woman in the congregation who didn't look in the mirror before coming to the meeting this morning, I want to see her; I want her to stand up."

A single woman rose and stood with meekly downcast eyes. To describe her in a kindly way one would say she was homely. The revivalist rested his earnest eyes upon her.

"Well, heaven bless you, sister," he said. "It certainly is a pity you didn't."—Boston Globe.

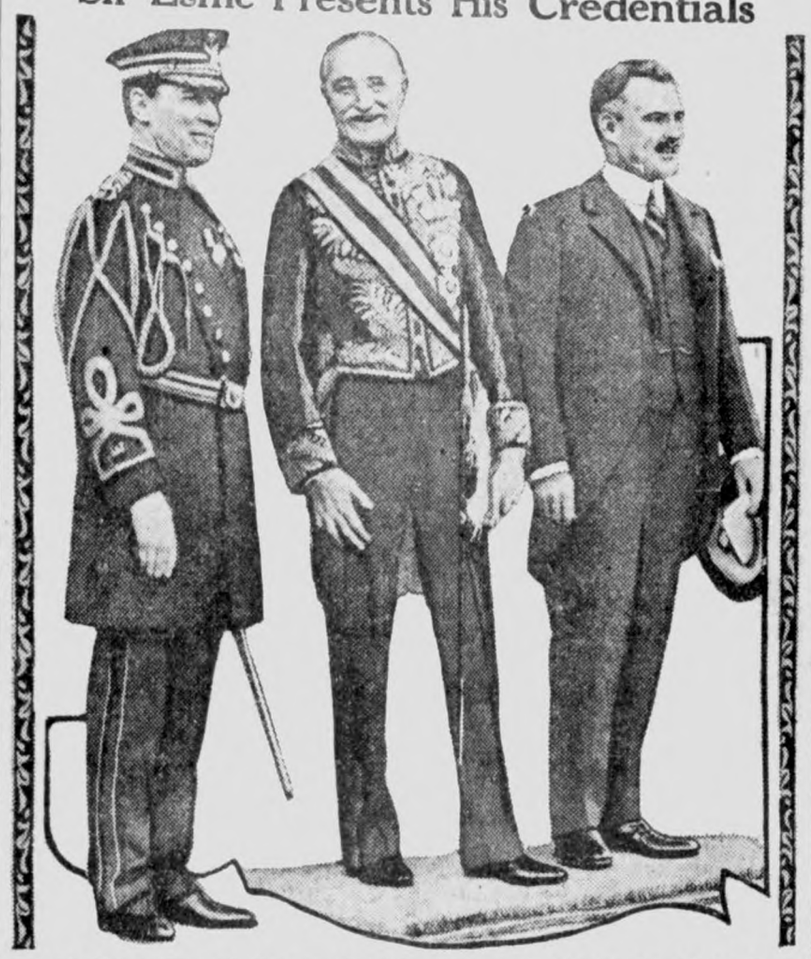
BOSCHEE'S SYRUP

Allays irritation, soothes and heals throat and lung inflammation. The constant irritation of a cough keeps the delicate mucus membrane of the throat and lungs in a congested condition, which BOSCHEE'S SYRUP gently and quickly heals. For this reason it has been a favorite household remedy for colds, coughs, bronchitis and especially for lung troubles in millions of homes all over the world for the last fifty-seven years, enabling the patient to obtain a good night's rest, free from coughing with easy expectoration in the morning. You can buy BOSCHEE'S SYRUP wherever medicines are sold.

Fuad, King of Egypt, Makes a Visit to Sinai

For the first time since the reign of Cleopatra, a ruler of Egypt visited historic Sinai the other day when King Fuad journeyed there. He is shown here (the short, stout man) with members of his suite arriving at El-Arich. Above are shown some of the thousands of natives hurrying, afoot and on camels, to greet the monarch.

Sir Esme Presents His Credentials



Sir Esme Howard, the new British ambassador, leaving the White House after presenting his credentials. Colonel Sherrill, aide to the President, and Assistant Secretary of State Wright are with him.

American Mummy Older Than King Tut

Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Morris, of the American Museum of Natural History, with a mummy which they estimate is four hundred years older than that of Tut-Ankh-Amen. They found it in New Mexico.

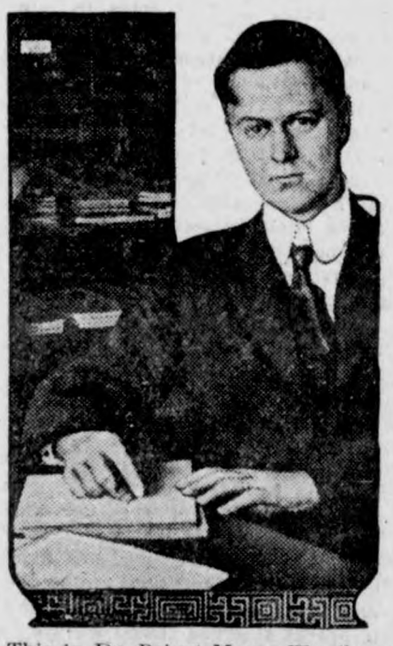
Making Feet Strong for Walking

The majority of students of Wellesley college, Wellesley, Mass., do about five miles of walking a day, and this needs good, strong feet. A series of exercises has been introduced to strengthen the foot muscles.

TRAVELED IN A CRATE

This is William Greenly, who was packed in a crate and shipped by freight, collect, to his home at Fort Worth. The youth was broke, and trying to reach his home from Tucson, Ariz., tramp friends crated him and shipped the crate, marked as containing "dishes."

BUREAU BY HIMSELF



This is Dr. Robert Morse Woodbury, director of statistical research of the children's bureau, Washington, which includes investigations and reports on all matters pertaining to child life and welfare of American people. He is the only man in this bureau.

PROCLAIMED CALIPH

King Hussein Ibn Ali of the Hedjaz has accepted an offer of the caliphate from the Moslems of Mesopotamia, Transjordania and the Hedjaz, who have proclaimed him caliph.

SHOULD ALL BE IN THE ORGANIZATION

Walter M. Pierce, Governor of Oregon, says regarding the American Legion:

"Such a body of men organized into a compact whole, can and will wield an influence that will make it possible for this nation to safely ride the severest storms that the peculiar economic conditions of the World war may cause.

"Since American institutions came into existence, students of the world have freely predicted their early decline, alleging that when the opportunity of acquiring free land was gone and the cities grew large, the peculiar character developed by the sturdy farmer of America would be lost in the whirl of great city development. There are those living who believe such a time is approaching.

"The four million boys who received their military training in the late war, all eligible to the American Legion, when gathered, as they should be into that great organization, will constitute the greatest single force in defense of American institutions."

NEW DIVISION IS NOW IN OPERATION

A new division is now in operation at national headquarters of the American Legion. This, authorized by the fifth annual convention, will handle preparation of a program of post activities and membership detail. It will include an educational course for officials of local posts, and other plans to put Legion efforts on a high plane.

This division was formerly an activity of national headquarters during the earlier days of the Legion's organization, but because of the expense attached, had been ordered consolidated with other work. Under mandate of the convention in San Francisco this work will be amplified to meet requirements of the organization, a suitable appropriation having been provided.

Prior to the appointment of Russell G. Creviston as national adjutant to succeed Lemuel Bolles, he had, as assistant adjutant, done much of the work in this direction. At the 1923 department adjutant's conference Mr. Creviston reported the results of a survey made of the entire 11,000 posts of the organization in regard to relation to the communities served, what the definite programs of these posts showed, and actual accomplishment. With assumption of the duties of national adjutant, and the authorization of the new division, Mr. Creviston has relinquished active prosecution of the work, though it remains under his direct supervision.

Frank E. Samuel.

Frank E. Samuel, for four and one-half years department adjutant of the Legion in Kansas, has been granted a leave of absence by department officials to take charge of the newly created division. Samuel, one of the best known workers among administrative officers of the Legion, was chosen for this work because of his intimate touch with the posts in the field. The Legion in Kansas serves 380 communities and regularly enrolls more than one-third of all the service men the state sent to war. Perhaps in no one state is the influence of the local post so carefully responded to as in Kansas. The Legion there had the greatest number of posts participating in the "community chest" raised in its cities; it secured passage of the bonus bill which brought to the former soldier the greatest amount of money—$1 for each day of service; it established a state-wide publicity service that has gained much favored reputation in every section; and succeeded in endowing the fund of $100,000 provided in acceptance of the Dabney gift for a national home for Legion and World war orphans.

Samuel was an enlisted man during the war, serving in the military intelligence and operations section of the Three Hundred and Fifty-third Infantry, an all-Kansas regiment, and a unit of the famous Eighty-ninth division. At the signing of the armistice, he was attending an officer's training school in France. On his return to the United States, he affiliated with the Legion, and soon thereafter became department adjutant. In point of service, he is the third oldest now at work in 60 Legion departments.

Rejuvenated

Prominent retired merchant says he feels like new man since Tanlac relieved him of his troubles. Can now outwalk men 20 years younger.

R. E. Boyd, 5000 Fourteenth St., N. W., Washington, D. C., for forty-eight years prominent hardware merchant in the national capital, but now retired, lends his name to further the cause of Tanlac.

"Indigestion and stomach weakness of a very pronounced type had troubled me for several months prior to last October fifteenth," said Mr. Boyd, recently, "but since that date the Tanlac treatment has made a new man of me. Now I eat heartily, never have a sign of indigestion, sleep like a log, and get up mornings feeling like an athlete. Today I can outwalk men twenty years younger. Tanlac alone put me in my present fine physical condition, enabling me to get more real pleasure than ever before out of meeting and mingling with friends. Tanlac has rejuvenated me completely, so to speak. It's the finest medicine I ever ran across."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills.

Simpler Than That

"I say, Tom, are you ever troubled with sleeplessness?"

"I am. Some nights I don't sleep three hours," replied Tom.

"I pity you, then," remarked Bill. "I've got it awfully bad. I've been afflicted now for about two years. The doctor calls it 'neurio insomnia paralaxitis.'"

Tom grunted and said: "I've had it about six months; but we call it a baby."

WOMEN! BEWARE! REFUSE IMITATIONS

Warning! Not All Package Dyes Are "Diamond Dyes."

Diamond Dyes

Always ask for "Diamond Dyes" and if you don't see the name "Diamond Dyes" on the package—refuse it—hand it back!

Each 15-cent package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint skirts, dresses, waists, sweaters, stockings, kimonos, coats, draperies, coverings—everything new, even if she has never dyed before. Choose any color at drug store. Refuse substitutes!

Agar

The only agar manufacturing plant outside of Japan is located at Los Angeles. The agar is a product of seaweed and is much used for medical and other purposes.

Cuticura for Pimply Faces. To remove pimples and blackheads smear them with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Once clear keep your skin clear by using them for daily toilet purposes. Don't fail to include Cuticura Talcum. Advertisement.

Hopeless

Hoyle—What! A bachelor yet?

Doyle—Yes. I'm looking for a girl who can love, honor and obey.

Nothing Better for Constipation than one or two Brandreth Pills at bed time. They cleanse the system, purify the blood and keep you well.—Adv.

Most of the "good times" are exaggerated in description.

Say only what is necessary and notice how still it is.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

Relief for Coughs

Use PISO'S—this prescription quickly relieves children and adults. A pleasant syrup. No opiates. 35c and 60c sizes sold everywhere.

Political Announcements

COUNTY RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election to the office of Recorder of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Clarissa Abel. *

I hreeby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock Contuy, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the Primaries to be held in June, 1924.—H. L. Suckow, Klemme, Ia.*

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican Primary to be held in June, 1924.—H. C. Meyer. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to a decision of the republican voters at the primary election in June, 1924. I solicit your support on a platform of strict economy. fair and impartial treatment.—Wallace Darrah. *

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1924 Primaries.—A. O. Christensen, Crystal Lake, Iowa.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of Supervisor of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the June 1924 primary. —Fred Oxley, Corwith.

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary —John Suurballe. (J-10)

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—H. A. Sweigard. *

COUNTY AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of County Auditor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters of the June, 1924 Primary.—J. D. Madison. *

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Verne C. Grau. J-17)

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock County, Iowa, subject to the decision of the republican priaries to be held in June 1924. I solicit the support of all voters, both men and women.—V. S. White.

COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—J. C. Hanson, Garner, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination of Clerk of Courts of Hancock County subject to a decision of the voters at the June 1924 Primaries.—Chris J. Johansen, Britt, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, and solicit your support at the June Primary election, 1924.—F. P. Oleson. F-14

COUNTY SHERIFF

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 Primaries. I solicit the vote of everybody.—C. N. White. Klemme, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate on the Republican ticket for Sheriff of Hancock County at the June primaries. Pledging tht same service that I have previously given while in public office.—Peck Hanson.

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county. subject to the will of the voters at the republican primaries to be held in June 1924.—Howard Hanson, Crystal Lake. *

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock Coutny, subject to the decision of the voters at the primary in June.—W. C. Zeismer.

FOR STATE SENATOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for State Senator from this 43rd district of Iowa comprising Cerro Gordo, Franklin and Hancock counties, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 primaries. If nominated and elected I agree to abide by the precedent established in this district and will not be a candidate for a second term.—C. F. JOHNSTON. Sheffield, Iowa. Feb. 1st, 1924.

COUNTY REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Representative from the 86th district, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1924, Primarjes. —Frank M. Hanson, Garner, Iowa.

"It's all in the cut," said the surgeon, as he forgot and sewed up a sponge and knife in his patient.

Many a young man would get a hard bump if thrown on his own resources.

Hell may be paved with good intentions, but at least bonds did not have to be issued for all the paving.

People who are sensitive should keep their feet where they will not be stepped on.

New Spring Suits
$40

offering the utmost in style and value

Tailored from fine woolens in the seasons best styles, the suits we are offering at $40 are unusual values.

We bae this opinion on the quality of the woolens, the smartness of the styles, the wide range of patterns.

Let us demonstrate.

Styles for Men and Young Men

Patton Bros. Co.

Where a dollar does its duty

MASON CITY and Manly, Iowa

WHEAT GRINDING IS VERY OLD

Refined Flour Used Today Has Only Been in Use for Half a Century.

The conversion of wheat into flour was one of the earliest developments of civilization, and even the primitive races in the dawn of history submitted the grain to a coarse pounding between stones.

Perhaps the oldest flour "mills" in existence are the crude stones found among the remains of the ancient lake dwelling in Switzerland. The refined white flour now generally used is a comparatively modern innovation. The elaborate processes to which the grain is subjected in order to make the "finished product" fine and white has been largely developed within the last half century.

The inventor of graham bread and flour was Rev. Sylvester Graham, a New England clergyman, who devoted the major part of his life to the advocacy of a vegetarian dietic theory. In 1830 he introduced graham bread, made of unsifted wheat flour, and thereafter urged its use in books, pamphlets and lectures.—Detroit News.

Saws for Marble.

The quarries of a Vermont company produce every year more than 1,000,000 cubic feet of stone. In the early days the quarrying proper was done largely by manual and animal labor. At present four hydroelectric power stations, supplemented by two steam-driven generating stations, when necessary, supply the power to run all the machinery in the quarries.

One especially interesting application of electric power is seen in the "gang saws" that saw the giant blocks of marble into slabs of varying thickness. The saws are made of soft iron one-eighth of an inch thick and four inches wide and are toothless. Small pumps deliver a mixture of sand and water to the saw and the sand does the cutting. There are at the quarries more than three hundred of these electrically run "gangs," which work in groups of from twelve to forty-three gangs.

Lent Instituted in A. D. 130.

This penitential season lasting 40 days is observed in the Roman Catholic, Anglican and other Christian churches, from Ash Wednesday to Easter day, exclusive of Sundays. It is said to have been instituted by Pope Telesphorus in A. D. 130. In early days Lent commenced on Sunday, now known as the first Sunday in Lent; but in 487 the four days preceding were added by Pope Felix III, thus increasing the number of fast days to 40. Lent was first observed in England in 640. Previous to 1543 the use of meat was prohibited during this season, but in that year Henry VIII of England issued a proclamation permitting the use of white meat. The use of meat was wholly forbidden by James I in 1619 and 1625 and again by Charles I in 1627 and 1631. The word Lent is derived from the Anglo-Saxon Lenten (spring).

Matches Not 100 Years Old.

The first sulphur matches, put on the market in 1833, came in square blocks of wood split well down, from which individual matches might be broken. When one ignited a most breath-choking, sulphur odor arose. The first matches put up in small boxes were imported from Sweden and were a great improvement over the old sulphur match. Sweden has continued making most of our safety matches, although Japan has been an aggressive competitor. A good many matches bearing a Swedish label are made in Japan, that being one way the Japanese have of getting the business.—Capper's Weekly.

Seal in Clever Escape.

A seal weighing 150 pounds which was held in a storehouse on the dock at Santa Barbara, Cal., awaiting shipment, escaped in a most remarkable manner. It forced a hole in the wire net over its box, climbed on another box some three feet high under a window, broke out a pane of glass 8 by 10 inches in size and forced its way out on the dock from which a 12-foot drop landed it in the ocean. How the seal got through the narrow opening in the window is a mystery, but it did so without cracking any of the other panes of glass.

A Case to Compromise.

"My client," declared the first lawyer, "is willing to do the right thing."

"So is mine," said the second lawyer.

"In that case matters ought to be easy."

"I don't know. The next question is, what is the right thing?"

"Well?"

"And I fear it will take a long lawsuit to settle that."

Most Attractive.

Two business men were having a confab when a third appeared on the scene of action.

"I say, Bill, settle this argument, will you?"

"What's the row?"

"Should a man use perfumery of any sort?"

"Well, a trace of gasoline is permissible."

Too Whit, Too Whoo.

The owl, he is a noble bird,
And he has lots of grit;
This is the story that I heard,
To-wit:
He went to see his lady friend;
He didn't bill or coo,
But stayed with her for hours on end
To woo.

THIS ESKIMO HAD GUMPTION

Work of Native Woman, Who Was Sole Survivor of Arctic Expedition, Is Marvelous.

Those who have followed the daily press during recent weeks have probably noticed the disastrous and tragic ending of the recent Wrangel island arctic expedition, in the account of which Ada Blackjack, an Eskimo woman, figures strikingly, says Madison Cooper in the Flower Grower.

For fortitude, courage, resourcefulness, religious merit and all around gumption, Ada Blackjack serves as an object lesson to many of her brothers and sisters of greater opportunities and enlightenment. Compared with a person of the strongest mental balance and with the greatest physical endurance and experience, the accomplishments of this mite of humanity (she is less than five feet tall), are most marvelous. While nursing a dying companion, confined to his bed for weeks, this little woman performed all of the duties necessary for an existence in the polar regions, including cutting wood, trapping, hunting, cooking, etc. She even during this time learned to use firearms and shot seals to help out the scanty food supply.

The real worth of a human being is only demonstrated by necessity combined with opportunity. Under circumstances which we of the so-called civilized races of the earth would probably have succumbed to discouragement and disease, Ada Blackjack rose triumphant and never showed the "white feather" or what our modern slang calls a "yellow streak." If Ada Blackjack is a good representative of her race, truly the Eskimo has never been valued at his true worth.

ORIENTAL FAREWELL QUIET

Forms Sharp Contrast to Roars of Occidental Crowd as Ships Leave Port.

As the big liner steamed out of port a hoarse, deep-throated roar shook her tan and black funnels; and a lesser, wilder cry burst from the thousands alongside. Roses pelted down from the decks above, arms whirled like pinwheels, and deafening crowds screamed their farewells.

But in the throng a little pool of silence brooded undisturbed. Six impassive oriental faces formed a half moon of silence as old as the Dawn of Creation. Sphinxlike, through impenetrable almond eyes they watched the whirlwind sweep the crowd. What was the going of a mere vessel to such as they?

Up on the ship's higher deck stood a lone oriental figure whose almond eyes focused on the group. A thin yellow hand lifted the black hat horizontally in the air, a fleeting ghost of a smile ruffled the impenetrable eyes. Nothing more! The yellow faces below gleamed strangely. Six hats rose simultaneously in air. No waving, no yelling, no cries. Only a shadow of a smile in the watching almond eyes. The crowds raged on, shrieking, running, weeping. But the Orient stood silent, smiling its impenetrable ancient smile.—New York Sun and Globe.

Cold Shrinks Everything.

Nearly everything shrinks as it gets cooler. As there is the same weight in less volume any given volume weighs more. The cooler anything is, the heavier is any given volume of it, with the important and vital exception of water. Water has the peculiar property of getting heavier all the way down the scale until the temperature of 39 degrees Fahrenheit is reached; then it begins to expand again until it freezes and afterward. As a result, a given volume of water at 32 degrees, or the temperature at which it freezes, is lighter than water at 39 degrees and rises above it before freezing begins. The ice being still lighter, floats on the water. If water did not have this queer property, ice would form on the bottom of bodies of water, there would be no protection of the surface by a layer of ice from further cooling and many rivers and lakes would freeze solid, killing all the fish. The summer sun would never be able to melt all of the winter's ice.

Story About Queen Victoria.

Since Strachey's biography of Queen Victoria stories about her have been rife. One not yet widely disseminated concerned Sir F. Bertie, who was undersecretary for foreign affairs in the days before he was knighted. Mr. Bertie had often to visit the queen, and used to announce his arrival by telegram. Finally, one day, Victoria is said to have remarked to him: "Mr. Bertie, I must ask you to be good enough not to sign your telegrams announcing your arrival 'Bertie,' as it makes me expect my son, and causes me disappointment."

Posting Him.

A young curate was visiting the old women of the parish, and felt ill at ease.

One old lady of great experience asked him if he was nervous, and he replied that he was. She then offered to advise him.

"You read a bit," she said, "you pray a bit, and you gives me a shilling, and then you goes."

"All Aboard!"

Old Colored Mammy—Ise wants a ticket fo' Florence.

Ticket Agent (after ten minutes of weary thumbing over railroad guides) —Where is Florence?

Old Colored Mammy—Settin' over dar on de bench.—Princeton Tiger.

News of Goodell And Vicinity

Nate Church is still quite ill with blood poison.

Fernon Griggs was Meservey caller Saturday,

Mr. Engeseth of Frost Minnesota was a caller on old friends here.

The Chas. Halfpop children are recovering from the measles.

Miss Orr spent the week end with her folks in Cedar Falls.

Mrs. Ole Nelson of Thompson was visiting at the Sandberg home.

Chom Houghton is quite ill with measles.

Spec Houghton drove to Britt Friday after some of the school teachers frm here who attended institute.

The Second Division of the Ladies Aid held a food sale Saturday at Lamer's Drug Store.

Dave Schwitzenberg accompanied two car loads of stock to Chicago Saturday.

The school children all enjoyed two days vacation while the teachers attended Institute at Britt.

Dale Chase returned from Cedar Falls where he has been attending school.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Wenzel of Belmond, who have been staying at the latters home the past week returned home Saturday.

Gerald Chase who works in a Barber shop at Rolf, came home Friday for a week's visit with his mother and family.

An automobile is as safe as its driver.

AVERY TOWNSHIP NEWS

Harvey Nelson spent Friday with his schoolmate, Kenneth Bell.

Donald Webier spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Marshall the past week.

Wava and Wayne Bachman are sick with the measles this week, also Mrs. Chase's girl has them.

Mrs. Tommy Nelson was a caller at the Fred Bachman home Monday afternoon.

No school was held in this vicinity Thursday and Friday on account of Teacher's Institute at Britt.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roths and Mrs. Rank Buss were callers at the Fred Schuldt home Sunday afternoon.

Gilman Marshall left last Monday for Lisbon North Dakota, where he will help his brother Clyde get ready to move back to Iowa.

How can you charge your radio battery if your credit is poor?

Roses Her Favorite Flower.

Roses are the favorite flower of Mrs. Lloyd George, wife of the famous statesman, who accompanied her husband on his first trip to America. At her home she has hundreds of varieties of roses and is always on the lookout for a new one.

Cholera Kills 2,250,000 Hogs.

Cholera killed approximately 4 per cent of the hogs on farms in the United States during the last year. The total number of swine lost from hog cholera exceeded 2,250,000, valued at approximately $29,393,000.

Bad Examples.

"Your school report is not so good this month, Johnny."

"I can't help it, dad. The boy that used to do my 'rithmatic problems is mad at me an' I had to do 'em myself."

Handing Out Transfers.

Both men and nations loudly grieve,
We find complaints anew
Because of something folks believe
Somebody else should do.

Spring is here. The time is here to get your machinery in shape for the Spring Work. We have the tools and machinery to do almost any repair job—Stormizing Cylinders, Burning-in Bearings, Fitting Piston Pins and Rings.

We weld the break of Day!

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Cheese--

A FOOD FOR THE GROWING CHILD—

CHEESE, like milk, is a most valuable food for children. Good, wholesome cheese gives the necessary lime and phosphorus for sturdy growth.

Nowadays you can buy good cheese without any guesswork—we buy only the very best cheese manufactured and it comes from spick and span, clean factories, where only the purest of materials enter into the finished products.

You will always find a full line of nice fresh cheese at our meat market along with our choice line of meats and other products.

KRAFT CHEESE—
CREAM CHEESE—
PIMENTO CHEESE—
LIMBURGER CHEESE—
BRICK CHEESE—

FRESH FISH—We are receiving nice, fresh fish for every week-end. You will enjoy a meal of fine fish—try them today.

J. P. Larsen & Sons

The Klemme Meat Market

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Seney's Drug Store — Phone 4009.

Klemme, Iowa

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Office opposite from Hotel Klemme

Phone No. 19

Eyes Examined — Glasses Fitted

HATCHING EGGS

I have had so many inquiries for HATCHING EGGS that I will state price—Pure Bred Rose Comb R. I. Reds, 1 pen headed by two Harold Tomkin Ckrls. These have nice rose comb, red eyes, even rich surface and under color, large boned birds; mated with them are 7 Scranton hens and 17 pullets of Scranton strain. Eggs of this pen $2.00 per setting of 15 eggs. Farm flock of good red hens mated to Scranton dark red ckrl. with deep red surface and under color, good markings, $5.00 per 100 eggs. Only fresh eggs sold. No chilled eggs. Pen eggs replaced free if tested on 10th day and show clear (as infertile eggs do and are returned.)

This add. appears but once!

MRS. DICK SWALVE

Klemme Phone 909 — Goodell, Iowa.

For Shabby Floors

Below you will find the correct paint, varnish, enamel or stain to use on your floors.

These recommendations are taken from the "Household Guide," prepared by the Sherwin-Williams Company as a dependable help in all finishing work. See the complete "Guide" at this store.

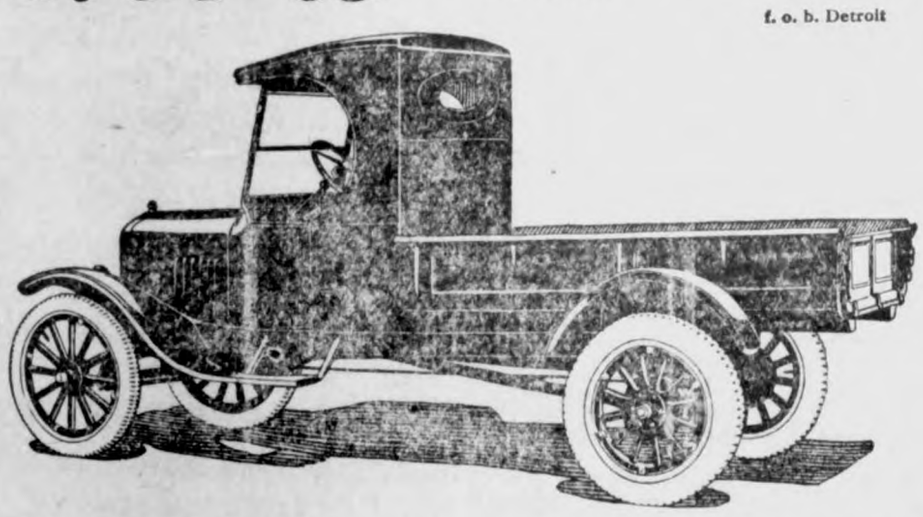
HOUSEHOLD GUIDE

	TO PAINT Use product named below	TO VARNISH Use product named below	TO STAIN Use product named below	TO ENAMEL Use product named below
FLOORS, Interior (wood)	S-W Inside Floor Paint: stands repeated scrubbing	Mar-Not Varnish: water-resisting, heelproof	Floorlac: a varnish and stain combined	S-W Inside Floor Paint: the enamel-like finish
Concrete	S-W Concrete Floor Finish: wears well; washes well			S-W Concrete Floor Finish: high-gloss; durable
Porch	S-W Porch and Deck Paint:

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

Ford Steel Body Truck $490

f. o. b. Detroit



An All-Purpose Truck At A Remarkable Price

The new Ford all-steel body and cab mounted on the famous Ford One-Ton Truck chassis provide a complete all-purpose haulage unit at the remarkably low price of $490.

Built of heavy sheet steel, strongly re-inforced, this staunch truck is designed to withstand severe usage in a wide range of industries.

Generous loading space, four feet by seven feet two inches, permits easy handling of capacity loads and provision is also made for mounting of canopy top or screen sides.

Experienced drivers appreciate the weather-proof features of the steel cab, which is fitted with removable door-opening curtains.

Ford Motor Company
Detroit, Michigan

GREIMANN MOTOR CO.

Ford

CARS · TRUCKS · TRACTORS

FM4-C

Rocks Resemble Sponges.

The sponge rocks of Montana have attracted the attention of tourists and scientists by reason of the remarkable tracery and porosity of their formation. They appear like vast pieces of pumice stone intricately carved by nature into innumerable cells, webs and cavelets. Some of the pieces are almost threadlike. The rocks are stated by geologists to be carboniferous sandstone. The sponge-like formation is of course due to both water and wind erosion, the softer particles of the rock having been washed down or blown away, leaving the harder portions standing.

Didn't Want to Be Rude.

"These here song writers," declared Uncle Pennywise, "don't seem to care a hoot about etiquette or the ordinary procedure of life. There used to be one of them, for instance, who was always extending the invitation—Come where my love lies dreaming. Gal in hammock, I suppose, flowery bower, and all that sort of thing. Still, I never went with him to where his love lay dreaming. I didn't think it would be polite."

Seeks New Uses for Silver.

Secretary of the Interior Work of Washington has ordered a survey to determine how silver may be used in new phases of commerce and industry. The survey will be undertaken by the bureau of mines, because of the decrease in demand for silver for monetary purposes. The expiration of the Pittman act, Secretary Work declared, had left silver producers facing the necessity of a new market.

Miles of Yarn Used in Spread.

Using almost three miles of yarn for their purpose, R. H. Neyman, Lawrence printer, and G. E. Scanland, restaurant employee of Lawrence, Kan., have completed a bedspread that attracted great attention in a local display window. The spread is made of yellow yarn, knotted, with turquoise blue woven in the border. The amount of yarn used was 4,400 yards.

EARLY SCHOOLS IN AMERICA

Beginning of the Public Institution Believed to Have Been in State of Massachusetts.

It is probable that the beginning of the American public school was in Massachusetts, although records show that there was a school in New Amsterdam, established by the Dutch, as early as 1633. In 1635 the people of Boston assembled in town meeting, requested Philemon Purmont to become schoolmaster and voted him 30 acres of land in part pay for his services. The school begun by Purmont later became the Boston Latin school and has had continuous existence to the present time. Other colonies followed Boston's example and within a few years common schools were established in nearly all the settlements. In 1647 the general court of the Massachusetts Bay colony ordered every town of 50 families to establish an elementary school, and to appoint a teacher whose wages were to be paid by the parents of the children he taught, or by the inhabitants in general. At the same time, towns of 100 families were to establish a Latin school to prepare students for college. The law establishing these two grades of schools laid the foundation of the public school system in the United States. Three years later a similar law was passed in Connecticut. Rhode Island was the only colony with no free public school system at the beginning of the American Revolution.

Pine Blister Rust Controlled.

Control of white pine blister rust is practical and inexpensive, says the United States Department of Agriculture. All that is required is to destroy the currant and gooseberry bushes within 900 feet of the pines. The cost may vary from 10 cents to $2 an acre. During 1922 there were 472,887 acres in the northeastern states cleared of these bushes at an average cost of less than 20 cents an acre.

In connection with the campaign to eradicate this scourge of the white pine, it is pointed out that the tree is a prolific seeder, the heavy seed years coming at intervals of from three to seven years with light seeding years intervening. As the seedlings grow thick it is said that woodlot owners would benefit by replanting them in vacant parts of the farm or in large openings in pine woods.

Too Fast for the Milk.

Sam had passed through a harrowing experience. He had seen a ghost. While his audience listened with bulging eyes, he related the details of his adventure:

"Ah jes' come out of de cowshed," he said, "an' Ah had a bucket o' milk in mah hand. Den Ah hears a noise by de side of de road an' de ghost rushes out!"

"Good heavens!" interrupted one of his listeners. "Did yo' shake with fright, Sam?"

"Ah don't know what Ah shook wid. Ah hain't sayin' for suttin Ah shook at all. But when Ah got home Ah found all de milk gone an' two pounds o' butter in de bucket."—Life.

Fish Fed by Electricity.

Fish are being fed by electricity at the Kansas fish hatchery. Large light bulbs are placed at the edge of the fish ponds and moths, millers and other insects are attracted by the light. The water beneath the lights is soon covered with the insects which the fish devour eagerly. The greatest world war of all has been going on for ages, it is the struggle between man and the myriad tribes of insects to dominate the world, and it is a much closer contest than most persons suppose. Consequently feeding these enemies to the fish benefits man in two ways.—Capper's Weekly.

Geyser in Sea Spurts Oil.

Due probably to shifting strata in the Caspian sea, an unusual phenomenon in oil wells was noticed near Baku, Azerbajan. A geyser suddenly began erupting from the sea, two miles off the coast, and during two hours of activity spurted at a height of 70 feet, throwing off stones as well as oil. The eruption was accompanied by flames. On the spot a small island formed after the "gusher" died down.

London's Population Grows.

It had been estimated that the increase of London's population during and since the World war is no less than 600,000. Vast numbers were attracted from the provinces by the lure of plentiful employment and high wages. Now, having acquired the taste for London, they do not return, even though employment is not now plentiful and wages are not what they were.

Barely Worth Saving.

Miss Plainmug—I suspected that Mr. Lightfoot was getting ready to leave town so I broke off our engagement to save my face.

Miss Tarte—I can hardly blame you when I remember it's the only face you have.

Incentive to Reform.

"A goat is about the only animal that chews tobacco."

"Well," said Uncle Bill Bottletop, "if chewing tobacco is what makes a goat so mean I'm going to quit."

Delicate Suggestion.

"Every rose has its thorn," sighed the ready-made philosopher.

"How true," rejoined Miss Cayenne. "But you know there's no such objection to orchids."

FRANCE HAS HUGE EMPIRE

Colonial Holdings in Africa Exceed Those of Britain by About One-Fifth.

Instead of North America and India, Africa is now the most important field of French colonial development, writes Henri M. Barzun in Current History Magazine. Here the French possessions have an area of 4,800,000 square miles; that is 17 times the size of France itself, and a colored population equal to the number of France's white inhabitants. The French colonies in Africa, which exceed those of Great Britain by about one-fifth, suggest a kind of confederation, slowly built up by the gradual acquisition of 20 provinces from 1830 up to the Versailles treaty. A beginning was made with the annexation in 1830 of northern Algeria, to which were added the colonies of Gabon, Congo, Ubangi, and Chad in 1841; Guinea and Ivory Coast in 1843; Somaliland in 1864; Tunis in 1881; Senegal in 1889; Sudan, Volta, Dahomey, and Mauritania in 1893; Madagascar and Reunion in 1896; southern Algeria in 1902; Niger and Morocco in 1912; and the German Cameroons in 1919.

The value of the African empire is seen in its trade both with France and with the world at large. Production is already nearing 3,000,000 tons yearly for the whole dominion, mostly raw materials for manufacturers and foodstuffs for export. As for the commercial balance, the day is expected when the 700,000,000 francs of prewar trade will reach 5,000,000,000. There could be no better prospect for French prosperity at home and for French exchange in foreign countries. Especially in Morocco, Algeria and Tunisia, agriculture is being developed on a large scale. The farms and cultivated fields cover immense areas, comparable only to the American Middle West. This necessitates the use of modern agricultural implements such as harvesters, reapers, binders, threshers and tractors, creating a market for American manufacturers of these machines.

TO DECIPHER MANUSCRIPTS

Photographers Find Ink Which Has Faded Into Illegibility May Still Be Opaque to Ultra-Violet Rays.

Photographers have found that they can obtain very different effects when quartz lamps are used in place of the more common sources of light. The reason is simple enough. The quartz allows the ready passing of the so-called ultra-violet rays of light, which will not penetrate glass, and these in turn produce a different effect from the rest of the rays.

With colored vases, flowers or dress goods the effects are equally surprising and sometimes may lead to important applications. For instance, a French photographer has found that ink which has faded into illegibility may still be opaque to the ultra-violet rays. By photographing documents on which the ink had been faded he has been able to restore the legibility. Moreover, the investigator has found that in some old documents, dating back to the Twelfth century, his quartz light photographs showed the original wording, which had later been changed in a still legible ink. Such a deciphering of old manuscripts which heretofore have not been readable ought to add greatly to our knowledge of other days.

In the present, when many old manuscripts are being discovered, this process is invaluable.

Duo-Negatives.

In photographing subjects with intense contrasts the difficulty of securing the required amount of detail in the shadow without getting overdensity in the high lights is a common experience. The use of films makes it possible to overcome this difficulty by a simple expedient. Two negatives are made—one for high lights with a short exposure and the other fully timed for the shadows. The parts desired in each negative are then coated with celluloid varnish and the remainder removed with the well known red prussiate and hypo reducer. When these two negatives are superposed in register their combined effect is that of a properly timed negative. The method is, of course, one requiring some dexterity in the blocking-out process and is restricted to films of negligible thickness.

He Should Worry.

A Jew who had borrowed money from a friend used to walk up and down his bedroom night after night till he nearly drove his wife crazy.

After he had been at it about a week she said to him: "Moses, vy do you valk up and down de room all de night?"

He said: "I valk up and down de room, Rebecca, because I am so vorried. I owe Isaacs $10 and I cannot pay him."

"Vell," said his wife, "if I vos you I should go back to bed and let Isaacs valk up and down his room. It's his vorry, ain't it?"

Pine Tree of Great Span.

The spreading pine of Karasaki, on the shore of Lake Biwa, Japan, was one of the best known trees of the world, and one of the oldest. It was only 30 feet high, but it had a span of 154 feet. For many years it was visited by pilgrims, and tourists from other countries made a point to see it. Recently a solemn ceremony was conducted by a high priest in the presence of many other priests to transfer the spirit of this 1,200-year-old tree to a youthful descendant of 350 years, which sapling will receive the honors long accorded to the sacred pine.

SNOWFLAKE HAS SIX STARS

Farmer, Who Has Photographed Over 4,000, Says Many Things Are Designed From Them.

Lacemakers, jewelers, designers of silks, wall papers and table linens, and even bakers and confectioners, are now borrowing the ornamental designs for their products from snowflakes, writes Wilson A. Bentley, snowflake photographer.

During 41 years Bentley, who is a farmer of Jericho, Vt., has photographed more than 4,000 snowflakes and asserts he has found no two alike. He adds that no two could possibly be alike, since the shape of a snowflake depends on temperature, humidity and chemical and electrical content of the atmosphere through which it falls. It is inconceivable, he says, that any two snowflakes could ever encounter exactly the same atmospheric conditions in their journey to earth.

In one respect, however, Bentley declares all snowflakes to be alike—all are some variation of a six-pointed star. Though a casual look at the snowflake may seem to indicate that it departs from this form, microscopic inspection will always show the six points.

Bentley began studying snowflakes with a microscope at the age of sixteen. Later he acquired a microscopic camera and had completed quite a gallery of snowflake photographs before he realized that the work he was nursing as a hobby had any commercial value. Then a lace manufacturer bought some photographs from him and since then he has found a steady market for his pictures.—Popular Science Monthly.

DOMESTIC HELP IN PRUSSIA

Employees Are Regulated by Law—Must Work 13 Hours Daily and Have Two Hours for Meals.

In Prussia, as in New Zealand, the hours of work for domestic help are regulated by law. Domestics shall not be kept on duty for more than 13 hours a day, out of which two hours must be allowed for meals. On every second Sunday and on official holidays their work must cease at 3 p. m. After nine months' continuous employment a household employee is entitled to one week's holiday with full pay, plus an allowance for board.

Furthermore, the act requires each employee to have a "dienstbuch," in which are entered the owner's name, age, appearance (backed up by a photograph), particulars of former situations and wages received, together with "reasons for leaving" and "character." All these entries are signed by the employer and officially stamped by the police at each change of situation, so their accuracy is indisputable.—Detroit News.

Rain Shifts Ranch.

It is not often that a man goes to bed at night with his property in one country and awakens next morning to find some of it in another, but such is the case which has recently happened on the United States-Mexican border.

An international boundary change, in which a portion of an American ranch has become Mexican territory, has taken place owing to the heavy rains in northern Mexico. After the waters of the Rio Grande had subsided, Ben Kell, a Texas rancher, found that the course of the river had changed somewhat and part of his lands were in Mexican territory.

Kell is reported to have gone to Reynosa, in the state of Tamaulipas, to register the property now in Mexico.

The trouble with starting a third party is that it always finishes the same way.

Red Top
GUARANTEED
Double Strength Studded Tee
Steel Fence Posts

We have just unloaded a car load of "HY-LIME".

Buy a few sacks of this best DISINFECTANT and GERM KILLER going; use it in the hog house, cow barn, chicken coops, or any place that germs might originate.

We have it in handy 10 pound sacks for the house.

Everything To Build Anything

—At—

Northern
Lumber Company

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Read How Mrs. Walsh Was Helped by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mannington, West Virginia.—"I took the Vegetable Compound when having the turn of life. I had been sick for seven years. I would get a little better, then I broke down again. It would be hard for me to describe how I was, for I was a perfect wreck. I suffered with a pain in my left side, then I would have numb spells and I would think I couldn't live. I would have hot flashes, then would come weak spells. I was so weak I would think I couldn't ever get a meal ready. My work was a burden to me. I was not able to do my housework half of the time. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has given me strength and health. The hot flashes left me and I got better of the numb spells. That summer I could do my housework and worked in the garden a good bit. I tell all sick women what your wonderful medicine did for me, and will always recommend it. I was born in Marion County and still live in it. I am known to all my neighbors, and you can publish this statement because it is true."
—Mrs. JOHN W. WALSH, R. No. 1, Box 36, Mannington, West Virginia.

Clear Your Skin With Cuticura

Soap to Cleanse
Ointment to Heal
Absolutely Nothing Better

ABSORBINE
TRADE MARK REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

will reduce Inflamed, swollen Joints, Sprains, Bruises, Soft Bunches; Heals Boils, Poll Evil, Quitter, Fistula and infected sores quickly as it is a positive antiseptic and germicide. Pleasant to use; does not blister or remove the hair, and you can work the horse. $2.50 per bottle delivered.
Book 7 A free.
W. F. YOUNG, Inc., 510 Lyman St., Springfield, Mass.

INFLAMED EYES
Use Dr. Thompson's Eyewater. Buy at your druggist's or 1161 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

Her Identity

"Stuff's off between Yvette and Slats," announced Heloise of the rapid-fire restaurant.

"Why, I sure thought she was the bride-to-be," returned Claudine of the same establishment.

"Nope! Instead she's the tried-to-be."

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry Mother! Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits. Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.

Isn't It a Fact?

An editor has to become just about so old before he remains entirely unperturbed by the talk of a new political party.

Life is dear, even to those who find it full of sorrow.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS
Hot water
Sure Relief
BELL-ANS
25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

VERLON Complexion Soap
25¢-worth more!

THE RED LOCK

A Tale of the Flatwoods

By DAVID ANDERSON
Author of "The Blue Moon"

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

"SOME LOOKER"

SYNOPSIS.—On the banks of the Wabash stand Texie Colin and Jack Warhope, young and very much in love. Texie is the only daughter of old Pap Simon, rich man and money-lender. Jack is the orphan bound boy of Pap Simon who had foreclosed a mortgage on the Warhope estate. At first Texie and Jack talk sadly of Ken Colin, the girl's missing brother. Then Jack says that in ten days his servitude will be over, that he will ride out into the big world to seek his fortune. Both know what that will mean to them. Texie and Jack talk of the red lock of "Red Colin," inherited by Ken. And Jack says he's coming back as soon as he finds gold in California. Then arrives the new preacher, Rev. Caleb Hopkins. Pap Simon introduces the villagers to the new preacher, who was a college mate of Ken. At supper at the Colin home the preacher tells how the boy killed a gambler and disappeared. His father attributes Ken's fall from grace to his red lock of hair. Then Pap Simon has a sort of stroke, brought on by reading a letter from Ken, "somewhere in New York," who curses his father on his death bed. A postscript by another hand says he is dead.

CHAPTER IV
—5—
The Room Was Deadly Still.

Buckeye was the capital of the Flatwoods. Snugged away in a pocket of the bluffs where Eagle run breaks into the valley of the Wabash, it never woke up but once—when a rumor trickled in from somewhere that a railroad was headed that way. But the rumor subsided, Buckeye went back to sleep, and the big world forgot that it was there.

Zeke Polick's general store was the largest in the place. Zeke sold everything, from onion sets to grindstones, including whisky—barrels of it, from "squirrel" to mellow old Bourbon—right from the spigot. A flatwoodsman could buy it as he wanted it, from a drink to a jugful, but "furriners" had to be identified to get it in quantities less than a quart—an identification quite as exacting, though of a different sort, as that required to borrow money from Simon Colin—which is another way of saying that a man's face went as far in the Flatwoods as his note.

In the mellow evening of the day following the old banker's collapse over the remarkable letter—no syllable of which had been allowed to get beyond the red-roofed cottage—Uncle Nick Wiffles, a tall, iron-gray old man with twinkling eyes, sat smoking a quitely meditative pipe in the one chair of the store.

It was a variegated company that grouped around him in the dim half-light of the feeble coal-oil lamp, with its charred wick and smoke-stained chimney.

There was Zeke Polick, the postmaster and proprietor of the store, a little old rag of a man; Al Counterman, a one-eyed fisherman, with a complexion like a smoke-dried bacon rind; the blacksmith, with his hard arms, and hands so horny they could hold a piece of iron hot enough to sizzle water. Village loafers were there—aimless, doless drifters who had nowhere else to go.

Village Loafers Were There—Aimless, Doless Drifters Who Had Nowhere Else to Go.

Besides these, Loge Belden, said to be a Kentucky mountain man, tall, lanky and just comfortably in his prime, with a reddish-sandy mustache and goatee, leaned on the end of the counter nearest the door. Little was known of him except that he and his sister had lately moved into an old cabin on one of Simon Colin's farms up at the head of Eagle hollow, and that he had taken the job of clearing the timber from an upland field and making it ready for the plow. Some said he had been a pearl fisher, others that he was "wanted" down at Vincennes. The Flatwoods held him at arm's length—and waited.

"Ricollect Jim Rummidge, don't y'u, Zeke?" Uncle Nick remarked.

"Jim Rummidge, reckon I do that," piped Zeke's thin voice, as he leaned forward across the counter. "Ain't go'n' t' f'rgit 'im, nuther, not right soon I ain't. Went off t' M'souri owin' me a dollar and thirty-four cents, and I never did git it."

"Aw, well, Zeke, don't worry none," Uncle Nick rejoined, "y'u've wormed it outen some other pore devil b' this time, more'n likely."

The blacksmith slapped his heavy hand down on his thigh, the others laughed, the fisherman's frisky eye twinkled and he swore merrily.

Zeke said never a word, but the expression in his little rat eyes might have meant any number of things.

"Blamedest feller—that Jim Rummidge," Uncle Nick went on. "Ther' werdn't nothin' but what him an' that brother Si o' his'n wus up to when they wus youngsters. Ricollect one Sund'y Jim tuck it into 'is head t' yoke up a couple o' calves ol' man Rummidge was calc'latin' t' save f'r oxen, an' 'e coaxed Si t' play off sick with 'im so's they wouldn't haf t' go t' church. Well, the ol' folks werdn't more'n out o' sight when up jumps Jim, an' Si right after 'im, an' they breaks f'r the barn-lot t' yoke up them yearlin's.

"Sh-h-h—!" warned Zeke, "hyur comes the parson."

Almost with the words, the dapper, nervously alert young preacher entered the door. In spite of his studious air of riper years, he couldn't have been more than six or seven and twenty. The trade-mark of his calling was hung all over him. His shiny boots, elaborate frock coat, neck stock, high hat and enormous spectacles fairly shrieked schoolmaster.

And yet one could not help wondering why fate had set such a man as the Rev. Caleb Hopkins to the business of keeping school. Dissociated from all suggestion of theology and chalk, his figure was about all that could be desired in a man—height a trifle above medium; well set up; lithe and graceful—and his face—nothing short of handsome, only for a certain air of peering severity.

To look at him as he entered the door—six feet of lithe young manhood smothering under its ascetic, not to say somber, investure—one would never have guessed that there was anything wrong with his health, and yet that was precisely what had brought him to the Flatwoods.

And now as he walked past Loge Belden slouched against the counter, he stopped and stood staring curiously at him.

Belden seemed on the point of resenting the look, when the Reverend Caleb quickly turned away, and with a nod passed the group around Uncle Nick and went on to the post office window at the rear of the room.

"What d' y'u say we ask 'im t' g' 'long," whispered Al Counterman to Uncle Nick as the young minister stood waiting for Zeke Polick to adjust his dirty spectacles on his thin nose, turn up the smoky lamp and laboriously sort over the meager bunch of letters and postcards.

"Y'u da'sn't," Uncle Nick answered guardedly.

"Watch me, an' y'u'll see whuther I da'st. I ain't a-feared of no parson.

"Mr. Hopkins," he called a moment later, stepping in front of the young preacher as he passed toward the door, "a passel of us fellers is goin' a-seinin' up around Alpine island in the mornin'. I reckon y'u wouldn't like t' go long, n'r nothin', would y'u?"

"Who are going, did you say?"

"Oh, me an' Uncle Nick, thar, an' Big Jack Warhope."

"I have promised to be at the social tomorrow evening at the schoolhouse, which, I am informed, is always held in celebration of the last day of school. Do you expect to return in time for that?"

"Aw, we'll be back by noon, easy."

"Let me see," pondered the preacher, not willing to compromise his dignity by appearing overanxious. "This is Wednesday; tomorrow is Thursday—I believe I may safely allow myself this recreation. I shall be most happy to avail myself of your kind invitation."

The fisherman stood fingering his hat and staring at the door long after the minister had passed out, the twinkle gone from his puckered one eye, a puzzled look on his smoked bacon rind of a face.

"Well, I'll be derned! Wouldn't that singe y'ur whiskers! I dunno yit whuther he said 'e'd come 'r not."

Uncle Nick threw his head back and fairly roared, while the postmaster rumpled up his dry countenance into a half begrudged grin.

"Course he said 'e'd come. Whar wus you brung up at, anyhow? Didn't y'u hyur 'im say he'd 'vail himse'f of y'ur kind invytation? Course he's calc'lating t' come. Zeke, we'll haf t' git Al a new spellin' book an' start 'im t' school next fall."

"Well," muttered the fisherman, as his face cleared and the twinkle came back to his waggish one eye, "all I got t' say is: he can use up more dictionary a'sayin' yes than any man I ever hear'd. But ain't 'e some looker—barrin' that killin' rig he's hobbled up in?"

"Most too good-lookin'," piped Zeke.

"Aw, dunno, Zeke," Uncle Nick observed, "'tain't go'n' t' hurt 'im none. Only drawback I can see is: it's a pity t' waste all them good looks on a preacher."

"Anyhow," put in Al, his rakish eye dancing at Uncle Nick's remark, "if he wus ugly enough t' tree the devil up a thorn bush, I don't 'low it'd he'p 'is preachin' none. An' I reckon he shore must be some preacher, 'r he wouldn't be where 'e is—teachin' in a college that makes preachers. I bet y'u he can cipher plum' through any 'rethmetic you can hand 'im, an' they say he's posted on purt nigh ever'thing that's goin' on, 'r ever went on."

"That ain't neither hyur n'r there," argued Zeke. "That ain't no more'n his duty, an' what the taxpayers back whar 'e come from 'r' payin' 'im f'r."

"Duty 'r no duty," rejoined the fisherman, "it's a dern good sign."

"All the same," snapped the postmaster, "if I had a gal—which I ain't got, n'a never had—I wouldn't want 'er throwed with 'im like Sime Colin's gal is, an' she shouldn't be, nuther."

"Aw, well, Zeke," drawled Uncle Nick, "if she tuck after 'er daddy in looks, I reckon they wouldn't be no great danger."

The raucous laugh that followed from the crowd jarred the postmaster.

"I don't care what y'u say," he shrilled in his high, thin voice, "Texie Colin's got good looks enough, if that's what y'u want. I dunno what Sime Colin's a-thinkin' about. It ain't like 'im, t' take in a teetotal furriner that-a-way, preacher 'r no preacher—don't keer if 'e was a classmate o' Ken's. That ain't no recommend, nohow—bein' a classmate o' Ken's—f'r he wus as orn'ry as the devil makes 'em. They're boun' to be throwed t'gether more'n they ough' t' be."

"Ain't much more'n a kid, nuther," the blacksmith remarked, apparently thoughtfully impressed, as he searched his pockets for a match.

"Som'er's around seventeen 'r eighteen—"

The postmaster glanced across at Uncle Nick, as if for confirmation of his statement. The old man took the pipe from between his lips and sat tapping the stem against his thumb nail.

They's Thousan's and Tens o' Thousan's o' Gals That Cayn't Be Drawed On, No Matter What Feller Comes Along.

"I 'low y'ur not fur off," he answered meditatively to the postmaster's look. "Big Jack's twenty past, an' I've hear'n say Texie wus three years younger to a day. That would bring 'er right around seventeen 'r eighteen."

"An' s'posin' she is—every lick of it," the postmaster went on. "A gal ain't got none too much sense at eighteen—an' ther' ain't no gal but what can be drawed on, if the right feller comes along."

"Hol' on thar, Zeke, hol' on!" Uncle Nick had been leaning back against a cracker barrel. His chair came down with a bang, and his voice rang like struck metal. "You're goin' a leetle too fur. They's thousan's an' tens o' thousan's o' gals that cayn't be drawed on, no matter what feller comes along.

"Ther's a heap more nice gals than men. Ther' never wus a bad gal but what ther' wus a bad man first. An' after it's over—she's done. All endurin' the years t' come her heart has t' be drug in the dust, while the man—no, I won't call 'im man, an' I cayn't call 'im beast, f'r the beasts 'r' clean compared—carries 'is head as high as b'fore. I tell y'u, people hain't never looked at them things right. The man d'serves t' be judged accordin' t' the same way the gal is—only more so."

A hush fell over the group. The blacksmith sat patting his foot softly on the floor. Presently his calloused hand came down upon his knee with a sounding slap, while his eyes, dull at most times from long looking into the forge fire, lighted with the fervor of his feelings.

"Good f'r you, Uncle Nick! I agree with y'u complete. That's my kind o' preachin'—right t' the p'int."

"My sentiments to a hair," chimed in the fisherman. "I alw'ys takes the girl's part an' be d—d t' the man. That's how I lost this eye. It wus when—but no matter, I hain't never b'grudged it—"

The fisherman's lone eye settled into a vacant stare at a crack in the floor; the hard lines of his face deepened. Could the others have glimpsed back of that seamed and weather-beaten mask, they might have read there the deep graven memory of a day that was dead—a dream and an awakening, a romance and a tragedy—that had driven him, as the storm drives the driftwood, with what the world calls a crime slated against him, to bury his life here with his dog and fishing gear, alone in his bachelor cabin on the river shore.

"I 'low y'u must 'a' been mistook about that—arm."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

What is a Teaspoonful?

—it depends on the Baking Powder you use. You must use a heaping spoonful of many brands because they don't contain as much leavening strength as

CALUMET
The Economy BAKING POWDER

Level spoonfuls are all that are necessary when you use CALUMET—it makes more bakings which means a real saving on bake day.

BEST BY TEST

Sales 2½ times as much as that of any other brand

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

Big Liners Use 5,000 Tons of Water on Trip

Few people would care to pay for a liner's drink for one voyage across the Atlantic, even in water at a penny per gallon. Very little change would be given out of a £500 note.

One of the big Atlantic liners has to carry about 5,000 tons of fresh water for all purposes for a single voyage from Southampton to New York. This tonnage alone is about two and a half times the weight of Nelson's old flagship H. M. S. Victory, says London Tit-Bits.

A passenger on one of these leviathans uses for drinking and domestic purposes about five gallons a day on the voyage. And as the ships average 3,000, passengers and crew, it means they have to carry, roughly, a week's water supply for a small country town in tanks, neatly stowed away along the sides of the ship.

But it is the giant boilers that have the greatest thirst. On one voyage the Berengaria used over 3,000 tons of water, or, at ten pounds to the gallon, roughly, 672,000 gallons.—London Tit-Bits.

That Head Hum

Sounds which are too rapid or too faint for the human ear to distinguish are plainly audible by means of a new type of electric microphone. By use of it even the finer vibrations of the human body, as in the brains and heart, can be studied. With it you can hear the "wheels in your head" go 'round.

With what did Noah feed his grazing animals for 40 days—hay or seaweed?

Every skillful hunter is no theorist, but a man of practical aims.

Oldest Artificial Leg Found in Tomb at Ca

The oldest artificial leg in exis is that in the museum of the R College of Surgeons of England was found in a tomb at Capua, Is, of course, of Roman origin.

This artificial member accura represents the form of the human It is made with pieces of thin bro fastened by bronze nails to a wo core. Two iron bars, having hol their free ends, are attached to upper extremity of the bronze quadilateral piece of iron found the position of the foot is thoug have given strength to it. The no trace of the foot, and the wo core had nearly crumbled away, skeleton had its waist surrounde a belt of sheet bronze edged small rivets, probably used to fa a leather lining. Three painted v lay at the feet of the skeleton. vases belong to a rather adva period in the decline of art, a 300 B. C.

College Bars Autos

Students at Pennsylvania State lege hereafter will be prohibited taking their motorcars to college result of action taken at the an meeting of the board of trustees. rents of students are to be notifie this effect.

The resolution declared: "It is opinion of the board of trustees students of the college cannot keep tomobiles for use while at co without interference with their stu and without considerable risk to t personal safety and health."—N York Sun and Globe.

A prince or a king can always to the people: Whatever I am, made me so.

Why Pay the Penalty of Lying Awake?

MANY people spend hours at night, restlessly tossing from side to side, waiting for sleep. All because they drink coffee with their evening meal.

If the caffeine in coffee irritates your nervous system and keeps you awake when you should be asleep, recuperating your energies, why not stop coffee and drink Postum?

Postum is a pure cereal beverage, absolutely free from caffeine or anything that can disturb health and comfort. Many prefer Postum for its delightful aroma and flavor.

If you want to know the truth, change to Postum for a month or so, and see how much better you will sleep and feel.

Postum
for Health
"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

Quality for 70 years

38¢ lb

18¢ lb

Unusual Cocoa Values

MONARCH DUTCH PROCESS COCOA

FARM HOUSE AMERICAN PROCESS COCOA

NOTE the prices of these two cocoas. Then read this: Monarch is equal to the best imported brands costing twice as much. Farm House sells for about half what you pay for American Process Cocoas of similar quality That's why we say, "Unusual Values—Buy now."

Grocers

Reid, Murdoch & Co.'s food products are sold only by the Regular Retail Grocer who owns and operates his own store.

We never sell to Chain Stores.

REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Manufacturers and Importers
Established 1853
CHICAGO BOSTON NEW YORK
PITTSBURGH

feud generally thrives because e isn't anything important to think t.

Scotland's long lines of kings are forgotten, but all the world knows Bobbie Burns.

Demand

Imitations may be dangerous

BAYER

ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy—Genuine

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians 23 years for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Genuine Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Hard-boiled means the opposite to timental. Medium-boiled is about t.

If one says a man is "erratic," it means you'd better be circumspect in talking to him.

Children Cry for "Castoria"

A Harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups — No Narcotics!

Mother! Fletcher's Castoria has been in use for over 30 years to relieve Babies and children of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and, by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving natural sleep without opiates. The genuine bears signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

SMITH BROTHERS
S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL (orange colored box)
Famous since 1847

SICK HEADACHE

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. They restore the organs to their proper functions and Headache and the causes of it pass away.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

THEY REGULATE THE BOWELS and PREVENT CONSTIPATION

Genuine bear signature— Brent Good Small Pill; Small Dose; Small Price

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

What the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

The budget bill, passed by the house and now awaiting action in the senate, was cited as an illustration of new material which the legislature should deem imperative at this session, inasmuch as it is designed to curtail state expenditures and effect a greater degree of afficiency in state departments in general. Through a local budget proposal yet to come up, the legislature also is at the point of taking definite action on tax matters, it is pointed out. The local budget plan, as well as the state budget bill, leaders of the house declare, should have the support of agricultural interests all over the state because its aim is the reduction of taxation and the curbing of needless expenditures of public money.

Owing to a shortage of funds in approximately sixty counties in Iowa, primary and general elections may not be held unless such counties are exempted from provisions of the Tuck law which holds officials responsible for expenditures in excess of legally collected revenues. A bill to nullify the drastic clauses of the Tuck law during 1924 has been introduced in the upper house of the legislature. The shortage is due to overlooking the election costs when the levy of six mills was made. The levy this year is the same as last year. The cost of holding the primary and general election averages about $5,000 for each county.

An appropriation of $2,500 for carrying out th research work of the Child Welfare commission appointed last fall by Gov. N. E. Kendall has been voted by the Iowa senate. The bill providing the appropriation was passed by a vote of 26 to 16, one vote more than the necessary constitutional majority. The commission will now have funds with which to investigate conditions in Iowa and compare them with other statees. The commission will report back to the forty-first general assembly and recommend laws.

The lower house spent one entire morning on the drainage bill. The longest bill to come before that body this session. The rewritten law contains 265 sections and molds into one drainage. Fed changes are made in the law, the most important being that 25 per cent of the land owners of the district must sign a petition calling for the establishment of a drainage district and 60 per cent of the land owners may remonstrate against establishment of a district in which event, the petition must be dismissed.

Days of long ago were recalled to the Senate when Senator Romkey, in speaking for the abolition of drug store liquor permits exhibited pint, half pint and four ounce bottles. All were filled with some dark-colored liquod which he would not name. Romkey used these to demonstrate that physicians prescribing pints of whiskey give more volume of this liquid than they did in ordinary prescriptions which are usually half or quarter pints.

The bill relating to pools and trusts, with the numerous amendments sponsored by Representative Wamstad, of Mitchell county, and Representative Antjes, of Grundy, was up as a special order in the house. The sweeping changes recommended in this bill have aroused opposition and the debate consumed considerable time.

The course of legislation has somewhat reversed itself in the special session since the senate has been the body which has passed a number of controversial measures which the house has in turn defeated. In former sessions the senate has been the body which has defeated the measures over which there was considerable division.

The marriage license law has never been finally disposed of, having gone to a conference committee after the house had adopted the senate's eugenics clause with modifications and put back a provision requiring a five-day period between the time the license was applied for before it could be issued.

With the legislature entering on its last lap several of the important measures which have been pending are due for consideration and will soon be disposed of.

The senate passed the eugenics amendment which the house tied up by linking it up with the five-day license clause. The senate passed the bible reading bill which the house defeated. The senate passed an amendment providing a new way for the selection of the state fair directors which the house defeated.

There is not the chance for a deadlock at the close of this session such as prevailed last year and often prevails over appropriations. This special session has nothing to do with making appropriations.

Rankin, who led the fight against the compulsory reading of Bible passages, quoted excerpts from the constitution which said that no General Assembly can make a law interfering with the religious beliefs of the people. "I do not want to be misunderstood in regard to my attitude to the Bible. I am in favor of Bible reading but not as a compulsory feature of our laws," he said. Diltz, of Polk county, also made a strong appeal against the amendment and declared that the only supreme court which has the right to decide religious matters is one's own heart.

How long is a fish? When is a skunk a friend and not an offender? Can one small boy with a ferret kill more rabbits than 150 men with guns and what is sportsmanship? Solutions to these knotty questions were worked out by the Iowa senate in two and a half hours debate over the fish and game bill. Naturalists, "eminent authorities," fish-ologists and just "hook and line fishermen," all members of the legislature, participated in the debate. Sixty amendments from the floor were placed in the bill as written by the code commission and passed by the lower house but Iowa now has an official answer to the three conundrums. It was generally agreed that a fish is as long as a fish should be, to be a fish, and that varies with the species. An amendment to that effect was placed in the bill. Skunk dens may be destroyed by dynamiting when it is necessitated to protect public and private property. This phase of the question brought forth a host of defenders of the maligned fur-bearer. Iowa realizes more than $1,500,000 a year from the sale of skunk pelts it was argued, and destruction of dens would destroy breeding places it was pointed out. The open season of fur bearing animals is extended two weeks by opening the season on November 14. Open seasons on game fish are left practically the same as in the existing law. The license feature of the bill, as applying to fishermen, provoked a debate not less vociferous than when the house passed the bill. However, it was retained and if the bill is included in the 1924 core, all fishermen will have to procure licenses.

Parliamentary proceedure was brought into play by the Iowa senate when an attempt was made to forward code bill 283, governing the sale of liquor by licensed drug stores, to a consideration over protest of the committee for the suppression of intemperance who have rewritten the entire bill. The bill as redrafted omits that part of the law permitting drug stores to sell liquor prescriptions issued by phtysicians. The bill has been postponed several times to avert clashes between wet and dry legislators. No bill has provoked more bitter participation by constituents than the proposed bill. Senator have been the recipients of thousands of communications from doctors, clergymen and laymen arguing merits of the measure.

Representative Rankin, of Lee county in a discussion on the floor, declared that as a teacher he had read the Bible before opening the school sessions, but that a law forcing this to be done was not practical. Under the bill as passed by the senate a teacher culd read the Bible, but if asked by a pupil what the meaning of any part of it was, the teacher, under the law, would not be permitted to explain. He said that there were various versions of the Bible which various religious sects subscribed to and parents of children would want the vesion read which they believed in. He declared the responsibility of teaching the bible should be on the parents and not on the school teachers.

The Farmers Grain Dealers Association of Iowa calls upon the legislature to limit its action to code revision and to expedite this work as much as possible in order that the session, already nearing the length of a regular session may be terminated at the earliest possible date, in a resolution presented to the house by Representative Healy, of Hancock county. The association was represented as objecting to consideration of much new legislation that has come before the code revision session, on the ground that such material might easily go over until the meeting next winter of the Forty-first general assembly, and through an early adjournment save the state approximately $2,000 a day.

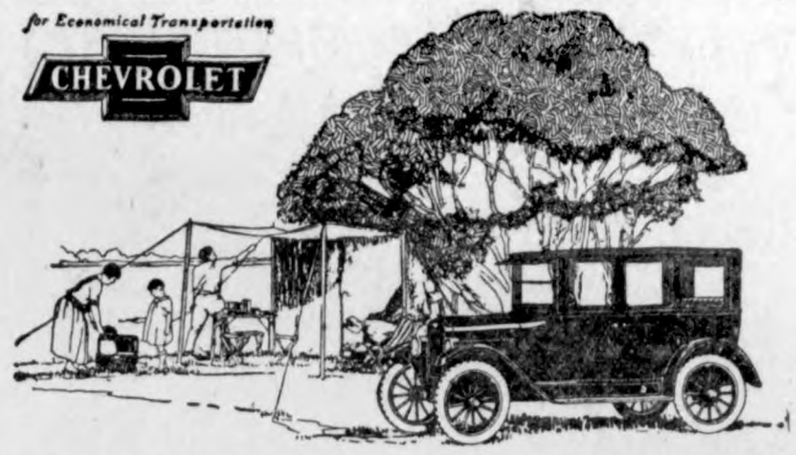
Property owners along city streets to be paved would, in the future, know pretty well what their assessments will amount to, if the Fulton amendment to the code revision bill on municipal corporations passed by the senate, is approved in the house. Senator Fulton's amendment, which was adopted by a vote of 26 to 14, requires an engineer's plat of an assessment district, showing estimates of the amount of assessment to be levied against abutting property, to be filed before any paving project is entered upon. This is a radical change from the old law, under which property owners did not know until after the paving had been laid what its cost to them would be.

The workmen's compensation act was given a public hearing in the house. After two hours of debate in which charges were aired that an extensive lobby was being employel to beat the bill, the house decided to give the measure a public hearing and to permit both representatives of labor to appear before the conference.

Changes in the board of health law increasing the number of members on the board from five to twenty-four, which passed the house, is yet to be considered in the senate. The budget bill, which passed the house is due for consideration in the senate in a day or so.

The bills relating to release of sureties and to the construction and operation of railways have been acted upon. The latter lessens the burden of proof placed on railroad companies, in case of the killing of cattle on rights of way.

State funds which have heretofore been deposited in Des Moines banks can be distributed to other banks and depositories as the result of an amendment to a bill relating to the state treasurer which passed the lower house of the legislature. The present law requires such deposit to be made only in Des Moines banks.



Will Your Family Be Happy This Spring?

If yours is one of the few remaining families lacking an automobile, no doubt you have finally decided to get one within the next four months.

A low-priced modern automobile like the Chevrolet has become indispensable to the family of ordinary income. A million other families can easily prove to you that the better way is with Chevrolet. The beauties of nature, the interesting and educational features of other places and ways of living, remain things to read about or seen dimly in cold photographs until you are free to get to them at your convenience and pleasure.

But, suppose you have definitely decided to buy a Chevrolet this spring. This does not necessarily mean you are going to get it. Anyone posted on conditions in the automobile business will tell you that thousands of families are going to be unable to get cars this spring. This has been true almost every spring for the last ten years. There are just two ways of making sure of getting your Chevrolet for use when the flowers and balmy breezes of spring lure you to the country roads—buy it now or order it now.

If you do not want to pay for it in full at this time, any Chevrolet dealer will arrange terms to suit your convenience. You will be surprised to learn how easy it is to pay for a Chevrolet and use it while you are paying for it.

Please realize these statements are made by us in good faith and we mean just what we say about the possible difficulties of getting a car delivered to you this spring if you wait until then to order it. The only way to be sure of a Chevrolet this Spring is to order it NOW.

Prices f. o. b. Flint, Michigan

Superior Roadster	$490	Superior Sedan	$795
Superior Touring	495	Superior Commercial Chassis	395
Superior Utility Coupe	640	Superior Light Delivery	495
Superior 4-Pass. Coupe	725	Utility Express Truck Chassis	550

Fisher Bodies on all Closed Models

Chevrolet Motor Company, Detroit, Michigan
Division of General Motors Corporation

Three-Wheeled Truck

Built for a Chicago store, a three-wheeled delivery truck is driven by a motor inclosed in the third wheel, which is in front, it being possible to turn the vehicle in its own length.

Easy

Teacher—Dicky, name three feminine nouns.

Dicky—Duck, goose and flapper.

When a woman of thirty looks into the future it appears as brief as a rabbit's tail.

All Busy

An Englishman on a walking tour in the highlands, meeting a native after tramping many miles, said to him, "No doubt you have heavenly scenery here, but how very lonely! Where are the inhabitants?"

"Weel, ma manny," replied the native, "they're maistly awa governin' the country."

Invaluable

"Isn't radio a wonderful thing?"

"Yes; my wife will listen to it!"—Life.

Ask Your Dealer

ASK your local dealer to recommend a practical decorator. If you are unable to secure one you can do the work yourself, tinting and stenciling your walls to give beautiful results.

Alabastine

Instead of Kalsomine or Wall Paper

Buy Alabastine from your local dealer, white and a variety of tints, ready to mix with cold water and apply with a suitable brush. Each package has the cross and circle printed in red. By intermixing Alabastine tints you can accurately match draperies and rugs and obtain individual treatment of each room.

Write for special suggestions and latest color combinations

ALABASTINE COMPANY
1647 Grandville Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.

Prizes worth $2,500

ENTER the du Pont International Crow-Shoot —$2,500 in merchandise prizes. It costs you nothing to register. Destroy this menace to game and crops. Write today for booklets about the crow.

E. I. DU PONT DE NEMOURS & CO., INC.
Sporting Powder Division
WILMINGTON, DEL.

DU PONT SPORTSMAN'S SERVICE

Blue Band VELVET PENCILS

At all Dealers

5¢

Supreme in their class.

As Smooth as Velvet.

Write for trial sample

American Lead Pencil Co., New York
Makers of the famous VENUS Pencils

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

Volume 2.—No. 19. Thursday, March 20, 1924.

TO STILLE'S SHOP

If you need a brand new plow
Drive to Stille's, do it now;
Or if a wagon you should need,
You know just where you would speed.
If its a Deere or—

P & O

You know just where to go.

If you need a new Primrose
From which the cream so freely flows,
A drag, a disk, a new grain binder,
You know just where you can find her;
Or if its Nisco. Bloom or Dain,
The place you go is just the same.

The two H. P. Waterloo Boy
Will surely fill your heart with joy.
Our kind of all steel Side Rake,
Is far from being any fake.
For Machines or New Repairs,
Come to us for those affairs.

For the best in Cultivators
That plow corn, beans or "taters,"
In new tractors McCormick-Deering,
Long lifed, powerful, enclosed gearing.
If its a planter, cart, or twine,
Go to Stille's, they treat you fine.

For your plow or new saw-buck
You could send to Shears & Rawbuck.
But for plow or binder "fixin' "
You surely have to write like blixin;
The best way is to call Stille's Shop,
They'll be out in just a hop!

(By Stimco.)

Ever notice? The most noise comes from the empty wagon.

1924—Look for your leap dear!

Too Definite

A grocer called to collect his bill frequently, but without success. Finally he said in desperation:

"Mr. Jones, I must insist that you make some definite arrangements with me."

"Why, certainly," replied Mr. Jones, agreeably. "Let's see—well, suppose you call every Thursday morning?"

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

For Sale—No. 1 Timothy hay. Henry Buseman, Phone 910 tfc

The Royal Neighbors held lodge at the hall Friday afternoon.

For Sale—Manchu Soy Beans, $3 per bushel, in 20 bu. lots at $2.25 per bu.—G. L. Grosz, Meservey. (4)

Mrs. R. A. McConn went to Minneapolis Tuesday to buy goods for the store.

I do all kinds of Plumbing and Heating work. R. E. Quintus, Garner, Ia. tfc

We both heard and saw a robin yesterday morning. Spring must be quite close now.

J. C. Hanson, of Garner, one of the candidates for County Clerk, was in town Tuesday visiting voters.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Jacobs and Mr. and Mrs. LuVerne Smith were Mason City visitors Sunday.

Mrs. LuVerne Smith went to Belmond Tuesday for a visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. George Luick, of Goodell, were in Klemme Tuesday for a visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Kirkwood and son, Wayne, were visiting at Greene over Sunday.

Clarence Kluckhohn and family were entertained at the Henry Lewis home Sunday.

Mrs. T. Blank went to Belmond between trains last Friday for a visi with relatives and friends.

Misses Neota Ridder and Maurine Hake went to Belmond between trains Friday.

Emil Patet and Miss Emma Sampson were Mason City visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McConn drove to Clear Lake Sunday for a visit with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Ahrenkeil and son, of Goodell, were visiting Klemme relatives Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gruetzmacher, of Britt, spent Sunday at the F. Gruetzmacher home here.

Clint Stokesbary took his five year old son to Iowa City yesterday for medical treatment.

Mrs. Charles Luick went to Belmond Thursday, of last week, to attend the funeral of W. E. Jenison, returning home Saturday.

Petro Dulce, who has been on the Ernest Henze farm, has moved to a farm near Garner. The Henze farm is still vacant.

G. A. Goll has moved to town to the property he bought in northeast Klemme. His son Paul, and wife, will farm the home place.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Verner Lewis, Sunday, March 16th, at McGregor, Iowa. xCongratulations.

A complete line of Ladies and Childrens Ready-to-Wear at Wellemeyer's Friday and Saturday. 2 days only. 1wc

For Sale—Setting eggs, full blood S. C. Rhode Island Red. 50¢ setting, $3.00 per 100. Frank Miller, Garner Route. 2wp

Miss Glenna Gruetzmacher returned to her school work at Iowa Falls Tuesday after spending several days vacation visiting her parents here.

Graska Quandt and Marie Blank went to Estherville last Friday afternoon for an over Sunday visit at the Ralph Blank home. They returned Monday noon.

Mrs. Minnie Josten, who has been staying at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. W. Gauger, went to Garner last Thursday, and returned to this city again Saturday.

Fred Arnold and Howard Wiles came yesterday afternoon from the college at Ames, where they are taking an engineering course. The boys are home to enjoy the spring vacatio.

The Hancock County Basket Ball Tournament held at Britt last week was won by the Garner High school in the finals when they defeated the Britt five.

The schol board held their first meeting of the new term Monday night to swear in the two new members, A. D. Gimer and Frank Kluckhohn, who were re-elected to office.

Another heavy snow fell again on Monday of this week, but since then we have had fie weather. The weather man is trying hard to delay our spring this year.

You want to be sure to read the advertisement of the Stille Implement Company this week. Paul took apoetic spasm and the jingle he has makes Longfellow look like a back number.

Sylvan Johnson and family have moved to a farm five miles east and five miles north of Klemme. Sylvan was working for Lubbe Albers last year but will farm on his own hook this year.

Mr. Paul Griesemer went to Forest City last Thursday night to appear on a program of a mens banquet. Mr. Griesemer is an able orator and his talks are greatly enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson entertained a few of their friends at a 500 party Monday night to celebrate St. Patrick's Day. The party was as much "Irish" as was possible to carry out in color scheme and lunch.

Mrs. U. G. Smid returned last Friday from a seven weeks visit at Danfort and Gillman, Ill., where she had been visiting relatives and friends. While their she helped her parents celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Mrs. Arvella Levea and little son came over from Mason City Tuesday. She brought her son back to the Geo. Gruetzmacher home after a few days visit at Mason City. She returned to Mason City the same day.

Twins, a boy and a girl, were born to Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hammond, near Klemme, last Thursday noon. Mrs. Hammond was formerly Miss Gertrude Neuhring. Besides the twins Mr. and Mrs. Hammond also have a little boy.

Lew Lewis, secretary of the school board holds a fine record of attendance. Monday night was the first time he had ever been absent as far back as the board could remember. He would hav been at the meeting but was prevented from going on account of sickness. In appreciation of Mr. Lewis' record, the board presented him with a nice bouquet of cut flowers.

Economy

An old Irishwoman sent a parcel to her son, in which she inclosed the following note:

"Pat, I am sending your waistcoat; to save weight I have cut all the buttons off. Your loving mother."

"P. S.—You will find them in the top pocket."

Heart Or Liver

The tall, proud girl turned hautily to the white-robed figure.

"Have you no heart?" she askel in a low tone.

"No," he growled.

"Well, give me ten cents' worth of liver."

KLEMME MARKETS

March 20, 1924
(Subject To Change)

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN	60—62
OATS	.39
BARLEY	.60
RYE	.60
HOGS	6.00—6.70
BUTTERFAT	.52
BUTTER (Creamery)	.52
EGGS	.16
HEAVY HENS	.16
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.15
LEGHORNS	.08
COCKS	.06
STAGS	.12
DUCKS	.10
GEESE	.08

Great Invention for Hog Raisers

At last the problem has been solved—of keeping hogs supplied with plenty of warm water outdoors in the winter—without lamps or heaters. Hogs must have warm water in the winter if they are to thrive and get full value from their feed. Ice water chills them — and they will not drink enough.

Dempster Self-Heating Hog Waterer

Here is something every hog raiser needs.

It is new—it is novel—it serves a purpose that is highly important to the farmer — it saves considerable expense and trouble.

It keeps the water warm all winter, without stoves, heaters, burners, lamps or any other burning contrivance. It will also keep the water cool in summer. Utilizes one of the forces of nature.

The Dempster Hog Waterer has been thoroughly tested and has proven a great success. We are exclusive agents.

This Hog Waterer is absolutely guaranteed NOT TO FREEZE in the coldest weather. Order one today of—

R. E. Quintus

Plumbing & Heating GARNER, IOWA.

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

THE HOME OF GOOD EATS

CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGARS

MEALS and LUNCHES

Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It Here

Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service
We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.
CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

More Paint Talk!

We like to talk PAINT, and that's why we are telling you about it so often this year.

We know we can save you money on any painting job—either interior or outside, or varnishing, etc. Not only can we save you money, but at the same time we are giving you quality goods, as good as we can get for you. Before buying your paint or varnish come in and see us and we will show you "real" paint for the money.

We carry a full line of all accessories for painting—brushes, etc.

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

Paint and Wallpaper--

We now carry a full line of Carpenter-Morton Paints and Oils. We have a fine selection of Interior and Flat Wall Paints—Varnishes, Stains, etc., as well as a full line of varnish and paint brushes and other supplies for painters.

Come in and make your selection now from our color cards and get our prices on high grade paint and varnish for any job.

WALL PAPER—Come in and make your selection of the latest patterns in wall paper—all kinds, at all prices. We can give you two day service on any paper you pick.

G. G. Seney

"The New Drug Store"

PATRONIZE YOUR HOME STORES. TRADE WITH MEN YOU KNOW

Deposit-- Borrow--

Do you know that the steady saver is considered the best possible risk by a banker?

—And when we say "risk" we mean their credit is good for a loan.

We are always glad to see borrowers as well as depositors. Consider your credit and how it may best be preserved.

S-A-V-E

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'."

Use--- or Lose

Lack of use is in fact abuse. This will apply to money, to grain, to human enery. If you keep, you will never reap. It is use—or lose.

Money in the bank goes into circulation, helps make business better. Money hid away about the house, locked in deposit boxes, buried in the cellar, does no good and is likely to be lost. The safe place for your money is in a reliable Bank, like ours.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

THE KLEMME TIMES

Twenty-eighth Year—Number 29. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, March 27, 1924 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

TIME IS HERE FOR FIRST FRUIT TREE SPRAY

SPRAYING OF FRUIT TREES

Prepared for the class in Agriculture of the Klemme High School By Supt. Neese, and copied by the staff of correspondents for The Klemme Times.

Like pruning, spraying is an important detail of orchard management.

Fruit trees are subject to many insects and fungus pests and it is necessary to combat these successfully if profitable crops are to be produced.

The number of insects which are harmful to fruit trees seems to be increasing each year, or season.

The boys and girls of this Agricultural class are almost forced to learn to recognize these harmful insects and to know how they live and how they may be destroyed.

The boys and girls who know the forms and habits of these enemies of plants and trees are far better prepared to fight them than those who strike in the dark.

The Oyster Shell and San Jose Scale are two of the most dreadful enemies of fruit trees. It is, in fact, an out-law in many states. It is an unlawful act to sell fruit trees affected by it. Although these scales are very minute animals yet so rapidly do they multiply that it is very dangerous to the trees.

Never allow any new fruit trees to be brought into your orchard until you feel certain that they are free from these scales. If, however, it should in any way gain access to your trees, you can prevent its spreading by thorough spraying with what is known as the lime-sulphur mixture.

This mixture has long been used as a remedy for the various scale insects.

Classifjcation of Materials Usedl For Spraying

Insecticides and fungicides are used as remedies for fighting tree pests.

An insecticide is any substance that kills insects and a fungjcide is any substance that kills fungi.

Insecticides are of two general classes—poisonous and contact.

The poisonous remedy is used to kill insects with bitjng mouth parts or insects which bite off portions of plants and chew them before swallowing.

The sprays most used are arsenate of lead (either paste or powder form) paris green, arsenite of lime, london purple and helleboro.

All these except helleboro contajn arsenice in some form.

Hellebore is made from roots of the white hellebore (poisonous to insects but harmless to man.)

A contact insecticide is a substance used to kill insects by coming jn contact with their bodies. Insects with sucking mouths or insects which have a long bill like mosquitos that get their food by piercing the leaf or bark of the tree.

Insects with sucking mouths can not be killed by means of poisons alone and must, therefore, be combated with contact remedies.

Plant lice and the scales insects are usually killed in this way.

The chief contact insecticides are boiled lime sulphur, self-boiled lime sulphur, distillate oils, kerosene emulsion, and very strong tobacco preparation, made by boiling tobacco in water.

The fungicides used in combating the fungi of fruit trees are usually some solution containing copper.

The chief ones are bordeaux mixture, ammoniacal copper carbonate, copper sulphate solution, sulphur dust, potassjum sulfide, boiled lime sulfur, and self boiled lime sulfur.

In addition to the insecticides and fungicides listed, many preparations are on the market, a number of them give excellent results.

As a rule, they are somewhat easier to prepare for use than home-made mixtures and for this reason are often more generally used.

Many of the insect and funguous pests occur on the fruit trees at the same time, say in April, and, when the mixtures will have no injurious effect on trees, as buds are dormant.

A wise boy or girl will combine the jnsecticides and fungicides and apply them at one spraying.

To be effective, spraying must be done thoroughly and at the life period of the insect and fungus during which they can be killed.

If rainy weather sets in just after spraying the work must be repeated.

Now, the next question is when and how much shall we spray.

We will look after the apple crop first.

First Spraying or the Dormant Spray

During the dormant season preferably just as the leaf buds begin to swell, but before they open, spray with lime-sulfur solution, to each 50 gallons of spray material add two lbs. of arsenate of lead paste.

The lime sulfur is to kill the scale and the arsenate of lead is for the leaf blister-mite, the bud-moth and the cigar case borer.

Second Spray

About the time the fruit blossoms start to look pink at the tip, but before they are open, spray with lime sulfur; add two lbs. of arsenate of lead (paste form) to each 50 gallons of spray materials.

The spray is to kill bud-moth and cigar case borer that was not killed before, and to kill the canker worm and the tent catapillar and the apple scab.

Third Spray

After about 2-5 of the pedals have fallen spray the same mixture as for the second spraying.

This is to control the codlin-moth, canker-worm, the blue bud-moth, apple-scab and leaf blight or spot.

This spraying should never be omitted as it is the most important of all.

Fourth Spraying

If apple blotch is showing up, make a fourth spray, three to four weeks after the third spraying with arsenate of lead and bordeaux mixture.

This controls apple blotch, codlin-moth, canker worm, leaf spot and apple scab.

This spraying gives the apple an opportunity to develop normally and the fruit will be plump and well developed.

Should at any time during fruiting season plant-lice appear on the tree, spray the tree with whale-oil-soap solution made up of 1 lb. of whale oil soap to 6 gallons of water or kerosene emulsion of diluted one part of stock emulsion to 17 parts of water.

The next lesson will be spraying and care of plums, currants and goose-berries.

SCHOOL NOTES

MINSTREL IS POST PONED

Because of the epidemic of Measles and grip the P. T A. Meeting and the minstrel show have been postponed indefinitely. However, they will be given again in the near future. Watch for the dates.

Friday the physics class had experiments in magnetism. Howard Wiles and Adolph Lauritzen visited this class during its recitation period. Now the physics class is taking up the study of static electricity, this proves to be a very interesting and mysterjous study. Outside reading has made the subject more clear to the pupils.

The Public Speaking class has commenced on the practicing of the Senior Class play "CLARENCE" The program has been so arranged that the characters practice one day and the substitutes the next, this has proven to be very sucessful. This play will be given jn the latter part of next month. Watch for dates.

The Domestic Science girls are proving to be great seamstresses, they have completed their second article and are commencing on the third. Miss Scharlach has given the girls a hint to keep some of the garments neat and clean for she is plan ing on having an exhibit to show the great improvemet this course has been to the ability of the girls in sew ing.

LAST DOOR CLOSED TO MINORS SEEKING TO BUY CIGARETES

Cigaret dealers here have been advised of a new opinion by Attorney General Ben J. Gibson, to the effect that under no circumstances may cigarets be sold or delivered to a minor—even though the minor has a written order for the same.

We received the following for publication and is a copy of the letter mailed to all dealers in cigarets:

Much controversy has arisen over that portion of the cigaret law found in Sec. 1, to-wit:

Any person who shall furnish to any minor under the age of twenty-one years of age by gift, sale or otherwise, any cigaret, or cigaret papers, etc.

"In order that this department may intelligently give to every dealer in Iowa a ruling in the matter, will you kindly furnjsh this department your written opinion in relpy to the following question.

"Is a cigaret dealer justified under law in accepting a written or verbal order for cjgarets or cigaret papers using a minor as a go-between and deliver to the minor and place in the minor's hand, cigarets and cigaret papers, either for delivery or for tem porary or permanent possession thereof?"

"This department is jn receipt of your letter dated February 7, 1924, in which you request an opinion from this department.

You are advised that a dealer is not justified under the law in delivering to a minor, cigarets and cigaret papers, even though the minor at the time holds a verbal or written order from an adult." Yours truly, BEN J. GIBSON, Attorney General."

This letter is now mailed to every dealer in Iowa and informs them that they must not deliver any cigarets, or cigaret papers to minors by gift, sale, verbal or written order from another or under any pretext whatsoever.

KANAWHA MAN ANNOUNCES FOR SHERIFF

This week we have the announcement of Mr. A. J. Foster, of Kanawha who seeks the office of Sheriff.

We are not acquainted with the gentleman so we will quote the Kanawha Reporter regarding his candidacy:

An announcement of unusual interest to the voters of this sectio of the county is that of A. J. Foster of this city, who is this week entering the race for sheriff of the county. "Andy" as he is familiarly known, is one of the pioneers of Kanawha and has a large following of friends who will rally to his support. He is and has been our town marshall for a number of years, previous to that time having conducted a blacksmjth shop here. He is capable, of splendid character, and a man above reproach. This makes five candidates in the field for this office and the contest promises to be a lively one."

GARNER MAN ENDS LIFE BY SHOOTING SELF MONDAY

Roy Filljble, 60 years old and one of the oldest residents of Garner, in point of continuous residence, ended his life at 6:30 o'clock Monday morn ing by shooting. He was living with his aged mother. When she heard the report of his gun, she rushed to neighbors for help and a local doctor was summoned but Mr. Fillible was dead. At an inquest death was determined to have been self-inflicted.

Despondency over nervousness and ill health which seized him some six weeks ago is believed to have caused the deed.

In addition to the mother, Who is 85 years oid, Mr. Fillible leaves a son, Lawrence, who is the proprietor of a meat market at Garner.

Infertile eggs culled out of the incubator can be boiled until hard, ground up and mixed with mash to make an excellent food for young chicks.

The W. F. M. S. of the Methodist church will post pone their regular meeting for April.

SEED CORN OF POOR QUALITY

Iowa Farmers Therefore Will Find Greater Necessity for Testing Says Farm Crops Expert

Seedcorn has been of such good quality in Iowa for the past few year that many farmers who have tested seed corn before and found it good are likely to be careless this spring with their testing, according to H. D. Hughes, head of the farm crops department of Iowa State College But this year farmers need to watch methods closely because the general quality of seed corn in Iowa is poor, it points out.

"The prediction last fall that seed corn for spring planting was in poorer condition than it has for years," says Mr. Hughes, "has been substantiated by the recent seed corn survey made by the extension department of Iowa State College, county agents and several hundred farmers in the state. However the seed corn situation is not as bad as conditions last fall indjcated that it might be. But there are very few farmers who have seed which has not been tested who can afford to delay testjng much longer. Many lots of seed corn which are supposed to be good have been found to be entirely worthless, while in most cases there are enough dead or weak ears to make an individual ear test necessary in order to get out the valuable seed ears.

"The rag doll tester is being used almost altogether, the survey shows, this method having superseded the half dozen methods which were in vogue in the past," Mr. Hughes says. "Rag Dolls have been shown to be more effective ,most economical and convenient.'

The farm crops dpartment of Iowa State College is prepared to make composite tests of seed for those who are not equipped to do this wrk a hme or who want to check up on the results they have secured. Brief, well illustrated circulars can be had free by writing the bulletin section, Iowa State College, Ames, which give explicit information on the rag doll individual ear method of testing.

HELP COWS GET 'SECOND WIND'

Watch Early Spring Feeding to Keep Cows Producing.

Dajry cows that have been careful ly fed during the winter will be in good condition to finish the winter's milk production race with a strng sprint, providjng they are given the necessary incentive with which to catch their 'second wind' for the final spurt to the goal, according to Earl Weaver, head of the dairy husbandry department at Iowa State College.

"Cows have been fed for about four months now and they are beginning to tjre,' says Mr. Weaver. 'They are generally run down in condition and the milk flow suffers. If a man has been fortunate enough to have most choice roughages, such as silage, clover or alfalfa, his cows will have suffered less than jf they have suffered less than if they have dad to subsist on fodder and timothy.

"Good grains for this time of year are equal parts of cracked corn and ground oats," Mr. Weaver says. "Oil meal will be demanded by the cows that are producing above three gallons a day. , "Also the cows that are down in condition should have oil-meal in their ratins. Oilmeal will soften up their coats, loosen up their bowels and promote shedding f hajr.

"For the man who does not have silage or alfalfa hay available," he sys, "oilmeal will almost need to be fed even tho these cows are producing low amounts. Proper feeding for this time of year calls for a ration simjlar to this: equal parts cracked corn, ground oats and oil-meal. A higher proportion of oil-meal is necessitated by the deficiency of the protein meal jn the roughages.

Sell Clarion Store.

CLARION,— The L. E. Huntley Cash Grocery was sold Thursday to J. W. Waterman of Klemme. Mr. Haterman is a married man and an experienced groceryman who will take possession April 15. L. E. Hunt ley and wife have conducted an up-to- date store during their several years residence in Clarion.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT TO BE ELECTED TUESDAY

J. W. WATERMAN BUYS CASH GROCERY AT CLARION

John Waterman, resident and business man of Klemme for the past twenty-two years, has purchased the Huntley Cash Grocery, at Clarion, closing the deal last Thursday.

Mr. Waterman is a live wire business man. When he came to this city he conducted a general store for 11 years and then sold out to J. N. Day. He was then out of business for himself for two years and during that time was an auto salesman for F. H. Ridder, and also did a little carpentering. And during that period he was elected manager of the Farmers Garage for a few months when he resigned. He was then appointed post master and shortly after built the double store where he conducted business for nine years and then sold to G. W. Kluckhohn and sons. The post office was also moved to the ew store building and was housed there until he sold out at which time he then built the new post office building and moved in. He was here until recently when Mrs. Gibbs was appointed and the post office is still located in the new building. Mr. Waterman was post-master for nine years and the office grew under his management.

Mr. Waterman has done much for Klemme; has put up to fine brick buildings, owns a fine modern home and has always been a real booster for the good of the town.

We can say to Clarion that they are lucky to have in their business cirlcle Mr. and Mrs. Waterman.

OXLEY ANNOUNCES FOR SUPERVISOR

Mr. Fred Oxley, who lives about two miles southeast of Corwith this week places his announcement in the Times as a candidate for Supervisor.

Mr. Oxley was Supervisor from 1893 to 1902, five of these years he served as chairman of the Board. He has been a trustee of Magor township since 1888 with the exception of the years he served as Supervisor, was president four years of the County Farmers Institute and was president of the Magor township school board fourteen years, holding that office until the consolidation of the district with Corwjth. Mr. Oxley was also president at one time of the old Commercial Savings Bank of Corwith and has been on the board of directors of banking institutions there for a period of twenty years. He has also served on more election boards perhaps than any other man in the county. With this record of service Mr. Oxley feels that he is capable of handling the duties of the office he seeks in a fair and impartial manner and he will no doubt be a strong contender for the positioi.

DO YOU HAVE WEAK ARCHES?

Afflicted Persons Should Walk on Outer Edges of Feet.

Persons with weak arches should get the habit of walkjng pigeon-toed with the weight on the outer edges of the feet, shoud not try to save their heels from running over should practice picking up small articles, such as a pencil, a piece of chalk or a marble with ejther the toes of the balls of the feet, according to advice given by Miss Mae Kelley, instructor of individual gymnastics, Iowa State College.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

March 17 to March 22

Sam Middleton wf to Edward Thebiay W. D. date 3-15-24 Und. ½ of NE¼ 11-97-26 ..... $1.00.

C. G. Lucas wf to C. N. Anderson W. D. date 3-14-24 a tract of land jn blk 3 Kanawha ..... $1.00.

Lena Brummond et al to Fannie L. Barracks W. D. date 12-6-22 NW ¼ and W½ NE¼ 29-94-26 ..$1.00.

T. H. Robertson wf to Geo. Dallman Q. C. D. date 3-7-24 SW¼ 34-96-26 ..... $550.00.

LEVI NEESE OF KLEMME IS LOGICAL MAN FOR THIS POSITION

Has Had Wide Experience And Is Well Qualified For The Office

On Tuesday, April 1st, all of the Presidents of the School Boards in Hancock County will meet at the Court House in Garner for the purpose of electing a Superintendent of Schools of Hancock County.

For the first time in a number of years there is more than one candidate for this office and there will be a little excitement, no doubt.

In looking over the candidates for the office we will tell what we know andwhat we think.

Mr. J. R. Baggs, the present superintendent of schools, and who is also a candidate for re-election to that position, has served the county for about twelve years or more. Mr. Baggs has served the county well and seems to have given good satisfaction. We have nothing against Mr. Baggs except that we think he has held the office long enough and if it is a good thing, why not pass it around to other school men who are deserving of the position?

Another candidate, Miss Oxley, also wants the office of County Superintendent of Schools. We do not know the lady and have never heard of her until a few weeks ago when we heard she was in the race. We believe she makes her home at Corwith, or at least has relatives there. We are told that she is a teacher in Colorado, but we cannot vouch for this statement.

The third candjdate in the race is Mr. Levi Neese, Superintendent of the Klemme Schools at the present time. He is a man of wide experience in all lines of school work. He has taught in rural schools, grade schools and high schools; and has been Superintendent in both Independent Town Schools and Consolidated Districts. all of which is very good experience and fits him for the office which he seeks. Mr. Neese was Superintendent of our Klemme Schools twice. The first time he was here for five years and then left to take up work in the Consolidated District at Meservey and later went to Ventura as Superintendent of the Consolidated District there. He was then called back to Klemme to build up and improve the schools here and has now been here two years and under his supervision the school has come to the front jn all lines of work.

Mr. Neese is a good organizer and a willing worker which further qualifies him to serve the county as the Superintendent of Schools.

In naming the next County Superintendent of Schools of this county we would urge the presidents of the schools boards to select a man who has had experjence in all lines of school work as this county has rural, town and consolidated schools. They should select a man who will devote his entire time to school affairs in the county and has no other side line to look after. They should select a man who understands Hancock County schools and who has taught in Hancock County Schools.

Supt. Neese is making his campaign absolutely independent of all outside influence. The State Department has no connection whatever with his campaign, as a mis-leading report would indicate.

Mr. Neese has the qualifications and we believe he is the logical man for the office of County Superintendent of Schools.

80 YEAR OLD WOMAN AT CLARBOBS IT

CLARION—An 80 year old woman, known by etveryone in Clarion as "Auntie Den Denison." had her hair bobbed and says she enjoys to see the old as well as the young with their hair bobbed. She expects to make a trip all alone once more to her old home in New York in the spring. When she hears of anyone making remarks about bobbed hair she doesn't like jt.

U. S. TO SELECT ALIENS ABROAD

America No Longer World's Asylum, New Immigration Bill Says.

Washington.—Notice is served on the world that the United States "will no longer be its asylum," and machinery is provided for the selection on home grounds in foreign countries of all future immigrants in the latest revision of the new immigration restriction bill to be approved within a few days by the house immigration committee.

The committee's report contains several unexpected features. Among these is a flat charge that the United States is being "buncoed" by the activities of certain foreign governments in "exporting" large numbers of undesirables to this country. Another is the writing into the statute books of the terms of the more or less intangible "gentleman's agreement" with Japan.

Republican Leader Longworth said he expects to pass the immigration bill about April 1. Since the redrafting of the measure to meet objections raised by Secretary of State Hughes, there has been a decided swing of support to the bill and Longworth is now confident it can be put through with some changes.

In brief the majority report will set forth that the bill proposes to change the quota basis from 1910 to 1890 and reduce the percentage from 3 to 2, plus a small base quota for each country. The count of quotas would be on certificates and not persons. Overseas examination of immigrants is provided. Wives, children under eighteen and parents over fifty-five of American citizens would be exempted. The classes of exempted aliens are reduced; the burden of proof is placed upon the alien instead of upon the United States, and new means of lessening hardships are devised.

In writing the "gentleman's agreement" into the law, the committee believes it has paved the way for the ending without friction to either Japan or the United States of a vexatious problem. The provisions of the Taft treaty of 1911 are virtually used in the bill.

Ex-Treasury Clerks Cut Federal Income Taxes

Washington.—Former employees of the revenue service, working as "tax experts," have worked out reductions of federal taxes assessed by the Treasury department against large corporations, according to testimony heard by a special senate investigating committee. E. V. Rossmoore, a former employee of the bureau, said that he had figured out a reduction for the Standard Oil company which brought the assessment down from $23,000,000 to $5,000,000. Mr. Rossmoore, who drew $5,000 a year when he was with the revenue bureau, now receives an annual salary of $75,000 from the Standard Oil company.

Find Former Premier Got $68,000 in Graft

St. Johns, N. F.—Charges that Sir Richard Squires, while premier of Newfoundland, received public moneys and large sums from the British Empire Steel corporation are sustained in the report of a commission, considered at a cabinet meeting here. A summary of the report says that $22,000 from the funds of the government liquor control department was paid into Sir Richard's account at the Bank of Nova Scotia, and $46,000 was paid into the same account by the British Empire Steel corporation.

Heart Massage, Adrenalin Restore Life, Says Doctor

Shamokin, Pa.—Dr. George W. Reese, chief surgeon of the Shamokin hospital, thwarted death here when he restored respiration after a patient's heart had ceased beating during an operation for goiter. Pulsation had completely stopped for a half hour, according to the surgeon, when he made an incision in the chest, severed a rib, and then proceeded to massage the heart. Adrenalin was injected at the same time. Within half an hour the patient was breathing normally.

U. S. Action Charges Electric Lamp Trust

Cleveland, O.—At the instigation of Attorney General Daugherty a suit was filed in the District court here against the General Electric company of New York and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company of Pittsburgh, charging combination and conspiracy to violate the anti-trust law in connection with the sale of electric lamps.

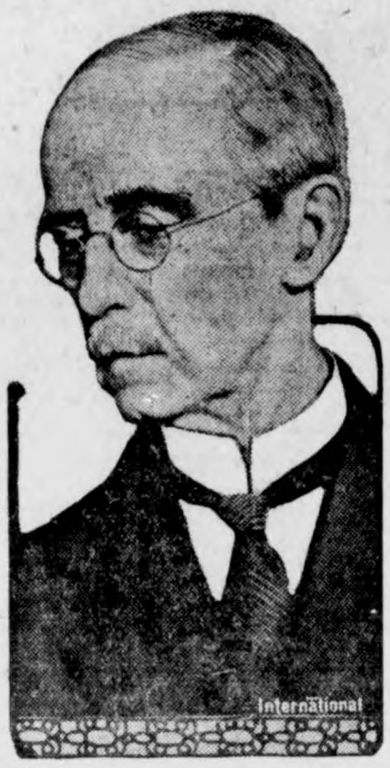
Urge U. S. to Enter League

New York.—American entry into the League of Nations was the principal topic of a dinner attended by 1,000 guests. Samuel Gompers and Major General Bliss made speeches urging American participation.

Gunboat to Storm Rebels

New Orleans.—The Mexican gunboat Bravo, which has been laid up here for repairs, steamed off to Yucatan, where it will storm the last strongholds of the rebels.

CALVIN S. PAGE



Calvin S. Page of Chicago, who has been nominated for the Nobel 1924 prize for scientific research. He is known for his theory of "Rx," and says that Sir Isaac Newton's theory was wrong. He has placed his theory in a book, "Rx, the Life Atom," and has been notified by the Swedish Royal Academy of Science of his nomination for the Nobel prize.

SENATE CALLS HAYS ON OIL STOCK "GIFT"

Hear Sinclair Shares Used to Pay G. O. P. Deficit.

Washington.—A subpoena for Will H. Hays, former postmaster general and Republican national committee chairman, was issued by the senate committee when it was reported that Harry F. Sinclair was connected with the financing of the Republican party after his lease of Teapot Dome.

Information gathered by the committee indicated that Mr. Sinclair turned over 75,000 shares of stock in his oil companies to Mr. Hays and Attorney General Daugherty. The stock was to have been sold and the proceeds used to liquidate the Republican national committee's deficit, which grew out of the 1920 campaign.

At the close of the campaign the deficit was more than $1,000,000, while less than a year later it had been cut down to $500,000, and it was said then in the inner circle of the party that the deficit would be eliminated entirely if Mr. Hays would "come through."

Efforts to induce Mr. Hays to turn over the money continued for a year, but were fruitless, it is understood.

According to the story the committee has gathered, Mr. Hays has been associated with Mr. Sinclair as counsel since he left the cabinet to become arbiter of the motion-picture industry.

A subpoena also was issued for G. D. Wahlberg, former confidential secretary to Mr. Sinclair. Mr. Wahlberg will be asked to whom he turned over certain Liberty bonds.

1,000,000 Left Farms for City Last Year, Report

Chicago.—Another million persons left the farms and went to the cities last year, according to figures compiled by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural foundation. This, coupled with the fact that the population of the country has increased 1,400,000 during the year, means, roughly, that there are 2,400,000 more persons to feed with 1,000,000 fewer persons to feed them. The foundation pointed out that the situation is so serious as to warrant immediate relief for the farmers. The report stated that in every other respect the farm outlook is good.

796 U. S. Revenue Agents Dropped in Graft Cases

Washington.—The special senate committee investigating allegations of inefficiency and irregularity in the bureau of internal revenue was told by Assistant Commissioner Charles R. Nash that 796 revenue agents, inspectors and deputy collectors had been discharged in the last three years because of dishonesty and graft. Acts of dishonesty and corruption were disclosed, he said, by the bureau's own force of sixty secret service operatives.

British Sailor Killed, U. S. Tar Hurt in Clash

Villefranche, France.—A sailor from the British warship Thunderer was killed and an American bluejacket from the flotilla of the destroyers McCormick, Simpson and Parrott was severely wounded during a clash Wednesday night in which revolvers were used.

Los Angeles Has Snow

Los Angeles, Cal.—In the midst of a cold, heavy rainstorm shortly after two o'clock Friday afternoon there fell a sheet of white flakes that some identified as snow and the skeptical called "soft hail."

Minister to Greece

Washington.—Irwin B. Laughlin of Pittsburgh has been selected by the President to be minister to Greece. This is another step toward resumption of full diplomatic relations.

TELLS OF HUGE WHISKY GRAFT

New York Druggist Reveals How Liquor Sales Were Protected.

Washington.—Startling revelations of liquor graft, involving, among others, some of those who frequented the "little green house" in Washington, were made before the Daugherty investigating committee by John Goroni, president of the Alps Drug company of New York.

Goroni's story, in its salient points, follows:

Payments of $15 a case were made for permits for the withdrawal of whisky. Four dollars of this was paid to the 1921 prohibition director; $2 a case went to Howard Mannington, one of Attorney General Daugherty's associates; $1 went to the druggist in whose name the liquor was withdrawn; $1 went to Goroni; 50 cents to Assistant United States Attorney L'Esperance at New York, and $6.50 of the sum received for each permit went to Will A. Orr and Owen Murphy.

Goroni explained that Mannington had told him he had to split his cut three ways, some of the money going to the late Jesse W. Smith, Attorney General Daugherty's middle man.

The prohibition commissioner in 1921, who is said to have shared in the division of the spoils, was Harold L. Hart.

Goroni revealed that the aggregate payments for permits amounted to approximately $200,000.

The witness explained that $50,000 in bills of $1,000 denomination was collected from "other parties." Among these was a liquor dealer named John Lynn, who hanged himself shortly after the transactions.

"How much of the $200,000 was for liquor?" one of the senators asked.

"None at all," Goroni replied. "It was all for permits."

Rebels Put New Honduras Ruler to Wild Flight

San Salvador.—Tegucigalpa, capital of Honduras, and Comayagua, fifty-three miles to the northwest, have been occupied by the revolutionary forces of Gen. Tiburcio Carias and Gen. Gregorio Ferrera. The towns were occupied after fierce battles. With their fall the last bulwarks of Gen. Juan Angelo Arias and Gen. Francisco Busso, who assumed dictatorial powers in Honduras on the death recently of former President Rafael Lopez Guiterrez, have been taken over by the rebels.

The rebel generals Diaz Zelaya and Nolasco are pursuing the dictatorial forces, who are reported to be in wild retreat, burning or looting property and committing other outrages.

Snow Maroons Automobile Tourists; Many Are Sick

Topeka, Kan.—One hundred and thirty automobile tourists, including women and children, are marooned in the snow at Kendall, a village on the Santa Fe trail in the sand hills of western Kansas, and a number are ill and without medical attention. News of the plight of the tourists was contained in a telegram received at the office of Gov. J. M. Davis. The telegram was signed by W. G. Garrett.

Rush Bills, President Asks Party Leaders

Washington.—In an important conference on the tax bill between President Coolidge and Chairman Smoot and Senator Curtis of the finance committee, the President expressed the hope that the tax measure would be reported out of the finance committee as soon as practicable, and taken up for consideration by the senate and acted upon.

Congress Asks Coolidge for a New Arms Parley

Washington. — President Coolidge was requested by formal action of the house of representatives to seek a new world conference for the limitation of aircraft, submarine and other armaments not covered by the Harding conference three years ago. It specifies Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan as the countries with which it is desired to open negotiations.

Ireland Near Dictatorship, Says a Dublin Dispatch

Dublin.—Ireland is faced with the prospect of a military dictatorship, with President William Cosgrove as dictator. The Free State government has made a complete about face and will back the army mutineers headed by Maj. Gen. Liam Tobin. The government has discovered that hardly a soldier of the entire army was loyal to the commander in chief.

New Mex. G. O. P. for Coolidge

Santa Fe, N. M.—New Mexican Republicans in their state convention here indorsed President Coolidge for the Republican nomination for president. Delegates to the national convention, however, were not instructed.

Hoover Calls Untermyer

Washington.—Secretary Hoover challenged Samuel Untermyer to prove charges he made recently to the effect that Mr. Hoover had supported "open price associations."

RAMON ROSS

Ramon Ross, governor of the federal district of Mexico, who has been chosen by President Obregon as the Mexican ambassador to the United States. He recently completed a confidential mission for Obregon in Washington, and served as one of the Mexican commissioners last summer in Mexico City.

UNITED STATES MARKET REPORT

Washington.—For the week ending March 22. — LIVE STOCK—Chicago prices: Hogs, $7.50 for the top and $7.20@7.45 for the bulk. Medium and good beef steers, $8.10@11.75; butcher cows and heifers, $4.00@10.50; feeder steers, $5.25@8.50; light and medium weight veal calves, $8.00@11.75. Fat lambs, $14.50@16.75; feeding lambs, $14.00@15.75; yearlings, $12.00@15.00; fat ewes, $7.25@11.50.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Northern sacked round white potatoes, $1.20@1.35 in Chicago, 90c@$1.10 at shipping points. Yellow onions, $1.75@2.25 sacked per 100 lbs. consuming centers, top of $2.50 in Chicago. Texas flat and round types cabbage, $50.00@65.00, $25.00@28.00 f. o. b.. Northwestern extra fancy winesap apples, $2.00@2.40 per box leading markets.

GRAIN—No. 1 dark northern spring wheat, $1.14@1.30¾ Minneapolis; No. 2 hard winter wheat, $1.06¾ Chicago, $1.06 St. Louis; No. 2 red winter wheat, $1.13 St. Louis; No. 3 yellow corn, 76¼@77¼c Chicago, 77½@78c St. Louis; No. 3 white oats, 47¼@48c Chicago, 48½@49c St. Louis, 43½c Minneapolis.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, 46¾c Chicago. Cheese at Wisconsin primary markets: Twins, 20¾c; single daisies, 21c; double daisies, 20½c; longhorns, 20½c; square prints, 21¾c.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $24.50 Cincinnati, $26.00 Chicago, $18.50 Minneapolis, $25.50 St. Louis; No. 1 prairie, $20.00 Chicago, $16.00 Minneapolis, $18.50 St. Louis; No. 1 alfalfa, $28.00 Chicago, $22.00 Minneapolis.

Subterranean Saloon Raided in Chicago

Chicago.—Sixty prohibition agents raided a subterranean liquor cache at 1800 North Halsted street. The raiders, armed with shotguns, obtained entrance after passing through a complicated labyrinth of tunnels divided in half a dozen places with heavy locked doors. More than a hundred men were arrested.

$17,824,743 February Gain in U. S. Revenue

Washington.—Collections of internal revenue in February showed an increase of $17,824,743.16 over February, 1923, the Treasury department announced. The average in the eight months ending February 29, 1924, over the corresponding period in 1922-23 increased $201,704,239.84. Collections for February, 1924, were $126,810,880.45.

Irish Ambush British Soldiers; One Killed

Dublin.—In an ambuscade at Queenstown one British soldier was killed and 21 soldiers and civilians wounded, four of them seriously. Two of the wounded were women. The attack occurred at 6:45, when a launch was coming from Spike island, where under a treaty a British military post and prison is maintained.

His Hanging Disturbed Her, So She Sues Estate

St. Louis, Mo.—Because John H. Martin "voluntarily and intentionally disturbed and disrupted the peace and quiet" of herself and family by hanging himself from a water pipe in her home, Mrs. Mary Shupe is suing the administrator of the John Martin estate for $10,000 damages.

Germans Feast on Fruits; Hits Balanced Marks

Berlin.—Germany's whirl in imported luxuries, such as pineapples, oranges, tangarines and bananas, since the mark has been stabilized, threatens to upset the government's currency balance, says the Deutsche Zeitung.

Favors Third Party

Nashville, Tenn.—George D. Dixon, vice president of the Pennsylvania railway, declared here that the Democrats and Republicans have played politics long enough and that it is time for a third party.

Transport Workers Call Strike

London.—A strike was called by the Transport Workers' union, to take effect at once. The decision followed the failure of negotiations for higher wages.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

Near Sheldon W. H. Curtis sold his 80-acre farm for $300 an acre.

An $800,000 road bond issue for a paved highway across Emmet county will be voted on April 8th.

Fred L. McMillin, an Arnold Park druggist, has traded a drug store for a five-year course at Penn college, Oskaloosa.

Twenty priests officiated at the dedication of the new $125,000 Catholic church at Imogene St. Patrick's day.

Iowa farm land is moving again and at fair prices ,reports from a number of towns in various parts of the state indicate.

Dan Cupid has taken good aim at the school teachers of Guthrie county, five of them having fallen from his darts during the past several days.

George Diehl, of Grundy Center, in the Palermo spray ring has satisfied himself that it does pay to pray, and pay well. The season is here, again.

The county agent says many farmers in Benton county realize the seriousness of the seed corn situation as indicated by reports of formers testing seed corn.

Oskaloosa manufacturers are for paved roads and are proclaiming to the world their position in favor of permanent hard surfacing of Iowa highways.

The Iowa Railway and Light Company will spend $40,000 on improvements at its Marshalltown gas plant this spring, according to plans approved at headquarters in Cedar Rapids.

Twenty-two Cornell College girls who compose the Girls' Glee Club, will make their annual spring tour during spring vacation. This year's itinerary will include eleven northern Iowa towns.

At the regular meeting of the city council it was voted to receive bids and let a contract for the paving of the streets of Nevada, under the program proposed some weeks ago, on March 28th.

Judge Wilbur, who takes Secretary Denby's place in the cabinet was born in old Boonesboro in 1867. He went into the navy as a boy, but later resigned and began the practice of law in Los Angeles.

Iowa coffee drinkers are face to face with a 20 per cent increase in the price of coffee, Sioux City jobbers have declared. The blame was placed on the Brazilian government, which is said to control the coffee market.

The Humboldt schoolma'ams have served forty years each improving the marksmanship of the young idea. What kind of a bonus does Humboldt and Iowa owe them and shouldn't we pay it cheerfully as a just debt and an obligation that is a privilege?

Iowa farmers are interested in every phase of experiment station work, but perhaps calls for animal husbandry and crops and soils publications are the most numerous. Right now the inquiries reflect the fact that gardens and orchards will soon need attention.

With the marked growth in the dairy business throughout the state of Iowa there has been a corresponding growth in the number of cow testing associations. Farmers milking cows are coming more and more to see the value of putting their herds on a business basis.

Excavation work has been started on the new $30,000 plant of the Ames Milk Producers Association. The association consisting of 80 stockholders, comprise a group of farmers and dairymen who are centralizing for the direct benefit of the consumer as well as the producer.

The seven million dollar Midland packing plant at Sioux City was put into operation by Swift & Co., after standing idle for four years. Swift & Co. purchased the plant recently from the Midland Company. The plant's capacity is 2,000 cattle, 12,000 hogs and 2,000 sheep a week.

The Iowa climate gets grisly now and then, and the ice cream cone business is not so good in Waterloo along about New Years admits the Waterloo Courier. "But say Iowa is a great place to raise hogs; and it takes a lot of Iowa hog money to keep the merry-go-rounds whirling in Long Beach by the sea."

The Ben Harken farm of 160 acres, three miles east of Ackley, in Butler county, has been rented to R. Boelmann at a cash rental of $10 an acre. This is the highest rental paid in this section for several years; the average ranges from $6 to $7.50 per acre, while the greatest number of farm leases that have been made this spring have been made on the one-half share rental. The Harken farm is only fairly improved.

C. N. Douglass, who lives near Lehigh and who oversees the Dolliver Memorial park grounds, has arranged with the Webster County Farm bureau for a fence post preservative treatment demonstration soon at his farm near the southwestern corner of the county.

With the marked growth in the dairy business throughout the state of Iowa there has been a corresponding growth in the number of cow testing associations. Farmers milking cows are coming more and more to see the value of putting their herds on a business basis.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

In picking out clothes, notice how certain colors and shapes look on people who look like you.

Aspirin

Beware of Imitations!

BAYER

Demand

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians over twenty-three years for

Colds	Headache
Toothache	Lumbago
Neuritis	Rheumatism
Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proven directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

those head colds

At the first sneeze, begin spraying the nose and throat with Zonite twice daily. It will help materially to destroy the seat of the trouble—usually germ infections somewhere in the nasal cavity. Zonite is the form of antiseptic which practically wiped infection out of the hospitals in France during the World War.

Zonite KILLS GERMS

Green's August Flower

The remedy with a record of fifty-seven years of surpassing excellence. All who suffer with nervous dyspepsia, sour stomach, constipation, indigestion, torpid liver, dizziness, headaches, coming-up of food, wind on stomach, palpitation and other indications of digestive disorder, will find GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER an effective and efficient remedy. For fifty-seven years this medicine has been successfully used in millions of households all over the civilized world. Because of its merit and popularity GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER can be found today wherever medicines are sold. 30 and 90 cent bottles.

CHILDREN WHO ARE SICKLY

TRADE MARK DON'T ACCEPT ANY SUBSTITUTE

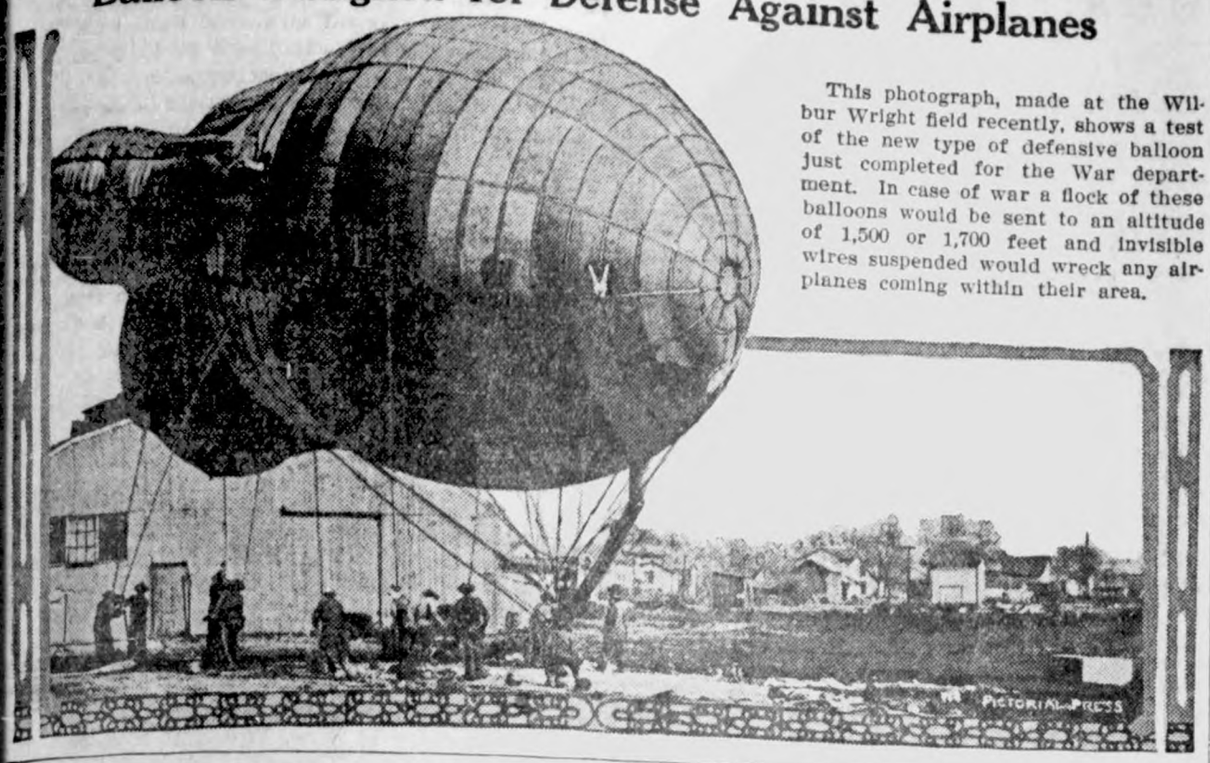
Mothers who value the health of their children, should never be without MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS FOR CHILDREN, for use when needed. They tend to Break up Colds, Relieve Feverishness, Worms, Constipation, Headache, Teething disorders and Stomach Troubles. Used by Mothers for over 30 years. At Druggists everywhere. Ask today. Trial package FREE. address THE MOTHER GRAY CO. LeROY, N. Y.

Garfield Tea

Was Your Grandmother's Remedy

For every stomach and intestinal ill. This good old-fashioned herb home remedy for constipation, stomach ills and other derangements of the system so prevalent these days is in ever greater favor as a family medicine than in your grandmother's day.

Balloon Designed for Defense Against Airplanes



This photograph, made at the Wilbur Wright field recently, shows a test of the new type of defensive balloon just completed for the War department. In case of war a flock of these balloons would be sent to an altitude of 1,500 or 1,700 feet and invisible wires suspended would wreck any airplanes coming within their area.

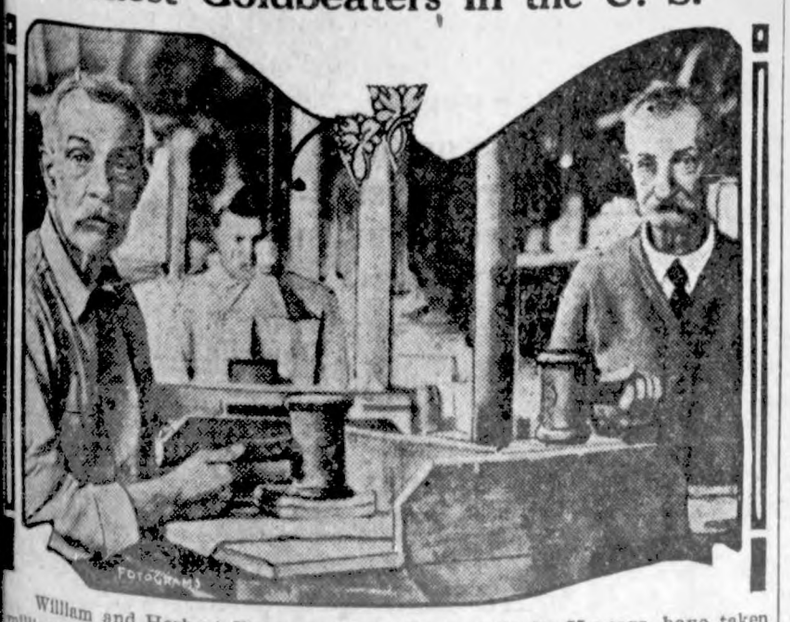
Phone Girls on a Long Tramp

Doris Nannette and Ann Bradley, New York telephone operators, have started on a cross-continent hike from New York to California. From Baltimore, where the photograph was made, they proceeded to Washington, thence westward. Whenever necessary to earn funds they will do relief telephone operating.

Gen. Obregon Decorated by Peru

General Obregon, president of Mexico, wearing the insignia of the Order of the Sun after its presentation on behalf of the republic of Peru by Leonicio G. de Mora, Peruvian minister to Mexico, who is seated at General Obregon's right.

Oldest Goldbeaters in the U. S.



William and Herbert Ross, working side by side for 55 years, have taken millions of sheets of gold, 1-1,000th of an inch thick, and beaten them into trillions of gold leaves 1-300,000th of an inch thick. They are brothers, said to be kings of their craft and the oldest goldbeaters in the United States.

ADMITS LIQUOR DEALS

Will Orr, once secretary to former Governor Whitman of New York, was a reluctant witness before the senate committee investigating Attorney General Daugherty and told of deals for the withdrawing of liquor from bond in which Howard Mannington, associate of Daugherty, played the part of "fixer" and Orr that of "collector." He also had an interest in the Dempsey-Carpentier fight film exhibitions.

TELLS STARTLING TALES

Miss Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of the late Jesse Smith, who gave sensational testimony before the senate committee that is investigating Attorney General Harry Daugherty.

GIVEN NAVY PORTFOLIO

Curtis D. Wilbur, chief justice of the California supreme court, who has been appointed secretary of the navy.

ENTHUSIASM NEEDED

Rev. Fr. J. F. Cox of St. Patrick's Catholic church in Pittsburgh, Pa., believes that the enthusiasm of the American Legion, permeating national life will bring about increased efficiency in busines and idealism.

In speaking to the business men's branch of the American Legion in the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, recently, he said:

"If you soldiers of the American Legion would get into civic life with as much ambition and enthusiasm as you did in the World war, the spirit of co-operation, business and idealism would rise in great percentage."

CHIEF INTEREST IN DISABLED VETERANS

To make disabled men in hospitals satisfied the utmost in service should be theirs. This is the attitude assumed by the American Legion auxiliary, under direction of the national chairman of the rehabilitation committee, Dr. Helen Hughes Hielscher of Minnesota.

Doctor Hielscher's interest in disabled veterans began long before the war ended, when men began to drift back to the United States shattered in body and mind, to be cared for by the government until the Veterans' Bureau hospitals opened. She began her visits to these institutions early in 1920 and soon after closed her office in order to devote her whole time to these men.

J. A. Hielscher, her husband, had been called into service with the medical corps, and during this time, Mrs. Hielscher, herself a practicing physician, took charge of all his practice, which was heavy, particularly during the winter of 1917 and 1918 when the influenza epidemic was at its height. Mankato's physicians, where the Hielschers resided, were reduced one-third, and on Mrs. Hielscher fell a double share of duty.

During this time she organized a bureau of information for the families of service men of the community and served many hundreds of families in ways relating to war service.

On the return of her husband from service, and his resumption of practice, Doctor Hielscher resolved to devote all energy to the disabled men in the hospitals. In choosing the most efficient outlet for this effort, she joined the American Legion Auxiliary, organized a unit, and was instrumental in bringing about organization of the Minnesota department. She was elected to the presidency of this department as soon as it received its charter, and is now a member of the "Aloha Presidents," an inner circle in the auxiliary, which counts as its members all first department presidents.

Dr. Helen H. Hielscher.

During the year that Doctor Hielscher served as department president and the subsequent year as member of the national executive committee, she traveled about the state telling about the work of the auxiliary and endeavoring to increase the membership on an educational basis. During 1923 she was chairman of the department rehabilitation committee, and carried through many plans for relief of disabled veterans.

Doctor Hielscher is a firm believer in placing the veterans on their own responsibility and has provided many of the patients with interesting work which is bringing about rehabilitation. Under her direction a revolving fund has been established from which disabled men, now on farm tracts, can borrow money for the purpose of stocking their farms, the same to be repaid without interest, and in payments extended over several years. Her principal conviction is that the disabled will never be properly rehabilitated until the state asserts its right over the federal government and appropriations are made to the states for the care of disabled. This, however, is not in accord with present recommendations of the Legion and the auxiliary.

Just as a Favor

The speeding motorist had run down an unfortunate pedestrian.

"Hey!" he yelled to his victim. "While you are under there, look at my new four-wheel brakes. They didn't work."—American Legion Weekly.

Important News for Cocoa Drinkers

Cut cocoa bills 40% to 50% by asking for Monarch when you buy Dutch Process Cocoa—by asking for Farm House when you want American Process. Note the low prices.

Quality for 70 Years

REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Manufacturers and Importers
Established 1853
Chicago Boston
New York Pittsburgh

GROCERS:
Reid, Murdoch & Co.'s food products are sold only by the Regular Retail Grocer who owns and operates his own store. We never sell to Chain Stores.

Be sure of good bread: use Yeast Foam

If your children do not possess a keen appetite

try home-made bread: they love its flavor and need its nourishment.

Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"

Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 N. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Now is the time

The season of most delicious salads is here. Crisp and tender lettuce and other spring vegetables make this truly "salad time." To enhance the delicious flavor of either fruits or vegetables, prepare your salads with New Style Yacht Club Salad Dressing—a favorite in American homes for 35 years. It is mild, rich and creamy—always ready—always good.

YACHT CLUB
New Style
SALAD DRESSING

Write for the "Manual of Salads"

New Style Yacht Club Salad Dressing is sold by all good grocers. Order a bottle today and write for a free copy of Yacht Club Manual of Salads.

Tildesley & Co.
314 N. Clark St. Chicago, Ill.

$2,500 in Prizes

ENTER the International Crow-Shooting Contest. Du Pont offers $2,500 in merchandise prizes. No entrance fees. Destroy the menace to game and crops. Write today for booklets giving full information on the crow.

E. I. DU PONT DE NEMOURS & CO., INC
Sporting Powder Division
WILMINGTON, DEL.

DU PONT
SPORTSMAN'S SERVICE

Political Announcements

COUNTY RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election to the office of Recorder of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Clarissa Abel. *

I hreeby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock Contuy, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the Primaries to be held in June, 1924.—H. L. Suckow, Klemme, Ia.*

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican Primary to be held in June, 1924.—H. C. Meyer. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to a decision of the republican voters at the primary election in June, 1924. I solicit your support on a platform of sirict economy fair and impardial treatment.—Wallace Darrah. *

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1924 Primaries.—A. O. Christensen, Crystal Lake, Iowa.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of Supervisor of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the June 1924 primary. —Fred Oxley, Corwith.

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary —John Suurballe. (J-10)

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—H. A. Sweigard. *

COUNTY AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of County Auditor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters of the June, 1924 Primary.—J. D. Madison. *

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Verne C. Grau. J-17)

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock County, Iowa, subject to the decision of the republican priparies to be held in June 1924. I solicit the support of all voters, both men and women.—V. S. White.

COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—J. C. Hanson, Garner, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination of Clerk of Courts of Hancock County subject to a decision of the voters at the June 1924 Primaries.—Chris J. Johansen, Britt, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, and solicit your support at the June Primary election, 1924.—F. P. Oleson. F-14

COUNTY SHERIFF

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 Primaries. I solicit the vote of everybody.—C. N. White, Klemme, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate on the Republican ticket for Sheriff of Hancock County at the June primaries. Pledging tht same service that I have previously given while in public office.—Peck Hanson.

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county. subject to the will of the voters at the republican primaries to be held in June 1924.—Howard Hanson, Crystal Lake. *

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock Coutny, subject to the decision of the voters at the primary in June.—W. C. Zeismer.

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the voters at the Republican primaries to be held in June, 1924.—A. J. Foster, Kanawha.

FOR STATE SENATOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for State Senator from this 43rd district of Iowa comprising Cerro Gordo, Franklin and Hancock counties, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 primaries. If nominated and elected I agree to abide by the precedent established in this district and will not be a candidate for a second term.—C. F. JOHNSTON. Sheffield, Iowa. Feb. 1st, 1924.

COUNTY REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Representative from the 86th district, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1924, Primaries. —Frank M. Hanson, Garner, Iowa.

Puzzling

Judge—You say that you are innocent. How do you explain the fact that you were found near the scene of the robbery with the stolen property in your hand?

Prisoner—That's what's puzzlin' me, too, yer honor.

Announcement

I have purchased a grocery store at Clarion and will move there soon.

I would like to have anyone who have watches, clocks, or other jewelry at my bench for repair at the Crystal Cafe to call for the same before April 10th.

Public Auction

Saturday, April 5th, at 1:00 P. M. I will hold a Public Auction at my house for the purpose of disposing of some household goods, cook stve, bees, pool table and other articles.

Watch for Bills

Also—my modern house is for rent or for sale.

John Waterman

WHY BANKS?

LESSON VI

By J. H. PUELICHER, Chairman,
Committee on Public Education, American Bankers Association.

We hear of bank capital, surplus and stockholders. What economic services do they render the community?

J. H. Puelicher

BANK CAPITAL=The money necessary to engage in the business of rendering banking services to the community.

SURPLUS=A part of a bank's earnings not paid out as dividends to stockholders but reserved for possible losses or to expand activities as needed by growing business.

CAPITAL AND SURPLUS=Protection to depositors, because if trouble arises, depositors must be paid in full out of these funds if necessary before stockholders are paid anything.

BANK STOCKHOLDER=Anyone able and willing to buy stock in a bank and to assume the risk of the business. A share of stock represents a fraction of ownership in the whole, and with ownership go responsibilities and liabilities. In smaller communities those who usually organize banks interest successful farmers, successful merchants and successful manufacturers because of the influence they bring.

DOUBLE LIABILITY=The obligation under the law that rests on a bank stockholder, in case his bank fails and the assets are not enough to pay depositors, to pay an amount equal to his bank stock, in addition to losing his original investment. This is not the case in corporations other than banks. Example: If a man owned $1,000 in bank stock and the bank failed, and after the assets had been used, the bank still owed money to depositors, the stockholder would be required to pay up to another $1,000 if necessary to meet the obligations to depositors.

Thus it is seen that bank capital and bank stockholders perform real economic services.

MAKING IT HARD FOR BANK CROOKS

How the Nation's Bankers Are Banded Together in War on Crime—The Great Crook Trap and the Way It Works.

By JOHN OAKWOOD

The slick gentry who have been wont to walk into banks and mesmerize paying tellers into giving them good cash for worthless checks have recently become aware of the fact that their operations are daily growing more difficult. Crooks who have operated with apparent immunity for years have suddenly found themselves caught in the meshes of what amounts to a nation wide crook trap.

To show how effectively this is now working, one of the biggest figures among the worthless check operators, a man who claims to have defrauded dozens of banks and realized more than $300,000 from his operations, recently fell into the toils of the trap. Realizing that he was hopelessly caught, he made a complete confession.

This trap is conducted by the Protective Department of the American Bankers Association, which includes in its membership more than 22,000 banks that are thus leagued in a perpetual warfare against the army of bank crooks scattered throughout the nation.

A Dramatic Arrest

A dramatic illustration of the workings of the association's detective department was recently staged in Buffalo, N. Y., resulting in the sudden downfall of a pair of check swindlers and terminating a year's successful operations in some fifteen cities in various sections of the country.

The pair began their operations in Buffalo in the middle of January, one of them appearing at the special savings account window of a bank there. He presented a counter check on the bank for $75.60, together with a deposit slip filled in for $20.60. He also presented a second deposit slip for $3, proffering with it $3 in currency. He told the teller that he wanted to deposit the two items, that is, $3 in cash and $20.60 out of the check, to the credit of his wife, explaining that he had forgotten to bring her book but would return with it later. His cash and the check were accepted, totaling $78.60. From this sum his wife's supposed account was credited with $23.60, the total of the two deposit slips, and he was given $55 cash in change.

After the man left the bank the teller became suspicious due to his prolonged failure to return as he had promised with his wife's deposit book. On investigation the check he had left was fouhd to be worthless. The bank communicated with the local detective office of the association, giving a complete description of the man.

The Alarm Is Given

Later that same day the detective office received another report from a second bank that it had been similarly defrauded by a man answering the description given by the first bank. Steps were at once taken to set a trap for him should he attempt further operations. All surrounding banks were warned that he was in the vicinity and a complete description was given them of his appearance and of his mode of operating. They were advised to have their tellers and guards on the lookout and to communicate at once by telephone with the detective office in case anyone appeared in their lobbies who seemed to answer to the description of the man wanted. They were also instructed to take steps to detain him in the bank.

Early the next afternoon the telephone rang in the detective office and a message came from a third bank that they thought the man was in its lobby. Three detectives rushed to the bank in an automobile which had been held continuously in waiting. Two of the detectives covered the entrances of the bank and the third went into the lobby. He at once noticed a short, well dressed man standing at one side and watching the line of people at the tellers' windows. In the line he noticed a large man, answering the description of the bad check operator he was seeking.

The detective approached the man who at once scented trouble and tore up the papers he had in his hand, hiding the pieces in his pocket. Atsigns of his putting up a fight, the detective grappled with him and called to his two associates at the doors to arrest the other man whom he had noticed as he entered. After a short struggle the two men were overpowered. When the larger of the two was searched a torn check was found in his pocket, made out in the same writing as the two that had been successfully passed the day before. A number of similar checks all prepared for use, were also found on his confederate. When confronted by the tellers of the banks who had been victimized the day before, the leader was readily identified. The two prisoners were hopelessly ensnared, admitted their guilt and in their hotel rooms were found a large number of checks, deposit slips and pass books of banks in various cities.

The Trap Sprung Again

Similar quick action of the bank crook trap in Boston terminated the career of another check forger who had been operating successfully in the New England states. The banks which he had victimized notified the American Bankers Association with the result that all other banks in the territory were warned against him and were put on guard. Therefore, when he walked into a Boston bank to continue his operations he walked into a trap as he was immediately recognized and nabbed by the officers there.

These are only two instances of many that have recently taken place in various parts of the country. Some of these arrests have brought into the toils of the authorities some of the slickest operators in this line in the country and from them have been learned the details of the way bank crooks operate, placing in the hands of the detective department the means to put banks on guard against further depredations.

MAY 3 TO BE DAD'S DAY AT UNIVERSITY

IOWA CITY, March 22— Dad's day at the University of Iowa this year will be Saturday, May 3, according to announcement today by A. F. I., senior men's honary society, which is sposoring the event. University students on this day invite dad to be their guest and see the university in action.

Among the events of interest that will be on thep rogram at this time will be the state high school track meet, the all-university relay carnival and on Friday night ,the annual Iowana, a carnival under the auspices of Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

HAMMILL FOR GOVERNOR

Hancock County Is Back Of Home Man For High Office

Nomination blanks for signatures are out favoring Hammill as Iowa's next governor.

Hancock County will stand back of Hammill at the primaries in June. Hammill is a good man and this county would be honored by his elec- to the highest office in the state. John is the logical candidate and his experience in that office during the illness of Governor Kendall fits him for the position.

Recover Two Bodies

Brainerd, Minn., —The first two bodies of the miners who lost their lives in the Milford mine disaster near Crosby on February 5, when 41 miners were killed, were recovered yesterday.

Looking over people in the mass we come to believe it would be harder to prove that they are not descended from monkeys than that they are.

Spring is here. The time is here to get your machinery in shape for the Spring Work. We have the tools and machinery to do almost any repair job—Stormizing Cylinders, Burning-in Bearings, Fitting Piston Pins and Rings.

We weld the break of Day!

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Better in Fabric, Smarter in Style Than Usual Are These

Suits for Boys at $13.50

Which means that at a very moderate price, suits of the superior sort may be chosen here.

Tailoring is careful in every detail.
Fabrics are all-wool and new in pattern
Styles marked by details new this spring.

Each suit has of course two pairs of knickers. In sizes 6 to 17 years. Here you'll find large assortments to choose from. Prices are right.

Patton Bros. Co.

Where a dollar does its duty
MASON CITY and Manly, Iowa

Cheese--

A FOOD FOR THE GROWING CHILD—

CHEESE, like milk, is a most valuable food for children. Good, wholesome cheese gives the necessary lime and phosphorus for sturdy growth.

Nowadays you can buy good cheese without any guesswork—we buy only the very best cheese manufactured and it comes from spick and span, clean factories, where only the purest of materials enter into the finished products.

You will always find a full line of nice fresh cheese at our meat market along with our choice line of meats and other products.

KRAFT CHEESE—
CREAM CHEESE—
PIMENTO CHEESE—
LIMBURGER CHEESE—
BRICK CHEESE—

FRESH FISH—We are receiving nice, fresh fish for every week-end. You will enjoy a meal of fine fish—try them today.

J. P. Larsen & Sons

The Klemme Meat Market

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Seney's Drug Store — Phone 4009.

Klemme, Iowa

News of Goodell And Vicinity

and Mrs. Adrian Bielfeld are arents of a baby boy.

s. Bert Hood is staying a few at the Adrian Bielefeld home.

ther Harberts is on the sick his week; also Mamie Dieger.

s. Ahrenkeil is expecting Louisme from college Tuesday.

e Pete Steinblock family have sick with the measles.

ss Ruth Ness, who is working lmond, spent the week end with folks.

Sandberg came home to spend vacation. He is attending colat Ames.

rald Chase returned to Rolfe, spending a week with his moth d family.

. Van Tassel came Tuesday and work for W. L. Sherwood this ner.

ava and Wayne Bachman have been absent from school on account of measles.

Tommy Quigley, who has been ill is getting better, which his many friends are glad to hear.

Lela Griggs has recovered from the measles and is able to resume her school work.

Mrs. Tracy, from Lake Mills, is spending a few days with relatives here.

The St. Patrick's Dance Monday night was well attended. All report a good time, as there has not been one for a long time.

SAN FRANCISO TO MOVE LARGE CEMETERY; 5 YEARS AHEAD

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26—After hours of debate, the San Francisco board of supervisors voted for removal of the city of 50,000 bodies buried in the old Masonic and Odd Fellows cemeteries. The action ends a five year fight for removal of the bodies.

The cemeteries cover twelve city blocks each.

Karl Kraus left this noon for Iowa City where he will have an operation performed on his nose. Karl also said he was going to take a good squint at the broadcasting station while there.

DIFFICULT TO RECALL NAME

Doctor Finds Identifying His Patients Hard Task—Look Different in Bed.

The most difficult part of a doctor's work is not determining whether a patient has appendicitis or heart trouble or whether the patient needs a tonic or a trip to Palm Beach.

"The thing that causes me most difficulty," confessed a physician to a writer, "is recognizing my patients whom I have visited in their homes while they were sick in bed and who later come for further consultation at my office. With a man it is hard enough, for whenever a man is sick he usually waits until he has a three days' growth of beard before he will consent to have a doctor.

"With women it is even worse. For when women are ill they naturally are not spiffed up the way most of them are ordinarily. Or else the fact that they have their hair down gives them a surprisingly youthful appearance. Later when they appear at my office in street clothes, with hats on, I am bewildered. They are either very much better looking than I thought or else very much older looking. And I have difficulty in recognizing them at once. Nothing offends a person more, quite naturally.

"I try to find some distinguishing mark, like the color of the eyes or a tiny mole on a face, or the kind of teeth, but even these don't help in many cases. The hardest part of the diagnosis is getting the patient's name right."—New York Sun and Globe.

Velocity of Light.

The first determination of the velocity of light was made by Romer in 1676. The method was based upon the observation of the eclipses of Jupiter's satellites, phenomena of frequent recurrence and easy of observation. Assuming that light requires time wherein to move from place to place through space, the interval between successive eclipses would appear too short when the earth is approaching Jupiter and too long when the earth is receding therefrom. Romer found in his observations that such was the case, and that the interval was conditioned by the rate of speed at which the earth changed places relatively with Jupiter. From these constants Romer computed that light expended about 16½ minutes in crossing the earth's orbit. From this is deduced a velocity of about 186,500 miles a second.

Described.

The inhabitants of a sagebrush town were seated on a cracker box exchanging desultory conversation.

"You know them hot cakes what the feller flips in the window of the Forlorn Hope restaurant?"

"Yes, I know 'em."

"Ever try 'em?"

"Yes, I've tried 'em."

"What do you think of 'em?"

The citizen thus appealed to gazed reflectively toward the foothills for some minutes and then rendered judgment.

"That feller's not a cook; he's a juggler."—Judge.

KITS COTY HOUSE MONUMENT

Ancient Pile of Stones in Wheat Field in England Marks Battlefield of 455.

In the year 1827 a citizen of London spent a holiday at Hollingsbourne in Kent. He wrote in his diary that the principal object which arrested his attention was a large pile of stones in a wheat field by the roadside, and on inquiry found it was Kits Coty house.

Antiquarians tell us that in the year 455 a battle took place between the Britons and Danes on the banks of the Medway at Aylesford, and the stones now remaining are supposed to be a part of a monument then erected. There are two immense stone slabs, each nine tons weight, fixed on the end in the ground and inclining toward each other. Another slab is between them for support, and one great stone, of more than twelve tons, lies as a roof transversely over all, making a kind of cell about seven feet each way and the same in height.

Today Kits Coty house stands as it did when the writer of the diary so carefully described it 96 years ago. In all probability, however, this cromlech had its origin long before the year 455, and it may even date back to the Stone age. As to its name, it is possible that this monument was styled "Kits Coty house" during the Middle Ages. A Kentish rhyme of medieval origin refers to "Kit" going to Canterbury, and it is not at all improbable that Kit was a popular name among the pilgrims who would travel along the Pilgrims' Way (an old track running from Winchester to Canterbury), which crosses this very hillside only a few hundred yards down the hill.—Detroit News.

ODD FISH OF SOUTHERN SEAS

Torpedo or Electric Ray Has Nearly Circular Body and Weighs Eighty Pounds.

The torpedo or electric ray, a fish in the Southern seas, grows to a large size, sometimes weighing seventy or eighty pounds. This peculiar fish has a nearly circular body, a short tail and a very small mouth. The back is brownish in color, and the underneath parts are white.

The torpedo obtains its name from its power of giving a violent shock, similar to an electric shock, to anything with which it comes in contact. Whenever an enemy approaches the fish emits from its body a kind of electricity which incapacitates the attacker immediately. In capturing its food the torpedo finds this power of use. Being very inactive, it cannot pursue the small fish which form its diet, so it lies in wait until they swim close by and then throws out its powerful shock, which instantly renders them helpless. If a person touches this strange fish he is attacked by cramp, which affects the stomach, producing a kind of convulsion. For this reason the torpedo is sometimes known as the "cramp fish."

Another "Indoor Sport."

"The pretty girl was being conducted round the prison and occasionally she paused to give a few words of comfort to one or other of the more miserable-looking prisoners.

"A case of melancholia," announced the warden, who was acting as guide, as they came to one cell.

"How sad!" murmured the visitor. "I suppose," she remarked to the inmate of the cell, "that the singing of the birds relieves the monotony of your weary life?"

"The singing of the birds, miss?" replied the convict, nonplused.

"Yes," said the visitor, "the little jailbirds. They must be such a comfort to you!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Only A Case Of Habit

"Wot was the last card oi delt ye, Moike?"

"A shpade."

"Oi knew it. Oj saw ye spit on yer hands before ye picked it up."

Keeping To The Point

Porter—This train goes to Buffalo and points east.

Old Lady—Well, I want a train that gets to Syracuse and I don't care which way it points.

Order in the Court

Judge (sternly)—"The next person who interrupts the proceedings will be sent home."

Prisoner—"At a boy, Judge! Hurrah!"

Then He Moved On

Kind Old Gentleman: "And what are you going to do when you grow big like your mother?"

Honest Little Girl—"Diet."

Fast Thinkin' Boy

She—"Dearie, will you love me s much in February as in August?"

He—"No, Dumpling."

She—"Boohoo-o-o-o—I knew it."

He—"But, Precious, I can't. Even with leap year there are only twenty-nine days in February, while August has thirty-one."

If you cry over spilled milk the impression may keep you from spilling it again.

JACK HOXIE PLAYS IN WESTERN PICTURE SATURDAY NIGHT

"Men In The Raw" Is Real Thriller That You Don't Want To Miss

Into the water waded a herd of cattle; then, like a flash, they vanished, as into thin air! Horsemen rode into the uncanny river, ever to reappear.

And then, two men, in a mad chase, dashed into the river. Near the center they met, and grappled in desperate struggle. Off their horses they rolled! Down, down into the murky waters, grappling kicking, battling, struggling for life they went. Over them the ripples widened, subsided, and the river rolled on its way, leaving a weird mystery. But under the surface, in life and death grips, the men fought on, their lungs nearly bursting.

You'll see the answer—when "Men in the Raw", Jack Hoxie's new Universal starring vehicle appears at the Idle Hour Saturday night of this week. Don't miss the greatest Western thrill-drama of the season.

Joe Martin in "The White Wing Monkey" is the comedy and in addition to these pictures two more reels of "Fighting Blood" are on the program for Saturday night.

It's a big show!

BOY SCOUT CORNER

The Boy Scouts held a meeting last Saturday evening. A. S. M. Fred Arnold, who is attending college at Ames, was present and conducted the meeting. He gave a nice speech, urging the Scouts to do better work. A test passing campaign is to be started.

Verle Starnes was brought up for membership by Scout D. Gibbs and was voted to be admitted to the Troop as soon as he passes his Tenderfoot tests. He is being trained for this by Scout Gibbs as a necessary requisite to become a First Class Scout. It was voted to send a remembrance to Scout John Fuller who has the measles.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, April 1, at Scout headquarters. The object of the meeting is for every Scout to pass at least one test. If you need help before this time please consult your Scoutmaster or P. L. Let's be at that meeting Scouts! Visitors welcomed.

The New Oldsmobile

A SIX AT $795.00.

I want to announce that I have been appointed the Dealer in this territory for the OLSMOBILE line of Cars. Anyone in the market for a high class car at a reasonable price can call me for further information or a demonstration.

Oldsmobile—A Product of General Motors

C. W. Wiles

Phone 75 — Klemme, Iowa.

Make Sure of Early Delivery

Spring with its rush of Fordson orders will soon be here. To be sure of getting delivery in time, order now.

The demand for Fordsons is increasing every day, and you may be disappointed if you wait too long.

By placing your order early you will be sure of getting your Fordson in time for the preliminary work which will put it in the best condition for the heavier work of spring.

Talk with us about a tractor at once.

GREIMANN MOTOR CO.

Fordson

$3,187.81

Twenty-four Farmers Draw Chekcs for Over $100 Each!

This week we are publishing the names of the patrons of the Klemme Creamery whose cream checks amounted to $100 or over for the period of February 16th to March 15th. This list this month makes a fine showing—but let's see if we can't make the list even lager next month. There are twenty-four farmers on the list this month who have received $100 or over for their cream sold to us—exta money that comes in handy this time of year to pay taxes and other expenses—extra money they would not have if they didn't milk good dairy cows.

HONOR LIST OF $100 OR OVER PATRONS THIS MONTH

Lassahn Bros.	$194.43	Tom Nelson	$122.94
C. C. Schaefer	$177.55	W. F. Butz	$122.47
W. H. Griemann	$166.34	D. A. Marshall	$122.22
Harry Carpenter	$162.15	Wm. Bell	$114.02
Lee Hammon	$155.47	Ben Katter	$113.19
Fred Krauss	$151.66	Clarence Johnson	$109.40
Harry Gibbs	$149.12	Frank Sandry	$107.78
Fred Kothenbeutel	$145.42	Virdie Anderson	$107.65
Herman Paul	$145.24	E. C. Buentenbach	$106.47
Elmer Schaefer	$143.43	Herman Gast	$106.14
Geo. Albers	$132.17	Wm. Hempel	$101.24
E. G. Beiers	$130.87	C. Thomas	$100.44
		TOTAL	$3,187.81

$3,187.81 is a nice sum to divide among twenty-four farmers in this community, isn't tt? Besdes that there are many who nearly reached the $100 dollar mark. Resolve now to get in on this Honor List—take just a little better care of your cows, build up a better herd of dairy cattle and get some of this "extra money" you are passing up—it pays.

And then it pays to SELL YOUR CREAM to a HOME CONCERN. Just ask the man who sells to us—he will tell you IT PAYS BIG to patronize your home creamery.

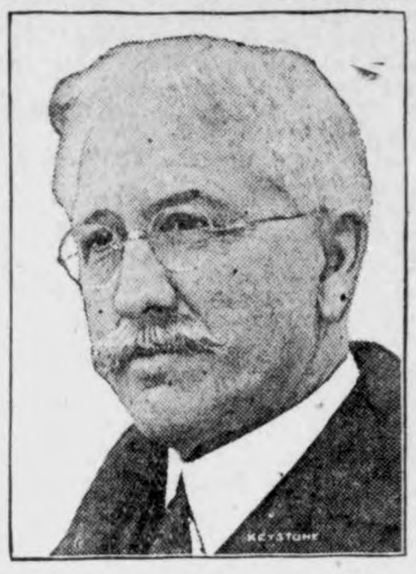
Milk more good cows—it means more dollars in your pocket and at the same time it builds up your land for better crop production with the added fertilizer you obtain. Dairying pays and it pays to patronize the—

Klemme Co-Op. Creamery Company

(Advertisement No. 2 of Klemme Creamery Honor Roll)

Prominent People

Chicagoan Is Famous as Egyptologist



The activities of Prof. James H. Breasted of the University of Chicago in trying to arrive at a solution of the deadlock over the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen between Howard Carter, the American, and the Egyptian government, are a compliment to that scientist's standing in the world of Egyptology and archeology. Lady Carnarvon requested him to represent her. The Egyptian authorities accepted him as an authority and began negotiations.

The question is as to the division of the treasures of the tomb, which in turn hangs upon the question—has or has not the tomb been disturbed before Carter's excavation, and to what extent?

James Henry Breasted, listed as orientalist and historian in "Who's Who," was born in Illinois in 1865. He was educated in Northwestern college, Chicago Theological seminary, Yale (A. M. 1892) and University of Berlin (Ph. D., 1894). He has been professor of Egyptology and Oriental History since 1905 at the University of Chicago. He has been director since 1901 of the Haskell Oriental museum of the University of Chicago and chairman of the department of Oriental languages since 1915. He has directed several Egyptian expeditions of the University of Chicago and has done archeological work in Mesopotamia.

Kammerer, Great Scientist or Deluded?

Is Prof. Paul Kammerer of the University of Vienna, who is now in this country telling of sensational experiments, one of the greatest of scientists or is he merely a mistaken and deluded man? It all depends on whether the scientist speaking agrees or disagrees with him.

Kammerer claims to have made remarkable changes in the form, color and habits of various creatures and to have caused their offspring to inherit these changes. His statements have met with much skepticism in his own country, in Germany, in England and in America. Since his lectures in England he has been under heavy fire there from many scientists. But he also has stalwart champions.

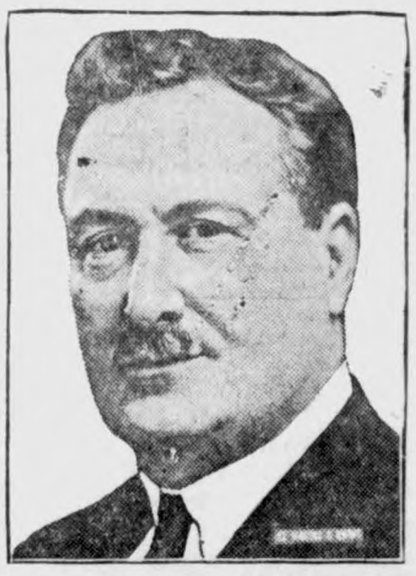
If his work is finally accepted at his own valuation Dr. Kammerer solves a problem which Goethe wrestled with in his day and with which every generation of scientists down to the present has debated. This problem is whether acquired characters are inherited.

If acquired characters are inherited Paderewski's children, for example, should be born with longer and more nimble fingers than he was born with. The children of late marriages should be exceptionally brainy because they should inherit added capacity because of the developed and matured minds of their parents. A prize fighter's son might be expected to have a more powerful jaw and a more resistant ear than the normal ones. This makes an easy explanation of the whole course of evolution.

If Doctor Kammerer's experiments were all accepted as solid workmanship the doctrine of the inheritance of acquired characters would be established beyond all doubt and he would have a secure place among the greatest of scientists.

A few years will settle the question definitely.

Burns, Stormy Petrel of the Detectives



William J. Burns, who figures in the Teapot Dome inquiry, is director of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice. He has nothing to do with the United States secret service of the Treasury department, of which W. H. Moran is the head. Burns was appointed by Attorney General Daugherty, with whom he got acquainted many years ago in Columbus, Ohio.

In taking up his work in the Department of Justice it was Burns' idea that eventually all of the secret service work of the various departments of the government would be concentrated in one big bureau, and he would be the superboss of the whole works.

A move in this direction, early in the Harding administration, was thwarted and Burns continued merely as chief of the service in the prosecuting branch of the government. He could never win over the real secret service, which is under the Treasury department, or the post office inspectors, who work under the direction of the postmaster general.

Brookhart Heads the Daugherty Inquiry

Senator Smith Wildman Brookhart of Iowa, Republican (portrait herewith), is chairman of the committee named by the senate to investigate the official conduct of United States Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, head of the Department of Justice. The other members are: Senator Moses (Rep., N. H.), Senator Jones (Rep., Wash.), Senator Ashurst (Dem., Ariz.), and Senator Wheeler (Dem., Mont.). The latter introduced the resolution for the committee.

The Republican regulars who had protested against the appointment of Senator Brookhart as chairman because he was too radical, yielded when it became apparent that the coalition of Democrats and insurgents had votes enough to elect him. The vote for the investigation and the personnel of the committee—the very men he named—constitute an overwhelming triumph for Senator Wheeler over the "old guard." Senator LaFollette (Rep., Wis.), insurgent leader, placed Senator Brookhart in nomination.

Senator Brookhart was born in a log cabin in Missouri in 1869. He has followed the occupations of farmer, teacher, lawyer and soldier. He has six children. He is a veteran of the Spanish-American war. In the World war he was a lieutenant colonel of infantry and chief instructor in marksmanship at Camp Perry and Camp Benning schools. His term expires March 3, 1925.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

What the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

About sixty-five members of the present house of the Iowa legislature will be candidates for reelection this year; approximately thirty will retire or be candidates for other offices; and the remaining thirteen members are undecided what to do, a cursory check of the membership disclosed. Of the quartet of veterans of equally long service, one C. H. Scott of Appanoose county, is leaving the housefi and is a candidate for senator from the Davic-Appanoose district. Oscar Ulstad of Wright county is a candidate for reelection to the house. T. J. O'Donnell of Dubuque has not made up his mind about election, but the chances are he will be a candidate. Frank Lake of Woodbury county will be a candidate either for the senate or the house. These four men have been continuously members of the house since the thirty-seventh general assembly. Only two men of those now in the house, Speaker J. H. Anderson and William Gilmore, have served longer continuously. Mr. Anderson retires from the house this year.

Bitter feeling has been aroused by an attempt to get the legislature to pass a bill to lower the level of Rush lake one and one-half feet. A petition signed by a number of hunters has been sent in favoring the bill. Rush lake is a beautiful but shallow sheet of water six miles east of Webb. For a number of years the state has been stocking it with fish and it bids fair to become a fine fishing place. The lowering of the lake would turn it into an unsightly slough and kill the fish.

Senator Dutcher of Johnson county stated that not more legal restrictions but more enforcement of present laws is needed. "I am appalled," he declared, "at the laxity of law enforcement, not only in Des Moines, Sioux City and Davenport, of which we have been told here, but all over the state. This legislature can do a more constructive service to the state by serving notice on the executive department that laws must be enforced than by putting more restrictions on the statute books."

Senator Bowman's rural credit resolution, which was introduced on the first night of the special session last April, was referred to the senate judiciary committee. This resolution, which passed the senate last winter, but was killed in the house, would amend the constitution to permit the state to loan its credit to farmers. The resolution must be passed by two successive legislatures and approved in a referendum vote of the people before becoming effective.

For the first time during the session both groups have avowed their intention of making the compensation act an issue and were lining up their forces for the impending battle. The action of the house in referring the bill back to the judiciary committee was in the nature of a compromise after two hours of debate on the floor of the house in which the merits of consideration of the bill by the committee were discussed pro and con.

The house has insisted on its amendment to permit the deposit of state funds by the state treasurer in anly banks in the state. The senate had declined to concur in this amendment. The house also debated insisting on its amendments to another school measure which reduced the per capita assessment for each pupil of school age from $100 to $90 in twelve grade districts and from $80 to $70 in rural districts.

Drug stores within six miles of any state school or college would be barred from obtaining permits to sell liquor by an amendment to the liquor permit bill offered by Senator Brookhart of Washington and adopted by the senate 27 to 21. It was a revival of the old five miles limit proposal which has been voted down by several previous sessions of the assembly.

The movement to spread the idea of high schools of the state offering junior college work with tuition free received a severe setback when the legislature in passing the school bill ruled that persons attending school after graduation from a four year high school course ar its equivalent shall be charged a tuition fee sufficient to cover the cost of the instruction.

Proposed changes to Iowa primary election laws received an unenthusiastic ovation in the lower house of the legislature. An amendment by Rep. Scott, Appanoose, which was dubbed as a "Chinese puzzle" was defeated by a vote of 14 to 80. Other amendments by the elections committee which codified present laws making only slight changes were accepted.

The senate has passed one bill—the department of agriculture measure—while the house refused to concur in senate amendments to the treasury department bill and adopted a resolution designed to speed up the special session.

The proposed strict anti-trust bill was debated nealy five hours before a house committee by representatives of the farm bureau, supporting it, and of public utilities, grain, produce, coal and other industries opposing it.

Twenty-six members of the house farm bloc have already definitely made up their minds to be candidates for reelection. Some of the bloc members are candidates for the senate, and others have not made up their minds. The farm bloc will be an important issue in the election of representative and senator in many counties and districts.

Punishment of unlawful discrimination, pools and combines is provided in anti-trust legislation embodied in a single bill which was brought before the house. The proposal, presented by the judiciary committee, is in the nature of a substitute for two code commissioner's bills dealing with the esame subject. The department of agriculture would be made responsible for enforcement of the act, J. C. Mabray, code commissioner, told the committee at its public hearing in the house. He said that one of the facts which makes the existing anti-trust laws practically "dead letters" is their failure to make any single governmental agency responsible for enforcement. The law gives the secretary of agriculture powers of a court. The act makes any person injuring by illegal combination liable for damages to the person harmed by the would be punishable by a fine of not less than $500 or imprisonment for not exceeding one year. The measure strikes at the arbitrary fixing of different prices in different communities, and at combinations designed to prevent full and complete competition between persons in the same line of business.

The famous Tuck law is plaguing the legislature again. After a heated session in the senate day on the elections committee bill to exempt funds for holding the primary and general elections this year from the provisions of the Tuck law, the bill was deferred for more information on conditions of counties and made a special order. Senator Tnck, author of the law, opposed the bill on the ground that it would have the effect on the counties of leading to repeated requests to let down the bars and to encourage county boards to exceed the limits on their expenditures in the future. Senator Price said he did not believe any court would uphold a law which interferes with the governmental functions of counties. He pointed out that elections must be paid for from the county general fund and that if that fund is exhausted other funds cannot be transferred to it without an act of the legislature.

The 200 independent oil and gasoline dealers of Iowa have forced the Standard Oil company to maintain a higher quality of oil and give the public better service than it would without this competition, the state departmental affairs committee was told by a number of independent dealers. The dealers protested to the committee against the Cessna amendment to code bill No. 14, in which it is proposed to give the executive council power to go into the gasoline business with state funds if that move is deemed necessary to reduce the price of motor fuel. The independent dealers declared they were doing business on a small margin and that entry of the state into their business would permit the Standard to meet the state's price and force the smaller dealers out of business.

The senate has refused to back up on its decision not to abolish physician's whisky permits. Senator McIntosh, chairman of the committee on suppression of intemperance, offered a series of amendments. The first one limited druggists to the sale of twenty-five gallons of whisky a year. It was defeated by a vote of 10 to 36. Another amendment by Senator McIntosh, which provided for revocation of a physician's practicing license for charging more than $1 for prescribing whisky was also beaten by a vote of 14 to 32. Senator McIntosh then announced that he saw no hope for his amendments and withdrew the remaining ones.

Refuting the belief expressed by a number of Iowa citizens that a crime had been committed by the state legislature in refusing to pass the bill providing that the Bible be taught in the public schools, Dr. J. W. Million, president of Des Moines university, in his address before the Cooperative club stated such a provision would have been contrary to the purposes of the constitution and, if passed, would have been revoked by the supreme court. He traced the movements toward unity in the old world, namirng the Roman Catholic church and the formation of nations down to the history of the United States.

A committee of three men, named at a meeting of the Roosevelt High school Parent-Teachers association of Des Moines conferred with Representative A. O. Hauge of Polk county about his budget bill to be applied only to Polk county. The association voted that it was the sense of the meeting that the legislature should pass a local budget law and that a committee of three be appointed to confer with Representative Hauge on suggested amendments to the bill he has offered.

A movement to present presidential primary law for the consideration of the special session ended with the decision of the house elections committee not to report out such a measure. The elections committee has been discussing a presidential primary amendment to the primary election law, which is being recodified in code revision bill No. 21. This bill was rereferred to the elections committee but will be reported back to the house early.

The senate passed the department of agriculture bill, codifying the law to bring it down to date after the consolidation of a number of departments in the department of agriculture last year.

One hundred twenty-eight bills had passed both houses of the legislature. Eight other bills had been killed, bringing the total number finally disposed of to 136. Forty-two of the remaining bills are in committee; ten are in conference, six are on the calendars, ten are in disagreement between the two houses and nine have passed the senate only.

Why Men Wear Silk

We hear much about vanity in the well-known feminine sex, but there seems to be no limit of idiocy to which men folk will go in their effort to extend their personalities, as the new psychologist might put it, by means of costly garb. Shirts at $50 each in certain establishments have become too commonplace to elevate a single eyebrow. Perhaps the only reason men do not dress more gaudily than women is because they lack the courage of their desires and are too vain to admit their own sartorial weaknesses.—Nation's Business.

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

Machiavelli

Machiavelli was an Italian statesman, historian and man of letters (1469-1527). It is said the object of his book, "The Prince," is to show that all is fair in diplomacy. The term "Machiavellism" has come to mean political cunning and duplicity, the art of tricking and overreaching by diplomacy.

Best Way to Relieve Pain is by direct outside application and the best remedy is an Allcock's Plaster—the original and genuine.—Adv.

Platinum

Platinum is found in small gray particles along with other metals, including gold and chrome iron. Occasionally it is discovered in the form of nuggets, which are naturally extremely valuable. A 25-pound nugget of platinum would at the present time be worth over $30,000.

Watch Cuticura Improve Your Skin. On rising and retiring gently smear the face with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. It is wonderful what Cuticura will do for poor complexions, dandruff, itching and red, rough hands.—Advertisement.

Depravity

"A youth on a car offered a lady his seat. She protested that she didn't want to deprive him of it. He said it was no depravity."

"But keeping that old joke in circulation is."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Cole's Carbolisalve Quickly Relieves and heals burning, itching and torturing skin diseases. It instantly stops the pain of burns. Heals without scars. 30c and 60c. Ask your druggist, or send 30c to The J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill., for a package.—Advertisement.

Men are, for the most part, reticent. They never want to "tell all" about anything.

WRIGLEY'S

After every meal

A pleasant and agreeable sweet and a l-a-s-t-i-n-g benefit as well.

Good for teeth, breath and digestion.

Makes the next cigar taste better.

Sealed in its Purity Package

CORNS

Lift Off—No Pain!

Doesn't hurt one bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard calluses, without soreness or irritation.

RHEUMATISM

Sufferers! Let us help YOU. Hundreds are cured. Pain gone forever. Write Stevens Laboratories, Oakland, Cal.

W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 13-1

JOYS OF MOTHERHOOD

Often Prevented by Female Trouble

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brings Joy to Homes by Removing Cause of Trouble

Brooklyn, N.Y.,—"I was working after I got married and the young lady who worked next to me asked me if I had any intentions of having a child. I told her I would be the happiest woman on earth if I could become a mother, but I always had terrible cramps, backaches and headaches. She then told me of a woman she knows who took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for the same troubles and it helped her greatly. I took about a half bottle and found that the following month I did not suffer any pain, so I kept on taking it. I have a wonderful baby boy six months old and he is as strong and fat as any one could wish a baby to be. I still take the Vegetable Compound regularly because I have looked fine all the time and felt fine and my mother told me that was the reason. I will be glad to have you publish my testimonial with my name and address."—Mrs. EDWARD WERBECK, 1824 Greene Avenue, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Free From Old Trouble

Auburn, Maine.—"I suffered with inward weakness for ten years and had doctored all this long time but never got any help. One day I saw my sister and she told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I went and got me a bottle of it. I took two bottles and a half and I was just as free from my old troubles as I could be. I had only one child and I was afraid that I could never have any more, for I had been told that I never could have a living child for I was not strong enough to carry one. But they were mistaken and I had a nice baby boy and now I have five children. I can't praise your medicine enough. My youngest sister has taken it, too, and praises it."—Mrs. G. L. WISWELL, 43 Mechanics Row, Auburn, Maine.

These cases are similar to many others reported to us. It is well for women to carefully consider such statements and to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. It may bring great joy to your home.

Over 100,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

98 per cent of these replies are "Yes."

That means that 98 out of every 100 women who take this medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.

This goes to prove that a medicine specialized for certain definite ailments—not a cure-all—can and does do good work. For fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been a medicine for women.

For sale by druggists everywhere.

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

SMITH BROTHERS

S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL (orange colored box)

Famous since 1847

Disordered Stomach

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills—then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. You will relish your meals without fear of trouble to follow. Millions of all ages take them for Biliousness, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Upset Stomach and for Sallow, Pimply, Blotchy Skin. They end the misery of Constipation.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Genuine bear signature— Brentwood

Small Pill; Small Dose; Small Price

The Red Lock

A Tale of the Flatwoods

By DAVID ANDERSON

Author of "The Blue Moon"

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

"MISTOOK"

YNOPSIS.—On the banks of Wabash stand Texie Colin Jack Warhope, young and much in love. Texie is the daughter of old Pap Simon, man and money-lender. Jack the orphan bound boy of Pap hon who had foreclosed a rtgage on the Warhope estate. first Texie and Jack talk sadly Ken Colin, the girl's missing ther. Then Jack says that in days his servitude will be r, that he will ride out into big world to seek his fortune. h know what that will mean them. Texie and Jack talk of red lock of "Red Colin," inited by Ken. And Jack says 's coming back as soon as he ds gold in California. Then ives the new preacher, Rev. leb Hopkins. Pap Simon intro- es the villagers to the new eacher, who was a college mate Ken. At supper at the Colin me the preacher tells how the killed a gambler and disap- ared. His father attributes n's fall from grace to his red k of hair. Then Pap Simon s a sort of stroke, brought on reading a letter from Ken, omewhere in New York," who rses his father on his death d. A postscript by another nd says he is dead. At the vil- e store and post office Loge lden, a newcomer says he saw e new parson with his arm ound Texie. Jack licks him, oots a pistol from his hand and kes him say he was mistaken.

CHAPTER IV—Continued.

—6—

s, them's mighty fine senti- ," cut the thin edged voice of ostmaster across the silence—and ream dissolved in the fisherman's "an' I mostly agrees with 'em an' amen to 'em, an' the new parson be all 'e's cracked up to be, but I ain't takin' back nothin'."

e's thin voice ceased, lost some- e in the cavernous labyrinth of harp, inquisitive nose.

cle Nick prodded down the con- of his pipe with his finger and d a while in silence. Taking the from between his lips after a he blew the smoke away, slowly, to get the full taste of it, and d the pipe across toward the nster—a well understood prelimi- to a renewal of the argument.

the moment Loge Belden took a from his bottle of "squirrel," put cork in, slapped it tight and hed up along the counter.

y, I'd just like t' put one t' that. evenin' as I come up the River past this hyur Warhope home- an' Sime Colin's house, I stopped le bit on the bridge acrost Eagle an' happened t' look over in the ld b'twixt ol' Sime's an' the par- ge. Y'u know ther's a spring the crick thar under the edge o' hill, an' ther's a bench t' set on the maple tree by the spring. ell, as I come a-past, thar set this new parson an' that Texie gal at bench, an' as near as I could out, bein' purty well along ds dark, he had 'is arm around You fellers 'r' wastin' a lot o' h on that gal. I 'low the par- " e room suddenly was deadly still, every eye turned toward the door. en felt the stillness; hesitated; ed—" the open door, framed in sharp ne against the dark background e nightfall, stood the tall form ck Warhope.

lden grinned oddly; muttered a or two; leaned against the coun- nd looked down at the floor.

th the reach and spring that only woods and hills can give, Warhope ed into the room.

'low y'u must 'a' been mistook t that—arm."

ot a d—n bit."

e lightning came the sharp of an open hand that fanned n's head back. He leaped away the counter and struck—a good hing swing, clean from the hip; t didn't land.

was apparent that Belden had a opinion of his ability as a rough tumble fighter, for he stepped in and mixed it fast and furi- the whirlwind give and take of mountains. The man he faced ed or sidestepped or dashed aside ything Belden had, and came back an occasional jab that was mad- g.

lden lost his temper—the mistake many a better man—and lunged ously. He ran into an uppercut to chin that doubled him back over a el of salt. He whirled up, and right hand clawed the butt of a l out of his pocket.

e pistol came out, but that was A heavy six-gun leaped from the sman's side, a bullet crashed into pistol butt, gashed Belden's hand tly and tore on into the salt el.

e woodsman stuck the six-gun into the holster at his hip, hid- by his hunting blouse, snatched en by the collar and jerked him into the middle of the floor.

'low y'u must 'a' be'n mistook t that arm."

lden's small beady eyes burned like hot copper as he wrung his hand. He cursed the pain; swallowed hard; finally muttered.

"The light werdn't none too dern' good. I 'low I must 'a'."

The woodsman dropped the other's collar, talked a moment or so with Uncle Nick and Counterman about the seining trip next day—the matter that had brought him into the store—and passed out at the door. The crowd gathered around Belden.

Uncle Nick picked up the broken pistol and stuck it back, muttering as he examined the gashed hand.

"Y'u ort 'a' had more sense than t' pull on him. He ain't no ways spry on talk, but he can pick lick'ry nuts with a six-gun."

CHAPTER V

Arrows of the River Gods.

The Rev. Caleb Hopkins was at the boat landing in good time next morning.

The others were already there, sitting in the long skiff, Uncle Nick in the stern, Jack Warhope and Al Counterman at the oars, the latter still holding the boat to the wharf.

In his nervous and mincing way the preacher scrambled in; Counterman shoved off; the oars dropped into the water; and, with the seine coiled up on the stern locker under the experienced care of Uncle Nick, the live box towing behind, the skiff slipped away up the river toward Alpine island.

Alpine island divides the Wabash into two nearly equal channels. The skiff was guided into the north channel, and had glanced along nearly to the head of the island when Counterman rested his oars with the remark that just there would be a good place to make the first haul.

The skiff was accordingly turned in to the island, and the prow drawn up on the sandy margin. Each man, Uncle Nick excepted, hurriedly undressed, stacked his clothes in the boat and drew on his rough fishing garments.

In strict justice to the truth it must be stated that only Counterman and the woodsman hurriedly undressed. The preacher was far slower and quite noticeably embarrassed over the unusual experience. The ragged boots too large, the shabby trousers too tight, the faded straw hat ridiculously unbecoming, it was the queerest wading rig ever seen along the Wabash. The others eyed it askance and winked around at one another. Even the preacher himself must have caught something of the humor of the odd make-up, for his studiously circumspect face relaxed into a suggestion of a grin.

Even the Preacher Himself Must Have Caught Something of the Humor of the Odd Make-up.

After a mild bit of urging, a prodigious deal of coaching, he was left near shore to hold the brail stick while Jack and Counterman rowed out around as great an expanse of water as the length of the seine permitted.

On nearing the shore at the completion of the circuit, the two rowers leaped into the water the moment it was shallow enough, leaving the boat to Uncle Nick, and raced for the bank at top speed, holding the brail stick to the bottom as they ran.

With the frantic river tribes thus forced to shore, the water began to be wildly agitated. Long ripples shot from side to side of the rapidly diminishing space inclosed by the net, as some panic-stricken swimmer plowed his reckless way near the surface.

Even the preacher's tired and studious eyes waked with the excitement, and he tugged eagerly at the brail as the bass and pickerel began to leap, glittering in the morning sun like silver arrows shot up by the river gods.

"Thar, boys, haul 'er easy," directed Counterman. "We got 'em. They cayn't git away now. Man! hain't ther' a wad uv 'em! I know'd this wus a good hole."

The good fish were dropped into the live box, the others thrown back into the river—precisely as war claims the best men and leaves the defective—and the fisherman seined on.

Several hauls had been made, none of them quite so profitable as the first, and the sun was fast mounting toward mid-sky when, as a wind-up, they prepared to drag the famous Alpine hole that lay along the south edge of the narrow sandbar jutting far downstream from the lower end of the island.

"This hyur's a hard hole t' fish," observed Counterman, handing the near brail to the preacher and taking his place at the oars with Jack, "but they're thar, if we can git 'em."

"Bank's purty steep," called Uncle Nick from his place in the stern. "Better not try t' wade out none."

The preacher nodded and the other stooped to his task at the seine.

But when the usual circuit was completed and they began to haul in on the seine, it was noticed that it did not bow out in the wide curve a spread seine should. Instead, as the men pulled, the sides drew in toward each other until the floating corks stretched out into the river in nearly parallel lines.

"Hung up, by thunder," growled Counterman, scraping the sweat from his grimy forehead with a grimier forefinger. "Snag 'r somethin' about forty yards out thar—right whar the bottom's out, too, as the feller says."

Jack walked up the bank a short distance to where the boat was beached.

Stripped to the skin, a figure that might have been a model for those master sculptors who conferred immortality upon the gods of classic Greece, he was just slipping into the water when Uncle Nick came up the bar.

"You'll find the lead line fast on somethin'—a snag more'n likely," he directed. "Jist h'ist it off. 'Tain't no trick—but we've lost our fish."

Warhope glanced back over his shoulder and nodded. The next moment he was plowing through the stream with strokes so powerful it seemed his great shoulders fairly scorned the water and spurned it out of the way. But the task ahead proved harder than the light remark of his old friend had indicated. It was only after he had three times dived to the bottom of Alpine hole that he was able to locate the snag and release the seine.

When he swam ashore, following the seine as Uncle Nick and Counterman hauled it in, the preacher, who had come up the bar, was seated on the forward gunwale of the boat, feeling over his clothes stacked in the bow, as if eager to assure himself that they had not come to harm.

The woodsman was putting his wading clothes on again when a slight thud, as of some heavy object striking the bottom of the boat, caught his quick ear. Without turning his head—he happened to be just then squeezing the water out of his hair before putting his shirt on—he was able to catch a glimpse of the ivory butt of a six-gun protruding from a pocket of the black frock coat as it was being tucked back in the pile with the tall hat and shiny boots.

Nor was that all—with a deftness that would hardly have been expected in one of his profession, the slim fingers were feeling over the other two stacks of clothes as if making sure that the six-gun he had just tucked away was the only one in the crowd.

Still, probably such an intention was farthest from his thought. Six-gun and all, it was likely merely another of the many eccentricities of a man who had the double drawback of being a professor as well as a tenderfoot—in the eyes of the woodsman, a combination about as bad as could be made.

Uncle Nick and Counterman had just finished hauling in the seine when Jack Warhope, followed by the preacher, came down the bar and rejoined them. But the old man's prediction about losing the fish proved correct. The haul produced not a thing except a very surprised, highly indignant snapping turtle. Counterman kicked the turtle back into the water and stared ruefully at the empty seine.

"Them fish has t' be made up"—he glanced up the river—"an' thar's jist one shore place t' do it—"

"Mud haul," Uncle Nick finished.

"Egzac'ly. Hit's sich a nasty place t' fish that it ain't hardly ever fished, but they're thar."

The preacher had turned a quick look up the river; an expression of polite displeasure clouded his face—an expression which the others, busy with the seine, failed to notice. As a matter of fact, his part in the morning's sport had been next to negligible. After the mild and momentary excitement over the first haul, his interest had obviously waned.

The houseboat and the footprint on its dusty deck.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Rumor is always a poor reasoner.

WOMEN! DON'T BE IMPOSED UPON

Warning! Not All Package Dyes Are "Diamond Dyes."

Diamond Dyes

Always ask for "Diamond Dyes" and if you don't see the name "Diamond Dyes" on the package—refuse it—hand it back!

Each 15-cent package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint skirts, dresses, waists, sweaters, stockings, kimonos, coats, draperies, coverings—everything new, even if she has never dyed before. Choose any color at drug store. Refuse substitutes!

Today's Child

"All right. Spank me if you want to, mother, but I warn you you'll simply ruin my œdipus complex!"—Life.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Removes Dandruff—Stops Hair Falling

Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair

60c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., Stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

The New Freely-Lathering Cuticura Shaving Stick

For Tender Faces

EMOLLIENT MEDICINAL ANTISEPTIC

PATENTS Send model or drawing for examination. Highest references. Best results. Promptness assured. Watson E. Coleman, Patent Lawyer, 644 G St., Washington, D. C.

Booklet FREE.

BATHE YOUR EYES

Use Dr. Thompson's Eyewater. Buy at your druggist's or 1163 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

Just Looking for One

"What are you looking for, my boy?"

"A threepenny bit, sir!"

"Here's one for you. Be more careful with your money another time!"

"I haven't lost one. I am only looking for one!"

Always Keep a Box on Hand.

Brandreth Pills are a safe and reliable laxative, made in America for ninety years, entirely vegetable.—Adv.

More Serrous

The Man (gloomily)—I was told to go abroad at once.

The Girl—Nonsense! These doctors mustn't frighten you out of your life like that.

The Man—It wasn't a doctor. It was a lawyer.—London Opinion.

Too Ambitious!

"Why did you fire young Jones?"

"He spent too much time reading success stories."

Experience as Nurse Causes Mrs. Fleming to Endorse Tanlac

Practical Nurse for 16 Years Tells of Recovery Thanks to Tanlac — Recommends It to Patients.

"I would never have believed any medicine on earth could help me like Tanlac did," is the precise statement of Mrs. Celia Fleming, 1915 Addison St., Berkeley, Calif., a practical nurse of sixteen years' experience.

"In 1904 a serious operation weakened my system so I never saw a real well day until I took Tanlac three years ago. I never seemed to be hungry, my stomach was so disordered I could scarcely retain a thing I ate, and I lost weight till I was almost a shadow. I was very anemic, and shattered nerves and sleepless nights contributed even more to my already miserable state.

"Tanlac built up my appetite and digestion wonderfully, and every single ailment went away. Then, with returning strength came a 32-pound increase in weight, and from that day three years ago my health has been splendid. I recommend Tanlac to many of my patients, for it is indeed a remarkable medicine."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 40 million bottles sold. Accept no substitutes.

Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills.

Woman Explains Why People Swim in Winter

Why some persons go ocean swimming in winter was revealed by a woman bather at Brighton beach, New York, on a recent Sunday afternoon. There were several "polar bears," "Arctic swans" and other of the cold-water clan splashing and plunging through the surf. Apparently they were enjoying it or else moving fast to keep from freezing.

A man and a woman bather detached themselves from the swimmers and hurried toward the bath-houses. Their teeth chattered and waves of "goose flesh" rippled up and down their bare arms and legs, much as the surf was breaking over the ice-incrusted sands.

"How's the water?" asked a bystander.

"Co-oo-ld!" stuttered the woman.

"Did you enjoy the swim?"

"No-oo-ooo!"

"Then why did you go in?"

"'Cause I'm crazy!"—New York Sun and Globe.

The reason one is not fooled oftener is because no one thinks it is worth while.

Always

A safe and soothing remedy for cuts, burns, or skin troubles. Protects, relieves and heals. Take internally for coughs and sore throats.

Vaseline

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

PETROLEUM JELLY

Chesebrough Mfg. Co., Cons'd.

State St. New York

A Good Listener

"Does this parrot talk?"

"No—but he is really a very fine listener."

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, prepared for Infants in arms and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

Health and good looks

—the reward of internal cleanliness

HEALTH and good looks go hand in hand. If you do not keep clean internally, your looks and health are undermined together. A clogged intestine breeds poisons that reach every part of the body. These poisons ruin the complexion and undermine health. Constipation brings on such ailments as headaches, bilious attacks, and insomnia—each of which saps your health and vitality. Soon much more serious conditions follow.

Good Looks Throughout Life If You Keep Clean Internally

In constipation, say intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness including the gravest diseases of life.

Laxatives Aggravate Constipation

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation.

Physicians Favor Lubrication

The lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Not a Medicine

Nujol is not a laxative and cannot gripe. Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world.

Cleanliness Demands More Than Bathing

Don't give disease a start. Adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. Nujol is not a medicine. Like pure water, it is harmless. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

Nujol

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

For Internal Cleanliness

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

Volume 2—Number 20. Thursday, March 27, 1924

The fore part of the week we had the pleasure, that befalls a lot of us sometimes, of helping with the washing. Now, there is a job we thought we'd like when it was all done, but you know we found it was'nt half bad with a good Lindsay under-drive washer, in fact it was almost fun—no work at all, didn't even have to turn the wringer—it did itself. We have some of these machines on hand now at a very attractive price. Long or short bench single tubs, double tubs, engine or electric drive. The engine drive is convertible to electric drive.

Be cheerful! Even the wind whistles.

Its just as we have said, "Klemme is just as big as Chicago according to size. We have a better variety of endgate seeders than you ever saw at one place in Chicago.

Did you ever hear of an honest-to-goodness brand new heavy built gang plow for $70.00 these years? It's one just like the picture. The first man with the seventy "smacks" in cash gets this gang. We have a few other plow bargains too in sulkys and gangs.

We have one Cultipacker left to give away for a year. If you're interested come in and get the particulars. Must be farming along a main traveled road.

Many who do not build—have the place—that's a lot!

Did you ever stop to think, the genuine repairs made in the same mold that the original part was will fit the hub? The only place in town that you can buy genuine I. H. C., McCormick-Deering or John Deere repairs or parts is at our store. We buy those that come from the original mold. Buy the parts that belong to the machine and enjoy satisfaction.

Red Top
GUARANTEED
Double Strength Studded Tee Steel Fence Posts

Repair the Roof

—before the Spring rains start in. We carry a complete line of Roofing and Roof Coatings, also good Shingles.

If you should want a Hog Trough, Self Feeder or Individual Brood Sow Houses, we have them.

Try a Sack Of Hy-Lime For Disinfecting and White Wash

A few large windows at a bargain for the little chick house.

A complete line of everything to build anything, at—

Northern Lumber Co.

Building Materials of All Kinds

PATRONIZE YOUR HOME STORES. TRADE WITH MEN YOU KNOW

Our Community

Our community is here to stay. So is this bank. So are most of the folks in Klemme. And the more we can help each other, the more pleasant it is going to make Klemme as a place to live.

This bank aims to be helpful to you not only in money matters but in any way it can. Whether you are a customer of ours or not, we shall be glad to have you call on us for assistance.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'."

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Bleached Muslin 19¢—Saturday only at Wellemeyer's. 1c

A baby was born to Mr. and Mrs. Adriant Bielefeld last Thursday.

Miss Esther Jante spent Sunday at Garner.

For Sale—Oliver typewriter No. 4—Emil Patet. 2c

For Sale—No. 1 Timothy hay. Henry Buseman, Phone 910 tfc

A good grade of Sentinel Muslin 19¢. Wellemeyer's Saturday. 1c

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis and Al Emerson drove to Mason City Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McConn drove to Clear Lake Sunday for a visit with friends.

R. A. Jorgenson and family and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Poort drove to Garner Friday morning on business.

Earl Trigilgus drove to Nora Springs Saturday for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. A. W. Gauger has recovered from her recent illness and is again able to be out of doors.

Sumner Trumbell and family are now nicely located in their new home, the Musfelt house.

For Sale—Manchu Soy Beans, $3 per bushel, in 20 bu. lots at $2.75 per bu.—G. L. Grosz, Meservey. (4)

Miss Butts and Miss Selma Hansen, of Goodell, were shopping here Monday.

I do all kinds of Plumbing and Heating work. R. E. Quintus, Garner, Ia. tfc

Clint Stokesbary returned home from Iowa City Saturday. He left his son there for medical treatment.

Miss Alice Caroles came home on Monday from a visit with her sister at Cornelia.

Mike Haskins was in town Monday to install a new time clock and switch for the street lights.

Casey Blank came home Saturday to spend Sunday with home folks. He is working at Dysart.

Worthy Usher, of Cedar Rapids, came Saturday for a short visit at the Tom Blank home.

Lyle Lemon, a former Klemme boy, has been here the past week visiting old friends. This is the first time he has been here since 1914.

Joe Johnson, Clarence Tanner and Clarence Larsen went to Chicago Saturday night with a stock shipment.

Howard Wiles and Fred Arnold returned to their studies at Ames, Monday, after enjoying a few days of vacation.

Mr. Lew Lewis has been confined to the house for a couple of weeks. Better hurry up Lew and get out again as fishing will soon begin.

Easter comes April 20th this year and the little tots are beginning to watch for the bunny rabbit who lays colored Easter eggs.

R. E. Quintus, the plumber, was down from Garner Tuesday doing some work at the Bachman Barber Shop.

Miss Minnie Lenz Sunday school class held a meeting last week one evening to plan for a party to be given soon.

EGGS for hatching, 50c per setting or $3 per 100. Good choice Rhode Island Reds, heavy layers—excellent for meat production. John Josten. 1c

Clarence Elder got a letter from his grandmother at Vernon Center, Minnesota, in which she said she was just recoverig from a seige of the mumps.

Mr. Clarence Scharlach, of Corwith, came last Thursday for a visit with his sister, Miss Scharlach, who teachers in the Klemme school. Mr. Scharlach was enjoying his spring vacation from Ames.

Mr. Ralph McConn came last week Thursday from Fairmount, North Dakota and remained until Sunday visiting his brother, R. A. McConn ad wife.

A band was organized Friday evening with Jacques Poort as director. The band is composed mostly of experienced players and will operate independently.

Tuesday, April 1st, Carrier Sumner Trumbell begins to carry mail daily on Route One. This is no April Fool joke either. It comes straight from headquarters at Washington, D. C.

Several flocks of wild ducks have been seen flying over the past week. Saturday evening we heard a flock of wild geese flying over. And other sure signs of spring we have seen were several robins, a meadow lark and one fly.

This vicinity was visited by a light rain Monday night which turned into snow Tuesday ad made it very slushy. The snow is again all gone and we are hoping it is the last for this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ell and daughter, Minnie, of Mason City, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hansen a week ago Sunday. Minnie remaied for a week's visit as the Mason City school was closed for the Spring vacation.

The Style Show that Wellemey's put on last Thursday evening was a great success and drew a large number of people. This was the first style show ever attempted in Klemme. Special music was furnished by the orchestra after which a lunch was given to all who participated in the event.

At the meeting of the school board last week, Arthur Wellemeyer was appointed president of the board. Mr. Wellemeyer is active in school matters and deserves the honor awarded him for faithful service. Mr. F. A. Arnold was the former president and held that position for a number of years.

We had a letter from Dr. Zinn, who is recovering from an operation at the Mercy Hospital, Fort Dodge. "Doc" is getting along fine now. He wants to thank his many frieds for their flowers, letters, etc, ad says he would like to answer them all but it would be impossible, so he asks the Times to thank everybody for him. We are glad to hear he is recovering nicely.

We had a short talk with Supervisor Lawhorn Friday. He stated that the Wilson highway between Garner and Klemme would be graveled this spring as soon as possible. He said this stretch was next on the paving program and would be paved as soon as the county could stand it.

The roads between here and Garner have been going from bad to worse. Sunday a number of cars were getting stuck near the church north of here. A lot of warm weather now is about the only remedy. The Supervisors have been trying to drag and fill in the ruts but it only helps temporarily as about the time they get them fixed it snows again.

Bridge Closing Moved Up

WASHINGTON, —The treasury today ordered that the International bridge at El Paso, Tex., be closed at 9 p. m. daily instead of midnight. The order is effective three days after the written instructions despatched today, reach Customs Collector Charles at El Paso.

KLEMME MARKETS

(March 27, 1924)
(Subject To Change)

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN	.63
OATS	.38
BARLEY	.60
RYE	.60
HOGS	6.00—6.70
BUTTERFAT	.50
BUTTER (Creamery)	.50
EGGS	.16
HEAVY HENS	.16
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.15
LEGHORNS	.08
COCKS	.06
STAGS	.12
DUCKS	.10
GEESE	.08

When you need a plumber--

R. E. Quintus

Plumbing & Heating GARNER, IOWA

EASTER CANDY--

We have a fine line of EASTER CANDY in stock now for your selection—Easter Eggs, all sizes, Bunny Rabbits, Baskets, Novelties, etc.

We also carry a nice line of Box Candy at all times. Try our bulk Chocolates and other fine candy.

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

Sheet Music

We have just put in a line of SHEET MUSIC and we have a fine selection of the latest popular song hits and piano numbers. We we do not have the selection you desire just let us know and we can have it here for you in a few days. Come in and look over our line of Sheet Music—We have what you want.

Jewelry Repairing

Bring us your Watches, Clocks or other Jewelry for Repairs. We send it to a reliable jewelry repair expert. The work is guaranteed and the prices are as low as anywhere. You will like our jewelry repair service.

Any Kodak films need developing? Bring them in!

G. G. Seney

"The New Drug Store"

Use--- or Lose

Lack of use is in fact abuse. This will apply to money, to grain, to human enery. If you keep, you will never reap. It is use—or lose.

Money in the bank goes into circulation, helps make business better. Money hid away about the house, locked in deposit boxes, buried in the cellar, does no good and is likely to be lost. The safe place for your money is in a reliable Bank, like ours.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

THE KLEMME TIMES

y-eighth Year—Number 30. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, April 3, 1924 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

D CORN SITUATION IS BAD THIS SPRING

SEED CORN SITUATION

t From Wallaces Farmer, Of March 28, 1924

Iowa seed corn situation is nt it is not so alarming as to it necessary for Iowa farmers to other states for their seed. ctically every section of Iowa eapest and best thing to do is out the seed by caerful ear or else to buy seed which is teed to grow from other Iowa s whose corn has a reputation yielding ability.

wrst seed corn situation is in astern Iowa. In Benton, Jones Jackson counties, and from on north, the crib corn will row on the average about 30 nt. These figures are based on s of county agents to the ex- n department at Ames. The corn in this cestion which was d early will grow about 85 per It is evident that those farmers rtheastern Iowa who did not their seed corn early and store der good conditions should con- buying their seed from Iowa rs in the same latitude but r west in the state.

Kossuth, Clay and Lyon coun- n the northwestern part of the the crib cor is testing on the ge this year about 75 per cent. ntly these farmers and some of neighbors to the west in south- rn South Dakota can get pretty seed corn out of their cribs by testing. In central and north al Iowa the situation is ot as as i northwestern Iowa. It s that in the Reid yellow dent tory in such counties as Carroll, rie, Webster, etc., the crib corn rminating only about 50 per In southwestern Iowa the corn is germinating on the av- e about 75 per cent, but in heastern Iowa it is only germin- g about 55 per cent.

e an average for the entire state crib corn this year is germinat- about 60 per cent, and the corn ed early for seed about 80 per Last year and the year before corn picked for seed germinated t 86 per cent. No figures are lable for any year but this year rib corn.

e figures herewith presented are guesses but are based on actual s of nearly one hundred thous- ears as reported by county a- s to the extension department at s. It is apparent that the seed situation is much worse than in average year, but is not so bad to make it necessary ti import corn from surrounding states. ther than import seed corn from dreds of miles away, we would er to use the home grown corn tho it only germinated 60 per . If, after careful testing, it is d that the home grown corn ger- ates on the average about 60 per it is possible to plant it at the e of five kernels to the hill and ain almost as good a stand and ost as good a yield as with corn rminating 95 per cent planted ee kernels to the hill. In plant- poor seed corn thick, however, is absolutely essential to be cer- n as to just how poor the germin- on is. If the germination is better n anticipated, the result may be ery thick stand which will cause igh percentage of nubbins and ra- r slow harvesting.

P GAS VEIN AT HUMBOLDT

Republican: The drillers at the oil ll being put down west of Hum- ldt drove their drill into a vein gas Tuesday of this week, at a pth of about 240 feet. The gas me up in huge bubbles and gurgles ru the many feet of water that is the well. The gas ignited freely en a match was applied. It will remembered that the well has ready passed thru a heavy vein of ater that rose to the surface of the ll. This vein was struck beneath 20-foot thickness of lime stone. e drillers feel much encouraged d believe that they are in the ght location for oil at a greater pth.

COMING BACK TO OLD IOWA AND HERE SHE IS GOING TO REMAIN

An Iowa woman, who moved to California, sat down and wrote the follwing:

"My wisdom teeth I think I've cut, I'm wiser day by day, no more for me a paradise three thousand miles away. I'm sneaking back to Ioway, give me the hottest roast; I'll take the worst that you can say, but not the Pacific coast. I don't like flowers and earthquakes mixed, nor seas that sigh and moan, when every night they bring a fog that chills me to the bone. I'm sneaking back to Ioway in hopes that I may find the paradise I sought so far, but surely left behind. Iowa, gem of all the states, take back thy weary child; I'll never roam again among the landsharks bleak and wild. I'm sneaking back to Ioway, you may jeer me if you will, but in the role of Prodigal, I own I've had my fill. You may boast about you Gold Gate, the shimmjes of the sea, the beauties of your orange groves—Iowa does for me. I'm sneaking back to Ioway, I'm tired of husks and chaff; I won der if some friend for me will kill the fatted calf. I do not seek to shun hard work, I care not much for ease; but heaven defend me from the pest—those California flees. I'm sneaking back to Ioway, my heart and feet feel sore; just let me reach that favored spot, and I will roam no more."

SLEET STORM CAUSES GREAT DAMEAGE HERE

Iowa was visited by one of the worst damaging storms of the year, when the rain of Friday turned into sleet. Telephone, telegraph and electrical transmission lines covered with ice broke down under the added weight with the additional strain of a high wind.

Telephone lines were down and long distance communication was was impossible. Likewise telegraph lines were down. Saturday afternoon electric transmission lines also wet down under the weight of ice and electric service was shut down for about thirty hours.

Many trees were blown down in the storm and in some places small buildings were upset by the wind.

The Koerner Telephone Company of this place were heavy losers by the storm breaking down poles and wires. They are getting their lines in shape as fast as possible.

BAGGS RE-ELECTED

At the covention of school presidents held at the court house in Garner Tuesday morning, J. R. Baggs, present county superintendent of schools was re-elected for another term. Other candidates for the office were Levi Neese, of Klemme, and Miss Oxley, of Corwith.

Mr. Baggs, who has now held the office for fourteen years, was the favorite candidate by a large majority.

The writer does not object to any laboring man getting the best wages he can. We don't care if every laboring man gets $21 per day, the sum ow being pulled down by some of the building trades workers in Chicago, and other cities, and which high wage, in the end of things, is paid by the ultimate customer, on only in he cities, but all over the country, in the things we buy. What we do object to is the fact that all classes of people geting good pay try to "camouflage" the fact, and pass theb uck to somebody else. for- once we would like to see well-paid labor "acknowledge the corn" and not try to lay all the blame of high- priced articles of commerce on sime- body else. The remedy for the farm er's ills will not, and cannot, come through Brookhart and legislation, but through an air tight organization of the farmer that will control the prices of the raw product, just as organized labor controls not only the wage, but the supply of labor as well.—Jefferson Bee.

RADIO USED TO NOTIFY KLEMME PARENTS OF SON'S ILLNESS

Radio Used When Telephone and Telegraph Lines Were Down

Fred Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Arnold of this city, a student at Iowa State College at Ames, was taken suddenly and seriously ill. Fred's pal Howard Wiles, also of Klemme wrote Mr. Arnold that Fred was ill and in the hospital. Mr. Arnold received the letter Saturday afternoon and took a stock train out of here Saturday night as driving was impossible.

Fred's condition was getting more serious and Howard tried both the telephone and telegraph but the big sleet storm had put them out of commission. He and another friend then decided to broadcast a message on the radio from the Ames station which they did. The message went out and was picked up by a number of nearby towns who called Mrs. Arnold. Dr. Tice of Mason City was also notified by radio to come which he did. Luckily, Mr. Arnold had already gone.

Fred is getting along well now and Mr. Arnold was able to return to Klemme Tuesday. Fred will return to Klemme as soon as he is able to leave the hospital.

Radio performs many services each day and in this case it was used successfully when all other means of communication were blocked.

GARNER BOARD ELECT TEACHERS FOR NEXT YEAR

The Garner school board composed of M. N. Zeiger, Roy Sinclair, August Katter, Mrs. Charles Frisbee and Mrs. C. H. Easton, have already engaged most of their teachers for next year. They have elected the following: H. D. Tayolr, superintendent; Miss Moore, principal, Mr. Moran, coach; Miss Sherwood, Miss Gutnecht, Miss Lemard, all for high school teachers and for the grade Mr. C. H. Tompkins, superintendent; Mrs. Mayland, Miss Smith, and Miss Maud Blackstone, teachers of the grade. The balance of the teachers will be elected at an early date.

CUTS OFF HAND TO MIND BIBLE ADVICE

LOCUST GROVE, Ga. Auril 2— Holding the stump of his right hand aloft, [illegible] tle, 17, rushed into his home near here and informed his family that he had performed the amputation in accordance with the Biblical injunction. "If thy right hand offend thee, cut it off," it was learned here.

The youth ,according to his parents took solitary walks, always taking his Bible with him.

The hand had been chopped off with a hatchet.

SEPARATE SHEEP FROM GOATS TO EASE TRAFFIC

A novel plan is proposed to relieve the traffic congestion in downtown Boston, city of narrow and crooked streets. It is to separate int "odd" and "even", using the last numeral of the license tag, and allow the "odd" dates, while the "evens" can visit and shop on "even" dates.

Naturally the proposition has met with tremendous opposition on may grounds, to which the propenents f the idea retort that it is better to be allowed down town three days a week than no days at all, and that if something isn't soon done to relieve the traffic situation, a complete prohibition of all auto traffic in the restricted area will result.

Serious

"Your wife is looking well!"

"Yes. Just fancy. When I took her to the sanatorjum she was so bad that I wouldn't risk buying a return ticket!"

CASSADY SENDS OUT INSTRUCTION FOR HANDLING EGGS

DES MOINES, April 2,— A general warning to all dealers in eggs was issued today by Secretary of Agriculture R. W. Cassady. The warning also aplies to poultry men and all others who handle eggs in any stage from the henhouse to the consumer, Mr. Cassjdy stated.

Thes tate agricultural secretary's warning included the following:

It is unlawful for the farmer to sell or offer for sale bad or heated eggs to his patrons or jobbers.

"It is equally unlawful for merchants to offer such eggs to patrons or jobbers.

"The state agricultural department requires dealers to candle all eggs bought or sold.

"Poultrymen have no cause for complaint if merchants refuse to buy eggs without candling. Such refusal protects both merchant and raiser.

Secretary Cassady offered a number of suggestions concerning the care of eggs simultaneously with his warning statement.

"Provide plenty of clean, dry nests, the secretary advised. "Gather eggs once daily in cool weather and twice in hot weather. Two gatherings should be made, also, in rainy weather.

"Use dirty and small eggs at home Do not wash eggs. Keep eggs in cold dry place free from odors. Every farmer should have an egg candler and candle all questionable eggs. Old roosters should be killed or disposed of by June 1. An infertile egg keeps longer," Secretary Cassady explained.

A conservative estimate made by the state department of agriculture revealed that the annual loss on eggs o the farmers and merchants of Iowa is over $5,000,000 caused by improper care and handling.

WILL MAKE A MOUNTAIN OF FINE BUTTER

The Klemme Co-Operative Creamery Company received two car loads of butter tubs last week. It is estimated that by July 10th these entire two car loads of empty butter tubs will be filled wih fine, high grade butter made by the local butter factory. It is hard to imagine the size of the mountain of butter these tubs will make if they were all piled up in one great pile.

Every pound of this butter will be manufactured in the Klemme Co-Operative Creamery and will be shipped direct to Jersey City, N. J., where it brings the highest market price for fancy, selected creamery butter and every pound goes in on a score of 92 points on the New York City market quotation.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

March 24 to March 25, 1924

Emma Lackore, Guardian to Harvey Christiansen. Guardian's deed, date 3-21-24 W½ NE¼ & SE¼ NE ¼ 31-94-23 ..... $750.00.

First National Bank of Middlebury, Ind. to Peoples State Bank of Corwith. Q. C. D. date 2-28-24, a part of lots 1-2-3-4 blk 4 Corwith ..... $1.25.

John Aitchison wf. to Peoples State Bank Corwith. Q. C. D. date 2-29-24, a part of lots 1-2-3-4 blk. 4 Corwith ..... $1.25.

Mike Kumsher to Stella Kumsher, W. D. date 3-24-24 W½ SE¼ 36-96-25 ..... $1.00

N. N. Sonnesyn to L. W. Thompson. W. D. date 3-24-24 SE¼ 9-97-23 except N. 30 acres ..... $1.00.

E. P. Hanson, Sheriff to Bank of Miller. Certificate of Sheriff's sale date 12-29-22 NW¼ 34-97-23 ..... $9,494.29.

E. P. Hanson, Sheriff, to Farmers Nat. Bk Garner. Sheriff's Deed, date 3-28-24 NW¼ 34-97-23 $9,494.29.

COULDN'T HAVE BEEN

"Did my wife speak at the meeting yesterday?"

"I don't know your wife, but there was a tall, thin lady who rose and said she could not find words to express her feelings."

"That wasn't my wife!" —Karikaturen, Christiana.

MOTHER-BABY CLINICS ARE TO BE HELD IN COUNTY SOON

TOO MANY KIDS, COULDN'T SUPPORT THEM ALL

REINBECK, April 3—The hand of the law may be employed to break up the biggest family in Grundy county, following a meeting of county officials and Red Cross officers at Grundy Center Tuesday of this last week. The John Ash family, of Grundy Center, consisting of 16 children and the father and mother, have been unable to keep up with the advanced cost of living and their condition is so pitiable that some action will have to be taken.

Seventeen children have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Ash and 16 of them are living. Twelve of the children ranging in age from one to 15 years are at home. The father works steadily, but is unable to earn enough to keep the members and they have been living in need.

Red Cross members became interested in their case after a sort of receivership by the county a year or so ago failed to better conditions, and the meeting this week resulted. The only solution that seemed possible was to put at least six of the children into good homes and better surroundings and this will be done with the consent of Mr. Ash.

Plans are under way to accompolish this in the cases of six children between the ages of 11 and three years. Mrs. Ash, who has suffered for some time from mental trouble will likely bep laced in some institution for care and the home will be kept by a fifteen year old daughter, who will also care for a 13-year-old brother and the two youngest children, age one and two years.

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP

Management, Circulation, Etc., Required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, Of The KLEMME TIMES published weekly at Klemme, Iowa, for April 1, 1924.

State of Iowa, County of Hancock, ss.

Before me, a Notary Public, in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared R. A. Jorgenson, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the Owner of the Klemme Times and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations.

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are: Publisher, Editor, Managing Editor, R. A. Jorgenson, Klemme, Iowa. Business Manager, M. J. Jorgenson, Klemme, Iowa.

2. That the owners are: R. A. Jorgenson, Klemme, Iowa.

3. That the known bondholders, etc., are: None.

R. A. JORGENSON, Owner.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 1st day of April, 1924.

C. G. Waterman.

(My commission expires July 4, 1924.)

FUNERAL OF MRS. ROLF BLANK FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Grandma Roelf Blank passed away at the home of her son, Lippo, at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning. She had been ailing for several years and with her advanced age of 89 years the burden of ill health was too much.

Her husband, Roelf Blank died about twelve years ago. She also has another son, Tom Blank, of this place.

The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon, at which time the relatives from a distance will have arrived.

The obituary will be published in The Times next week.

SHEPPARD-TOWNER CLINICS FOR MOTHERS AND BABIES

Womens Division of Hancock County Farm Bureau To Co-operate With State University

The Hancock County Farm Bureau is co-operating with the Extension Division of the State University of Iowa in holding a serjes of five clinics from April 29th to May 3rd inclusive. These are known as the Sheppard-Towner Clinics and are for mothers and their babies. They deal with hygiene of maternity and infancy.

The money made possible by the Sheppard-Towner act is used to finance the work, and there is very little local expense. The local people are only required to provide a place for holding the clinics and see that the right children and mothers are registered, and also to have eight local women present to assist during he clinics.

The Farm Bureau women in sponsoring this splendid work are asking the co-operation of school boards, parent-teachers associations, women's clubs, etc. The physicians f the county are also requested to give heir support. Practically all of them have been visited and have signified their willingness to give all the help they possibly can. They are urged to attend as many of the clinics as possible.

The University will send two physicians and one nurse. Those coming to this county will be Dr. J. . Gherkin who examines the children, Dr. Mary Heard who talks with he mothers and expectant mothers, nd Miss Carrie Campbell who will e the nurse in charge of the clinic.

A local Farm Bureau woman has een chosen for each clinic and anyone wishig to take advantage of the linics should get i touch with her in rder that she may schedule them nd give them their time to come. nyone going through thec linic ust be scheduled by this chairman. y child up to the age of two years hould be scheduled for examination, ut in between the ages of ne and five if they haves ome defect which the parents are ot aware of. Children who hove or who ave recently had some contagious isease are excluded.

Arrangements are being made in each place for the use of four rooms so that all examinations and consultations are strictly private. These clinics are not baby shows and no scoring is done. In fact, the baby havig the least chance to win at a contest is the one most wanted. Mothers should remember to bring a blanket for each baby.

Thec linics will probably begin at 9:00 A. M. and end at 3.30 P. M. However, those going through the clinic will receive a card from the chairman giving the time to appear. Be sure to get in touch with the chairman giving them their time to appear. Be sure to get in touch with the Chairman of the clinic where you wish to go.

Following are the places where the clinics will be held and the chairman in charge of each:

April 29; Britt; High School Building; Mrs. Axel Trulson, Britt.

April 30; Crystal Lake; Consolidated School; Miss Alberta Matson, Britt.

May 1; Corwith; Consolidated School; Mrs. Fred Oxely, Corwith.

May 2 Goodell; M. E. Church, Mrs. Geo. Luick, Goodell.

May 3; Garner; High School Building; Mrs. E. J. Terwilyliger, Garner.

HAND IN BREAD MIXER FORTY MINUTES

BELMOND— Cletus Hardy, a 15 year old boy, had the misfortune to get his hand caught in a bread mixer, while helping in the Barban Bakery, Saturday afternoon. It took the men forty-minutes to get necessary tools and take the mixer apart before the hand could be realeased. The hand is badly mangled but it is thot it can be saved.

DAUGHERTY TOLD TO QUIT CABINET

Yields to Request to Resign as President Shows Untenable Position.

Washington. — Attorney General Daugherty resigned Friday, effective at once, following receipt of a letter from the President, requesting that he step out of the cabinet.

President Coolidge pointed out in his letter that the attorney general, being an interested person in the present senate investigation of his department, is not qualified to furnish the President with such advice as he must depend upon his attorney general to receive.

Mr. Daugherty answered the President's letter with a statement of three terse sentences, in which he suggested that his resignation take effect forthwith.

An hour or two later, as a private citizen, the attorney general sent the President a longer letter, in which he took exception to the ground upon which the President based his request. Mr. Daugherty insisted that the position taken by the President was untenable.

Reports that the attorney general would resign were persistent in the capital Thursday. Nothing official had been announced regarding the President's letter, which bore Thursday's postmark, but hints of what was impending had leaked out.

Immediately after dispatching his reply to the President, the attorney general boarded a train for Atlantic City. Under the statute, James M. Beck, solicitor general, will act as attorney general, pending the appointment of Mr. Daugherty's successor.

Faces Death for Slaying; Resents 'Dun' on Mail Gun

Manchester, N. H.—C. B. Cousins of Ashuelot, N. H., held here for murder, mailed an answer to the demand for payment letter sent him by the Chicago firm from which he bought on the installment plan the revolver he used in the killing. He wrote: "I wrote you once before explaining the case. I am held for murder in the fire degree, without bail, and the state authorities have the gun that I got off you and shot a man with. The penalty in New Hampshire for murder is hanging. So if I am found guilty I hope you will let the dead rest."

Democrats Open War on Secretary Mellon

Washington.—Immediately on the heels of the resignation of Attorney General Daugherty senate Democrats intensified their fire on Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. Senator McKellar of Tennessee presented a resolution for an investigation by the judiciary committee into the question whether Secretary Mellon is holding office in violation of the law in view of the legislation against a secretary of the treasury being interested in trade and commerce. The resolution went over on objection by Senator Wadsworth, but will come up soon.

9 Killed, Town Wrecked by Tornado in 3 States

Kansas City, Mo.—Loss of life and heavy property damages were caused by tornadoes in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas late Friday. Heavy rainfalls were general. At Shawnee, Okla., eight persons were killed. At Goffs, Kan., a boy was killed by lightning. Five persons were reported injured in the vicinity of Noble, Okla. At Crisfield, Kan., where nearly every house was reported destroyed by the wind, the Santa Fe station was wrecked and about thirty box cars were lifted from the tracks.

26 Lose Lives in West Virginia Mine Explosion

Bluefield, W. Va.—Twenty-six miners lost their lives in an explosion in the No. 2 mine of the Yukon-Pocahontas Coal company at Yukon, McDowell county, early Friday, according to J. A. Demchock, ventilation engineer of the coal company, who arrived here from the scene of the disaster. Eight other miners who were in No. 2 mine at the time of the explosion were rescued.

London Riding Again; Premier Ends Bus Tieup

London.—The strike of London's tramway and bus workers was ended through direct negotiations initiated by Premier MacDonald, who brought both sides together after a number of other attempts had failed. The workers were granted an immediate advance of six shillings, with the remaining two shillings demanded by the men fluctuating, according to the cost of living index.

Fast Flying

Mitchel Feld, N. Y.—Riding on a favorable wind, Lieuts. H. L. Elliott and Homer B. Chandler made a record flight of 318 miles from Buffalo in 2 hours and 21 minutes. The distance requires ten hours by train.

Gets Diplomatic Post

Washington.—Alfred J. Pearson, professor of modern languages at Drake university, was nominated for the post of minister to Poland by President Coolidge.

C. C. CHASE

C. C. Chase, son-in-law of Albert B. Fall and until recently collector of customs at El Paso, Tex., declined to testify before the senate investigating committee, and the senate voted for his impeachment.

PLEDGE IS GIVEN BY FIFTY PACIFISTS

Divinity Students Disfavor Army and Navy.

Chicago.—Just as the furore occasioned by the flag-hissing incident of Sunday night was beginning to subside, pacifism raised its head again in Evanston. One hundred and fifty theologues in Garrett Biblical institute met in one of their classrooms. By resolutions they demanded the abolition of the "army, navy and other instruments of competitive warfare, including the Reserve Officers' Training corps."

Then, as a final expression of their pacifism, more than fifty of the student preachers present signed pledge cards, binding themselves to refuse to sanction any future war or to enter any form of military service for the nation.

Reports from Naperville, Ill., say the authorities of the Northwestern college had recommended the discarding of the Reserve Officers' Training corps there, because the men of the school opposed military service. The college, an evangelical Methodist institution, has an enrollment of 450 students. It is in no way connected with the Northwestern university.

In stern contradiction to this expression of pacifism on the part of the Biblical students was a statement issued by Bishop Thomas Nicholson, head of the Chicago area of the church. Bishop Nicholson hit hard at the pacifist, though his hatred of war was plainly expressed. "If the flag is fired on I will be in the forefront of those demanding its defense," he said.

New York Senate Votes for Wines and Beer

Albany, N. Y.—Republicans voting with the Tammany delegation in the senate passed, 27 to 20, the resolution memorializing congress to liberalize the Volstead act to permit the sale of beer and wine. The victory of the wets was a surprise even to themselves. The resolution asks New York state's representatives in congress to call the attention of that body to the beer and wine resolution, memorializing congress, adopted by the last legislature. Senator Downing said that the resolution reached congress after it had adjourned and therefore was not considered.

Roxie Stinson Hints at $33,000,000 Oil Cleanup

Washington.—Miss Roxie Stinson lifted the curtain a few inches upon a new scene in her great political scandal show, "The Secret of Jess Smith," and gave the sensation-surfeited capital a peep into "a $33,000,000 oil stock deal" in which, she had been told, five men of national prominence made fortunes in the fall of 1922. It was just a peep, however, as Miss Stinson, offering only a woman's reason—"because"—hesitated strangely in giving the names of the five men as whispered to her in the little flat in Washington Court House, O., by Smith on one of his frequent visits.

Poincaire Resigns; Takes Reins of France Again

Paris.—Premier Poincare has decided to accept President Millerand's request to form a new cabinet. His decision followed a lengthy conference with Gaston Doumergue, president of the senate, and Raoul Peret, president of the chamber of deputies, and consultation with a few of his chosen advisers at his residence. The premier resigned Wednesday after his government was defeated in the chamber of deputies by 271 to 264.

Ousts Student Pacifist

Evanston.—Northwestern university took action toward stamping out pacifism when David Wallen, one of the avowed slackers in the student body, was summarily expelled by James W. Armstrong, dean of men.

Diplomat's Office Robbed

Berlin.—Burglars who looted the offices of the commercial attache of the American legation, escaped with $1,500 worth of valuables, belonging to members of the staff.

JURY INDICTS A CONGRESSMAN

Langley and Five Others Named in True Bills for Rum Conspiracy.

Washington.—Indictments charging Representative John W. Langley, Republican, of Kentucky; Millard F. West, a former deputy commissioner of internal revenue and four others with conspiracy to interfere with the operations of the government, were returned here by a federal grand jury.

Langley alone was named in one indictment. Another was against him, in company with Russell M. Sackett, a prohibition agent in Pennsylvania; Ben L. Moses and Harry Sattler, copartners trading as the Union Drug company of Pittsburgh, and Sidney Reis, described as a procurer of liquors in large quantities.

The conspiracy section of the criminal code prescribes punishment of not more than two years' imprisonment or a fine of not more than $10,000, or both.

Langley, who is chairman of the house public buildings and grounds committee, is serving his ninth term in congress. He is said to have been one of the "two members of congress" referred to in the report of the Chicago grand jury which investigated alleged veterans' bureau frauds as having been charged in testimony with accepting bribes for improper use of official influence.

U. S. Wealth Figured at Three Hundred Billions

Washington.—Government enumerators who have been engaged the last 15 months in taking an inventory of the wealth of the United States virtually have completed their work and are on the eve of announcing the final figures. These will be in the neighborhood of $300,000,000,000 as of December 31, 1922, as compared with $187,000,000,000 ten years previously. The increase during the decade has been about 60 per cent.

Mellon Cleared of Aid to Get Taxes Reduced

Washington.—Testimony before the senate committee inquiring into the internal revenue office tended to show Secretary Mellon did not use his influence to get favors for the Gulf Oil corporation and its subsidiaries. A. C. Ernst, Cleveland accountant for the corporation, said his firm was hired in 1919, before Harding's election, to make an audit for valuation, and incidentally found overpayment of taxes since 1909. Accordingly he made revised returns and $3,800,000 refund was made from 1914 to 1919.

Students Told to Pledge Fealty to U. S. or Go

Evanston, Ill.—Northwestern's R. O. T. C. took up the fight against pacifism in the university, when every member of the corps signed a resolution, demanding that any student who will not swear allegiance to the flag must withdraw from the institution. Copies of the resolution were forwarded to President Scott and to Brig. Gen. N. M. MacChesney, president of the Alumni association, for approval.

Obregon Pulls Gun and Captures Rebel General

Mexico City. — President Alvaro Obregon, at the point of a gun, made prisoner Gen. Jose Anaya, one of the leaders of the recent revolt. The episode occurred on a crowded spot in the Calle Bolivar. The president drew his revolver when Anaya started to run, after Obregon had called on him to halt. Obregon turned his prisoner over to police immediately and continued on his way by automobile.

$70,897 Loss in Eight Trips of the Leviathan

Washington.—A loss of $70,897 was incurred by the government through eight voyages made by the Leviathan between July and December last year, according to the report on the independent offices appropriation bill. She lost $338,800 on her last two trips, made during the winter when passenger travel was slack. Shipping board officials believe the Leviathan will be able to wipe out the loss before next July.

Nimrods to Dine

Chicago.—The Isaak Walton League of America, an organization for the protection of American birds, animals and fish, announces a dinner of nimrods from every part of the United States to be held in this city April 10. A unique feature of the dinner will be the attendance of more than one thousand ministers representing all denominations.

Blizzard Hits Northwest

St. Paul, Minn.—Snow and strong winds assuming proportions of a blizzard swept through the northwest Friday. Travel was impeded and there was damage to telegraph and telephone communication.

Hold Extortion Suspect

Detroit, Mich. — Vaclev Simek, charged with attempting to extort $1,050,000 from Edsel Ford through a threat to harm the manufacturer's children, was held for the grand jury.

PROFESSOR KOULEFF

Professor Kouleff is president and speaker of the Bulgarian national assembly. He is the real creator of the present coalition government and is a man of exceptional vitality and energy. He was professor of law at the University of Sofia before being called upon to assume an office of state.

U. S. GOVERNMENT MARKET REPORT

Washington.—For the week ending March 26.—FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Northern sacked round white potatoes, $1.20@1.45 per 100 lbs. in Chicago, $1.00@1.15 at shipping points. Northwestern extra fancy winesap apples, $2.00@2.50 per box leading markets. Texas new stock cabbage, $50.00 @70.00 in leading markets, $25.00@28.00 f. o. b. Yellow onions, $2.00@2.50 sacked per 100 lbs. in consuming centers. Florida celery, $3.50@4.25 per 10-inch crate of 4-8 dozen stalks, mostly $3.00 f. o. b. Sanford, Fla. Texas spinach, $1.25@1.50 in consuming centers, 90@95c f. o. b.

LIVE STOCK—Hogs, $7.65 for the top and $7.30@7.60 for the bulk. Medium and good beef steers, $8.10@11.75; butcher cows and heifers, $4.00@10.50; feeder steers, $5.25@8.50; light and medium weight veal calves, $8.00@11.75. Fat lambs, $14.50@16.75; feeding lambs, $14.00@15.75; yearlings, $12.00@15.00; fat ewes, $7.25@11.50.

GRAIN—No. 1 dark northern spring wheat, $1.14⅝@1.30⅝ Minneapolis; No. 2 hard winter, $1.10 Chicago, $1.06 St. Louis; No. 2 red winter wheat, $1.16 St. Louis; No. 2 yellow corn, 73@73½c Minneapolis; No. 3 yellow corn, 76½@79c Chicago, 79c St. Louis; No. 3 white oats, 47½@48½c Chicago, 49¼@49½c St. Louis, 44¼c Minneapolis.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, 46½c Chicago. Cheese at Wisconsin primary markets: Single daisies, 21c; double daisies, 20¾c; longhorns, 20¼c; square prints, 21½c.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $25.00 Cincinnati, $26.00 Chicago, $18.50 Minneapolis, $26.50 St. Louis; No. 2 timothy, $22.50 Chicago, $17.00 Minneapolis; No. 1 alfalfa, $28.00 Chicago, $22.00 Minneapolis; No. 1 prairie, $20.00 Chicago, $16.00 Minneapolis, $19.50 St. Louis.

Landslides Kill 120 in Italy; Mud Over Township

London.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rome says a landslide at Amalfi was caused by the River Cannetto overflowing. One hundred villagers are reported killed and fears are felt for many tourists. A large area of vineyards and several farmhouses were destroyed. Vettica Nero township is lying under a thick layer of mud, rocks and trees.

U. S. Grand Jury Indicts 47 Malleable Casting Firms

Cleveland, O.—An indictment charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust law was returned by a federal grand jury against 48 individuals and 47 firms belonging to the American Malleable Castings association. The individual and corporate members are charged with conspiracy to control prices and purchases of malleable castings throughout the United States.

Republicans Turn on Foe; to Attack Lane Leases

Washington. — Republican party chiefs and certain Republican senators on the Teapot Dome investigating committee are preparing to strike back at Democratic accusers of their party. The first object of attack by the Republicans will be oil leases granted by the late Franklin K. Lane when he was secretary of the interior under President Wilson.

Speeding Auto Turns Over in Creek; Four Drown

Benton Harbor, Mich.—Four men were drowned twenty miles south of St. Joseph, when the speeding auto in which they were driving skidded and overturned in a creek. They were: James Hoover, Sawyer, Mich.; Charles Ketchell, Lakeside; Fred Poe, New Buffalo, and Henry Stevens, Lakeside.

Iowa Bank Closes Doors

Red Oak, Ia.—The Farmers' National bank of Red Oak was closed because of frozen paper and slow collection. The bank is capitalized at $60,000 and carries deposits amounting to $700,000.

Approve 1910 Alien Provision

Washington.—The senate reported favorably the bill restricting immigration to 2 per cent of the 1910 census quotas instead of 3 per cent of the 1890 census.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

Grundy Center supports its public library with a per capita income larger than any other town or city of the state. The per capital income in this town of 2,000 amounts to $1.52.

Gas men who attend the annual convention of the Iowa District Gas Association at Sioux City April 16th, 17th and 18th, will be told how they can do their bookkeeping without books.

Two 115-foot skeleton radio towers will be erected on top of the new Liberty building at Des Moines for the 500-watt radio broadcasting station of the Bankers' Life Insurance company.

Construction work on the first unit of the Iowa Memorial Union Building at Iowa City will be started in May, the architect firm has announced. The building, which will cost $1,000,000, will be financed by the alumni.

Adjut. Gen. Louis G. Lasher announces that the prospect for sending a civilian rifle team from Iowa to the matches of the National Rifle Association which will be held at Camp Perry, Ohio, in September, is exceedingly favorable.

Iowa is first in quantity of eggs produced and should be first in quality. Last year it was estimated that 175,000,000 dozen was Iowa's contribution to the national egg crop. The amount she lost in dollars by too many of these eggs being below grade was in the millions.

Des Moines mothers made a plea for the World Court to prevent future wars, in the churches. In observance of World Court Sunday, these mothers had with them in the pulpit a son to represent the motherhood of America and the future soldier in event of war.

A general effort to adjust themselves to circumstances will result in the improvement of conditions among Iowa farmers this year more strikingly than by reason of lower taxes, cheaper labor or better prices, according to leading agricultural statisticians of the state.

Hundreds of Iowans, interested in the preservation of historical spots and in conversation movements, will visit McGregor next August for the dedication of a marker at the point where Marquette and Joliet first viewed "the land beyond the Mississippi." The spot is in McGregor heights, where the famous old fort stood, and will be formally marked during the annual wild life school.

Iowa people, who led all other states in the war-time drives to help defeat Germany, are now joining forces in a campaign to extend the hand of mercy to nearly 2,000,000 starving German children. The funds raised will be turned over to the Quakers, who will purchase condensed milk, wheat foods, and like supplies in this country, ship them to Germany, and distribute them through their own relief kitchens to the starving children.

Since the paving on the North Iowa pike was completed and Osceola county graveled to the south line of that county there has been more or less agitation for a connection between the two. This would necessitate graveling the five miles of primary road from the pavement one mile east of Sanborn to theOsceola county line. If this is done this summer automobiles can go from Rock Valley to the Canadian line on gravel and paved roads.

The "Go to Church" movement is well on its way in Oelwein, an entire month being devoted to a campaign of a different nature than the old time revivals. The work is being done by the laymen making personal calls and endeavoring to interest the non-church goers in the importance of attending church. The indications are that the campaign is proving quite successful and reports indicate that the attendance is increasing considerably.

A quarter of a million dollars has been decided upon as Iowa's portion of the national quota of $10,000,000 which will be devoted to purchasing and shipping food supplies to Germany for the relief of thousands of children there who are starving to death. "If there is such a thing as pushing the world along, the children of each generation must be cared for," says Harvey Ingham of the Des Moines Register-Tribune. "And, they must be cared for regardless of the fact that they are the children of our former foe. It is our business to make the child life of the world more hopeful; to widen the opportunities of every boy and girl and to give them some sort of a foundation which will fit them to develop into stalwart men and women of tomorrow."

The campaign for buying feeder pigs has resulted in the importation already of 1,790 into Cherokee county, the greater number of them having been taken by farmers in the Marcus area.

High school graduation, four years attendance in an approved college, an Iowa state certificate, at two years of successful teaching experience are the prerequisites for superintendents of public schools in Iowa as outlined in the bulletin for teachers' qualifications, mailed to all school department heads by the state superintendent of public instruction.

PE-RU-NA
For COUGHS & COLDS
And Every Catarrhal Ailment
The Family Standby for Over Fifty Years
Tablets or Liquid
Sold Everywhere

VERLON Complexion Soap
25¢-worth more!

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER COMPOUND
Are your horses coughing or running at the nose? If so, give them "SPOHN'S." A valuable remedy for Coughs, Colds, Distemper, Influenza, Pink Eye and Worms among horses and mules. An occasional dose "tones" them up. Sold at all drug stores.
SPOHN MEDICAL CO. GOSHEN, IND. U.S.A.

Where Speed Makes Beauty

Wherever crystals form rapidly their shapes will be more beautiful in all likelihood than when they form slowly. When they form rapidly they assume fantastic branching forms in some instances, but where they take a leisurely course of freezing or solidifying they tend to become more solid. This is one explanation of the beauty of the snowflake, which is a form of crystal.

To Make War Monument

The commission for the erection of a monument in the Argonne region of France in memory of the Missouri heroes who gave their lives in the World war, has been awarded to Mrs. Nancy C. Hahn of St. Louis.

BACK ACHY?
Lame and achy in the morning? Tortured with backache all day long? No wonder you feel worn out and discouraged! But have you given any thought to your kidneys? Weak kidneys cause just such troubles; and you are likely to have headaches, too, with dizziness, stabbing pains and bladder irregularities. Don't risk neglect! Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

An Iowa Case

Mrs. W. F. Vernon, 312 Jefferson St., Clear Lake, Ia., says: "My kidneys were weak and I had such a soreness and dull ache in my back it was hard to do my housework. I tired easily and had frequent, dizzy, nervous headaches. My kidneys acted too frequently, also. I used Doan's Pills and they rid me of headaches, dizziness and backache and my kidneys didn't trouble me."

DOAN'S PILLS 60c
STIMULANT DIURETIC TO THE KIDNEYS
Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N.Y.

Teach Children To Use Cuticura
Soothes and Heals Rashes and Irritations
Cuticura Soap Keeps the Skin Clear

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP
Allays irritation, soothes and heals throat and lung inflammation. The constant irritation of a cough keeps the delicate mucus membrane of the throat and lungs in a congested condition, which BOSCHEE'S SYRUP gently and quickly heals. For this reason it has been a favorite household remedy for colds, coughs, bronchitis and especially for lung troubles in millions of homes all over the world for the last fifty-seven years, enabling the patient to obtain a good night's rest, free from coughing with easy expectoration in the morning. You can buy BOSCHEE'S SYRUP wherever medicines are sold.

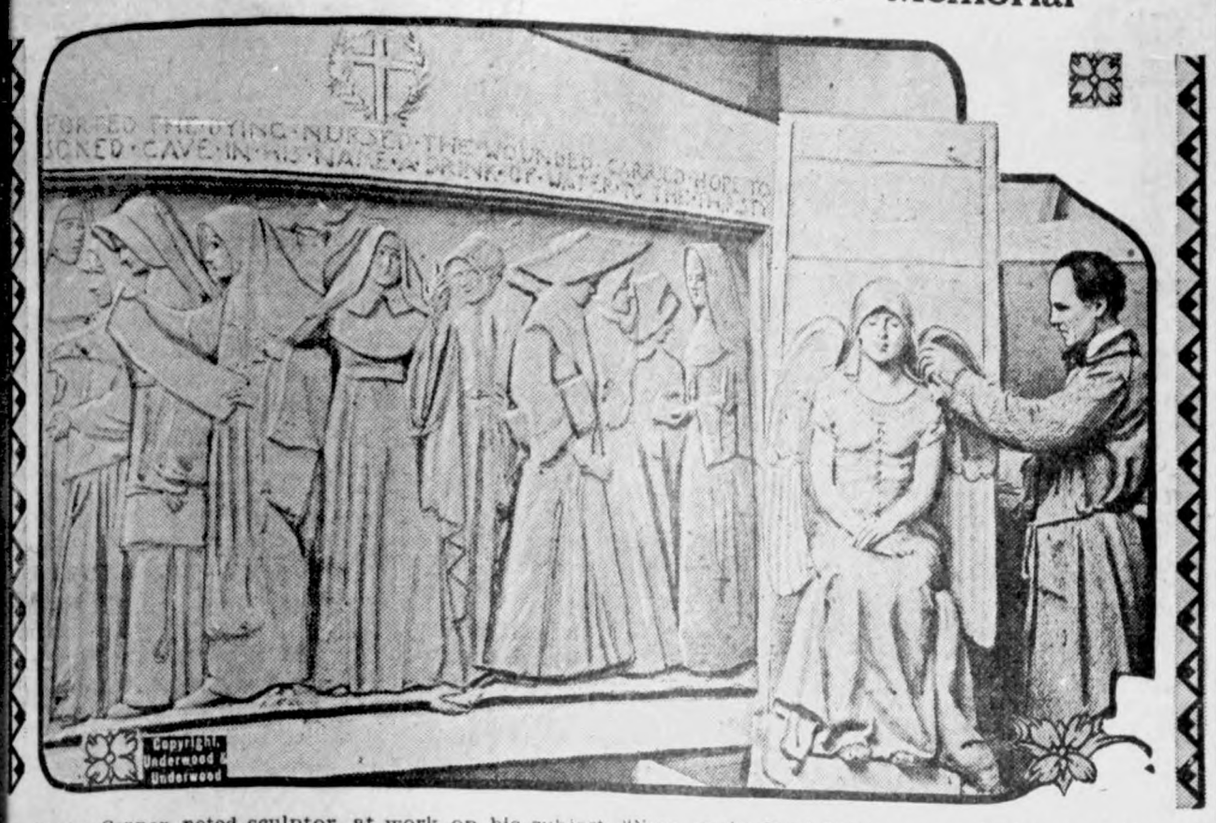
You Are Going to Long Beach and when you arrive look us up at 24 American Avenue, and look over our list of properties. We are proud of our town and we know values, and we are in a position to show you just what you want to see.
STIVERS BROS.
24 American Ave. Long Beach, Calif.
Bring This Ad With You

12 WELCH'S CONCORD GRAPE VINES two-year, $1; 36 one-year, $2; 100 asparagus $1; 25 rhubarb, $1; 100 Progressive and 100 Dunlap strawberry plants, $2; 10 early Richmond cherry, $4; 10 Compass, $2.50; 10 Kieffer pear, $3; 10 Elberta peach, $2; 5 Jonathan and 5 Delicious, $2. Good 4-foot trees. Prepaid; checks accepted. Order from this ad. Guaranteed to reach you in good condition. Catalog free. Welch Nursery, Shenandoah, Ia.

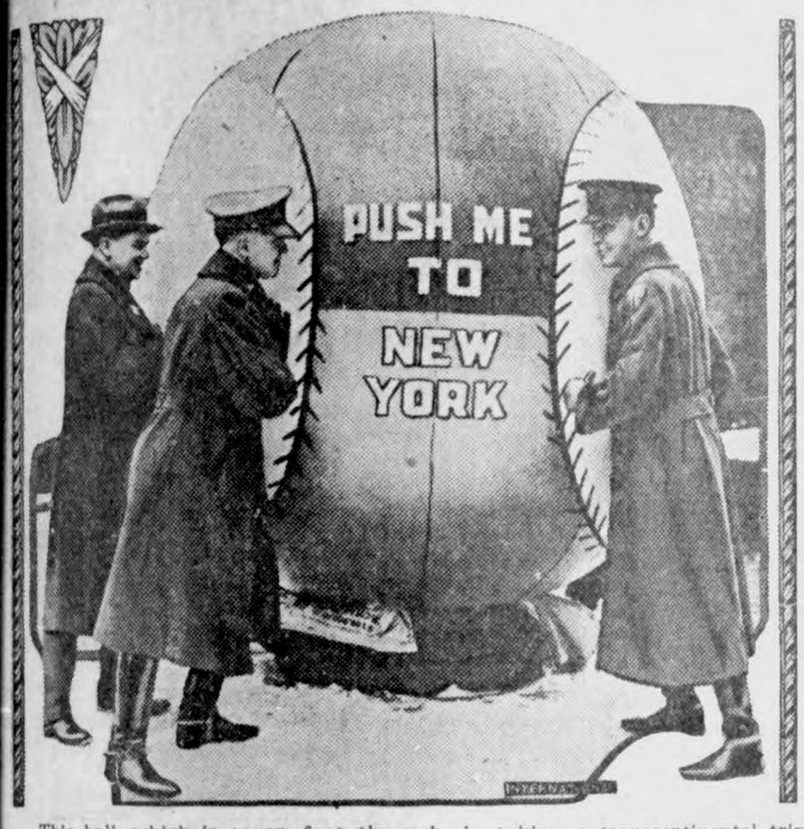
RUB YOUR EYES?
Use Dr. Thompson's Eyewater. Buy at your druggist's or 1165 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

Making the "Nuns of the Battlefield" Memorial



Jerome Connor, noted sculptor, at work on his subject, "Nuns of the Battlefield," composed of bronze tablet and granite statues, to be erected in Washington by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. It will be dedicated Sept. 15, 1924.

Ball Boosts Training Camps

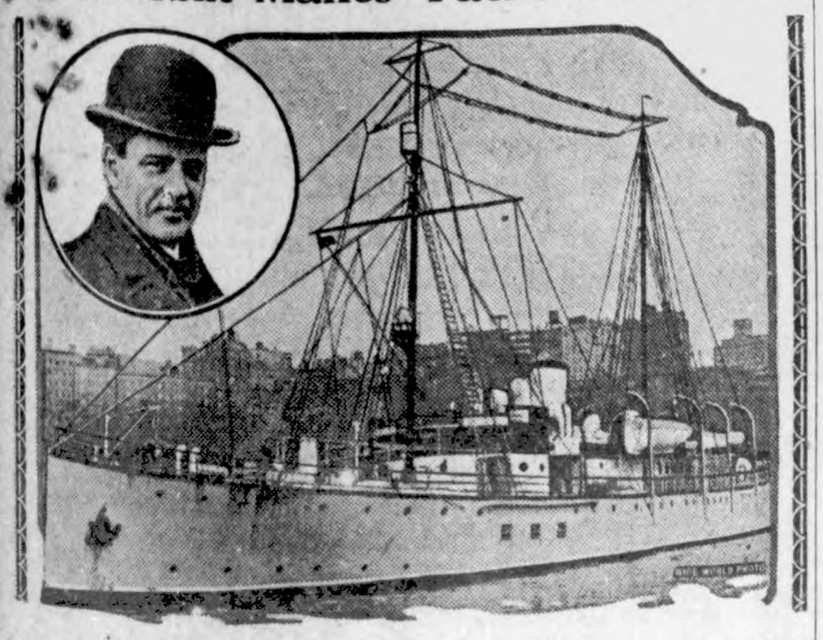


This ball, which is seven feet through, is taking a transcontinental trip from Chicago via Washington to New York, New Orleans, Los Angeles and return. Citizens' military training camp students, boy scouts and citizens will roll it overland all the way to boost the military training camps. The ball is leather covered and weighs two hundred pounds.

Laddie Buck's Father Is Kindly

Robin-a-Dale, father of Laddie Buck, the White House dog, giving one of his little sons a ride in a basket at his home with Miss Marguerite Calhoun of Atlanta, Ga.

Vanderbilt Makes Yacht His Home



Waiting for his New York city apartment to be prepared for occupancy, Commodore William K. Vanderbilt, millionaire yachtsman, is living aboard his yacht, the Ara, as she lies at anchor in the Hudson river. He and the Ara are shown above.

BEAUTY CULTURE DID IT

The American Master Hairdressers, in convention in New York, advertised for "a model seeking rejuvenation," and accepted Molly Craven who has lived all her life on a New Jersey farm. These "before and after" photographs show what beauty culture experts did for her.

WE ARE NOT ENVIOUS

Mlle. Clara Tambour, famous French actress, who at a recent "Beautiful Leg" contest won the first prize for possessing the most beautiful legs in France.

OUSTED FROM THRONE

King George of Greece who has been deposed by vote of the national assembly.

Thieves Take Carpets From Two Churches

Thieves stole the carpets from the floors of the Reformed and Lutheran churches, at Mainland, Pa. Nothing else was touched. The thefts were discovered when worshipers gathered in the churches for service.

MAN THOUGHT DEAD IS HELD AS OUTLAW

Faked Death to Fool Officers of the Law.

Tokyo.—In a little cemetery near Masuho, Japan, is a grave and tombstone erected in memory of a former chief of the village, a man known far and wide for his kindness and generosity. In jail at Tokyo is the man—held as the leader of a gang of crooks. What the grave holds no one knows.

Nine years ago the man, Issaku Kawashima, was arrested and sentenced to prison for being the leader of a band of robbers. Kawashima appealed the case. Then he died suddenly. His family buried him with great pomp and erected a handsome tombstone in his honor. Scores of neighbors and friends attended the funeral.

Recently it was reported that a strange visitor was seen going into the Kawashima home. Police spread a net about the house and saw the stranger entering. They rushed inside and found the man—none other than the dead Kawashima.

The police declare they have proof that the death certificate was forged, that Kawashima was buried in effigy, and that he since has organized another band of outlaws. His frequent visits to his family proved his undoing, however.

Woman Dares Fire to Save Treasures

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Rare daring was shown by Mrs. Henry Steding, aged sixty-four, who on two occasions reentered her burning home to save a pet or some object which she highly prized. But in the end she was pulled from the flames by her dog.

After making an attempt to subdue the fire, which started under the first floor of her house, Mrs. Steding would not leave the house until she had saved her canary. She was led from the building by Henry C. Young, 511 Montooth street, through the smoke.

After reaching safety with her bird, Mrs. Steding recalled her prize phonograph. She dashed into the house with Policeman Walsh at her heels. The policeman took her back to safety.

Although she was burned about the face and hands and her eyebrows and hair were singed, again Mrs. Steding ran to the house for some treasure. But this time Teddy, her fox terrier, was watching his mistress, and before she had entered the danger zone the little dog had a good hold on her skirt. With the aid of Policeman Walsh he pulled her back to safety. Mrs. Steding will recover from her burns.

Woman Sells Baby to Bury Husband's Mother

Peking.—Poverty stricken by the long absence of her husband, a soldier, a young Chinese mother at Peking, sold her five-year-old baby for $30 so that she might provide a fitting burial for her mother-in-law. The mother had been supporting herself, her baby, and her husband's mother while the man fought in the army.

Engineer Saves Boy

Lebanon Junction, Ky.—W. R. Starke, Louisville & Nashville railroad engineer, stopped his train at Pottinger creek, near Gethsemane, and led members of the crew to the rescue of Jesse Brown, twelve, who was in danger of drowning after ice on which he had been skating had broken.

The trainmen brought the boy to safety and then made a 20-mile run to this place in their icy-wet clothes.

Kills Self After Fire

Lyndonville, Vt.—Two days after fire destroyed his store and apartment, causing the death of eight persons, Albert Stern killed himself. He was suspected of knowing something about the blaze, having been seen in the store ten minutes before the alarm was sounded.

Would Burn Corpses

Paris.—A law providing for the burning of corpses to prevent burial of living persons will be introduced in the French parliament soon by Andre Godard, a Paris scientist. One person out of every 200 is buried alive, Godard has declared.

Both Are Satisfied

Chambersburg, Pa.—Mr. and Mrs. George E. Diehl ride about in a car which is gray on one side and blue on the other.

"My wife likes gray, and I like blue, so we compromised," explained Mr. Diehl.

Baby Freezes to Death

Sioux City, Ia.—Two-months-old Lillian Widgery died of the cold. The baby's hands and feet were frozen stiff. Officers found other members of the family huddled in their cold home, suffering from lack of warmth and food.

COMMANDER WICKER BUSY LEGIONNAIRE

If any member of the American Legion in Virginia fails to go to the polls to exercise his right of franchise, it will not be the fault of John J. Wicker, department commander of the organization. For Commander Wicker, whose penchant in matters of government has made expression of the will of Legionnaires, his first objective through his year at the helm.

This is but a part of the aim of Commander Wicker to make his department of the Legion one of the most vigorous, if not the greatest in size. Other points of his program for 1924 call for enactment of the adjusted compensation measure by the federal government, erection of a non-utilitarian movement in Virginia as a war memorial, and appointment of a committee in the state law-making body to handle all veteran legislation as has been done in congress.

Wicker has been an ardent Legionnaire almost since the time of the inception of the Legion. He was an organizer in Virginia and was a charter member of Richmond post No. 1. He was elected to serve as a delegate to the St. Louis caucus in 1919, and has attended every national convention since that time. It was through his efforts that the state of Virginia appropriated $5,000 for expense incident to organizing the Legion throughout the state, unprecedented in Legion annals. He held the position of first national executive committeeman from that state, and followed this by a second term, but refused to accept the post for another year. He has served on several important national committees, including the Post Deportation committee, and that which conveyed to the Knights of Columbus the action of the Legion in connection with the preferred memorial building. A most unusual distinction given to Commander Wicker was his appointment to the National Distinguished Guests committee for the Kansas City convention, when he acted as escort to General Diaz during the trip. He directed the first Legion pilgrimage to France as business manager, and through his efforts saved the party thousands of dollars. He was also in charge of the unofficial Legion tour in France in 1922.

John J. Wicker.

Wicker, familiarly known to his comrades as "Jack," is a Kentuckian by birth, though his parents, both Virginians, were but temporary residents of that state at the time. In religion he is a Baptist, as he followed in the footsteps of his father, a Baptist preacher. His grandfather was a Scotch Presbyterian, his great grandmother a Methodist, his grandfather a Roman Catholic, and he has frequently declared that he feels "kin to all denominations."

He was educated in the public schools of the state and took preparatory training at Peddle institute in New Jersey, later attending Furman university and the University of Richmond, where his ability as an orator brought him to the study of law. He was admitted to the bar after he attained his majority.

Wicker had considerable difficulty in entering service when war was declared. First, he was married and had two children; second, his eyesight was defective. He sought admission to the first training camp, to be rejected on account of his sight. Then he volunteered in the navy, the marine and infantry, but was refused each time for the same reason. Desperate in his resolve to serve he memorized the eyetest cards, and was accepted as a private in the aviation signal corps of the regular army. He received a commission with the air service and went overseas where he served with the Five Hundredth Aero squadron.

Legion Emblem Woven in Navajo Blanket

A blanket woven by an expert weaver of the Navajo Indian tribe has been presented to Bronson M. Cutting, retiring commander of the Montoya y Montoya post of the American Legion at Santa Fe, N. M.

The gift, said to be one of the most perfect blankets ever woven in this section of the country, bore the American Legion emblem, the initials of the post and the initials of the recipient, and of his position in the Legion. It was an expression of the sentiment of his comrades toward the Legion man for his untiring services to the post.

MY DAUGHTER WOULD CRY AT EVERYTHING

Nervous and Irritable. By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Became Entirely Normal

Clinton, Wisconsin.—"My daughter was in a very run-down condition, and was irritable, and would cry at every little thing she was so weak and nervous. As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped me when I was a girl I gave it to her to build her up, and the results were all that we could wish for. I wish that every mother with growing girls would try it for these troubles girls often have. I had taken it myself before my girl was born, and she was one of the nicest babies any one could wish to have. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to women and girls and cannot praise it too highly." — Mrs. I. A. HOLFORD, Box 48, Clinton, Wisconsin.

Mothers can depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve their daughters of those troubles they so often have. They know from experience the value of the Vegetable Compound in the treatment of these complaints and many, like Mrs. Holford, give it to their daughters.

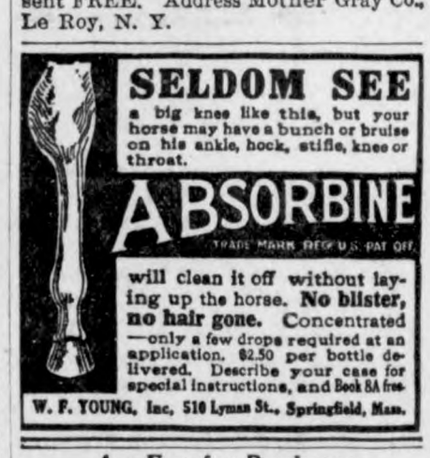
Garfield Tea

Was Your Grandmother's Remedy

For every stomach and intestinal ill. This good old-fashioned herb home remedy for constipation, stomach ills and other derangements of the system so prevalent these days is in even greater favor as a family medicine than in your grandmother's day.

IF MOTHERS ONLY KNEW

During these days how many children are complaining of Headache, Feverishness, Stomach Troubles and Irregular Bowels and take cold easily. If mothers only knew what Mother Gray's Sweet Powders would do for their children no family would ever be without them for use when needed. These powders are so easy and pleasant to take and so effective in their action that mothers who once use them always tell others about them. Used by mothers for over 30 years. Sold by druggists everywhere. Trial Package sent FREE. Address Mother Gray Co., Le Roy, N. Y.



An Eye for Business

It was remarked that a shrewd manufacturer of mechanical devices took six poultry journals and read them assiduously.

"Isn't that sort of thing a little out of your line, John?" asked a friend one day.

"Not at all. Helps me in my sales."

"As to how?"

"As soon as I learn a man has gone into the chicken business I call to see him about a tabulating machine."

Furs Fascinate Women

From the earliest times furs have had a remarkable fascination for women. The women of ancient Greece, Rome and Assyria all made lavish use of furs.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

for catarrh

Thousands afflicted with nasal catarrh have found Zonite highly efficacious as treatment for it. Spray the nose morning and night according to directions on bottle. Tones up the mucous membranes and kills germs without injuring body tissues. Doesn't irritate or burn and is positively non-poisonous.

Zonite KILLS GERMS

Political Announcements

COUNTY RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election to the office of Recorder of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Clarissa Abel. *

I hreeby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock Contuy, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the Primaries to be held in June, 1924.—H. L. Suckow, Klemme, Ia.*

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican Primary to be held in June, 1924.—H. C. Meyer. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to a decision of the republican voters at the primary election in June, 1924. I solicit your support on a platform of strict economy fair and impartial treatment.—Wallace Darrah. *

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1924 Primaries.—A. O. Christensen, Crystal Lake, Iowa.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of Supervisor of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the June 1924 primary. —Fred Oxley, Corwith.

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary. —John Suurballe. (J-10)

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—H. A. Sweigard. *

COUNTY AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of County Auditor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters of the June, 1924 Primary.—J. D. Madison. *

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Verne C. Grau. J-17)

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock County, Iowa, subject to the decision of the republican primaries to be held in June 1924. I solicit the support of all voters, both men and women.—V. S. White.

COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—J. C. Hanson, Garner, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination of Clerk of Courts of Hancock County subject to a decision of the voters at the June 1924 Primaries.—Chris J. Johansen, Britt, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, and solicit your support at the June Primary election, 1924.—F. P. Oleson. F-14

COUNTY SHERIFF

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 Primaries. I solicit the vote of everybody.—C. N. White. Klemme, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate on the Republican ticket for Sheriff of Hancock County at the June primaries. Pledging tht same service that I have previously given while in public office.—Peck Hanson.

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county. subject to the will of the voters at the republican primaries to be held in June 1924.—Howard Hanson, Crystal Lake. *

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock Coutny, subject to the decision of the voters at the primary in June.—W. C. Zeismer.

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the voters at the Republican primarjes to be held in June, 1924.—A. J. Foster, Kanawha.

FOR STATE SENATOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for State Senator from this 43rd district of Iowa comprising Cerro Gordo, Franklin and Hancock counties, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 primaries. If nominated and elected I agree to abide by the precedent established in this district and will not be a candidate for a second term.—C. F. JOHNSTON. Sheffield, Iowa. Feb. 1st, 1924.

COUNTY REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Representative from the 86th district, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1924, Primarjes. —Frank M. Hanson, Garner, Iowa.

Puzzling

Judge—You say that you are innocent. How do you explain the fact that you were found near the scene of the robbery with the stolen property in your hand?

Prisoner—That's what's puzzlin' me, too, yer honor.

Where the Money Goes--

Growth and advancement always means increased investment to permit of larger and better growth, and thus a growing institution must continually increase is working facilities in order to give the service the Public must have.

The following are a few of the improvements and additions this Company has authorized during the past several months:

Installation of street lights at Iowa Falls;
Installation of Transformer and more wiring at Belmond;
New Recording Volt Meter at Armstrong Plant;
Purchase of Merchandise Stock and Show Room Equipment at Iowa Falls;
Moving of Pole Line and putting in New Poles at La Porte City;
Exchange of Trouble Cars to get better service;
Replacing of Copper Wire with Larger Wire on Dows-Garner Line;
Installation of Shafting and Pulley for Water Pump at La Porte City;
New Curtain for a Boiler at Iowa Falls Plant;
Installation of Flow Meter on Heating System at Iowa Falls Plant.

THESE IMPROVEMENTS COST ABOUT—$16,000.00.

Investment made in this Company goes into Income Producing improvements and additions that serve the public. Investment in the COMMON STOCK paying the rate of 7 per cent Annual Dividends.

THE INVESTMENT THAT HAS A RE-SALT AGREEMENT GUARANTEE

Get the particulars from our Manager

Iowa Falls Electric Co.

Iowa Falls, Iowa

EXPOSES THREE FINANCIAL FAKES

Politicians Mislead Public Regarding Corporations, Credit, and Railroads, Says F. N. Shepherd.

FALLACIES MET WITH FACTS

Declares People Will Make Short Shrift of Those Who Deceive Them When Aroused to Truth of Own Interests.

Three great misrepresentations, by which certain politicians have advanced their own interests at the expense of public welfare, were recently declared by F. N. Shepherd, Executive Manager, American Bankers Association, in an address at Kansas City, Missouri, to be the oft-repeated statements that "Wall Street" owns the corporations, that the Federal Reserve Banks discriminated against agriculture and deflated the farmers, and that there are seven billion dollars of "water" in railroad capitalization and rates should be reduced accordingly.

What Facts Tell

In regard to the alleged ownership of the corporations by "Wall Street," Mr. Shepherd showed that the securities of American corporations are very widely held by the people. The Union Pacific, he pointed out, has over 50,000 stockholders and the Pennsylvania Railroad 147,000 stockholders, 67,000 of whom are women, with an average ownership of 47 shares each. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company has 200,000 stockholders. 120,000 of whom are employees, and the United States Steel Corporation has 174,000 stockholders. According to a recent report of the Interstate Commerce Commission, he said, Class I railroads have a total of 777,132 stockholders, there being, therefore. practically as many owners of shares as there are employees.

"The real capitalists of America," continued Mr. Shepherd, "are these and the bondholders whose funds are invested in securities through their thirty million savings accounts, and through their ownership of over 71 million life and industrial insurance policies. Once arouse these people to the fact that it is their interests which are being attacked through these misrepresentations and they will make short shrift of those who deceive them.

Truth About the Federal Reserve

"As to the Federal Reserve System, instead of its discriminating against the farmer, exactly the opposite is true. During the period of greatest decline in the value of agricultural products, about which there has been so much loose talk, rediscounts with Federal Reserve banks in non-agricultural districts actually decreased by 28 per cent, but in agricultural districts rediscounts were actually increased by 56 per cent. The Federal Reserve Banks of the big cities of Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Cleveland poured into other Federal Reserve Banks in agricultural districts literally hundreds of millions of dollars.

"As to the alleged seven billions of 'water' in the railroads, a physical valuation of the railroad properties has been under way for the past ten years, as a result of the La Follette Act, conducted by a body of unprejudiced, non-political experts by whom the valuation has been placed at $18,900,000,000. Although it has been officially stated, and reiterated, that, in arriving at this figure, no consideration whatever was given to capitalization, politically-minded men are still deceiving the public, and particularly the farmers, about the 'water' in the railroads. Railroad stock today is not watered. Any possible fair scheme of valuation today proves that our railroads are worth from one to two billion dollars more than their capitalization.

No Railroad Income Guarantee

"Further, demagogues are telling people that the railroad income is guaranteed. The Esch-Cummins Act does not guarantee any return to railroad stockholders, as the demagogues constantly assert. By its terms the Act simply provides a yard stick for rate making, which is that a fair railroad rate is one which would show a return of 5¾ per cent upon the actual value of the property used in transportation in a given territory.

"This provision bears no relation whatever to railroad capitalization and, moreover, no relation to individual railroads, some of which might show earnings under such a rate-making provision in excess of six per cent, and some much less. No consideration whatever is given in the Act or in the administration of the Interstate Commerce Commission to railroad capitalization or any return upon it."

MIDDLEMAN'S PROFITS.

Words of objection on the part of the farmer against the middleman often are in vain, but the farmer who raises on his own acres all that his table requires, the year round, places himself in a position where he is largely independent of the middleman. Often the remedy for many objectional conditions lies in our own hands.

WATER SHOT UP MOUNTAIN

One of the Most Remarkable High Pressure Pumping Plants Is at Foot of Mount Washington.

At the foot of Mount Washington, in New Hampshire, may be seen a small shed that contains one of the most remarkable high-pressure pumping plants anywhere. A single engineer, who acts as fireman, caretaker and oiler, operates the plant. It "squeezes" water to a height of 3,725 feet, against a pressure of 2,250 pounds to the square inch, from the base of the mountain to the summer hotel at the peak of Mount Washington.

It is difficult to comprehend such a pressure without a medium of comparison. The high-pressure system of New York's fire department, with 300 pounds to the square inch, which will throw water over even the 700-foot Woolworth building, is insignificant beside it. The pressure of a harnessed Niagara Falls, or any of the numerous irrigation and power plant projects of the West, has about the same ratio to the weight of that column of water from the top to the base of Mount Washington as the force within a soda water bottle has to your local water supply. If the Mount Washington pumps were deprived of their duties at the foot of the mountain and connected instead to a turbine intake pipe at Niagara or to the high-pressure fire lines of New York, they would pump 25 gallons a minute into the pipes against the 300 or 400 pounds pressure encountered.

MEN HAVE SOME QUEER PETS

Italian Has Donkey as Companion; Barber Has Walking Fish; Scientist Chums With Flea.

An Italian is creating a sensation in Rome by treating a donkey as a boon companion. He has even taken it to a restaurant to dine with him. The lucky animal enjoyed four cocktails, two portions of asparagus, some "fruity" cheese and three apples.

A barber in Toronto has a unique pair of pets. They are walking perches, natives of India and Egypt. If its home stream dries up, this fish will flop across the land to the next water supply. It has been known to travel 18 miles in this way.

The barber's pets often leave their aquarium and take a "constitutional" to the shop door. They wriggle along by means of their fins, just as a seal would.

Scientists often "chum up" with unlikely friends. One experimented with a flea, which became quite attached to its owner, whom it would never bite.

Lord Avebury had a pet wasp which is now preserved in the British museum. It would feed out of the scientist's hand.

Care of Small Wounds.

Be sure to keep an injury clean. Place the wound under clean running water to make sure that all the dirt and foreign substance are washed out. Do not touch a wound with your finger (unless it has first been washed clean), as your hands, at no time, are surgically clean. Wrap up the wound with a clean gauze bandage. If this is not at hand, use the cleanest thing procurable. Then take the injured person to a doctor. Small scratches and cuts may be washed clean with boric acid water (two teaspoonfuls to a glass of water) or iodine water (four or five drops in half a glass of water). Protect all skinned knees with clean gauze, after the knees have been washed to remove sand and dirt from the injury.

British Humor.

That British humor can be as exaggerated as that of the typical American gag is proved by the following from a London weekly: A meeting of the district council was in progress to consider a complaint about the muddy state of the roads in the outlying districts. One of the councillors said: "Gentlemen, I was walking by the road in question the other morning when I saw a man's hat on top of the mud. I touched it with my stick and was astonished to hear a man's voice from beneath. 'My friend,' I said, 'It's a bit thick there, isn't it?' 'It ain't 'alf,' came the answer, 'and I'm on the top o' the bus!'"

Of Course.

The youthful bugler wore a proud smile as he turned out on parade for the first time. He was accosted by an officer and asked if he knew all the bugle calls.

"Not all, perhaps, sir," he admitted modestly, "but I know most of them."

"Well, now," continued the officer, "what would you do in case of fire?"

"Blow the call for lights out, sir."—Los Angeles Times.

Got 'Em All.

A man was wanted by the police. They secured six different photographs of him and the pictures were circulated through the locality. The chief in a small town wrote to headquarters a few days later saying: "I duly received the pictures of the six miscreants whose capture is desired. I have arrested five of them; the sixth is under observation and will be taken soon."

He Should Know.

A student annoyed his master by asking foolish questions.

One day, after he had interrupted the lecturer several times with irrelevant remarks and questions, he asked: "Sir, how long can an animal live without brains?"

"Well," was the reply, "I really don't know. Mr. F—, how old are you?"

NOTICE FOR BUILDING SCHOOL HOUSE

Notice is hereby given that proposals for the erection of two (2) school houses, No. 5 and No. 2, in the township of Twin Lake, in the county of Hancock, Iowa, will be received by the undersigned at the Center School House, Twin Lake Township, until 1:30 o'clock P. M., May 1, 1924, at which time the contract will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Plans and specifications may be seen at my place.

Dated April 1, 1924.

JULIUS PRIEBE, Secretary,
(4w.) Goodell, Iowa.

NOTICE FOR BUILDING SCHOOL HOUSE

Notice is hereby given that proposals for the re-building of a school house in District No. 4, in the township of Liberty, Hancock County, Iowa, will be received by the undersigned at the Center School House in Liberty Township, until 7:30 o'clock P. M., April 28, 1924, at which time the contract will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Plans and specifications may be seen at my place.

Dated March 29, 1924.

JOSEPH SCHULDT, Secretary
(4w) Klemme, Iowa.

WORSE THAN THAT

Thomas was not a prime favorite with his rich uncle. In vain djd he try to impress him, but the old man was not easily impressed.

One evening the young man went to his uncle's home for a call, and in the course of coversation asked:

"Uncle, don't you think it would be rather foolish for me to marry a girl who was inteccectually my inferior?"

"Worse than foolish, Thomas," was the reply. "Worse than foolish, —impossible!" —Sucess Magazine.

A woman sometimes becomes "catty" because her husband barks at her.

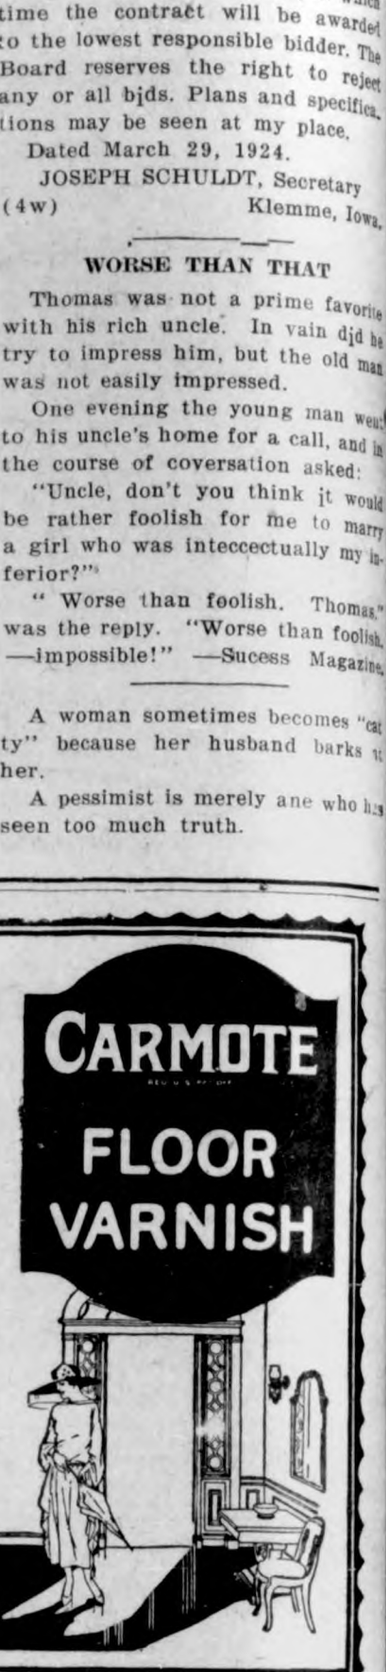
A pessimist is merely ane who has seen too much truth.

Stain and varnish at the same time

Floors, woodwork or furniture can be stained and varnished in one operation with Carmote Floor Varnish. Not only can you get the exact shade you wish—there are nine shades and Clear Varnish to choose from—but you preserve the full beauty of the wood, for these stains are transparent.

Carmote Floor Varnish is waterproof, walkproof and ready to apply. It goes on quickly and easily.

G. G. Seney



Spring is here. The time is here to get your machinery in shape for the Spring Work. We have the tools and machinery to do almost any repair job—Stormizing Cylinders, Burning-in Bearings, Fitting Piston Pins and Rings.

We weld the break of Day!

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Cheese--

A FOOD FOR THE GROWING CHILD—

CHEESE, like milk, is a most valuable food for children. Good, wholesome cheese gives the necessary lime and phosphorus for sturdy growth.

Nowadays you can buy good cheese without any guesswork—we buy only the very best cheese manufactured and it comes from spick and span, clean factories, where only the purest of materials enter into the finished products.

You will always find a full line of nice fresh cheese at our meat market along with our choice line of meats and other products.

KRAFT CHEESE—
CREAM CHEESE—
PIMENTO CHEESE—
LIMBURGER CHEESE—
BRICK CHEESE—

FRESH FISH—We are receiving nice, fresh fish for every week-end. You will enjoy a meal of fine fish—try them today.

J. P. Larsen & Sons

The Klemme Meat Market

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Seney's Drug Store — Phone 4009.

Klemme, Iowa

News of Goodell And Vicinity

enneth Griggs is quite sick with sles.

esse and Dole Chase are sick the measles.

ttorney Ramsay of Garner, was siness caller here Tuesday.

rs. amar was a Belmond caller, sday.

rank Quigley, Sr. visited relativ- t Mason City Monday.

rs. Sumner Trumbell, of Klem- visited her mother Friday, last.

arl Sadberg, who has been spend a few days at home, returned to s, Tuesday.

y Griggs was a business caller ort Dodge this week. He also ed relatives there.

rs. Gus Wenzel, of Belmond, is e to stay with her mother for le.

artin Kearney, who has been ing relatives in Williams the past week, returned home Monday.

S. G. Fuller, who has been visiting relatives in Canton, South Dakota, returned home Saturday.

Miss Olive Butts will return Tuesday to her school work at the Minnesota University in Minneapolis.

Mildred Fuller injured her eye and has been going to Belmond to have Dr. Steele treat it.

The High School play that was to be given Friday night, "Putting It Up To Patty," was postponed until Tuesday. A historical show will also be given.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thada have been in Rochester, Minnesota, the past week, on account of the sickness ad death of Mrs. Thada's mother.

Fred Schuldt went to the Steele hospital Thursday to undergo an operation on his foot, which was frozen this winter and later develped gangrene.

Mr. Nutty, of Britt, the county agent, and a lady from Ames, were here Thursday to meet with Mrs. Geo. Luick and Wilmer Burke to arrange for a baby and mother's clinic to be held here in the near future.

T. O. Letch was elected mayor; Chas. Conklin, assessor; Walt Mason, Nels Chelsvig, Jack Zeilie, Tony Ahrenkeil and S. S. Matson as councilmen in the election Moday.

Tony Hood had the misfortune to scald his face the past week. While cutting wood down in the grove he decided to have some hot tea, making it in a tin can. The lid blew off and the liquid went over his face.

Dorothy O'Krueg, Louisa Ahrenkeil and Louise Mason, who came home from Coe College Thursday, will return Tuesday to continue their school work.

Editorial

That which serves all the people should be paid for by all the people. That which is paid for oy all the people should be under the control of all the people.

These are self-evident truths. We act by them when we build a Panama Canal, set aside and care for an area of natural beauty as a public park, give land to a transcontinental railroad, establish and run an Army nnd a Navy, and conduct a Postal System.

The entire Nation pays to build and maintain a Navy to protect New York and other seacoast cities. The people of a great many States neaer see a battleship during their entire lives. There is no valid objection to this, because everyone realizes that the capture or ruin of the seacoast cities would affect the entire Nation.

The same principle holds in the construction of a national system of good roads. The whole Nation will benefit vastly from good rads—in increased prosperity, better education, and developement of natural resources.

The money spent on rivers is all paid by the Federal Government from general taxation, yet this traffic is only a small fraction of the traffic along our improved highways, and its benefits are proportionately small.

To the farmer, a hard road means more than any other Federal activity. A good road makes it possible for him to run his farm or dairy at a much higher rate of production and greater profit, gives him and his family more of the comforts and the luxuries of life, helps his children to get a better education, and raises the entire standard of living.

Why contend that roads, a public utility for all the people, should be left to different groups of people to develop, when Postal Service, Army, Navy, and the projected superpower system are admitted to be national affairs?

Spring and fall would be the finest seasons of the year if it were not or taxes.

BOURBONISM AS A CAUSE OF STRIFE

BY EVANS WOOLLEN,
President, Trust Company Division, American Bankers Association.

Evans Woollen

The continuance of property-right and the existence of efficient government in this land of universal suffrage depend upon the dominance of sound public opinion. More than anything else we need understanding. We need understanding between those who have and those who have not, between "the better off" and the "worse off"; understanding between those who employ and those who are employed. Understanding between all these is possible but understanding is impossible between the Bourbon and the radical. Accordingly, a contribution on our side to understanding is the avoidance of Bourbonism.

Some of us may well re-examine our conception of property rights. If those who own property and those who are charged with its conservation recognize this fact: That property-right is best defended, not on grounds of tradition, but on grounds of usefulness, there is a chance, through open-minded discussion, for understanding between them and those who vote. On the other hand, with the Bourbon who holds that property-right, unchangeable in all its aspects, is not discussable in any aspect there is no chance for understanding. There is chance for clash. He promotes the class consciousness that is his danger and the danger of those whose business it is to conserve property into the future

Is it possible, in the second place, that some of us may well re-examine our conception of free speech? Thus also we may help, each his mite, to avoid misunderstanding between Bourbon and radical. Some of us would find ourselves assuming free speech as the right of those who accept the political and social institutions in which we believe. Whereas the fact is, of course, that free speech, short of incitement to law-breaking, is the right of all of us. It is the right of the communist and the socialist as much as it is the right of you and me. If we who believe in our political and social institutions recognize this fact: That free speech, short always of incitement to law-breaking, is the right of those whose ideas we dislike not less than of those whose ideas we like, we promote understanding.

Indeed, let us go farther and say that we had better abate somewhat of our zeal for repressive legislation. Government by jailing can put out the communist and the socialist, but cannot put down communism or socialism. That is the task of those who think straight and discuss generous-mindedly.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON WHAT WOMEN SHOULD KNOW ABOUT MONEY

"When you are as old as I am," said Aunt Emmy to her niece Molly, "I hope there won't be so many widows like Mrs. Strong losing every cent through ill advised investments and having to take any sort of a job to keep body and soul together."

"Why not, Aunty?" inquired Molly. "Widows and orphans have always been victimized."

"They don't need to be," replied Aunt Emmy. "Every day better investment advice is open to women. Now-a-days the banks make their depositors feel that they can go to them with their financial problems. The more women have to do with banks the wiser they become about the disposition of their money. In time women will know enough to look carefully into every investment before they venture, and to question any promises to pay more than a reasonable return. It takes an experienced financier to judge if investment is safe. Women as a rule do not understand the tragedies that lurk around money. They love nice things and naturally want them so they are often led into foolish investments and speculations because they seek to gratify their wishes quickly. The so-called 'sure thing' that pays enormous dividends is usually sure loss.

"Don't think, Molly, that I mean that women should not seek to get the most out of their money. They should. But the way to get the most is to keep it safe. They should seek advice. Properly and conservatively invested at six per cent and the interest re-invested each year, money will actually double itself in twelve years. If you take $5,000 and lay it away it will be only $5,000 to the end of time. If you put it into an ill advised investment—it might all be lost over-night. But if you get good advice and put it to work in a good investment it will be $10,000 in a dozen years."

"I don't think I ever realized so clearly before that women ought to know more about money—I thought it was only for men," said Molly.

"Women are often left on their own resources," said Aunt Emmy. "If they talked with their banks more there would be fewer Mrs. Strongs."—ANNE B. AYMES.

EASTER CANDY--

We have a fine line of EASTER CANDY in stock now for your selection—Easter Eggs, all sizes, Bunny Rabbits, Baskets, Novelties, etc.

We also carry a nice line of Box Candy at all times. Try our bulk Chocolates and other fine candy.

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

PROCEEDINGS OF THE TOWN COUNCIL

February 25, 1924.

Regular meeting of the Town Council, of Klemme, Iowa, held in Mayor Gruetzmacher's place of business with all members of the Council present except Valentine Josten.

Motion made and seconded that the following bills be allowed:

Thomas C. Hake, Salary for February	$ 75.00
First Nat'l Bk., freight on fire exts.	$ 8.68
Buffalo Fire Appliance Co., 18 Fire Extinguishers	$203.60
Etchen Auto Co., Labor and supplies on fire truck	$ 25.05
Matt Parrott & Sons, Register Leaves	$ 2.52
A. H. Ridder, Labor on fire truck	$ 11.50
Standard Oil Co., 60 gal. gas	$ 11.10

Bills allowed.

Motion made to adjourn.

A. J. KUDJE,
Clerk.

Every man born in America has the right to run for president and it seems as though a good many of them are exercising the right this year.

Many a bride would feel anything but flattered if she realized how tired her new husband had become of restaurant cooking.

One trouble seems to be that the girl who has the initiative to make a Leap Year proposal will turn out to be a back seat driver.

Maybe you can't fool all the people all the time, but when they are not being fooled the wise ones often pretend that they are.

A man is but a worm of the dust—he comes along, wriggles about a while and finally somec hicken gets him.

Fame fades and money vanishes, but reputation remains—until it is investigated by a Senate committee.

Somebody could make a hit with the tired business men by starting a school whose graduates would know how to spell.

AT THE IDLE HOUR

The Saturday night program for this week will be a very good one.

Gladys Walton in "The Wild Party" is the main attraction on the program.

"Mandarin" is the Universal comedy for Saturday night.

Two reels of "Fighting Blood" is also shown.

Action of the house of representatives, in accepting Henry Ford's Muscle Shoals proposition, should not be passed by withut notice here f the stand taken against that action by Cyrenus Cole, representative from this district. Mr. Cole's long training as an editorial writer nev-r was better applied than in the bi- ing address delivered by him i th house last Saturday, when he aros to announce his opposition to th bill in which body he is a member, after all its grandstanding in the so-called protection of the people, vit- ed to lease to Ford, for 100 years on a million dollar valuation, a prop erty that cst the government one hundred milljons. —Cedar Rapids Gazette.

Mr. Late-Hours came home the other night even later than usual. He got into the hall all right but stumbled on the f rst stair and his wife came to the top of the stairs with her torch, which she flashed on him.

"Is that you Henry?" she asked curtly.

He drew himself together with all the dignity he could summon. "And who else might you be expecting at two o'clock in the morning?" —Everybody's Magazine.

Evening Up

He—Is she progressive or conservative?

She—I don't know. She wears a last year's hat, drives a this year's car and lives on next year's income.

Who remembers— When 3,000 miles was considered good mileage for an automobile tire?

"Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam.
Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home.

True friends seldom demand favors.

The New Oldsmobile

A SIX AT $795.00.

I want to announce that I have been appointed the Dealer in this territory for the OLSMOBILE line of Cars. Anyone in the market for a high class car at a reasonable price can call me for further information or a demonstration.

Oldsmobile—A Product of General Motors

C. W. Wiles

Phone 75 — Klemme, Iowa.

Ford

Starter and Demountable Rims, $85 extra

$295 F. O. B. DETROIT

Order It Today!

The spring rush for Ford Touring Cars has started

Arrange to place your order at once, so that you will not be obliged to wait for delivery.

Ford Motor Company
Detroit, Michigan

If you do not wish to pay cash for your car, you can arrange for a small payment down and easy terms on the balance. Or you can buy on the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

GREIMANN MOTOR CO.

Ford

CARS · TRUCKS · TRACTORS

F-60C

Spring Footwear

LATEST STYLES FOR WOMEN CHILDREN and MEN

Our Spring line of new Footwear is complete. You will find the latest styles, colors and varieties here for Women, Growing Girls, Men and Children.

We have some very good styles in low cuts for Ladies in the new Aredale Brown and Jack Rabbit Grey, Black Suede in various strap designs.

We have some dandy low-cuts and oxfords for Growing Girls that are "nifty."

Our line of Children's Shoes and Slippers is complete. Our children's shoes give the most wear for the money.

The new Oxfords for Men are here. We have a large line in various styles. Look 'em over fellows.

Ladies and Gents Hosiery To Match Your New Footwear

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

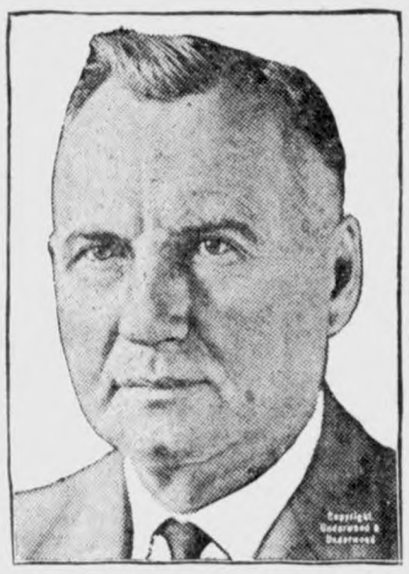
Prominent People

Great Minds Move in Same Direction

Sig. Guglielmo Marconi has announced that finally he has succeeded in harnessing the waves set in motion by radio energy. The inventor of wireless communication after two years of research can concentrate and direct these electrical waves much as light is controlled and directed in a searchlight.

With certain new controls at the sending station Signor Marconi can direct his message towards a specific country and none other can listen in. So far he has not been able to confine the waves at one station, but he is confident that he will achieve this. His discovery, he believes, will give greater speed in transmission and more secrecy, with less expensive stations operating at smaller cost. The discovery may revolutionize wireless and the horrors of modern warfare may be increased by the use of intensive waves to blow up warships and forts and to work destruction generally. At the same time Nikola Tesla, inventor and pioneer in the radio field, announced his perfection of a system of transmitting power without wires. By this means, he said, it would be possible to transmit power for the operation of ships and aircraft, illumination and machinery to the greatest terrestrial distance with smaller losses than now obtain in relatively short metallic circuits.

Cameron of Arizona and Grand Canyon



United States Senator Ralph Henry Cameron of Arizona (portrait herewith) is interestingly sketched in the Congressional Record by Representative Louis C. Cramton of Michigan, member of the appropriations committee in charge of the Interior department appropriation bill. Cramton was asking the restoration of the Hayden amendment—introduced by Hayden of Arizona and thrown out in the senate through the opposition of Cameron of Arizona—which, he said, sought to improve the approach road to the Grand Canyon National park to eliminate private ownership of Bright Angel Trail and "to eliminate private interests that now by opposition, intrusion, hostility and violence handicap and prevent proper development of the park for public use and safe enjoyment of the Canyon by the public."

These "private interests," it appeared, were Cameron himself, and Cramton told how the secretary of the interior had just sent a request to the attorney general that he "take appropriate action to protect the interests of the United States and the public in the Grand Canyon National park."

Cramton went on to tell how Cameron—in the old days when he was sheriff of Coconino county and the forest service was in charge of the Grand canyon—had plastered the strategic points of the present national park with lode, placer and millsite claims since declared invalid by the United States Supreme court; how Cameron was competing with the federal government by trying to secure a lease of the Bright Angel Trail. And he added:

"I do not hesitate to say that so crafty, overreaching a contract as that sought by one individual at the expense of his own community, to say nothing of the rights of a nation, that were sought to be imperiled thereby, marks its proponent as strangely lacking in civic pride and insensible of the common welfare."

Mundelein and Hayes Made Cardinals

It was a remarkable scene when Archbishops George W. Mundelein of Chicago (portrait herewith) and Patrick J. Hayes of New York sailed from New York the other day for Rome to be consecrated cardinals—collaborators of the pope and princes of the church. Thousands of New Yorkers were on hand to wish bon voyage to their old-time playmates—little Georgie Mundelein and little Pat Hayes. The bands played "The Sidewalks of New York" and "That Old Gang of Mine."

Both men were born on the East side of New York, within a block of each other. They went to the same school and grew up together. Cardinal Mundelein was born in 1872 of poor German parents. After attending the parochial schools and the Academy of the Christian Brothers, from which he was graduated in 1887, he entered Manhattan college, where he remained for two years. Under the direction of the bishop of Brooklyn he was sent to Urban College of the Propaganda in Rome and was ordained a priest in 1895.

Within two years of his return to Brooklyn he was named chancellor of the diocese, after which he became titular bishop of Loryma and auxiliary bishop of Brooklyn, and in December, 1915, was promoted to the see of Chicago, succeeding Archbishop James E. Quigley.

Mustapha Kemal Abolishes Caliphate

Mustapha Kemal Pasha (portrait herewith) has given new proof of the fact that he is supreme in Turkey. The Turkish national assembly of Angora has declared the caliph deposed and the caliphate abolished. A few years ago one might as well have dreamed of the Roman senate announcing the pope dethroned and the papacy no longer existent. But now the action of the Turkish Nationalists does not come as a surprise. In November of 1922, Mustapha Kemal and his assembly abolished the sultanate and, for the first time since the death of Mohammed, in 632, separated the sultanate from the caliphate—severed the temporal powers of the ruler of Islam from the religious.

On that eventful occasion which marked the end of what had once been the most complete combination of state and church the world had ever known—Sultan Mohammed VI was sent into exile. His son, Abdul Medjid Effendi, was elected caliph. And now the caliph has been dropped. Mustapha Kemal, leader of the Nationalist movement and president of the republic of Turkey, sends him off, bag and baggage,

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

What the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

Consolidated school districts which, under the present law may receive state aid from two sources, were given a choice between the two by the adoption of the Gilchrist amendment to the code revision bill on school districts. The house, which previously passed the bill, amended it to restrict consolidated schools to normal training state aid. Under the present law, consolidated schools which qualify may receive state aid at a flat rate of from $250 to $500 a year under one section of the law and state aid of $750 a year from the normal training fund.

The senate ways and means committee, which approved the bank tax amendment by a split vote, turned down an amendment of Senator Tuck of Taylor county, proposing to permit the deduction of mortgage indebtedness from assessed value of farm lands. The amendment was later offered as an individual one. This amendment has been before the legislature for twenty years. Deduction of mortgage indebtedness is limited to one-fourth of the assessed value in the pending amendment.

The workmen's compensation law, which has been one of the most hotly contested bills in the special session, was passed by the house without a dissenting vote. The bill, with the more than 100 amendments, which had been redrafted for the second time by the house judiciary committee, passed in a few minutes without the crossing of a "t" or the dotting of an "i". The bill is regarded as quite satisfactory to both labor and employers. It makes some changes in the present law; but they are corrective in the main.

A legalizing act which has been the storm center of a factional fight in Sioux City, and which has the distinction of being one of few such measures to cause a long fight in the legislature was passed recently by a vote of 31 to 8. The bill, introduced by Senator Stoddard of Woodbury county, legalizes the issuance of $152,000 in bonds and certain warrants against the police equipment fund of Sioux City for the completion of payment for the city's new $418,000 fire station and police station.

A spirited fight developed in the lower house over the public health bill which consolidates the board having to do with the administration of matters pertaining to health. Under the code bill, the board of osteopathy and chiropractors are placed under the direction of a nominal head. Heretofore the osteopaths and chiropractors have been allowed to maintain boards not associated with the medical association. By the change adopted, the board will be placed under the head of the board of health.

Inmates of Iowa's penal institutions will build and repair the highways of the state if an amendment to the house bill relating to charitable, correctional and penal institutions of the state, offered by Representative Potts of Lee county, are adopted. Potts proposed to employ convict labor in the construction of roads and the materials used in construction and also in manufacturing goods, such as clothing and supplies, used in the various institutions of the state.

Representative Dewar's amendment to the primary election law, passed in the house, did not make school elections and city primary elections fall on the same day. This amendment does just the reverse. It changes city primaries to Tuesday, making city primaries fall on Tuesday of the week following school elections, which would be held on Monday, except in every seventh year, when they would both fall in the same week.

The Dewar amendment to the primary election law, adopted in the house provides that school elections and city primaries can never fall on the same day in the future. Instead of making them all on the same day as was earlier reporter, the amendment, which still must be approved in the senate to become a law, makes city primaries fall on Tuesday instead of Monday and school elections on Monday.

Much doubt was expressed by members of the legislature whether any budget legislation can be passed at this session. The house is almost certain, leaders declared to kill the bill entirely, if the senate adopts the Smith substitute. Several senators expressed the belief that, although they favor the Smith amendment, the only way to get a start on budget legislation is to adopt the house bill as it came to the senate.

Inquiry into the method of establishment and subsequent conduct of the state house cafeteria by the executive council was touched upon but not fully started at a meeting of the retrenchment and reform committee of the Iowa legislature. Senator Carl W. Reed of Howard county ,chairman of the committee, said at the close of the session.

The lobby in the state house between the house and senate chambers of the legislature hummed a whole day with informal debates on budget legislation.

A joint resolution providing for a recess of both houses from April 4th to July 1st was introduced in the senate by Senators Mantz of Audubon, and Banta of Delaware. These senators represent the group of legislators who believe code revision can be completed April 4th, and that the new code will be in sufficiently finished shape that it can be finally adopted by July 1st.

ASSEMBLY IS URGED TO PASS GASOLINE TAX

County Supervisors Request Two-Cent Levy To Aid Roads

Passage of a gasoline tax law at the special session of the legislature was urged on the ways and means committee of the senate by a committee from the state association of county supervisors. The county supervisors at their state convention at Ames unanimously adopted resolutions indorsing the gasoline tax.

The text of the supervisors resolution reads:

"Whereas the people all over the state of Iowa are demanding materially better roads than we have at present, and,

"Whereas the present road laws do not provide methods for raising sufficient funds with which to finance the cost of said roads, and,

"Whereas we, the members of the boards of supervisors of the various counties of the state of Iowa, in convention assembled, believe that the proper and equitable method by which to raise money with which to further finance the construction and maintenance of such roads is through the passage of a gasoline tax law.

"Therefore be it resolved that we ask the state legislature to pass a law levying a tax of 2 cents per gallon on all gasoline sold in the state of Iowa.

"Be it further resolved that one-half of the money so raised be given to the primary road fund and one-half in the various counties, and,

"Be is further resolved that the said money be distributed to the various counties of the state in the same proportion as the automobile money of the state is now apportioned.

"Be it further resolved that we ask the legislature that under no consideration should any of the present existing road levies be repealed."

The bill asked for by the supervisors is very similar to the one passed by the legislature last year, which was vetoed by Governor Kendall.

The water power and dam site bill makes construction of a dam in any navigable or meandered stream unlawful unless a permit has been secured from the executive council. A permit fee of $100 and an annual inspection fee of not less than $25 is required to be paid under the bill. By agreement this bill will be considered in the senate. A similar bill passed the house last year but was killed in the senate in the closing hours of the session.

The legislature is beginning to wonder just what will be the best plan to follow in adopting the new code. There are three methods open. It is to finally enroll all the code revision bills passed at this session and pick up the sections of the code not touched in revision. If this were done the new code would become effective ninety days after the final adjournment of the session, under constitutional provision.

A fight on the teachers' minimum wage law, which has been looked for in the house, was avoided in the senate when the minimum wage law revision bill was indefinitely postponed without opposition or a record vote. Postponing the bill in the senate prevents the house taking up the bill, as postponement in either house amounts to killing a bill. The bill did not materially affect code revision, it was said.

It is doubtful whether any gasoline tax measure will be taken up bfeore the present session adjourns. The time is short for one thing, stanch advocates of the tax said. The house ways and means committee has already voted against drafting a gasoline tax bill, and Governor Kendall's veto of the bill passed last year is still to be considered.

Postponement was voted by the senate on the elections committee bill to exempt from the operations of the Tuck law this year those counties in which the general fund will not be sufficient to meet the expenses of the state primary. By delaying action, the senate hopes to obtain authentic information from the counties desiring exemption from the law.

The legislature has disposed of 141 of the 211 code revision bills, and the other sixty-nine bills are traveling between the two houses waiting the passage by one or the other, agreement on amendments or agreement on conference committee reports.

The house voted down an attempt to raise the standard of requirements for dentists. The change proposed that no dentists graduated from a school of lesser requirements than a state university should be allowed to practice in Iowa.

The senate has passed one bill—the department of agriculture measure—while the house refused to concur in senate amendments to the treasury department bill and adopted a resolution designed to speed up the special session.

The legislature is getting up steam in hopes of finishing code revision before the middle of April. Practically all the bills which have been in house committees have been reported out and few bills remain in senate committees.

The legislature is by no means a unit in believing that code revision is so nearly complete, and there are many members who do not think that the new code bill will come from the binders before January 1, 1925.

The amendments to the motor vehicle laws, disposition of the proposed new anti-trust law, the budget bills the proposals of Senator Cessna and Representative Ontjes to permit the state to engage in selling gasoline, the public health bills, and several other important measures, which were already before the legislature, promise to consume a great deal of time.

Compare the Quality —compare the price

Compare the quality of Monarch Cocoa with the finest imported brands. Compare the quality of Farm House with the best American Process Cocoas. The prices of Monarch and Farm House speak for themselves—about half of what you would expect to pay for such high grade cocoas. Always buy Monarch and Farm House. Get quality cocoas at money-saving prices.

38¢ Quality for 70 years 19¢

MONARCH DUTCH PROCESS COCOA

FARM HOUSE AMERICAN PROCESS COCOA

Grocers: Monarch coffee, catsup, sweet pickles, condiments, fruits, vegetables and other products of our kitchens are sold only by Regular Retail Grocers who own and operate their own stores. We never sell to chain stores.

REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Manufacturers and Importers
Established 1853
CHICAGO BOSTON NEW YORK PITTSBURGH

Pigeons Most Reliable Carriers of Army Orders

From time immemorial pigeons have been used to carry messages, especially in war. In spite of the vast advances in means of communication, the feathered messengers still remain one of the most reliable means of sending word from exposed places, and the United States army has a special pigeon branch of the signal corps.

An idea of how valuable pigeons are in war may be had when it is realized that the United States signal corps had 470,000 birds overseas in the recent war and detailed 8,800 men to care for them. Many of the veteran birds—some of them actually battle scarred—are still in service. Down at Camp Vail in New Jersey, not far from New York, four hundred homers are housed and in training for use in emergency.

Aspirin

Beware of Imitations!

BAYER

Demand

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians over twenty-three years for

Colds	Headache
Toothache	Lumbago
Neuritis	Rheumatism
Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proven directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

Hopeless

Extravagant persons are never conscious of their failing unless they suffer from remorse on accouunt of it.

Land Granted to Lafayette

In 1803 Lafayette was given [illegible] different grants of land along the [illegible] sissippi river, and in 1824 he [illegible] granted one township which [illegible] prised 11,520 acres of land in [illegible] Florida. Tallahassee is now locat[illegible] on this site. It is impossible to [illegible] the locations of the other grants, [illegible] the land was not surveyed at [illegible] time except by special surveys, [illegible] were indicated by special [illegible] marks.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combi[illegible] Treatment, b[illegible] local and internal, and has been suc[illegible]ful in the treatment of Catarrh for [illegible] forty years. Sold by all druggists. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O[illegible]

One Million CERTIFIED Baby Chicks for 1924

Baby chicks—per 100, Leghorns, $12; Bar[illegible] red Rocks, Reds, $14; White or Buff Rocks, [illegible] $16; White Orpingtons, $16; assorted, $[illegible] Guaranteed 95% alive delivery. Pure bred laying strains. Save time and order direct from this advertisement. References, Mer[illegible]chants and Illinois Nat'l Bank, Peoria, Ill.
FREE CATALOG
THE F. & H. HATCHERY, Dept. 42
The Old Farrow-Hirsh Co., Peoria, Illinois

FOR OVER 200 YEARS

haarlem oil has been a world-wide remedy for kidney, liver and bladder disorders, rheumatism, lumbago and uric acid conditions

GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES

correct internal troubles, stimulate the organs. Three sizes. All druggists. Insist on the original genuine GOLD MEDAL

East and West

The proofreader on a small [illegible] western daily was a woman of [illegible] precision and extreme propriety. [illegible] day a reporter succeeded in [illegible] into type an item about "[illegible] Brown, the boy who was burned [illegible] West End by a live wire."

On the following day the re[illegible] found on his desk a frigid note [illegible] "Which is the West End of a b[illegible]

It took only an instant to [illegible] "The end the sun sets on, of co[illegible]

Children Cry for "Castoria"

Especially Prepared for Infants and Children of All Ages

Mother! Fletcher's Castoria has been in use for over 30 years as a pleasant, harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups. Contains no narcotics. Proven directions are on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it. The kind you always bought bears signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher

CONSTIPATION

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills —then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. They cleanse your system of all waste matter. Regulate Your Bowels. Mild—as easy to take as sugar. Genuine bear signature— Brent[illegible]

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price

WRIGLEY'S

Chew it after every meal

It stimulates appetite and aids digestion. It makes your food do you more good. Note how relieves that stuffy feeling after hearty eating.

Whitens teeth, sweetens breath and it's the goody that L-a-s-t-s.

SEALED in its Purity Package

WRIGLEY'S DOUBLEMINT CHEWING GUM PEPPERMINT

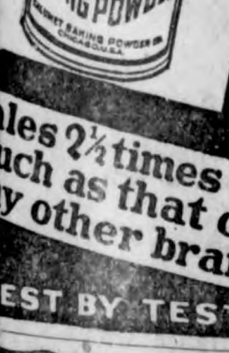
E4

A Good Guess

Being short of copy, a Florida editor turned down a volume of Poe's poems and copied "Annabel Lee." This he put on the copy hook and took his departure. His writing was so bad that the compositors had to call a conference. They made out the words "Annabel Lee" and "home by the rolling sea." These words were all they could decipher.

"I guess it's a society item," decided the foreman. "Just say Miss Annabel Lee has returned to her home at West Palm Beach."

CALUMET Economy BAKING POWDER



35 years of unfailing service on bake-day has made CALUMET THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

Retains its great leavening strength in every climate to the very last spoonful. Always dependable and pure.

les 2½ times as uch as that of y other brand

EST BY TEST

Waiting for You —a NEW Salad Delight

With a bottle of New Style Yacht Club Salad Dressing in the house a new salad delight awaits you. Yacht Club has been a favorite for 35 years. It is mild, rich and creamy—always ready—always good. Get a bottle today from your grocer and write for the Yacht Club Manual of Salads—a really practical book on salad making—sent free.

YACHT CLUB New Style SALAD DRESSING

Tildesley & Co 24 N. Clark St. Chicago, Ill.

Irrigated California Land—Grow vegetables. Sacrifice price $2,200. Loar 300. E. Dauphine, Gen. Del., Dayton, O

U., DES MOINES, NO. 14--1924.

The Red Lock

A Tale of the Flatwoods

By DAVID ANDERSON

Author of "The Blue Moon"

Illustrations by IRWIN MYERS

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

THE FOOTPRINT

SYNOPSIS.—On the banks of the Wabash stand Texie Colin and Jack Warhope, young and very much in love. Texie is the only daughter of old Pap Simon, rich man and money-lender. Jack is the orphan bound boy of Pap Simon who had foreclosed a mortgage on the Warhope estate. At first Texie and Jack talk sadly of Ken Colin, the girl's missing brother. Then Jack says that in ten days his servitude will be over, that he will ride out into the big world to seek his fortune. Both know what that will mean to them. Texie and Jack talk of the red lock of "Red Colin," inherited by Ken. And Jack says he's coming back as soon as he finds gold in California. Then arrives the new preacher, Rev. Caleb Hopkins. Pap Simon introduces the villagers to the new preacher, who was a college mate of Ken. At supper at the Colin home the preacher tells how the boy killed a gambler and disappeared. His father attributes Ken's fall from grace to his red lock of hair. Then Pap Simon has a sort of stroke, brought on by reading a letter from Ken, "somewhere in New York," who curses his father on his death bed. A postscript by another hand says he is dead. At the village store and post office Loge Belden, a newcomer, says he saw the new parson with his arm around Texie. Jack licks him, shoots a pistol from his hand and makes him say he was mistaken. The preacher and the villagers go fishing. Jack discovers the preacher carries a six-gun.

CHAPTER V—Continued.

—7—

"Mud haul—" he muttered; "is it far?"

"Mile 'r so," grunted Uncle Nick, as he stooped over the seine, helping spread the meshes straight.

"I really should not remain away from the study so long," the preacher pursued. "I must have time to collect my thoughts somewhat, as I understand I shall be expected to make a few remarks at the—festival tonight."

Uncle Nick leered around at him.

"An' them remarks will be few, parson. I 'low y'u nee'n' t' worry y'ur head about them remarks none. Ther'll be another scent in the air t'night."

The old man winked at Counterman, trudged off down the sandbar to the live box, dragged it up along the edge of the stream and hitched it to the stern of the skiff. He had hardly finished when Jack and Counterman came with the seine.

The preacher came last, his eyes still drawn irresistibly up the river.

"Is there not some—other place?" he asked, reluctantly taking his seat in the bow, "some—nearer place?"

Uncle Nick studied him out of his deep-set eyes. He was a guest, in a

Guest and Preacher Though He Was, He Was Still a Tenderfoot.

sense, and he was—the preacher. The old man's face became thoughtful; he glanced at Counterman.

"Thar's Grassy bar," he muttered; half questioned, "an' thar's Yaller branch—"

Counterman spit out into the river—a preliminary that usually had to be attended to before he spoke.

"Grassy bar," he repeated thoughtfully, peering over his shoulder at the preacher in the bow, as if he too had caught something of Uncle Nick's considerations. "Hit's better f'r spearin'. An' Yaller branch"—he glanced up at the sun; swept sky and river with his puckered one eye—"t'day's too glary. Hit ain't deep enough. No, I'm f'r Mud haul. They'll be scrooched in thar thick as bees around a haw tree."

The decision seemed final. The preacher glanced again up the river, and pulled the faded straw hat farther down over his head as if afraid of sunburn.

"Is it dreadfully—muddy?" he mumbled.

Guest and preacher though he was, he was still a tenderfoot. Counterman's raucous laugh exposed the huge wad of tobacco between his jaws. Nick took the unlighted pipe from between his lips, and his roar wheeled a wisp of sand snipe that happened at the moment to be glancing up the bar.

"Not as muddy as it—sounds," he chuckled, grabbing a match out of his trousers pocket.

That settled it. The preacher, apparently resigned to whatever further hardships fate might have in store for him, sat watching the shore line, with its witchery of lapping water, its bordering fringe of pebbles and white shells, draw slowly by.

The fishermen landed. The live box was hitched to a stake as before, the half-reluctant preacher left to hold the brail stick, while the others rowed out and around the fifty yards or more of murky water that lay between the point and the shore.

Hardly had the circuit been completed when it began to be apparent that Counterman's judgment would be amply justified.

The final haul proved to be much the best of the day. The good fish were dropped into the live box, the others tossed back into the river, and the fishermen set about preparing to return to the village. The brail sticks were united, the seine rolled up, and the woodsman walked up the bar for the boat.

He stooped over the craft, possibly recalling the circumstance of the six-gun concealed in the frock coat; laid his hand to the bow to push it off; straightened after a moment, walked some distance farther up the bar and stood gazing intently toward the narrow upper end of the arm of water where it disappeared under the overlapping branches of trees and tangled vines. Snugged away under the tangle, in a manner that must have made it practically invisible, except from that one point, lay a small houseboat.

A trifling circumstance enough—houseboats were common on the Wabash—but why there? The place was dark and dank, the bank boggy, and there was no spring short of Alpine island. The woodsman turned and motioned to his companions.

They had been watching him and at his sign came trooping up the bar—the preacher fagged and lagging behind—and gathered around him. Following the direction of his finger, they peered in under the overlapping trees.

Counterman grinned around at the others after a moment and jerked his thumb back toward the skiff.

"S'posin' we row up an' pay 'im a visit? I'd like t' see a man with sich an eye f'r a campin' place."

Uncle Nick tossed up his chin, grunted, and led the way down the bar to where he had beached the boat.

The preacher appeared to be considerably vexed at the further prolongation of a trip that was growing more and more irksome to him. It might almost have been imagined that a frown ruffled the studious primness of his brow. But as the skiff glided up the narrowing arm of dead water, he appeared to get himself in hand again. The frown disappeared and his air became that of a man only mildly interested in what went on about him.

There is little formality among men of the river and the woods—a fine enough delicacy, though, when big moments come. They brought the bow of the skiff up under the stern of the secluded little craft and climbed aboard.

There was both a fore and an aft door to the tiny cabin that occupied the whole mid-section of the deck, but no windows on either side. Both doors were heavily padlocked—a further proof of the owner's exclusiveness. On the dusty boards there were a number of footprints, some of them—curiously enough—made by a boot that must have been stylish, even dainty.

Uncle Nick leaned upon the railing of the forward deck and prodded his pipe, while the one-eyed fisherman gnawed himself a fresh chew from a sweaty plug that he clawed up out of his overalls pocket, the two of them generalizing on the circumstance of stylish boot tracks, no windows and padlocked doors.

The preacher had joined in the discussion and was just telling them, in his half-bored drawl, that it might be some naturalist taking unusual pains to preserve his specimens, when Jack Warhope, still standing in the skiff and holding it to the stern of the houseboat, picked up one of the shiny boots from the preacher's stack of clothes in the bow, and, hidden from the others by the cabin, pressed the heel of it down hard beside one of the heel-prints on the dusty after-deck.

The two prints coincided perfectly.

CAPTER VI

Mettle of the Minister.

The Buckeye schoolhouse stood on the extreme west side of the village. A plain one-room building of the general type of the period—paint gone; weather-beaten; no belfry; no ornamentation; three windows on each side; a chimney at the back; a battered door in front.

The "festival" in celebration of the close of school was a distinct event at Buckeye.

The pupils' desks had been removed and placed around the walls. A long table extended across the rear. The rest of the room was clear, except for the great box stove that stood in the center of the floor, rusty red, and huge enough and deep enough to swallow a stick of cord-wood whole.

Everything was free, each family that sent children to school bringing a well-filled basket. And such a feast as the housewives of the neighborhood furnished forth could have been found nowhere else in the land except there in the great Flatwoods that lay, warped and wild, along the north bank of the upper Wabash.

Uncle Nick was there—which meant that things were not likely to drag, for he was the wisest, wittiest, and, as he himself said, "the no-accountest" man in the Flatwoods—a free-and-easy, happy-go-lucky, catch-as-catch-can sort of man.

He had been a great hunter and border ranger in his time, having come to the Wabash country when it was still the frontier and the Indians made it dangerous. Nearly forty years before, a man in his pride and prime, he had been one of Harrison's most trusted scouts, and had borne an honorable part in the grim and deadly struggle that took place in the early dawn upon that swamp-bound point of woodland on the Tippecanoe.

Aunt Liza, the "other half" of Uncle Nick, was there too. But if he had an oversupply of jollity in his disposition, she had a far greater oversupply of grimness. Aunt Liza was the one person in the world on whom Uncle Nick's wit fell flat.

In all matters pertaining to their few acres of bottom land, and in their cabin home a little way up Eagle Hollow road, her word was law.

Uncle Nick was perched upon one of the desks, his back to the wall, his eyes twinkling merrily, already an interested audience around him roaring at his drollery, when Jack Warhope pushed his way through the jam of men and boys at the door and joined the aimlessly sauntering crowd in the schoolhouse.

He Was Raking Over His Scant Stock of Words for One That Would Fit the Occasion.

The Reverend Caleb Hopkins arrived, as he had promised—he and Texie and Mrs. Mason. He had been anxiously awaited, since it had long been the custom to have the minister sit at the first table and launch the "festival" with a blessing.

Zeke Polick—likewise by ancient custom, a sort of self-appointed master of ceremonies—his sharp hatchet face scrubbed shiny with home-made soap perfumed with sassafras, pounced on the preacher and hurried him to the head of the table, with Widow Mason on his right, Miss Martin, the teacher, on his left, and as many pupils as possible lined up along the sides of the bounteous board.

The preacher's remarks were short—simple; concise; every sentence packed with thought; every gesture alive with grace. No speaker could have asked a better audience. He had been well heralded and expectation was at keenest pitch. And no speaker ever better improved his opportunity. The speech ended while the audience was still hungry to hear more—a trick that many a less brilliant speaker might well copy. He turned back to the table and raised his hand. The two long rows of youngsters stood in awkwardly decorous expectancy. The low tones of the solemn grace fell softly impressive; the minister resumed his seat; a deep breath swept down the two rows of hungry urchins; and—the "festival" was on.

A good length of the candles in the windows had burned away when Jack, sauntering aimlessly in the crowd, found himself, for the first time that evening, face to face with Texie, where she leaned over Mrs. Mason's chair.

The girl looked up and smiled. He was raking over his scant stock of words for one that would fit the occasion—words being about the hardest things he had to reckon with—when the young preacher, suave and affable, by odds the most popular man in the house, joined the group.

Through the mind of Jack Warhope flashed a comparison between the preacher and himself. The comparison showed dead against him. For the first time in his life he was half ashamed of his ungainly clothes, of the great limbs, the massive chest and shoulders—the "six-foot-three" of bone and brawn upon which the Flatwoods had exhausted its utmost imagination, its ultimate romance, when it bestowed the title: Big Jack.

"The preacher slowly raised an arm and pointed toward the open door.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Your New Home

should be made artistic, sanitary and livable.

These walls should be Alabastined in the latest, up-to-the-minute nature color tints. Each room should reflect your own individuality and the treatment throughout be a complete perfect harmony in colors.

The walls of the old home, whether mansion or cottage, can be made just as attractive, just as sanitary, through the intelligent use of

Alabastine

Instead of kalsomine or wallpaper

It is absolutely necessary if you expect Alabastine results that you ask for and secure Alabastine.

Avoid kalsomines under various names and insist on the package with the cross and circle printed in red. That is the only way to be sure you are getting the genuine Alabastine.

Alabastine is easy to mix and apply, lasting in its results, and absolutely sanitary.

Alabastine is a dry powder, put up in five-pound packages, white and beautiful tints, ready to mix and use by the addition of cold water, and with full directions on each package. Every package of genuine Alabastine has cross and circle printed in red.

Better write us for hand-made color designs and special suggestions. Give us your decorative problems and let us help you work them out.

Alabastine Company

1655 Grandville Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.

Telephone Voice

Tests prove that the human voice can be transmitted by telephone clearly only when the speaker's mouth is close to the transmitter. To speak four inches from the instrument is equivalent to lengthening the line more than 200 miles; two inches away, 128 miles. Lower-pitched tones are transmitted better than those of a high pitch.

Don't Forget Cuticura Talcum

When adding to your toilet requisites. An exquisite face, skin, baby and dusting powder and perfume, rendering other perfumes superfluous. You may rely on it because one of the Cuticura Trio (Soap, Ointment and Talcum), 25c each everywhere.—Advertisement.

Travel Fast on Skis

Great speed can be attained by experts on skis. It is possible for such persons to travel at the rate of a mile in a minute and a half. Leaps of seventy-five feet are no longer unusual. One of the greatest leaps ever made was by Regnar Omtvedt of Chicago in 1916—a distance of 192 feet 9 inches.

Burning Skin Diseases

quickly relieved and healed by Cole's Carbolisalve. Leaves no scars. No medicine chest complete without it. 30c and 60c at druggists, or J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill.—Advertisement.

Largest Saw in the World

The largest saw in the world measuring 108 inches in circumference and weighing 795 pounds, has been installed in a lumber mill at Hoquiam, Wash.

Experimental Arithmetic

Teacher (to boy's mother)—Why, what's the matter, has Johnny got the toothache?

Angry Mother—No, Johnny hain't got the toothache. His suffering comes from your fool teaching. You told him he was to tell you how long it would take him to eat twenty apples if it took one and a half minutes to eat one apple—and he's got stuck on the fifteenth.—Boston Transcript.

WOMEN CAN DYE ANY GARMENT, DRAPERY

Dye or Tint Worn, Faded Things New for 15 Cents.

Diamond Dyes

Don't wonder whether you can dye or tint successfully, because perfect home dyeing is guaranteed with "Diamond Dyes" even if you have never dyed before. Druggists have all colors. Directions in each package.—Advertisement.

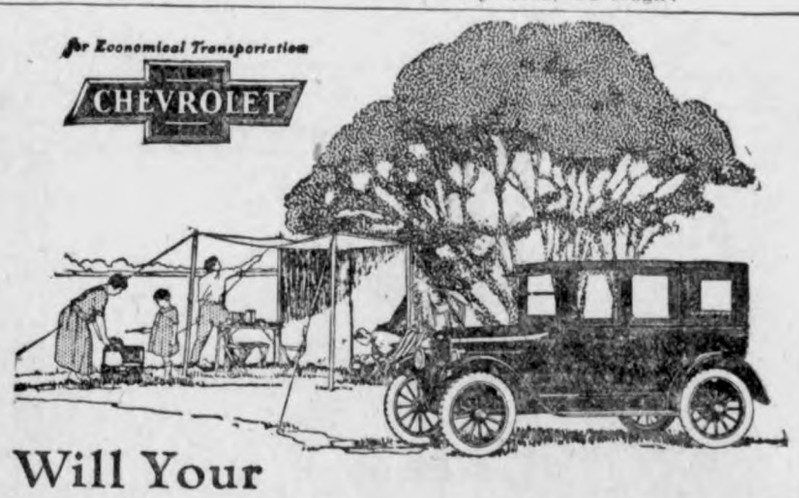
Had a Tough Hide

The play was "Julius Caesar" and no expense had been spared in the production. But the effect of the assassination scene was spoiled when the trick dagger refused to work. As Brutus frantically jabbed the unfortunate Caesar with the obdurate weapon a boy in the galley remarked in a calm, interested voice:

"My word, 'e's tough!"

for Economical Transportation

CHEVROLET



Will Your Family Be Happy This Spring?

Suppose you have definitely decided to buy a Chevrolet this Spring.

That does not necessarily mean that you are going to get it.

Anyone posted on conditions in the automobile business will tell you that thousands of families are going to be unable to get cars this Spring. That has been true almost every Spring for years, but the shortage in April, May and June, this year, is going to be more serious than ever before.

The only way to be sure of a Chevrolet this Spring is to order it NOW.

If you do not want to pay for it in full at this time, any Chevrolet dealer will arrange terms to suit your convenience, so you can pay as you ride.

You will be surprised to learn how easy it is to pay for a Chevrolet.

Will Chevrolet Advance Prices? Ten makes of automobiles have already advanced in price. In spite of increased costs of materials, the Chevrolet price is still the same. How long—we cannot guarantee. To make sure of your Chevrolet at present low prices

BUY NOW!

Chevrolet Motor Company, Detroit, Mich.

Division of General Motors Corporation

Prices f. o. b. Flint, Michigan

Superior Roadster	$490	Superior Sedan	$795
Superior Touring	495	Superior Commercial Chassis	395
Superior Utility Coupe	640	Superior Light Delivery	495
Superior 4-Passenger Coupe	725	Utility Express Truck Chassis	550

Fisher Bodies on Closed Models

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

Volume 2—Number 20. Thursday, April 3, 1924.

The fore part of the week we had the pleasure, that befalls a lot of us sometimes, of helping with the washing. Now, there is a job we thought we'd like when it was all done, but you know we found it was'nt half bad with a good Lindsay under-drive washer, in fact it was almost fun—no work at all, didn't even have to turn the wringer—it did itself. We have some of these machines on hand now at a very attractive price. Long or short bench single tubs, double tubs, engine or electric drive. The engine drive is convertible to electric drive.

Be cheerful! Even the wind whistles.

Its just as we have said, "Klemme is just as big as Chicago according to size. We have a better variety of endgate seeders than you ever saw at one place in Chicago.

Did you ever hear of an honest-to-goodness brand new heavy built gang plow for $70.00 these years? It's one just like the picture. The first man with the seventy "smacks" in cash gets this gang. We have a few other plow bargains too in sulkys and gangs.

We have one Cultipacker left to give away for a year. If you're interested come in and get the particulars. Must be farming along a main traveled road.

Many who do not build—have the place—that's a lot!

Did you ever stop to think, the genuine repairs made in the same mold that the original part was will fit the hub? The only place in town that you can buy genuine I. H. C., McCormick-Deering or John Deere repairs or parts is at our store. We buy those that come from the original mold. Buy the parts that belong to the machine and enjoy satisfaction.

Wash-Day--

Can Be Made Much Easier--

We Have Everything For Wash Day:—

Wash day is easy when you buy your wash day needs of us. First we want to tell you about VOSS Washing Machines, they are mighty good and we have a full line in both hand and power, electric and in single and double tub. Other items—

COPPER BOILERS, extra heavy.
CLOTHES BASKETS, the dandy kind.
IRONING BOARD, also irons, electric irons
WRINGERS, TUBS, LINES, Etc.

In fact we cannot name our line of Wash Day Supplies, but we can tell you that we have just what you want or need and we always carry a variety to choose from.

Buy your wife a VOSS Washer—it will make wash day a pleasure instead of a long, hard grind. Make Wash Day a Voss Day!

Jacobs & Son
"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

PATRONIZE YOUR HOME STORES. TRADE WITH MEN YOU KNOW

Check Pride

Do you take pride in the checks you send out? They are your personal representatives in the business world and the bank name they carry are evidence of your business sagacity.

The name of this bank on your check is an evidence of good judgement. You can take pride in it. It's sound and always dependable.

We'll welcome your commercial or checking account no matter what its size, and will serve you to the best of our ability.

First National Bank
"The Bank for Everybody'."

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

The new telephone directories for printed soon.

For Sale—Oliver typewriter No. 4 —Emil Patet. 2c

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lubbe Albers Friday night.

APRON SALE at Wellemeyer's Saturday. 1c

Boyd Hake began work at the Greimann garage Monday.

Kadaks—all kinds. G. G. Seney's Drug Store. tfc

Druggist G. G. Seney was at Garner on business Monday morning.

Mrs. Sumner Trumbell visited at Goodell last Friday between trains.

A baby was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Reuben, west of town, Friday night.

Marvin Weigmann, of Garner, was a business caller here Monday.

For Sale—No. 1 Timothy hay. Henry Buseman, Phone 910. tfc

Martin Jensen is building a new garage at his place this week.

Buy an APRON for 1 CENT at Wellemeyer's Saturday. 1c

Harry Buss was up from Goodell Monday on business.

Eggs for hatching—Large, dark red R. C. Rhode Island Reds. A. J. Schoenwetter, Garner route. 4wp

The Morningside College Glee club will sing here April 17th. Watch for further announcements and details.

"Dad" Kelly and August Katter came over from Garner Tuesday to look after business here.

I do all kinds of Plumbing and Heating work. R. E. Quintus, Garner, Ia. tfc

Mrs. Henry Schuldt, Sr., is having her house re-decorated this week by Carl and John Suckow.

For Sale—Buff Orpington Eggs for setting. Also have old seed corn yellow for sale. Peter Trampel. 4c

With every APRON bought at Wellemeyer's Saturday we will give you the second apron for 1 CENT.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Keraus, of Garner, came yesterday for a week's stay at the W. C. Keraus home.

August Lau came home from Minneapolis last week, where he has been receiving treatments. He is feeling much better.

At the Garner town election, D. D. Ross was elected mayor. Mr. Ross is well known in Klemme.

For Sale—several tons of good hay in barn. Call on or phone 209, Roy Schaefer, Garner route. 1p

For Sale—Manchu Soy Beans, $3 per bushel, in 20 bu. lots at $2.75. per bu.—G. L. Grosz, Meservey. (4)

Mrs. Tom Blank went to Belmond Thursday and brought her mother to Klemme for a few days visit.

Mr. Peter Trampel returned to Klemme Thursday after a visit with relatives at Kamrar, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Buss and baby of Goodell visited Klemme friends Sunday.

Wallace Darrah, candidate for supervisor, of Kanawha, was calling on the voters here yesterday afternoon.

Now! Malted Milk at our fountain —G. G. Seney Drug Store. tfc

Ed. Jacobs, Sumner Trumbell and Dr. D. P. Anderson attended Masonic lodge at Garner last Thursday evening.

Albert Barz, R. Schlawin, Will Katter, Dick Bamman and Joe Schuldt took in the auto show at Mason City last Friday.

"Zip" McCullough has been "off his feed" the past week and has been feeling pale under the gills. He has hired a barber to run the shop while he is recuperating.

Mrs. Charlie Luick went to Belmond Tuesday noon for a visit with her mother, Mrs. J. W. Brooks, and her sister, Miss Laura Brooks.

A 9½ baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Carpenter March 27 at the Bill Johnson home, parents of Mrs. Carpenter. The little miss is named Veola Vivian.

Dr. Barber, of Mason City, came over Sunday for consultation regarding the illness of Walter Lau.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bridges went to Dows Monday on business.

Ralph Blank and children, of Estherville, came Monday for a visit with Klemme relatives for a week during vacation.

The Ladies Aid Society will postpone their regular meeting, which otherwise would have been held on next Thursday afternoon. No Ladies Aid meeting until further notice.

Dr. Zinn returned home Monday from Fort Dodge where he had been for an operation. "Doc" is feeling fine now and will soon be himself agai. We are glad to have him back again.

Fred Musfelt came over from his new home, of Clarion, Saturday to supervise the packing and shipping of his household goods which he shipped out in a car Saturday.

Walter Lau has been seriously ill the past week. Monday a nurse came over from Mason City to care for him. The latest reports are that he is gradually getting better which his many friends will be glad to hear.

Ernest Schuldt, Albert Yahnke and Gerald McCullough all left on Monday for Prairie Du Chien, Wis., where they expect to enjoy mud baths, or some kind of a boiling-out affair. We bet they will have a hot time alright!

A. Wellemeyer, L. Neese, E. J. Arnold and Herman Barz went to Garner Tuesday to attend the convetion of school presidents.

Don't forget John Waterman's sale Saturday. He has an ad in this issue—read it.

And while you are at it—read all the ads in this issue. There is news in ads as well as in this column.

There was no 'juice' to run the lights Saturday night and all day Sunday on account of the storm. The stores were lit up Saturday night lamps, lanterns and candles. The movies were put on the blink and the picture show was run Monday night.

Merchants who advertise in The Times have goods they are not ashamed to sell, they are quality articles and worth what you pay for them. That is the reason they talk to you every week through their ads in this paper. Read the ads and save money by buying from merchants who advertise.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Keraus are leaving today for a spring vacation and a visit with relatives at St. Paul, and Little Falls, Minnesota, and also at Aberdeen, South Dakota. Billy has the right idea; he takes a vacation in the spring and another in the fall. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus came over from Garner to keep house for the boys while Billy and wife are away.

The thing of first importance to youth is to remember that there never was a goose that laid golden eggs.

KLEMME MARKETS

(April 3, 1924)
(Subject To Change)

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN	.63
OATS	.38
BARLEY	.60
RYE	.60
HOGS	6.00—6.70
BUTTERFAT	.47
BUTTER (Creamery)	.47
EGGS	.16
HEAVY HENS	.16
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.15
LEGHORNS	.08
COCKS	.06
STAGS	.12
DUCKS	.10
GEESE	.08

When you need a plumber--

R. E. Quintus

Plumbing & Heating GARNER, IOWA.

PUBLIC SALE

As I am moving away, I will sell at public auction at my residence in Klemme the following household goods and other articles, on—

Saturday, April 5th

Sale Will Begin Promptly at 2:00 P. M.

The following goods will be sold regardless of price to the highest bidder:

1 Six-hole Monarch Range, almost new
1 Kitchen Cabinet
1 Colonial China Closet
1 Extension Dining Table, 10 foot
2 Small tables
8 Chairs
2 Bed steads
1 Dresser
Pool table, with balls, racks, cues, etc.
7 stands of bees, 3 are Italian in jumbo hives
20 10-frame supers for sections.
40 Rhode Island Red Chickens.
1 Garden plow, garden hose, tools, and many other articles too numerous to mention.

You are welcome to come and look over these goods at any time before the sale.

TERMS—All sums of $10 or under cash. Over that amount 9 months time will be given on bankable notes at 8 per cent interest.

J. W. Waterman

B. A. Reemstma, Auctioneer First National Bank, Clerk

Pretty Well Satisfied

"You look pretty well satisfied with yourself," a man said to his neighbor the other day. He got this reply: "I am, I'll tell you why."

"I used to carry my money around with me, sometimes had it hid in the house. I had insurance papers, deeds and other valuable documents and no safe place to keep them. It worried me. Finally I got to doing business with the Bank. Now my money is safe on deposit and my papers are in a deposit box there. It relieves me of a lot of worry. Why shouldn't I feel satisfied?"

State Savings Bank
Klemme Iowa

THE KLEMME TIMES

Twenty-eighth Year—Number 31. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, April 10, 1924. $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

MORNINGSIDE GLEE CLUB TO BE HERE APRIL 17

TWO KLEMME YOUNG MEN ARE MEMBERS OF COLLLGE SONGSTERS

"It's the songs ye sing
And the smiles ye wear
That's a-making the sun
Shine Everywhere."

The coming of the Morningside College Glee Club, of Sioux City, to Klemme on Thursday evening, April 17th, should be of specjal interest to all in this community. With the Glee Club are two Klemme young men, Earl Josten who sings in the baritone section, and Milto Schaper, who sings with the bass section of the young men's organjzation.

It was only through the efforts of local boosters that it was possible to secure the singers, and the fact that two local boys were members of the popular singers. As a rule the club only appears at the larger towns and cities and from this place they go to Minneapolis.

The coming of the Morningside College Glee Club, with it's twenty-five members, is the greatest attraction coming to Klemme in several years, and should be greeted by a packed house at the high school auditorium, where the concert will be given.

There will be songs for everyone, and the following program will inmate:

PART ONE

Opening Song	McCollin
Lullaby	Mozart-MacCollin
Medley	Original
Violin Solo	Selected
Quartet	The Senior's Farewell
The Cossack War Song	Moniuszko
The Long Day Closes	Sullivan

PART TWO

Prelude Symphonic — B. Romberg
a. Allegro Maestoso
b. Menuetto
c. Adagio Lamentabile
d. Allegretto
e. Presto.

Rendered by the Royal Gypsie Orchestra Under the Direction of Far- Huebentgossary I.

PART THREE

On the Chapel Steps	A Group
Swing Along
Spinning Song
Wake Miss Lindy
Venetian Love Song
Morningside Legend
Over the Ocean Blue
Life's Lesson
Alma Mater.
Paul MacCollin	Director
Mary J. Te Paske	Accompanist
Kucinski	Violinist

The Morningside College Glee Club has established for itself a unique place among similar organizations through the artistic merit of its work. It has gained the highest commendations from critics for its tone, finish, precision, shading, and ensemble.

The program of this season is in keeping with the high standard of the chorus singing which the club has set in past years. The best classical and folk songs of the nations are given a part jn the varied program which affords full opportunity to display the qualities which have won for the Morningside College Glee Club singers their high standing in the college musical world.

This company is composed of forty-four young men under the direction of Paul MacCollin, head of the Morningside Conservatory of Music. Each member of the organization is selected with a view to musicianship. Mr. Leo Kucinski, at present head of the department of violin in the Conservatory, accompanies the club as soloist. Mr. Kucinski has received much praise from critics for his excellent work on the concert stage where he has studied with some of the greatest masters of the art.

Mother, if father has his livestock over tank connected with the windmill it's time you quit pumping water for theh ouse.

Many a wife wishes her husband would be as handy about the house as he is about the car.

RENEW AGITATION TO DIVIDE KOSSUTH COUNTY

State's Total Would Be Increased to 100 if Largest County Became Two Counties

ALGONA— By virtue of a division of Kossuth county, Iowa's roll of counties may, before many years, reach the century mark. Althugh many attempts have been made in the past to divide Kossuth county and thereby give the state an even 100 counties, such attempts have failed to gain much headway because it was held that the population of Kossuth was not large enough to warrant a djvision.

With the advent of drainage and improved farm conditions, Kossuth has increased its population to more than 25,000, and it is held that inasmuch as many cunties have a population of only 10, 12 or 15 thousand, division should be made and thereby give the state an even 100 counties.

If agitation which is now under way, results in a divisjon of Kossuth a condition which has persisted for years will be eljminated. A line, broken only by Kossuth rounty, extends practically across the extreme north of Iowa and divides the uppermost tier from the second tier of counties. Kossuth stands out boldly as the only break in this line. Should Kossuth be divided, the djvision line would doubtlessly be declared to conform with the division line of the northern counties.

Kossuth county was at one time a part of Clayton county, the largest in the state's pioneer days. Divisions then placed Kossuth in Boone county. Boone was later divided into a number of counties and at that time Kossuth received her present bounarjes.

Change in county lines has not been an unusual thing in Iowa. Many coun an unusual thing in owa. Many counties which were once part of the state county roll, are no longer in existence and countless changes have been made in boundry jines of other counties. If Kossuth should be divided, it would doubtlessly mark the last chapter county division history and would establish the county at an even hundred forever.

Within a month after systematic tuberculin testing of the breeding-cattle herds was undertaken in Burt county, Nebr., every owner showed his interested in the work by having his stock tested. A recent report to the United States Department of Agrjculure from Doctor Hays, Federal inspector in charge of Nebraska, cooperating with representatives of the State Department of Agriculture, says that there were 1,651 herds contajning more than 20,000 cattle tested for bovine tuberculosis in four weeks. Of this number 346 reacted as infected. These reactors were shipped for immediate slaughter under Federal inspection at Omaha.

Weather Forecasts

The Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture is frequently asked how far in advance weather conditions may be reliably foretold. It is generally known among meteorologists that the forecasting of weather more than a few days in advance is attended by great uncertajnty, and for this reason no national weather service in any country attempts detailed forecasts of the weather for more than a week in a lvance. Beyond a week the forecasting of weather is attempted with out a reliable and scientific basjs therefor.

In the milk-utilization campaign carried on in Benton county, Iowa, during 1923, attention was largely directed to the home consumption of milk, but 14 townships were interested in cheesemaking as a phase of mjlk utilization. About 900 lbs. of cheese were made in the county, according to a report received by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

NO SUBSTITUTE

By Maud Frazer Jackson

We have substitutes for butter,
We have substitutes for lard,
To invent some cheaper fuel
We have long been trying hard,
We have substitutes for coffee,
And substjtutes for eggs.

There is imitation leather
On our couches and our chairs;
Imitation drug store blushes
On her cheecks the flapper wears.
There's an artificial fir tree
An the artificial wreath;
There are wigs when scant the tresses.
There are imitation teeth.

But with our cute contrivings,
Our near wool and silkateen;
For the stuff sucess is made of,
There's no substitutes I ween.
Does you talent run to sonnets
Or to carpentry—don't shirk,
There's no substjtute discovered
To replace good old Hard Work.

HAVE YOU $4,274? .THAT'S PER CAPITA WEALTH OF IOWANS

WASHINGTON, — Details of the wealth of several mid-western states at the close of 1922 were made public today by the census bureau.

Iowa's wealth was $10,511,682,000 an increase of 37.2 per cent over 1912 with a per capita wealth of $4,274, an increase of 24.1 per cent.

Minnesota's wealth was $8,547,958,000, an increase of 58.9 per cent with a per capita wealth of $3,443, an increase of 37.4 per cent.

Nebraska's wealth was $5,320,075,000, an increase of 44.2 per cent with a per capita wealth of 4,004, an increase of 32.4 per cent.

FIGURES SHOW INCREASE IN USE OF MILK AND CREAM

The American appetite for mjlk and cream goes on increasing. A survey recently completed by the bureau of Agricultural Economic, United States Department of Agriculture, tion of fluid mjlk for 1923 was 53 shows that the per capita consumpgallons, which figures out to 1.16 pints daily for each person. In 1922 the per capita consumption was 50 gallons; and the year before it was 49 gallons.

The statement has often been made hat farmers who produce milk for the market sell practically all of jt and do not use as much in their own homes as do city people. The survey showed the contrary—that on farms with producing cows more milk and cream were consumed than by city families. The farm figures were obtained from 30,000 individual farms and represent the most comprehensive survey of the kjnd ever made. The city figures were obtained principally from boards of health and covered 300 cities having a total population of about 25,000,000 persons.

The average daily consumption of mjlk and cream on farms where producing cows were kept was found to be 1.78 pints per person in 1923. On farms having no cows or on nonproducing cows were kept, the average daily consumption was 0.775 pint. The city average was 0.87 pint.

PRESIDENT CHANGES NAME OF WESTERN NATIONAL FOREST

President Coolidge, on March 11, changed the name of the Battlement National Forest in Colorado to the Grand Mesa National Forest, announces the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture. The new name describes the principal topographic feature of not only a part of the national forest but the entjre mountain section of that region.

Grand Mesa proper comprises the very important southwestern arm of the national forest upon which the principal irrigation water of the vast farming region surrounding it is imponded in artificial reservoirs and discharged during the periods when needed for agrjculture. It is also a most attractive recreation and fishing grounds for the population of the surrounding valleys as well as the traveling pppulation from the more distant points.

TIMELY GARDEN TIPS

By Hortjcultural Extension Service, Iowa State College

A small garden seed drill is a good investment. Rows should then run, where possible, the full length of the garden.

To have peas for the entire season, plant Alaska for early use and a good mid-season variety at the same time, and late varieties about two weeks later. Late varieties should be trajned up with wire. Smooth varieties of seed are good for early use and wrinkled varieties for later use. Graders is a good variety, but not very prolific. Little Marvel is popular with growers. Stratagem is tall growing and good for late planting. It produces a superior product, but has to be trained up.

For cultivation, wheeled hoes do twice the work of a hand hoe with no more energy.

Strawberry beds should be planted every other year—not on wet land. Unless new varieties are desired, it is safer and more economjcal to use the home supply. Only young plants should be saved for resetting. Early spring is the best time for planting. Soil should be pressed firmly about the roots. The plot should be cultivated immediately after setting out he plants.

The vegetable garden plot should not have to compete with nearby trees.

Onions, peas, radishes, lettuce, spinach, beets, turnips, carrots, kohl rabbi, parsnips and salsify may be planted early, with little danger of freezing. When properly prepared these will be found the most healthful and profitable foods the garden provjdes.

SISTER OF PAUL GREISEMER WAS BURIED AT GARNER LAST FRIDAY

Mrs. Ed. Steil, of Garner, died at a Mason Cjty hospital last week on Wednesday and funeral services were held at Garner Friday.

Mrs. Steil was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Greisemer of Garner, and was also the only sister of Mr. Paul M. Greisemer, of this place. Mr. Ed Steil, her husband, has charge of the Milwaukee elevator of Garner.

Mrs. Steil had been failing jn health for several years and her unjmely death came as a shock to her many friends and relatives.

Mrs. Steil was a fine lady and was held in high esteem by all who knew her and her loss will be keenly felt.

Alex Greisemer, a brother of Paul and Mrs. Steil, died about nine or ten years ago so that now Paul is the only child left in the Greisemer family.

We extend heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family in their sorrow.

Ever Hear How "O. K." Came to be Used? Here's Explanation

The expression "O. K." is a colloquialism. There are many explanations for jts origin, but most of them center around Andrew Jackson. One explanation is that General Jackson borrowed the abbreviation from the Choctaw Indians, with which tribe he was well acquainted. That tribe and the Chickasaws had no verb corresponding to "be." Instead an emphatic word, "okeh," closed positive statements in those languages. "Okeh" meant "it is so," or "it is right."

Another explanation was offered in 1909 at the time of the death of Cornelius Kendall of Chicago. Mr. Kendall was the youngest son of Orrin Kendall, from whose initials the use of "O. K." is said to have sprung. Orrin Kendall, as the story goes, was a member of the Chicago board of trade battery in the Civil war. He also was a member of the firm of O. Kendall & Sons, whose bakery was jn Chicago. The firm furnished bread and crackers for the army and on the crackers the initials "O. K." The crackers are said to have been the only ones that soldiers relished, and their expression 'These are all right' later developed into "These are O. K."

DARKTOWN MINSTREL COMING OFF FRIDAY EVENING

OBITUARY OF GRANDMA BLANK

On Monday morning, March 31, 1924, Grandma Blank was called to her eternal home after having been an earthly sojourner for the greater part of a century. She died in the home of her son, Luppo Blank, near Klemme.

Mrs. Geeske Blank nee Fekkers, was born in East Fresian, Germany, November 20, 1835, where she grew up to maturity.

She was united in marriage to Mr. Ralph Blank when she was 23 years of age. Eight children were born to this union. Seven survive the mother. They are: Thomas of Hayfield, Iowa; George, who lives in northern Minnesota; Ralph, Taalkeus and Luppo, of Klemme, Iowa; Mrs. Maas of Lake Mills, Iowa; Mrs. Tom Goodrjch, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. All were present at the funeral but Ralph. One sn died in infancy.

About 34 years ago she came to America with her family and resided for a short time at Belmond, Iowa. After this they moved to Hayfield some 33 years ago. There they lived many years. Their home was broken up 12 years ago when her companjon was taken from her. After that she made her home for the most part with her son Luppo. Here she found a congenial hme during her declining years. Most tender care was given her, especially as she failed following a stroke of apoplexy about seven years ago. It behooves us to make mention of the devoted ministratjns tendered her by her granddaughter, Miss Grace, during these years. This was spoken of by others and appreciated by all who have a sympathetic heart.

Her son Luppo opened to her his home after that her own home was brken, and in turn his home was pervaded by her motherly spirit when such was needed there.

She suffered much during her last years and her own oft stood helpless by her side only too willing to do more for her if only this had been possible.

Besides her children she leaves forty-five grandchildren and numerous great grandchildren. Also one sister survives her, Mrs. Luke Wessels of Meservey, Iowa, who likewjse attended the funeral.

Funeral services were conducted on Friday afternoon at the Methodist Church by the pastor. Interment was made in the Klemme cemetery.

A MILLION TO BURN

"A Million to Burn." That is the title of the pjcture at the Idle Hour Saturday night, with Herbert Rawlinson playing the star role.

The story has to deal with a man with plenty of money trying to run a large hotel unlong lines unheard of before. The peculiar situations that arjse create many queer and funny circumstances. Finally the venture goes to far—the help get a bunch of queer notions and the hero has to settle matters with two good fists.

The comedy is a regular scream, entitled "Down in Jungle Town."

Also two reels of "Fighting Blood" is shwn.

You will like this show.

The Short Circuit Court

A chap was arrested for assault and battery and brought before the judge.

Judge (to prisoner): "What is your name, your occupatjon and what are you charged with?"

Prisoner: "My name is Sparks, I am an electrician and I am charged with battery.

Auto Lessons

S. P. C. A. Agent: "I have a report that you're in the habit of shooing yu poultry into a field and then deljberately to run them down with an automobile.

Farmer: "The idear is that I've lost more'n a dozen this past summer by sudden death on the high way, so I'm training the rest of them to be auto shy."— Judge.

MINSTREL WILL BE GIVEN ON FRIDAY EVENING OF THIS WEEK

Will Be The Big Attraction Of The Year; Put On By Athletic Boys For Benefit

The Darktown Minstrels, all local talent of the Klemme High School is going to be the most talked of hme talent show ever put on in this town.

The boys taking part in the black-face amusement event have worked their parts out to perfection and the result is that if you don't want to break a few ribs laughing hen you don't want to see this show.

The black-face comedians are all artjsts in the parts they have been assigned. You will want to hear the funny jokes of the end-men and the interlocutor; the lastest in ragtime songs, specialties, etc.

In addition to the Minstrel they are also putting on a one-act black-face comedy that is a rjp-sorter for comical situations.

The proceeds of the show will go toward financing athletics, s come to the Minstrel this Friday night, April 11 and you will be boosting for the school athletics.

Sport News

The first base ball game of the season, April 18, is to be played on the local field between Crystal Lake and Klemme high schools. A week from Friday.

Both the boys and girls basket all teams have ordered their letters.

Sophomore Corner

The Agriculture and Botany classes experimented in grafting, Friday afternoon. The students brought apple twigs which they grafted.

The English II class have finished the poem, "Gareth and Lynette." They are now reviewing.

Junior Class

The Junior class held a class meeting Monday night. They have been trying to get their class rings this year so they can wear them during heir Senior year; but at the present date they have failed to agree on which ring to order.

General News

Monday morning Miss Stacy took pictures of the students who are taking part in the Senior play, "Clarence."

The High School have greatly appreciated the talks of some of the Klemme businessmen. Mr. F. A. Arnold, who gave a talk on "Thrjft" a wek ago Monday. Mr. Wellemeyer on "Good Salesmanship" last Friday morning. Mr. Griesemer gave a talk Monday morning.

Mr. Stephens, who is a representative of the American Sunday school association, gave the high school a brief utljne of his work Tuesday morning of this week.

Nearly all of the students who were absent on account of sickness have returned to school.

The Physics class have started to dig into current electricity, which seems very difficult to understand.

The Public Speaking class is still practicing the Senior class play, "Clarence," which will prove excellent. Miss Stacy is supervising the play.

Four Native Iowans In Cabinet As Organized

Ohio may be the "Mother of Presidents" but that state does not far overshadow Iowa for the latter is the "Mother of Cabinet Members," at least as far as the present administration is concerned.

Four of the present Coolidge cabinet are native sons of Iowa. They are Secretary of Agriculture Wallace; Secretary of Commerce, Hoover; Secretary of Interior, Work; and Secretary of Navy, Wilbur.

BANKERS REVEAL M'CRAY DEBTS

$1,250,000 Charged Against Books on March 1, 1923, Witnesses Testify.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Seventy Indiana bankers testified that Gov. Warren T. McCray had banking indebtedness of $1,250,000 on March 1, 1923. Attorneys for the state declared that this amount would be raised appreciably when other bankers take the stand.

E. W. Opman, representing the Harris Trust and Savings bank of Chicago, was one of the witnesses. Mr. Opman testified that the governor owed his bank $100,000 on March 1, last year.

The examination of the bankers consumed all of a morning session and practically all of an afternoon. A long procession of bankers passed to and from the witness stand, to be examined briefly on the paper their institutions held against the governor, who is on trial for grand larceny and embezzlement.

The governor's financial statement for the March period upon which the bankers were asked to testify showed liabilities at $537,000.

It had been understood that the state would rest its case, but the prosecutor announced that more witnesses had been summoned. They will appear later. The new witnesses will be handwriting experts, who will examine notes which are alleged to have been forged.

Several additional debts of Governor McCray were revealed. They follow:

Gary State bank, $15,000, direct.

First National, First Trust and Savings, First Calumet Trust and Savings and the Indiana Harbor National bank, all of Chicago, $32,000, direct.

People's Trust and Savings bank, Booneville, $5,050, direct.

Belgian Jury Condemns Ten Criminals to Death

Ghent.—A trial which surpassed all records in the history of Belgian justice has just been concluded in the eastern Flanders assizes with a verdict condemning ten men to death, seven to life imprisonment, five to 20 years, four to 15 years and one to 12 years in prison. The men were members of a band of 36 criminals who operated with practical impunity throughout Belgian Flanders in the period immediately following the armistice, profiting by the disorganization of the police at that time.

French Troops Seize 61 as Agitators in Ruhr

Paris.—French secret military police, reinforced by troops from the army of occupation, effected wholesale raids throughout the entire Rhineland and Ruhr, except the British zone at the Cologne bridgehead. They rounded up 61 alleged leaders of recruiting organizations who have been secretly giving youths and men military training. Large amounts of hidden firearms and munitions were seized, as well as much literature inciting the German civilian populace to enroll, train, and prepare for a war of revenge against France.

Says One Estate Growing Rate 100 Million a Year

Washington.—One estate in the United States is increasing at the rate of nearly $100,000,000 a year, Chairman Green of the house ways and means committee asserted in a formal statement replying to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's attack on the increased estate taxes written into the tax bill by the house. Chairman Green declined to name the owner of the fortune which, he said, was rising so rapidly, but there was no doubt he had reference to Henry Ford.

Bandits Loot Bank of $6,000; Kill Salesman

Bellmore, N. Y.—Six bandits held up four employees of the First National bank here, took $6,000 from the teller's cage and escaped in an automobile after shooting Ernest L. Whitman, bond salesman, who entered the bank as they were leaving. He died within a few minutes. The holdup was staged during lunch hour and pedestrians jammed the streets as the bandits sped away. They fired a volley at the crowd as they left.

Spanish Quake Moves Farms More Than a Mile

Madrid.—Most of the village of Monachil, ten kilometers from Granada, moved a distance of two kilometers (a kilometer is five-eighths of a mile) during the recent earthquake. Numerous curious legal problems have arisen among the farmers whose farms suddenly moved to new territory.

Bank Robber Confesses

Edmonton, Alberta. — More than $200,000 in bonds stolen in a series of bank robberies were recovered by provincial police as a result of revelations by "Smiling Johnny" Reid, twenty-six-year-old bandit.

Minnesota Bank Closed

St. Paul, Minn.—The state superintendent of banks ordered the Maple State bank closed, because of depleted reserves. The bank, capitalized at $15,000, had deposits of $443,000.

MRS. NETTIE M. CLAPP

Mrs. Nettie M. Clapp, Ohio legislator, is chairman of the committee of women for G. O. P. national convention in Cleveland.

H. F. STONE IS NEW ATTORNEY GENERAL

Former Columbia Law Dean Chosen by President.

Washington.—Harlan Fiske Stone, former dean of Columbia University Law school, was nominated by President Coolidge to fill the vacancy in the cabinet through the resignation of Attorney General Daugherty.

Mr. Stone received his education at Amherst and Columbia and was a schoolmate of Coolidge at the former college. He received his degree just one year after Mr. Coolidge.

President Coolidge told his political advisers that by naming Mr. Stone he was obtaining a $75,000 or $100,000-a-year man for a $12,000 job.

Mr. Stone has been on leave of absence from Columbia for more than a year. During that time he has been with the New York law firm of Satterlee, Canfield & Stone. He is a director of the Atlanta & Charlotte Air Line railroad and several other corporations. He is a Republican, but never has taken an active part in politics.

The selection of Mr. Stone doubles the representation of New York in the cabinet, the other member being Secretary of State Hughes.

Mr. Stone's resignation from Columbia, which was submitted when he obtained his leave of absence, was to have taken effect in June, at the end of the present scholastic year.

Senate Passes Bill Increasing Pensions

Washington.—A pension bill, which, it is estimated, will cost an additional $55,000,000 a year, was passed by the senate. The bill, virtually the same as the one vetoed by President Harding, is designed to remove inequities between gratitudes now paid veterans of the several last wars. A flat rate of $72 a month is provided for veterans of the Mexican and Civil wars, as compared with the present basic rate of $50. Allowance of $8 per month for each dependent, in place of $2 to $6, also is made.

January Inauguration Bill Reported to House

Washington.—The Norris resolution, already approved by the senate, proposing a constitutional amendment which would provide for the inauguration of the president and the vice president in January and for the convening of congress on the first Monday in January following election was reported by a house committee. A house committee had already approved a similar resolution presented by Representative White (Rep., Kan.).

Indians Bilked, Declares Oklahoma City Attorney

Washington.—How Harry M. Daugherty and Albert B. Fall, former cabinet officers, by inaction and silence, aided the Miller brothers of the famous 101 ranch in Oklahoma to defraud the Ponca Indians of half of a million dollars' worth of land, and possibly great fortunes in oil, came out before the Daugherty committee in the testimony of Herbert M. Peck, an attorney of Oklahoma City.

Wills $100,000 to Mrs. Wilson, Cuts Off Family

Richmond, Va.—Henry Bergheimer, aged Swiss watchmaker and reputed to be one of the most adept of his craft in America, died recently in Washington, leaving a will in which he cut off without a penny his son and daughter, and bequeathed to Mrs. Woodrow Wilson his entire estate. The estate, including life insurance, is said to be valued at almost $100,000.

Tough on Coconuts

Manila.—An earthquake that shook many tons of coconuts to the ground from trees was reported from the province of Tayabas, in northern Luzon. No serious damage was reported.

Appropriations Bill Passes

Washington.—The independent offices appropriation bill, providing $349,000,000 for the veterans' bureau and $300,000,000 for the shipping board, was passed by the house.

CALLS WEEKS IN AIRCRAFT FRAUD

Witness Hints at $50,000,000 Graft; Committee Asks for Documents

Washington.—Secretary of War John W. Weeks injected himself into the rejuvenated aircraft scandal in a manner that has caused amazement in the capital and has raised the question of broadening the powers of the Brookhart committee to include an investigation of the War department.

Mr. Weeks was requested to present to the committee certain reports which were taken two weeks ago from the brief case and desk of Thomas F. Lane, former legal adviser to the aircraft division of the War department.

These papers, Mr. Lane testified, were his private papers, copies of reports made by him in aircraft frauds during the last five years—frauds which he estimates at $500,000,000—and they form, he stated, "the final fulcrum to open the lid and turn the light on some darkness in the War department."

Capt. W. F. Volandt of the air service, who was accused by Mr. Lane of having "stolen" the documents, admitted on the stand that he had taken them, but claimed they were official files, and that, as Mr. Lane had been "fired" by orders of Secretary Weeks, the papers were government papers.

"Where are the papers?" Captain Volandt was asked.

"The secretary of war," he said, "has directed me to inform the committee that the papers are in his possession and that a subpoena will have to be served on him."

The committee ordered the papers submitted to its inspection at once.

William J. Burns Tells of Big Cabinet Row

Washington. — William J. Burns, chief of the federal secret service, moved into the center of the great gold mirror before which the Brookhart investigating committee sits. He gave evidence alleging interference with his department by Secretary Andrew W. Mellon in prohibition matters and Heber Votaw, superintendent of federal prisons and brother-in-law of the late President Harding, in stopping an investigation of the narcotic traffic in Atlanta prison before "higher-ups" were caught. Mr. Burns told of a clash in the cabinet which led former Attorney General Daugherty to order him to fire Gaston B. Means and keep his own hands off the enforcement of the dry law. He said Mr. Daugherty was very angry following the cabinet disagreement.

Bandits Kill and Rob in Chicago's White Lights

Chicago.—While theaters in the vicinity of Randolph and Clark streets were disgorging their throngs, three natty bandits hurried into the City Hall pharmacy at Washington and La Salle streets, killed a drug clerk, terrorized several patrons, broke open the safe, took $500, and then fled through the sidewalk crowds. The drug store is across the street from the city hall and little more than a block from the detective bureau and central station.

Polish Diplomat in U. S. Discharged Over Booze

Warsaw.—Dr. Venceslas Sokolowski, former first secretary of the Polish legation in Washington, who was recalled recently after the seizure of a large amount of liquor in his apartment, has been released from the diplomatic service after an investigation by the foreign office. Dr. Sokolowski was recalled after a raid on his Washington residence during the Christmas holidays and the discovery of alcoholic liquors estimated to be worth $50,000.

Farm Values Decline 19 Billions in Three Years

Washington.—Farm values have decreased $19,000,000,000 in the last three years, due to the deflation of farm lands following the unprecedented rise during the war boom. A report made public by a Department of Agriculture statistician makes the present value of the farms of the country $47,000,000,000, as compared with $66,000,000,000 in 1920.

Mrs. Anne Stillman Holds $8,000,000 Stillman Home

New York.—"By right of seizure," Mrs. Anne U. Stillman reigns over the $8,000,000 estate of her husband in Westchester county. The legal clause about "possession being nine points of the law" and a dozen police dogs maintain her on the 600-acre estate, and she intimates she would resist all efforts of the millionaire banker, James A. Stillman, to oust her.

Langley Pleads Not Guilty

Washington.—Representative J. W. Langley entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned in District of Columbia Supreme court on conspiracy charges in connection with alleged illegal liquor withdrawals.

Kellogg Boosts Waterway

London.—Ambassador Kellogg expressed the hope that the St. Lawrence waterway project would be realized. The remark was made in an address at a dinner given in his honor.

MRS. CURTIS D. WILBUR

The latest photographic study of Mrs. Curtis D. Wilbur, wife of the secretary of the navy.

U. S. GOVERNMENT MARKET REPORT

Washington.—For the week ending April 2.—FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Northern sacked round white potatoes, $1.25@1.35 in Chicago, mostly $1.05@1.15 at shipping points; Florida Spaulding Rose $13.50@15.00 per double-head barrel; Florida Bliss Triumphs, $4.50@4.75 per bushel crate in Cincinnati. Yellow varieties of onions, $1.50@2.25 sacked per 100 lbs. in consuming centers. Texas flat and round types cabbage, $50.00@70.00 bulk per ton leading city markets. $25.00@28.00 f. o. b. Florida Golden self-bunching celery, 10-inch crates of 4-8 dozen stalks, $3.75@4.50 city markets. Louisiana Klondike strawberries, 24-pint crates, $7.50@8.00 in Chicago. Northwestern extra fancy winesap apples, $2.00@2.50 per box.

LIVE STOCK—Chicago prices: Hogs, $7.45@7.50. Medium and good beef steers, $8.10@11.75; butcher cows and heifers, $3.90@10.25; feeder steers, $5.25@8.50; light and medium weight veal calves, $7.25@11.75. Fat lambs, $14.75@16.50; feeding lambs, $14.00@15.75; yearlings, $12.00@15.00; fat ewes, $7.25@11.75.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $25.00 Cincinnati, $27.00 Chicago, $18.50 Minneapolis, $26.50 St. Louis; No. 2 timothy, $24.00 Chicago, $16.50 Minneapolis; No. 1 alfalfa, $28.00 Chicago, $21.50 Minneapolis; No. 1 prairie, $15.00 Minneapolis, $19.50 St. Louis.

GRAIN—No. 2 hard winter wheat, $1.02 St. Louis; No. 2 red winter wheat, $1.14@1.15 St. Louis; No. 3 yellow corn, 75½c Chicago, 78c St. Louis; No. 3 white oats, 45½@46½c Chicago, 47¼c St. Louis.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, 40½c in Chicago.

High School Girls Cut Classes to Haul Rum?

Louisville, Ky.—An investigation of reports that certain Louisville high school girls had been "cutting" classes to use their automobiles for illegal transportation of whisky has been begun both by federal prohibition operatives and the city board of education. Reports that bootleggers had employed high school girls as liquor runners on a salary basis had been under way for several days.

Secretary Hughes to Visit England in July

Washington.—Secretary of State Hughes plans to go to England with the American Bar association in July as guest of the British Bar association. Whether he goes will depend wholly on the exigencies of the period, he said. As matters now stand, Secretary Hughes expects to be able to make the journey and is looking forward to it with much anticipation.

First Quarter Paid U. S. on Incomes 480 Millions

Washington.—March collections of income and profit taxes—the bulk of the first quarterly payment on last year's incomes and profits—aggregated approximately $480,000,000, about $17,000,000 greater than collections in the same period last year. Total payments for the year have been estimated at about $1,825,000,000.

Germany to Tax All Germans Who Go Abroad

Berlin.—The German cabinet approved a measure whereby Germans who have been overrunning Switzerland, Italy, and the Adriatic regions must pay 500 gold marks ($125) for permission to travel abroad, unless they can prove a medical necessity.

Digs Own Grave at 95, Then Dies of Apoplexy

York, Pa.—Edmund H. Kehlbaugh, ninety-five, who recently dug his own grave and had erected a tombstone on the burial lot, was found dead in bed by his daughter. Coroner L. U. Zech pronounced death due to apoplexy.

Pilgrims' Ship Is Burned

Alexandria, Egypt.—The British steamship Frangestan has been abandoned, on fire in the Red sea, and the 1,200 pilgrims aboard it transferred to the steamer Olan MacIver, which is proceeding to Port Said.

30,409 Yanks Rest Abroad

Washington.—Completion of all construction work on the eight American military cemeteries in Europe by May 30 was forecast in reports, showing 30,409 American war dead rest there.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

A big branch of the Corn Growers' association has been formed at Laurens.

The Bryant Paving company of Waterloo has been awarded a $79,000 paving contract for Cedar Falls.

The Audubon National Guard company was rated 90½ per cent, near the top of them all, by Captain Brown, inspector.

Governor Kendall has accepted an invitation to make the commencement address at Simpson college, Indianola, June 4th.

Ground has been broken for the new United Presbyterian church which will be built at Clarinda, at a cost of $60,000.

The annual spring migration of ducks has started at Muscatine. Many flocks are seen daily on their way to more northern breeding places.

The late J. L. Waite, former editor of the Burlington Hawk-Eye, left files of that paper containing history of the state since 1839, to the Burlington Hawk-Eye.

A Tribune reader in Sheldahl writes, "The susceptible youth capitulates to the queen of the ball room. The wise young man annexes the empress of the kitchen."

Although citizens of Morningside have complained to police that the children are flying so many kites that the hens are frightened and will not lay, the kites are still flying.

Taxes of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company in Iowa totaled $446,092 during 1923, according to records of the concern. Of this amount $162,868 was federal tax, it was said.

C. E. Hurst, president of the Iowa Farm Bureau federation, has been in Chicago seeking better shipping facilities for the Iowa farmer through negotiations with the American Railway association.

Gilbert Schuerman who lives northwest of Mount Pleasant said that he believed that inoculation was the cause of his getting a stand of red clover on a piece of land where he had failed before.

The new Jackson school building at Atlantic will cost $85,000. Twelve grades will be housed in this new school. In addition the structure will accommodate 400 persons in the large community room.

A new service for business and professional men of Des Moines, whereby accurate appraisals can be had on real estate in all parts of the city, has just been organized by the Des Moines real estate board.

Superintendent S. P. McNaught of the Iowa Anti-Saloon League has announced the purchase of a five reel motion picture drama which will show the evil effects of wine and beer on the human system.

Percheron horses consigned by county breeders brought a total of $3,171 at public auction in Marshalltown. Most of the offerings were mares, and an average price of $151 was paid by buyers.

The Hon. E. T. Meredith of Des Moines is being favorably mentioned as the possible nominee for President in the democratic ticket in case any one of the present candidates fails to carry the convention.

Des Moines citizens expended $6,704,975 during the year 1923 for the construction of new homes, garages and remodeling of houses and apartments, the report of the Des Moines housing commission indicates.

That at least one farmer of Marion county is not afraid to put his money into Iowa farm land, and still has faith in an increase in land values, was indicated by the sale there of a 240-acre farm at $300 per acre.

Invitations were sent out to every Shrine temple in North America to use Des Moines as a stopping place en route to and from the Imperial council meeting, which will be held at Kansas City, June 3, 4 and 5th.

The drive at Decorah, made for members of the Commercial club to renew and enlistment of new members and inside of two hours 165 had signed up and it is confidently expected this will be increased to 200.

The 250 members of the Maquoketa Valley chapter of the Izaak Walton league has planted wild grasses, marsh plants, etc., along the river, to furnish food for birds and to beautify the grounds. The stream is being restocked with game fish.

Construction work on the new Indianola High school will be started within the next two months and by January 1, 1925, the structure will be ready for occupancy. The school building will accommodate 500 pupils and will cost $175,000.

No longer can Iowa railway maps be procured free. The Iowa railway commission announces that the supply of maps had run out and will no longer be available, since there has not been an appropriation made for another printing.

Cooperation and legislation have helped the farmers of Iowa and probably will help some more, but first of all the farmer must look to himself to pull out of the hole, says Dr. C. L. Holmes, head of the department of agricultural economics and farm marketing, Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa.

WRIGLEY'S
After Every Meal
It's the longest-lasting confection you can buy—and it's a help to digestion and a cleanser for the mouth and teeth. Wrigley's means benefit as well as pleasure.

Spring Joys
Fresh Salads and
YACHT CLUB
New Style
SALAD DRESSING
What is better than fresh spring salads made with new greens and young, tender vegetables? Such salads are good and good for you—especially when made with New Style Yacht Club Salad Dressing. You can get the 35-year-old favorite at a good grocery store. Order today!

Tildesley
314 N. Clark St.
Chicago, Ill.

One Million CERTIFIED Baby Chicks for 1924
Baby chicks—per 100, Leghorns, $12; Rose red Rocks, Reds, $14; White or Buff Rocks $16; White Orpingtons, $16; assorted, $11. Guaranteed 95% alive delivery. Pure bred laying strains. Save time and order direct from this advertisement. Reference, Merchants and Illinois Nat'l Bank, Peoria, Ill.
FREE CATALOG
THE F. & H. HATCHERY, Dept. 42
The Old Farrow-Hirsh Co., Peoria, Illinois

Green's August Flower
The remedy with a record of fifty-seven years of surpassing excellence. All who suffer with nervous dyspepsia, sour stomach, constipation, indigestion, torpid liver, dizziness, headaches, coming-up of food, wind on stomach, palpitation and other indications of digestive disorder, will find GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER an effective and efficient remedy. For fifty-seven years this medicine has been successfully used in millions of households all over the civilized world. Because of its merit and popularity GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER can be found today wherever medicines are sold. 30 and 90 cent bottles.

MOTHER GRAY'S POWDERS BENEFIT MANY CHILDREN
Thousands of mothers have found Mother Gray's Sweet Powders an excellent remedy for children complaining of Headaches, Colds, Feverishness, Worms, Stomach Troubles and other irregularities from which children suffer these days and excellent results are accomplished by its use. They break up colds and regulate the bowels. Used and recommended by Mothers for over 30 years. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Trial package FREE. Address, Mother Gray Co., Le Roy, N. Y.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff—Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c. and $1.00 at Druggists
Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Calluses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

KEEP YOUR SCALP Clean and Healthy WITH CUTICURA

Foe of Whistling Fines
Angelo Gonzales owns a shoe factory in Mexico City and abhors whistling. When two of his employees got this recently and whistled at work Angelo discharged them. But according to Mexican papers, the labor commission decided that whistling was not sufficient ground for dismissal. Senor Gonzales had to pay his employees three months' wages compensation.—New York Times.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.
Sold by druggists for over 40 years
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

EGISLATIVE NOTES

hat the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

Revision of the code will cost Iowa ut $600,000, Representative E. P. rrison of Pottawattamie county the house in presenting his bill provide for publication of a new e every four years and to elimin- necessity of ever again holding code revision session of the legis- ure. A committee substitute for rrison's bill passed the house by a e of 76 to 0. The bill, in addition prescribing the form of publication the new code and for printing a new me at every other session of the islature, materially reduces the mber of codes to be distributed e. Harrison read from a tabula- of figures taken from the state itor's books the cost of revising code from the time of the last re- ion in 1897 through the present ses- with estimated costs of the ses- on a basis of a 130-day session ich would mean adjournment April h. This cost he gave as $589,- 88. The cost of distributing the essary number of free codes in the t twenty-six years, under the plan the Harrison bill, he estimated at 7,000.

More authority over insurance com- ies is conferred on the state in- ance commissioner in a substitute on fire and casualty companies, orted out for passage by the sen- insurance committee. Many of se proposals have been touched on the senate insurance investigation; the report of the standing insur- e committee is entirely separate m the investigation. Brokers ld not in the future deal in insur- e stocks, under the proposed bill, hout the insurance commissioner's roval. The powers of the insur- e commissioner over companies ring the organization period are adened to include supervision of rganization, liquidation and disso- on of domestic companies. Under present law he was supervision over organization.

Renewal of contracts with the Sterl- and Reliance manufacturing com- ies of Chicago with the state board control for three years from July this year is asked to be legalized the legislature in a joint resolu- n offered in the house by the two rd of control committees. The olution accompanied a report of committees recommending a solu- n of the prison labor employment blem in the future. The agreed tion of the problem, which has n agitating the committees since special session started is intended take care of furnishing employ- nt to convicts until the forty-sec- general assembly meets. By that e it is expected prison labor will reorganized on essentially the state plan, which is favored in the com- tee report.

The Smith budget law was passed the Iowa senate by a vote of 31 17. The budget bill, as passed by senate incorporates features of three bills which have been be- the legislature—the house state get bill, the Hauge local budget and the Smith state and local get bill. The smith bill goes far- than either of the other two mea- es in that it provides for review of tracts and bond issues by the state get board. Senator Smith took the explanation of all the features his amendment, disposed one by of the objections raised to it and get legislation in general, and out- d briefly the experience of Indi- with a similar budget law.

ast spring when the Tuck law was er consideration in the Iowa Leg- ture, boards of supervisors through- the state raised a tumult to the ct that they would have to affix locks to the doors of the court- ses if the measure was enacted. Tuck law, regulating the expen- es of county government, was ed. It has been in operation al- t a year. Thus far we know of no ance where a court house has been ed for lack of funds or a county ernment has been forced to sus- l business.

ntract labor of inmates of the Madison penitentiary and the re- atory at Anamosa as now prac- d was denounced as an "archaic of slavery" by Verne Marshall, or of the Cedar Rapids Evening ette, at a hearing held by a joint lative committee at the state e. The committee has been at more than a month on the bill which they will write, it is their , a provision which will solve the problems of state penal institu- .

e house spent a day in passage he motor vehicle bill and the li- permit bill. The motor vehicle was amended to reduce the mini- license fee on Fords from $10 ; the ton load per wheel was re- d from four to two and one-half and the ton load from fourteen on pneumatic tired trucks to tons and on solid tired trucks to n tons.

e house finished action on the icipal corporations bill on street ovements and sewers and passed ch doubt was expressed by mem- of the legislature whether any et legislation can be passed at session. The house is almost cer- leaders declared to kill the bill ely, if the senate adopts the Smith itute. Several senators express- e belief that, although they favor Smith amendment, the only way t a start on budget legislation is opt the house bill as it came to enate.

Drafted to check alleged insurance stock promotion frauds and to invest in the state insurance commissioner, greater power over companies operating in the state, a proposed insurance law has been introduced in the Iowa legislature. The bill gathers all sections of the law pertaining to insurance and places them under a single heading. It was written with close attention paid to the testimony before the legislative insurance committee which has been hearing charges of illegal operation of companies in Iowa, for several weeks. Expenditures for promotion work of companies in Iowa would be lowered from 17½ per cent to 12½ per cent of the par value of insurance stock sold, under a new provision. The commissioner would also have power to regulate all matters in connection with the organization and work of domestic companies and all foreign companies selling stock in the state, to the end that fraud might be prevented.

Poor lights and "spooners", mostly the latter, J. C. McClune, Mahaska county representative in the state legislature, declared were responsible for the many automobile accidents recorded in Iowa in 1923. The Mahaska county representative flayed the "uogn gentlemen who attempts to drive with one arm." The denunciation came during the arguments in the house relative to the bill relating to motor vehicles. McClune held that the use of red tail lights on cars parked at the curb should not be compulsory. "The most blame should be placed on the driver who rams into parked cars," McClune said. "Most accidents are caused by the 'one arm artists.'"

One hundred and fifteen bills, including a dozen or more legalizing acts, remain to be disposed of before the legislature may adjourn and complete its work, a check by Leon Ainsworth, secretary of the senate, and A. C. Gustafson, chief clerk of the house, showed. The senate has sixty-six bills to complete action on and the house forty-nine. Most of these bills have pased one house or the other. A great many of them have reached the stage of reports of conference committees. Most of these can be disposed of by merely calling the roll.

Twenty-five county auditors informed the special Iowa senate committee appointed to find out what counties would lack funds to hold elections this year that they expected deficits in their general funds for 1924. The auditors responded to a questionnaire mailed by the members of the committee. The questionnaire was sent in connection with the consideration of the bill to suspend the Tuck law, limiting county expenditures, for this year in counties which might be unable to hold elections.

The senate passed the Holdoegel resolution calling for the appointment of a committee of two senators and two representatives to visit the Willits farm at Mount Pleasant and report to the legislature on the advisability of its purchase by the state. The resolution now goes to the house. Senator Stoddard of Woodbury county, chairman of the senate appropriations committee, introduced a measure to appropriate as much of $100,000 as may be necessary to purchase the farm.

Amendments to the motor vehicle bill were the enactment of a boulevard stop requirement, elimination of the provision against blowing traction engine whistles on the highway, insertion of a requirement that all drivers come to a full stop when entering a highway from an alley or private drive and prohibition of parking before the entrance to a hotel. The truck license fee of $15 was made to apply to trucks weighing from one-half ton to one ton instead of from on to two tons.

The Potts amendments, as accepted by the committees, forbid prison labor contracts with private concerns after July 1, 1927, and contemplate enlargement of state industries which will supply goods needed by state and county governments. These governing bodies would be required to purchase of the prisons such goods as the inmates make so long as the supply is immediately available. In case the prisons could not fill orders the governing boards might buy elsewhere.

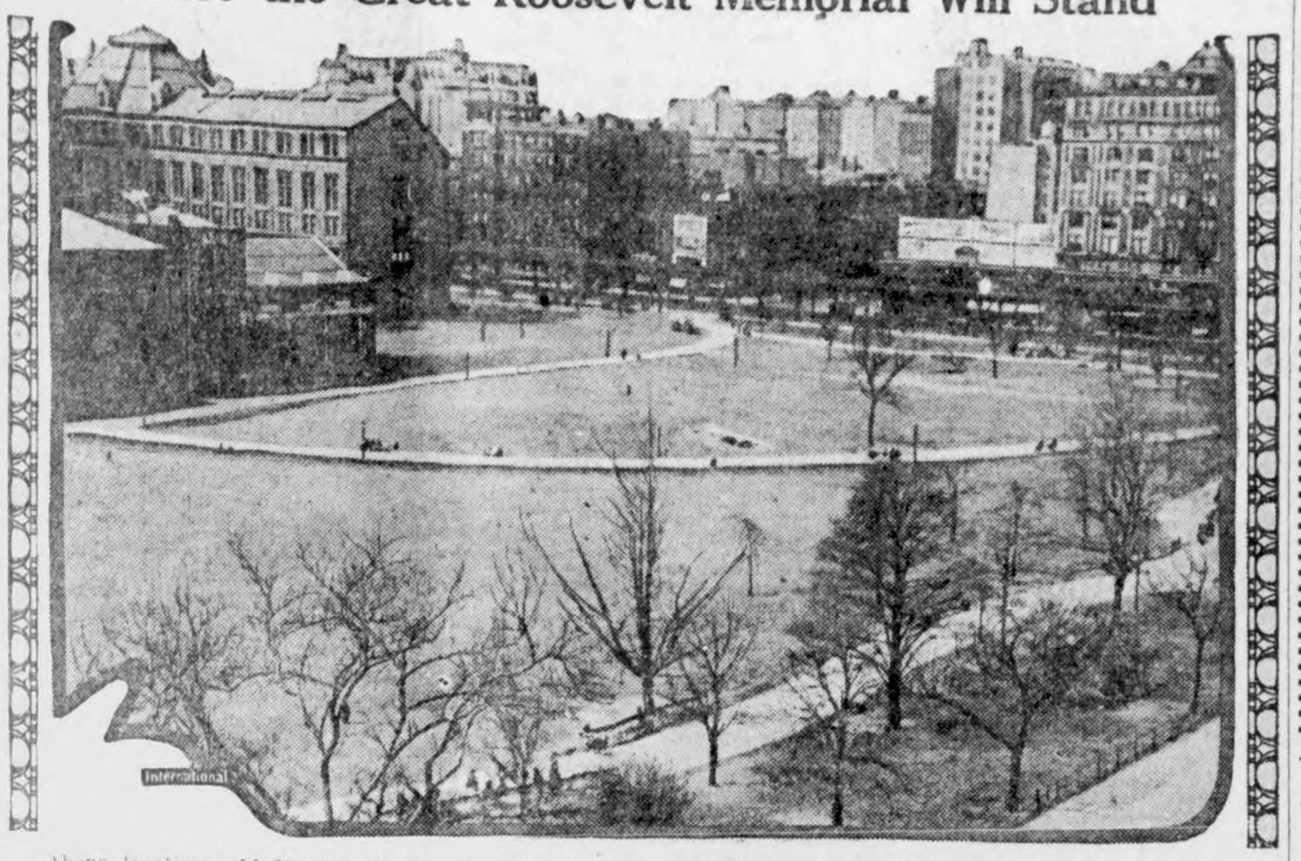
The house passed the motor carrier bill, adopting an amendment reducing the maximum load that may be carried by trucks on state highways. The amendment offered by Representative McClune, of Mahaska county, reduces the maximum from 16,000 to 14,000 pounds for trucks with solid rubber tires, and from 20,000 to 18,200 for trucks with pneumatic tires. The highway commission asked for the reduction as a protection to the highways.

Adoption of the Iowa budget law, in its present form, will go down in history as one of the greatest achievements of the Iowa legislature. It is true that there may be some minor details which may have to be corrected in conference committee, before the measure is finally acted upon, but the budget bill is sound in principle and its general plan should be adopted.

The liquor permit bill was passed by the house with only a few minor changes from the form in which it passed the senate. The vote was 93 to 1. The amount of a prescription of whisky was left at one pint.

The state board of control will probably start making automobile plates as soon as equipment can be obtained. It has been suggested that the abandoned machinery for plate making at Michigan City, Ind., might be purchased by the Iowa board of control. If the state begins making auto number plates, the motor vehicle department would be required to purchase them.

Where the Great Roosevelt Memorial Will Stand



Above is shown old Manhattan square at Columbus avenue, Central Park West and Eighty-first street, New York, which has been chosen as the site for the Roosevelt memorial. The New York board of estimate has passed a resolution sanctioning the proposal for the two and a half million dollar memorial. It is likely to become part of the American Museum of Natural History, which is on the site adjoining.

Part of the Northwest's Immense Wool Clip

This wool, awaiting ocean shipment from Portland, Ore., to the Atlantic seaboard by way of the Panama canal, is part of the 40,000,000 pounds wool clip produced in four states—Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana.

Family of Wheelbarrow Hikers

J. S. Leddy of Goshen, Ind., who, with his wife and two children, two and one-half and four years of age, are traveling with a wheelbarrow which weighs three hundred pounds, loaded. Leddy and his family have traveled 6,652 miles in two years and expect to cover 10,000 more. He started out on this strange hike to regain his health.

In Edsel Ford Extortion Conspiracy

Above are shown Maslox Simek, twenty-three, and Mrs. Annie Haldek, twenty-five, his landlady, both of whom face indictments charging conspiracy to extort a million dollars from Edsel Ford, son of the automobile manufacturer. Police say Simek confessed having mailed two letters to Ford in which he threatened to take the life of Ford and members of his family. Simek is alleged to have charged the woman with compelling him to write the letters.

MAY DAY LADY

Mrs. Oren Root is trying to promote a national celebration of May day that will take hundreds of thousands of children into the open air, and her plan is endorsed by President Coolidge and scores of other prominent men. Mrs. Root is the guiding genius of the Child Health association.

HONOR BYRON'S MEMORY

The one hundredth anniversary of the death of Lord Byron, on April 19, will be fittingly celebrated, especially by the English, Greeks and Italians. He spent most of his self-inflicted exile in Italy and gave up his life in the cause of Greek independence.

Ideals of the Legion

Chairman Thomas H. McGowan of the Woburn (Mass.) school board recently expressed the ideals of the American Legion during an address made at a citizens' mass meeting held in that city.

"The American Legion offers itself as a constant reminder of self-sacrifice for the good of all. It does not ask for hero worship nor does it ask the American public for sacrifice. It asks only for encouragement in the great work it has undertaken in the care of needy comrades, in perfecting its organization into an all-inclusive entity of ex-service men, but above all to serve our country and our flag and to perpetuate the unexcelled traditions of a glorious history.

"The Legion strives to be unselfish in undertakings; it asks only for co-operation. The American Legion will maintain its place in the sun."

LEGION FATHERS ADDING COUNCILS

The American Legion Fathers, an auxiliary to the veterans' body, has already enrolled a number of councils—as the local units are termed—and applications for information concerning the auxiliary have been flooding national headquarters.

The first council to receive a charter from national headquarters was formed from fathers of men in Harvey post 155 of the Legion in Harvey, Ill. Harvey is a suburb of Chicago. Others of the first five to be established are in Malden, Mass., St. Paul, Minn., Topeka, Kan., and Bellingham, Wash.

The charter fee for a council is $10, and the application must be signed by ten men, either fathers of active Legionnaires, or of men who made the supreme sacrifice in the World war. The organization is not permitted to have either a state or national authority and is governed by the Legion post to which attached. The movement is primarily for the counseling of the Legionnaires, and assistance in carrying out the principles of the veterans' organization.

Wealth and Industry as Well as Man Power

Conscription of wealth and industry as well as of man power, as enunciated in the universal draft act, has received unanimous support from 4,000 Boston citizens.

This bill, now in congress, provides that every national resource be turned to government control in case of war in order to provide the utmost for protection of the nation. Gen. Charles R. Edwards, commander of the American Legion in Massachusetts, who spoke at a great mass meeting held in Boston, said that the greatest tragedy of the World war was the failure to conscript other resources as well as those of manhood.

Another Legion speaker who was acclaimed for his stand in this direction, was Maj. George L. Berry, international president of the Printing Pressmen's union, who spoke before a gathering of Legion men in the Hub city. Berry, a past national vice commander of the Legion and high in circles of labor organizations, declared that the passage of such an act was the best means to forestall war.

The bill was first passed as a resolution at the New Orleans convention of the Legion, and subsequently introduced in congress. It has received support of Secretary of War John W. Weeks, and other statesmen.

Interpretation of New York Insurance Laws

Compensation insurance rates for firms employing slightly disabled World war veterans should not be higher, according to the interpretation of state insurance laws made by Gov. A. H. Smith of New York.

The executive's ruling came in response to a protest from Department Commander E. E. Spafford of the American Legion in New York, who said that certain veterans found it difficult to obtain employment because their physical condition increased rates for workmen's insurance offered by private concerns.

According to Commander Spafford, the veterans had been accepted only as extra hazardous risks, and the Legion sought clarification of the state's attitude by word from the governor.

"I can state to you," wrote Governor Smith to Commander Spafford, "that the state insurance fund does not consider veterans suffering from a partial disability as extra hazardous risks, and takes no action, directly or indirectly, whether in premium rates or merit rating, which would in any way discourage employment of partially disabled veterans. Each accident is considered on the merits of the accident alone."

Wins Essay Contest

The privileges and obligations of an American citizen was the subject chosen by the American Legion in Lowell, Mass., for the annual essay contest. Komnenus Soukaras, a high school student, was awarded first prize for his essay, which was selected from nearly 200. Soukaras was also winner of an essay contest inaugurated by the National Guard unit in Lowell; the subject was "Armistice Day and Its Meaning."

Political Announcements

COUNTY RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election to the office of Recorder of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Clarissa Abel. *

I hreeby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock Contuy, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the Primaries to be held in June, 1924.—H. L. Suckow, Klemme, Ia.*

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican Primary to be held in June, 1924.—H. C. Meyer. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to a decision of the republican voters at the primary election in June, 1924. I solicit your support on a platform of strict economy fair and impartial treatment.—Wallace Darrah. *

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1924 Primaries.—A. O. Christensen, Crystal Lake, Iowa.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of Supervisor of Hancock county, subject to the will of the voters at the June 1924 primary. —Fred Oxley, Corwith.

COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1924 Primary —John Suurballe. (J-10)

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—H. A. Sweigard. *

COUNTY AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of County Auditor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters of the June, 1924 Primary.—J. D. Madison. *

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June, 1924 Primary.—Verne C. Grau. J-17)

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock County, Iowa, subject to the decision of the republican primaries to be held in June 1924. I solicit the support of all voters, both men and women.—V. S. White.

COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary.—J. C. Hanson, Garner, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination of Clerk of Courts of Hancock County subject to a decision of the voters at the June 1924 Primaries.—Chris J. Johansen, Britt, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court of Hancock County, and solicit your support at the June Primary election, 1924.—F. P. Oleson. F-14

COUNTY SHERIFF

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 Primaries. I solicit the vote of everybody.—C. N. White, Klemme, Iowa. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate on the Republican ticket for Sheriff of Hancock County at the June primaries. Pledging tht same service that I have previously given while in public office.—Peck Hanson.

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county. subject to the will of the voters at the republican primaries to be held in June 1924.—Howard Hanson, Crystal Lake. *

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock Coutny, subject to the decision of the voters at the primary in June.—W. C. Zeismer.

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock county, subject to the decision of the voters at the Republican primaries to be held in June, 1924.—A. J. Foster, Kanawha.

FOR STATE SENATOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for State Senator from this 43rd district of Iowa comprising Cerro Gordo, Franklin and Hancock counties, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924 primaries. If nominated and elected I agree to abide by the precedent established in this district and will not be a candidate for a second term.—C. F. JOHNSTON. Sheffield, Iowa. Feb. 1st, 1924.

FOR STATE SENATOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for State Senator from the 43rd district of Iowa, composed of Cerro Gordo, Franklin and Hancock counties, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1924. primaries. If nominated and elected I agree to abide by the precedent established in this district and will not be a candidate for a second term —G. E. Van Wert, Hampton, Ia.

COUNTY REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Representative from the 86th district, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1924, Primaries. —Frank M. Hanson, Garner, Iowa.

This is the time for the

First Spraying

For Your Fruit Trees

Now is the time to watch your fruit trees for THE FIRST SPRAYING. It will pay you to carefully spray all of your fruit trees.

We buy our spraying materials in large quantities and can therefore save you some money on this line. Our spray chemicals are pure and fresh and will give the best results.

We carry a large stock of, and recommend:—

ARSENATE OF LEAD

LIME SULFUR

We carry a full line of poultry tonics and remedies—Dr. Hess', Walko, Germicide, Wonder Poultry Tonic, etc. Watch the baby chicks and keep them free from lice and disease.

G. G. Seney

"The New Drug Store"

THIS ESKIMO HAD GUMPTION

Work of Native Woman, Who Was Sole Survivor of Arctic Expedition, Is Marvelous.

Those who have followed the daily press during recent weeks have probably noticed the disastrous and tragic ending of the recent Wrangel island arctic expedition, in the account of which Ada Blackjack, an Eskimo woman, figures strikingly, says Madison Cooper in the Flower Grower.

For fortitude, courage, resourcefulness, religious merit and all around gumption, Ada Blackjack serves as an object lesson to many of her brothers and sisters of greater opportunities and enlightenment. Compared with a person of the strongest mental balance and with the greatest physical endurance and experience, the accomplishments of this mite of humanity (she is less than five feet tall), are most marvelous. While nursing a dying companion, confined to his bed for weeks, this little woman performed all of the duties necessary for an existence in the polar regions, including cutting wood, trapping, hunting, cooking, etc. She even during this time learned to use firearms and shot seals to help out the scanty food supply.

The real worth of a human being is only demonstrated by necessity combined with opportunity. Under circumstances which we of the so-called civilized races of the earth would probably have succumbed to discouragement and disease, Ada Blackjack rose triumphant and never showed the "white feather" or what our modern slang calls a "yellow streak." If Ada Blackjack is a good representative of her race, truly the Eskimo has never been valued at his true worth.

ORIENTAL FAREWELL QUIET

Forms Sharp Contrast to Roars of Occidental Crowd as Ships Leave Port.

As the big liner steamed out of port a hoarse, deep-throated roar shook her tan and black funnels; and a lesser, wilder cry burst from the thousands alongside. Roses pelted down from the decks above, arms whirled like pinwheels, and deafening crowds screamed their farewells.

But in the throng a little pool of silence brooded undisturbed. Six impassive oriental faces formed a half moon of silence as old as the Dawn of Creation. Sphinxlike, through impenetrable almond eyes they watched the whirlwind sweep the crowd. What was the going of a mere vessel to such as they?

Up on the ship's higher deck stood a lone oriental figure whose almond eyes focused on the group. A thin yellow hand lifted the black hat horizontally in the air, a fleeting ghost of a smile ruffled the impenetrable eyes Nothing more! The yellow faces below gleamed strangely. Six hats rose simultaneously in air. No waving, no yelling, no cries. Only a shadow of a smile in the watching almond eyes. The crowds raged on, shrieking, running, weeping. But the Orient stood silent, smiling its impenetrable ancient smile.—New York Sun and Globe.

Cold Shrinks Everything.

Nearly everything shrinks as it gets cooler. As there is the same weight in less volume any given volume weighs more. The cooler anything is, the heavier is any given volume of it, with the important and vital exception of water. Water has the peculiar property of getting heavier all the way down the scale until the temperature of 39 degrees Fahrenheit is reached; then it begins to expand again until it freezes and afterward. As a result, a given volume of water at 32 degrees, or the temperature at which it freezes, is lighter than water at 39 degrees and rises above it before freezing begins. The ice being still lighter, floats on the water. If water did not have this queer property, ice would form on the bottom of bodies of water, there would be no protection of the surface by a layer of ice from further cooling and many rivers and lakes would freeze solid, killing all the fish. The summer sun would never be able to melt all of the winter's ice.

Story About Queen Victoria.

Since Strachey's biography of Queen Victoria stories about her have been rife. One not yet widely disseminated concerned Sir F. Bertie, who was undersecretary for foreign affairs in the days before he was knighted. Mr. Bertie had often to visit the queen, and used to announce his arrival by telegram. Finally, one day, Victoria is said to have remarked to him: "Mr. Bertie, I must ask you to be good enough not to sign your telegrams announcing your arrival 'Bertie,' as it makes me expect my son, and causes me disappointment."

Posting Him.

A young curate was visiting the old women of the parish, and felt ill at ease.

One old lady of great experience asked him if he was nervous, and he replied that he was. She then offered to advise him.

"You read a bit," she said, "you pray a bit, and you gives me a shilling, and then you goes."

"All Aboard!"

Old Colored Mammy—Ise wants a ticket fo' Florence.

Ticket Agent (after ten minutes of weary thumbing over railroad guides) —Where is Florence?

Old Colored Mammy—Settin' over dar on de bench.—Princeton Tiger.

GREATEST BOOK VERY BRIEF

New Testament Has Been the Inspiration of Sublime Masterpieces.

Jesus is as supreme in literary art as He is in ethics. The short stories from His lips in the Gospels are superior to anything written by Guy de Maupassant, Chekoy, Poe, Bret Harte, Rudyard Kipling, Nathaniel Hawthorne or O. Henry. The narrative style of the four evangelists has the dignity of simplicity; the letters of Paul, James and John are better illustrations of epistolary skill than anything to be found in Horace Walpole, Thomas Gray or William Cowper. Mystical beauty in language has never reached such an altitude as in the fourth Gospel and in the Revelation, says William Lyon Phelps.

In addition to being itself the pinnacle of literature, the New Testament has been the inspiration of sublime masterpieces in other forms of art—in architecture, paintings, music. One has only to think of the medieval Gothic cathedrals, the paintings of Raphael, Leonardo, Andrea del Sarto, Michelangelo, Correggio, Murillo, the music of Handel's "Messiah" and of Wagner's "Parsifal." Out of that slender book flowed a creative impulse, the effect of which can hardly be exaggerated.

The complete sayings of Jesus can be read in three hours; but it will take more than 3,000 years to record the results of His few words. That is what is meant by the last verse of the last chapter of the Gospel, according to John: "And there are also many other things which Jesus did, the which, if they should be written every one, I suppose that even the world itself could not contain the books that should be written."—Ladies' Home Journal.

PAINT ACTS AS DETECTOR

Designed to Warn Mechanicians When Engine Parts Become Overheated.

Designed to warn mechanicians when engine parts are overheated, there is a new paint, which turns from its light red color to a deep brown at 70 degrees C., and to almost black at 85 degrees. When the overheated part is cooled, the paint turns back to its normal color. The changing color attracts the attention of those about and hence gives the opportunity of applying a little oil at the critical moment.

The machine itself can be thus saved from complete destruction and all danger of fires from overheated machinery eliminated. The chemical properties of another paint, acalorin, stop the heat rays of the sun, so that when applied to roofs, the rooms below are kept from 15 to 35 degrees cooler. It is a light blue and can be applied to windows where the sun beats down and causes extreme heat, without appreciably diminishing the light. It is especially adaptable to corrugated iron roofs, which often make the interior of a factory or storehouse an unbearable oven in the summer. Even applied to factory walls, it reduces the temperature of the interior. It will go far in reducing the temperature of the attic rooms of the summer cottage which are usually uninhabitable.

The Great Manner of Poets.

At the end of the Vita Nuova Dante announced his hope to write of Beatrice such things as had never been written of any woman. Not to write a new kind of book, for women had been praised before, as he implied, and there had been poems of vision and pilgrimages through hell; but his hope was to excel. He determined to speak no more of his blessed lady until he could praise her worthily, and to praise such a woman worthily would be to write such things as had been written of no other. In the same mood Milton promised his great epic—in passionate love of the best before him, and in the assurance of doing as well or better—"I began thus to assent both to them and divers of my friends here at home, and not less to an inward prompting, which now grew daily upon me, that my labor and intense study, which I take to be my portion in this life, joined with the strong propensity of nature, I might leave something so written to aftertimes as they should not willingly let it die." This is the great manner of the poets.—John Erskine.

Spoiled It All.

In the midst of a group of girls Bluebelle was reading from a movie magazine.

"It is rumored," she read, "that Harold Perfecto, the eminent director, will shortly lead to the altar Angelina Angelface, the popular star. This culminates a tender romance—"

"How utterly lovely!" gushed the girls.

"As soon as Perfecto's divorce decree is handed down—"

"Aw, cut it out."

Filling the Vacancy.

"Tobe, I'm sorry to hear your wife got a divorce."

Tobe—Yessum, she done gone back to Alabama.

Lady—Who will do my washing now?

Tobe—Well, mum, I'se co'tin' again, and I co'ts rapid.—Cincinnati Western Christian Advocate.

Dumbell!

Medical Professor (after lecture)—Any questions?

Stude—Say, professor, what are the cockles of the heart? Hanged if I can find anything in the medical books about them.—Boston Transcript.

NOTICE FOR BUILDING SCHOOL HOUSE

Notice is hereby given that proposals for the erection of two (2) school houses, No. 5 and No. 2, in the township of Twin Lake, in the county of Hancock, Iowa, will be received by the undersigned at the Center School House, Twin Lake Township, until 1:30 o'clock P. M., May 1, 1924, at which time the contract will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Plans and specifications may be seen at my place.

Dated April 1, 1924.

JULIUS PRIEBE, Secretary,
(4w.) Goodell, Iowa.

NOTICE FOR BUILDING SCHOOL HOUSE

Notice is hereby given that proposals for the re-building of a school house in District No. 4, in the township of Liberty, Hancock County, Iowa, will be received by the undersigned at the Center School House in Liberty Township, until 7:30 o'clock P. M., April 28, 1924, at which time the contract will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Plans and specifications may be seen at my place.

Dated March 29, 1924.

JOSEPH SCHULDT, Secretary
(4w) Klemme, Iowa.

Diplomacy

The Young Bride (looking in window of jewelry store: "George, I'd love to have that bracelet."

The Husband: "I can't afford to buy it for you dear."

The Bride: "But if you could, you would, wouldn't you?"

The Husband:" I'm afraid not."

The Bride: Why?

The Husband: "It isn't good enough, dear.

The Bride: "Oh, you darling!"—Life.

MINSTREL SHOW

at

KLEMME

Fri. Eve., April 11

High School Auditorium

A Rapid-Fire Darktown MINSTREL and an Uproarously Funny One Act AFTERPIECE

Admission 25c and 50c

Cheese--

A FOOD FOR THE GROWING CHILD—

CHEESE, like milk, is a most valuable food for children. Good, wholesome cheese gives the necessary lime and phosphorus for sturdy growth.

Nowadays you can buy good cheese without any guesswork—we buy only the very best cheese manufactured and it comes from spick and span, clean factories, where only the purest of materials enter into the finished products.

You will always find a full line of nice fresh cheese at our meat market along with our choice line of meats and other products.

KRAFT CHEESE—

CREAM CHEESE—

PIMENTO CHEESE—

LIMBURGER CHEESE—

BRICK CHEESE—

FRESH FISH—We are receiving nice, fresh fish for every week-end. You will enjoy a meal of fine fish—try them today.

J. P. Larsen & Sons

The Klemme Meat Market

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Seney's Drug Store — Phone 4009.

Klemme, Iowa

News of Goodell And Vicinity

rnon and Kenneth Griggs have vered from the measles.

L. Thada returned from Mason Tuesday.

rofessor Tompkins of Garner, a Goodell visitor Friday.

orge Griggs was a business call- Belmond last Thursday.

da Conlan is working in Thada's now.

hn Conlan is here visiting a-uisa Ahrenkeil, Louise Mason Dorothy O'Krug returned to r Rapids Tuesday.

eorge Griggs' sale was well at- ed. Everything was sold at a price.

rs. Gus Wenzel, who has been ing with her mother, returned to mond Friday.

he play "Putting It Up To Patty" ch was postponed from last Fri- day was given Wednesday. It was a very successful play. Quite a large crowd attended it.

G. H. S. Notes

Mamie Dieger has been absent quite a while on account of sickness.

Donnell Estelle was absent from school Wednesday.

Wava and Wayne Bachman have returned to their school work.

Esther Harberts returned to school again after an absence of two weeks.

The Domestic Science girls are progressing rapidly with their dresses.

The Seniors are practicing for their play, "Only 38," which is to be given May 2nd.

The Juniors are making plans for their banquet. They are also going to give a play later.

The Manual Training boys have been doing some fine work. They have just finished foot stools and are ready to start on pedestals.

Much reviewing is being done this week on account of examinations which are to be given Thursday and Friday. Only six more weeks of school left for which many are very glad.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

March 31 to April 5, 1924

Julius Knop wf to Marius Rasmus wife. W. D. date 3-15-24, lots 5-6 blk 18 Tallmans add to Garner $600.

Frances Filble to Ruth Eierman. W. D. date 3-29-24, lot 4 blk 16 Garner ..... $1.00.

Geo. H. Greimann wf to Wesley G. Lenz. W. D. date 4-1-24. NE¼ 24-95-24 ..... $1.00.

Gertrude Magor to Emily Johnson W. D. date 1-19-24, lot 20 blk 11, Kanawha ..... $5,000.

Mabel Fell hus to Willis J. Robinson, W. D. date 3-27-24, N 32 ft of S½ of lot 3 blk 37 Garner..$300.00

James F. Cooney wf to W. A. Drewlow, W. D. date 3-28-24, E½ NWfr¼ 6-95-26 ..... $1.00.

Reuben L. Peterson to Jerome La Bounty and wife. W. D. date 3-31-24. W½ SW¼ 33-96-25 $15,000.00.

Edward Hauptman wf to Wm. Wrede et al. W. D. date 4-2-24, E½ NW¼ 16-96-23 ..... $12,800.00.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

An increased audience was present last Sunday morning to participate with us in our pre Easter meritation.

Our World Service program was fairly launchd at the evening service. Great interest was shown upon presentation of several phases of missionary activity.

Next Sunday is Palm Sunday, when we are reminded of Christ's triumphant entrance into Jerusalem. May the coming Sunday be a day that sees His triumphant entrance into hearts and lives of men as never before. Our special invitation is extended to the children to attend this service.

AVERY TOWNSHIP

Mr. Lynn Sherwood and daughter, Iris, were Klemme callers Saturday.

Robert Roths was a Belmond visitor between trains Friday.

Lubbe Albers and Elko Buss shelled corn Tuesday of this week.

Quite a number of people in this community are starting to seed oats.

Esther Fuller returned to town school Monday, after having missed on account of the measles.

Mrs. August Trampel and children visited at the home of Peter Trampel last Sunday.

A surprise party was given Mr. D. A. Marshall last Saturday night in honor of his 68th birthday. A good crowd was present in spite of the weather. All present reprted a good time. All left at a late hour, wishing Mr. Marshall many more birthdays.

GIRAFFE IS TARGET

How Humorists Pick on Maligned Animal.

Not Satisfied After Artists Have Colored Him to Suit Backgrounds.

America has never known a native giraffe, scientists say, though it is admitted that an American parrot was once found and is still preserved, stuffed. Yet the giraffe is rapidly becoming a native American by adoption, and its long neck and remarkable complexion is attaining something of a vogue among the new artists.

In fact, this African animal, with his fondness for the salad in diet, has furnished man with proofs and problems and picture book illustrations since he was first found nibbling a plantain leaf, and it is not strange that at last the artists should seize upon him to use him as the pinnacle of their new color endeavor. His popularity is growing with something of the speed his neck shows when he begins life on this earth.

How the giraffe got his long neck does not interest the artists. They are busy making him strange colors. One artist recently painted him on a vivid green background, in dull orange, with large black sections cut out to represent hexagonal spots. The matter of tail was slightly different from Darwin's remarks on the subject. Not that it mattered. A picture must have balance. So this giraffe wore a tail long and graceful and flowing like the gowns at a kingly coronation and, somehow, one felt that such an animal would make the wilds of Africa really colorful and exciting and worthy of a long trip in the heat.

The artists are not the only ones now finding the giraffe one of our most diverting animals. The writers are also picking him off and turning him to account. George Bernard Shaw in his "Back to Methuselah" discusses this matter of the long neck and the giraffe and seems to lean to the theory that after all the leaves on the lower branches of the trees had been eaten, the animals with the longest necks got the food higher up and that starvation gradually eliminated the short-necked ones, and thus the animal kept growing a longer and longer neck by natural selection.

The theory, of course, doesn't matter so much. But it is rather painful to find this noble animal also the butt of the humorists. Literature may take him, art may mispaint him, but it seems pitiful that humorists are choosing him to compare him to bottles and other extinct phenomena.

There is something ingenious about the giraffe. Those long forelegs are ungainly and give him an air of helplessness. A certain sculptor has taken advantage of this unfortunate variation of nature and has put heads on his two forehoofs, leaving only the neck reaching up and absorbing luscious leaves. Satire carried to this extent seems a little ungracious in view of this animal's great service to the human race in the theory of evolution.

Not since the camel's coming to help the cartoonists in the problem of prohibition, has an animal done more modern service than has the giraffe. The camel was used to bearing burdens. His humps were provided for that aeons ago. That the burden was a moral one did not matter. But the giraffe is different. There is a delicacy about him. There is something brutal in this sudden attention. —New York Sun and Globe.

Uses for Paper.

Paper has other uses than the common ones for printing purposes, stationery wrapping parcels, magazines, books, etc. Some of these uses are as important in themselves as the common uses, but none of these approach the latter in the quantity of material consumed. However, these odd uses are of considerable interest. In the electrical industry paper has been used for making insulations of all sorts. In the manufacture of machinery it has been used to make packings for gas engines and hydraulic work, in making calendar rolls, car wheels, pulleys, etc. Articles of every-day use such as spoons, dishes, cups and saucers, suitcases, trunks, table covers and napkins, bags of all descriptions, flowers, wall paper, etc., are made from paper. Paper garments have been known for some time, and in the shoe industry paper is used for making box toes, counters, heel board, etc.

Bacteria Good and Bad.

As a class bacteria probably form a community with the greatest reputation for evil and probably they deserve it least. They are blamed for almost every form of disease and yet, as among ourselves, the useful members outnumber the criminal by many thousands to one. So closely in appearance do the good bacteria resemble the wicked ones that often it is impossible to distinguish one from the other. They are all very low forms of plant life and work by generating complex "enzymes" which bring about chemical changes. Scientists consider bacteria to be as necessary to human life as air and water! Nature has no greater scavengers for they transform dead bodies and plants by the process popularly known as decay into suitable foods for living plants. They are coming more and more into prominence in industrial process and the expert bacteriologist finds an increased demand

EASTER CANDY--

We have a fine line of EASTER CANDY in stock now for your selection—Easter Eggs, all sizes, Bunny Rabbits, Baskets, Novelties, etc.

We also carry a nice line of Box Candy at all times. Try our bulk Chocolates and other fine candy.

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

New Spring Suits

Better In Styles and Value

$40

Which means that as usual this store is offering its customers suits of the superior sort at a moderate price.

These suits are of different fabrics, plain and novelty weaves in blues, grays, browns and plaids. The tailoring is the best and is marked by details new this spring.

This store offers you the largest assortment in this city to choose from—not just a hand-ful but a house-full of the finest of ready-to-wear clothing.

Patton Bros. Co.

Where a dollar does its duty

MASON CITY and Manly, Iowa

The New* Oldsmobile

A SIX AT $795.00.

I want to announce that I have been appointed the Dealer in this territory for the OLSMOBILE line of Cars. Anyone in the market for a high class car at a reasonable price can call me for further information or a demonstration.

Oldsmobile—A Product of General Motors

C. W. Wiles

Phone 75 — Klemme, Iowa.

Locals

Clarence Bachman and Clarence Larsen both had their places of business connected with the sewer system this week. It would be fine if all business places on Main street would hook on now so that the street could all be fixed up at one time.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to thank all who assisted us during the illness of Grandama Blank, also extending thanks for the flowers and kind words of sympathy. We also appreciate the service rendered by those who furnished cars for the funeral.

Luppo Blank, and relatives.

"Zip" McCullough returned home from Prairie Du Chien, Wis., and "Dad" Yahnke and Ernest Schuldt returned Monday from the same point. They had been there to bask in the hot mud baths, sweating out good and making mud pies. They all say they feel fine after receiving the treatments.

The brothers of Walter Lau all came last week to pay him a visit. Ben Lau came from Minneapolis last Friday, August from Mason City the same day, and H. C. came on Thursday from Tracy, Minnesota. Walter has been quite sick but is again on the road to an early recovery. August Lau, Sr., is also home from Minneapolis where he had been for treatment so the boys also had the opportunity f visiting their father.

BIDS WANTED

Bids are wanted for hauling gravel from the Stille gravel pit for the Town of Klemme. Bids will be received at the Council meeting Monday night, April 14, at eight o'clock.

F. GRUETZMACHER,
Mayor.

Ford

Starter and Demountable Rims $85 extra

$295 F. O. B. DETROIT

An Exceptional Value!

It requires no technical knowledge of automobiles to appreciate the outstanding value of the Ford Touring Car.

Not only is it the lowest priced five-passenger car on the market, but it is also a car that costs little to operate, little to keep in condition and has an unusually high resale value after years of service.

All Ford Cars are sold on convenient deferred terms, or may be purchased under the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

Ford Motor Company
Detroit, Michigan

GREIMANN MOTOR COMPANY

Ford

CARS · TRUCKS · TRACTORS

FN64C

Dress Up For Easter

Easter this year comes April 20th. Get ready now for the annual "tog-up" for Easter event—the real beginning for Spring Dress. Following we list some items you will need and which we carry a nice assortment of at our store:—

FOR THE MEN—OXFORDS
DRESS SHIRTS
SILK SOCKS
HATS and CAPS
COLLARS, TIES, etc.

FOR THE LADIES—
OXFORDS and LOW CUTS
SILK HOSE to match footwear
DRESS GOODS latest patterns

FOR THE CHILDREN—
BLOUSES, SHIRTS
OXFORDS, SHOES, SLIPPERS
CAPS, HATS, etc.

We also have a nice line of Easter Candies, Novelties, Egg Dyes, etc.

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

THE RED LOCK

A Tale of the Flatwoods

By DAVID ANDERSON
Author of "The Blue Moon"
Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

THE NAKED KNIFE

SYNOPSIS.—On the banks of the Wabash stand Texie Colin and Jack Warhope, young and very much in love. Texie is the only daughter of old Pap Simon, rich man and money-lender. Jack is the orphan bound boy of Pap Simon who had foreclosed a mortgage on the Warhope estate. At first Texie and Jack talk sadly of Ken Colin, the girl's missing brother. Then Jack says that in ten days his servitude will be over, that he will ride out into the big world to seek his fortune. Both know what that will mean to them. Texie and Jack talk of the red lock of "Red Colin," inherited by Ken. And Jack says he's coming back as soon as he finds gold in California. Then arrives the new preacher, Rev. Caleb Hopkins. Pap Simon introduces the villagers to the new preacher, who was a college mate of Ken. At supper at the Colin home the preacher tells how the boy killed a gambler and disappeared. His father attributes Ken's fall from grace to his red lock of hair. Then Pap Simon has a sort of stroke, brought on by reading a letter from Ken, "somewhere in New York," who curses his father on his death bed. A postscript by another hand says he is dead. At the village store and post office Loge Belden, a newcomer, says he saw the new parson with his arm around Texie. Jack licks him, shoots a pistol from his hand and makes him say he was mistaken. The preacher and the villagers go fishing. Jack discovers the preacher carries a six-gun. A footprint on a concealed houseboat fits the preacher's boot.

CHAPTER VI—Continued.

—8—

Of a truth, the comparison between the two men could not well have been more striking. The young preacher was a very handsome man. The beard and spectacles, the mass of hair falling about his ears, seemed to invest him with an air of exquisite mystery—an air that has such power to compel the attention of women.

The young woodsman, on the other hand, with his uncouth and ill-fitting clothes, though far from plain, owed whatever attractions he possessed to his magnificent physique, a bold regularity of features, and an honest, open frankness—a man's man.

With a jerky, elaborate bow to Jack, the young preacher turned to Texie.

"I was just hunting for you, Miss Texie. They want you at the punch bowl."

The girl must have known the woodsman was about to speak to her. His face was as easy to read as the signs of spring. She glanced at him; dropped her eyes; laughed—a trifle uneasily he thought, knowing her so well—and walked away beside the minister.

The woodsman stood looking after them, a queer sense of emptiness in his breast—a man nursed by nature, untaught to juggle with the heart's emotions.

The voice of the gray-haired gentlewoman in the rocking chair recalled his straying thoughts.

"Aren't they a fine-looking couple?" she was saying.

"Uh-huh."

"As I look back over the years since we came to Buckeye, I remember that you and she have always been playmates. My dear husband so often used to speak of the beautiful companionship between you. Long association with one so sweet and innocent must have had a most ennobling influence upon you."

"It didn't hurt me none."

"Dear me! but you are laconic this evening, my lad. Do you always speak with such Spartan brevity?"

She might as well have said it in Latin. Jack was frowning hard in an effort to make out her meaning when Zeke Polick, officiously omnipresent, stopped at the old lady's chair.

The woodsman was saved. He walked away in the crowd, while Aunt Liza, a few seats away, never backward about airing her views, leaned over toward the postmaster's wife and, in hoarse half-whispers, laid down her vastly positive opinion on the very subject he had just escaped discussing.

"Ain't it a burnin' shame the way Texie lets the new parson carry on with 'er, an' leavin' Big Jack out 'n the cold!—an' him wo'th any two o' the parson, the best breath 'e ever drawed. She'll rue it. Mark my words, Hanner Polick, she'll rue it."

"Aw, shucks, Aunt Liza, you're jist jealous f'r Big Jack, him bein' about y'u s' much, an' Uncle Nick a-teachin' 'im all about the woods an' boxin' an' sich."

"Nick! Nick!"—it would be utterly impossible to commit to paper the ultimate contempt in the stifled tones—"f'r the lan' sakes! What d' y'u s'pose I care who the ol' man teaches 'is fool truck an' boxin' tricks to? She'll rue the day she draps a fine lad like Big Jack—bound though 'e be—an' takes up with a teetotal furriner, jist b'cayse 'e happens t' be a mite slicker-lookin' mebbe—though, f'r my part I don't consait 'im one iotum better-lookin' than Big Jack is. She'll rue it, Hanner Polick, she'll rue it. That parson hain't got all that p'laver an' meechin' ways f'r nothin', now there's the business of it, I-jeeminy!"

The postmaster's wife had her lips set ready for her reply when there came a sudden commotion at the door. A strange man, tall and powerfully built, a slouch hat pulled low over his head, a swart face covered by a heavy stubble of black beard, and apparently just drunk enough to be dangerous, was roughly elbowing the crowd aside as he stalked back toward the table.

"Gimme some cake," he growled.

Miss Martin, trembling on the verge of panic, passed a plate of cake to him. He snatched off a piece, held it up contemptuously for a moment and then slammed it back with a force that dashed the plate from the timid little teacher's hand and scattered its contents all about the table.

"Aw, h—ll, gimme some cake!"

The preacher's shoulders lifted where he stood stooped among the women around the punch bowl. A spark of anger leaped into the eyes behind the spectacles, and his fingers curled toward his palms—a movement that the others were too intent upon the intruder to notice. But the flash passed with the instant; his shoulders drooped; to his eyes came back the look of peering benevolence.

"Friend," he called, still keeping his place among the women, "do you not realize that you are intimidating these ladies and spoiling this—ah—most enjoyable evening? Will you not please—"

The swart-faced man stared insolently at the preacher, a curiously bewildered look crossed his heavy face. He seemed to study the drooping shoulders, the studious eyes behind the spectacles.

"Say, you pore devil of a gospel slinger," he snarled, "who's runnin' this show? Dry up, 'r I might take a notion t' sa'nter over and twist y'ur ear."

Turning back to the table, he took from his pocket an ugly clasp knife and, snatching up a big cake that stood still uncut, a sort of ornamental centerpiece that had been selected for the honor because of its size and beauty, he hacked himself off an enormous slice.

"Say, You Pore Devil of a Gospel Slinger," He Snarled, "Who's Runnin' This Show?"

There is that about a naked knife—a certain cold, flinching thought of sharp steel drawn across warm flesh—that no other weapon inspires. Women gasped; children flew in terror to their parents; the desperado was left with the cleared center of the floor to himself.

He hacked himself off another huge section; gulped it down; laughed contemptuously, and slammed the rest of the beautiful confection at a window with a force that snuffed out a candle and shivered the glass to splinters; he glared around at the shrinking circle and smacked the knife against the palm of his hand.

"Say, ladies," he leered, his voice sounding harsh and strident in the dead silence of the room, "you and the youngsters nee'n' t' git panicky. I ain't go'n' t' hurt you none. I jist sa'nter'd in t' git a look at a jay I've hear'n tell shoots up K'ntuckians."

The reference was too plain to be misunderstood. Not a man there but had heard of the shoot-up in the post office the evening before. Every eye turned toward Jack Warhope, standing a step or two in front of the shrinking circle—for the others had drawn back and he had not.

The eyes of the desperado followed the eyes of the crowd. Slouching across the floor till the two stood face to face, he stiffened and glared with dull savagery.

Texie, just back of the preacher at the punch bowl, leaned across the table and almost stopped breathing.

"I'm a K'ntuckian."

"I 'low they was right sorry when y'u left."

The reply stung the drunk man to madness. With unexpected viciousness he lunged and struck with the knife.

The woodsman sprang back, warded the blow with ready quickness, and whipped a vicious jab to the chin that pitched the intruder backward to the floor. But the blow, quick as it was, had come the flick of an instant too late, the knife had found his flesh, grazed the left side of his neck, ripped through collar and tie and gashed his shoulder half-way to the armpit.

